NOTICE IN REFERENCE TO BEQUESTS.

As the kind intentions of some of the deceased friends of the Society have been rendered abortive for want of correct knowledge of the law relating to Charitable Bequests, the Committee call special attention to the following directions:—

By Statute 6 Geo. II. c. 36, commonly called the Mortmain Act, it is enacted, Section 1, that after the 24th June, 1736, "no manors, lands, tenements, rents, advowsons, or other hereditaments, corporeal or incorporeal, whatsoever; nor any sum or sums of money, goods, chattels, stocks in the public funds, securities for money, or any other personal estate whatsoever, to be laid out or disposed of in the purchase of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, shall be given, granted, alienated, limited, released, transferred, assigned, or appointed, or any ways conveyed or settled to, or upon, any person or persons, bodies politic or corporate, or otherwise, for any estate or interest whatsoever, or any ways charged or incumbered by any person or persons whatsoever in trust, or for the benefit of any charitable uses whatsoever, UNLESS such gift, conveyance, appointment, or settlement of any such lands, tenements, or hereditaments, sum or sums of money, or personal estates (other than stocks in the public funds) be, and be made by DEED, indented, sealed and delivered, in the presence of two or more credible witnesses, twelve calendar months at least BEFORE THE DEATH of such donor or grantor (including the days of the execution and death), and be enrolled in His Majesty's High Court of Chancery, within six calendar months next after the execution thereof; AND UNLESS such STOCKS be transferred in the public books usually kept for the transfer of stock, six calendar months at least before the death of such donor or grantor (including the days of the transfer and death), AND UNLESS the same be made to take effect in possession for the charitable uses intended immediately from the making thereof; AND BE WITHOUT any power of revocation, reservation, trust, condition, limitation clause or agreement whatsoever, for the benefit of the donor or grantor, or any person or persons claiming under him."

The third section of the statute enacts "That all gifts, grants, conveyances, appointments, assurances, transfers, and settlements whatsoever, of any lands, tenements, or other hereditaments, or of any estate or interest therein, or of any charge or incumbrance affecting or to affect any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or of any stock, money, goods, chattels, or other personal estate, or securities for money to be laid out or disposed of in the purchase of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or of any estate or interest therein, or of any charge or incumbrance affecting, or to affect, the same to, or in trust for, or for the use and behoof of any person, which shall be made on or after the 24th June, 1798, be made in any other form than by this Act is directed and appointed, shall be ABSOLUTELY, and to all intents and purposes, NULL AND VOID."

Upon these enactments it may be observed :—

1st. That the Baptist Missionary Society is a Charitable Institution, within the meaning of this Act.

2ndly. Land, money arising out of land, or money secured on land wholly or partly, and whether freehold or leasehold, can be given to a charity only by deed in manner directed by the statute.

3rdly. Not only cannot a will pass to a charity any property of the above description, but no money-legacy given to a charity can be satisfied out of such property. If, therefore, a testator has only land, mortgages, rent-charges, debentures, or securities on land, the legacy will fail altogether; if his estate be mixed it will fail to the extent of the proportion of this property to pure personality.

If A. having £1,500; namely, £500 at his bankers, and £1,000 on mortgage, gives $100 to a charity, the bequest will only be worth £33 6s. 8d. Railway and canal shares are pure personality, and may be used to satisfy a charitable legacy, but not railway debentures.

By 1 V.C. cap. 26, sec. 9, it is further enacted, "That no will shall be valid, unless it shall be in writing, and executed in manner hereinafter mentioned (that is to say): it shall be signed at the foot or end thereof by the Testator, or by some other person in his presence or by his direction: and such signature shall be made or acknowledged by the Testator in the presence of two or more Witnesses present at the same time; and such Witnesses shall attest and shall subscribe the will in the presence of the Testator; but no Form of Attestation shall be necessary."

N.B.—Wills executed prior to the first day of January, 1838, are not affected by this act; but any alteration therein, or codicil thereto, must be executed in the manner before mentioned.

The following Form of Bequest may be safely adopted by those who wish to bequeath such property as may be left by will for this purpose:—

FORM OF BEQUEST.

I give to the Treasurer or Treasurers for the time being, of the Baptist Missionary Society, the sum of £ sterling, to be paid exclusively out of such parts of my personal estate, not specifically bequeathed, as may lawfully be given by will to charity, and not to abate unless there should be no other fund for the payment in full of my other legacies, and in such case only rateably with my other pecuniary or general legacies.

If any friends wish to bequeath property for Translations or Schools, it is only necessary to say instead of the General Fund, the Translation Fund, or the School Fund.

It is proper to observe, that the above restrictive statute does not extend to Scotland, Ireland, or the Colonies.

PLAN AND REGULATIONS OF THE SOCIETY.

NAME.

The name by which the Society has been and still is designated, is "The Particular Baptist Missionary Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Heathen," or, "THE BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY."

OBJECT.

The great object of this Society is the diffusion of the knowledge of the religion of Jesus Christ throughout the whole world, beyond the British Isles, by the preaching of the Gospel, the translation and publication of the Holy Scriptures, and the establishment of Schools.

MEMBERS.

The following persons shall be considered members, viz., pastors of churches making an annual contribution; ministers who collect annually; and all Christian persons concurring in the objects of the Society, who are donors of ten pounds or upwards, or subscribers of ten shillings and sixpence annually to its funds.

GENERAL MEETING OF MEMBERS.

A General Meeting of Members only shall be held annually, at which the Committee and Officers shall be chosen for the year ensuing, the Auditors of accounts appointed, and any other business pertaining to the Society transacted.

In choosing the Committee and Officers, the Chairman of the Meeting shall receive all names which it may be intended to propose. Out of the list so obtained, forty members of the Committee shall be chosen by ballot, those who have the greater number of votes being the parties elected, and the members so elected shall be empowered to fill up the number to forty-eight members, as required by the following rule, from the list of nominations presented at the Annual Meeting.

COMMITTEE.

That the affairs of the Society shall be conducted by a Committee of forty-eight persons, one half of whom shall not be residents within twelve miles of St. Paul's; the Committee to meet monthly, or oftener, in London, on a fixed day, for the despatch of business: seven members to be deemed a quorum: the Committee to be empowered to fill up vacancies.

PUBLIC MEETINGS.

A Public Meeting of the Society shall be held annually, when the list of the Committee shall be read, the accounts presented, and the proceedings of the previous year reported. The Committee shall also be empowered to summon Public Meetings in London or elsewhere, whenever the interests of the Society may seem to require.

CORRESPONDING MEMBERS.

All Treasurers and Secretaries of Missionary Auxiliaries shall be CORRESPONDING MEMBERS of the Committee, together with such persons as it may be found necessary to add to their number.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

The General Meeting of Members shall also be empowered to appoint as HONORARY MEMBERS of the Committee any who have rendered important services to the Society.

MEMBERS OF THE SOCIETY ENTITLED TO VOTE AT COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

All Honorary and Corresponding Members of the Committee, and all Ministers, who are members of the Society, who may occasionally be in London; and also Ministers residing in London, similarly qualified, together with the Treasurers and Secretaries of London Auxiliaries, shall be entitled to attend and vote at the Meetings of the Committee.

FUNDS.

All monies received on behalf of the Society shall be lodged in the hands of the Treasurer, or of Trustees to be chosen by the Society. When the amount received shall exceed the sum needed for the current expenses of the month, it shall be invested in the Public Funds, until required for the use of the Mission.

ALTERATION OF CONSTITUTION.

No alteration in the constitution of the Society shall be made without twelve months' notice having been given at a previous Annual General Meeting.

MINUTES OF THE GENERAL MEETING,

HELD IN THE MISSION HOUSE, CASTLE STREET, HOLBORN, E.C.,

TUESDAY, APRIL 27TH, 1875.

1. The General Meeting of the Subscribers and Members of the Baptist Missionary Society was held at the Mission House, April 27th, 1875, at half-past ten o'clock, A.M.

2. After singing a hymn and reading the Scriptures, the Rev. J. ANGUS, D.D., offered prayer.

3. On the motion of Dr. UNDERHILL, seconded by JOSEPH TRITTON, Esq., J. J. SMITH, Esq., of Watford, was unanimously called to the chair.

4. The Secretary read the Report of the Committee, the Balance-sheet and Abstract of the Accounts for the past year, as passed by the Auditors.

5. The Digest of the Minutes of the Committee for the past year was brought up and read by Mr. BAYNES, Financial Secretary.

6. On the motion of Rev. Dr. ANGUS, seconded by the Rev. J. P. CHOWN, it was resolved:—

That the Report, with the Audited Balance-sheet and Abstract of the Accounts, be received, adopted, and published in the usual way.

7. On the motion of Rev. A. TILLY, of Cardiff, seconded by Rev. W. SAMPSON, of Folkestone, it was resolved:—

That the hearty thanks of this meeting be presented to Dr. Underhill, and the friends associated with him, for their generous contributions in liquidation of the debt of £1,143 15s. on the year's account.

8. On the motion of Rev. EDWARD MEDLEY, B.A., seconded by Mr. COOKE BAINES, it was resolved:—

That the following gentlemen be requested to act as Scrutineers, to report the result of the examination of the balloting papers to the officers of the Society for publication, viz., Messrs. A. H. Baynes, C. B. Chapman, J. Jennings, H. Keen, J. Teall, W. Tresidder, J. P. Haddy, and E. T. Gibson.

9. The lists of nominations of Members to serve on the Committee having been supplied, the voting papers were collected, and referred to the Scrutineers.

10. On the motion of Mr. ALDERMAN BARRAN, J.P., of Leeds, seconded by J. S. McMASTER, Esq., of Mitcham, it was resolved unanimously:—

That the cordial thanks of this Meeting be given to Joseph Tritton, Esq., for his kind services as Treasurer during the past year; and that he be earnestly requested to continue them during the year ensuing.

11. On the motion of Rev. C. M. BIRRELL, seconded by Rev. W. WALTERS, it was resolved :—

That the best thanks of this Meeting be given to Dr. Edward Bean Underhill for his efficient services as Secretary during the past year, and that he be requested to continue them during the year ensuing.

12. On the motion of Rev. JAMES MURSELL, seconded by Rev. CHAS. WILLIAMS, it was resolved :—

That the very cordial thanks of this meeting be given to the Rev. Clement Bailhache, and Mr. Alfred Henry Baynes, for their able and efficient services during the year as Association and Minute Secretaries.

13. On the motion of C. H. GOODE, Esq., seconded by J. E. TRESIDDER, Esq., it was resolved :—

That the best thanks of this Meeting be given to the auditors for their efficient services during the past year, and that the following gentlemen be requested to act as auditors for the ensuing year—viz., Messrs. F. L. Flint, J. Jennings, A. Gurney Smith, and H. H. Heath.

14. On the motion of the Rev. S. G. GREEN, D.D., of Rawdon College, seconded by the Rev. W. WALTERS, of Birmingham, the following Report, presented by the Special Committee appointed by the Members at their Annual Meeting on Tuesday, April 25th, 1874, was received and adopted :—

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Appointed at the last Annual Members' Meeting to consider "whether such alterations can be made in the plan and regulations of the Society as may render it practicable to elect Members of the Committee by the Auxiliaries and Associations, so as to give the Committee a more representative character."

The Special Committee beg leave to report that in pursuance of the object of their appointment they have had three meetings, and that they have given prolonged consideration to the various suggestions brought before them, and to the whole subject mentioned in the resolution of their appointment, and that they have to report to this Meeting that they have not been able to devise any practical method of securing a more representative character for the General Committee, by giving elective powers to the Auxiliaries and Associations ; but they hope that if the existing plans with regard to the election be continued in operation, the end desired—viz., a more representative character—will be obtained.

15. On the motion of the Rev. J. H. MILLARD, B.A., seconded by the Rev. C. M. BIRRELL, and recommended by the Committee, it was resolved :—

That Michael Foster, Esq., of Huntingdon, be appointed an Honorary Member of the Committee of the Mission, on account of long and valuable services rendered to the Society.

16. On the motion of the Rev. J. BIGWOOD (and in accordance with notice given at the Members' Meeting, April 28th, 1874), seconded by the Rev. FRED. TRESTRAIL, it was resolved :—

That, for the future, the nomination of Honorary Members of the Committee, shall proceed only from a resolution of the General Committee of the Society, or from six members of the Society who are combined therein.

17. On the motion of Rev. F. TRESTRAIL, seconded by Rev. D. JONES, B.A., it was unanimously resolved :—

That the cordial thanks of this meeting be given to J. J. Smith, Esq., of Watford, for his kind and efficient services in the chair.

18. The Meeting was closed with the Benediction.

THE
OF THE
BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY

WAS HELD IN

EXETER HALL,

ON THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 29TH, 1875.

J. S. WRIGHT, Esq., J.P., OF BIRMINGHAM, IN THE CHAIR.

1. The Meeting was opened by singing and prayer, conducted by the Rev. J. COLLINS, of Penge.

2. The CHAIRMAN addressed the Meeting.

3. Dr. UNDERHILL gave a statement of the principal features of the Society's operations during the past year.

4. The first resolution, as follows, moved by the Rev. E. G. GANGE, of Bristol, and seconded by the Rev. Dr. MULLENS, Foreign Secretary of London Missionary Society, was agreed to unanimously :—

That this meeting acknowledges, with devout thankfulness to God, the blessing which He has bestowed upon the labours of the Society's missionaries in almost every field they occupy. It is grateful, too, for the assurance that the same blessing has been very largely shared by kindred societies. It further expresses its sense of the hopefulness which is cherished, both at home and abroad, as to the results of future labours, and it accepts this hope, both as a stimulus to more earnest effort and as a pledge of still greater results.

5. The second resolution, as follows, was moved by the Rev. WM. BROCK, Jun., of Hampstead, and seconded by the Rev. Dr. CAIRNS, of Berwick-on-Tweed, and agreed to unanimously :—

This meeting rejoices in the fact that a large addition has been made to the staff of the Society's missionaries during the past year, and also in that, to a considerable extent, the pecuniary liabilities incurred thereby have been met. It recognizes with thankfulness the responses so far made to the Committee's confidence in the liberality of the churches. With increasing liabilities, this liberality must still further be trusted, and this meeting expresses the hope that the Committee's reliance on the churches, and on God, from whom all inspiration to self-sacrifice must proceed, will not be disappointed during the ensuing year.

6. The Meeting was closed by the Doxology and Benediction.

EIGHTY-THIRD REPORT.

THE Committee have to record their gratitude to the Head of the Church that, during the year now closed, the hopes expressed at the last Annual Meeting have been fulfilled, and that the various missions have enjoyed, in a very large degree, the Divine blessing. Never, perhaps, have the mission churches in the East and West received so large a number of accessions. The "showers of blessing" which have fallen in so many countries, and on so many sections of the Church of God, have not passed them by. Every part of the mission field has borne much fruit, and, in some instances, the effusion of Divine grace has been almost unexampled in modern times.

BAPTISMS.

Dividing the entire range of the Society's labours into three sections, the returns exhibit the following number of baptisms during the year. In the East, excluding Sonthalistan, 392 persons have been baptized; of the Sonthals, 1,600; in Europe, Africa, and the West Indies, including Jamaica, 1,554; showing a total of 3,546 converts, who, for the first time have professed themselves followers of the Lord Jesus. Last year the baptisms were 1,822. Surely this is an answer to prayer, and a Divine attestation that our labours are not in vain in the Lord.

THE MISSIONARY STAFF.

In accordance with the proposals of last year's Committee, and with the approval of the Annual Meeting, further additions have been made to the missionary band. Nine brethren have been consecrated to Christ's service abroad, two of whom, the Rev. T. R. Stevenson, of Colombo, and the Rev. J. Urquhart, of Bombay, will be supported by the churches whose pastors they have become. In these cases the Committee have cheerfully met the cost of outfit and passage. The church at Bombay owes its existence, under the blessing of God, to the Rev. E. Edwards, formerly a missionary of the Society at Benares. Considerable funds were raised by him both in India and this country for the erection of the house of prayer which the church now occupies. By the aid of the Committee, the liberality of a gentleman well-known for his widely-spread acts of beneficence, and the self-denying gifts of the friends more immediately interested, the chapel has been freed from debt, and the Rev. J. Urquhart enters on his ministry with the most cheering signs of success. The church meeting in the Pettah, Colombo, was established in 1812 by Mr. Chater, the first of the Society's missionaries in Ceylon, and it has for many years enjoyed the services of his successors. Urged by the generous offer of one or more of its members, the Church has resolved to sustain the means of grace, and henceforth to support the pastor of its choice. The Society will continue to receive the co-operation of these churches, and though independent, in a pecuniary sense, of the Society, they will give to the missionaries the most hearty sympathy and aid. The Bombay church already sustains a native evangelist, and the Colombo brethren will, with their accustomed liberality, assist the Society by their contributions.

Three of the remaining seven brethren sent out this year will pursue their probationary studies in India, viz., Mr. Francis, at Poonah; Mr. Jones, at Monghyr; and Mr. Miller, at Benares. A fourth, Mr. S. J. Chowrryappah, a Tamil by birth, will enter on a new field in the Presidency of Madras. Of other three brethren, Mr. Grenfell has consecrated his energies to the service of Christ in Africa, whither he has accompanied the Society's veteran missionary, the Rev. A. Saker, whose health has been sufficiently restored to enable him to resume for a time his arduous labours. Mr. W. Williams has supplied the vacancy so long open in Trinidad; and the Rev. J. E. Gummer, of Clarendon, Jamaica, has been accepted for the work in Hayti. Of the fields urgently requiring aid there remains China, and this the Committee have not been able to supply. Early in the year the Committee lost the services of Dr. Brown, since which time the Rev. T. Richard has been labouring most sedulously alone. In the opinion of the Committee it is most desirable that one colleague or more should be found for Mr. Richard, and they hope that circumstances will allow them speedily to strengthen his hands. At their last meeting the Committee were happy to accept the services of Mr.

Henry Tucker, of Plymouth, and of Mr. Comber, of Regent's Park College, the latter for the mission in Africa.

One loss by death the Committee have had to mourn. The Rev. J. Lawrence, of Monghyr, entered on his rest in September last, after a missionary life covering no less than forty-three years. Forty-one years were spent in India, whither he went in 1831, not to return till utterly disabled by disease. He died at Loughton, in Essex, the place where he consecrated his youthful powers to the service of his Lord, in perfect peace, having fulfilled his course with a patience, a diligence, and a zeal seldom surpassed.

To fill the post thus rendered vacant, the Rev. T. Evans, formerly of Allahabad, returned to India at the beginning of the year. The Committee's long-trying colleague and highly-esteemed missionary, the Rev. C. B. Lewis, separating himself from his beloved family, has also been able, through God's goodness, to renew his devoted attention to the Mission Press, and to take upon him the discharge of the laborious duties connected with the conduct of the Society's affairs in Calcutta. Messrs. Martin and Page have safely reached the shores of India; but the Committee have to mention, with deep regret, that since his arrival, Mr. Page has been most seriously ill. The Rev. R. Smith, strong in purpose and in health, has undertaken to attempt to penetrate the interior of Africa from the Cameroons Mountain. And, finally, the Rev. L. O. Skrefsrud, with the warmest sympathies of multitudes who have been privileged to listen to his earnest appeals, has reached his loved Sonthals, in company with Mrs. Boerresen, Miss Skrefsrud, and a Norwegian helper in the work.

Great, indeed, was the need of the reinforcement of the mission which has been effected during the last two years. Thirteen new names have been added to the list of missionaries sustained by the Society's funds, but the actual increase is only nine. Four vacancies had to be supplied, occasioned by death and other causes, while the empty posts of several of our senior brethren, driven home through age and sickness, have absorbed several of the rest. The missionaries who have returned home since the last report, and to whom the Committee have been glad to give a hearty welcome after many years of devoted toil, are the Rev. Dr. Wenger, the Rev. John and Mrs. Sale, the Rev. T. and Mrs. Morgan, and the Rev. J. and Mrs. Trafford; the praise of these brethren is in all the churches, and their long, efficient, and successful labours, deserve at our hands the warmest acknowledgments.

THE INDIAN MISSION.

In the Indian Mission the year has been marked by a revived interest in divine truth, both among Europeans and natives. This revival has been greatly stimulated by the earnest and devout appeals of the Rev. Dr. Somerville, of the Free Church of Scotland, who visited many of the larger cities of Northern India, especially those where our countrymen are met with in considerable numbers. His meetings have also been largely attended by natives to whom the English language is familiar. Early in the year, several of our brethren took part in a series of outdoor services held on the Maidan, the great evening promenade of the wealthy inhabitants of Calcutta, and also in other open parts of the city. They were carried on under the auspices of the Calcutta Missionary Conference. The addresses were chiefly in English, and occasionally in Urdu or Bengali. The hearers were, for the most part, well-dressed Babus, with some English and Eurasians. The result was most encouraging. Revival services were next held in the English churches, with constantly-increasing interest, which gradually extended to the churches in other parts of the land. As the result, considerable accessions have been made to their membership. In the Circular Road Church, Calcutta, thirty-four persons have been received into fellowship; in Lal Bazaar, thirty-five. In the latter, the total number who at the various meetings professed to have found peace in Christ, was upwards of sixty. Several of them were sailors; and some were prodigals, far from the home of parents, who have held important posts in the kingdom of Christ, and whose prayers were at length answered in this heathen land. Monghyr, Dinapore, Delhi, and Agra have largely shared in the merciful visitation. At Dinapore and Agra the blessing has chiefly rested on the soldiers, who to so large a degree occupy those stations.

THE ENGLISH IN INDIA.

It must not be supposed that the conversion of Europeans in India has an unimportant relation to the progress of the Gospel among the heathen. "The influence of European life," says Mr. Gregson in his report, "is making a great impression upon the natives, who are keen observers of our habits, and mercilessly criticise our social and domestic customs.

The natives in every bazaar in India are constantly gossiping over European customs, and the various servants in European employ retail with relish every bit of domestic scandal that comes to their notice in the bungalow during the day. European vices are imitated in every heathen city in India. When European virtues become as prominent as their vices, the natives will be more ready to learn the secret of that power which gives to unregenerate men strength to live holy and noble lives. How mightily the lives of such men as Donald McLeod, Henry Lawrence, Nicholson, and Edwardes have told upon the natives! most distinctly proving that they are as sensible of the good in men as the bad, and would be led to accept the true principles which are sustained by true lives. At present they only hear the theory of religion in the bazaar, and see a noble theory often grossly scandalised by the habits of ungodly Europeans. Hence, the pressing need of sustaining European work as part of mission work in India, that the missionary may not appear to be a mere theorist without any substantial evidence among his own people, that his religious theory of Christianity can be practically lived out by his own countrymen." In accordance with the views so forcibly stated by Mr. Gregson, it is the opinion of many persons that the greatest of all obstacles to the progress of the Gospel at present existing in India, is the reckless life, the depravity, and the scepticism of no inconsiderable section of the Europeans residing in the land. The Committee cannot but rejoice that so many of their countrymen have been brought, in this time of refreshing from above, to the foot of the Cross. Of one such man of eminence, who during the year has been baptized, it is said, in the reports from the stations, that, "notwithstanding his rank and position, he is a thorough Christian man—a believer who glories alone in the Cross of Christ. His Christian humility and zeal adapt him for usefulness amongst us. He makes himself so especially among our brethren in the army, with whom he assembles every evening for prayer and praise, conducts a Bible-class among them on Saturday evenings, and often holds forth the word of life at such meetings. He has also ascended our pulpit on a few occasions." The multiplication of such men is greatly to be desired, that the reproach from the lips of the heathen may be wiped away, and that Hindus and Mohammedans may no longer retort upon the preacher in the bazaar, with reference to his countrymen—"Physician, heal thyself."

THE NATIVE CHURCHES.

The flow of Divine mercy has also reached the native Church, and in many directions a most gratifying response has come to the call to be "up and doing" in the vineyard of the Lord. Thus, the Rev. G. Kerry writes:—"I am glad to see signs of greater religious life and activity among the people than I have ever witnessed. At Khari and Lukhyantipore there has been a waking-up of the people. Sunday-schools have been set on foot, special prayer meetings established, and in other ways signs of more vigorous life are apparent." As the immediate result, there have been twenty-two additions to the Churches, while, at other stations, as at the small station of Tambulda, where seventeen persons have been baptized, there are similar signs of the Lord's blessing. Our home missionary, Romanath Chowdhry, tells us that these spontaneously-called meetings for prayer have, for the most part, been projected and carried out by the young men of the different villages. The women have also shared in the blessing, and have held like meetings amongst themselves. The inquirers far exceed in number those who have been welcomed into the fellowship of the faithful; while it is the missionary's joy to preach the "wonderful story of redeeming love" to hundreds and thousands of attentive hearers.

In the southern district of Jessore, the Rev. G. C. Dutt informs us that he receives hearty and spontaneous aid from some twelve brethren from the different churches, who, on going into the Sunderbunds to labour for their food, took with them a thousand tracts and gospels, to distribute among the woodcutters, who come from all parts. Some 5,000 persons were gathered together, to whom the message of peace was there made known. They were persuaded by the brethren to cease from work on the Lord's Day. With one exception, revival prayer meetings have been held in all the churches under Mr. Dutt's charge, and he reports that they have been of a nature quite unprecedented in their history.

Writing of the large and important mission in the district of Backergunge, which now embraces 1,176 members in its numerous churches, the Rev. A. McKenna says:—"The churches have prospered in the past year, difficulties notwithstanding. The number of baptisms is one hundred and twenty. The vitality of Christian life in our midst has been attested by many pleasing facts. The self-propagative power of Christianity in this district seems to distinguish it from most others, and certainly bears witness to life of some kind." The gratifying and triumphant deaths of some of the people prove how strong is the grasp with which they have "laid hold" on eternal life.

From Delhi, in the north-west, we have similar pleasing facts reported. "These," says the Rev. J. Smith, "are seasons of refreshing to us, and repay us years of toil. The Lord's arm is not shortened that He cannot save. There is a sound of abundance of rain; the Lord open our hearts to receive it. Subha Chund has just returned from a month's preaching tour, and is full of hope as to the spread of the Gospel. We have been pleading for a blessing such as has been realised in Scotland, and we expect to get it." A few incidents of a recent tour may be quoted to illustrate Mr. Smith's remarks:—"At Furreedabad we found about twenty-five Bible-readers. The four baptized Christians are doing well, others are preparing for baptism, and we preached to large crowds in the bazaar. Eleven native Christians reside at Pul Wul. Gunga Das, who ten years ago was a lad in the Purana Killah school, has been teaching some in other villages in the neighbourhood, and the Gospel appears to be spreading. The district is full of hope. At Hatteen, a small market town, the crowds came crushing on to hear the Word of Life. There are three or four learning to read the Bible, and the people are most anxious for a teacher, half of whose cost they will give. At Hureetal we found a class of seven reading the New Testament with Gumani, one of our old Delhi members. Nearly the whole village turned out to meet us, and up to sleeping time there was not a moment's rest. Crowd succeeded crowd, and at last I laid down and went to sleep, leaving the place nearly full of people. When they retired I cannot tell. We were bountifully supplied with food, and both man and beast cared for with the utmost kindness, without any cost. There are ten candidates for baptism. Gumani came here of his own accord. He has visited the neighbouring towns, and has created an interest in Christianity in at least half-a-dozen places." The Committee are sure that all their friends will heartily respond to Mr. Smith's closing words:—"I hope the English churches will be stirred up to especial prayer for India."

One characteristic of these revival services should be noted, and that is the large use made of sacred song in the assemblies of Christians, and also in the services held in the open air. Romanath Chowdhry says:—

"On one occasion, after the meeting, the young men whom I took with me, sang some of our beautiful hymns, which so deeply affected the people that a great number spontaneously joined in the singing." Speaking of the melas he has attended, the Rev. J. G. Gregson writes:—"This year we introduced a good deal of singing as well as preaching into our work, which not only attracted the people, but made a visible impression upon them; in fact, I never saw a heathen crowd so affected before. They listened with great earnestness, and went away saying, "The Padre Sahib is singing the praises of Jesus." Such a method of extolling the gods they serve is common enough among the worshippers at the temples, at their festivals, and at their great fairs. Why should not Christians in a similar way commend the glories of the Redeemer to those who gather to hear His Word? "Much good," says the Rev. G. H. Rouse, "has been done in this way," and he mentions a case in which a band of Christian peasants went from village to village singing and talking of Christ. It may be interesting to state that a large proportion of the hymns in use are the product of the taste and skill of our European and Native brethren.

A somewhat new feature of the missionary work in India, on which the Committee reported at some length last year, is the extent to which the Scriptures and other religious works are sold, and the growing desire of the people to possess the Word of God, evinced by their willingness to purchase it at the moderate price imposed by the missionaries. This characteristic has been strongly apparent in the past year. It will be sufficient on this point to quote from the report of the Rev. J. D. Bate, of Allahabad:—"Saying nothing as to the number of such publications sold during the year by our col-porteurs, I have myself sold not less than five thousand tracts and Gospels in the vernaculars in these provinces. To me it is simply astounding to note how, after listening to the most uncompromising denunciation of idolatry and of the special sins of the people, and to such an exposition of the Scripture doctrine, as that there is no salvation in any other than the God-appointed Redeemer revealed to us in the New Testament, the people purchase from me for money the publications I offer for sale, knowing (as they do perfectly well) that the only drift of these works is to fasten home to their minds more securely the truths under which they have been wincing. I submit that the fact is weighted with encouragement, significance, and hope."

BIBLE WORK.

The Mission Press in Calcutta has been kept diligently employed throughout the year in printing large editions of the various versions of the Holy Scriptures, prepared by the missionaries of the Society. The last revision of the Bengali Bible by the Rev. Dr. Wenger, was finished at press in April, 1874. It has been issued in two editions, one in demy quarto for the Calcutta Bible Society, containing only the text, the other in super royal quarto for the Bible Translation Society, containing marginal readings, and parallel passages. Two hundred and fifty copies of the Bible Society edition were required to supply the libraries of all the Government Schools in Bengal. Since the completion of these issues, a small-print edition has been put in hand, which will ere long be ready for publication. Great care has been taken to secure accuracy in the typography of these important works. Besides these editions of the entire Scriptures, 12,000 copies of the Gospels in Bengali, and 13,000 in Hindi have left the press. The first version of the Gospel of Matthew, ever made into the Garo language, spoken by one of the hill tribes near Assam, is nearly finished. Besides these there have been printed for the Calcutta Auxiliary Bible Society, 40,000 copies of the Gospels in Bengali; of the Proverbs, 5,000 copies; and in Lepcha, 1,000 copies of Genesis. As is well known to the friends of the Society, the Bible Society enjoys the use of our versions free of charge for the work of translation. In a resolution lately passed by the Auxiliary Bible Committee in Calcutta, the following reference is made to this fact, and to the labours of our highly valued friend, the Rev. Dr. Wenger. "For thirty-four years Dr. Wenger has devoted his best energies to this arduous and important work, and the Bible Society has been allowed to make free use of the fruits of his labours. The Committee are thankful to God that a scholar so rarely fitted by natural ability, long culture, and spiritual endowments for this employment, should have had health and opportunity to continue so long in it. Dr. Wenger's work for the Bible Society was purely voluntary, and it is impossible adequately to express the gratitude due to him by all who value the Word of God." The Committee are also happy to mention that they have granted, for the use of the North India Bible Society, the excellent version in Hindi of the late Rev. John Parsons, of Monghyr, an edition of which has been completed at their press in Allahabad, under the general superintendence of the Rev. J. D.

Bate and of the Rev. W. Etherington. Connected with biblical work may be mentioned a Bengali metrical version of the Psalms, adapted to native music, and now in the press. Its author is Munsbi Aziz Bari, a convert of the mission. Nearly nineteen thousand portions of God's Word have left the Society's depository during the year for distribution, chiefly by sale. In reference to this the Rev. G. H. Rouse says, "In January, I accompanied Mr. Kerry to Gunga Saugor, to preach at the annual mela held there. We stayed two days, preached and sold Scriptures in Bengali and Hindi. Many of those who have become Christians have traced their conversion to words heard and books received at Gunga Saugor. Some fakirs took our books; and it was interesting to see a poor man, covered with ashes, and with hand withered by having held it up for years, sitting down and reading one of the Gospels." Thus the Word of God has free course and is glorified.

SERAMPORE COLLEGE.

The various departments of this valuable Institution have continued steadfastly and successfully to pursue the objects of its foundation. The attendance of scholars has been better than last year, and a fair proportion of them passed the examinations which entitle them to rewards. For some time the studies of the Christian boys were interrupted by sickness, but this passed away before the end of the year; it has, however, left the class in somewhat lessened numbers. The event of the year was the presence at the annual examination of Sir Richard Temple, the Lieut.-Governor of Bengal. On this occasion His Excellency reviewed the labours of the eminent men who founded the Institution, and contrasted the treatment of the missionaries by the Government of that day with the position they have attained, and the estimation in which they are held, at the present time.

"When the founders of this mission," he said, "first came to India, the country was in a very unsettled and excitable state. The fact of Christianity being preached caused great distrust and suspicion in the minds of the natives; it caused even a certain amount of political trouble and disaffection. The Government of that day, rightly or wrongly took the alarm, and threatened to deport the missionaries. Sometimes the missionaries were visited with pains and penalties; sometimes they were hauled before the judges and dragged into police-courts; sometimes surrounded by angry and tumultuous mobs; some of them even suffered shipwreck; others, again, lived in the jungles in a state of want and misery, where they were found with scarcely sufficient provision remaining for their sustenance. But time rolls on, and the aspect of the country is changed. The Government now no longer fears that disturbances will arise from proclaiming and preaching the gospel of peace; the natives themselves seem no longer to regard missionaries with distrust, and indeed, as an impartial observer travelling through Bengal, it seems to me that the missionaries are absolutely popular. If I go to the large cities, I see schools and colleges which belong to the various Christian missions, which may not, indeed, equal the Government institutions in strength and resources, but which fully equal them in popularity. In the interior of the country among the villages, I find missionary institutions established in almost all parts of Bengal. The missionaries appear to be regarded by their rustic neighbours with respect, I may say almost with affection. They are consulted by their neighbours—by their poor ignorant rural neighbours—in every difficulty and every trouble, and seem to be regarded by them as their best and truest friends.”

No better illustration of this, his Excellency added, could be given than the confidence with which the parents of the youths before him committed them to the care and instruction of the missionaries, assured that, although the teachings of the Bible would be inculcated, no improper steps would be taken to interfere with their conscientious adhesion to the religions of their country. In his concluding remarks, the Lieut.-Governor hoped that the students would prove themselves worthy of the education they were receiving. “I hope that you will follow the noble, the bright, the elevating examples set before you by the great men whose names I have recalled to your grateful remembrance; that you will ever remember the heritage of virtue left you by such men as Carey, Marshman, and Ward; that you will continue to make use of that most precious legacy of a good example which they have bequeathed to you, and that in all you may do hereafter, you will prove yourselves fit to have gone forth from these walls as students of the Serampore College, under the auspices of the Baptist Missionary Society.”

SONTHALISTAN.

The return of the Rev. L. O. Skrefsrud to India has been so recent that the Committee are unable to present a full report of this most interesting mission. Although the brethren Boerresen, Skrefsrud, and Haegert do not rely on the funds of the Society for their support, the Committee have from the first rendered them aid, and during the period of Mr. Skrefsrud's stay in this country, the sum of £572 was contributed by the Churches, in addition to some £600 specially raised in Birmingham, towards the promotion and extension of the kingdom of Christ amongst the Sonthals. Few who had the pleasure of hearing from Mr. Skrefsrud's lips the story of the beginning of the Gospel in Sonthalistan, will forget the vivid pictures he drew of the condition of the people, and of the wonderful way in which Divine grace had manifested its power in their midst. His stirring appeals to Christians for a more consecrated life will not soon be forgotten; and his visit will ever remain memorable for the display of missionary spirit and zeal it called forth. The principal station is called Ebenezer, and is distant about four hours' railway journey from Calcutta; but the bulk of the Christians live in villages more or less remote, each Church having its own native pastor and elders. The means of grace the converts themselves sustain, while the whole body of the disciples, in their measure, whether young or old, aid by their personal efforts the propagation of the Gospel. Some 2,000 of them met on Christmas eve to welcome the return of Mr. Skrefsrud and Mrs. Boerresen, and at the service on Christmas day the communicants must have numbered about a thousand.

