11. It was also further resolved :—

That the Treasurer, Jos. Tritton, Esq., and the Revs. C. M. Birrell and J. P. Chown, with the Secretaries, be requested to confer together, and take such action as may seem best to them to secure some fitting memorial of the long and distinguished services of Dr. Underhill, either in the form of a portrait or otherwise as may seem best to them ; that, should a portrait be decided upon, an effort be made to secure one also of the Rev. THE
ANNUAL PUBLIC MEETING
OF THE
BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY

WAS HELD IN

EXETER HALL,

ON THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 27TH, 1876.

SIR ROBERT LUSH, OF LONDON, IN THE CHAIR.

1. The Meeting was opened by singing and prayer, conducted by the Rev. J. P. CHOWN, of Bloomsbury Chapel, London.

2. The CHAIRMAN addressed the Meeting.

3. Dr. UNDERHILL gave a statement of the principal features of the Society's operations during the past year.

4. The Treasurer, JOSEPH TRITTON, Esq., presented the Balance-sheet and addressed the Meeting.

5. The first resolution, as follows, moved by the Rev. J. M. STEPHENS, B.A., of Sheffield, and seconded by the Rev. THOMAS MORGAN, of Howrah, Bengal, was agreed to unanimously :—

That this Meeting rejoices to hear of the continued success of the Gospel in heathen lands, of the happy results that follow the distribution of the Holy Scriptures, and of the growth of churches that bear witness to the truth as it is in Jesus, and sustain the ordinances of His Word. This Meeting also expresses its pleasure at the increase in the number of the missionaries sent out to replace those who have been called away to their reward on high, or are constrained to leave their work for a time by sickness or long years of service in a tropical clime. The Meeting further desires to express its sympathy with the committee, and with the missionaries and their friends, in the losses they have sustained by death, both at home and abroad.

6. The second resolution, as follows, was moved by the Rev. JAS. SMITH, of Delhi, N. W. P., and seconded by the Rev. FRED. TRESTBAIL, F.R.G.S., of Newport, I. of Wight, and agreed to unanimously :—

That this Meeting fully sympathizes with the missionaries in the hindrances they encounter in their work, not merely from the adhesion of the heathen to the idols they worship, or from the long-cherished customs and institutions of the countries where the missionaries labour, but also from teachers of error bearing the Christian name, who pervert the sacred truths and ordinances of the Christian faith, to the injury of the souls of men. This Meeting also deeply regrets to learn that the income is inadequate to the maintenance of the great work in which the Society is engaged, and expresses its earnest hope and prayer that the churches connected with the Society, and the friends of the Redeemer's cause, will, in the coming year, make strenuous exertions to remove the debt that has been incurred, and to raise the Society's income to an amount equal to its need.

7. The Meeting was closed with the Doxology and Benediction.

EIGHTY-FOURTH REPORT.

IF the year's labours, which the Committee have now to report, do not present any very marked feature, they are not without interest of a varied kind. They exhibit continuous and steady progress in every department of missionary exertion, with a gradual enlargement of evangelistic effort, and of the numbers of those who by divine grace have been brought out of darkness into light. The previous year was a time of unusual revival, and although the excitement of that period has abated, there is still abundant proof that the Word of God is not preached without many tokens of divine blessing. Favourable indications everywhere present themselves that the labour has not been in vain in the Lord.

THE MISSIONARY STAFF.

Encouraged by the response to their appeal last year, the Committee have accepted the services of five more young brethren, four of whom have arrived at their chosen stations. These are, Dr. Carey, a great-grandson of the founder of the mission, who has settled as a medical missionary in Delhi ; Mr. Henry Tucker, who is pursuing his study of the language at Soory, in Bengal ; Mr. Gammon will seek the resuscitation of the churches and the mission in Turk's Islands ; and Mr. Wm. Landels, who is preparing himself in Rome for the service of Christ in Italy. Mr. Comber is at present pursuing the study of medicine and surgery in London, preparatory to his entering on the arduous work in Africa. For the outfit and passage of these brethren, the Committee are indebted to the liberality of the churches in Birmingham and Sheffield, with the personal gift of £100 each from their friends Mr. Stead and Mr. Dunning. Four missionaries, at home last year, have resumed their work, refreshed in body and mind by their sojourn here, viz., the Revds. Dr. Wenger, J. Davey, W. H. Gamble, and F. Waldock.

But while the Committee have sought to strengthen the hands of the brethren in the field, sickness and the depressing effects of a tropical clime have driven others from their stations to seek health and relaxation in their native land. From India have come the Revds. J. Williams of Muttra, A. Williams of Calcutta, I. Allen of Dacca; from Ceylon, the Rev. H. R. Pigott; and from the West Coast of Africa, the Revds. Q. W. Thomson, and F. Pinnock. It is some compensation for the loss of their services abroad, that they are able, in a most efficient manner, to impart to the churches a full knowledge of the effects of missionary exertion in the countries where they have endeavoured to spread the knowledge of salvation, and to become personally known to those who sustain them. Thus direct sympathy with them is awakened; their trials, and their efforts for the promotion of the kingdom of God, obtain distinct recognition in the prayers of His people.