The famine was very severely felt by the Sonthals, and as the Government committed to Mr. Boerresen the charge of supplying the need of the people, great numbers were brought under his care. Abundant opportunity was thus given to preach to them the Word of God. As the issue of these and other labours during the year, Mr. Skrefsrud informs us that over 1,600 grown up Sonthals have been baptized, upon a profession of faith in Christ, and there is great likelihood that numbers more will follow. This large and rapid increase of converts will demand of our brethren great labour and exertion. Mr. Skrefsrud before leaving Europe secured the services of two Norwegian brethren, one of whom accompanied him. They should have, and the Committee are sure they will enjoy, the fervent prayers of the Churches, that they may be able to guide these neophytes in the way of truth, and to secure for them such instruction as shall confirm their faith and make them grow in grace and in the knowledge of Jesus Christ. It is the intention of the brethren to form as speedily as possible an institution for the training of pastors and evangelists, while Mr. Skrefsrud will devote much of his time to the production of a version of the Holy Scriptures and other suitable literature for their use.

THE ZENANA MISSION.

Through the kind assistance of the Ladies' Association, there has been established in the most important stations of the Society, a mission to the women. This is the case in Calcutta, Serampore, Sewry, Dacca, Benares, Allahabad, and Delhi, and the work is only limited by the means at their disposal. In not a few instances the efforts of the teachers have issued in conversion, while the Bible has been introduced in many native homes, and has become the source of daily instruction. Though constrained by ill-health to remain in this country, Mrs. Lewis continues to devote her time and experience to the promotion of this great work, and to sustain in this country the cause to which, while in India, she devoted so much time and means. It must be a source of gratitude, that amid the "dead slumbers of ignorance which still shroud the women of India," the Zenana labourers can say, in however few instances, "that the women are getting more earnest in their inquiries, very eager for religious teaching, and bolder in avowing their belief in the truth." There are a few whose light shines brightly in the deep darkness around them, and who are shedding a blessed influence in their homes—enlightened minds to whom friends come for guidance and instruction, and whose servants are taught, and led by them to the only Saviour.

MAGNITUDE OF THE WORK IN INDIA.

Amid the gratifying signs of progress which have been recorded, the Committee cannot suffer their friends to forget that, after all, the efforts of missionaries bear but a small proportion to the need of the vast multitudes among whom they labour. The overwhelming magnitude of the work which the Christian Church has undertaken in India, may at once be seen by the briefest examination of the results of the recent census. Large as the numbers of the population were known to be, this investigation has proved them to amount to 50 per cent. more than the highest estimate of the past. Taking only the provinces in which our own brethren operate, we have in the lieutenancy of Bengal, in round numbers, SIXTY-SEVEN MILLIONS of people, and in the North-West Provinces, THIRTY-ONE MILLIONS. In the districts of Bengal, where the missionaries of the Society labour, there are found TWENTY-SIX MILLIONS of people. The inhabited towns and villages of these two provinces reach the surprising number of TWO HUNDRED AND NINETY THOUSAND. Yet our entire staff of missionaries and evangelists numbers only one hundred and eighty individuals. God has borne witness to their assiduous and earnest efforts; but what are they among so many? Let it be calculated how long it would take to visit only once in a lifetime these two hundred and ninety thousand towns and villages. Where are the Bibles to supply, even with a single copy, every one of the eighteen millions of houses which are found in these two lieutenancies of England's vast Indian empire alone? Where are the hands to print them, and the messengers to deliver them? Surely the Church may say, "Who is sufficient for these things?" and should cry mightily to Him who ruleth the heavens and the earth, "Lord, how long? When shall this great land be filled with Thy glory, and its idols flee before Thy face?" Is anything too hard for the Lord?

THE BENGAL FAMINE.

Through the good hand of God on the measures taken by the Supreme Government, the severity of the anticipated famine was checked, and multitudes were spared the last extremity of hunger and despair. Some of the missionaries were called upon to give their aid to the Government in the distribution of food, which was cheerfully rendered and suitably acknowledged. In the districts occupied by the Mission, the effect was chiefly felt in the great increase in the cost of food, and the Fund so liberally formed by the Churches proved more than abundantly sufficient to meet every case, and to assist many who might be supposed to have no direct claim on our charity. Speaking of the villages to the south of Calcutta, the Rev. G. Kerry says that the year had been one of severe trial, owing to the great scarcity of food, though it did not amount to actual famine. The poor (and most of our Christians are poor) had to suffer great hardships. "The help which was so generously sent by their Christian brethren in England was most gratefully received. It came at the time when large numbers of them were reduced to such distress that they could only obtain with difficulty one scanty meal a day. Many must have sickened and died but for the help given to them at the worst part of the year." The Rev. G. C. Dutt reports that the sum placed at his disposal was carefully spent. "I have," he says, "not only helped the most needy Christians, but also about one hundred Mohammedans and Hindus, from the month of August till December." Substantially the same may be said of the districts of Backergunge, Sewry, and Sonthalistan. In no instance was relief confined to the native Christian community. Others shared in the bounty. Still the distress was not so extensive and lasting as was feared, and a large sum remains unspent. The total amount received was £3,584 14s. 3d.; the expenditure has been £1,321 19s. 4d. It will be the duty of the Committee to determine how best to use the balance for the benefit of the people for whose necessities the fund was formed.

SOUTHERN INDIA.

The long vacant station at Poonah was occupied at the close of last year by the Rev. Hormazdji Pestonji, and the Committee have further sought to secure its uninterrupted progress, by sending to his aid Mr. E. B. Francis. The first months after his arrival were employed by Mr. Hormazdji in repairing the chapel, which he found in a very dilapidated state, and in preparing the way for the regular ministration of the gospel. Meanwhile, he found abundant openings for evangelistic work among the Christian bodies in Poonah, and in missionary visits in the district around. Among his countrymen, Parsees, Hindus, and even a few Jews, he also found a cordial reception. In the city jail he had access to a few Europeans and to well-nigh 500 natives, to whom every Sunday he preaches with much acceptance. Since the re-opening of the chapel in June last, regular services have been held on the Lord's Day and in the week, with varying attendance, but with much encouragement. Recalling his numerous exertions, Mr. Hormazdji says, "Some of these engagements have often brought me very low in the valley of humiliation, whence my work appeared to be an uphill work, a work of faith indeed, especially in my street-preaching in the chief towns, amid unprovoked persecution and peltings of stone and dust from the enemy's camp; and, therefore, I cast myself entirely upon the sympathies, and crave for my work, unreservedly, the prayers of the Lord's people in your highly favoured land of light, life, and love."

CEYLON.

The districts of the Mission of which Colombo is the centre, continue to exhibit steady and gratifying progress, and the labours of the brethren employed are efficient and successful. The Rev. H. R. Pigott summarises them as follows:—"One hundred and three services, attended by some 3,000 individuals, have been held every week. Twenty-six persons have been baptized, and forty-nine have been returned as candidates for that ordinance. Eighty-one others appear on the list as inquirers. A few of these may be regarded as true converts, but the great majority of them are Buddhists and others who, being dissatisfied with their old religion, are searching after the truth. The number of church members is 533. There are sixteen Sunday-schools, with 471 scholars; and 11,054 religious tracts and 140 portions of the Holy Scriptures have been circulated." In addition to a general superintendence of these labours, Mr. Pigott has given considerable attention to the establishment of day-schools in all the stations. They now number forty-six, and contain 2,509 scholars. The liberal grants of the Government, with the fees of the pupils, allow this important work to be carried on at a very slight cost to the Society. The course pursued by our brethren finds an ample justification in the language of the revered missionary Daniel. Referring to mission schools thirty-two years ago, he wrote:—"I am persuaded that great, and what in the end will appear lasting, advantages result from them. This is not merely a subject of hope, but has in many cases been actually realised. Several who are members of the churches were formerly taught in our schools, and several of our most active and useful (native) missionaries received in them the commencement of their religious knowledge." The later experience of the mission fully sustains the views expressed by the "Apostle of Ceylon."

The Rev. C. Carter has been diligently pressing on his new version of the Old Testament Scriptures. It has now reached at press the end of the second book of Chronicles, and in its progress receives repeated revisions from the hands of the missionary and his assistant. The Kandy Mission has lost by death the services of Philip Pulla, whose work for many years has lain among the Tamil population of the district. He was a devoted, zealous, and humble follower of the Lord, obtaining the affection and esteem of all who knew him. Much seed lies buried in this district. It has been scattered far and wide; but, as Mr. Carter writes, "The people have many evil habits, are bound by many ties to their ancient religion, are dark, ignorant, credulous of the old, and incredulous of the new. It is, therefore, no wonder that the Gospel makes slow progress among them." It is the missionary's hope that the blessings showered upon England may also come upon Ceylon, and that there may be found here, as the fruit of God's blessing, some vigorous and devoted disciples of Christ, who will devote their energies to Christ's service in this beautiful but godless land. However this may be, the Committee have the confidence that their brethren in Ceylon are labouring both diligently and effectively. The Governor of the Island, in an address to his Council, lately, said:—"I know of no country where missionary enterprise is doing better work than here, or where there is less of the odium theologicum." The Word of the Lord is incorruptible seed, and in due season His servants shall reap if they faint not.

CHINA.

The departure of Dr. Brown from China early in the year, and the illness of the native evangelist, in some measure interfered with the plans which had been laid down by Mr. Richard for an extensive tour in various parts of the province of Shantung. In the spring he visited, in company with his native evangelist, the chief towns of four counties, healing the sick and preaching as they went, staying a few days at each important place. Four native brethren have assisted Mr. Richard in his work; one is supported by the Society, another from local resources, and a third by a church in Holland, of which the Rev. H. Z. Kloeckers is pastor, and the fourth by the native church. One travels with Mr. Richard, one accompanies the pastor Ching, and the other two itinerate. The following is an illustration of their reception:—At Yangtien, the town was placarded, giving them and their doctrine a most unenviable character. A large number of persons assembled to drive them out of the place; but one of the brethren has the rare ability and grace to speak with firmness, and yet with meekness. He was equal to the occasion. He inquired what was it they were so angry about, and then gave them a full account of the doctrines and practices of the Gospel. So complete was the victory, that, in a most unaccountable manner, except to those who know the power of love, the leader himself acknowledged his mistake, invited the evangelists to dine, and begged their forgiveness, as he did it in ignorance. In another place they were regarded as gods by the people, to use a term in frequent use in the western sense of divine.

Mr. Richard also reports that the Pastor Ching has profited much by Dr. Brown's instructions in medicine, and has been able to relieve the sicknesses of some 1,560 sufferers. He finds that his skill in medicine gives him access to persons otherwise almost inaccessible to the Gospel. The need, however, of additional European agency is greatly felt, and Mr. Richard earnestly pleads for a colleague to strengthen his hands, and to enter on the wide fields which on every side present themselves to the heralds of the Cross.

AFRICA.

Notwithstanding the prevalence of sickness in the Cameroons River, the Rev. J. J. Fuller reports that the families connected with the mission have been spared. Since the completion of the chapel at Mortonville the congregation has been trebled, the inquirer's class has increased to twenty, and six persons have been admitted to the fellowship of the church, some of them not without much opposition from their friends. In the services of the sanctuary, the power and presence of the Spirit of God have often been displayed. A marked increase of interest in the Gospel has been noticed among the people, especially among the chiefs and head men of the town, one of whom has joined the church. The schools are well attended, and the people are urging Mr. Fuller to establish another in a distant part of the town.

During Mr. Saker's absence Mr. Fuller has occasionally visited the Bethel station at King A'kwa's town, and given his aid to the native pastor N'Kwe. Two persons have been baptized. On Mr. Saker's arrival with Mr. Grenfell, the state of the congregation was found far more encouraging than could have been anticipated. A hearty welcome was given to Mr. Saker and his companion, and no time was lost in making preparations for the extension of the Mission into the interior, which the Committee hope it will be in the power of Mr. Saker, should his health permit, to accomplish. Mr. Grenfell finds that the considerable knowledge of English which many of the people possess, renders it possible for him at once to enter on useful service. He has commenced a school for young men, which occupies him two hours daily, while much time is necessarily given to the acquisition of the language. The contrast between the Mission-educated people and those of the town is very striking, and he cites the following interesting fact as an illustration of the moral influence acquired by those who have given themselves to Christ:—When a palaver (or native council) is held in the town, the individual against whom the decision is given often refuses to accept the verdict, unless the native pastor or one of the deacons is in the majority. The knowledge that an adverse decision, if not endorsed by some of the Christian people, will be appealed against renders the palaver especially attentive to their opinions. Culprits have great faith in the uprightness of the officers of the church, and feel sure that their judgment will be tempered by mercy. Such a fact speaks volumes for the power for good that the church possesses. Although the strife between the natives and the traders continues, the Mission premises are held to be neutral ground, and on Lord's Day both parties assemble in that home of peace, the house of prayer.

The new station on the Cameroons mountain is gradually acquiring the confidence of the tribes among which it is situated. Mr. Thomson's knowledge of medicine is found of great value in securing their respect. While occupied in acquiring the language, Mr. Thomson has devoted much time to the instruction of the youth, by which means he has been more easily able to open communications with those around him. He can now make known to them the message of mercy in their own tongue, and although at present he describes the Bakwilli people as impervious to its value, he has no doubt that, in answer to fervent prayer, here also the kingdom of Christ shall win for itself many victories. In company with the Rev. R. Smith, he has made an attempt to penetrate the country beyond the mountain, and the Committee are not without hope that in this direction also the interior may be reached. In Victoria and Bonjongo the Society possesses an admirable basis for the projected operations in the regions beyond, and the Committee trust that their brethren will not meet with any insurmountable obstacle to the accomplishment of their long-cherished desire.

WEST INDIES.

The hope expressed by the Committee in their last report that they would be able during the year to supply a colleague for their laborious missionary, the Rev. W. H. Gamble, of Trinidad, has, they are thankful to say, been fulfilled. The Rev. W. Williams, pastor of the church at Roch, near Haverfordwest, has gone to his help, and entered on the field with every token of the Divine blessing. The people among whom Mr. Gamble has laboured for eighteen years he describes as a stalwart race, fearless hunters, able woodsmen, and famous sawyers. They are free and frank in their manners, somewhat independent, and self-reliant. In the early years of the Mission, superstition and many evil practices, derived from their native land, prevailed amongst them, but they have given way before the light of divine truth. The churches build their own chapels and support their pastors, looking only to the missionary for the counsel and direction which he is able to give. Nine churches have been formed, and they contain 539 members, of whom forty-eight have been baptized during the year.

The Committee have not been able to obtain the services of a Calabar student, as they hoped, for the service of Christ in Hayti. They have, therefore, accepted the offer of the Rev. J. E. Gummer, of Clarendon, Jamaica, and a former student of Bristol College. He will shortly enter on this very interesting field. The Committee are, however, glad to learn that the Jamaica Missionary Society has succeeded in finding a suitable man to occupy the northern part of the island.

With respect to the Bahamas Islands the plan of the Committee to settle in Nassau a student from Jamaica to relieve the Rev. J. Davey, for service in other parts of the district, especially in San Domingo, has for the present, through various untoward circumstances, failed. But arrangements are in progress by which they hope in future years to supply the wants of the Mission without the necessity of sending out more European brethren. Mr. McDonald, Mr. Davey's assistant in Nassau, will proceed to Turk's Islands, while Mr. Davey will give his best attention to the raising up of an indigenous ministry for the future. Meanwhile, the Committee are happy to learn from the Rev. J. Littlewood, of Inagua, and from Mr. Davey, that there has been no hindrance to the progress of the mission in the islands. Some eighty-four persons have been added to the Churches by baptism. In the early part of the year, in company with Mr. Hanna, Mr. Davey visited the Churches in his extensive district. He found most of the settlements growing in Christian knowledge, and the people diligent in their attendance on the means of grace. At Great Abaco a good Sunday-school had been gathered, and a chapel built, through the labour of an African brother, a good simple-minded man, called Moosa Bootle. The numerous Churches in San Salvador were also found to be advancing in intelligence and piety under the care of Mr. Bannister. Similar testimony reaches the Committee from Inagua, which forms the centre of a group of islands, among which Mr. Littlewood exercises his ministry.

Difficulties in some instances have arisen from the intrusion of Ritualistic clergymen ; but the Churches as a whole remain steadfast to the Gospel they have received, and in which they have been taught. About one-fourth of the entire population of the Bahamas look to our brethren for instruction in the Word of God.

JAMAICA.

From the Annual Report of the Jamaica Baptist Union, presented at the meeting in Montego Bay, in February last, the Committee rejoice to learn that there has been no loss by death among the ministers of the Union, and that the returns from the churches show that large blessing has accompanied the preaching of the Word. A few worthy men among the deacons, whose memories are held in affectionate respect by their brethren, have passed to their reward ; and here and there the families of the pastors have been called to endure the pain of separation. Special mention is made of the decease of the life-long partner of our venerable friend, the Rev. J. M. Phillippo. For fifty years she was his beloved helper in the work of the Lord in Jamaica. Some of the congregations have suffered from the invasion of the small-pox, and others from the fearful storm which desolated many parts of the island at the latter end of the year ; but the returns show that 1,356 individuals have put on Christ by baptism, and that a clear increase of 691 has been made to the churches. In the 107 churches embraced in the Union, there are estimated to be 24,846 members, and the total number of inquirers is 3,557. A few churches are not included in the Union, whose returns, if added, would carry the number of members in the Baptist churches of Jamaica to upwards of 26,000 persons—the fruit of the labours of the missionaries sent out by the Society in years gone by. Peace and harmony appear generally to prevail, and from all parts of the island there are indications of growth in grace and in an intelligent reception of the truths of the Gospel of Christ. There still remain much ignorance, superstition, and fanaticism ; but each year the power of the churches for good is augmented, opportunities for usefulness multiply on every hand, and the prospects are as encouraging and hopeful as they ever were in the past. In the blessings indicated, the churches under the care of the Rev. P. Williams and the Rev. T. L. Rees have fully shared ; and the Committee quite expect that these brethren will be able, at the end of the term of their engagement, to find the means of support among the people they have been graciously permitted to bring into the Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour.

The Committee must not omit to mention that after several years of anxious effort, they have been able to obtain from the Legislative Council of Jamaica an Act, known as Act XIII. of 1874, by which a considerable number of mission chapels, and other properties of the mission, are secured on the trusts of the Model Deed. By this Act many anomalies in the trusts, the fruit of the slave period of the island's history, are removed, the rights of the churches are more clearly defined, and the future holding of property for mission purposes simplified and rendered more secure. The Committee are much indebted to the late, and also to the present Governors of the island, to the Attorney-General, and to the Clerk of the Council, for the facilities afforded them in the obtaining of the Act.

Early in the year difficulties arose between the Managing Committee and the tutors of Calabar College, which have much affected the working of the Institution. These difficulties still exist. Means are however being taken, as the result of which it is hoped that greater harmony and efficiency will be secured to this valuable Institution. Meanwhile, the Committee commend the Institution to the prayers of the Churches, and to the hearty support of all who are interested in the spiritual and moral elevation of the people of Jamaica.

MISSIONS IN EUROPE.

From Brittany the Committee have received the most gratifying information of a remarkable movement which has begun to manifest itself among the hitherto superstitious population. In many places around Morlaix and Tremel crowds have gathered to hear the message of salvation from the lips of the missionaries, and in others there appears to be a striking relaxation of the ties which have for so many ages bound its people to the Church of Rome. From Mr. Lecoat we learn that even in localities where there has never been any preaching, from two to seven hundred people gathered, and amid intense silence listened to the message of salvation. Responding to one of the numerous invitations that reach him, he found a large concourse of people assembled, and was about to begin the service, when two gendarmes and the mayor questioned him on whose authority he held the meeting. He replied courteously, inviting their attention, and preached for an hour to more than 700 persons. When he had done, the officials shook him by the hand, expressed their approval of what they had heard, and their opinion that such meetings could do no harm. It is more than probable that the hostility of the enemies of the Cross will be provoked, and there has been reason to fear that in more than one instance the missionary's life was in peril. The movement is only in its infancy, but the Committee hope that the time is come for a manifestation of Divine grace among the interesting people of Brittany. They ask for their missionary brethren, Bouhon, Jenkins, and Lecoat, the fervent prayers of the Churches. During the year the Committee purchased a small property at Pont Menou, about four miles from Tremel; in the course of a few months it will be ready for the work of evangelisation.

Notwithstanding the prejudices which prevail in Norway, and the bitter opposition often encountered from the priests of the Established Church, the assiduous and patient labours of the missionaries have not been without reward. Forty persons have put on Christ and been joined to the churches; while the church at Tromsø, under the pastoral care of Mr. O. Hanssen, now numbering more than 100 members, is able to support its pastor, and to meet all the expenses of its worship. The annual association of the churches was held in Skien last June, Mr. Hübert being elected to preside. The meeting was delightful and profitable. Later the churches were visited by the Rev. C. Bailhache, the Association Secretary, and his report confirmed the Committee in their opinion, that a good work has been done in Norway, and that this Mission deserves the sympathy of all who are interested in the spread of the Gospel.

The close of the year's labours of the Rev. James Wall, in Rome, has been rendered memorable by the acquisition of suitable premises for the carrying on of his evangelistic work. Through the kindness of G. T. Kemp, Esq., and his family, the Committee have rented a residence for the missionary, and a piece of land on which to erect a hall for Divine Worship. The opening of this building on the 21st March attracted public attention, not in Rome only, but also in this country, doubtless owing, in large measure, to the presence of a party of English friends, induced to undertake the journey by the liberal arrangements of Messrs. Cook and Son. The Committee were represented by the Secretary of the Society. It was by general consent a season of much spiritual enjoyment. The hall was filled with a deeply interested congregation at all the services by which it was dedicated to the service of Christ. Although during the later months of the year Mr. Wall's general missionary work has been hindered by the labour connected with the transference of the mission to its new abode, some fifteen persons have been gathered out of the world into the fellowship of the Gospel. The Church numbers ninety-one individuals, and Mr. Wall is aided in his work by three evangelists, of whom the most notable is Signor Grassi. Signor Grassi has now for three years sustained his character as a true servant of the Gospel. He is supported by the General Baptist Missionary Society, and conducts frequent services in his own house, in the vicinity of the basilica of S. Maria Maggiore, of which he was formerly a canon and parish minister. Connected with the services in the Piazza San Lorenzo, the locality of the new mission premises, Mr. Wall has a day and Sunday school, and shortly will be opened a depot for the sale and distribution of the Scriptures and religious books. He is indebted to a friend in Manchester for the provision of this depot, and for an edition of 50,000 copies of the New Testament, which will soon be put in circulation within the range of Mr. Wall's Christian labours. In every way, his hands are sustained by the devoted zeal of Mrs. Wall, who, in addition to her frequent tract distribution and house-visiting, has weekly at her home some two hundred of Rome's poorest people, men and women, to whom she gives, not only a portion of the bread that perisheth, but of that manna which came down from heaven. Let it be a matter for devout thanksgiving that, by the lips of our missionary, and by the exertions of many other faithful men, the Gospel of Christ, freed from all human additions, is now fully and successfully preached in the Eternal City, in the very seat of that great system of evil which for so many ages has led astray the nations of the world.

FINANCES.

In closing the accounts of the year, the Committee are happy to report that the results are of a most cheering character, Last year's income was the largest the Treasurer had ever received. This year the income has reached the same amount within £134 7s. 8d., and that notwithstanding the presence in the balance-sheet of 1874 of the unusual item of £3,126 18s. 8d. for the aid of the famine-stricken people of Bengal. The total received last year was £40,255 17s. 9d.; this year it is £40,121 10s. 1d.

In examining this receipt a little more in detail, it will be found that there has been an increase of £1,554 13s. 8d. in the contributions from the churches. Last year the increase was £1,962 6s. 9d. The smaller rate of increase this year is chiefly owing to the distress occasioned by the strike in South Wales, which has probably deprived the Society of more than £400. Judging, however, by the receipts, and the reports of the deputations, the Committee cannot but express their gratitude to God and their thankful acknowledgments to the pastors of churches, for the growing interest displayed in the Mission throughout all parts of the country. It is here we have a test of the prevalence of the missionary spirit in our midst, and the evidence of it is most gratifying. Nor has the increase of income been obtained by any addition to the Society's expenses. In a slight degree the working expenses are less this year than last; so that there has been a clear increase of income wholly devoted to the maintenance and extension of the Society's various operations.

The year further shows an increase of £1,737 11s. 10d. on the legacy account; and of £101 8s. 2d. in the contributions of the churches to the Widows' and Orphans' Fund. The Native Preachers' Fund exhibits an increase of £93 3s. 8d. in the sums given for the support of evangelists, while friends in Birmingham, Leeds, and other places, have forwarded £575 5s. 6d. towards the outfit and passage of the new missionaries. Thus in every important item of receipt, the Committee have the pleasant duty of recording a healthy and steady growth.

The Expenditure of the year necessarily exhibits an increase. Omitting the Special Funds, payments on account of which are made, not from the General Funds, but from those reserved for the purpose, the expenditure of the year has been £37,351 12s. 11d., an advance of £2,711 11s. 11d. on last year. This increase is spread in fair proportions over the various Missions which, during the last two years, have been strengthened or enlarged. Thus, there is an increase of £1,024 0s. 10d. in Northern India; and Southern India appears in the cash account this year, for the first time, for £927 0s. 11d. Ceylon, Africa, and Trinidad have all received accessions of labourers, and there is, consequently, an increase of outlay. The expenditure has, therefore, been large, and has exceeded the income by £1,143 15s. The totals stand thus:—Receipts on General Account, £36,207 17s. 11d.; Expenditure, £37,351 12s. 11d.

The Committee would remind their friends that, when two years ago the urgent wants of the Mission constrained them to resolve on an enlargement of the staff of the Society, the income was some £2,000 a year short of the usual expenditure. The present balance ought not, therefore, to be a source of disquietude; rather it should excite our liberality and gratitude that such a considerable extension of the Society's operations has taken place, and yet the deficiency is smaller than when the enlargement commenced.

In every other respect the report of the year is one to fill the hearts of Christ's servants with joy. The Gospel is preached by the Society's missionaries more widely than ever; the results of their labours show an unusual display of Divine grace; large accessions have been made to the churches; education has made considerable progress; new fields are open on every hand to the feet of them "that bring good tidings of good." Would it not be a fitting close to a year of so much blessing and mercy, were friends of the Mission to resolve at once to remove this burden from the coming year, and enable the Treasurer to commence its duties with a clear balance-sheet? The sum is not large. They commend its consideration to their friends.*

The Committee cannot close their report without making reference to the loss they have sustained in the decease of two of their number—the Rev. Wm. Robinson, of Cambridge, and the Rev. C. Vince, of Birmingham. For many years the Committee enjoyed the friendship of these honoured servants of Christ and their hearty co-operation in the work of the Lord. Both were always prompt to aid the cause they loved, and each in his sphere contributed largely to the efficient conduct of the Society's affairs. While the Committee are assured that the Master will never want instruments for the promotion of His glory, they cannot but mourn the absence from their meetings of brethren every way so eminently fitted to counsel and guide. May we all diligently fulfil His behests, and be found each at his post, observant of His command, "Occupy till I come."

* This was effected at the Annual Members' Meeting, when a sum more than sufficient to cover the debt was subscribed.

REPORTS FROM THE STATIONS.

THE following summary, taken from the reports of each station, and, for the most part, in the words of the Missionaries themselves, contains as complete a view as practicable of the individual exertions of the Missionaries during the past year :—

INDIA.

I.—CALCUTTA.

Missionaries.—J. WENGER, D.D., C. B. LEWIS, G. H. ROUSE, M.A.,
RAM KRISHNA KOBIRAJ, TARACHURN BANERJEE.

The population of Calcutta was found to consist of 447,601 persons by the census of 1872, of whom 21,356 were stated to be Christians. The suburbs of Calcutta contain 285,910 persons.

1.—Mission Press.

The Rev. G. H. Rouse has kindly furnished the following report :—

“I continued in charge of the Mission Press until December 1st, when Mr. Lewis resumed his old post. We were very thankful to see Mr. Lewis back again among us, and we earnestly hope that he will find his strength sufficiently restored to be able to continue his work here.

“The chief event of the year in this department has been the completion of the printing of the new version of the Bengali Bible. It was finished in April, 1874. There were two editions, one in demy quarto for the Calcutta Bible Society, containing only the text, the other in super-royal quarto for the Bible Translation Society, containing marginal readings and parallel passages. As soon as these were printed, I put in hand a small-print edition, both of the Testament and of the whole Bible, in Bengali. The former edition of each of these has been exhausted. Of the New Testament, 3,000 copies were printed in 1854; of the whole Bible, 3,000 copies were printed in 1867. The ordinary Bengali Bible is such a bulky volume, owing to the size of the Bengali character, that these small print editions are very handy, and are much wanted. Unfortunately, it will be some time before we can get these new editions printed. The New Testament (which is foolscap octavo), I hope, will be finished in the course of the year. The Bible is in demy octavo. Besides the readings by the Pundit, I read through each form, both of the New Testament and of the Bible, twice. We have just finished the Gospels in each—the printing of the New Testament preceding the printing of the Old. We have also printed for the Bible Translation Society in Bengali, 5,000 copies of John, 12mo; 5,000 copies of Luke, 18mo; 2,000 copies of John, 18mo; and in Hindi, 5,000 copies of Matthew, 8vo; 3,000 copies of John, 8vo; 5,000 copies of Acts, 8vo. We have also nearly finished an edition of the Gospel of Matthew in the Garo language, spoken by one of the hill-tribes on the north-east frontier, near Assam. This is the first version of any part of the Scriptures in that language.

"For the Calcutta Auxiliary Bible Society we have printed, in Bengali, Matthew, 10,000 copies; Mark, 10,000 copies; Luke, 15,000 copies; John, 5,000 copies; Proverbs, 5,000 copies; and in Lapcha, 1,000 copies of Genesis. We are also printing the Psalms in Assamese; and a Bengali metrical version of the Psalms, adapted for native music, by Moonshi Aziz Bari. There have been issued from the depository, in connection with the Bible Translation Society, 18,825 portions of Scriptures during the year.

"The Christian Spectator has been continued as usual during the past year.

"In January, I accompanied Mr. Kerry to Gunga Saugor to preach at the annual melâ held there. We stayed there two days, preached and sold Scriptures in Bengali and Hindi. Many of those who have become Christians have traced their conversion to words heard, and books received, at Gunga Saugor. Some fakirs took our books, and it was interesting to see a poor man, covered with ashes, and with hand withered by having held it up for years, sitting down and reading one of the Gospels.

"The distribution of the money raised by the English churches for the relief of Christians suffering from the scarcity of last year, comes into the report of the year. We formed a 'Famine Relief Committee,' and the funds were distributed by them to the missionaries, as needed, and each missionary saw to the distribution in his own district. None of our Christians lived in the real 'famine districts,' but owing to the drain of rice from all parts, the price of grain all over the country was largely in excess of the normal rate. Hence there was more or less of distress everywhere. The great bulk of the relief afforded was to our large Christian population in Backergunge, the 24 Pergunnahs, and among the Santals."

2.—Work in Calcutta.

Our excellent missionary, Ram Krishna Kobiraj, writes as follows:—

"Five years ago, when I was at Baraset, I was taken dangerously ill with malarious fever, which necessitated my removal to the Calcutta Medical College Hospital, where I was for a time on the brink of the grave; but the Lord graciously brought me again to the land of the living. When I got better, the Missionaries thought it best for me to reside in Calcutta, and do as much there as I could. Since then, I am preaching the Word of God in the town and suburbs of Calcutta; my operations extending from the Salt Water Lakes to the Strand, and from Kidderpore to Sham Bazaar. Some of these places are very far from my house, and, as far as I am aware, no preacher ever goes to them. When working in the town, I preach aloud at the corners of streets, which I invariably do in company with brethren Peer Bux and Suroop; and when in the suburbs, I hold religious conversations in a familiar way in the shops and houses of people, and not unfrequently in the Pâtsâlâs (Vernacular Schools). I sing hymns, read the Scriptures, expound them, and ejaculate short prayers. The people hear with much attention. Many a time people call me away to their houses and treat me friendly; some of them ask my advice in sickness. In all these cases I get ample opportunity to preach the Word of Life of the Gospel. In my neighbourhood also, I bear testimony of Christ, by either going to one's house or calling several to my house, but they generally come to me of their own accord to hold religious conversations. Mrs. Kobiraj also, when she finds time, goes among the females, to whom she has access, and talks about our religion to the best of her ability; they treat her friendly, and like her, and hear her with admiration.

"Here I must inform you that I am paying my chief attention to the villages near the Salt Water Lakes (east of Calcutta), where I have reason to believe no one goes to preach Christ and Him crucified."

Mr. Tarachurn Banerjee, thus speaks of his labours:—

"The Lord permitted me to publish the Gospel-tidings in various places throughout the year. I regularly preached every week thrice, at Cornwallis-square Chapel, of the General Assembly; once at Bow Bazaar Chapel of the London Missionary Society; once at the Amherst-street Chapel of the Church Missionary Society; once at the new chapel belonging to our Society; and several times at Mulali Durga. I preached now and then in other places of the Circular-road, and occasionally in different bazaars of Calcutta. I sought and found opportunity to preach the Gospel in some villages off from Calcutta. I declared the Gospel message to hundreds of patients, that either called at my house for medical advice, or required my attendance at theirs. The people that sympathised with, or took interest in them, had also the benefit of hearing what was declared to the poor sufferers, although they were not sufficiently aware of the blessing of Gospel truths. Many of the Hindus and Mahommedans that came to see me, either on business or simply for visits' sake, often engaged me in conversing with them on the all-important subject of religion. I spent much time with some inquirers, who seemed to be sufficiently enlightened, so far as information, intellect, and judgment are concerned.

"My Hindu brother and his good wife, for whom much pains have been taken with a view to enlighten their minds as to the principles and the claims of the religion of the Lord Jesus, have left my place some months since. I believe divine blessing will rest on what has been done for them.

"I visited several houses according to the opportunities I could avail, where I declared the Gospel of Christ to a good number of souls almost at each visit.

"Generally speaking, a favourable impression was made on the minds of a good number of people.

"During some weeks of October and November last, I had an itinerating excursion, and visited many villages and stations within 250 miles from Calcutta. I preached Christ and Him crucified before a large number of people, many of whom never heard a word of the Gospel of Jesus. Several educated men I met with, thankfully acknowledged they were greatly benefited by all they had heard.

"During the months of May, June, July, and August last, we were greatly molested by a body of very wicked Hindus. They would go to two places to use their utmost to prevent our preaching. On one occasion they went so far as to break the lights with glasses. They exhausted upon us their store of filthy and abusive language. They often attempted to use violence on our persons. On one evening, when they were more than fifty in number, they did their very worst to molest us. We used patient and soft measures to get rid of them, but nothing would succeed. We earnestly prayed to God to change their spirits, and to dispose them to be quiet hearers, but our prayers, it seems, were not heard, notwithstanding we persevered in repairing to the throne of grace for them during the said months, since a manifestation of an unbearable and Satanic spirit was as often observed as we came to the chapels. We were at last compelled to have the police interference. A town guard was appointed to prevent all disturbance while we would preach. The police inspector would, at times, pass by to see if any disturbance was given us. This measure at last succeeded, and sufficient quiet was secured. The ring-leader of the party came to one of the chapels, sat quietly and heard me for more than an hour, waited to see me after I had done my duty in the place, and most respectfully addressed me. I treated him with regard and affection, and exhorted him for several minutes. He at last burst into tears, and expressed great penitence for all that he had done along with his associates. He expressed a resolution to give up their company, to abstain from drinking, to see me now and then, and to make a full and thorough inquiry into the religion which has taught so much patience.

"Although I am exclusively engaged in the duties of a missionary, I render help to Mr. Kerry and other pastors that require my service. In this way I have to preach in churches several times a month. I am glad to write to you that I am now called to preach in the Bengali section of the Presbyterian Church, from which privilege I was formally excluded by the Presbytery, when I was baptized by Dr. Wenger."

3.—Zenana Work in Calcutta.

In the absence of Mrs. Lewis, this important department has been under the charge of Mrs. Robert Robinson. Mrs. Dakin, Mrs. Sanders, and Miss Simpson, with about eighteen Bible women and teachers, have been labouring very devotedly, and with many tokens of encouragement and blessing. Mrs. Robinson writes thus to Mrs. Lewis :—

"You are remembered by the teachers and pupils with affection and gratitude, as evinced by their constant inquiries about you. The widow we mentioned last time has written again, desiring many salaams to be sent to you, and wished us to tell you that she daily instructs the women around her in the Scriptures as well as in other books. This she does of her own accord in her distant village, where she is out of the reach of Christian influence or teaching. This is surely very encouraging, as the result of Christian teaching showing itself after three years.

"The work is progressing here, I am glad to say, in a hopeful manner. Mrs. Sanders was with me this morning, and related some incidents that were both pleasing and encouraging. She assured me that in many of the houses there is an increased desire to possess the Word of God, and to receive instruction from it. One poor woman entreated Mrs. Sanders to begin visiting her again, 'for,' she added, 'you have done so much good in this neighbourhood. Wherever you visit and instruct, the people become better and happier; they give up quarrelling and other bad ways, and learn to do many useful things, and be kind to each other.' Then she mentioned some pupils by name who were much changed in temper and habits since coming under Christian influence—a change that Mrs. Sanders had noticed herself, and was glad to have confirmed by this woman. The widow mentioned before has begged the ladies to visit her at a station a little beyond Dum-Dum, where she has been trying to do good to her neighbours, by reading the Scriptures and talking about Christ and His salvation. A spirit of inquiry has been roused among them, and they long to see the teachers, and learn more from them. Mrs. Dakin and Mrs. Sanders are going to the place next Friday.

"You will rejoice to know that our work has been carried on very steadily during the whole year. The ladies have had excellent health, and Mrs. Sanders and Miss Simpson have been well sustained in their late severe bereavements, and the native teachers have conducted themselves remarkably well. The only matter of regret has been the large amount of sickness that has prevailed in the native population, preventing regular instruction in some houses and good attendance among the school children. We have great reason to be thankful for the valuable services of our lady teachers, and for the encouraging tokens of God's presence with them in the fruit borne by many of our Hindu females. It is true that we have not had any yet coming forward to join us by baptism; but it is equally true that the 'spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak.' Not long ago one woman proposed it, but we felt that the sacrifice was not required of her to part from her helpless children, and come away from those whom she was so likely to influence for good.

"On Sunday last, the 19th December, we had a gathering of the children from our five Zenana schools at the Intally chapel, as that seemed to be the most suitable place for them. The parents were consulted previously, and, to our delight, we found them willing to send their girls out, though some respectable families at Mullinga stipulated that they should ride in carriages; so accordingly we hired two gharries. I assure you it was a very pleasant sight to see so many heathen female children gathered together. Mr. Lewis was present and expressed much pleasure at the number present—some 160—and the heap of beautiful toys spread out for distribution among the children. I am sorry that press of work prevented him from remaining with us, but Mr. Rouse kindly gave a short address to the teachers and children, and Mrs. Rouse and Miss Leslie gave away the presents. One of the girls repeated the Lord's Prayer aloud, and Mr. Rouse closed with the Benediction."

II.—CHURCHES IN CALCUTTA.

1.—Circular Road.

Pastor, A. WILLIAMS.

Number of members, 160.

The pastor, the Rev. A. Williams, has forwarded to us the following report:—

"While we have to mourn the departure—some for other stations, others for a better world—of several of our oldest and most useful members during the past year, we have a cause of much thankfulness in the addition made to our membership. In no year of the Church's history have so many baptisms taken place. The year has been one of great awakening throughout Calcutta, no less so perhaps than in Britain. Before the special services which were held in June, and which were continued with some intermissions to the close of the year, a spirit of great earnestness and prayer pervaded the different congregations in the city, and a great work of grace had been going on among our Methodist brethren. Many in our midst had been praying for a special outpouring of the Holy Spirit, and we believe that it is in answer to earnest prayer that we have been so blessed. We have received into our fellowship thirty-four, of whom thirty were admitted by baptism, and four by letters of dismission from other churches.

"Our losses, though few, have been very deeply felt, as the friends who have left us were all tried men, who had served the Lord faithfully, in connection with the Church, for many years. Another part of the Lord's vineyard has been receiving the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Greenway's happy presence and unceasing labours; and we rejoice to know that the Lord has been blessing very abundantly the Word as spoken by our dear brother at Dinapore. When we parted from Mr. I. B. Biss, it was in the hope of speedily meeting him again. He was permitted to return to this country, and to enjoy a quiet season with his beloved daughter and her husband; but he was soon called to enter into sweeter rest, more calm and peaceful. On returning from a morning excursion, he went into his room. When they sought him, he was gone. He had met the Master—Jesus had come to receive him unto Himself, so that where He is, His dear servant may be also. The members of the Church had testified their regard for him when he was leaving for England, by presenting him with a handsome gold watch and chain. After his death it was deemed fitting and desirable that some memorial of him should have a place in the chapel, with the public services in which he had been identified for so many years. Steps have therefore been taken to erect a tablet to his memory, similar to that which marks the great regard of the congregation for the memory of their late Pastor, Mr. Leslie.

“Mr. William Wilson, another member who died during the year, was at one time usefully employed as the agent of the Seamen’s Friend Society. I was glad and thankful to receive the testimony of not a few inmates of the hospital, where his last days were passed, to his Christian character, and the anxiety he had shown to secure their highest good.

“Mr. Rowe was admitted a member of this Church on the 28th March, 1826; and, as he and Mr. Biss were foster-brothers, it is interesting to note that they were baptized on the same day. Mr. Rowe was identified with the Church scarcely less than Mr. Biss, though he never held office in it. He rendered important service when the chapel was enlarged, and on many occasions when it was repaired.

“No more trusty counsellor could be found in all business matters. I take this opportunity of once more bearing my testimony to the loving, fatherly treatment I always received from him. No man in Calcutta was so widely known and so universally respected as a kind, humane, yet strictly just and upright man. His loss will be felt for many years to come.

“Several of those who have recently joined us had been attending the Sunday School. This is one out of many tokens that Mr. Wenger and the teachers have lately received that the Lord is owning and blessing their labours. The attendance has greatly increased, and some of the classes are now inconveniently large. The present number of teachers is nine; scholars, average attendance in the year, sixty.

“The half-yearly services for children have been continued, and were conducted last year by the Rev. W. Johnson, and the Rev. Charles Jordan. These services are doing much good, and are much appreciated by old and young.

“The week-day services have been fairly attended. Special services have been frequently held, and on these occasions the attendance was, with one or two exceptions, very large. The sweet hymns that were sung, and the short pointed addresses that were delivered, have stirred up many hearts.

“Home Meetings.—These, I am thankful to say, are multiplying. Mr. Wenger has continued to conduct one in the house of Miss Johnston every fortnight, which, besides being a well of comfort to our beloved sisters, one of whom is still kept away from the services in the chapel through ill-health, have, it is believed, resulted in much good to others. In addition to these meetings a few brethren have met me in the same house for a communion service once a quarter. The weekly meetings in our brother, F. M. De Rozario’s house have been well attended. A pleasing feature in these meetings, is the presence there of some who formerly did not go to any place of worship. A meeting has also been held for some time in the house of Mr. R. J. Belchambers, in South Colingah-street, the attendance at which has been encouraging.

"In these meetings I have taken a part by presiding once a month; I have also lectured monthly in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association in Bow Bazaar; and during the latter half of the year I have conducted meetings at Ballygunge on the third Friday in each month.

"For a long time our lady friends have had prayer meetings in the Chapel House for half-an-hour before the ordinary prayer meetings in the Vestry, and before all the special services which were held in the chapel.

"For several years the Church has shown its interest in missionary labours, not only by collections, but also by supporting, from the General Fund, a native preacher. Since 1866, it has had a most efficient agent in our brother Anando Chunder Duffadar, who along with our good Deacon Mr. Greenway, and brother Radha Mohun Nath (supported by the children of St. Mary's Chapel Sunday School, Norwich, to labour in connection with me) ably represented the church in the mission field. The efficiency and success with which brother Anando laboured, attracted the attention of several of our Missionary brethren, and they deemed it desirable, in the interest of Christ's kingdom, that he should have a larger and more important sphere. He has consequently been entered on the list of the Society's staff of workers as a Home Missionary on probation; and Cutwa, the place where John Chamberlain and William Carey formerly laboured, has been chosen as his station. With him went Radha Mohun Nath, who is also supported now by the Society, so that our Church has at present no share in vernacular preaching."

Since the above was written, Mr. Williams has returned to England for the invigoration of his health.

2.—Lal Bazaar.

Pastor, JOHN ROBINSON.

Number of members, 143.

The pastor writes as follows:—

"The year 1874 has been in many respects one of a unique character in the history of our church at the Lal Bazaar. At the close of 1873, Mr. Jordan, who had assisted in pastoral duties, left us to officiate for our dear Brother Trafford in Serampore. For some time before this, we had mourned over the low state of our spiritual life; and, though the Lord had not left us without some precious tokens of His favour, yet we desired and longed for richer and more abundant blessings.

"As noticed in my last report, a meeting for prayer was begun among our sisters in December, 1873. Miss Leslie kindly consenting to preside at this meeting, which was held for half-an-hour before the usual service every Wednesday evening. Mrs. Robinson proposed another of the same kind every Monday evening, which Mrs. Kerry afterwards kindly conducted. In February, we resolved to have a series of meetings for prayer and evangelistic services, at which our dear brethren, R. Scott Moncrieff, Esq., General Litchfield, R. Carr, Esq., a deacon of the Baptist Church at Allahabad, Dr. Wenger, Mr. Kerry, and others rendered us much efficient aid, and the Lord was with us of a truth. Night after night souls were awakened. The young people connected with our Sunday-school and congregation were among the first to decide for Christ. By the time these refreshing meetings were concluded, fourteen had declared themselves on the Lord's side. It was then considered desirable that a special weekly meeting should be held to instruct the young believers more particularly in the doctrines of the Gospel, and to stir them up to earnest exertions in the cause of Christ. Friday evening was set apart for the purpose. The young ladies met with Mrs. Robinson, and the young men with myself in an adjoining room. This continued for a while, and was attended with much blessing and some remarkable instances of answers to prayer, but, Mrs. Robinson's health failing, the two classes were united; and a large number besides having begun to attend, the character of the meetings was changed, and Friday evening has become, and has since continued to be, one of our regular service evenings.

"While these refreshing meetings were going on, our chapel was undergoing extensive repairs.

"In September one of the young men who professed faith in the Lord Jesus, sought baptism before leaving Calcutta for a situation at some distance; and, though the chapel was not ready for use, we had the use of the baptistery on the 4th, when he and another of our young friends were baptized. The repairs having been completed, on Saturday, the 12th, a prayer-meeting was held preparatory to re-opening the chapel on the following day.

"On the following morning, the 13th, Brother Rouse preached to a large congregation, and I had the pleasure of baptizing twelve persons. On the 27th of the same month, six more; on the last Sabbath of October, four; and in November, nine were baptized. The number of those added to the church during the year is 35—viz., 29 by baptism, and 6 by letter from other churches. By death we have lost five, and two have withdrawn from our communion.

"The total number of those who at our various meetings professed to have found peace in Christ is upwards of sixty. Several of these were seafaring men, who, during their short stay with us, gave satisfactory evidence of change of heart.

"One, an officer in a Sootoh steamer, I observed at a prayer-meeting a few evenings ago. On my expressing great pleasure at seeing him again, he said, 'I was in church last Sunday, and saw you baptizing, though you did not see me. I have been longing to come in here again (the room in which we hold our meetings for prayer). It was here I found the Lord.' He then went on to say that during his short stay at home he had been married, and he and his wife had attended a Baptist Church near Glasgow. He had just been writing to her about the baptism he had witnessed here, and had told her there were two others who ought to be baptized too (meaning himself and his wife).

"Another young man, a steward on board a steamer, which has since gone to England, was awakened one evening at one of our services. He waited to have some conversation with me, and the light broke in upon his soul. 'Why may I not give myself up to the Lord, now?' he said, and at once knelt down, and, in a solemn, earnest prayer, confessed his past sins and transgressions, implored forgiveness and acceptance through the atoning blood of Christ, and besought grace to be faithful to the end. He rose from his knees, and, returning to the chief-engineer, who is a pious man, said to him, 'I am thankful that you brought me here.' We have seen him frequently since; on two or three occasions he has at our chapel earnestly delivered addresses, entreating sinners to be reconciled to God. Another young gentleman, a clerk on board a steamer, was led to the Lord by the pious conversation of an officer in the army. He was baptized in September, and bids fair to be a useful Christian. Other instances I could give, but let these suffice.

"Our young people are now in various ways seeking to make themselves useful to others. The young men have a prayer-meeting among themselves on Sunday morning and evening, before the regular services. The young ladies also have a prayer-meeting by themselves. During the week they hold five cottage meetings. They have also formed a library, and have subscribed together and procured from England a number of religious periodicals, which are circulated among them.

"Towards the close of the year we were enabled to commence a series of open-air services in the chapel grounds. In September last, having taken leave for a month from my official duties, I opened these services, and our young friends joined me very heartily—the young ladies assisting in the service of song, and the young men standing at the gate to distribute tracts, and invite passers-by. Many of the missionaries of the Society, being in Calcutta at the time for the Conference meetings, rendered much aid, and our brethren Spurgeon and Mintridge had many opportunities of preaching to large assemblies of English-speaking natives. These services were since continued, for a short time, by a very intelligent and able native brother, Ananda Chandra Sing, who spoke with much energy and great earnestness, and was attentively listened to by his own countrymen, whom he could address very fluently both in English and Bengali. He has, however, since gone to hold the post of head-teacher in a mission-school far up in the north-west. Brother Johnson too was very active in maintaining these services, in which some of our young men also took part.

"Our present staff in the Sunday-school is as follows:—A superintendent, eighteen teachers, and three visitors. The number of children on the roll is upwards of a hundred and forty, and the attendance is always good.

"A ragged school has also been opened in one of the lanes near the chapel, under the superintendence of one of our brethren, Mr. F. Austin.

"The children are almost all Roman Catholics, and exceedingly poor. The number now is about twenty-one.

"In January, this year, a day-school for girls was opened in the hall adjoining the chapel. The want of such a school has long been felt in our neighbourhood, and we have often been grieved to find good Christian people sending their children to catholic schools, because there was no other near by, of the advantages of which they could avail themselves. The school is carried on by Mrs. Howatson, who was among the first that declared themselves on the Lord's side, in connection with us last year. She is a person in every way fit for the undertaking, and has already above twenty pupils, and the fees amount to 81 rupees a month, or £8 2s.

"The Lord has been with us of a truth. May the light of His countenance continue to shine upon us; and may the Holy Spirit still abide among us, taking of the things of Jesus, and revealing them to many more."

3.—Intally.

Missionary, G. KERRY.

Number of members 76.

The Rev. G. Kerry thus writes:—

"The native church at Intally has for many years past been under the care of the Missionary at Intally, or of Dr. Wenger. About twenty years ago an effort was made to place the Church in the same position in which the Church at Colinga has so long been, under the care of our brother, Goolzar Shah; but the effort failed, dissensions arose, and the Church was for a time scattered. Dr. Wenger was pastor for many years, and under his care the people grew in knowledge, and into regular habits of Church government; and latterly the public ministry of the Church was shared with him by three or four of the members. This course was continued when I took charge of the Church, some three years ago. But at the beginning of this year I resigned the pastorate, and urged the people themselves to choose a pastor from among themselves. This they have now done. At one meeting of the Church, papers were given in on which each one had written the name of the brother he or she wished to be pastor. There were three brethren thus voted for, of whom one had double the number of votes given to the other two. I then proposed that a letter of formal invitation should be written in the name of the Church to the one who had the largest number of votes, and that all should sign it. This was agreed to, and fifty names were afterwards appended to the letter. The brother chosen is Gogon Chunder Dass, who has been deacon of the Church since the re-formation of the Church in 1858. For some years past he has taken an active part in all the work of the Church, and has taken his turn with others in preaching on Sunday. He is in a good situation as clerk in an office in the city, and has some property. He knows English fairly well, and is respected by his brethren. He has accepted the invitation of the Church, and will henceforth hold the office of pastor. The Church have expressed a wish that he should be publicly ordained as their pastor, and in due time they will make arrangements for such ordination. I am sure you will rejoice in one more step being taken towards the full independence of the Churches of this country.

"The number of members on the register now is 76, but many of these are non-resident; six have been baptized during the year, and six have been restored to communion and there are four candidates for baptism. The congregation fluctuates considerably, but the average is about 100.

"The case of one baptized last year is very interesting. His name is Kochim. He was originally a Mahomedan living in a village in the Jessore district, near to one of our churches. He went as a lad to one of our Mission schools, and then became acquainted with the Gospel and with the Christian people, and was a candidate for baptism; but before he was accepted by the Church he fell into very grievous sin, but of this probably no one would have known had he not, under power of a sorely troubled conscience, himself made confession of his fall. This led to a delay of his baptism; and meanwhile he went to the town of Jessore, and at once inquired for the missionary, but not having said which missionary, he was directed to the Roman Catholic priest, who received him very kindly, got him work, and in due time baptized him (by sprinkling); but he was not happy here, for he kept up his old habit of reading the Scriptures, for which he was reproved by the people, and not being comfortable there he came on to Calcutta and to Intally. We were all pleased with his honest simplicity, and after some time, and various inquiries, he was cordially received by the brethren, and has ever since grown in their esteem. He is employed as a colporteur, and is one of the most active and successful sellers of the Scriptures I know."

4.—Intally Christian Institution.

Missionary, G. KERRY.

Number of scholars, 250.

5.—Boarding School for Native Christian Girls.

Missionary, Mrs. KERRY.

Number of scholars, 40.

Of these Institutions, Mr. Kerry reports as follows:—

"This important and interesting school has, through God's blessing, had another year of prosperous work. The number of pupils has been as great as in former years, varying from 40 to 60. The children have been healthy on the whole, and as happy as children can well be. There has seldom been occasion to complain of any misconduct, and never for any serious offence. Three Christian widows live with the girls, and have charge of them out of school hours. To Mrs. Kerry's great joy, five girls have given evidence of their conversion, and have been baptized and added to the fellowship of the Church during the past year.

"Reference has been made in previous reports to the usefulness of the school in having prepared several Christian women for work as Zenana teachers; this has been done incidentally hitherto, but it is hoped that in the future this will become not the least important part of the work of the school. Formerly, in consequence of the very early age at which most of the girls were removed from school and married, it seemed impossible to do much efficiently in the way of preparing teachers; but lately many of the girls have remained till they were fourteen and fifteen years of age, and have therefore been able to lay a good foundation of instruction for future use. During the past year four girls from the school have entered upon the work of teaching, and are doing well. A former pupil, now married, has returned to school as a day scholar, in order to be fitted for Zenana teaching.

"Five girls have been married from the school, four of whom are members of the Church, and some others have left to be married at their own homes.

"A deficiency of funds has arisen chiefly from the increased cost of food during the year of scarcity, through which Bengal has just passed. The pinch began as early as October, 1873, and is not yet quite over, for rice is still higher priced than usual.

"Generally the year has ended with a small balance in hand. The receipts for 1873 amounted to a little more than Rs. 1,450 (£145). The expenditure was a little over Rs. 1,480 (£148), leaving a small debt which would have been greater but for the most rigid economy, and an additional grant from the Baptist Missionary Society. In the last year the receipts were Rs. 1,793, and expenditure Rs. 1,813. It is a matter for great thankfulness that the deficiency is so little as it is; it would have been greater but for the unlooked-for, though not surprising, kindness of R. Scott Moncrieff, Esq., who supplied the school with rice during the greater part of the year, at a very much lower price than must otherwise have been paid. For several months past the funds have been exhausted, and the expenditure has been met from private sources at personal inconvenience; this has greatly increased Mrs. Kerry's anxiety in connection with the school."

Pastor, GOOLZAR SHAH.

Number of members, 47.

A report of this native church has not reached us.

III.—HOWRAH.

Missionaries, T. MORGAN and E. C. B. HALLAM.

Number of Members, 34.

Howrah, in the district of Hooghly, may be regarded as a suburb of Calcutta, and is situated on the opposite side of the River Hooghly. As it is the site of the chief railway-station to the North-West Provinces, it has become a very busy and populous town, its inhabitants numbering 97,784 souls.

The Rev. T. Morgan reports as follows:—

"Two English services on Sunday, one in the week. Native services: Two on Sunday, and one native Sunday-school. All these services have been conducted without a single omission. Heathen work:—Two native day-schools and preaching.

"Five persons were baptized in connection with the native Church. English Church two; a third was prevented by illness. Two were received from another Church. All current expenses have been met by local funds.

"In the English congregation, constant removals prevent the possibility of anything like permanent strength. Within the last year and a half we have lost, by removals, about twenty of our most influential people.

"Comparing the general deportment of the Native Christians with the experience of past years, there is a decided improvement. They have been regular in their attendance, and have given me no trouble.

"Educated natives of the heathen class—under the pretence of coming for baptism—circumvent, conceal, and try to utilise the knowledge and influences of the missionaries to their secular advantage. I give them every encouragement to come to me, and I am willing to teach the Bible. But it comes out by degrees that they simply want help to some employment, or to pass some examination; and when they cannot get that, I see them no more. Several such cases I have had this year. Within the last month, a Koolin Brahmin came, and said, 'I want to be baptized in a month.' By degrees the jackal's tail began to wag at the mouth of the hole. He had passed one examination, was preparing for another, reading Latin. He would like to read that and some other books with me. I told him I was not paid for cramming. He came no more.

STATIONS AND CHURCHES IN BENGAL.

I.—DUM-DUM.

Pastor, C. B. LEWIS.

Number of members, 11.

This station, chiefly occupied by the military, lies to the north of Calcutta, about seven miles. The settled population is between five and six thousand.

The Rev. G. H. Rouse thus speaks of his visits to this station, Mr. Lewis being in England:—

"During the year, I went regularly twice a month to preach to the English congregation there, and the Rev. R. Robinson and other brethren supplied the pulpit the other Sunday evenings in the month. The congregations have been good, growingly so, and much religious interest has been excited. Several of the soldiers of the 62nd Regiment, stationed at Dum-Dum, have joined the Christian brotherhood, which is mainly composed of Wesleyans. At the close of 1874, being about to take charge of the Circular-road Church, Calcutta, I handed over to Mr. Kerry the charge of the work at Dum-Dum. I have just heard (Feb., 1875) that one of the soldiers has applied for baptism. I hope others may follow his example.

"Bhagwan Misser, the Native preacher at Dum-Dum, has continued his work during the year as far as his strength will allow, but he is growing old. In February he made a short preaching tour to Ranee-gunge, in the course of which he distributed 300 tracts in Hindi, Urdu, and Bengalee.

"Regarding his work at Dum-Dum he reports as follows :—

"I preached regularly twice a week in the Gunpowder Factory, where about 1,000 people come to work daily. In the bazaar to about twelve shopkeepers, Bengali Babus and day-labourers, I gave several portions of the Bible, who among themselves exchanged these books with one another after each had read his own. At my visits I expounded to them those parts which they could not understand. To the two hospitals, where the Native sick soldiers and Native sick workers in the Gunpowder Factory are kept, I generally paid visits, and held regular Christian services with them. To about six old East Indian ladies, unable to attend chapel, I went regularly, and on several occasions held prayer-meetings and services with them. There have been three inquirers, of whom I had on many occasions hope of their professing to be Christians, but sometimes despair. Seven hundred tracts, both large and small, in six different languages, have been distributed."

II.—BARASET.

Native Missionaries, PUDDA LOCHUN
ROY and KEDAR NATH MOOKERJI.

Number of members, 6.

This is the principal town of the division of the same name, and contains some 11,822 inhabitants. It is about fourteen miles to the N.N.E. of Calcutta.

The following from Mrs. Dakin is an interesting example of the utility of the Zenana work:—

"One of our pupils at Baraset has expressed to Barbara, our teacher, her desire to become a Christian. She is a very intelligent Hindu widow. At first, Miss Simpson and I did not feel much drawn to her, as her sole object in wishing to see us seemed to be a desire to argue with us. She is well read for a native. Among her books we found the Psalms in Sanscrit. She has a little knowledge of Sanscrit, and also of English. Bengali she reads and talks fluently. We have given her several books to read. To the perusal of 'Daybreak in Britain,' she ascribes her favourable impressions of Christianity. We have been disappointed in getting opportunities to speak to her alone, as her family are always very particular to be in the room when we visit her. We noticed, the last time we went to the house, she touched the mat on which we were sitting; we thought, therefore, there must be some change in her disposition, as hitherto she had scrupulously walked round the mats placed for us, and thrown her work into our laps to avoid touching us. Just now the family have left Baraset, so that it may be some time before I see her again. Barbara particularly requested me to write to the ladies in England about this poor widow, to ask them all to pray for her, that she may be united to Christ by saving faith."

III.—TWENTY-FOUR PERGUNNAHS.

Missionaries, G. KERRY,
ROMANATH ROY CHOWDHRY.

Number of members, 327.

A district lying along the eastern bank of the Hooghly, around Calcutta, and extending southwards to the sea. Narsigdarchoke is 16 miles from Calcutta, Lukhyantipore 35 miles, and Khari 50 miles. The other stations, excepting Tumbulda, which is S.E. of Calcutta about 16 miles, lie grouped around the above. The population of the district is given as 2,210,047 in the census of 1872. Dum-Dum and Baraset are included in it.

Mr. Kerry reports as follows :—

"The past year has been one of severe trial to all our Christian people owing to the great scarcity of food, not amounting to actual famine, in this district, but making food so dear that the poor (and most of our people are poor) had to suffer great hardships. The help which was so generously sent by their Christian brethren in England was most gratefully received; it came at the time when large numbers of them were reduced to such distress that they could only obtain with difficulty one scanty meal a-day. I have no doubt that many must have sickened and died, but for the help given to them at the worst part of the year.

"I am glad to see signs of greater religious life and activity among the people than I have ever witnessed previously. For many years at Khari, and Lukhyantipore, there had been almost utter stagnation, but now at both these places there has been a waking-up of the people. Sunday-schools have been set on foot, special prayer-meetings established, and in other ways signs of more vigorous life are apparent; at these two places twenty-two persons have been baptized, and there are between seventy and eighty candidates for baptism. At the other stations there are similar signs of the Lord's blessing coming on the people.

"We have now entered upon the sixth year of the effort to put on the people the burden and privilege of sustaining their own religious organizations. There are six churches, every one of which has accepted the new order of things; most of them have done so heartily; one church has only now consented to do something for its pastor's support. Four of the churches have, I believe, fully supplied to the pastors the amount by which their support from the Society has been decreased. And this has been done notwithstanding the hard times.

"I am concerned at the great efforts which the Roman Catholics are making to gain over our Christian people. Hitherto their efforts have been almost utterly fruitless with our own adherents, but they are gaining many of the people who were so wickedly drawn from us years ago by the efforts of the agents of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. At Khari they have recently built a chapel, and established a catechist, and the priest frequently visits the place. I hope that our people will continue to be faithful; they have been pretty well drilled in the truth that the Word of God, as contained in the Holy Scriptures, is the sole authority in religion."

Our home missionary, Romanath R. Chowdhry, writes as follows :—

"In submitting this report for the year 1874, I have to mention the very many encouragements that I have received in the work in which I have been engaged during the year gone by. My heartfelt gratitude is due to Almighty God for the tokens He has given me that I am not alone in the great work which is being done. It is peculiarly worthy of remark that during last year, in some of the stations, large and frequent gatherings have taken place for the purpose of prayer, and this in my absence, and quite spontaneously. These prayer-meetings have, for the most part, been projected and carried out by the young men of the different villages. The women also have held several like meetings amongst themselves. As a result of these meetings I have to mention that at the station of Khari nine men and two women were received into the church by baptism, having given satisfactory evidence by their lives and actions that they believed on the Lord Jesus, and had faith in His salvation. At South Lukhyantipore, similarly, there have been nine men and two women baptized. Besides these, there are numerous other candidates for baptism whom it has not been deemed advisable to receive into the Church just yet, but who are being taught and instructed in the saving truths of the Gospel. These nominal Christians, who have led careless lives for the last very many years, have at length, by the grace of God, been awakened to a perception of their danger, and led to submit their lives and thoughts to the will of God their Saviour. Among the nine males baptized at Khari was a young man, the son of one who had joined our community more than thirty years ago, but who, I am sorry to say, has not as yet been converted. As a natural result of the father's indifference and carelessness, the son was known as a perfectly irreligious person. On his conversion, however, he became earnest and zealous for the awakening of his father, and frequently asked me to pray on his behalf.

"The people at Khari and South Lukhyantipore have subscribed towards the support of their pastors and the repairs of their chapels beyond my expectations, for the crop of this year in these two places is more meagre than in the preceding year. The produce of their lands will, I think, barely cover the expenses of cultivation and the rents of the lands. Five Christian families have already left Khari in search of means of support, and gone to Bashuntahad, where they have been promised pecuniary aid by the Zemindar, if they will permanently settle in his new Sundarban settlement. I hear it rumoured that they have been promised some aid by the Roman Catholic priest also, who is stationed there, on condition of their joining his church. In the midst of such difficulties the people at Khari, including those who left the station, contributed Rs. 46 3p. towards the support of their pastor, when they have to pay him only Rs. 48 this year.

"In like manner the people at South Lukhyantipore contribute Rs. 30 towards the support of their pastor, and Rs. 40 towards the repairing of their chapel. The pastor of South Lukhyantipore died some months ago, and the people have therefore not to pay the full amount for the year. The people at Narsigdarchoke and Russoolmahomed cultivated about four biggahs of land for their pastor, the whole produce of which will be made over to him, and if, after valuation, it be found that something more is needed to make up his Rs. 48, they promise to give it within a short time. I do not know how the chapel at Narsigdarchoke is to be rebuilt without aid from the Society. It was blown away by the last gale, and the people are so poor and few in number that they cannot give more than Rs. 25. The people at North Lukhyantipore did almost the same, but the people at Rajarampore* have no inclination to do anything for themselves. I hear that the people of Bishtopore wish to pay their pastor Rs. 8 this year, and should he consider it too little, they then intend to have such a one as will do the work with whatever they can afford to give him.†

"The preaching of the Gospel has been regularly carried on by the evangelists, though my own work has been somewhat interrupted during the year on account of my sickness and the death of my child. Still I visited markets and villages, and preached the wonderful story of redeeming love to hundreds and thousands. I rarely met with opposition from the people. Many a time I got such large attentive congregations that I felt myself unwilling to leave them, believing as I do that the time is not far away when these poor men will receive the Lord as their life and light, and find peace in him. They heard me with deep interest and apparent attention. I have frequently read on the faces of many a hearer a sweet smile indicating the internal satisfaction which he felt in hearing the wonderful love of the blessed Redeemer.

* These people have since consented to do something for their pastor.—G. K.

† They have since promised to give Rs. 12 a-year.—G. K.

"The last time when I went down to the south I held a meeting in the house of a Christian who lives in the midst of the heathen. I invited his heathen neighbours, and it was well attended by them as well as by Christians. With a view to let the people know the beauty and the excellency of our divine worship, I held a regular service in his open yard, when I addressed the people. I asked an old man what he thought of Christianity, the man most candidly said that 'We do not accept Christianity, because we have no care for the salvation of our souls.' Before the conclusion of the meeting the young men whom I took with me sang some of our beautiful hymns, which so deeply affected the people that a great number spontaneously joined in the singing."

Mr. Kerry thus speaks of the decrease of one of the native pastors:—

"One of our oldest native preachers in the south, named Khorgeswor, has been taken from us to his rest and reward. He had for many years been employed by our Society as a pastor and evangelist, but since my return to India had become the pastor of the church only, and had ceased drawing pay from us as Evangelist. He had few advantages of education, but was a man of good ability, and honest and true. He was respected and loved by his people. I was at Dhanghatta a few days before his death, and found him patient and peaceful, firm in his trust on the Lord Jesus. He died in the faith, and with his last words bore testimony to the grace of God which had called him, a poor ignorant idolater, to the knowledge of the Gospel. More than thirty years ago when the agents of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel made a wicked raid on our mission at Dhanghatta and Lukhyantipore and nearly ruined our Church, he remained faithful, and his influence largely contributed to frustrate the efforts then made to pervert our converts. His last days were made happier by the return to his congregation of a large number of people who had been led astray in the years gone by.

I am exceedingly anxious as to the future of the church, as I cannot now appoint the pastor, but must leave the people to choose entirely for themselves. I have instructed them to seek Divine guidance in prayer, and hope they will be led aright in this trying time."

Serampore, in the district of Hooghly, is about fourteen miles from Calcutta, with which city it is connected by railway. It lies on the western bank of the River Hooghly. The population numbers 38,463.

Mr. Jordan writes as follows:—

"I assumed the charge and conduct of this institution from Mr. Trafford at the end of March, 1874. From that time the work was, I trust, carried on faithfully and conscientiously to the close of the session in December, 1874; and I am thankful to say that, notwithstanding the general trials incident to Indian life, and the peculiar ones connected with our particular work, I was able to be at my post and work every day without a single exception.

"During 1874 I baptized a few people at Johnnugger, and also had the happiness of baptizing one Baboo at Serampore. The latter, by name Jogendro Lal Bose, came to me from Chandernagore, and, after repeated interviews with him, neither myself nor Mr. Rouse, to whom I sent him, saw any sufficient reason for further delay. For some time after his baptism, Jogendro lived in the Christian Bungalow; then he went to a brother in the district of Jessore, who had previously embraced the Gospel; and he is now, I believe, in Calcutta, seeking to support himself by trading. Jogendro is about thirty-five years old. He is married, but separated from his wife. The latter is with Hindu relatives, who will not even allow her husband an interview; but the latter still hopes that his wife will yet join him.

"Another lad in the school came to me several times saying that he firmly believed in Christ, and was willing to be baptized, come what might. But, alas! he was the son of a widowed mother, and lived with many heathen relatives; and when the day of his baptism was to be fixed, natural affection, or timidity, or both, were too much for him, and he drew back.

"We had an unusually large attendance on our closing day, owing to the presence of our Lieutenant-Governor, Sir R. Temple.

"I have also kept on the English services in the Mission Chapel, and, whilst the congregations have never been large, the average attendance is much in advance of what it was.

"Mrs. Ewart keeps on her work in the Zenanas, under the superintendence of my wife, and full reports of this are remitted to the Ladies' Society. Now that Mr. Martin is here, our work goes on very well, and his assistance enables both of us to go out preaching in the vernacular twice a week."

The Rev. J. Thomas forwards the following report of the school department:—

"In the report of last year I was able to speak of an improvement in the numbers attending the school. I am happy to be able to report that the school has gone on improving in this respect. This will be evident from a comparison of the following figures:—Total number in the school in 1873, 415; in 1874, 429. Total number who left in 1873, 146; in 1874, 145. Average number on the rolls in 1873, 271; in 1874, 314. Average number present in 1873, 214; in 1874, 259. These figures do not include the attendance in the European class, which has also improved in point of numbers. The largest number present was in April, when the average attendance during the month was 285.

"The large number of absentees is a marked feature in the school. I am not in a position to say whether our school is different from the other schools in the neighbourhood in this particular. I believe not; but at all events the evil is one of long standing. Mr. Dakin was struck with it on his arrival, and in his earliest report complained that one-fifth of the boys were invariably absent. He vainly strove to remedy it, nor have I been more successful, as you will see from the above figures more than 50 boys, on an average, were absent every day last year.

"The work during the session calls for no special remark; the higher classes were examined fortnightly, and from the third class downwards the whole school was thoroughly examined at the end of the half-year. As the result of that examination 43 boys were promoted; of these 16 gained prizes in their respective classes, and, with only two or three exceptions, all took good positions at the recent examinations in December.