Death has also broken into our ranks and borne from our midst three brethren whom the churches could ill spare. The first of these was the Rev. Benjamin Millard, of the mission in Jamaica. For thirty years he lived a devoted life as pastor of the churches in St. Ann's Bay and Ocho Rios, serving the Master with an earnest piety and energy, and a self-denial seldom surpassed. For a quarter of a century he occupied the arduous post of secretary to the Jamaica Baptist Union, until, about three years ago, he was obliged by family affliction to leave for England. His departure was deeply lamented by his brethren and the people of the island. After his arrival at home he filled with great efficiency the office of secretary to the Anti-Slavery Society. At length, worn out with labour and disease, he obeyed cheerfully the summons of his Lord. To use the words of the Rev. C. M. Birrell in his funeral sermon:—"He died as he had lived. He had worked close up to the limit of his strength, even when it had waned to almost nothing, saying at last characteristically, 'I am sorry to give up work for the Master; it was so pleasant to serve Him.'"

In September the Committee were called to mourn the sudden decease at Helensburgh in Scotland of their highly esteemed missionary, the Rev. Jno. Sale. For twenty-seven years, in various service in Bengal, he had fulfilled his ministry of mercy and peace. Throughout this lengthened period, Mr. Sale's life was marked by the most earnest devotion, by unstained purity of life, and by a sweetness and maturity of Christian character which inspired affection and confidence in all who knew him. His converts loved and trusted him, while he was ever ready to help and advise them in the troubles and oppressions which are too often the lot of the poor peasantry of Bengal.

Not less afflictive to the Committee was the early decease of the Rev. J. Mintridge, who only the year before had entered on the missionary life. With steady application he was successfully acquiring a knowledge of Bengali under the charge of the Rev. R. J. Ellis, of Jessore. Short as was his life, he had given evidence of considerable ability. There was the promise of a career in which he might have shone among the foremost of our brethren in intelligent, active usefulness; whilst his tender and manly sympathy, his lively humour and earnest piety, won all hearts.

This obituary would be incomplete were mention omitted of the decease of Mrs. Geo. Pearce, the wife of our highly-valued brother, the Rev. Geo. Pearce, now of Ootacamund, and Mrs. Penney, the widow of the late Rev. J. Penney of Calcutta. Both these dear friends died full of years, leaving behind them a record of greatest usefulness among the ignorant and depressed female population of Bengal.

BIBLE WORK IN INDIA.

From the funds supplied by the Bible Translation Society, the Committee have been able to pass through the press, under the superintendence of the Rev. C. B. Lewis, the Rev. G. H. Rouse, and other missionaries, an unusual number of portions of Holy Scripture. These have consisted chiefly of reprints of Dr. Wenger's new translation of the Bengali Bible, which was completed in 1874, together with small editions of the Gospel of Mark in Hindi, and of the first three Gospels in the language of the Garos, an aboriginal tribe on the north-east frontier of Bengal, among whom the Gospel is making very gratifying progress. The small print edition of the New Testament in Bengali was finished in the month of August, and of this convenient and handy volume, which is much valued by the native Christians, 2,500 copies were printed for the Calcutta Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and the same number for the use of our own missionaries and their flocks. An edition of the Old Testament in the same form has proceeded to 2 Sam. xii. 23, and will be finished at press during the present year. In addition to these important issues, 99,500 copies of various portions of the Word of God have left the press, of which the large number of 66,000 copies has been printed for the British and Foreign Bible Society. The issues from our Depository have somewhat exceeded the average, amounting to 34,188 copies in all.

Great improvement has taken place in the form in which these portions of Holy Scripture are published. The old 8vo. in large type has been abandoned, and they now appear in small handy volumes, with a neat cover, and in this shape obtain a ready sale among the people. It is one of the most gratifying aspects of the present wide extension of Bible distribution that a very large proportion of the books are sold, and a constantly increasing demand for the sacred volume is in many parts of the country distinctly apparent. "It would be interesting to our friends at home to know," says the Rev. T. Evans, of Monghyr, "that from this mission station alone no less than 10,000 copies of Scripture and tracts have been distributed among the heathen around us during the last year, including some 3,000 gospels and books of the Old Testament, and 7,000 tracts full of Gospel truth. By far the greater part of these books were sold, and chiefly among the simple-minded villagers, many of whom had never before heard the name of Jesus."

The like information reaches the Committee from the stations in Jessore, Birbhoom, Backergunge, and Patna.

From the far removed district of Dacca, Mr. Bion reports :—"In the various out-stations and on our journeys we sold from 3,500 to 4,000 Bengali gospels and other parts of the Bible, and about 400 tracts. Besides these, a good number of Bengali tracts and portions of the Bible were sold by Babus Solomon and Ram Charan Nath."

In order to give additional impetus to this demand for the Scriptures, several volumes of selections have been prepared, printed in an attractive form, and occasionally illustrated with engravings.

The most important of these is a life of our Lord, in passages taken from the four evangelists, compiled by the Rev. G. H. Rouse, and arranged in sections, so as to give a connected idea of Christ's three years' ministry, and of the important events and teaching which filled up the week in which He died. Under the title of "The Christian Treasury of Religion," the Rev. R. J. Ellis has prepared a collection of texts enforcing the duties of the Christian life for the use of the members of the churches. For more general circulation we have "The History of the Creation and the Fall," and the histories of Joseph, Elijah and Elisba, Ruth and Esther, each of which has an appendix of suitable Scripture passages pointing to Christ. Thus the additions to the story of Ruth consist of extracts from the gospels treating specially of Christ's gracious dealings with women, as in the case of the Syro-Phœnician and the appearing of the Saviour to Mary Magdalene. Progress has been made with the annotated edition of the Scriptures in Bengali, commenced by Dr. Wenger, the Rev. W. Etherington having also begun an edition of Dr. Wenger's work on the four gospels in the Hindi language.