"In consequence of changes in the College Department, it was found necessary for me to give up the larger portion of my work in the school to Mr. Jones, and an assistant teacher was provided for the European class. I still maintain a general superintendence over the school, though I am unable to take any of the school classes.

"The young man of whom I wrote in my last report as having been baptized by Mr. Kerry, has been to visit us two or three times. Shortly after I wrote, he made his way to Calcutta, and Mr. Kerry has obtained some employment for him by means of which he may support himself until he can get something permanent. He sometimes visits his uncle's family, and says that he is received in a friendly manner. They try to persuade him to leave the Christians, but they avoid all religious discussion."

Mr. Thomas further reports on the Native Christian Boarding School as follows:—

"While there has been much during the past year which has been encouraging, there has also been not a little of a discouraging nature, so that in reviewing the events of the past session, I find it difficult to determine which of the two preponderates.

"Certain difficulties have been encountered, it is true, some of which I shall mention in this report, but on the whole I think we have reason to thank God and take courage.

"We commenced the session in January last, with twenty-five of the boys of last year, and seven more returned subsequently. Thirteen new boys joined the school between the 15th of January and the end of April, and four have come to us since the 1st of July. This makes a total of forty-nine boys in all, against forty-one of last year. The largest number in the house at one time has been forty against thirty-five last year, but the number in the house at present (Nov. 15th) is only twenty-eight, thus not less than twenty-one have left this session. This will be felt by all to be a very large proportion, and as the matter is intimately connected with another—that of the healthiness or otherwise of the institution—I think it is of importance to determine, if possible, how many of these have been compelled to leave on account of ill-health.

"I may say that in the case of five boys, their loss has been a positive gain to the institution; as they were not only deriving no benefit themselves, but by their indolence, if nothing more, they were setting a bad example to the younger boys. Four others left from other causes, and three more, having been sent away with the rest when typhoid fever broke out in the school, were afraid to return afterwards.

"Of those who left on account of ill-health, two were constitutionally weak, and were compelled to leave early in the session. There will remain seven to be accounted for. These have all left on account of fever, but I ought to add that two of them have been sickly as long as I have known them; they are always ailing, and have been kept at home for months together, ill with fever. One went home last year in October quite well, was taken ill, and did not return till the middle of February this year.

"But assuming that only five have left us from this cause, this is a larger number than I like; and, moreover, it must be mentioned that these five or seven do not measure the amount of fever we have had in the school. Cases of fever have occurred all through the year, and for three or four months past we have scarcely been free from it, but have had almost without intermission one or two on the sick list. Just at present, for the first time since the Doorga Poojah holidays began, we have no one ill with fever.

"As something of a set-off to the above discouraging statements, I am happy to say that with the exception of the two cases of typhoid fever, the cases of fever this year have been of a much milder form than several we had last year, and when taken in time, as a rule, much more easily subdued.

"Another difficulty which we have felt this year, may here be mentioned. At the close of last session, I resolved not to attempt carrying on the school another year without a monitor or usher to look after the boys. One was appointed in January, but left within three months for a more lucrative post. As he was unmarried, he lived with the boys; but on his leaving, it was found impossible to obtain a suitable unmarried man to supply his place. The one selected was married, and I was reluctantly forced to consent to his living at John-nugger, as we had no accommodation for him on the premises.

"In last year's report, I used these words:—'With a few of the boys I have been much pleased; but I fear there are not many who will be able to take their place in the front ranks of their respective classes, while some will undoubtedly stand very low.'

"The results of the annual examination were as I had anticipated. Only the following boys deserved mention:—Kally Poddoo Siroar, junior F. A., class II.; Brojo Nath Biswas, class II., 9th; Poresch Nath Biswas, class III., 9th; Nobo Kissors Ray, class IV., 12th; Upendro Lall Shah, class VI., 11th.

"The results of the half-yearly examination held last June were more satisfactory. The following boys did well:—

"Nobo Kissors Ray, class III., 9th; Anondo Kobiraj, class V., 4th; Upendro Shah, class V., 9th; Prem

Chand Sircar, class VI., 5th; Russaik Kobiraj, class VI., 10th; Koilas Sirdar, class VII., 1st; Mony Lall Biswas, class VII., 10th.

"Owing to the interruptions the boys suffered during the second half of the year, I did not expect they would be able to do very much at the annual examination held this month (December), but I am happy to report that three of the Barisal boys did better than I expected."

V.—SEWRY.

*Missionaries, W. A. HOBBS AND

Number of members, 59.

Sewry is the principal town of the district of Beerbhoom, which is situated at the north-western extremity of Bengal. The population is reckoned at 695,921 persons, of whom 111,795 are Mahomedans. Sewry, which contains 9,000 inhabitants, is about 130 miles N.N.W. from Calcutta.

Mr. Hobbs has furnished us with the following report:—

"Last year I reported the number of the native Christian community in connection with our mission here to be 125. It is now 131. Of these 131 persons, there are 25 men, 44 women, 34 boys, and 28 girls. Of these, 7 adults and 4 children are non-resident, some of them living at Rajnagar, 14 miles west of Sewry, and the remainder at Hetampore, 14 miles south of Sewry.

"The attendance at Sabbath service has averaged about 40 in the morning, and 50 in the afternoon, which is almost as many as can be expected to attend, when it is remembered that there are many young children among us who cannot attend Divine service.

"The attendance at the Thursday morning prayer-meeting ranges between 15 and 20 persons.

"So far as attendance at public worship is concerned, I have not much to complain of, but I still have cause to lament the listlessness and apathy which prevail in relation to spiritual concerns.

"I have not yet been able to withdraw from the superintendence of the church, though my felt presence in its management is constantly becoming less. When I re-constituted it three years ago, it was necessary that, for a season, the burden of conducting the services should rest mainly upon my shoulders. The second year I took a service but once a fortnight. This year, you will see, by our last quarterly plan, that my name does not stand out in undue proportion amongst the names of the three evangelists and other private members of the Church.

"Though the above method of ministering to the Church and congregation works well, yet I should not regret seeing the Church select a settled pastor from amongst themselves were they at all disposed to do so.

"The only way (so far as I can see) of providing for the spiritual necessities of a little church, like Sewry, is to do without a paid pastor, leaving the brethren to minister to one another as best they can, with occasional help and direction from the missionary, whenever he is at hand to give it. The Church at Dacca has, I am informed by Brother Allen, recently adopted the same plan, in reference to the pastorate, that we are carrying out at Sewry. Last year I reported the number of members and communicants to be 51. They now number 58. During the year three have been added by baptism (one from the heathen), three backsliders have been re-admitted to fellowship, and four have been received from other districts. On the other hand, one has died, and two have been excluded for conduct unworthy of the Christian profession.

"Sunday School.

"At the close of the hot season we commenced a Sunday school. I should have attempted it before, but was assured by the two evangelists that it would not succeed; a Sunday school having been several times previously started, which, after a few weeks of inglorious existence, came to nought.

"We started with 26 scholars, and after a continuance of eight months, we had present on the last Sabbath of the year 42, of which number 10 are heathen boys, connected with one of my village schools (Khoddea). The teachers associated with me are all volunteers, and work most praiseworthy.

"Foremost among the many means we employ to bring the ignorant and ungodly to a knowledge of Him in whom standeth our eternal life, is the public preaching of the Gospel, in as many of the 3,000 villages of Beerbhoom as lie within our reach. I keep by me a map of my district, on which I mark every village in which I preach. In looking at this map recently, I was painfully grieved to observe how few, comparatively, of these villages have been visited by me during the three years I have been located at Sewry; and yet I have often walked and walked till my feet got blistered. The fact is, many of these villages are so distant, scattered, and from lack of roads unapproachable, that no ordinary missionary can, without incurring great expense, get at them.

"During the year, my journal records, in addition to minor journeys, the following twelve more extensive ones:—

"January.—To Cutwa, via Bolpore, 48 miles S.S.E. of Sewry.

"February.—To Beerpoor, Prypoor, Koorkooria, and region around, 10 miles N. of Sewry; also to Bokrésheer Fair, 10 miles W. of Sewry; also to Cynthia and vicinity, 11 miles E. of Sewry.

"March.—To Soorool, Parwoof, Islampoor, and neighbourhood, 22 miles S.E. of Sewry; also to Lább-poor and villages around, 20 miles E. of Sewry; also to Koostoree, Naoga, &c., 12 miles E. of Sewry.

"September.—Rajnagar, Nikajori, Khashpoor, &c., &c., &c., 14 miles W. of Sewry.

"October.—Doobrájpoor and district around, 14 miles S.S.W. of Sewry.

"November.—Bolpore, Soorool Bazaar, Ghazepoor and vicinity, 22 miles S.E. of Sewry.

"December.—A second journey to Cutwa, but on this occasion via Ahmodepoor, Labhpoor, Krinal and Tommoba; also to Poorunderpoor, and numerous villages in the vicinity, 7 miles S. of Sewry.

"During the earlier of these missionary tours, I found most of the people so dispirited by the pressure of the famine, that my audiences generally were not so attentive to the preaching of the Cross as I had previously found them to be.

"Since the harvest was reaped, however, everything has changed greatly for the better. Audiences are as attentive as formerly, and during the month of Dec. alone I sold nearly 150 gospels.

"Primary Schools.

"These comprise six boys' and four girls' schools, containing in all about 320 children. We are not required by Government to give more than a decent education in reading, writing, and arithmetic; however, in seven of the ten schools the pupils are taught in addition to this the elements of grammar, geography, and use of maps; and in the girls' schools, needlework. As my object in having these schools at all, is to instruct the children in Christianity, you may rest assured that religious teaching has not been neglected. Every time the Christian inspector of the circle (Mathoorá Nath), or I myself visit a school, we spend a considerable part of the time in giving religious instruction. All the elder boys and girls know by heart the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, the First Catechism (which is quite a little compendium of religious doctrine and precept), whilst one of the gospels is used in all the boys' schools as a reading book.

"Zenana Work.

"Our Zenana Mission at Sewry has gradually developed into just the kind of work we have long wished to see. At first our visitors were admitted to the Zenanas regularly, simply because they taught fancy needlework and reading; but it was a very difficult thing to get in anything approaching to definite and consecutive Christian teaching. The steady perseverance of my dear wife, however, has at last brought her a good reward; and the work now being carried on is almost entirely of a Gospel character. We have sold much (very much) less wool this year than formerly; but the women and girls in the Zenanas have received probably ten times the amount of religious instruction. In one village alone (Lombodorpoor) there are 50 women and girls receiving Christian teaching; in the village of Koddea 26 more; and in Sewry bazaar 6. In addition to these 82 women and girls, in the villages and bazaar, is the Christian girls' school at Sewry, with 34 children, and a tentative school at Kéadua, among the Byrágees, numbering 17 women and girls. At the last-mentioned place, however, they are up to date averse to receiving Bible instruction. They will be tested a month or two longer; and should they still decline to listen to the teaching which we hold to be our main duty to impart, the school will be closed, and they will get no further instruction from the Mission.

"Several very hopeful cases of conversion in connection with the Zenana work here have occurred during the year.

"Famine Relief.

"You will have observed a gap in my Missionary Journals from April to September. In ordinary years but little district preaching is practicable in sultry Beerbhoom during these months, but this year none was attempted, except by the native evangelists, as for five months I was almost entirely engrossed in assisting the magistrate of the district in his arduous efforts to mitigate the severity of the famine in Sewry. I had allotted to me the relief of widows, aged women, deserted wives, &c., in Sewry, and about 30 villages around.

"No doubt much Government money was wasted upon uncompleted roads, &c., &c., and that economists and utilitarians found abundant material for the exercise of their most caustic criticism and bitter reprehension; still that portion of relief which I had to carry out was, without the slightest doubt, a work of pure mercy and most absolute necessity. Without the help that was afforded them many of them would have perished from starvation. I joy in the remembrance that I was instrumental in staving off the pangs of ravenous hunger from 726 poor hapless creatures.

"During the five and a-half months I was engaged in this work, I expended for the Government £504 in money, distributed 40,000 lbs. of rice, and sold at greatly reduced rates about 2,000 women's cloths.

"In these measures of relief some of our poorest Christians shared; others benefited by a donation of £16 13s. sent to me as a loving remembrance by the congregation under the pastoral care of Rev. E. White, so that I needed no more from our own Mission Famine Relief Fund than £23.

"Sale of Scriptures.

"During the great distress of the people this year the sales have been smaller than in former years. Hundreds of times I heard, in substance, the same remark, 'Sahib, we have no pice to buy rice with; how then can we buy books?' In fact, from January to the beginning of October, I sold scarcely 150 books. I am happy to say, however, that since the harvest began to be reaped good times have returned, so that during the last two months I have sold nearly 200 Gospels and other portions of the Sacred Word. Moreover, during the year I have found purchasers for several hundred copies of the First Catechism, eight or nine Manuals of Prayer, and a number of other small religious publications."

Missionary, ANUNDO CHUNDO DUFFADAR.

Number of members, 19.

A large town on the western banks of the Hooghly, in the district of Burdwan, about seventy-five miles N.N.W. from Calcutta. It contains a population of 7,963 persons, of whom 6,817 are Hindus and 1,131 Mahommedans. The small remainder are Christians.

The following accounts have been received from A. C. Duffadar:—

"I am glad to inform you that I have observed many souls were previously prepared here to acknowledge Christ as the true Saviour by Mr. W. Carey; the labour, love, and fame of whom I heard always from many persons, for which I have a firm hope in the Lord, that in time many will come into His kingdom to have everlasting life.

"A young Hindu, with his wife and a babe, forsaking his former faith, has come into the fold of Christ here. This young man used to attend our Sabbath services regularly for more than two months. One day he confessed his faith on the Lord Jesus as his Saviour, and wished to become a Christian. I advised him to believe on the Lord Jesus, and live in his own house among his relations, but to speak plainly to his wife and to his relations that he believed on the Lord Jesus as his Saviour. Accordingly, he did this, but his relations began to persecute him bitterly; not only that, but he was robbed one day of whatever things he had, and feared for his life. Falling into these difficulties, he came to me and requested me to help him. I, with much difficulty, but gladly, procured a place for him among us. This young man is baptized, and became a member of the church here with other three on the 1st November.

"I had a long trip of evangelistic work for 45 days, in which I proclaimed joyfully the glad tidings of our Saviour in many villages and towns of the Zillahs, of Burdwan, Moorshedabad, Nuddia, Jessore, and Twenty-four Pergunnahs.

"I am glad to inform you that God has opened a new field for us to work for the cause of our Saviour.

"I mentioned in my last letter about a rich Babu of the village called Shomeparah, about twelve miles from Cutwa up the river Ganges. He wished that we should always go to his village to instruct his men in Christianity. According to his wish we went to the village, preached the Gospel, and conducted the services in different parts of the village, living there three days. Many of the villagers were glad to hear the Gospel, and to join with us in the services. The Babu bought a copy of the Psalms of David in Bengali; he also gladly bought a copy of the Bengali Bible. Giving us a house of his own to live in, he urged us to remain there, at least for six months, to instruct his villagers in Gospel truth. I shall make some arrangements very soon, by which we shall be able to remain there for six months by turns. We are three here at Cutwa—one of us a colporteur, another an Evangelist, and myself.

"In the last six months we sold scriptures to the amount of Rs. 23.

"The number of Church members was last year 10; added in this year from other churches, 5; by baptism (1 from among the Hindus, and three from among the Christians), 4; Total 19.

VII.—SONTHALISTAN.

Missionaries, H. P. BOERRESEN, LARS SKREFSRUD.

Number of members, 2,000.

Native helpers, 11.

This interesting mission is situated in the midst of Sonthal villages, about fourteen miles west of Rampore Haut, on the East India Railway.

The Sonthal Pergunnahs, in the district of Bhaugulpore, contain a population of 1,259,287 persons, divided into 9,872 townships. The tribes, which are neither Hindus nor Mahommedans, number 528,899. It is among these tribes, who are pure Sonthals, that the Mission is carried on.

"The central station is Ebenezer, about four hours from Calcutta by rail, in the very heart of the Sonthal country. Mr. Boerresen journeys among the Sonthal villages, visiting the converts, and preaching to the heathen, who crowd to hear the Gospel. The Sonthals, along with the Koles, occupy the great central plateau of India, lying north-west of Calcutta, and it contains about five millions of people. They are not Hindus, but a fine manly independent race, of whom thousands have embraced Christianity.

"The work at the stations has been much blessed, the number of Christians increasing daily. Many of these live in distant villages, and cannot come weekly to Ebenezer, so that village churches have been instituted, each church having its own native pastor and elders. The Lord's Supper is commemorated once a month; and on the following Monday a conference is held with the pastor and elders. A number of native pastors and catechists have been set apart. The former are not paid, but support themselves by farming; the latter, being sent from place to place, receive a small salary. Indeed, as every Christian Sonthal makes it his pleasure as well as his duty to be a catechist, the work now going on in Sonthalistan can be compared only to the events in the early Christian Church in the days of the Apostles."

The recent return of Mr. Skrefsrud has prevented our receiving a more detailed report of this important mission.

VIII.—JESSORE.

Missionaries, R. J. ELLIS, J. MINTRIDGE, GOGON CHUNDEE DUTT, BROJONATH BANERJEA.

Number of members, 151.

This district of Bengal lies to the west of Calcutta, and contains more than two millions of people, of whom 915,413 are Hindus, 1,151,936 are Mahomedans, and 1,142 are Christians. The rest are of various beliefs. Jessore, the chief town, containing 8,152 inhabitants, is eighty miles from Calcutta.

Mr. Ellis's report is as follows:—

"Eighteen hundred and seventy four has been to us a year of more encouragement than some of its predecessors. One man whose talents, education, and social status seem to indicate that his influence, if put forth on the Lord's side, would be powerful for good to many, has come desiring instruction and baptism. His rapid progress in scriptural knowledge greatly surprised us, and the Lord has certainly begun a good work in him, but the enemy has been busy with him likewise, and he has not yet fully awoken to his danger, or laid hold upon the only weapons by which he might secure the victory over evil. He has been most anxious to be baptized, and was on the very point of being so when his temper discovered itself to us in such a form that the administration of this rite was indefinitely postponed. He is a Benares pundit of high caste, well versed in the Hindu shastres, and generally intelligent. He long ago threw aside his sacred thread, and openly declared himself a Christian, and he has suffered a good deal of obloquy from his former companions and his family. He preaches the word of his own free will, and disputes with people of the higher classes in and around Jessore. We earnestly pray and hope that he may soon be enabled to accept the Saviour as all his salvation and all his desire.

"Two others of a much lower social status have also been led to our district from Fureedpore in search of deliverance from their sins, and like the above they profess to have found peace through believing in Jesus. Of these, one was a Mussulman, and had striven hard to obtain acceptance with God by prayers, alms, and visits to faquirs and the tombs of Mahomedan saints. The other, a Hindu, had tried all the prescriptions of both Hindu and Mahomedan soul-doctors without any satisfaction. They heard of Christianity, and inquired their way to our station, where they had been told there was a missionary, and a day or two after their arrival, they assured us that they had begun to enjoy greater happiness than ever they had possessed before.

"None of these three persons seem to be actuated by mercenary motives, all having accepted work according to their ability on a very low scale of pay. The first is now teaching Mr. Mintridge Bengali, and the others are acting as servants to our native brethren.

"Several other persons have, as in former years, proposed to join us, but a very slight inquiry into their motives has satisfied us that they did not wish salvation, but only some pecuniary help.

"The sale of books, which has been larger this year than in any previous, indicates, let us hope, an improved interest on the part of the people in the sacred truths of which they speak. Of Bibles and portions of Scripture, the sales on account of the Bible Translation Society have been 2,634, for which we have taken £11 9s. 6d. The greater part of these by far were single Gospels, sold at a pice or two each, and all were in the current Bengali. Between seven and eight hundred portions in the Mussulmani-Bengali were also sold early in the year on behalf of the Calcutta Auxiliary Bible Society at greatly reduced rates—the drawings being £1 9s. 2d. Thus we have succeeded in placing nearly 3,400 scriptures in the hands of the people throughout the year, and in addition to these 2,683 religious books have been sold, making the total upwards of 6,000. The sale of these books represents a vast amount of labour and patience, the Gospel having to be told and the need of the books enforced probably four or five times for every score of them sold, and that amid no little mockery in some places, for the people will not understand that it is for their good to pay for the books, and that this is our only object in persuading them to buy.

"The schools, of which there are now 27, with an attendance of 863 children, have as usual contributed largely to the spread of the truth in the district. The higher classes are well instructed in the four Gospels and Genesis, and the others in 'Peep of Day' and the 'First Catechism.' They are, moreover, well drilled in the ordinary branches of education, and those who go up for the Vernacular Scholarship Examination are also taught geometry and surveying.

About three-fifths of the boys belong to the agricultural classes, and nearly one-half are Mahomedans.

"Preaching has this year, as always, occupied the foremost place as our means of evangelising, and the preachers at all of the stations, as well as myself, have not only attended the bazaars, and visited the villages near at hand, but have also made extensive tours of from two to five weeks or upwards, preaching from village to village and from market to market. Between forty and fifty thousand persons have thus been addressed, and earnestly warned of their danger, and invited to embrace Him who alone is mighty to save. Here and there the people have almost trodden one upon another in their eagerness to hear; in nearly every instance a respectful hearing has been secured, but in no case, so far as we are aware, has the preaching of the truth been followed by conversion. A message which requires repentance, and a total abandonment of sin, does not meet with acceptance,—nor is it reasonable to expect that it should, unless it be delivered to ears and hearts which have been unsealed by the Divine Spirit. We have sought to speak in His strength, and looked for His guidance and co-operation in choosing our words and illustrations, watching for immediate results, such as attended the preaching of others in the first ages of the Church. Still no fruit has been manifestly produced, and it has sometimes been a question with us whether we should not at once relinquish a field wherein so few sheaves can be gathered. Other fields seem to promise better. Might we not more profitably occupy them? We are seeking guidance in this matter now, and yet we are not without hope that the Lord will bless the seed so long sown in Jessore.

"To the Church we have had one addition by baptism, and the members have, I think, shown a greater interest in the services of the Sabbath and week days than formerly. The catechetical form of service has been maintained every Lord's day morning, while a sermon is delivered every afternoon, and a lecture every Thursday evening."

From Mr. Dutt we have the following report:—

"During the year four young men have been baptized by me and by Bungshi Mohun Siroar, pastor of Kalishpore Church. One of these is a high-caste Brahmin, and his baptism created a great sensation in and about Khoolnea, because he is the first Brahmin convert in this part of the country. This young man has a fair knowledge of Hinduism and Brahminism, and is adapted in every way to be a useful preacher among the higher classes of men. The three others who have put on Christ are Christian children, born of Christian parents, and students of our Sunday-schools in connection with Khoolnea Church.

"Death was very busy among us. Of these I record two very hopeful deaths.

"Death of Rasly, a young girl.

"'Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth.' Rasly was a little girl, ten years old. Her father is a preacher and school inspector in connection with our Society. When she reached five years her father and mother sent her to our school at Kudumdi, where boys and girls are taught together. Since the beginning of 1873 she began to show signs of intelligence and piety. She was first in her class in arithmetic and Scripture; she had a thorough knowledge of the four Gospels, and had committed to memory the greater part of Dr. Wenger's Catechism, which I introduced in all our schools since 1873. Some months ago Rasly got fever, and by using native medicine she recovered all of a sudden, and began to help her mother and sisters (who were also sick), exposing herself in rain, from which she got severe cold and caused her early death. Just a few hours before her death she spoke to her father and mother, and requested to see all her Christian relatives in the village. When all of them were present, she cried a little, and then offered a beautiful prayer, the translation of which I give as follows:—'O Heavenly Father, forgive all my sins for Christ. Thou canst take me to Thee, and if it is Thy will Thou canst spare my life.' She kept silence after this short prayer, and everyone who was present began to weep, and she gently spoke to them—'Don't you cry, I am going to my beloved Saviour.' After the utterance of these few words she slept in Jesus.

"Death of Joseph.

"Joseph was a member of our Shellabunya Church. About ten years ago he was baptized and received in the Church at Chela. After three or four years he fell into a grievous sin and was excluded from the church. Last year he attended one of our prayer-meetings, and was convinced of his sinfulness, and applied to the church at Shellabunya to be received again as a member. In the church meeting he spoke about his personal declension and misery of sin in such powerful words and feelings that he wept himself and made others weep with him. From the time he was received back by the church up to his death he led a consistent and active Christian life. He was naturally very amiable, and used to preach the Gospel among the Hindus and Mahomedans whenever he found opportunity. Last July he fell ill, and a few days before his death I met him at his own house, and when I expressed my great sorrow for his bodily sufferings, he said, with great content of mind, 'Sir, no one can make any ornaments of gold or silver without burning it, so great God is preparing me for heavenly bliss by all his burning instruments.'

I was not present at the time of his death, but those who witnessed it gave evidence that he died as a true Christian.

"Paid agents of the Society are not the only preachers who propagate the Gospel. About twelve brethren from the different churches in the south of the district hired a boat in last winter to work in the Soondarbund Forest, and took from me about 1,000 tracts and Gospels to preach and distribute them among the woodcutters who come from all the parts of Eastern Bengal to work in the Soondarbund. There were about 5,000 woodcutters with whom our brethren had to work. They influenced them to cease work on Sundays, and most of them used to come to them to hear the everlasting Gospel of our Lord. As almost all the woodcutters are ignorant, therefore our brethren could not sell books among them. Our brethren made several journeys, and always found opportunity to preach.

"Prayer Meetings.

"From the commencement of the year we have started revival prayer-meetings in all our churches except Malgaze. There were some discouragements and hindrances in the beginning, but I am thankful to say that these meetings on the whole have been well attended, and conducted in a way quite unprecedented in the history of our churches. I can safely say that since the commencement of these meetings there is a general awakening to some extent among the members and non-members of our churches.

"Tracts.

"This year I have written three tracts, two for the Roman Catholics, and one for the educated men who have renounced Hinduism but know little or nothing about the reasonableness of our holy faith. One of the tracts for Romanists has been printed and published, and the second is in the course of printing. I thank the Baptist Tract Society, which has paid all the expenses for the printing of the first tract.

"Scarcity is over, and the money which was in my disposal for relief is carefully spent. I have not only helped the most needy Christians, but also about 100 Mahomedans and Hindus, who received systematic help from me from the month of August till December."

IX.—BACKERGUNGE.

Missionaries, J. SALE, A. MCKENNA,
C. C. BROWN,

Number of members, 1,179.

This low-lying district lies to the east of Calcutta; Barisaul, its principal town, containing 7,684 inhabitants, being 185 miles distant. The population of the district is stated to be 2,377,433 by the Census of 1872, in the following proportions: Hindus, 827,393; Mahomedans, 1,540,965; Christians, 4,852; and others, 174. The stations are much scattered, and are found in the northern part of the district.

The Rev. J. Sale having returned to England for the health of himself and his family, we are indebted to the Rev. A. McKenna for the following report:—

"The Churches have prospered in the past year, difficulties notwithstanding. The number of baptisms is 120. The vitality of Christian life in our midst has been attested by many pleasing facts. The self-propagative power—if that be the right phrase—of Christianity in this district seems to distinguish it from most others, and, certainly, bears witness to life of some kind. On the other hand—our loss, but their gain—we have been called upon to part by death with some of our finest people whose absence for many days to come will be sorely felt. Amongst others, Golluck, an able preacher, and a good man; also, Sookhiram, another of our preachers, who died very suddenly. With two of our friends, in their last moments, I happened to be present, and was cheered by the testimony which they furnished, to the sustaining power of the Gospel, and the faithfulness of Christ. One of these was Mercy, wife of our respected brother Dinonath, a former pupil of Mrs. Sale's, and a very estimable young person who, after prolonged suffering, most patiently endured, expired in our midst 'full of faith.' For these and all who have thus gone in the faith of the Gospel to join the Church above, we tender grateful thanks to God.

"Seeing how interesting the work and prospects in this district are, it seems a pity that the churches should be so much dependent upon the Society's preachers. For some time to come, this will perhaps be unavoidable, to some extent, till, indeed, the brethren are much further advanced in Christian knowledge than they are at present.

"Our preachers, as a whole, are good men, and, compared with others, are poorly paid. Some of them are men of considerable ability. Their chief work is the pastorate, but they are not unmindful of other work. It would be advantageous, however, to them as well as the churches, were they clearly divided into evangelists and pastors, admitting that, for some considerable time yet to come, the latter, to some extent at least, must be retained, which I think is clearly unavoidable.

"In addition to pastoral labour, which in the smaller churches is light, the brethren in the past year, taking an average, have publicly proclaimed the Gospel to surrounding unbelievers about ninety times each. They have been variously received, but, on the whole, favourably. It is due to them to remember that they live in an exceptionally unhealthy part of the country, and that, in common with the members of the churches, they suffer a good deal from fever and its complications.

"Of schools in the past year there have been seventeen in all, three of them supported by Government, some of the remainder being intermittent, i.e., not open all the year through. I need add nothing to what my predecessors have written about the miserably low state of education amongst our people.

"Teachers of worth are very scarce. Then the preachers do not, with exceptions, take that active interest in the schools which they ought to.

"Add the exceptional topographical features of the bheel country, with the land submerged for so long a time, and that the children assist in ploughing, planting, and cropping, and it will be seen that, supplying sufficient schools is only part of what has to be done.

"The Chobikarpar central school has had to be removed into the station, where its efficiency, it is to be hoped, will be increased. The boys were constantly ailing at Chobikarpar. Although this school affects only comparatively few boys, still, owing to the higher style of education, its influence may be very important, and to some extent already has been. The mission station and the English Government school also present advantages that could not be had elsewhere.

"A Zenana mission has now been at work some time in the sudder station, although perhaps, and probably, Mrs. Sale had one there before. I have none of the back reports by me. The teacher who is in every way efficient has had an 'open door' set before her, and has met with much acceptance. The following extracts taken at random from her journals, will give an idea of her work and that of the Bible-women generally:—

"Went to-day to Alikonda village with Onno. Read the Word of God to thirteen Hindu women from three houses, who came together where I was, and explained it. Then sung a Christian hymn. Four of the women in particular seemed much affected by the sufferings of Christ. 'All this,' I urged upon them, 'He has done out of love for your sakes, and for mine, that we might be delivered from the guilt of our sins, and be saved by believing on His name.' Then one of the women said, 'Yes, we know we are sinners, but did He die for the like of us?' Then I said, 'Hear His own words: "Come unto Me all ye that labour, &c." "God so loved the world, &c." "Whosoever cometh unto Me, &c., &c." Some others of the women said, 'Why should we believe in Christ? We have the religion of the gods, and by it we shall be saved.' Then I read from a book I had with me, showing that the gods (debs) could save no one, first, because they had never really existed, and second, because even if they had, they only came to fulfil their own lusts, and to make men worse than before. Read extracts also from the 'True Sacrifice,' and explained them. Then the women said, 'promise that you will come again,' which I agreed to do. Was in this house one hour and a half.

"Went to Babu —'s house, a Brahmo. Had here twenty-one women, old and young, who asked many questions, and with whom I remained a couple of hours. Based my remarks on a portion of the 'True Sacrifice,' which led to discussion. 'Yes, Jesus Christ was a very good man, they said; that we believe, but He cannot give us salvation. We can be good, and please God, just as Jesus Christ did.' Then I showed that they had made two errors, first, in supposing that Jesus was only a man, whereas he was also the true God, and had all the merit of God, which is infinite. Also that, in supposing sinners could please God, being sinners, they evidently neither understood God's infinitely holy nature, nor their own depraved and sinful one. These women have evidently been taught by their husbands, or they could not have such thoughts, but they seemed very intelligent and willing to converse; so I promised to come again.

"Sagurdre.—Spent greater part of to-day in visiting the Hindu shopkeepers' wives here. Had in all thirty-three women. My career was as before. One old woman said, 'Chriton is my hope.' 'Alas!' I said, 'what did he do for you that you should trust in him?' 'Oh,' she said, 'I am a poor, ignorant old woman, but I know that he became incarnate in Nobhodip.' This is the way in which they talk. Then I showed as well as I could that the Christian religion is a certain religion, and not based on such stories. 'Now,' I said, 'as long as you look upon your gurus as in the place of God, you will never have the true religion; for it teaches us to depend upon God only.'

"The difference, it should be added, between the station Zenana teacher and the district Bible women, is this, that the former is more highly qualified for her work, and has to do with a superior class of women.

"Let me conclude by tendering very sincere thanks to the friends in England who assist this mission. Our agency is large—small, indeed, as compared with the district, even parts of which we have scarcely touched—and therefore the continuous need for such assistance. The past has certainly been productive of large results, for which we may well be thankful to God, even if they are not in every respect as we might wish them to be, and though very much still remains to be done. Salter's Hall Chapel, Islington, most generously supports the Central School. The Female Education Society makes us an annual grant for its work. The churches at Wokingham, Camberwell, Cheltenham, and Swaffham, support preachers; and Frome and Beckington, George-street (Plymouth), Cambridge, and Hitchin, have rendered assistance.

"Let me not omit to acknowledge special obligation to our excellent brother, John Siroar, who has laboured here as assistant missionary for so long a time now, and whose interest in all that concerns the welfare of the churches is active and unabating. Our brother, in point of health, has suffered considerably during the past year; with which, in his case (unusual exception), his work has been as before."

X.—DINAGEPORE.

Missionary, J. C. PAGE.

Number of members, 87.

The capital of a district of the same name. It is about 250 miles north of Calcutta. The population numbers 1,501,924. The town of Dinapore contains a population of 13,042 souls.

XI.—DARJEELING.

Missionary, J. C. PAGE.

Number of members, 47.

The hill territory of Darjeeling has a population of 46,727 persons; and the Terai, 47,985.

Since Mr. Page's return to India, he has been laid aside by very severe illness, so that no report has reached us of these stations.

XII.—DACCA.

Missionaries, R. BION, I. ALLEN, M.A.

Number of members, 73.

Dacca, the capital of Eastern Bengal, extends for several miles along the banks of the old Ganges. It is about 190 miles N.E. from Calcutta. Its population is said to number 69,212 persons; but the entire district contains 1,852,993, in the following proportions: Hindus, 793,789; Mahomedans, 1,050,131; Christians, 7,844. Sub-station, Dayapore.

XIII.—TIPPERAH.

COMILLAH.

Number of members, 25.

Tipperah is a large district S.E. of Dacca, and contains a population of 1,533,931 persons. The chief city, Comillah, has 12,948 inhabitants.

This station, with the village of Saheb nagur in the hills, is worked by the missionaries of Dacca.

XIV.—MYMENSING.

Number of members, 11.

Mymensing, to the north of Dacca, is a very populous district, containing 2,349,917 inhabitants. The chief city, of the same name, has 10,068 residents.

From the Missionary's Report we extract the following account of the above three missions:—

"English Sunday School, Dacca."

"This continues to prosper under the superintendence of Mr. Livingstone, with his small staff of three teachers. The attendance has been good throughout the year, the children numbering about 35, and their weekly contributions, in addition to the Teacher's Fund, not only help to support the library and furnish the half-yearly prizes, but allow of a small surplus for the relief of the poor.

"The visit of Mr. McCumby from Dinapore, the best Urdu preacher in the North-West, greatly cheered our hearts, and will, we hope, leave a lasting impression on the minds of the Mahomedan population. It was a great pleasure to see the large audiences he drew morning and evening, listening with rapt attention to his addresses and expressing great delight at hearing their own language spoken with such freedom and fluency.

"All the principal bazaars in town have been daily visited with the Gospel when the Missionaries and preachers have been at home.

"A good number of Bengali Scriptures were sold by Ram Charan Nath, who has besides preached throughout the year without receiving any remuneration for his labour.

"A friend in town frequently accompanied and assisted us in the work.

"In the various out-stations and on our journeys we sold about 3,500 Bengali Gospels and other parts of the Bible, and a few whole Bibles, and about 200 Bengali tracts.

"Baptisms.

"Nine men and women were baptized during the year in Dacca and at Comillah and Dayapore.

"One of them is an educated young man, a teacher of mathematics, who has been for years attending our English services and Mr. Livingstone's Bible Class. It was from the late Mr. Supper, however, whose house he frequently visited, that he received his first deep impressions of the truth.