The literary activity of our brethren is not, however, confined to the publication of the Scriptures. To the Rev. R. J. Ellis, our native evangelists are indebted for "Hints" to aid them in their ministry, translated from the work of the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon on the Psalms, and our European missionaries owe to the Rev. J. D. Bate a "Vade Mecum," offering counsels for the full discharge of the duties they have undertaken. Mr. Bate has also issued a most valuable and comprehensive dictionary of the Hindi language, and Mr. Etherington of Benares a Hindi grammar which has been adopted by the Government of India for use in the public schools. Several tracts have been written or revised for the Religious Tract Societies of Bengal and Northern India.

THE CIRCULATION OF THE SCRIPTURES.

It is not possible to gather up the results, or to describe the effect, of the wide circulation of Divine truth which has been going on now for many years throughout all parts of India. Yet incidents continually occur which afford the greatest encouragement that in untold ways the Word of God has had free course and is glorified. Thus, in the north-west of the Dacca district, Dina Bandhu, the evangelist, is heartily welcomed by a Brahmin, who asks for an entire Bible, saying that his late father had renounced idolatry, and lived differently after he had taken to read the sacred page, while he himself was in the habit of reading a portion of it daily. In a Zenana, Miss Robinson meets with a young woman from a neighbouring village well acquainted with the Scriptures. While living with her father, a Brahmin, he used to read to her almost every day the Bible which he had received years before from the missionary of Dacca, and in consequence she and her father had lost all faith in idols. In a tour last year, Mr. Bion relates that they found ten or twelve Hindus in the habit of reading the New Testament together. As the result they were excommunicated by their fellow-villagers for reading Christ's Gospel and for speaking about Him, although they explained that they were not Christians, but were only reading the Christian shastres. The desire to possess the holy volume in some quarters is well illustrated by the following incident, which took place at the Sonapore mela. "A Hindu," says the Rev. J. D. Bate, "on seeing the books, rushed eagerly forward and said, 'Have you here a copy of the New Testament of Jesus Christ? How much must I pay? I will give you whatever you ask.' On the money being paid and the book given to him, he said with much earnestness, 'I have been looking for a copy of this book for years, and now, thank God, I have found it at last.' He did not stop, but went away eagerly kissing the book on all sides as he went." One striking result of the sale of the Scriptures, instead of their gratuitous distribution, is specially noted by Mr. Bate. "The people," he says, "are so superstitious, that formerly they interpreted the eagerness of the missionary to supply them with books as an attempt to destroy their caste, supposing the mere touching the Christian book would pollute them and make them Christians. This superstition is dissolved when the condition on which a book is given is the payment of a coin. It is then carried to their places of abode, and the fleeting words of the preacher in the bazaar, or the fair, find their explanation and their enforcement when read at leisure in the privacy of home," beyond the reach of that excitement which carries the people away in the presence of their gods.

Before closing this section of the report, the Committee are happy to mention that, during the visit of the Prince of Wales to Calcutta, specimens of the translations of the Society's missionaries in India, in seven handsomely bound volumes, were offered to His Royal Highness, and graciously received by him. In acknowledging the gift, Sir Bartle Frere was commanded by the Prince to express his appreciation of the books, and his "best wishes for the success of the admirable work in which the Society has already made so great a progress." It is the earnest prayer of the Committee that the visit of the Prince of Wales to this portion of the dominions of our sovereign the Queen may, by the good hand of God upon it, be made subservient to the highest and best interests of the vast empire over which he may be called in Divine Providence to reign.

EVANGELIZATION.

The ready reception given on every hand to the Scriptures, and to other books containing statements of Divine truth, has greatly encouraged the missionaries in their various itineracies, and led to many efforts to reach parts of the country seldom or never visited by the messengers of Christ. Thus two months of the cold season were spent by the Rev. T. Evans, in company with the venerable native evangelist Sudin, and the colporteur Bhei Haran, in the district of Tirhoot, going from village to village preaching Christ, and distributing the written Word. Over one hundred villages were visited on this tour, and 2,000 copies of the gospels and about 5,000 tracts were scattered abroad. In several towns the Gospel was quite new to the people. In most cases they were well received, the common people especially hearing with gladness the message of peace. The Rev. G. C. Dutt, of Khoolnea, reports that during the year thirty successful evangelistic services, and the same number of love feasts, have been held with the happiest effect. Lately it has been his practice, instead of visiting the villages in parties of two or three evangelists, to take with him as many preachers and lay Christians as he could muster, and attack the villages in a body. Hymns were frequently sung, and every open-air service was begun and ended with prayer. So great has been the interest of the churches over which he presides in this procedure, that they have subscribed fifty rupees for a tent for the use of the evangelists in these inroads on the kingdom of darkness. Some thirty of the members are also willing to assist in the preaching, and they have decided to employ native instruments of music in the singing their hymns.

The Rev. R. Bion and his energetic fellow-workers have again traversed large tracts of country in the districts of Dacca, Comillah, Tipperah, Mymensing, Sylhet, and in the Garo Hills. He states that the Dacca and Mymensing districts are decidedly the most promising, for in their towns and villages the Gospel is universally listened to with serious attention and the messenger of Christ welcomed, and even treated as a friend. The Mohammedan is generally more opposed to the truth than the Hindu. He is more ignorant and as a consequence is more bigoted and fanatical. Of one of his evangelists, Mr. Bion reports that he has with considerable skill put into verse the story of the Creation of the World, the Fall of Man, and the Life of Christ ; and, going round the villages of Dayapore and Munshigunge, has sung or chanted these pieces, with short addresses between, for the benefit of his Hindu neighbours. They are greatly attracted and delighted by this novel method of preaching the Gospel. Urgent invitations from the villages are so numerous that he can scarcely attend to them all. At Serajdebad, among the disciples of Sree Nath, more than 200 people listened for hours with breathless attention, many being moved even to tears. In another place, the women were addressed by Mr. Bion's wife and sister. They heard with great attention, begged that portions of the Scripture might be read to them, and expressed great pleasure at what they could understand. The Rev. James Smith reports that in the region around Delhi there is a large number of villages in which the truth is most heartily welcomed. At Marooly, a small town eleven miles distant from Delhi, thirteen men have been baptized, the first fruits of the labours of these evangelists in that locality. It is the caste centre of thirty-six small towns and villages, many of which are calling out for instruction. The important city of Ulwar also affords a most favourable sphere for the ministrations of the servants of Christ.

PROSPECTS.

Although in many cases these visits appear at the time to bear little fruit—a little light, like that of a firefly, as one of the evangelists expresses it, entering the hearts of the people, but through want of consideration seeming to be soon extinguished—there can be no doubt that the “incorruptible seed” of God’s Word does not perish. The native evangelists of Baraset say in their report:—“Among the more intelligent people we find that although they profess to be Hindus in religion, they are ashamed to call themselves idolaters. The young men among them acknowledge openly that an idol is nothing; therefore, they say, we do not worship idols, or adhere to the religion of our fathers. This confession we are continually hearing, and we find it borne out by the practice of these young men.” Many whose ancestors were sacrificing priests have given up their profession, and have turned to other means of obtaining a livelihood; they acknowledge with sorrow that they have been obliged to abandon that by which their ancestors lived, because of the growing disbelief of people in idolatry. It is very interesting to place in connection with these remarks of two of the most intelligent of our native brethren, the conclusions drawn by Professor Max Müller from his unbiassed observations as to the effects of Christian exertion in India. These conclusions are given in a letter to the late Dr. Norman Macleod, written when he was about to visit India, in the interest of missions. Professor Max Müller says:—“One cannot measure the success of a missionary by the number of converts he has made, and it does not seem to me likely that Christianity will, for some time to come, spread in India chiefly by means of direct conversions. Its influence, however, is felt everywhere, and even the formation of new religious societies apparently hostile to Christianity, like to the Brahmo Somaj, is due indirectly to the preaching and teaching of Christian missionaries. From what I know of the Hindus, they seem to me riper for Christianity than any nation that ever accepted the Gospel. It does not follow that the Christianity of India will be the Christianity of England; but that the new religion of India will embrace all the essential elements of Christianity I have no doubt, and that is surely something worth fighting for. If people had only to go to India to preach and make hundreds and thousands of converts, why, who would not be a missionary then?”

No doubt there is a large measure of truth in these observations; but the Church of Christ must not forget that there are still multitudes among the Hindu nations who have not yet heard the Gospel, who still throng the sacred places, and show their zeal by the lavish gifts they offer, and the temples they erect to the honour of their gods. Such a scene as the following may yet be seen in many of the famous places of pilgrimage scattered throughout Hindustan. The Rev. H. de St. Dalmas writes :—"When we reached Goverdhun in the evening twilight after a ride of sixteen miles, it was difficult to avoid driving over some of the devotees who were measuring their weary length in the dust, by prostrating themselves for the whole distance, some fourteen miles, round the sacred mount. It was sad to see aged men and even women engaged in this degrading act, which could not but fill one with loathing as well as pity." A hundred thousand people annually gather at this spot rendered sacred to them by one of the strange exploits of the god Krishna. In the holy city of Bindrabun the same missionary speaks of a thousand temples as existing among a population of thirty thousand people, whose numbers are increased beyond calculation at the annual festivals of the idols. "I am vainly wishing," he adds, "for the strength of a thousand men to overtake the work to which I have put my hand." Referring to the great mela of Allahabad, another missionary remarks :—"The crush of the mass of moving humanity baffles description. Should anyone who has embraced the opinion that the civilisation and the evangelising of hardy western men have reduced the huge superstition of Hinduism to its last stage, put in an appearance on the chief bathing-day of the Magh-mela at Pryag, he would experience a shock that would bring about an instant divorce between himself and that opinion." Weakened, nevertheless, as the hold of idolatry may be on the minds of large numbers of people, it has still a powerful support in popular feeling. But the facts are more than sufficiently encouraging to justify our confidence that "in due season we shall reap if we faint not."

HINDRANCES.