"Two others were Hindu women, and the rest of native Christian parentage.

"Itineracies.

"These have been as extensive and frequent as in former years, nor do we feel that this branch of our work presents a less hopeful or encouraging aspect.

"In January, Ram Jiban, Ram Kanta and myself preached the Gospel in part of the Silhet and the eastern portion of the Mymensing district; on our way home paid a visit to Sree Nath's disciples in Serajdabad, south of Dacca.

"Mr. Allen with Upendra Ghose visited Mymensing and worked in its neighbourhood, Gunga Charan joining them from Mymensing.

"In February, Ram Kanta Dass removed to Comillah as Evangelist to that station and the Tipperah district. Part of this month and part of March, Gunga Charan made on foot a tour to the western part of Mymensing, afterwards visiting a mela at Hossunpur.

"Ram Kanta Dass with Brojo Mohun visited the western part of Tipperah on foot as far as Burkumpta, and afterwards, the southern part, as far as Kundal in the Tipperah hills.

"In April, Mr. Allen, Ram Jiban, Banga Chandra and myself visited Sree Nath's disciples, south of Dacca.

"In May, Ram Jiban preached in the neighbourhood of Munshiganj and Serajdabad.

"During the same month, Mr. McCumby, myself and Pyari Lal, a colporteur, started for Comillah and were joined on the way by Ram Jiban.

"In June, Messrs. Allen and McCumby, with Ram Jiban, made a preaching tour to Silhet, being absent a full month.

"In July, Gunga Charan and Brojo Mohun Roy visited the northern part of Mymensing.

"Ram Kanta Dass and Brojo Mohun visited the northern part of the Tipperah district as far as Brahmunberria.

"In August, Ram Jiban accompanied me to Mymensing, and taking up Gunga Charan from there, we preached the Gospel inland and at the mela of Kishwarganj; Ram Jiban left us near Kishwarganj, and extended his tour to Garimganj, Junglebarree and other places.

"In September, Ram Kanta came to Dacca to pass the annual examination in company with Gunga Charan. Pyari Lal, the colporteur, returned to his home, near Calcutta, ill with a long-standing fever.

"In the same month, Gunga Charan with Gokul, a young student from Serampore, made a preaching tour to Mymensing, taking on the way Tangael, west of Mymensing, and Jumalpoore, north of the same.

Shortly afterwards he, with Gokul, visited Atharabaree and its neighbourhood, the particulars of which trip will be found in the Mymensing Report. Ram Jiban paid another visit to Munshiganj and Serajdabad.

"In October, Mr. Allen, Ram Jiban and myself proceeded to Comillah, and on our way back paid another visit to Serajdabad. At the end of this month and in "November, I took Dina Bandhu from Dayapore and preached the Gospel in the north-western part of the Dacca and the south-western part of the Mymensing districts, and then moving down the Jabuna, we continued our work in Nakali, Benepur, Bherengha, Mathura and Goalundo. At Mathura we were joined by Gunga Charan and Gokul, who had again traversed the northern and western parts of the Mymensing district.

"From Goalundo I proceeded to the Conference in Calcutta, leaving the three preachers at Goalundo, who, besides preaching in the bazaar there, visited the various markets in the neighbourhood and also Farreedpore.

"In December, after the Conference, I joined them, preaching with them in various places along the Pudma river, and visiting Serajdabad once more.

"On coming home for a day, Gunga Charan returned to Mymensing, Gokul having already left for Comillah. Dina Bandhu went back to Dayapore. Ram Jiban accompanied me on another tour in the northern part of Dacca. On our homeward journey I left him at Dayapore, whence he proceeded with Dina Bandhu down the Duluserry river to the Baronee at Munshiganj."

Mymensing.

"The Gospel has been preached not only in the bazaars of Mymensing and its neighbouring markets such as Bygunbaree, Dapunya, Babucalli, Boira and Shambhuganj, but also in every direction of the districts, into which various tours have been made, not only by the resident preachers, but by the missionaries from Dacca and their preachers.

"At a place called Atharabaree, we met, to our mutual pleasure, and I hope, benefit also, the attorney spoken of in preceding reports.

"I was glad to find that, though all alone in this place, he confesses before his neighbours that Jesus is the only Saviour. He is now employed as a schoolmaster, and bought several books of us.

"On a subsequent visit he assured Gunga Charan that after a short time he would confess Christ publicly by being baptized, but that, having been newly married, he wished to win his wife for Christ before he took the step.

"His isolated position in the midst of bigoted Hindus was not favourable to his Christian growth, but though his former warm attachment to Christ has somewhat cooled, the grace of God has enabled him to hold on thus far: we cannot believe that he will relapse into heathenism.

"At Attyadee we preached on two different occasions, and on concluding our discourse the second time, several remarked to Gunga Charan that they had seen and heard me year after year, and that they felt that the Gospel was true and that they ought to follow Christ; but, they added, 'Who is to support us?'

"Attia we found deserted, the bazaar and all the Government offices having been removed to Tangael, a new sub-division.

"All along this way we found the people very unwilling to buy Gospels.

"In one or two places we were treated rather roughly, the reason probably being that for many years we have not visited these south-western parts.

"There are some Garo villages in the plains, one of which is only a few miles distant from Mymensing. A Garo living there, who reads and understands Bengali, has latterly paid frequent visits to our preachers in the station, and heard the Gospel message repeatedly. The result has been most encouraging, for he is now ready to follow Christ, and will be baptized as soon as I can go to Mymensing. With him are some others who inquire after the way of salvation, and who, we hope, may eventually be brought into the kingdom of God."

STATIONS AND CHURCHES IN NORTHERN INDIA.

I.—MONGHYR.

Missionaries, T. EVANS, E. JONES.

Number of members, 94.

A town of 59,698 inhabitants. It lies on the southern bank of the Ganges, 300 miles N.W. of Calcutta. The district of Monghyr contains 1,812,986 persons, of whom the Mahomedans number only 182,269 souls. The district contains 1,142 Christians; the rest are Hindus.

The Rev. E. C. B. Hallam, who had sole charge of this station during the greater part of the year, removed to Howrah on the arrival of the Rev. T. Evans, who has been appointed to succeed the Rev. J. Lawrence. Mr. Jones is one of the young brethren sent out at the close of 1874. The following is the report:—

"During this year the Baptist community in this place, both native and European, has been thrown into deepest mourning on account of the decease of their much and long-loved pastor, the Rev. J. Lawrence. Many of them had grown up under his eye, and had felt his influence all their lives long, and it was very hard to realize that he was no more. The elder members of our community have lost a friend, the younger, a father, and both have lost a true and faithful Christian pastor. Funeral services were held on the occasion of this sad bereavement, conducted by Rev. A. Williams, of Calcutta.

"At this station there is an abundance of work for two missionaries. The English branch of the church necessarily occupies much of the time of one missionary, and, by so much, interferes with his work among the heathen. It has, for many years, enjoyed two stated services every Lord's day, and a weekly prayer-meeting on Wednesday evening; and a majority of the membership appear to be unwilling to do with less.

"All the expenses of the local enterprises of the mission, such as native preachers' salaries, vernacular schools, &c., &c., have, from the first, been supported by the European branch of the church. Besides this, a considerable sum of money is raised annually, and forwarded to the treasury of the Society in Calcutta, under the name of 'The Pastor's Fund,' which is designed to be a sort of asset to the claims of the Society for the services of its agent in connection with the European branch of the church.

"During the year just past evangelistic work has been carried on systematically in the bazaars, with what result the Master only knows.

"The Ram Lilla mela at this place was attended daily by a strong force of labourers, including Mr. McCumby, who came to our aid as usual, and many good opportunities for the preaching of the Word were enjoyed. A stand for the sale of books and tracts was opened every day on the mela ground, and a few were sold. The idea of selling books and tracts seems to be a new one in this district, yet, when a small price is demanded, less surprise is expressed than might be expected.

"Soon after the close of the mela, early in November, two preachers were sent out to work their way to the Sonapore fair; after which they were expected to occupy the remainder of the month, and the whole of December in evangelistic labours.

"The Anglo-Vernacular School has been rendered more efficient during the year by some changes in, and additions to the staff of teachers.

"A grant-in-aid to the amount of 65 rupees per mensem has been received from Government, and this enables us to pay our teachers better salaries, and, at the same time, reduce the cost of the school to the mission. Heretofore the mission has paid all the expenses of the school, whereas, now it gives a maximum grant of 50 rupees per month only; this, with the grant-in-aid, and the higher sum realized from fees meets the increased expenditure.

"Our European Sunday-school has increased both in numbers and interest during the year. We have four classes reading the international series of Sunday-school lessons called 'Berean Leaves,' and two infant classes who take object lessons every Sunday from Bible pictures. We have reason to hope that two of the dear children have given their hearts to the Saviour during the year, while others seem to be under serious impressions.

"Additions to our library have been made as required, and other necessary apparatus has been purchased through the generous aid of the friends of the school.

"A vernacular Sunday-school was organized on the first of November. The same lessons, 'Berean Leaves,' translated into Hindi, are used. A Sunday-school paper called 'Bal Hitkarak,' or 'The Children's Friend,' is taken for all who are able to read it, and a library is about to be formed.

"Weekly collections for current expenses are taken up in both schools every Lord's day, for we deem it of the utmost importance to teach the little ones to give.

"A 'Children's Service' is held quarterly in the chapel, in connection with the European school; that is, a service in which the children are specially addressed, and in which they do the singing. It is hoped that a similar service will be held for the native children, in connection with the vernacular Sunday-school.

"In the months of July and August a series of special services was held, in the vestry of the English Chapel, at which special subjects of prayer were presented by the congregation, and the unconverted were urged to immediate repentance towards God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. These services resulted in the decision, on the part of a few, to halt no longer between two opinions, but to decide in favour of the service of Christ. To God be all the praise.

"For a few weeks after these services a fellowship meeting was held at a private house, at which opportunity was given to both brethren and sisters to speak freely to one another of the love of Jesus and of their personal experience of His power to save. These services were enjoyed by most of the resident members, though a few objected to them.

"At the beginning of the year a single Zenana was opened to Mrs. Hallam in Monghyr. A Baboo, who, like Nicodemus, believes secretly 'for fear of the Jews,' desired that his wife should be instructed in Gospel truth; she seemed willing to receive instruction, and having already learned to read Bengali, commenced at once to read the New Testament, and 'The Dawn of Light.' She was making commendable progress in Bible knowledge, and seemed to be gradually losing her bigotry, when sickness and death in the family led to her removal for a time to Calcutta, whence she has not, as yet, returned."

Patna is situate on the southern bank of the Ganges, about 320 miles N.W. of Calcutta. It is largely inhabited by Mussulmans, and the entire population is said to number 158,900. The district contains 1,559,638 inhabitants.

Mr. Broadway has furnished us with the following report:—

"Preaching to the heathen in public, imparting the truth to them on other available private occasions, and placing in their hands copies of the Gospel when desired, have been steadily carried on, and we trust with favourable effect under God's blessing. The field is large and our number small, but 'we have done what we could in faith and hope.'

"We have never been in want of hearers. People have crowded around us, and often in incredible numbers, when we have held forth. They have listened attentively, and evinced thoughtfulness as the message of salvation has been delivered to them.

"We have had opposition chiefly from Mahomedans, but of no material consequence. The opinion of the Hindus is, that the Gospel will in time overcome and remove the existing systems of religion in the country to its single establishment, thus placing themselves in a more hopeful condition than their Mahomedan brethren; whose opinion on the other hand is, that their system is the last which God has given to the world, and that therefore it must destroy all other systems and stand supreme to the end. This opinion encouraged them to attempt to follow our plan in having their views propagated. About the beginning of the year they invited one of their preachers from Allahabad, who induced two men of this place to help him in the work. But they were soon convinced, that the Koran afforded them no matter of any worth, and that the work and character of Mohammed had no standing ground before the work and character of the Lord Jesus Christ, which completely disheartened them. The man from Allahabad returned, and it is reported died there. His companions have not ventured to preach in the streets since."

III.—DINAPORE.

Missionary, W. GREENWAY.

Number of members, 58.

Dinapore is a few miles west of Patna, and contains 61,300 inhabitants. It is the seat of the military authorities for the district. Bankipore lies between Patna and Dinapore, and contains 72,746 inhabitants.

The following is extracted from the report of our brethren:—

"In reviewing our 'labour of love' during the past year, among the English community — especially among soldiers in H. M.'s 109th Regiment, who attend the services conducted in our chapel, we have much reason to imitate the Apostle Paul when he saw the brethren; for it is written, that 'he thanked God, and took courage.' We commenced the year with 33 members, but ended it with 78, including Patna, of whom nine are natives. We have therefore more than doubled our number, and have done so nearly by baptism alone; for the increase has been occasioned by 30 individuals being baptized, and 15 received from other churches. 'Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto Thy name give glory, for Thy mercy, and for Thy truth's sake.'"

"The following services are conducted during the week in our chapel, in English. On Sabbath-day, morning and evening; when 150 to 180 persons attend. At times the attendants exceed that number, so that neither place nor seats can be provided for them. After the morning service, a Sunday-school is held, which at present consists of only from 16 to 20 children. On Thursday evening we meet for public worship; when from 40 to 60 individuals assemble. A Bible-class is held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings; which is composed of from 16 to 24 adults. When we consider the large and attentive audiences we have, and can perceive the gracious presence of the Lord in our midst, we are filled with thankfulness and encouragement. Out of the 30 individuals who have been baptized during the year, 26 are private soldiers belonging to H. M.'s 109th Regiment.

"Among those who have been baptized, we are glad to make mention of Colonel A. Mackenzie. Because that, notwithstanding his rank and position, he is a thorough Christian man; a professor of the right sort and stamp; and a believer who glories alone in the blood of Jesus. His Christian humility and zeal just adapt him for usefulness amongst us. He makes himself so especially among our brethren in the army, with whom he assembles every evening for prayer and praise; conducts the Bible-class among them on a Saturday evening; and often holds forth the Word of Life at such meetings. He has also ascended our pulpit on a few occasions.

"We cannot refrain from adding, that the past year has been a year of special encouragement to us. We believe that it has been a time of refreshing from the Lord, though not generally perceived. We have noticed pleasing manifestations of inclination on the Lord's side, and that, not only in the European, but also in the native community."

IV.—BENARES.

Missionaries, H. HEINIG, W. ETHERINGTON, W. MILLER.

[Number of members, 23.

The most sacred of all Indian cities. It stands on the northern bank of the Ganges, about 430 miles N.W. from Calcutta. During festivals the population is said sometimes to reach 600,000 persons; but its ordinary inhabitants number only 175,188. It contains 4,000 Hindu temples, as well as many mosques.

Mr. Heinig reports as follows of the work in which he has been engaged:—

"We desire to present our sincere and unfeigned thanks to our kind friends who hitherto have assisted us in defraying the expenses, especially in reference to our orphans, which is to us a cheerful reassurance that God is indeed a Father of the fatherless in His holy habitation.

"Benares, the focus of idolatry, must be regarded as an itinerant place where, from time to time, multitudes of people, from every part of Hindustan, resort to perform their worship as they are directed by their priests; hence we meet almost at all times, especially at their stated feast-days, and at sun and moon eclipses, large crowds who stand and listen to the preached Gospel. At our stated preaching places in the city, the same people come again and again to listen to the preaching of the Word of God. We are, indeed, much encouraged as to the manner in which they listen to and argue on the points of the necessity of the Atonement of our Lord Jesus Christ.

"Independent of missionary labour, there are many enlightened and learned pundits here and there in this vast country who stand up and explain to large assemblies, that 'Idolatry is contrary to the Vedas and Shasters.' Though this is like a little leaven, yet it is not to be despised; it will eventually help to leaven the whole lump of the illiterate mass of people.

"Itinerating

"To the fair at Allahabad, where I and my native preacher, Joseph Chuttree, arrived on the 14th January, 1874. On the morning of the 13th, a fire broke out not far from the bathing-place. The wind was very high, and drove the flames from the huts to the shops in which a variety of idols were exhibited: many of the idols became a prey to the flames, though the people were intent to save as many as they could. The destruction of the idols gave us a good opportunity to show the people the folly of trusting in idols who cannot save themselves.

"The fair was well attended; the people listened remarkably well without much arguing during the six days we were there. One subject I must mention which filled my heart with gratitude to God.

"A young pundit who resided at Benares, and attended the college, gave me a deal of trouble some years ago with his metaphysical questions, which he could not properly understand. Three years ago, as I then mentioned in my report, at this very fair he was in Mr. Walsh's large preaching tent. I was glad to see him, but he looked much reduced. He told me that he had been ill of fever, during which he remembered all my exhortations, and he resolved that, should he get well again, he would attentively read the New Testament, which he said he also did. I then addressed a large crowd of people—most of them were of the Vaishnavi's sect. At last he asked my permission to speak a few words to the assembly. At first I hesitated; however, I allowed him to speak, and, to my astonishment, he gave such a clear and decided description of Jesus Christ's character, that the whole audience was astonished and breathlessly sucked in every word, concluding with the declaration saying that 'I am still studying Christ, and the moment I know him to be my Saviour I shall embrace Him,' &c.; and, thanks be to God, he has been true to his resolution; through many trials he found Jesus to be his Saviour. At the fair I saw him, and Mr. Bate explained to me his whole career, and that a few months before he had baptized him. The next day his father came, stood at a distance, and beckoned to him with the hand, but when his son made a sign with the hand to come near to him, the father left. Next morning I had the pleasure to see his father sitting near his son, who conversed with him about Christ and salvation. I hope and pray that he may remain steadfast till the end.

"November 19th, I left, with Joseph Chuttree, for the Balliya fair. As we had this year a very heavy rainy season, the rivers were consequently very high; the Ganges having taken this year a different course, more to the left, swept away half the city of Balliya, at the end of which stood the famous Brishy Muni temple; opposite stood three temples, devoted to Mahadeo, a broad road being between these temples, at the farthest end of which, towards Balliya, stood the Mahant's (chief of the faquirs) extensive mansions. All were clean swept away by the Ganges, and there the river now flows.

"The natives listened very well during our stay, and we trust they may have benefited by the Word of God.

"One subject struck me forcibly. Though the multitude of people who had collected to bathe at the full moon, and who were calculated to be nearly a million, knew what devastation the Ganges has done, yet they appeared to care nothing for the temples and idols having been washed away; they bathed, made their purchases, and returned to their homes. I felt convinced that idol worship is not so deeply rooted in the hearts and minds of the people in general, as, for instance in Benares, they manifest ; but I now believe that if the Ganges would engulf all the idol temples in Benares, the people would feel relieved of the load which weighs them down ; it is, then, only the slavish fear of the priests which keeps the people in bondage all their life.

" Hindustani Services

"On Sunday mornings and afternoons, and Wednesday afternoons, have been regularly conducted. I have been several times during the year laid up with fever, but through the kind attention of our doctor I recovered very soon. During these intervals Joseph Chuttree conducted the services ; he also has evening worship regularly with the Orphans. I sincerely trust the Lord will bless these means of grace to all who attend them. The number of communicants is at present nine.

" Orphans

"In connection with the mission are, at the close of the year, twenty-nine in number. Young as they are—the eldest not more than fifteen years—they have wonderfully gone on in their erudition, crotchet, and needlework, at which they daily attend, and which undoubtedly will prove beneficial to them, if spared, in after life."

Mr. Etherington's report is as follows :—

"With regard to my work, I wish that I had more in the way of visible result to report than I have. Now and then I have an inquirer of whom I am disposed to be hopeful, but in many cases they disappoint me. Only yesterday a man came to me from Akbarpore, a place about 40 miles from this, with the express desire, as he said, of inquiring more fully into, with the hope of embracing, the Christian religion. I refer to him, as he is a fair specimen of the kind of men with whom I have often to deal. He is a Mahomedan, named

Juayut Hussein, a hakim, or native doctor. He dresses as a native gentleman, is exceedingly polite in his manner, and shows, by the beautiful Urdu that he speaks, that he has received a good Mahomedan education, and is clever. After a few moments' conversation, he produces a book in manuscript, which has hitherto been concealed under the folds of his upper garment. I open the book, and find that it consists of more than 2,000 couplets in an Urdu metre, giving an account of the life, but especially of the miracles, of our Lord as recorded in the Gospel narratives. He informs me that he has been more than twelve months engaged in writing the book, and is now anxious that it should be printed and published, that others may become convinced as he has of the truth of Christianity. He feels assured that the poetical version that he has made of the account of Christ's miracles, as given in the Gospels, will materially aid in leading to this desirable result. All this seems at first sight very interesting and encouraging, and I begin to hope that I have before me a sincere inquirer, earnestly anxious to know the truth himself, and likely, from his education and social position, to be the means of leading others in the way of truth. But, as I am dealing with a Mahomedan, I feel the need of being cautious. The account given of the book, and the reasons for writing it, at first interest me ; but after a while I begin to wonder why a man who has not himself formally embraced Christianity, should be so concerned to induce others to do so, that he undertakes to write a poetical version of the Gospel narrative with that object in view. My suspicion is aroused, and I resolve to sift the matter thoroughly, if possible. The result is that, after cautious questioning of the man, I become convinced that he is not sincere, and that his motive in writing the book is a low and selfish one. He has, in fact, heard that the late Lieutenant-

Governor of these provinces, Sir W. Muir, and also one or two religious societies, have offered several valuable prizes for approved books in Hindi or in Urdu, especially for religious works, and that they are most desirous of securing religious poetry. With the hope, then, of securing a prize of 1,000 or 500 rupees, he has written this poetical version of the substance of the Gospel narrative, and he professes a desire to embrace the Christian religion simply with the object in view of pleasing me, that I may feel interested in his book, forward it with a recommendation, and so aid him in securing a prize.

"I do not wish to give the impression that I have no encouragement in my work, or that there are no indications of progress. There is, even in this dark and wicked city, in which Satan seems to have his seat, much that is encouraging to those who have patience to work and wait; and progress, even on a large scale, is going on, which those may see who can discern the signs of the times. Progress, in the way of innovations in religion, in manners and customs, innovations now readily accepted, that would not have been tolerated for a day at a time within the memory of living men, is apparent to all.

"It indicates, I think, the commencement of a gradual breaking up of that vast system which survived all the terrible onslaughts of the Mahomedan iconoclasts, which gave birth to Buddhism, and arose from the grave in which the child was supposed to have for ever laid the parent. I do not wish to give the false impression that Hinduism is dead, or that it is dying. Whatever may be the state of things in other parts of the country, here in this Jerusalem of India the Brahmin and the pundit, the modern Pharisee and scribe, abound and flourish. They pay, as of old, tithes of mint, anise, and cummin, and omit the weightier matters of the law—judgment, mercy, and faith; and here too they bind heavy burdens and grievous to be borne, and the people, for the most part, bow submissively to the yoke. The Brahmin here has only begun to feel that he has found in Christianity and its numerous allies a foe that he cannot afford to despise, and that the issue of the contest that is forced upon him may be doubtful.

"Next to public preaching, the most important part of Mission work in Benares is Zenana visitation and teaching. Opportunities to carry on this work are now so numerous, that the three ladies who labour under Mrs. Etherington's superintendence, find it impossible to take advantage of them all. Two of these ladies are supported by the ladies' society established for this purpose, and the third from funds found here.

"In admitting us to the Zenana, the enemy are unwittingly allowing us to place our batteries and our best marksmen (our Christian women, who wisely aim more at the heart than at the head) within range of what is, in one sense, their weakest, but, in another sense, their strongest point.

"At the request of the Conference that assembled at the end of 1873, I undertook to prepare an annotated edition of the New Testament in Hindi, on the plan of Dr. Wenger's annotated New Testament in Bengali. To take advantage of Dr. Wenger's work, I found it necessary to extend my knowledge of Bengali. A good deal of my time last year was therefore devoted to the study of that language. I have prepared notes on the greater part of Matthew, but it will take me three or four years, if spared, to complete the four Gospels.

"In May last I made an application to the municipality of Benares for a grant to enable me to establish a free school for boys and girls of Eurasian parentage. A grant of Rs.700 was voted to me for the purpose, but as it is not sufficient, even if renewed annually, I have applied to the Director of Public Instruction for a grant in aid. I have not yet heard the result of my application, as it has to be forwarded to the Lieutenant-Governor of these provinces.

"As there are several good people, Baptists, at Chunar, a town about 30 miles up the river from Benares, Mr. Miller and I have commenced work there. We go in turns once a fortnight, and hold our services at present in the house of one of the members. Last week we had more than could be well accommodated. If the work should grow, as we hope, we may hereafter try to secure a place for holding our service in.

"Our English services here are very well attended, and, I think, productive of good, especially among the troops. It is difficult to trace the effects of our work among the soldiers, as they are often removed to distant parts of the country just when we have begun to know them well. But in most places they meet with missionaries glad to take an interest in them.

"Our Sunday school, which for several years was in a very flourishing condition, was, I am sorry to say, much reduced the greater part of last year. This was owing in part to the loss of our excellent superintendent, Mr. Field, who left Benares for Calcutta; and partly to the jealousy of the military chaplain here, who established a school in the barracks, and led the colonel of the regiment here to order the parents to send their children to it. I am glad to hear that the school has somewhat revived since Mr. Miller took the superintendence of it out of my hands. The school has been a blessing to many European and Eurasian children, and, I trust, will continue to be so."

IV.—AGRA.

Missionary.—J. G. GREGSON.

Number of members 40.

The capital of the district, with a population of 149,008 persons: it is situated on the River Jumna, about 800 miles N.W. from Calcutta.

From the report of Mr. Gregson we extract the following particulars:—

"Preaching to the Heathen.

"This important branch of mission work has been carried on by myself and native evangelists, in the bazaars, villages, and melas, in the city and district. In a large city like Agra, with a native population of more than 100,000 inhabitants, what can one European do to reach the masses of this populous city? The people listen to the message, but show no signs of receiving it as the power of God unto salvation. But whether they hear indifferently or from mere curiosity, we have the gratification of knowing that God's Word will not return to Him void, and that it is our duty to preach and wait.

"While our work has been chiefly confined to the city, Hurree Ram has been engaged in preaching in the villages round Bisarna, where he resides. During the past year he has been rejoined by his wife and children, who left him when he became a Christian a few years ago; although his wife has agreed to live with him she has shown no disposition to embrace Christianity. May a consistent life of faith in Christ, as set forth by her husband, be the means of leading her to accept Him.

"Dholepore mela was visited by our native evangelists, and I accompanied them to Butteshwar, where we had large crowds to listen to the preaching of the Gospel. This year we introduced a good deal of singing as well as preaching into our work, which not only greatly attracted the people but made a visible impression upon them; in fact, I never saw a heathen crowd so affected before. They listened with great earnestness and went away saying, the 'Padre Sahib is singing the praises of Jesus.'

"Here at this mela, within a hundred yards of each other, were two groups of singers—one close to the temple, singing the praises of Mahadeo, with images of the god before them, and fastened in their pugrees, and marking the bystanders on their foreheads with the mark of the beast; and the other consisted of a missionary and three or four native evangelists singing the songs of Zion, inviting the listeners to believe on Jesus and seek salvation through Him, that their lives might be marked with purity, and holiness, and truth. On the Sunday we spent at the mela, we had an English service in the commissioner's tent for the Europeans, and a native service for the native Christians at the American Presbyterian tent, when Episcopalians, Presbyterians, and Baptists, joined in one service to their common Lord and Master. The Rev. Dr. Brodhead conducted the service and preached an excellent sermon in Urdu. The mela was very crowded, and the Brahmins were satisfied with their plunder. The large temple was crowded day after day with generous and earnest devotees. The pilgrims crowded through its doors on the great day of the mela at the rate of 70 a minute, when each pilgrim dropped a gift, as the crowd crushed by the god. The sweepings of the temple must have been very precious. A rajah gave an offering of 500 rupees, and no one went in empty-handed. The gifts given were very numerous and varied—silver rupees, copper pice, and shell cowries, cocoa nuts, bail fruits, and yellow flowers were presented to the great god Mahadeo, for the Brahmins to wrangle and quarrel over for many days to come. At night the ghats were brilliantly illuminated with hundreds of lights, and the river floated numberless rafts of straw, containing the sacred lights which had been offered to Jumna Jee.

"The Native Church.

"Our native Christians have had a series of misfortunes during the last two years; in 1873 our village was visited by a very fatal attack of cholera, which greatly thinned our numbers, and the past year will long be remembered as the year of the fire which destroyed Miss Alexander's house, and the houses of the native Christians and all their belongings. While we record the calamity, we have great satisfaction in gratefully acknowledging the generous help which we received from the Agra Municipality; the residents of the station, and the friends of Missions in India, who read of our loss through the papers and liberally sent assistance to rebuild the village and compensate the native Christians for the losses they had sustained.

"The native services have been well attended, and a better, and we hope higher Christian life manifest among the members, some of whom go out voluntarily after their work and preach in the bazaar and markets. The Sunday services are divided between Mr. Harris and myself. I also take a Bible class every Saturday, and the prayer meeting is left entirely to themselves. The children attend Miss Alexander's school, and get a good elementary education. During the year seven have been baptized and added to the church, and only one excluded. One or two have gone to Delhi, where work seems more plentiful than at Agra, and as they are quite independent of the mission, supporting themselves by their own hands, we do not attempt to prevent them from seeking employment in other stations.

"Havelock Chapel.

"During the past year the services in the new chapel have been well attended, and with many signs of God's blessing. The circumstances of mission work in India demand that some attention should be paid to the religious condition of the European residents in our station, especially where there is a military cantonment.

"The Harlock Library."

"We are indebted to Mr. Cook, the great tourist, for this valuable collection of books, which now forms a permanent library in connection with our chapel and work among our soldiers, by whom it is very highly prized.

"In addition to the valuable gift of books, we are also indebted to Mr. Cook for having collected £100 towards our building fund, a very great service to our needy treasury.

"The Sunday School."

"This important branch of Christian work has been thoroughly reorganised, and a large supply of books, papers, and class books obtained from the Sunday School Union in London, which has enabled us to place our school upon a better footing than it has ever been, more resembling a Sunday school in England."

V.—CHITOURA.

Missionary, H. G. EMERIC DE ST. DALMAS.

Mr. St. Dalmas has favoured us with the following report:—

"I have spent but little over one year at Chitoura, and a record of the year's work may be given in a very few words.

"Chitoura is a village containing perhaps 600 houses, and surrounded by a large number of villages and hamlets of various sizes. The nearest town of any importance is Futtehabad, ten or twelve miles distant; here there are many Mahomedans as well as Hindus. I have paid a few visits to this town, and had opportunities of preaching in the bazaars, and distributing tracts to those who could read and cared to have them; in the similar towns and villages the proportion of the population able to read is much smaller, though an increasing number of boys are attending the Government Schools. There is no school as yet in Chitoura, but there are three in neighbouring villages; the nearest has been opened within the last few months at Ooncha, only a mile and a half distant, and several go this distance for the sake of attending the school.

"A large weekly market is held at Shumshabad. I go there to preach, and to the other markets and fairs held in the neighbouring villages, and have visited more or less regularly some thirty villages within a few miles of my bungalow. Sometimes the people have listened with apparent interest, and asked that the visit might be early repeated; at other times or places the people have appeared too much engrossed in the love of gain, or pleasure, to care for these things, but very little actual opposition is manifested.

"One Brahmin, a Government servant, has often raised a discussion in the market where we have met, or has come to my bungalow and sat arguing for hours on the chief facts and doctrines of our religion, but his object always appeared to be not so much inquiry as display: he is very fluent, and seems to attach more value to words than to reasons. Like many others, he makes great capital of the imperfections of Christians, English and native, and is too ready to charge them with insincerity.

"Another Brahmin I have had several interviews with, is an old man of very different character. He first attracted my notice at the Shumshabad market, where, in the course of my preaching, he spoke, and quoted several of the beatitudes from memory: I found on inquiry, that he had had a gospel of Matthew given to him many years before; that he fully assented to it all, and seemed to derive consolation from the beautiful words of our Saviour, if he had not as yet an intelligent faith in His mission. The poor man had that day lost a member of his family very suddenly, and I went to his house to show sympathy with them in their trouble. I have often seen the old man since then; he is always polite and pleased, and often supports what he hears of the Word of God preached in the streets of his town, yet he shrinks from declaring himself a Christian. Those who know best how much a Brahmin is liable to suffer of persecution and loss when he becomes a Christian, will be most disposed to pass a charitable judgment upon such an old man.

"I have visited some annual melas, or festivals, in the neighbourhood, in company with one or two native preachers. At one mela we were able to get a good preaching-place under a large tree in the temple court-yard itself, quite close to the densely thronged idol-temples; here we sang some hymns, and preached for a long time to a large crowd of people. Several of the pundits tried hard to disconcert one of the two native brethren who had accompanied me, but he was quite a match for them, being himself a converted Brahmin and a pundit; he was formerly a village schoolmaster, receiving as much salary as he now has as a preacher, so that I was able in his case to silence their unjust charges of covetousness, and to show that he had suffered rather than gained in regard to this world's wealth and the praise of men by becoming a Christian.

"I have held a daily service in my bungalow which is regularly attended by all my servants, and usually by a few others, averaging together about ten or a dozen daily: I value these opportunities very highly, as one meets with the same people continuously, and is able to impart connected instruction. I have gone through a good part of the New Testament in this way, taking a short portion and trying to adapt it to suit my hearers."

VI.—MUTTRA.

Missionary, J. Williams.

Number of members, 3.

A place much frequented by the Hindus for the worship of Krishna. It is of great antiquity, and is situated on the banks of the Jumna, about thirty miles N.E. from Agra. The population numbers 59,281 persons.

Mr. Williams reports as follows:—

"During the year the Gospel has been almost regularly preached at Muttra, and its environs occasionally visited. The people with few exceptions hearken well, and all treat me with marks of kindness. Hundreds of them readily admit the truths of the Bible, and candidly confess that Christ's religion is ultimately designed to triumph over error, and restore the world unto God; but as yet they are not courageous enough to break their caste, to leave their own relatives, to throw themselves upon the mercy of Christian people, and publicly and boldly profess the Son of God as their only Saviour.

"My celebrity in the 'medical art' has, during the year, been severely tested. Scores of people, troubled with divers diseases, have come to the mission house for medicine and sympathy, and, by God's blessing, all, except one individual, have been restored to their usual health.

"Such acts of benevolence go far with the natives, and when circumstances require, they do not hesitate to invite their benefactor into their own houses, where he can say a few words to the family about the salvation of their souls.

"The attendance of both our weekly and Sunday services is very small. The average is from four to six individuals, most of whom consist of my own servants. Occasionally some of the native pleaders of the court, and some pundits and Mahomedan mulvies come over on Sunday evening, and, after a short service, we have a discussion on some religious topic, which sometimes is not uninteresting.

"Our Bible class is held on Sunday morning after the service, when I endeavour to explain some portions of the Sacred Book to the few present. We have also a little singing, and one or two of my servants sing well the praises of the Redeemer in their own language. They seem to be delighted at some of our Hindi hymns, which I teach to them, and they are able to repeat them from memory.

"I went over to the Brindhabun mela, held about the middle of April last, and on my arrival was informed by a Government servant, who is a Christian man, that the great Hindu reformer pundit, Sarswati, had come there. As I had heard a good deal about him I at once arranged to go over to his place, and to have a talk with him about religion. Three native preachers belonging to the church mission accompanied me, and having arrived at his place he kindly received us. In a short time he asked me my name, what was my occupation, and whence I came. I told him all. He was glad to understand that I was a missionary, and wished to know my intention in coming over to see him. This again I explained to him. Glancing at the crowd present, he looked at me, and with a sonorous voice said, 'I have read the whole of your Injil' (viz., New Testament), 'and doubtless it contains a splendid system of morals.' I asked his opinion about Christ, the founder of the New Testament religion. He replied, he believed Him to be a man of an excellent character—wise, true, humble, and forbearing, suffering much on account of his teachings from his own people, just as I do now. I again asked his views about the principle of mediation, and the necessity of a mediator between God and man. He answered that he could neither see the reasonableness of the doctrine nor believe that Christ's death was a propitiation for sin. Here commenced a long discussion between us, at the close of which he thus expressed himself—'I shall review the whole of the debate; it may be that I am wrong.' We departed in peace, expressing our good wishes to each other.