It is with deep regret that the Committee feel constrained to mention, that the difficulties of the work are increased in many places by the intrusion of persons professing to be Christians who preach a gospel which is in fact another gospel, perverting the minds of many by their sacerdotal pretensions and unscriptural dogmas. In Delhi, in Backergunge, in the villages to the south of Calcutta, and in some other places, the missionaries have had to mourn over the mischievous results wrought by teachers of error who come to them in the name of Christ. A striking illustration of this painful fact occurs in the report of the Rev. J. D. Bate, of Allahabad. In the course of his ministry in the streets and bazaars of the city, he had noticed a respectable man who exhibited much interest in the truths to which he frequently listened. An opportunity for conversation arising, the first objection to Christianity which he presented was the supposed efficiency of ablution in water as essential to salvation, a doctrine he had heard, he said, from several Christian missionaries. Mr. Bate naturally declared his entire want of sympathy with such teaching, and the man went away, remarking with emphasis that Mr. Bate was the first Christian minister he had met with, who did not avow the opinion that the application of water by the minister was essential to the salvation of the soul. The explanation of this state of mind was afterwards discovered. A brother of this man had, years before, embraced Christianity and become a preacher of the Gospel. His efforts were put forth to bring the remaining members of his family into the Christian church, and not without some hopeful prospects of success. His abilities attracted the notice of the dignitaries of the English Episcopal Church, with which he had identified himself, and he became one of its priests. From that time the brother observed a change in the characteristics of his preaching. He complained "that his brother's chief book is, now, not the Bible but the Prayer Book; that his chief authority is, now, not Christ as formerly, but the church; and that he now no longer urges the essential importance of the blood of Christ to take away sin, but that this can be effected by drops of water sprinkled in the face by a priest ordained of a bishop." This, he said, had puzzled him and thrown him back, and he had resorted to the vedas and to the writings of modern sceptics for a solution of his difficulties, and to see whether they could lead him to God and the way of peace.

"This man," says Mr. Bate in conclusion, "is a type of a class—a class that is fast being emancipated from the rusty fetters of the ancient superstition of the land." But a Christianized paganism is presented to him as a substitute for Christ and His word, and another stumbling-block is cast in the pathway of "the poor idolaters" of Hindustan. While Brahmoism is forsaking its first alliances with Christianity, and seeking in ascetism closer union with the Divine, and infidels are not slow to avail themselves of the awakening of the Hindu mind from the sleep of ages, to direct its reviving energies into the negations of science and secular philosophy, it is grievous to note that a false Christianity should add to the perplexities of thoughtful men, marring the fair features of Christ's most precious Gospel by errors which are as injurious to charity as to truth.

THE NATIVE CHURCHES.

With regard to the progress of the native churches, to the facts given in previous reports a few may be added from the returns of the present year. The church in Soory exhibits one or two features of special interest. Knowing it to be the wish of the Committee that the native churches should be left as much as possible to self-development, the Rev. W. A. Hobbs has given the Birbhoom converts full play. The result is, not only that the church has ceased to be a burden on the Society's funds, but it has adopted a somewhat peculiar form of church order. The converts have no pastor. The affairs of the church are conducted by a punchayat—a form of village government well known throughout Northern India—or eldership, of nine persons, including Mr. Hobbs and three native evangelists. The individual members of this punchayat conduct the worship of the sanctuary on a quarterly plan previously arranged. In the morning service a brief form of liturgy is used, and the singing is accompanied by native musical instruments. Twice has Mr. Hobbs suggested to the punchayat whether they would not like to call out one of their number to be set apart as pastor. In each instance the reply has been substantially the same—"No : we shall not all probably fix upon the same man, and then there would be heartburnings." A striking spirit of independence has been developed, and, judged by the liberality evinced, it is every way worthy of encouragement. The church contains sixty-three members and communicants, of whom fifty-eight are Bengalis. In sixteen months they have raised £60 for a new chapel ; and, during the last few years, they have, independently of all European aid, contributed £33 for the current expenses of worship, the maintenance of five widows, and a chapel repairing fund. During last year the sum of £14 was subscribed, of which £6 were given by the five European and £8 by the Bengali members of the church. The Committee cannot but rejoice in the energy and self-reliance of this small religious community, and will watch with deep interest its growth, and the forms of procedure which its own intelligence and willing submission to the laws of the New Testament may lead it to adopt.

Under the guidance of the Rev. James Smith the churches, in and around Delhi, present the same self-governing attitude which they have for some years assumed, and though there are many local difficulties to be surmounted, arising partly from the large expenditure of other missionary bodies in the district, the converts (a very few instances excepted) and the churches remain true to their principles of independence, and draw no sustenance from the mission funds.

In the villages to the south of Calcutta, the churches are passing through a period of much anxiety and trial. Drought and consequent failure of crops have most painfully affected the resources of the people, so that much difficulty has been felt in providing funds for the support of their pastors. The serious and protracted illness of Romanath Chowdhry, whose zealous labours have done so much to encourage their attempt at independence, together with the active proselyting spirit of Romanists and others, have also helped to check the progress of the six previous years. In one or two cases, little or nothing has been raised this year for the pastor. In another instance, the members of the church have shown much dissatisfaction, and desire to be provided again with a pastor free of all cost to themselves. On the other hand, the Khari, South Lukhyantipore, and Danghatta churches have loyally accepted the new order of things, and there exists among them a pleasing unity of action and spirit. To each of these three communities additions have been made by baptism.

From the Rev. T. Martin, the Committee are happy to learn that the church at Johnnugger comprising about seventy members, probably the oldest in Bengal, being founded by the eminent men of Serampore, has resolved to rely on its own resources, and has pledged itself to raise ten rupees monthly for the support of a pastor. In Calcutta, the Rev. Gogun Chunder Doss, at the earnest invitation of the members, has gratuitously undertaken the pastorate of the Intally church. He was solemnly and prayerfully ordained in April last, many missionaries and pastors of all denominations in Calcutta being present on the occasion. There are two native churches in Calcutta, the Intally church under Mr. Doss, and that of South Colingah under Mr. Goolzar Shah, both entirely free from dependence on the Society's funds. The Committee are sure that their "fathers and brethren in England," to whom Mr. Doss affectionately appeals, will help them with their prayers, to the end that the churches may be missionary churches, acknowledging that they are debtors to their benighted countrymen, and that the converts may be built up in their most holy faith, and enjoy comfort and peace in our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

It remains only to add that, at the request of the Conference of the Society's missionaries, which met in Calcutta in November last, and with the sanction of the Committee, the Revds. G. Kerry and T. Martin are about to proceed to Backergunge, with the especial object of endeavouring to place the numerous and flourishing churches of that district on a more self-reliant basis. The importance of the mission of these brethren will be seen when it is mentioned that in Backergunge there have been planted, through the Divine blessing on the labours of the Revds. Messrs. Page, Sale, and others, some thirty churches, with a membership of 1,178 converts. The entire Christian community is estimated at more than 4,000 persons.

ANGLO-INDIAN CHURCHES.

But while good progress in self-support is being made among the native churches, the committee regret to say that it is not so with the Anglo-Indian communities which have sprung up in many of the large cities. The church in Circular-road, Calcutta, of which the Rev. A. Williams is pastor, has for many years held this position ; but the Lall Bazaar Church, of earlier formation, is only just about to do so, having, with the consent of the Committee, chosen the Rev. C. C. Brown, who went out some eighteen months ago, as its pastor, in the place of the Rev. Jno. Robinson. Broken health and the effects of severe labour as Government translator, have compelled Mr. Robinson's retirement from a post which he has long successfully and lovingly filled without charge. Other churches, consisting of persons who speak the English tongue, both Europeans and Eurasians, exist in Howrah, Serampore, Monghyr, Bankipore, Benares, Allahabad, Agra, and Delhi. These churches contain in the aggregate rather more than three hundred members, and are served by missionaries of the Society, who, however, employ the larger part of their time and their best energies to direct missionary work among the heathen. The congregations are necessarily of a very fleeting character. In some cases, as in Bankipore, Agra, and Delhi, they consist chiefly of soldiers, liable at any moment to be summoned away as the exigencies of the State may require. The Agra and Allahabad churches formerly supported their own pastors; but the shifting service of the Government in whose employ most of the members were, removed many of them to other places, and greatly diminished both their numbers and their means. These Anglo-Indian communities have, however, shown a commendable spirit of liberality, contributing more or less largely to the funds of the Society, and both in person and in purse, aiding in the evangelization of the heathen. In some instances, as notably in the cases of the Howrah, Serampore, Monghyr, and Allahabad churches, they have provided the entire cost of the local agencies, and taken charge of the native evangelists and the schools. The independent Baptist church in Bombay sprang out of the self-denial and devoted zeal of members of the Agra church, who removed some years ago to that important city. Nor must we undervalue the important influence these Anglo-Indian communities have on the progress of the Gospel in India. They take away the reproach of ungodliness from our countrymen. They often furnish devoted missionaries and coadjutors in the great work of evangelization. Many spontaneously devote most valuable time to direct missionary toil, and the establishment of the Cachar mission during the present year, bears witness to the liberality with which many of our countrymen in India promote the great object it is the business of the Society to prosecute.