"The native preachers and myself had a good preaching in the mela, and the people listened very attentively. Few tracts were sold, and the mela was closed by splendid fireworks, which continued from about eight o'clock to twelve at night. The illumination of the place, the turnout and procession of the idol, and the brilliant light that shone around it, were unequalled by any splendour I ever witnessed.

"The whole expenses, amounting to many thousand pounds sterling, were defrayed by Lakshmi Chund, the great Mahajun of Muttra."

This ancient capital of the Great Mogul lies 900 miles distant, N.W. from Calcutta. The number of inhabitants is usually estimated at 150,000, equally divided between Hindus and Mahomedans.

The Annual Report presents us with the following information:—

"Our operations are carried on by Christian workers, and as fast as the Lord gives us suitable converts we thrust them out into the districts where the people desire their services, making it a condition that they shall prove their earnestness and sincerity, by providing a building or in other ways assisting in bearing the expense of the enterprise.

"If possible, when the Lord opens us new fields, by calling out converts to believe on the Saviour and receive baptism, we try to induce them to carry on divine worship among themselves, without the introduction of outside labourers, except on occasional visits. Hundreds of promising places have been ruined, and prospects the most promising clouded by the introduction of hired catechists, whose bad example and mercenary spirit have soon obliterated the impressions made by the missionary.

"We have often been cast down and disappointed when our members have been removed to other neighbourhoods, and felt as though they were lost to the church, but they have generally turned up after years have passed, and that too with increase. Gummani was lost sight of for years, and then turned up at Hoorital, where we found him with seven others reading the New Testament, and in Hutteen, Ferozepore, Nuh, and other places where he has resided, they are calling for teachers. Gunga Doss left Poorana Killah with his father years ago, and we found him at Pul Wul, where for seven years he maintained Christian worship alone, and not only taught some from other villages to read the Bible, but created a desire for instruction in the minds of many of his neighbours. At Lohna we found Lal Chund with his New Testament, and a tract containing the leading truths of Christianity, and on inquiry we learnt that he had been among our people at Furreedabad, and learnt to read the Word of God. Chuni Lal was driven during a time of scarcity to Chumraul to earn a living; he taught Goolzary to read the Bible, and Goolzary soon got up a little school of boys from several villages, the result of which will be, we trust, the founding of a little church. Heta and Phoola went to live at Badlee, and for years they appeared to be lost, but the latter has now got up a school, and is doing much good. In all these cases the seed fell into the ground and apparently died, but it no longer remains alone.

"During the past year thirty have been received into Christian fellowship by baptism, and thirty-two have been restored and received from other churches, making a clear gain of sixty-two members.

"The English church and congregation have enjoyed a season of especial prosperity. Four services have been conducted weekly and the attendance has been uniformly large. The week of prayer was accompanied by a visible quickening of spiritual life in many, and not a few we trust entered into the liberty of the sons of God. Mr. Guyton's services and help have been most timely and acceptable in this department of labour. There has been a large increase also in the number of communicating members of the church.

"One of the most striking national characteristics of the people of India is their readiness to feed religious teachers of every sect and kind, and hence our people have little difficulty in obtaining food wherever they go. Chuni Lal takes the oversight of three small churches, and is certainly successful in keeping up the congregations. He is assisted by the schoolmasters, who reside on the spot, and his support is drawn chiefly from some European gentlemen who approve of his work. We still adhere to our plans of not paying salaries to native preachers, as we hold it to be the duty of the churches to carry on evangelistic work in their own neighbourhood. In this respect our plans are attaining greater maturity. The churches through their Panchayat are now able to support two evangelists, and as they increase in numbers and wealth this power will be further developed.

"We have now in operation thirty schools for boys, all, with one exception, for the labouring classes. They contain an aggregate of 500 children, and belong to a class shut out of the ordinary Government schools by the caste usages of the country. The teachers are native Christians who receive from three to ten rupees a month; some devote only part of their time to the work, and others the whole. As far as possible we pay them the market value for their time, and we believe they are doing a good work in creating a wide-spread taste for education, and enabling multitudes to read the Bible, as well as preparing the way for their conducting Christian worship among themselves, thus avoiding the necessity of hiring catechists, whose pay must come from the Missionary Society.

"The central school is intended eventually for a Normal school to prepare Christian teachers for the surrounding districts, where the natural demand for them is rapidly increasing.

"The Sunday-school and Bible Class have increased largely, and when it is remembered that our mission has connected with it a community of, probably, not less than 500 souls, their importance can scarcely be exaggerated.

"In the girls department Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Campagnac, and Mrs. Fernandez have rendered good service.

"Itinerating has been carried on through a large district, and the reception of the Gospel was never more hopeful. Mr. Guyton and myself have journeyed to the south-east, taking a sweep of 100 miles, gathering large crowds in almost every centre of population; also to the north-east, where the desire for instruction is very manifest. We made a most interesting visit to Ulwar, at the special request of the people there, who sent three men to invite us. It was cheering to see the crowds gather together to hear the gospel wherever standing room could be found, and quite as encouraging to see the readiness with which they purchased gospels and tracts. One man who purchased a New Testament in Hindi seemed delighted with his treasure, and when he had obtained it quietly led us away from the crowd up a flight of stairs to a Surangi's Temple, when we entered into conversation with a priest of extensive knowledge and intelligence; without apparently ever having seen a missionary, he had attained to a knowledge of the necessity of an atonement for sin and also of the new birth ere man could enter God's presence. They had evidently some scriptures, but when they had obtained them I could not ascertain. Twenty-nine years ago I visited Ulwar with Mr. Richard Williams and Mr. T. Phillips, and on that occasion we parted with large numbers of scriptures and tracts, and this knowledge may be the result. We arranged to send two agents as soon as the people prepared places to accommodate them, and a room for a school and public worship. This city presents a most hopeful opening for the propagation of the truth, and we have promised at once to occupy it. In these journeys we travelled without tents or servants, living with our native Christians, and sleeping in the common serais, or in private houses as the necessity of the case might demand.

"Chuni Lal has preached in more than sixty towns and villages, to congregations varying from four or five to a hundred, and has been kindly received in almost every instance.

"Seetul Dass has made extensive journeys across the Jumna, and accompanied Subha Chund to hundreds of places in and around Delhi. Lal Dass and Saul Peter have itinerated perseveringly on the road from Delhi to Muttra, and the former has about twenty-five Bible readers scattered among the various villages he visits. The bazaars in Delhi have been frequently visited by myself, Subha Chand, and Wharton, besides almost daily house-to-house visiting and preaching in the Mohallas, where our native Christians and inquirers reside.

"In consequence of the large number of poor sick people looking to us for medical assistance, both from Delhi and more distant places in the district, and the great difficulty in obtaining kind sympathising help for low caste people in the Government dispensaries, we have been induced to open a dispensary. Mr. Holder, for some time a student in the Medical College, Lahore, and also for several years under Dr. J. C. Penny, at Delhi and Gazeabad, offered his services and was accepted. The wisdom and necessity of the course we have adopted is attested by the fact that already the patients number from fifty to sixty per day, with a gradual increase. The institution when developed is likely to prove a great blessing in saving the lives and securing health to multitudes for whom no man cared."

This important city, situated at the junction of the Ganges and Jumna rivers, is now the seat of Government for the North-Western Provinces of Hindustan. It contains 143,693 inhabitants. It is about 600 miles from Calcutta, with which it has communications both by rail and river.

Mr. Anderson reports as follows :—

"Early in the year I resolved to urge upon the members of the English congregation the desirableness and duty of seeking a revival of religion. There had been a want of earnestness in the cultivation of spiritual religion for some months previous. After bringing the matter before them on three succeeding Sabbaths, and making it a subject of prayer in our weekly prayer meetings, I sought the co-operation of Mr. Osborne, then a lay preacher among the Methodists, but a brother very gifted as an evangelist, and we commenced a series of morning prayer meetings and nightly evangelistic services, which were the means of great spiritual blessing to many. The religious life of the people of our congregations was quickened, an interest in religious services was awakened in the minds of some who had previously been neglectful of Christian ordinances, and a good many were led to express their wish to receive Christ.

"We also held a number of services among the railway people, some of them in the open air, and the effect I believe was that the moral tone of the residents in the quarter of the town where they reside was raised, and several were brought to feel deeply the importance of religion, and began to frequent regularly the house of God.

"In regard to the different branches of work carried on by the Church, a body of five tract distributors have been steadily prosecuting their useful labours. Our city visitor has been carrying on his work among the lapsed classes of Europeans and East Indians in the native city. The two Sunday-schools have been kept up, one in the chapel and the other in the Railway Institute; and a deacon of the church has been engaged throughout the year in giving instruction on the Sabbath to a small class of native Christian youths. The school in our chapel numbers 60 scholars, and is in a state of efficiency. Our senior deacon, Mr. Carr, is the superintendent, and he gives much attention to it. A Young Men's Christian Association, for the benefit mainly of those employed on the railway, has been established by us. Rooms have been given by the company, free of rent. We hope that this institution will be very useful. We have raised funds for a congregational library, but the books have not yet come out from England.

"An Auxiliary Zenana Mission has been formed by Mrs. Anderson among the ladies of the congregation, and a lady has been engaged to visit the houses of the natives in the city four times a week. We have also established a native school for boys and girls, which is taught by a Christian teacher, and is under Miss Anderson's superintendence.

"Mrs. Anderson's English school has been the means of bringing several young people into connection with the congregation. I had the happiness of baptizing two of them during the year.

"During the year we have had ten baptisms. Six of the number baptized joined the Church; the remaining four have gone to other stations. One person was restored to fellowship, and three others were recognised by the Church as stated communicants. On the other hand, we have had to separate from us no less than nine persons, either for immoral conduct or for negligence or indifference in regard to the public service of God. While a goodly number of those who joined the Church in 1872 have remained firm, time has shown that in some cases there was only the semblance of conversion. I am thankful that one of the backsliders has already given evidence of repentance, and I hope that two or three of the others will ere long be brought back to the fold. We have removed from our church list the names of nine non-resident members. There are now 58 European and Eurasian members, and eight native members. The congregation has kept up, and the attendance at the week evening services has been encouraging.

"In the early part of the year I went out for nearly three weeks among the villages, and towards the close of this year I and my native preacher spent about six weeks in evangelistic work. When thus engaged, I cannot but feel a longing for more time to give to the heathen.

"In the second period of my itinerating I found everywhere a readiness to hear the Gospel; some were glad to speak freely with us, and hear our message in private."

From Mr. Bates's report we select the following passages:—

"It occurred to me, during the hot months of last year, that should my life be spared, I would this season journey to the east of the city on the opposite side of the Ganges in the direction of Benares. About a month ago I left home, and the difficulties encountered in crossing the great sandbed of the Ganges speedily accounted for the infrequency of missionary journeys on this side of the river. I was, however, soon compensated for the trouble thus incurred, by finding that I had entered a most lovely portion of the district, very thickly dotted with large villages and towns, and occupied by a larger population than I have found in any other rural part of India that I have yet visited. I found the people everywhere most ready to listen to the message of God's love. With but one exception, I have not been able to discover any trace of a missionary having ever crossed over to these parts—the exception is that of our dear veteran brother Mr. Heinig, who, instead of taking the train, usually journeys by the road from Benares to Allahabad when he comes up to the fair. On several occasions I have met with legends of visits paid by him to this part of the country; and on one occasion, at a distance of some twenty miles out, the name of another missionary of another society turned up.

" Besides the traces of our honoured brother above referred to, I have frequently met on this journey with men (Zemindars and such like) who have told me that they have heard me preach under the neem-tree in the bazaar of Allahabad. It is not without a feeling of sincere thankfulness that I have received such information, as it shows how the influence of efforts there put forth in the interests of the Gospel may extend to the remotest corners of the land.

" The main road from Calcutta on the east to Delhi on the west—the longest road in the world—goes through the heart of the city of Allahabad, and it is by the side of this road that I take up my stand. The major portion of the travellers on that road consists of pilgrims journeying from one 'sacred' place to another; so that my audience in the bazaar every day is made up of natives, two-thirds of whom are the regular inhabitants of the place, and the remaining third of these misguided devotees. The fact of Allahabad being one of their chief places of pilgrimage leads to their staying there for several days together, when they have many opportunities of hearing about Christ. These people purchase largely the tracts and gospels which I offer for sale after preaching; thus taking with them to their abodes in remote and obscure parts of this vast country the message which God has committed to us.

" Within a circle of every three or four miles there is a market-day twice a week for the convenience of the villagers who reside near: on arriving at a new place, I make it my first business to ascertain on what day the market is held, and make it a point to be there well supplied with tracts and scriptures. These I find the people most eager to possess, though care is of course required that they fall into the hands of those only who can read.

" In most instances we have received great kindness at the hands of the villagers; some of them gathering for us fruits and flowers from their gardens, and offering us milk or anything else we might need.

" My last report was written (as you may remember) during a journey. I returned from that journey in time to begin work at the great annual fair held here at the junction of the Ganges and the Jumna. We met there in great force, having a larger number of native and European brethren than I remember to have seen there before. Among the former were Ram-Singh and Joseph Chattri, of Benares; our noble fakeer evangelist, Sabha Chand; also my own co-workers, Imam Masih and the Pundit: while our missionary brethren, Heinig, McCumby, and Etherington, rendered valuable and efficient service. Brethren Middleton and Rouse, who were visiting this capital during part of the month, countenanced us with their presence, the former occasionally taking a share of the work. In addition to this, our three colporteurs were away all day long, moving about everywhere in the fair, selling their scriptures.

" You will remember, perhaps, that I have once or twice made reference to a Hindu who attends this mela and styles himself a 'metaphysical philosopher:' this man visited my tent again several times during the month while the fair continued, sitting by me and conversing freely in reference to his inner history. He is a Maharashtri Brahmin, Bala-want Rao by name, who, in addition to Sanskrit and the other branches of learning that appertain to his country and clan, has a good acquaintance with English, which he has studied for many years con amore, and not with a view to obtaining a livelihood, as he has a small annuity and is in weak health. He has committed to memory large portions of the writings of our best English authors — historians, philosophers, theologians, and poets—and delights to embody these quotations in his conversations in support, or otherwise, of any particular opinion. His knowledge of the Bible shows clearly that he has made it a special study. I gave him a copy of Paley's Evidences which I had possessed for many years, as I felt that next to the Bible and in company with it, this was about the best book he could possess which it was in my power to give. That volume, I may mention, was among a few others conveyed to me as a dying request of that grand old Christian gentleman, William Tucker, of Plymouth, the father of your excellent Francis Tucker, in the year 1858. Little did he foresee that the book he was thoughtful enough to leave to me as his dying gift to help me in my studies of God's Word would, at so distant a period, in the untrodden future, find its way to this far-off land, and be employed for a similar purpose by a Brahmin who was born in the region and shadow of death, but who is now feeling after the light of salvation. 'He, being dead, yet speaketh!' At another mela held in October last, at Daragunge, he came again to the place where I was preaching, and in the course of conversation he made several long quotations from Paley in connection with points on which we talked, showing that he had really spent much time in studying the book. I feel no doubt that a work of grace is going on in his heart; but how little are we English Christians capable of appreciating the stupendous disadvantages which accrue to these people from their idolatrous antecedents and the peculiar influence of their domestic associations! The one thing that now stands between him and the public avowal of his faith in Christ is the family tie, which, as he is a Brahmin, would be most painfully and irremediably severed. This case is but a typical one; and our dear friends in England might render valuable service to the cause we all love, if they would lay it upon their consciences to embody such cases in fervent supplication.

"The fair lasted about a month, and within a week of its close I started on a journey to the west of the city of Allahabad, halting at intervals of five or seven miles, and spending about a week in each place, preaching morning and evening at all the villages and markets I could find. We continued our journey till the arrival of the hot weather rendered it too oppressive to live out of doors any longer.

"From that time till about the middle of November I preached in one or other of the chief public thoroughfares of the city every day. My experience was much the same as that which generally falls to the lot of God's servants who occupy themselves in the same way. There was no difficulty in securing the ear of a goodly number of people, some of whom, on returning from their places of business, frequently waited about for me till such time as I might arrive at the old spot, regarding it (as I have incidentally learnt) as one of the events of each day, to 'go and listen to the Pádré-Sáhib.' The opposition was as violent as usual, especially from the ignorant and debased followers of Mahommed. Some of the violence was explained by a discovery I made on three separate occasions, that 'certain lewd fellows of the baser sort' had actually been employed and paid by some of their well-to-do co-religionists, to use every means in their power to put down the preaching as a public nuisance.

"In addition to the ordinary methods resorted to to foster the spirit of opposition, the place I had occupied was on several occasions immediately taken up either by some Hindu or Mahommedan, who sowed tares among the wheat by addressing from their own respective stand-points the assembly that had been listening to me; and on one occasion a pundit forestalled me by occupying my place before I arrived. His forehead bore the marks which distinguish the followers of Krishnu. He had a considerable number of people around him, and on my arriving, I stood by his side, in my usual place, waiting till he should finish. Having turned over the pages of one of the gospels to find the place from which I intended to preach, I waited in silence for him to finish. The people, however, would not allow him to go on. Surprised, apparently, that I showed no indication of uneasiness or impatience, one of them called out, 'Are you not ashamed of yourself to carry on in that strain now that the Pádre has come? He has been preaching on this spot regularly every day for years past, and what business have you to keep him standing there waiting?' This remark proved itself the 'one touch of nature,' eliciting the very plain-spoken approval of many of the people who stood by; whereupon the man, uttering various uncomplimentary remarks, melted away among the moving crowd in the bazaar, and was soon invisible. Immediately the people had uttered their disapproval of his proceedings, I made a beginning, allowing no interval; and thus availed myself of an audience collected ready to my hands. On one occasion there stood by me during the whole time of my address an elderly Hindu, who had the bearing of a man of education and respectability; as soon as I had finished, he stepped on to the little erection on which I had stood, and began to address the people in sober and intelligent language; whence I inferred that he was probably some native evangelist on a visit to the city, and unknown to me. As it was getting late, I did not stop to hear him out, but, meeting him in the bazaar a few days afterwards, I ascertained, in conversation with him, that he was a Hindu, but an utter rejecter of the idolatrous ritual common to his race. He said that, though he had read the New Testament, and many other books, yet he was not a follower of Christ; and that he was ashamed and saddened at the idolatry and sin of the nation to which he belonged. He was one of a class that is fast increasing.

"Amidst much that is distasteful and has the appearance of discouragement in connection with the sale of Christian publications in the vernaculars, there has been much, also, that has tended to deepen my conviction as to the importance of this as a branch of usefulness. Saying nothing as to the number of such publications sold during the year by our colporteurs, I have myself sold not less than 5,000 copies of tracts and gospels in the vernaculars of these provinces. If tracts and scriptures were 'scattered broadcast over the land,' as in former days, there would be nothing remarkable in the fact of many thousands of them passing year by year from the hand of the missionary; but when, notwithstanding that the only condition on which such works are obtainable is that they be purchased for hard cash, they are taken by the people with such avidity, I submit that the fact is weighted with encouragement, significance, and hope. If my visits to the bazaar were but infrequent, this might in some measure account for the eagerness of the people in purchasing the books; but, inasmuch as they see me day after day, and nearly always standing on the same spot, their readiness to purchase what they know to be expositions of evangelical truth, indicates a desire to become acquainted with that religion which their fathers ignored or condemned. One day one of our Christian natives had occasion to pass through the railway station, and, passing close by a little crowd of native people squatting on the ground waiting for the train, his attention was awakened by hearing words that were familiar to him ; he stood, and found that one of those persons was reading aloud to the others a Gospel which he had recently purchased of me in the bazaar. When the Hindu reads he reads audibly ; and if anything strikes him or the hearers particularly, it becomes a matter of discussion — for disputation comes naturally to a Hindu. Thus, when our tracts and scriptures are conveyed by pilgrims to the mountains and vales, and the remotest corners of the land where the foot of the Christian evangelist never trod, who shall say how much of aggression shall not be made on the kingdom of darkness, and how many shall not find peace and salvation and heaven without one ever hearing anything about it ? ‘The wind bloweth where it listeth ; and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh nor whither it goeth : so is it with every one who is born of the Spirit.’

“Our native evangelist, Imam Masih, told me early in the year of a pundit whom he had found during one of his journeys in this district, at a place called Subathoo, a small railway-town about thirty miles to the west of Allahabad. Years ago this man had become possessed of a copy of some portion of the Scriptures, which he had read from time to time. At length the reading of that book led to his mind losing its relish for idolatry ; and when our brother chanced to find him, he was a worshipper of none but the True Incarnation revealed to him in the Book, and he professed himself still a seeker after rest of soul. It was my intention to have made a journey this winter in the direction of this man’s home, but three months ago he died. His name was never chronicled in the statistics of a Mission ; yet, when I read the promise, ‘Seek and ye shall find,’ I can think of this man having washed his robe and made it white in the blood of the Lamb.

“On one occasion I was much struck by the eagerness of a young man to get the books :—he bought all I had (about fifty tracts and gospels). On moving away from the place, I got into a quiet chat with him, being curious to ascertain the reason of his making such a large purchase. He reasoned thus :—‘You sell these books at a pice each, and this, you say, is a quarter of their proper price ; now, why should I not sell these for twice their original price ? and if I can, I shall have made a profitable investment.’ I intimated that I feared he was ‘counting his chickens before they were hatched.’ But he was not to be put out of conceit of his new idea. He made the books into a bundle which he slung across his back, and said that he would soon be returning to Benares, where he kept a little shop. About three months afterwards I met him at one of the Hindu fairs, and asked about the books : he replied that he had sold every one of them at his shop for much more than he had given for them, and added that he should some day come to me for more. Of course, if he had been a Christian colporteur he would not have been so fortunate ; still, even by such means the truth of the Gospel was made known, and herein let us rejoice.

“In addition to the mela (religious festival of the Hindus) already referred to, I attended four other melas which occurred during the year ; the Shiokoti mela at Paparnow, the Nagpanchami mela at Kurnelgunge, the Dashahra or Ramlila mela at Daragunge, and (in November) the fair at Sonapore across the Ganges from Patna.

“To the extent of the strength that has been bestowed upon me I have steadily aimed at ‘this one thing,’ the unspeakable privilege of preaching among the heathen the unsearchable riches of my Great Proprietor.

“You will remember, perhaps, that in my last report I made mention of having held a religious service on Sundays at noon for the special benefit of domestic servants. You will be glad to hear that this work has been carried on regularly through the past year, excepting on those Sundays when my work has called me away from the station. Several of the servants have purchased from me copies of the New Testament and of other religious books. I have reason to hope that I may yet have to mention to you that the Lord has made these services a blessing to the leading of poor idolaters to a saving knowledge of Himself.

"In the course of the year I had the pleasure of examining several native schools; and at the request of the principal of one of our local institutions, I examined a class of students in Hindi and another class in Sanskrit. Both of these classes consisted of young Hindus who were about to go up for the examinations of the University of Calcutta. The examinations which I conducted were what are called, the 'test' examinations, the object of which is to weed the number of those who wish to go up. I have also examined several manuscripts of tracts and books in Hindi for the North India Auxiliary of the Religious Tract Society; and have corrected for reprints two or three valuable tracts belonging to that society; these reprints are now in circulation. There is also a Hindi book of great merit which is a translation by our late saintly missionary, John Parsons, of a work originally written, as I understand, by Dr. Wilson, of Bombay. This work is now out of print, and I am conducting through the press a re-issue of it, with such corrections as seem to be necessary. I have also been requested by our local committee to edit a re-issue of one of Mr. Parsons' more recent works, — a little book called Chhand-Sangrah, consisting of verses in Urdu, Hindi, and Sanskrit, taken from the writings of some of the people's favourite authors, and designed as a sort of vade mecum for Native and European evangelists. To this work I shall be making some important additions. The reprint of our Hindi New Testament by the North India Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society was completed in April last.

"As I write this, the last pages of my Hindi Dictionary are passing through the press; the printing has been in hand two years and a quarter. I intend to send you a copy, to be deposited (if you approve) in the library of our Mission-house. You will be glad to hear that a very considerable proportion of the edition has been ordered by the various branches of the Government of India for use in schools and colleges, and that there is reason to believe that the entire edition will be bought up in this country. The work contains 50,000 words, being 25,000 more than are contained in the largest and latest dictionary of the Hindi language yet published.

"I have also (at the request of the author) been seeing through the press some of the sheets of a really valuable grammar of the Hindi language. The author is the Rev. S. H. Kellogg, M.A., of the American Presbyterian Mission, who is obliged, through ill-health, to spend the hot months in a station in the Himalayas.

"I have, as usual, taken my share of the preaching on Sundays to the English-speaking people who worship at our Baptist chapel here, and on several occasions I have preached for the Methodists."

X.—SINLAH.

Missionary—GOOLZAR SHAH.

Number of members, 12.

From the Report forwarded by our esteemed brother, we extract the following information :—

"The work of the Simla Baptist Mission during the year 1874 has not been conducted as in other years because, owing to the Government of India not going up to Simla in 1874, most of our agents, both paid and voluntary, were away from Simla; and moreover, our resident members had left the place in consequence of having obtained employment elsewhere.

"Still it is with the deepest gratitude to Almighty God our Heavenly Father that we have to record that our work in that interesting field of labour has been carried on to the extent that our altered circumstances permitted.

"Our chapel was closed till the end of August. Our schoolboys, their teacher and our colporteur, and a few others attended the service conducted in his house by the Rev. Mr. Shoolbred of Rajpootana, the officiating pastor of the Simla Union Church.

"In September we ourselves took an opportunity of visiting Simla, and we stayed there for two months. During our stay we regularly conducted two services every Lord's-day, and a prayer meeting on a week day evening. The number in attendance on the Lord's-day, besides our schoolboys, was from twelve to twenty, of whom eight were Christians, and the rest non-Christian hillmen and people from the plains. A Bible-class was conducted twice a week, which three to five persons attended.

"We had four inquirers who appeared to have been awakened and expressed their desire to be baptized, but we thought it proper to defer their baptism in order to obtain more satisfactory evidence of the sincerity of their faith; One of them, a young khitmutgar to a military officer of Central India, who was about to leave Simla shortly, expressed an earnest desire to be baptized, but as we were not prepared to comply with his hasty request, we have asked his master to introduce him to a Missionary when arrived at his station, that the young man might receive more knowledge of the Gospel truths before his baptism.

"During the winter the services in the chapel have been regularly continued by some of our resident members who have returned to Simla.

"Preaching to the Heathen.

"This branch of our work we tried to carry on during our stay in Simla in the months of September and October. We preached the Gospel in the Simla Bazaar, near the station Church, in Boileaugunj, and in the Kooshoomtee Bazar.

"Our village preaching has also been conducted regularly during the two months.

"One family in the village Dhar have been bold enough, in spite of opposition from their neighbours, to learn to read Hindi and to read our tracts. The husband reads Kaithae Nagri imperfectly; the wife by her own exertion, and on our helping her occasionally as we visited them, has mastered the first book of reading and commenced the second book, and with great pleasure tries to read our Hindi tracts that we have given her. Their son, a boy of ten years, regularly attends our school; we hope and pray that the time will soon come when all the hill families will follow their good example.

"Another large family, consisting of twelve members, have shown special regard to the Gospel message. We made their acquaintance in 1873 when they were living near the Sunjole Bazar. They have since removed to a village about one mile below the Kooshoomtee Bazar.

"We have also been able to visit the Taruka Devi's mela, which this year took place on the 18th of October.

Four of our brethren accompanied us, and as usual we preached by turns for fully four hours. The gathering was rather thin this year; about 3,000 people were congregated on the occasion, and we tried to impress upon their attention the necessity of being linked to our precious Saviour by precious faith.

"Distribution of Scriptures and Tracts.

"Our colporteur was away from Simla on a visit to his own country, Ropur, and during that interval he sold tracts and portions of the Scriptures to the extent of Rs. 3-10. He came back to Simla in July, and has since been engaged in the sale of our books; 271 tracts, &c., have been sold for Rs. 4, and 50 distributed gratis during the year 1874.

"We have also lent books to some banias and others who expressed a desire to read Christian books, but were unwilling to buy them.

"School.

"When we left Simla in 1873, the teachers of our school having also left the station, we had little expectation of reopening our school in February, 1874; but one senior pupil, a Goorkha lad, made an attempt, and opened the school with six boys, which number gradually increased to twelve in April, when the Rev. Mr. Shoolbred very kindly took an interest in the school. Under his kind supervision the young teacher* made himself more and more useful in his work, and the boys made progress in their reading and writing. He also conducted a Hindi service in his house with the boys and their teacher every Sabbath day. Our best thanks are due to that gentleman for his interest in our mission.

"In September, when Mr. Shool-

* It is a matter of regret that we were obliged to dismiss this Goorkha teacher at the end of December for misconduct.

bred left Simla, we ourselves arrived at the station, and the school was managed under our own supervision. We added a Christian teacher, and the number of boys increased to twenty-five. This teacher was also one of our former pupils, and was baptized by Archdeacon Baly in 1873.

"We have just secured the services of Mr. E. C. Johnson, who has lately returned from Peshawur. He will proceed to Simla on the 11th of this month.

"We have to tender our best thanks to our friends in Leeds, who have sent us £20 through Dr. Underhill, secretary of the Baptist Missionary Society, and to Messrs. King Brothers of London; also to the Hon. Major-General Sir H. W. Norman, K.C.B., for his kind and substantial help in the prosecution of our work, and to all whose names appear in the list of subscribers, and to Mr. W. H. Carey for his general supervision of the Simla Mission during our absence every year."

WESTERN INDIA.

POONAH.

Missionary, HORMAZDJI PESTONJI, E. B. FRANCIS.

Mr. Hormazdji has favoured us with the following report:—

"Poonah is situated in the Western Presidency of Bombay, in Western India. It has ever been, of old, the capital of the vast Maharashtra country, and is renowned for being the seat of the ancient Government of Peshwa. It still sways somewhat governmental authority, and continues to command considerable power and influence all around. It has been recognised by our British Government also as its seat of council, and is to the Governor of Bombay what Simla is to the Governor-General of India. It is one of our chief civil, military, and railway stations, and worthy of being reckoned in like manner a missionary station in general. It has accordingly been a centre of about as many missionary bodies as Bombay has been—the Church Missionary Society, the Church of Scotland Mission, the Free Church of Scotland Mission, the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel Mission, being the most popular and prominent ones, as observed in the Report of the General Missionary Conference held at Allahabad in 1872.

1. Mission Chapel and its Furniture.

“On my arrival I found our Baptist Chapel here in a very dilapidated state, both inside and out, and without any furniture to admit of holding divine service in it. From the floor, and even the foundation, to the roof and the ceiling of the chapel, and from the broken pulpit and baptistery within to the very ground and gates of the premises without, all required thorough repairs, including doors, windows, walls, timber, and all. And while the huge pulpit needed no little mending, there were no pews to be had, nor even half-a-dozen of sound chairs, nor a couple of serviceable benches, nor a single lamp or candlestick complete.

2. Mission Library and Hymn Books.

“Nor did I find more than a dozen of our Baptist Hymn-books (nor even those in a useable state), nor a pulpit Bible, the whole building was in such ruins. As for the Mission Library in the vestry, I found a few old and odd numbers and volumes of these, in their half-ruined condition, as the poor and pitiful memorials of the good old days they must have had once.

“Nor did I find, alas! a single member, European or native, of the Baptist congregations of Mr. Cassidy's or Mr. Adam White's days, or of days more recent or remote.

“Till I could obtain the much-needed aid from our Committee at home, or any such pecuniary help from my own personal friends, like Colonel Field, and Mr. Conder, and others on the spot, I had to assume personal responsibility, in good faith in my Master's bank, for my Master's work. And thus I took prompt measures, first in clearing up all rubbish in the ruins, then in getting rid of all obnoxious creatures; getting the roof and timbers examined by professional people; then in ascertaining the proper estimates of all immediate and indispensable repairs.

“By the time the repairs were over, and the regular services begun in the chapel in June last, nearly half the amount of the outlay was recovered by the kind contributions of local friends above alluded to; and the other half was obtained from the Home Committee in good time; that is, early in this year.

“And now we have the once ruined chapel and desolate premises duly repaired and restored, both inside and out. Divine services have been held in it regularly for the last eight months.

“On my arrival, while I had neither a Baptist congregation to preach to, nor yet the Baptist chapel repaired and ready to preach in, the Lord graciously gave me access in a special manner to other communities and in other places of worship, denominational and otherwise, for the first six months or so. He opened to me doors of usefulness, in connection with the Methodist Brethren, the Free Church folks, and even those of the Established Churches of England and Scotland, to preach or to hold meetings for them, both in English and the vernaculars, both among Europeans and Asiatics, either in their public places of worship or their private dwellings. He also opened to me doors of usefulness among my native brethren, converts and otherwise, and even a few Jews as well as Parsees and Hindus, who cordially received my visits, and as cordially returned them at times, and thus brought my labours of love, more or less, in contact with some of the educated and semi-educated and ignorant ones of the land. He opened to me a more effectual (if not a wider) door of usefulness in the city jail, wherein I was privileged steadily to preach every Sunday to a few souls in English, and to about 450 in one or other of the vernaculars, and wherein I am still privileged to preach, not unfrequently, to both these little and large audiences, being somewhat encouraged by manifest blessings having rested on such labours in the past.

"As soon as the chapel was tolerably repaired and furnished, and duly opened at the end of June, I started two regular services in it every Sunday; one in English at eleven p.m., and another in Marathi at half-past four p.m., each being attended by the varied numbers of twenty, thirty, forty, and fifty; about forty hearers at each service has been the average, although at times the minimum fell so low as ten, and the maximum rose as high as seventy. Both these services were continued without interruption, even during my occasional absence on short tours, when one or other of my missionary brethren or Christian friends from among Europeans and native converts kindly supplied my pulpit.

"We have had other week-day meetings, in connection with native work, and in the native language alone, both in our own chapel and in the Free Church. These were held according to the necessities of the times, and therefore were not held steadily, but occasionally.

"During the year, I have been thrice to Bombay, wherein, on each such occasion, I have had the privilege of preaching both in English and the vernaculars, in our Baptist chapel there, and in the Native Free Church, and in the house and compound of our Mr. Gordon. I took a short tour to Tullygaum, and another short tour to another Tullygaum in quite another direction, at the kind suggestion of Brother Hingley. Yet another short tour I took to Sassoor, the memorable sphere of labour of the late and much lamented Mr. Adam White, of the Free Church once, but subsequently of our Baptist persuasion. I also took long and short tours together for some weeks, through the vast district of Indapore and the villages of Pomulwari, Shirdachi Wadi, Wadapoori, Zimgaum, &c.

"The incorruptible seed of the Divine Word has been sown on the wayside ground, and the stony ground, and the thorny ground, and doubtless the good ground of many a heart, near and afar off, amid encouragements and discouragements.

"And therefore I cast myself entirely upon the sympathies, and crave for my work unreservedly the prayers, of the Lord's people with you in your highly-favoured land of light and life and love, to uphold and sustain my soul from sinking in the sphere of my labour in this land of darkness and despair."

CEYLON.

I.—COLOMBO DISTRICT.

Missionaries, H. R. PIGOTT, F. D WALDOCK.

Pastor of the Pettah Church, T. R. STEVENSON.

Number of members, 535.

From the usual Report the following particulars of the mission are taken:—

"At the commencement of the year the extensive and important district of Sabaragama (that stronghold of Buddhism in Ceylon) was formally occupied as a mission station of this Society. The agent employed is an itinerant missionary, and during the twelve months he has been at work in this place, he has conducted fifteen services, attended by about 900 persons, every week. Over 2,000 religious tracts have been distributed. One satisfactory case of conversion from Buddhism has been reported, and sixteen persons are returned as inquirers.

"Itinerant work is also being done in the Raigam, Pasdun, and Walalwitti Karles; and three persons resident in the last-mentioned place have been baptized during the year.