The reports of the missionaries, as last year, offer many illustrations of the Divine blessing on this department of their work. Thus the Rev. J. G. Gregson, of Agra, states that the congregations at Havelock Chapel have been larger than ever, and that several persons have been received at the table of the Lord. The revival services of last year, he adds, will never be forgotten, and will be as enduring as eternity. The gifts of this congregation to the Mission Fund amounted to £170. The Rev. J. H. Auderson reports that, when the hot season arrived, and itinerating was impracticable, a series of revival services was held among the European servants of the railway. It pleased God to bless the meetings: many were awakened, and thirteen were baptized. Four or five of these new members have since been actively engaged in trying to do good, and two of them evince a strong desire to become missionaries. One case is particularly mentioned of a youth from Scotland, whose parents are members of a Baptist church, who, after a long struggle, has given his heart to Christ. The Rev. E. C. Hallam, of Howrah, informs us that there have been, at his station, twenty-two cases of hopeful conversion, eleven of the twenty-two having been baptized and received into fellowship. The members of the church and congregation have manifested a praiseworthy degree of interest in the work of the Lord. A Home Mission Society has been formed amongst them, with the object of bringing souls to Christ, by preaching in the vernacular, by tract distribution, and by house-to-house visitation. The agents of this mission are volunteers, with the exception of one native evangelist, who is supported by their funds. For these and other plans £172 were collected during the year. The Rev. George H. Rouse, who occupies the pulpit of Circular-road Chapel during the absence of the Rev. A. Williams in this country, mentions in his report some very striking facts. Among the twelve persons he has baptized, he alludes to the case of an old soldier who had long served the Lord, but who was now led to observe the commandment of his Saviour. The effect on other soldiers in Fort William was most interesting. A witness of the ceremony was led to give his heart to Christ. This opened the way to a work of grace in the regiment, and it continued till the regiment was sent off to the war in the Malay Peninsula. In September two more were baptized; in November, a corporal of artillery; and since the regiment left Calcutta two or three others have been heard of as joining the Christian brotherhood which had been formed. The 12th Regiment, which succeeded them in the fort, has also Christian men in its ranks, who have already begun to visit Mr. Rouse and to seek the conversion of their comrades. Mr. Rouse particularly mentions the exertions of Mrs. Rouse, aided by some ladies of other congregations, to obtain access to the sailors who frequent the port of Calcutta. Every Sunday, with her companions in this labour of love, she has gone to the lodging-houses and grog-shops which abound in Lall Bazaar, spending two or three hours in these wretched haunts of vice and degradation. Neither the heat, nor the rain, has caused a single week's intermission. They met with no rudeness or opposition; even the lodging-house keepers welcomed them. Sailors of many nationalities were encountered. After singing a few hymns the men were affectionately spoken to of their homes, their habits, their hopes for the future. Many of them were persuaded to enter neighbouring places of worship, and a large number have professed their faith in Christ. Recently a Floating Methodist Church has been formed among them. They unite together as one church in constitution, the Christian men of each ship forming a separate "fellowship band." Not the least interesting of these endeavours to lead our sailors to Christ is the following example. It is given in Mr. Rouse's own words. "The beginning of this year has witnessed cheering tokens of the Lord's blessing in connection with the crews of the Serapis and the Royal yacht Osborne. Special tea meetings for these men have been held, at which personal appeals were made to them to decide for Christ. We had two meetings in our house. The result is, as many, I believe, as forty of them professed faith in Christ. The Osborne came here with three or four decided Christians, and leaves with a Christian brotherhood of twenty men, and the Serapis has a larger number still. It is interesting to think that on his voyage home, and in subsequent voyages in his yacht, the Prince of Wales will have a goodly company of praying men on board." It must be a cause for gratitude to God that, while the heathen are receiving at our hands the bread of life, the perishing of our own countrymen share in the ministration. Many who leave our shores without hope and without God in the world, find yonder, through the devoted labours of our missionary brethren, the grace which they have so often and so long neglected in their native land.

THE NEW MISSION IN CACHAR.

Among the numerous places occasionally visited by the Society's indefatigable missionary, the Rev. R. Bion, of Dacca, is Cachar, a district lying in the north-east corner of Bengal. It has been a neglected region, and till a few years ago no missionary has ever resided there. In one of the four thannahs into which the province is divided not a single person was found able to read or write. And yet, according to the recent census, it contains 202,580 inhabitants. Though classed as Bengalis, many of the people are regarded as the descendants of aboriginal tribes, on whom the idolatries of Bengal are said to have a very slight hold. Some twenty thousand are coolies drawn from all parts of India for the cultivation of the numerous tea-gardens which abound in Cachar.

Among the successful tea planters of the district was the late C. S. Leckie, Esq., a native of Peebles, in Scotland, who entered into the rest of God about a year ago. At his decease he left to his executors a large sum of money to be devoted by them (to use his own words) to the "spread of the Gospel—the glorious Gospel—in India, especially in Cachar." After the payment of legacy duty and two small gifts to other missionary objects in India, the balance, amounting to £4,000, has been placed by the executors in the hands of the trustees of the Society. It is proposed that the interest of this sum should be devoted to the support of native evangelists, under the general care and supervision of the Rev. R. Bion and the mission in Dacca, from which place Silchar, the chief town of the province, can be reached by the River Soorma. This river is navigable by boats and steamers for a large portion of the year, and gives easy access to all parts of the district. Instructions have been forwarded to Mr. Bion to visit Cachar as soon as convenient, to look out a locality for the station, and to engage suitable native evangelists for the work. The Committee hope that by the cold season of the present year operations may be begun, and the hills and dales of this beautiful but long-neglected country may be trodden by the feet of them that bring good tidings of good, and publish salvation to the perishing.

It is due to the executors—Dr. Leckie, Mr. W. Leckie, Mr. R. Gibson, and Mr. George Henderson—to say that they have expressed the most unqualified confidence in the judgment of the Committee, and have left them altogether untrammelled in the application of the fund. The Committee commend this new mission to the sympathy and prayers of their friends, and trust that, by the blessing of God, the desire of the liberal donor for the salvation of a people among whom he prospered may be amply fulfilled.

CEYLON.

The various operations described in the last report have been zealously continued, and not without tokens of good. Several of the native brethren have been impeded in their jungle journeys by sickness; but the numerous schools and the public ministration of the means of grace have gone on with their wonted regularity. Sixty-two villages in the new district of Saffragam have been repeatedly visited; and in those villages, where formerly the evangelist was reviled and pelted with stones, he is now permitted peaceably to pursue his work. A few inquirers have already presented themselves in the district. Some 800 tracts have been distributed; but in many places it is hard to find persons who can read. "Gross darkness covers the people." "I doubt," says a Government agent, "whether there is a more ignorant or superstitious class in the island than the natives of Saffragam." They evince no desire for education, and no improvement is thought by him possible until the cultivation of the land is relieved from the barbarous and debasing tenure under which it is held—that of rendering service to the devil-temples. Facilities for enfranchisement are, however, now provided by the Government, and it may be hoped that the people will not be unwilling to avail themselves of the advantage.