"The progress made at Medampe, in the North-Western Province, has been highly gratifying; thirteen persons have been baptized, and formed into a church, and ten others have been returned as candidates for baptism; Rs. 206 93 have been contributed towards the chapel debt, and a sum of over Rs. 135 was given for other purposes. The inhabitants of the villages in the neighbourhood of Medampe and Chilau have been suffering very much of late from famine and sickness; and Mr. Perera, our agent there, has been most active (aided by contributions from friends on the spot and elsewhere) in relieving the distressed. During the last two months he has visited a large number of villages situated within a radius of twenty miles of his residence, ministering both to the temporal and spiritual wants of the people.

"In July last, another of our Medampe friends, Mr. D. Dabera, was removed by death; and the Buddhists of the place now say that the excessive mortality amongst our members and supporters has been caused by the malignant influence of an evil spirit, one 'Thanī Alā Devio,' whom they represent as being angry with the Baptists for having invaded his territories.

"We have nothing of special interest to report concerning the other Singhalese stations of our Society.

"It is with much pleasure and thankfulness that we record the fact that the Colombo English church has at length become self-supporting, and we trust that our friend and brother, the Rev. T. R. Stevenson, who has lately arrived from England to take the oversight of that church, has a long and useful career before him in Ceylon; and we pray that his able ministrations and earnest labours amongst us may be crowned with abundant success. Those who take an interest in matters of the kind will be glad to learn that, in addition to the amount required for the support of their pastor, the members of this church have resolved, also, to continue to give their usual contributions to the funds of the Baptist Mission.

"General Statistics.

"During the year under review, 103 services, attended by some 3,000 individuals, have been held every week. Twenty-six persons have been baptized, and forty-nine are returned as candidates for that ordinance. Eighty-one others appear on the list as inquirers, a few of whom may be regarded as true converts, but the great majority of them are Buddhists and others who, being dissatisfied with their old religion, are searching after the truth. The number of church members in this district is 533. There are sixteen Sunday-schools, with 471 scholars. 11,054 religious tracts and 140 portions of the Holy Scriptures have been circulated.

"The amount contributed to the Missionary Society is as follows:—

"By the Colombo English Church and Congregation		Rs. 1,137 75
Members, &c., at Singhalese Stations		360 87
Merchants and others, not members		460 50
The Mission Extension Fund		379 50
Total		Rs. 2,338 62

" Educational.

" During the year ten additional schools have been established. Three have been closed and one has been joined to a school in a neighbouring village.

" There are now forty-six schools, containing 2,509 pupils (1,874 boys and 635 girls) in this district. Forty of our schools have been examined for Government grants, and we expect to receive a sum of Rs. 4,536 as the result.

" The following figures continued from last year's report will indicate the progress made in this department during the last five years.

" The following extract from His Excellency the Governor's address to the Legislative Council in October last will be of interest to many. In speaking on the subject of 'Aided Schools,' His Excellency said: 'There are at present under consideration ninety-six applications for grants-in-aid to new schools. Nearly all of these applications come from the various missionary bodies in the island. I need hardly assure you that I received this announcement of the vigour with which the missionaries are progressing, with unfeigned satisfaction. I have visited the schools of different denominations, and have generally found them conducted with efficiency and judgment. By judgment, I mean that the object of the missionaries is to give a sound education, so as to influence the reasoning powers of their pupils, and thence to direct them to highest truths, rather than to aim at filling their books with lists of nominal conversions. I know of no country where missionary enterprise is doing better work than here, or where there is less apparent odium theologicum. All are working with conscientious rivalry, and by the thoroughly impartial action of the Government each denomination is made aware that so far as Government assistance is concerned, it is to be obtained solely by results.'

From a report sent in by the Rev. James Silva, of Grand Pass, the following particulars are taken :—

" During the year we have to record the death of six members of our church, two of whom were office-bearers; they were earnest workers, and died in full assurance of faith in Christ.

" Ten persons were added to the churches under my care, viz., five at Grand Pass, one at Coralawella, and four at Matara. In September last while visiting a sick relative at Matara, I was, through God's grace, enabled to be of use spiritually to those who are ours in Christ Jesus. I also found there four persons, believers in Christ, who were waiting to be baptized in accordance with the command of the Saviour. After due examination, I baptized them before a large concourse of people, in the Nilwala Ganga, where, years ago, many were similarly baptized. In the year 1841 the Baptist Mission commenced to labour in Matara, but in 1849 the station was discontinued owing to the low state of the funds of the Society. But a self-supporting church was continued there until 1858. In the year 1862 the Baptist chapel was sold to the Wesleyan Mission, and the members of our Society were obliged to attend the ministrations of the Wesleys, who located a preacher there. I have now formed the Baptists at Matara into a church of ten members, and I have promised to visit them occasionally. Their present wants are a Baptist minister and a place of worship of their own. I have also occasionally visited the church at Coralawella, which is under my charge."

II.—KANDY DISTRICT.

Missionary, C. CARTER.

Number of members, 100.

Mr. Carter has favoured us with the following report :—

“Our services, both English and Singhalese have been maintained as before, to the advantage and instruction of believers, but with small results in the way of conversions. There can be no doubt that the material ties which bind Buddhists to their temples and their religion close the mind against even the consideration of the claims of Christianity. It is seen at once that the rejection of Buddhism and the retention of their lands and their position amongst friends and relatives is impossible, as so many of them hold their houses and lands by a tenure of temple service. No doubt the claims of the soul and the Saviour ought to override all obstacles, and conversion prove its genuineness by the victories it achieves. But, alas! the mind is blinded and the heart hardened, so that the people neither see nor feel the force of these things, but for worldly reasons, the force of which they do feel, reject all consideration of what otherwise might arouse them.

“In Kandy we have had one addition by baptism to our English church, and our weekly English prayer meeting, resumed during the latter part of the year after a long interval, has been much better attended than on previous occasions. We have suffered a great loss in the death of our faithful and devoted Tamil preacher, Philip Pulla, of whom I have already sent you a full account.

“During the year the printing of the Old Testament in Singhalese has advanced from the beginning of Deuteronomy to the end of 2nd Chronicles. The preparation of a clear and accurate manuscript for this, and the revision of the presses, have left me time for little else during the week. On Sundays I preach both in English and Singhalese. The translation is written out by S. Perera, in a good, clear hand, from my original copy, which has been much blurred with alterations, and alternative renderings crossed out during revision. Then the manuscript is read slowly to me whilst I look at the original copy, lest anything should be overlooked; afterwards I read it alone, and it receives a final reading before going to press by my other assistant, H. Perera, a modliar. In correcting the press we have two successive proofs, and sometimes three. This has occupied so much time that we have not made the progress we hoped in the revision of the New Testament, having done only as far as Matt. xii.

“The pastor of the Kandy native church gives the following account of his work :—

“‘It is sad to have to report that we have made no progress by the addition of any one to the native church during the past year, and that some who belong to it are both regardless of its concerns, and of their own advancement. But it is a joy to be able to state that an aged brother and an aged sister who died this year, fell asleep with a good hope in the Lord, and that some of the brethren have maintained their piety, and are acting with new life and vigour. It is pleasant also to report that the subscriptions for the pastor’s support have been larger this year than they were the last.

“‘Brethren and friends in various districts have subscribed and presented a piece of land to the native pastor for the building of a house; and though there is now a house which suffices for occupation, built upon it, yet for want of further subscriptions there is a debt of about £40 on it, and parts of it are yet unfinished.

"I have the pleasure of informing our other brethren and friends that the members here have agreed to deposit from the present year in a bank, according to their ability, a sum of not less than £50 annually; for the liquidation of that debt, to aid in the monthly subscriptions for the pastor, for poor brethren, and for other purposes required for the extension of the Gospel.

"During the year two members of the church have died, and two been excluded. Of the 37 members who now belong to the church, 15 live in Kandy, 10 in distant parts of the Central Province, and the rest in other Provinces and in India."

"From the pastor at Matelle I have received the following report—

"Sunday Work.—About half of this year we have had two services on Sunday in the chapel, at which the attendance has been from twenty to thirty and thirty-five. The other half of the year we have had service only once, at which the attendance has been from twelve to twenty. The church and congregation have declined through hindrances coming from some in the church. Three have been excluded from church fellowship, and one has been added by baptism. The present number of members is thirteen. Service is held in the jail every Sunday.

"Week-day Work.—About half the year we have had four meetings a week, of which we still have two; the other two having been discontinued. I have talked and preached near the court-house, in the streets, in the hospital, and in many villages. While thus travelling about, I have distributed twenty gospels and about 60 tracts, some of which I sold for a trifling sum, amounting altogether to 3s. 3d.

"At the beginning of this year when speaking on religion in the village called Aloowihara, a young carpenter came to dispute with me.

He was not only well acquainted with Buddhism, but said he had devout confidence in it. Again on another day when I met him and spoke with him, he disputed a little; but he asked me for a Bible and I gave him one, and affectionately urged him to consider what I had said, and to read the Bible. About six months afterwards I met him again and spoke with him, when he said, "I have considered well the conversations we have had, and have read and examined the Bible you gave me." And he also told me that, though he had disputed in favour of Buddhism, he has not now the slightest confidence in it; and that he believes there must be a Creator God; and that it is satisfactorily proved to him that a religion for salvation must proceed from the very same person, and that Christ is the Saviour sent by the will of the Creator. He said, also, he was sorry he could not come to our service as he was going to live at Chorotoowa, but that he could go to the chapels there. It is manifest that some others also are concerned about religion."

"Mr. Garnier, now retired on pension, sends me the following:—

"Having taken up my residence in No. 6, Church-street, Slave Island, Colombo (the house engaged for Divine worship, part of the rent being paid by me, and the other by some of the members of the Pettah Baptist Church), I have the privilege of using the house to preach in Portuguese to some who, so far as I understand, go to no place of worship whatever. The Lord has thus enabled me still to be useful in preaching the glad tidings of salvation, feeble and unable as I am to reach the masses outside. There is also a service for Tamils on Sunday afternoon, which is, I am sorry to say, attended only by very few. My inability to get out has been a great hindrance in this respect also, but I shall continue to go on so long as any will come at all. I also take a class in the Sunday-school held here, and this brings me within reach of the young in whom I feel a special interest. The only other way in which I can further the good work is, by taking a seat at the entrance of the house and hailing those passing in the street, to whom I often give tracts and papers.'

"Mr. Ranasingha, of Gampola, writes:—

"Throughout the past year I have been in a disordered state of health, still, through God's favour, I have been able to visit and work in about twenty-one villages in this district, though I was not able to visit them so regularly as in former years. I have also visited Nawalapittia four times, Dolosbage and Ambakke three times each—distant from Gampola respectively about ten, nine, and six miles. In these places and in Gampola I distributed about 800 tracts, besides 200, called "The Children's Lamp," amongst children. We have had no baptism last year; but we have now two candidates for baptism and five inquirers. One member died last year, and our church now consists of nineteen members. In the chapel I preach twice on Sunday, and once on Thursday. The average attendance on Sunday is twenty-five in the morning, and fifteen in the afternoon. I hold prayer-meetings also in four houses in the week; the average attendance at each is twelve persons.

"Amaris de Silva has pursued and somewhat extended his evangelistic labours, going from village to village and speaking with the people from house to house. At Korigammana, where we have a few members, the wife of one of them has expressed a desire to be baptized, and is deemed by those who know her best, to be really a pious woman.

"The goodseed of the kingdom has been sown far and wide, though it is but here and there it seems to fall into good ground. The people have many evil habits, are bound by many ties to an ancient religion, are dark, ignorant, credulous of the old and incredulous of the new. It is, therefore, no wonder that the gospel makes but slow progress amongst them. We are driven to find consolation in the assurance that what we are now sowing in tears, others, generations hence it may be, may reap with joy."

CHINA.

YENTAI.

Missionary, T. RICHARD.

Number of members, 48.

Mr. Richard has kindly furnished the following report:—

"In giving you a summary of our work this year, I feel that it has not been very encouraging. The state of the church has not been what I would have it to be, neither in numbers or spiritually. Three had to be excluded, and one died; whereas we have had only two additions by baptism. Perhaps, however, the work was too general; more concentration at one point might have produced better immediate results.

"In the autumn I went to the provincial capital, 300 miles off. One of the native assistants got very ill, nigh unto death. On his recovery I got the fever from which he suffered, but, providentially, much lighter, for I was over it in three weeks. Sickness is another strong argument why we should not be left to itinerate alone. When I got home I was glad to learn that in Ninghia, which cost us so much trouble, there are some who are brave enough to discredit popular reports. There is a man there who has been for many years searching diligently for the right way. He once thought he was safe on the road to immortality. He bought a large pile of fuel, mounted it, and sat thereon, as in devout meditation; then he ordered his son to set fire to the pile below, for he was now going to attain immortality. It was only when his son had wept long and sorely, and had got his neighbours and relatives to join to remonstrate and beg of him to come down, that he at last yielded. Do not think he was out of his mind. The only mania he had was solemn earnestness. This man had been to Chefoo, inquiring for myself and Ching, during our absence this autumn, saying that he wanted to know Christianity. He begged to have a letter sent him when we would return, so that he might come again. He has not yet come; but I hope the Spirit of God will strengthen him, so as not to yield to his neighbours, when searching for Him who actually brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel.

"During this year we have had no less than four native preachers, only one of whom however is supported directly by the Society; the others are supported, one by a church in Holland, one by a friend in the customs service at this port, and the third by the native church. One travels with me, one goes with Pastor Ching, the other two itinerate. These met various experiences, and, taken altogether, were not without some encouragement. At one place, Yangting, the people placarded the town, giving them and the doctrine they preached a most unenviable character. Nor was this all, a large number came with the purpose of driving them out of the place; but thank God, one of our men who has the rare ability and grace to speak with firmness, and yet with meekness, was equal to the occasion. He inquired what was it they were roused so much about, and then gave a full account of the doctrines and practices of our religion. So complete was the victory, that in a most unaccountable manner, except to those who know the power of love, the very leader of the row acknowledged his mistake, invited them to dine, and begged them to forgive him, as he did all in ignorance, thinking however, that he did know. In another place they were regarded as gods among the people (the expression is of frequent use in the Western sense of divine).

"Pastor Ching profited much by Dr. Brown's stay here; he still carries on the dispensary in addition to looking after the church during my absence. As I was not at home he paid the country stations their autumnal pastoral visit. During the last eight months, since Dr. Brown's departure, his work has been quite heavy. He has seen 1,560 different patients, an average of six each day. But this is not all his work, for in addition to the new patients, the old ones return for medicine and to give account of the sick. These average four. Thus he has ten patients daily to look after. On his country trip he took medicines with him, by which he got access to the women and many families, who otherwise would have been beyond his reach. But with him, like the rest of us, there has been no conversions. It is by faith and love and hope we would work, though we see none joining us."

TRINIDAD.

1. PORT OF SPAIN.

Missionary, W. H. GAMBLE.

Number of members, 96.

2. San Fernando District.

Missionary, W. WILLIAMS.

Number of members, 443.

Mr. Gamble has forwarded the following report of the Trinidad Mission:—

"It is now more than eighteen years since I was called upon to take the oversight of the churches in the American settlement, and though there is no room to boast, there is good occasion to thank God for the considerable encouragement that has taken place during those years.

"In 1856 there was no school in any of the villages; now there are two Government Ward Schools, which would never have been built had not your missionary required their establishment. The one school at Indian-walk is so central that it meets the wants of all the villagers except the Fourth Company; and there we have succeeded in inducing the Government to establish another ward day-school.

"These schools are secular entirely; but the Wednesday is set apart for the religious instruction of the children by their pastors. This is attended to both on Wednesday and on the Sabbath. The American villages have, so to speak, been brought much nearer to San Fernando by reason of a tramway and passenger van running daily.

"Those who know what tropical rains are, and the nature of the rich alluvial soil of Trinidad, will easily imagine that in the wet season roads are in a deplorable state. Sometimes the rains are so heavy and continuous that all wheeled traffic is stopped, and only mules and crooks can plough through the deep mud. This state of matters, it is obvious, hinders very much our work. It isolates the people, empties the churches, hinders the holy observance of the Sabbath, and tends to settle down the people into a state of religious indifference. Still, though I thus speak, the roads do improve slightly, and are not so bad as they were eighteen years ago.

"Five of our chapels are within a radius of some four miles, but then distance has to be reckoned with us not by length, but by depth.

"Again, it may be fairly said that the villagers have much improved in several respects. The tone of morality, though not what one could desire, is certainly better than it was. Marriage, a rare thing when I first came to Trinidad, is now a very common occurrence.

"When I first knew the villages, I think there was one Sabbath-school, and now we have not much to boast of in this respect; still, there is a great improvement. The Church members and pastors understand that they ought to make efforts to instruct their children in the truths of God's Word; but even now there is not that desire for the religious teaching and training of the children that there should be. Many of the old customs and superstitions are dying out, and have but very slight hold upon the young people, though truth compels us to say that among the older ones superstitious and evil customs still linger.

"I have said that our people are fearless hunters, and just last month brother George Elliot, whom I had but shortly before baptized, fell a victim to his fearlessness. When work is slack on the estates, parties start for the woods and go in twenty miles and more. Here they put up a jonpa, or small tent of poles and carat-palm leaves, and spend the night. The next day with the dawn they start, gun or spear in hand, with their dogs, for the wild animals, the quenco, or lapo, or armadillo, or deer, or morocoi, in fact anything that may turn up, though they mainly seek the quenco and lapo. There were two others with George, and that day they were successful. They carried their game to their camp and commenced salting and smoking it. They slept. Next day two started, George and another, while the third remained at the jonpa to finish curing what they had taken. All went well till the afternoon, when a lapo was started. Phillip pursued and George came on behind. Presently the dogs captured the lapo, and Phillip not seeing his companion, called aloud, and again he called; at length the man at the camp returned the call. Now Philip thought this strange, and wondered why George, who was nearer, had not answered. He therefore retraced his steps, and in a short time came upon poor George Elliot stretched out on his face quite dead. He turned him over, but George was quite dead. Now the remaining two were soon together, and quickly settled that one must stay by the body and the other go to the village for help—for a hammock and men to bring out the body of poor George. A sad dreary watch of it must Philip have had, there alone with his friend's corpse; keeping up the fire, however, would help to pass the hours of the night. Next day help arrived, the body was taken home, and the coroner sent for. But such was the state of the body no post mortem could be made, so that it can never be known what caused his death. Whether heart disease, exhaustion, the bite of a snake, or what, cannot be known. George was much loved. He had been a good man all his life. I married him about eight years ago, but only baptized him at the first company this year.

"I do not deem it necessary to enter into minute details concerning each separate station as I have been accustomed to do in former reports, as there is but little change since last year. The pastors have laboured; the new chapel at the fifth company has made a good degree of progress; while an effort is being made to build another at Coryal, an out-station of the Fourth Company Church. During 1874, we have baptized forty-eight persons, married thirteen couples, asked the Lord's blessing upon many young children, and have consigned the remains of some to their last earthly resting-place.

"In Port of Spain, we have striven to preach the Gospel in the chapel, and for several weeks attempted to preach in the open-air. We were much encouraged by the numbers who attended, and by the most orderly conduct of the people. The only thing one seems to want is more strength. We are now holding a week of sources for prayer in accordance with the suggestions of the Evangelical Alliance, and most cheering they have been so far. The Rev. Mr. Brodie, Presbyterian minister, conducted the service in the Baptist chapel last evening, and a crowded meeting it was; the mission-house being almost emptied of chairs, and the ministers sitting on the side of the baptistery as they gave up their chairs to the congregation. We trust and believe that the divine blessing will rest upon us in answer to such united and fervent prayers."

The Rev. W. Williams arrived at his station early in this year, and has entered on his work with energy and with very encouraging prospects.

THE BAHAMAS.

I.—NORTHERN DISTRICT.

Missionary, J. DAVEY.

Number of members, 1,957.

Mr. Davey has furnished the following report:—

"The year 1874 has not closed with us quite as well as it began. The plans which were formed for allowing me greater time for visiting the out-island churches have been set aside by unforeseen circumstances. Moreover, unhappily, the colony still remains very poor, and emigration continues.

"In the early part of the year I visited, in connection with brother Hanna, the greater portion of the churches in his extensive district, and I was glad to find that at most of the settlements the people were growing in Christian knowledge, and were diligent in their attendance at religious services. At one of the stations on Great Abaco I found that a good congregation had been gathered, a Sunday-school established, and a chapel built, through the labours of an African brother, called Moosa Bootle. He is a good, simple-minded Christian, and, through the excellence of his character, has great influence over the people.

"After my return from that district, I visited San Salvador, the churches of which island continue to prosper under the pastoral care of Mr. Bannister. During the year they raised for his support the sum of £50 14s. 5d., and £36 17s. 6d. for other purposes. This is not so much as they are able to do, but is £1 3s. in advance of last year.

"On one or two of the other islands a little progress has also been made in the matter of finance, and every fresh visit to these islands convinces me that the churches are growing less and less in need of missionary superintendence.

"It may be desirable, for some years to come, to keep a missionary in Nassau, to whom the native teachers can look for counsel in seasons of difficulty, and who may in various ways render assistance to them.

"The Turks Islands, with which Puerto Plata is united, stands greatly in need of a missionary, though the churches, in consequence of poverty, can do nothing towards his support."

II.—CENTRAL DISTRICT.

Missionary, W. LITTLEWOOD.

Number of members, 618.

Mr. Littlewood writes as follows:—

"We have not had so much satisfaction in our work during the year as we could wish. The principal complaint is the low state of piety into which we have fallen; so great is the apathy, we seem to labour almost in vain. Many of our people have been obliged to leave the town for distant parts of the island, to cultivate the soil, which may eventually be of great service, but their absence at present is much felt. Eighteen members have left the island, most of whom will return when the salt season sets in.

"The congregations, notwithstanding, have often been fairly good, and the public collections exceed those of last year by a few pounds. The absence of so many members from town, it should be observed, is not a numerical loss to the Society; they either associate with other churches, or form new centres where they settle, enjoy the means of grace, and Sabbath-school and other religious privileges. We have now in Inagua six different places of worship. The result is, we have more workers in the cause, and upon the whole we have more reason for hope than despair.

"We have had some very fine heart-stirring meetings, and but for the shifting of so many and the failure of others, a goodly number baptized might be reported instead of twenty-three only, who have thus followed their Lord.

"Long Island is now divided into two districts, with a pastor for each. One of them was ordained by me some years since; the other I hope to ordain when I return to the island, at no distant period.

"Poverty, and the want of suitable means to support our brethren, the native pastors, is a great hindrance to the growth and prosperity of the Churches; but as this cannot be avoided, we try to do our best, and hope for better times. Yet I often fear that the worst has not yet been reached. In the meanwhile, a great effort is being made by the Ritualistic party in the Church to supersede us, and get the poor and ignorant under their control. In that event, they might as well be Roman Catholics or nothing at all, as they are in St. Domingo and Cuba. I must, however, confess that we have stood our ground fairly well.

"We were, in the early part of the year, visited by Mr. Bleby, senior superintendent of the Wesleyan Mission in the Bahamas. We were informed he had some idea of commencing a mission on Inagua. He spent a week or so here, and kindly took most of the public services for me, which were highly enjoyable, and I hope profitable.

"The Rev. W. N. Brown, from Jamaica, on his way to join Mr. Davey in Nassau, also visited us; and again on his return to Jamaica from Nassau, we enjoyed his company at the mission-house, and were delighted with his preaching. Such thorough humility, such pure sympathy with his Great Master, enforced with no ordinary talent, we have seldom witnessed. He has been most heartily received by those who appreciate and love him.

"I do hope we shall be able to make a little advance this year, but whether so or not our duty is clear, to be diligent 'in season and out of season,' 'to sow beside all waters,' encouraged by the thought, 'They that sow in tears shall reap in joy.'

"I wish you could suggest some way of obtaining a few suitable books for our native pastors. They are too poor to purchase. Would that some one would make them a small donation!"

The attempt to obtain a native missionary from Jamaica did not, from various causes, succeed; and the Committee have therefore cordially accepted the services of their English brother, the Rev. J. E. JAMAICA.

THE JAMAICA BAPTIST UNION.

Number of members, 24,846.

To the above should be added the members of two churches not yet connected with the Union, 1,350 in number, making the entire membership of the churches, which have sprung from the labours of the Society, 26,196.

The number of Churches in the Union is now 108, and they provide chapel accommodation for 57,286 individuals.

The twenty-fifth report furnishes us with the following facts:—

"In commencing the present report, we first note the provision which has been made for the "Security of Church Property."

"The churches of the Union are to be congratulated that by Law XIII. of 1874, effect has been given to a wish long entertained for the amalgamation of the trusts of the properties connected with the stations, and to render the settlement of mission property in the future more simple, and at the same time more secure. This law, called 'The Baptist Missionary Society's Trust Law, 1874,' will, it is believed, prevent in the future those disputes and contests in reference to the possession of mission property, which have sometimes occasioned great reproach and heart-burnings in the past.

"The year 1874 has been, in several respects, a trying one to the island and to the churches. The prevalence of small-pox and measles in many districts, during nearly the whole year, caused much affliction. The mortality has been very considerable, but will never be accurately known as there is no law in operation for the registration of births and deaths.

"The severe storm of wind and rain of the 31st October and 1st November, not only did much damage at the time, but it is feared will be followed by much distress; the growing crops having been largely injured or destroyed. Many thousands of pounds would not cover the damage done to houses, chapels, class and school-rooms, roads, bridges, shipping and crops, by this great storm.

"Epitome of Church Returns."

"Of the 110 churches included in the Union last year, one, John's Hall, has withdrawn; whilst two others, Rose Hill and Mount Moriah, have ceased to be given in as churches, and are returned as 'out-stations,' reducing the number of churches to 107.

"From 92 of these churches, returns, more or less perfect, have been received; from the remaining 15 churches no returns have come to hand.

"In 62 churches there have been an increase of 930; in 28 a decrease of 244 is reported; and in the remaining 2 churches the losses have balanced the gains.

"In 70 churches there have been baptisms, and in the remaining 27 no baptisms.

"The gains and losses in the whole reporting churches are:—

Additions: Baptized ...	1,356
Restored ...	623
Received ...	167
		2,146
Losses: Died	447
Excluded	701
Dismissed	94
Withdrawn ...	14
Erased	199
		1,455
Giving a clear increase of ...	691
Number of members reported ..	21,296
Estimated number not reported	3,550
Total of members	24,846
Number of inquirers reported ..	3,049
Estimated number not reported	508
Total of inquirers	3,557

"The number of marriages reported by 62 churches is 389, but there are no returns from the remaining 45.

"Building operations are reported as either in progress or preparations making for them, at 61 stations, indicating a growing interest amongst our people in the creation and preservation of Mission property. The Union Fund in aid of building and repairing chapels and mission-houses has exercised a healthy influence in this direction. The aid rendered from this fund to six stations this year amounts to £219 10s. 5d.

"The reports from thirty-nine stations mention their building projects as requiring £6,937 15s. 10½d., whilst they raised this year £1,149 11s. 1½d., showing a deficit of £5,788 4s. 9d.; but this is only an approximate estimate, as there is no uniformity in the method of stating the case; some including, and others excluding, the amounts raised, in stating their needs for building purposes.

"From nineteen other stations we have reported as raised for building £609 14s., but no statement of their requirements; and three stations report as required £870, but show nothing raised.

"From the whole of the returns, it appears that about £4,000 or £5,000 would suffice to put into tolerable repair existing buildings, and provide such as are immediately needed; and, as over £1,758 has been raised in the year just closed, there is good ground for believing that in the course of four or five years the Mission property will be adequate to the needs of the Mission, and most of it in good repair. This is matter for hearty congratulation.

"We turn to the state of the churches, as revealed by the written reports. As might be expected in so large a number of churches, spread over the whole island, great variety exists in their internal state. It is, however, very pleasing to find, in a great majority of these reports, expressions of thankfulness for present peace and of hope as to the future.

"In many of the churches of the Union there exists a state of things calling for gratitude to Almighty God, and inspiring hope. On the other hand, there are some reports of not only a less cheering character, but of a depressing tendency.

"In conclusion, it cannot be too strongly urged upon the churches of the Union, with their bishops, deacons, and helpers, that the position they have, by God's blessing, come to occupy, lays them, one and all, under weighty obligation to use their position and influence with increasing force for the temporal, and especially for the spiritual, benefit of the entire population of the island. They are privileged to hold important truths, and attend to scriptural ordinances which are lost sight of, or neglected, or perverted by the greater part of the Christian Church. There still remain much ignorance, superstition, and fanaticism, which can only be removed by the diffusion of Gospel truth. Drunkenness, uncleanness, and many other gross vices are indulged in, degrading to society and offensive to a holy God. These vices can only be eradicated by 'the blessing from on high' upon the faithful testimony, the holy activity and the consistent example of the Lord's people. The working power of the body has been considerably augmented; districts of the island, formerly beyond our reach, have been penetrated and occupied; opportunities for usefulness are multiplying on every hand; and it is not too much to say that the prospects at the present time are as encouraging and hopeful as they ever were in the past."

In the 121 day-schools attached to the congregations, there are on the registers 9,090 children; the average daily attendance being 5,138. The amount of £1,357 12s.

was received in fees from the scholars, and from the Government, £2,349 16s.

II.—KINGSTON.

CALABAR BAPTIST COLLEGE.

President, D. J. EAST.

Tutor, J. S. ROBERTS.

East Queen Street.....	} 411
Rose Hill

The Rev. D. J. East has kindly forwarded the following statement with reference to last year:—

“For two and twenty years the most pleasant duty at the close of each has been to write my annual letter to you. I have almost uniformly had to speak of blessings abounding towards us, and resting upon our labours. This twenty-third year will ever be looked back upon as a year of severe trial, during which I have been exercised with great and sore troubles. Our correspondence has been so frequent that I need not enter into details. I will rather give expression to my earnest hope that obstructions to the progress and prosperity of our work may be speedily removed, and that the institution may be permitted to enter on a new career of enlarged prosperity and usefulness. There have been under training for teachers in the Normal School department nine young men; in the theological, six preparing for the work of the Christian ministry. Of these, eight have completed their term of residence. The institution has thus been favoured to send forth during the year four schoolmasters, and four ministers of the Gospel. The Normal School students have all found schools. Indeed, there has been much contention among school managers to secure their services. One theological student has become located as a Home Missionary at Clonmel in St. Mary's, another has taken charge of the church at Maldon, recently under our venerable brother Dendy; another is about to be stationed in St. David's, and the other in St. Andrew's.

“At the commencement of the year there was every prospect of filling up the vacancies occasioned by these removals. Five candidates for the Normal School successfully passed the examination required, and intimation has been received of several others intending to apply. Of the candidates for the theological institution, one of the most promising, alas! has failed in character; another has from some cause been discouraged from following up his application; the third, a most eligible young man has been kept all the year waiting for admission; a fourth, strongly recommended by his pastor and the church of which he is a member, has been declined, and church and minister are now pressing to know the cause. Two others have applied; and others are waiting to do so. It is not, therefore, for the lack of young men of promise wishing to prepare themselves for Christian service that the institution is not full. The way, I trust, will soon be open for all who prove themselves worthy. May the Lord of the harvest thrust the labourers into the field, and Himself fit them for His work! The studies of the young men have been pursued with accustomed diligence. But the usual examinations have not been held, through the circumstances adverted to.

“Three and twenty years ago I entered on my work under the solemn conviction that I was obeying that Voice which I was under supreme obligation to obey, and that conviction through all these years has never been shaken. And until I hear that Voice as distinctly commanding me to give up my work, I hope never, whatever its difficulties and discouragements, to relinquish it.

“Of the College Schools under the superintendence of Mr. Roberts, I need not say much. The day school has been under Government inspection. It obtained 48 marks, or 86 per cent. of the first class, and a grant of £32 1s. The number of scholars on the books for the year has been 62 boys and 54 girls, making a total of 116; the average attendance being 55, the highest 81. The high school has maintained its character. But both schools have been fearfully affected by the prevailing epidemics — smallpox and measles. At times the school was almost emptied for weeks. For instance, during the month of September thirty-six scholars were suffering from smallpox, and during October forty-six were down with measles. The mortality also has been very great.

"The work of the church at East Queen Street and the branch station at Rose Hill has continued to enjoy much of the Divine blessing. The epidemics which have raged in Kingston have also extended to the neighbouring parish. At one time smallpox became so great a scourge, and all classes became so alarmed, that meetings for special prayer were held in all Christian congregations. In the midst of these diseases we were visited with unusual rains, which continued almost without intermission from the first day of August till the end of November. Then a fearful hurricane swept over many parts of the island. Fearful havoc was made amongst the smaller vessels in Kingston harbour, while, as former letters have informed you, the provisions in the neighbouring mountains suffered to a very painful extent. In this hurricane it was that our mountain chapel at Rose Hill, which had been framed on a stone foundation and completely shingled, was brought to the ground.

"You will easily see, therefore, with how many difficulties our church work has had to contend. The rains and the sickness have combined seriously to affect attendance both on public worship and at school. Several Sundays it was hardly possible to hold service at all; one Sunday night not a single church or chapel was open throughout Kingston. Our Sabbath-schools have suffered greatly, and have hardly yet recovered from the effects.

"Yet amidst all, the good work has gone on. Between forty and fifty have been added to the church, over thirty of these by baptism; and amongst them I have had the happiness of baptizing my own youngest daughter, and to rejoice in the conviction that all our beloved children are one in Christ Jesus. Many of the services of the year have been attended by crowded congregations, and a spirit of inquiry has been awakened in the hearts of numbers. The inquirers' classes were never more encouraging, and have numbered from fifty to eighty during the year.

"With much therefore to cast us down, you will see there has also been much to cheer and solace us; and we look forward to another year with trustfulness and hope."

As Mr. Rees is supported by the fund raised in this country, in order to extend the influence of the Gospel to destitute parts of the island, he has kindly furnished us with the following report of his labours:—

"Everything is very encouraging at both stations, we intend to finish Santa Cruz Chapel and have an opening service on the 1st August.

"The work on Wallingford Chapel is progressing, and we hope by August to have the roof on, and be able to worship in it. The congregation still continues large. Last Sunday over 100 people were outside, and the chapel was crowded. During the service a heavy shower of rain fell; the people were obliged to come into the chapel, and the chapel being in such a state that it was very uncomfortable, I was obliged to leave off preaching, and some time was spent in singing."

IV.—MANDEVILLE.

Missionary, P. WILLIAMS.

Number of members, 189.

The following is the report of Mr. Williams, who is supported by the same fund as Mr. Rees :—

"The report for the year may be summed up in very few words. In the absence of specially interesting circumstances in individual cases of conversion, there is little to write about, except the usual work of preaching the gospel, generally in the same districts as those named in former reports. The station work at Mandeville and at Zion Hill has been regularly attended to; and there is a net increase of five in each of the churches. Several candidates are now waiting to be baptized and united to the church of Christ; but having no water, the administration of the ordinance must be deferred for some time. The nearest stream to Mandeville is thirteen miles away. The building of the mission-house at Mandeville has been delayed for several weeks for want of workmen; but we hope soon to begin again and go on uninterrupted until the greater part of the work is done. I am very thankful to state that the chapel at Zion Hill is now complete. We have arranged to have public services to celebrate its completion on the 15th, 17th, and 19th of the present month. We anticipate pleasant and profitable meetings. May there be signs of the Divine Presence amongst us on the occasion; and may these stimulate us to unwearying endeavours in His blessed service! The financial state of the churches for the past year is very pleasing. After paying all current expenses, with special expenses incurred by repairing and painting Mandeville Chapel, there is a balance of £12 3s. 7½d., which I am instructed by the committee here to appropriate to building purposes. The receipts, including a grant in aid of building from the Jamaica Baptist Union of £21 13s., and a few other private donations, amount to £230 16s., being an average of £1 4s. 5d. per member. A good portion of my time, especially during the latter part of the year, has necessarily been given to the superintendence of building operations. And I shall still have a good deal to do in this respect, as we hope, in addition to the house we are now building in Mandeville, to erect a small missionary residence at Zion Hill. Such a residence is much needed, and will, when built, no doubt add to the ease and effectiveness of the work of evangelisation in the district. I trust that these material parts of our work will not much interfere with spiritual effort, or retard spiritual progress."

The presence of Mr. Saker in this country during a large part of the year, and his recent return, have prevented the preparation of a report of the station under his charge. He has been joined by the Rev. George Grenfell, and from a recent letter we take the following account of the impressions made on his mind on his arrival :—

"The knowledge of English that prevails renders the field for my immediate labours not by any means a narrow one. The mission-educated people all understand English in such a manner as that I am able to render myself intelligible to them at the services we hold every evening and twice on Sunday, as well as at two Bible classes that I meet.

"We have commenced a school for the young men; this also occupies me for two hours daily. So that altogether I am at once, as it were, brought into contact with many of the people. I hope this contact may soon be of a closer character, from the fact of my having acquired their language.

"The contrast between the mission-educated and the town people is very striking, and would go far to satisfy a man as a reward for his labours, even though there were not other and more blessed results than the education of the mind.

"There is a very striking evidence of the value of the Society's labours here, in the fact that when a palaver is held, he against whom the decision is given often refuses to accept the verdict unless our native pastor or one of the deacons is in the majority. The knowledge that an adverse decision, if not endorsed by some of our people, will be appealed against, renders the palaver council especially attentive to the opinions of Christians. Culprits have great faith in the uprightness of our officers, and feel sure that their judgment will be tempered with mercy. In such a place as this, where there is no established law or order, such testimony speaks volumes for the power for good that the church possesses.

"The quarrel between traders and natives is still rife. No native may go on board ship, or white man come ashore. Mission premises, however, are neutral ground, and on Sundays we get the Europeans among our congregation as usual."

The Rev. J. Fuller has forwarded the following report from Mortonville :—

"During the past year God has been pleased greatly to bless our feeble efforts, and to seal them with His Spirit's presence, so that we baptized six persons, and the inquirers' class increased to twenty. The congregation has been trebled, and the attention with which they have listened to the Gospel is encouraging. This interest is not only noticed amongst the people in general; but among the chiefs and head-men of this town there has been a marked interest, one of whom has now joined the church.

"The Sabbath and day-schools have been well attended, and a strong desire for a school and preaching-station in the back of the town awakened, so that at present everything shows that the Master's presence is with us.

"The enemy has not been asleep through all this marked change that is going on, but rather seemed to have roused the malice of the enemy of the Cross.

"On New Year's day we baptized and received four persons, but, on leaving the chapel for the water-side, our people were marching arm-in-arm with the candidates, singing the simple piece in Dualla, 'Come to Jesus just now,' when we noticed a set of men with their war-caps on, headed by the mother of one of the young men. As soon as we came out of the chapel-yard, our young friend, Daniel Tameh, was seized by one of his brothers; the member who was walking with him held up his hands, telling him to be quiet, but he was dragged away by another, and, with a hatchet, the clothes were slit down the back and torn off him, and he was taken up and carried off into the town. I suppose they thought we would resist their attempt to carry him off, but seeing we did not, they, I believe, felt a little ashamed of their folly; all the old woman could say was, that she would never allow her son to Ko Madiba ma Loba (fall in God water). In the town they used all their superstition to try and intimidate the young man, but to no purpose: he calmly waited till they had done, and then walked off to the chapel. He was followed and carried off again, but they soon found out it was to no purpose, so they poured out their imprecations on me, and so he was left alone. Our only prayer is, that he may continue faithful to the end. But we do not believe that this will be the only one; for, from the circumstances of several of those in the inquirers' class, we fear we shall have this year some trials: at the same time, I believe it will be for the good of the cause, as it will stir up a spirit of earnestness and prayer.

"My itinerating has been confined chiefly to the river, as there has been so much falling on me alone; but now that my chapel is finished, and other missionaries are likely to be in the river, I hope to make some tour up the country."

From the new station in the mountain, the Rev. Q. W. Thomson sends the following report:—

"When we commenced work here, and as soon as those who had been engaged in erecting the house left, I was alone amongst a strange people, whose language I did not understand. Not a single word of English was known or understood, and it was only through the Dualla, aided by gesture, that I could hold the simplest intercourse with the people. Under such circumstances, there was very little to be done by preaching or itinerating, and that which commended itself to my judgment as the best mode of procedure was to concentrate my attention on the people immediately around the house, and work persistently on them until an impression had been made, or until they had become acquainted with the object of our life. And as the readiest and best way of getting to understand the people, and they to understand me, I did what is so much decried, and made the school, small and insignificant, my chief labour; and no one need wish for more laborious and tedious work than teaching a school, no child or youth in which had ever seen a letter or handled a book before, the language taught being quite new to them, and their language unknown to the teacher. The words for 'I know' and 'I do not know' or 'understand,' are the same in the Dualla as in the Bakwilli. This was a fortunate circumstance, as we could thus always ascertain if we were understood. With that most important foundation we struggled on, making many mistakes, but finding out that they were mistakes, which was a great step towards having them corrected. From the first we have attempted to preach the Gospel, although we felt that for some time it was an attempt only. The people, we were confident, did not and could not understand what we were trying to say; and although now we do not profess any great knowledge of the Bakwilli, we can talk on common matters so as to be understood by strangers, and can tell a little of the Gospel so as to make it understood by those who are not accustomed to associate with us, while to those who come to school we can by the Bakwilli language convey our meaning on any subject in the Scriptures, or otherwise, not always directly, but by repetition and explanation, so that already the boys and youths of the school can act as interpreters for us to others. They could not interpret for an English speaker as yet, for they do not understand the meaning of the English they read, but they strive to understand, and they are getting on.

"The whole of our work is foundation work—rough clearing of the forest, so to speak—making advances that we see, but so far gathering in no fruit; nor is there indeed the appearance of any. We can only judge by God's Word, the experience of history, and analogy, and believe that as a certain effect has been known to follow a certain cause hitherto, so it will be here. It is ours to put the cause in operation, leaving God to bring about the effect. I have no doubt of the result.

"The people are friendly, and glad to have any intercourse with us, and one would naturally have supposed they would like to hear about God, and know what was in this Book that God had given to us, if it were only from sheer curiosity, but it is not so. As a whole, the people resist most persistently all attempts to bring them within the sound of God's Word. They will come for medicine before the time of meeting, and wait in some house until meeting is over, rather than come in. Some, who consider themselves more especially our friends, hold out against all entreaty, and will not set foot within God's house.

"Since we came here there has been a marked difference in the disposition of the people towards us. At first we were strangers, and the people were wary of us, they fought shy of our approaches to friendliness, being suspicious of our motives. Now we are friends, and the confidence displayed in us by all is something remarkable. They believe our word—and among a people who take it quite for granted that a man should lie and cheat, this is no small matter.

"Throughout the year just closed, there has been an increasing demand for medicines, and I have often had to regret that a knowledge of the practice of medicine combined with surgery had not been amongst my qualifications. It is a stimulating thought that in saving one person from death by disease you are probably saving one or more from death by violence. The belief in witchcraft is the great blot—the natural curse of these people; the death of one nearly always ensures the death of another at least. It is frightful! the frequency with which we hear of one, and another, and another dying for witchcraft. I saw one poor woman tried by the test and found guilty; and, used as I have been for years to scenes of barbarity and bloodshed, that horrible cold-blooded murder stands out alone in its awfulness, and if on no other account than that the people may be enlightened, I should wage a war with disease of all kinds to the utmost of my strength and ability. Here, at all events, medical knowledge is a mighty handmaid to the Gospel of Christ. I know of two or three persons who have been greatly softened by our assistance to them in illness. One man was very suspicious at first and would not have medicine for long; ultimately he yielded; his wife, child and himself were cured of various ailments and wounds, and now every Lord's-day morning he ventures into God's house.

"During the year I visited the higher Bakwilli towns northward; my intention was to go a little way into the interior and see how the land lay. To my great regret we could not get beyond the highest Bevea town, as the people beyond were at war with a people close to Bevea, the result of which was no person dared accompany us as guide; even those who had nothing to do with the palaver were afraid, as the custom prevails here when you cannot see the person or persons you are at war with, you kill some one else, and so, as they say, pass the palaver on to some one else. We found Bevea and Sappo to be each the name of a district, comprising several small towns or villages. There is ample room for the extensive use of native missionaries or teachers, but for that we must wait until converts are made and trained.

"At Bevea the people were delighted to talk of Mr. Meyrick's visit, which must have been well on to thirty years ago. Mr. Meyrick's dream of the establishment of a station at Bevea and Sappo, while it is in a fair way of being carried out, must stand in abeyance awhile longer until God has given us the converts to place there."

Mr. Jenkins has forwarded the following report :—

"In looking retrospectively at the year which has just closed, I cannot but feel that although there is much ground for deep sorrow, when we think of the worldliness and spiritual indifference of the great mass of the people, and of the little we have been enabled to accomplish compared with what has to be done, yet we have good reason to rejoice for the present, and to look with hope and cheerfulness towards the future.

"The work of evangelisation, which has Morlaix for its centre, is carried on simultaneously among the French population in the town; the working class, which chiefly speak Breton; and in the rural district, where the latter language alone is used.

"With reference to the French part of the work, there is not much that is new to be said. Our services have, as in the past, been held regularly at the chapel, Rev. Mr. Bouhon having kindly supplied my pulpit during my visit to Wales in the course of the year. The members of the church, and the French Protestants who reside in our town, have not failed in their attendance; but what has pleased us most has been to see the few Roman Catholics, who began to attend last year, remain steadfast. Of these we only miss two; a young and promising girl, who has since her marriage with a bigoted man, ceased to attend, he having threatened her if she continued coming. The other is the Abbé C—, who has united with the Old Catholics in Geneva, and taken a prominent position in their midst. He has not ceased, for all that, corresponding in a very friendly manner with us, and I was glad to read in the papers lately, that while resisting the Romanising tendencies of Father Hyacinthe, he strongly claimed the Scriptures as the sole rule of faith of the Church. Some other Roman Catholics have since taken the place of these friends and increased our congregation. One of these some time ago refused to have his child sprinkled in the Church of Rome, and with great courage bore, on that account, a good deal of petty persecution from his family and friends. Two months afterwards the child died, and he asked me to perform the burial service, which I did. A large number of people accompanied us to the burying-ground, and I trust the few solemn words which were uttered may have left on some a lasting impression. A young man, and a retired douanier, are also interesting Catholic members of the congregation. On Saturdays, which is our market-day, the chapel has been kept open, and to many have words of exhortation been addressed and tracts given. Drawn by curiosity, or by the sound of the singing, many outsiders have also dropped in during the services and often remained till the close. Let us hope that He, who has promised that His Word shall not return empty, will cause it to spring forth, in His own time, in those who have thus listened to it.

"The work which is carried on at the Madeleine, a suburb of our town, has been, as it was last year, an interesting and important feature of the mission at Morlaix. Here an effort was made last year to establish meeting in a private house, in the hope that the Breton working-class, for which our French services are practically useless, might thus be reached. From the first these meetings have been promising, and have, we are thankful to say, continued so this year, the people having assembled on Sabbath evenings with a regularity and liveliness which have astonished me, accustomed as I am to religious apathy. They are held in a large room on the second floor of a house, where Omnes, our aged colporteur resides. This brother employs his Sabbath afternoons in going from house to house, and inviting the people to come; and he generally succeeds in filling his room, which can hold from fifty to sixty persons. Sometimes—as last Sabbath, for instance—the number of hearers is considerably larger, in which case the next room on the same floor is opened, from which the people can hear with ease. In this instance, I should think that no less than a hundred sat quietly for about an hour, listening, with marked interest, to an exposition of God's free love and free salvation, from John iii. 16.

"Those that come to these meetings are not confined to the Madeleine, many coming from Morlaix in the dark, and sometimes through bad weather, thus showing the interest they take in them. The people listen, as a rule, with attention and evident pleasure. Among those who attend there are some interesting cases; one man especially is an example of the attractive power of the Word. Though old and bent with infirmity, so as to be unable to walk without pain and without help, he never misses a meeting; he comes leaning on a little boy's shoulder, and is invariably found in his place. 'One can feel,' he told me, the other day, with a shake of the head, 'when it is God that speaks and when man; there is a wide difference between the two. I never heard the priests utter such words. Be sure that I'll come to the meetings as long as I can do so.'

"Our work has not been confined to the town at Morlaix. Meetings for preaching purposes have been held in such places as appeared favourable in the rural district. The most interesting of these are, Counire and Gurnu-hael, near Guingamp; Ar Pep aux Kerlovet, near Sigrinar; Coat-Ven and Lanleia, near Lanmeur; and Plimel, near Plougasnon. At Penzanet, Caer-Brad, and Menez-Goarem, I have also preached during the year; but through friends leaving, or people's disposition not being so agreeable as formerly, we have abandoned these places for the present. At the Peyr I have preached two or three times in the open air, and have always enjoyed these services, as the people seemed so delighted. At Gurnuhuel and Counire especially, I have held most interesting meetings on two or three different occasions, as many as a hundred persons coming together to hear me preach, and expressing warmly their approval of what they had heard. After these meetings, tracts have been distributed and eagerly accepted. This part of the work has afforded me a great deal of encouragement. Localities differ, of course, widely in their dispositions towards us; but, as a whole, the people are willing and glad to hear what you have to say, and are not, generally speaking, so prejudiced as to be insensible to sound reasoning.

"In connection with the work in Brittany, I cannot but mention the visit which Mr. Pointet with his 'Voiture Biblique' paid to our town in the course of July. He had come to Brittany, he told me, almost against the wishes of his Committee, who thought his visit would prove fruitless; he had, on the contrary, been agreeably surprised to find that our Breton population, almost world-famed for its ignorance and bigotry, were even better disposed than the population of the south of France. As soon as he offered his books, the people knew what they were, which he could only account for, he said, by the fact that the country had been well worked. A hundred Breton New Testaments which he took from our dépôt, he soon disposed of. From April 1st to August 1st, 1873, travelling through Ille and Vilaine, Cotes du Nord, and part of Finistere, he had sold and distributed 32 Bibles, 2,195 New Testaments, 14,966 Gospels, 905 almanacs, and 2,505 tracts and pictures. He was at Guingamp during the pilgrimage in which the Bishop of Orleans took the lead, and that day sold one hundred copies of the Scriptures.

"St. Jean, which derives its name from its patron saint, John the Baptist (one of whose fingers is here kept as a sacred relic, which has the gift of working miracles by curing all diseases of the eyes, and even restoring the blind), is surrounded by a population which is known for its strong attachment to Romanism. Mary Barazer and two other women were so terribly persecuted in a neighbouring village, when they left the Church of Rome, that they were obliged to leave the place altogether. No books could be sold here and no meeting had ever been attempted. Knowing all this, I expected a good deal of trouble; but as is often the case in doing God's work, where we expect mountains we find plains and valleys. I soon learnt that there existed here a feud between the two priests of the parish and the people, who were very bitter against them on account of their overbearing mode of acting. I thus found at once a good number of people disposed to listen to what I had to say. As to priests, I have met a very general opinion, that they are tyrants, and destroying the religion they helped to establish. That there are numerous abuses is readily conceded, as well as the need of returning to the source of all true light, Christ Jesus. Strange to say there is here, as in many parts of Brittany a notion that Protestants have a better and clearer creed, and that they will ultimately prevail. At the same time, I have met with wonderful instances of ignorance. Thus I have seriously been asked by many, if it was not true that we confessed our sins in some hole of a wall, closed it up afterwards, and imagined that our sins remained shut up there: whether it was true that we were bound by marriage ties; whether we believed in God at all, and that the Virgin Mary could be mother and virgin at the same time, &c.; and when I explained to them our belief about these things, they were quite surprised, and exclaimed, 'Oh, if that is the case, there is no difference between us and you; you are Christians just as we are.'

"In all those farms and houses where I can form a pretext to go to, I do so, and talk with the people, and I have found them very civil. A woman was so taken up with what I said to her, that although she could not read herself, she bought a New Testament from me, saying, 'This one at least shall not be burned by the priest.' Another man asked me to lend him a copy of the Scriptures, which I did. He seemed so interested in the matter, that I asked him if he thought some would come if I had a meeting in my house. He said he thought so, and with his help, at a short moment's notice, fifteen persons gathered when darkness had set in, whom I addressed from John xiv. 5. They came at seven, and remained till nine, talking about religious matters. When these had gone five young men came, who said they were sorry they had not come in time for the meeting, but wished to talk with me. I soon found out that they had come less to be enlightened than to put objections to me. To these I answered so as to disarm two of them, who said I was evidently in the right, and turned against the chief spokesman, who by-and-by good-humouredly gave in. A good feeling prevailed, and they all left, giving me a hearty shake of the hand. The two priests of the parish have been somewhat anxious since my arrival, and have given hints from the pulpit that there is but one God and one religion, the curate adding, as I was told last Sunday, that he had a mind to say many things, but would refrain, as they would be sure to go and report. Being told by a person that I would not dare go and hear mass in the church, I went to the midnight service on Christmas eve, which considerably astonished those present. These two gentlemen have only to return the compliment, as what I have to say I would be pleased to say in their presence."

From Mr. Lecoat we learn that Divine service is regularly maintained in the chapel at Tremel, the attendance often varying from 60 to 100 persons. A great change has come over the Breton people, less attention and respect being shown to the priests than in former days. There are also many, who, like Nicodemus, secretly cherish the truth.

Although the children are Roman Catholics, a considerable number attend both the day and Sunday-schools, and are regularly taught portions of Holy Scripture. At the annual fete great numbers of persons were present with the children. In all 206 children receive instruction on week days, and 112 usually attend on the Lord's day. Besides Tremel, Mr. Lecoat visits nine stations, at least once a month, and he reports that there are 42 persons on the list of inquirers.

Small churches exist in several other places, presided over by brethren more or less supported from local resources. Mr. Hubert gives the following general account of the work in Bergen :—

"The Lord has brought us through the year, and we have had our share of discouragement and encouragement, disappointments and hopes realised, sorrow and joys. We have had an increase of but three members, owing to several of our members having removed to other places, and also, too, that we have been obliged to exclude some members for immoral conduct.

"Our meetings have been tolerably well attended, and our services have been very regular—two on the Lord's day, one in the week for preaching, one prayer-meeting, and one Bible-class with the Sunday teachers. In May I took a journey to Trondhjem, and Levanger, where I had several very well-attended meetings; and the result of this journey was that eight or ten precious souls were added to the churches, and the friends refreshed as well, as I myself felt encouraged by it. Brother Swenson remained here at Bergen during my absence. At my arrival home from Trondhjem, the first days of June, he left for Christiania, visiting many places on his route, where he had the privilege of holding meetings.

"Brother Swenson and I, after remaining a day or two at Krageroe, went to Skien, to the annual association meeting of Southern Baptist churches of Norway, which Convention lasted for two days. After an urgent call from all the brethren present, I accepted the honour they showed me of choosing or electing me as chairman or moderator during the Convention; and we all had a very delightful and profitable time. Our greatest inconvenience was that our room was too little, and the heat oppressive; nevertheless, we all felt it good to be there. The Saturday was spent in a prayer-meeting in the forenoon, and the afternoon in receiving letters and reports from the different churches. Sunday morning, from nine to ten, we had a prayer-meeting; and from ten to half-past eleven a service. Brother Swenson preached. Both days we had our dinner together, provided by the friends at Skien. In the afternoon we had a very earnest and lively discussion about the Lord's work in Norway, and the best method or way to make it progressive. In the evening, from five till half-past six, a regular service, the humble writer the preacher; after which, we had the Lord's Supper, and remained together till after nine, with prayer, praise, and thanksgiving; and when we separated, we felt like the Psalmist must have felt when he wrote the beautiful 133rd Psalm. From Skien I went back to Krageroe and Arendal, and other places, back to Krageroe, where the Lord, in his gracious Providence, let me meet with Rev. C. Bailhache and Dr. Cowdy; after which, I followed them, trying to do my best in interpreting the many precious words which fell from their lips during their all too short a stay with us. Since they left I have remained at Bergen, things going on as usual. During Christmas-time our meetings, which are more numerous than any other time of the year, were mostly well attended. New Year's night, from eleven to one, our chapel was crowded, but our meeting was not so edifying as that of last year, owing to some poor drunkards coming in, trying to make a disturbance; but they soon left us in peace."

As Mr. Sandstedt is about to enter college, Mr. Sjødahl will take his place at Trondhjem. He writes as follows :—

"It is not so easy to write a report of labours lately begun, as I scarcely, in such a short time as I have been here, am able to get a correct judgment of it, but what I found at the beginning has ever since convinced me that I found myself in the midst of a great spiritual wilderness and dearth. The people seem to be bound down with bonds of prejudice and indifference; this state of mind being fed and nourished by the intolerant priests; the prejudice by their incessant cry that we are heretics, &c., and their indifference by the doctrine of baptismal regeneration, and consequently that they belong to the Christian church.

"My labours here began on the 15th October, and since that time I have preached twice every Lord's day and once in the week, besides having met together for prayer, Bible classes, and mutual edification. I have tried to make acquaintance with other families in the town, and in particular I have become intimate with a few families who belong to the Möhrish brethren. In my travels to Levanger (where I been several times, and it seems that the Word of God would make progress if we had opportunity to labour more there), I have tried to preach Christ and Him crucified amongst the passengers on the steamers. I had a lecture once (Reasons why I left the State-church) and since that time our congregation has increased so that several times it has amounted to 70 or 80 persons."

Mr. Swenson has favoured us with the following report:—

"The first quarter of the year I lived at Christiania. I preached three times a week. Besides, I held a Sunday school, and instructed in singing twice a week. I meanwhile made some trips to the environs of the city, for preaching of the Gospel.

"At the request of Mr. Hübert, I departed on the 29th of April for Bergen. During my stay there I preached thrice a week in the chapel Ebenezer. Twice a week I instructed in singing, and an evening in the week I brought together the Sunday-school teachers, and looked over the texts intended to be used on the following Lord's day.

"I felt very happy among God's people at Bergen. I saw there what I have not seen before in Norway—a well-regulated activity, and it is what we need in every church in Norway. We want in our churches preachers and pastors who have time to devote themselves entirely to the labours of God's vineyard.

"Mr. Hübert having returned from Trondhjem, I left Bergen on Friday, the 5th June, for Stavanger, where I preached several times in a room belonging to one of our brethren, and once in the house of the Total Abstinence Association. The attendance was good in that house.

"On Tuesday, the 16th June, I departed for Flokkfjord, and having arrived at this little town, I went, by rowing, to an island, by name Hitteron, seven miles off from Flokkfjord. I had hope to get a Lutheran mission house, but when they had made out that I was a Baptist, I was not admitted to preach in it. A door was, however, opened for me, and I had several services. Several persons were anxious about their sins, and were longing for peace with God. The last evening I preached was the most remarkable one I experienced in Norway. It seemed as if the Lord was calling on every heart by His presence. I felt sad, because I must so quickly depart from that field. In the meanwhile, I visited a hamlet among the mountains, on the mainland. I found there three baptized sisters in the Lord. They were very happy to get a visit of a preacher. They were glad in God. At our meetings God was in the midst of us. A few souls were moved by the Word of God.

"The next day I left Flekkefjord, and in company with Mr. Hübert, who came from Bergen, I pursued my journey by steamer. Having on the way rested at Krageroe one day, we arrived at Skien on the 26th of June. We assisted at an annual meeting of our district association in the south-east of Norway.

"In company with Messrs. Hübert and Klargvist, I preached in the open air at Langesund, and then I departed alone for Laurvig.

"I stayed among the friends there six days. I hope that my visit will not be in vain. A Sunday school was established, and a brother in our little church undertook teaching in it.

"At Christiania I began to preach in a room which a few friends had rented before my coming, and was engaged in my work in this town to the beginning of October, taking, now and then, some trips to the environs.

"On Wednesday, the 7th of October, I set out for several of our stations on the east coast, viz., Moss, Laurvig, Langesund, Brevig, Skien, Melum, Krageroe, Rissoer, and Arendal. I had, on that journey, cheering experiences.

"Having arrived at Christiania again, on Thursday, the 26th of December I started for Eidsvold, where I remained till four days before Christmas. At Christmas we had our meetings in a dwelling belonging to one of our brethren, and in some small rooms in the suburbs of Christiania, because we could not get any locality for services before the New Year's day."

APPENDIX—No. I.

MINUTE ON THE BIBLICAL LABOURS OF THE REV. DR. WENGER.

The Rev. John Wenger was born August 31st, 1811, in a village of the Canton of Berne, Switzerland. The loss of his father, in 1816, threw him on the kindness of relatives for his education, which was generously and efficiently provided for, so that he was able, in April, 1827, successfully to pass the Matriculation Examination preparatory to his studies for the ministry of the National Church. In 1830 he passed another, corresponding to the English or Scotch B.A. Examination; and in the summer of 1833, one which would have terminated in his ordination. Invariably first in his class, these examinations afforded most satisfactory proof of the industry and attainments of the future translator of the Word of God.

Mr. Wenger became the subject of Divine grace in April, 1828, and very soon discovered that he could not conscientiously enter the service of the Swiss National Church. He was led to see that an Established Church which practised infant baptism could not possibly exercise a Scriptural discipline, and that, consequently, infant baptism must be wrong. This result was most distressing to all who had been interested in his welfare. He now, therefore, accepted the offer of a tutorship in the family of the late Rev. H. D. Leeves, the Bible Society's agent in Greece, living first in the island of Syra, and afterwards, for a year and a half, at Athens. In the spring of 1838 this engagement terminated, and Mr. Wenger came to England. Here he became acquainted with the late Rev. John Dyer, and, through him, with Dr. Steane, W. B. Gurney, Esq., and others, which resulted in his being baptized by Dr. Steane, at Camberwell, in February, 1839.

In June of the same year, the Rev. Dr., then Mr., Wenger, entered on the missionary life, and, on arriving in India, immediately joined the Rev. Dr. Yates in the work of translating the Holy Scriptures. Dr. Yates had for some years, with the assistance of the Rev. W. H. Pearce, been engaged in preparing a new version of the entire Scriptures in Bengali, the New Testament having been published in 1833, and reprinted, with numerous alterations, in 1837 and 1839. His object is stated to have been "to produce an idiomatic translation, which should be as good Bengali as the English version is good English." This effort was an improvement on the previous labours of the eminent Dr. Carey, and became the foundation of all the subsequent editions which have issued from the Calcutta Mission Press under the care of Dr. Wenger and his colleagues in this great work. At the time of Dr. Wenger's arrival in Calcutta, Dr. Yates was about to commit the version of the Old Testament to the press, and Dr. Wenger's first task was the preliminary preparation of a list of Scripture names in English, Hebrew or Greek, and Bengali, to secure correctness and uniformity of spelling. This was ready in February, 1840; and shortly before the close of 1845, a few months after Dr. Yates's death, the entire Bible was finished at press. On this edition the labours of Dr. Wenger had been very considerable, most of the alterations in the New Testament were made at his suggestion, and great pains were conjointly bestowed by the two fellow-labourers on the revision of the whole volume as it went through the press. The bulk of the edition was printed in royal octavo; the text was arranged in paragraphs, and the verses were indicated in the margin. A selection of parallel passages was added by Dr. Wenger, and marginal readings were placed by Dr. Yates at the foot of the page. The chronological table appended at the end of the volume was drawn up by Dr. Wenger.

For some years, as often as necessary, the New Testament, in whole or in part, and select books of the Old, were reprinted from this edition, with very few alterations, both for the use of the Society's missionaries and for the Calcutta Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society. When the edition was nearly exhausted, the criticisms to which the New Testament was exposed led Dr. Wenger to resolve on producing an improved edition of the entire Bible. This was issued in 1852. The thorough revision the version then received appears to have discouraged attempts which until then had been made to supersede the version among the Christian communities of Bengal; and since that time the version has enjoyed, with few exceptions, the general support of missionaries of every denomination. This edition of 1852 was finished at press in September of that year. It cost a vast amount of labour; many sections of the Epistles were translated anew in order to avoid that transposition of clauses which was a feature much objected to in Dr. Yates's translation. The edition was published without references or marginal readings. Separate editions of the New Testament were issued in 1841, 1846, 1849, and 1854, and at various times large editions of single gospels and the Acts, and suitable portions of the Old Testament. A third edition of the entire Bible, in which the historical books, and, indeed, the entire text of the Old Testament, again underwent a thorough and careful revision, was begun in 1855, and was finally completed in 1861. When the Old Testament was printed off, Dr. Wenger came to England for his health, so that the New Testament was only subjected to a cursory revision.

On his return to India in 1862, with a view to render the Word of God still more useful to the population of India, and especially to the rapidly-increasing Christian community, the Committee requested Dr. Wenger to prepare an annotated edition of the Bengali Scriptures. While this important work was in preparation, several editions of the New Testament were issued, and in 1867 the fourth edition of the entire Bible left the press. This was printed in small type, and formed a handy octavo volume. The text differed very little from that of the third edition.

But the time was now come in which the progress of the language and other circumstances rendered it necessary that a further effort should be made to prepare an edition fitted to meet every objection, and to bring up the version to the requirements of the day. From this new task Dr. Wenger did not shrink. "The task," he said, "is great and difficult; but it must be attempted. I confess that I cannot conceive of a nobler task being assigned to a sinful man than this, to prepare a version at once faithful and acceptable to as high a degree as these two qualities, so difficult to be brought into harmony, will admit of. I would wish you to remember that Bengali is a language spoken probably by forty millions of people."

In this spirit Dr. Wenger has prosecuted to its completion his important revision of the text of 1861. In some parts, especially in the Psalms and prophets of the Old, and epistles of the New Testament, it may be said to be a new translation. Besides which, "an attempt has been made," says Dr. Wenger, "to exhibit some of the most important results of verbal criticism. Numerous words which are omitted in some ancient manuscripts (of the New Testament) are marked as such by being put in parentheses. The most interesting various readings which do not admit of being indicated in this way are given at the foot of the page, where are also to be found literal or alternative renderings, similar to the marginal readings of our English Bibles." The side margins also contain a body of references selected from the Annotated Bible of the Religious Tract Society. An edition of the four Gospels, with copious annotations, prepared from various commentaries, and with the new text as a basis, has at the same time left the press. Its purpose (to use Dr. Wenger's own words) is to supply native Christians "with information rather than practical reflections, such as preachers are able to deduce from the text without extraneous aid."

In summing up this brief sketch of Dr. Wenger's great and most valuable labours on the Bengali Bible, we should meet with his deserved reproof were we not to recognise and acknowledge the important help he has received in various degrees in the way of suggestion and co-operation from several brethren, especially the Revs. C. B. Lewis, G. H. Rouse, R. J. Ellis, C. Jordan, and others, whose daily use of the vernacular enabled them to contribute valuable hints towards the completeness of his task.

The Sanscrit Bible.

If not so popularly useful, yet the labours of Dr. Wenger on the translation of God's Word into the Sanscrit language has been a work of still greater difficulty and more arduous toil, and is illustrative in a higher degree, if possible, of that patient assiduity and large erudition which has characterised his life. This ancient tongue has been called "the master-language of India." It has been said to be "all-powerful among the Hindus," and as that, "which gives to Brahmins, gurus, and the various religious orders, all the ascendancy they possess." Dr. Carey regarded it as the "parent of nearly all the colloquial dialects of India, and as the key to the knowledge of their literature." He commenced the study of it soon after his arrival in India. In June, 1806, his translation of the New Testament was sent to press, and in 1809 was ready for circulation. But it was not till 1818 that the entire Bible was finished. Copies of it are now extremely scarce.

On the completion of his version of the Scriptures in Bengali, Dr. Yates then took up the work, for which the linguistic studies of twenty years had well prepared him. He completed the New Testament in Sanscrit prose, and also versions of the Psalms and Proverbs in verse; Genesis and part of Exodus followed in prose; and lastly, Isaiah in verse. After the decease of Dr. Yates, Dr. Wenger was requested by the Committee to carry the plan into effect, and after some two years of preparation a commencement was made, the labours of Dr. Yates being the starting-point of the complete version. The first volume, embracing the Pentateuch and the Book of Joshua, was published in November, 1848. Notwithstanding interruptions occasioned by domestic affliction, but especially by the constant demand for new editions of the Bengali Scriptures, and the revising and editing, during five years, of most of the Bengali publications issued by the local Tract Society, the work steadily proceeded, with the improvements suggested by greater knowledge and experience. The second volume appeared in 1852, and at the same time a second edition of the New Testament. The third volume, almost entirely in Sanscrit verse, consisting of the poetical portions of the Old Testament, was finished in 1858; and the fourth volume, which, with the New Testament previously published, completes the entire work, was published in 1872. The whole expense connected with the preparation and publication of this great and monumental work has been borne by the Society, from the funds furnished by the Bible Translation Society; but some portions of it have, from time to time, been reprinted for the use and at the expense of the Calcutta Auxiliary Bible Society. The Psalms and certain other portions have also been reprinted in the Oriya and Tamil characters. It has received the highest encomiums of learned Sanscrit scholars, is greatly valued and sought after by continental critics, and is esteemed by those natives of India to whom Sanscrit is familiar. In the resolution passed on its completion, the Committee rejoice that their valued coadjutor has, "as a part of his many and exhausting labours in the same department of missionary work, been permitted by the Providence of God to live to complete his great task, and has furnished to the learned of the Hindu people the Word of God in a language they deem sacred, and pre-eminently the fittest vehicle for the conveyance of Divine truth."

This brief minute of the labours of our revered friend may fitly be closed by stating in his own words, the principles on which he has carried forward these great works.

"In carrying on their Biblical translations, especially as regards the New Testament, Baptist missionaries have, for nearly forty years past, acted independently of the British and Foreign Bible Society and its local Auxiliaries. Their severance from this great and noble society originated in an attempt made on the part of the Bible Society to compel the translators either to leave the terms for baptism untranslated, or to translate them in a way which was contrary to their conscientious convictions. It has often been taken for granted that our differences with the Bible Society concern only this one topic of baptism. But if I may be allowed to give expression to my own sentiments, I would say that this one point is only a sample of others, and that in all of them a great principle is at stake. The principle is this—that a Biblical translator should not be compelled, merely by a majority of the votes given at a Committee meeting, to translate the Word of God in a way which is not in accordance with his conscientious convictions. In endeavouring to ascertain the grammatical interpretation and the sense of the sacred text, opinions must be weighed, not counted; and they must be weighed by the man who has to execute the translation. The rules for the guidance of translators which have been laid down by the Bible Society, and which are annually reprinted in the report of the local Society, appear to me quite as impertinent as was its attempt to dictate to Baptist translators how they ought to render the terms descriptive of baptism. In short, it is the independence of translators* which the Bible Society wants to tamper with, and which, as Baptists, we ought to consider ourselves bound to uphold."

It only remains to add that Dr. Wenger has taken the deepest interest in the welfare of the native Christians, has been constantly engaged in the ministry of the Word, and has rendered great services to the Society by his wise counsels and ripe judgment in the conduct of its affairs in India. The spirit of humility, candour, love, and peace, has been pre-eminently displayed throughout his Christian career, and Divine grace has enabled him to render services of the highest value to the Christian Church.

August 20th, 1874.

* The nature and importance of this independence are beautifully expressed in the noble words of Tyndale; "I take God to record, against the day we shall appear before our Lord Jesus to give a reckoning of our doings, that I have never altered one syllable of God's Word against my conscience, nor would this day, if all that is in the world, whether it be pleasure, honour, or riches, might be given me."

CONTRIBUTIONS

AUXILIARY SOCIETIES IN GREAT BRITAIN.

When contributions are given for special objects, they are denoted as follows:—The letter T is placed before the sum when it is intended for Translations; S, for Schools; N P, for Native Preachers; W & O, for Widows and Orphans.

N.B.—It will be found that, in some instances, the connexion of Churches in Auxiliary Societies interferes with the correctness of county arrangement; but this cannot be avoided without inconvenience.

NOTE.—In consequence of the PARTICULARS of Contributions from many of the Auxiliaries not reaching the Mission House until after the close and audit of this Balance Sheet, it will be found that the totals of some of the Special Funds do not exactly agree with the details of the printed lists.

Treasurers, Secretaries of Auxiliaries, and all Friends remitting moneys are therefore very earnestly requested to supply FULL PARTICULARS at the time of remittance, so that corrective entries may be dispensed with, and the Missionaries may be at once advised of special contributions sent for their use.