The English church in Colombo, under the pastoral care of the Rev. T. R. Stevenson, has enjoyed, in its new and independent position, much prosperity, and the congregation is now engaged in the erection of a new chapel in a very favourable position in the centre of the town. The independent native congregation in Grand Pass has for twelve years successfully maintained its ground, and has become the centre of an interesting evangelistic work among the Singhalese people in its vicinity. The pastor, Mr. James Silva, states that it is only the paucity of labourers which hinders the occupation of very promising spots which are open to the messengers of the Cross.

The biblical work of the Rev. C. Carter makes satisfactory progress, and there is every prospect that the Old Testament, on which he has for so many years been employed, will be finished at press during the current year. He has also begun a revision of the New Testament, the translation of which was commenced some eighteen years ago. He hopes, in this new edition, to avail himself of the most recent conclusions of biblical criticism, as well as to bring the text into closer conformity with the original.

CHINA.

The Committee have to express their regret that they have not been able to send a coadjutor to their zealous and self-denying missionary, the Rev. T. Richard, of Chefoo. Though feeling deeply the loneliness of his position, he has not failed to extend his labours to the inland towns of the province of Shantung. For several months he took up his abode in the city of Ching Chow Foo. Here, to the great annoyance of the authorities, he rented a house. Finding that he could not be legally ejected, false rumours were set on foot to excite popular feeling against him. At this juncture, an epidemic disease broke out in the town, and several families applied to Mr. Richard for aid. He successfully treated many of those who came to him; the cases beyond his skill he sent to Dr. Henderson, of the United Presbyterian Mission in Chefoo. The goodwill of the people being thus secured, the evil rumours were suppressed, and his knowledge of medicine obtained for him a safe residence in the town. He found the place ripe for the harvest. In the country of Etoo he had given him the names of ten men, living in as many towns and villages, with an invitation to visit them at their homes, while many more daily resorted to him for information in the truths of the Gospel. For some time his leisure moments have been employed in adapting the little work, entitled "The Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation," for Chinese readers. A Wen li (classic) version of the book was published in portions, from time to time, in one of the Chinese magazines. He has now completed a translation of it in the Mandarin dialect. There is a great poverty of Christian books in Chinese. At the close of the year, Mr. Richard invited all the native Chinese Christians in Chefoo to meet him, that he might earnestly urge them to use all the means in their power to bring their countrymen to Christ. But he still more urgently appeals to his brethren at home, and to the students of our colleges, to consecrate their energies to the vast fields of China, in which truly the harvest is great but the labourers are few.

AFRICA.

The departure of the Rev. F. Pinnock from Victoria, on a visit to his home in Jamaica, after nearly eighteen years' service in Africa, together with the absence of the Rev. Q. W. Thomson and the Rev. G. Grenfell from their stations, have, in some measure, curtailed the operations of the Mission. Mr. Grenfell has, however, returned, with Mrs. Grenfell; and the Rev. A. Saker hopes, immediately on his arrival, to be strong enough to visit some of the places in the interior which lie on the rivers and creeks in the vicinity of the stations on the Cameroons. The small steamer, munificently placed at his disposal by Mr. Thomas Coates, of Paisley, will give him unusual facilities to accomplish an object which has lain for many years very near his heart. Meanwhile, he has been occupied in perfecting his vocabulary of the Dualla language, in revising and reprinting portions of the Old Testament Scriptures, and in conducting the affairs of the Bethel station. He has also been able, to a certain extent, to resume missionary operations in the town of King Bell. It is an interesting fact, mentioned to Mr. Saker by a missionary from the island of Corisco, which lies to the south of the Cameroons River, that the Dualla translation of the Scriptures can be understood by the natives of that part of the coast.

At Mortonville, the station of the Rev. J. Fuller, on the opposite bank of the river, the year has been a most encouraging one. In no year since the station was formed have there been so many persons seeking the way of life, or so many admitted to the fellowship of the Church. Fourteen converts have been baptized, and a class of inquirers instituted, consisting of thirteen persons. The attendance at the house of God is also unusually good. At Jabari the work has also borne good results, and several persons give evidence that they are truly brought to Christ. The year has not, however, closed on this interesting station without a sore trial. In Mr. Fuller's absence, Mrs. Fuller, on the 1st January, gathered the young people of the town together to usher in the new year with a religious service, and the day ended with a walk through the town, the children singing their school songs and ringing a small bell. The next morning, the Lord's Day, two of the young men, on their way from chapel, were seized by some of the townspeople, and cruelly bound in their Ju Ju house. The chief, Preso Bell, on being appealed to by Mrs. Fuller, released them. This appears to have enraged the culprits the more; a mob immediately gathered together, and proceeded to pull down the houses of all those in the town who were connected with the Mission. These violent and barbarous proceedings culminated in burning down the outbuildings of the Mission. The chapel and mission-house only were left standing. Mr. Fuller reached home on the following Wednesday, but on the next day the savage mob fell on the Christian people with sticks and machets (a kind of cutlass), injuring one youth severely in the arm. The next day another Christian man was carried off, stripped, flogged, whitewashed, and cruelly bound. He was afterwards released by King Bell, who came across to assist in putting a stop to the disturbance. The only explanation given by the rioters was, that all the young men were going over to the missionary, and their country fashions would be set aside. They insisted that a fine of £5 should be imposed on every one who should abandon the customs of the tribe, and forsake their superstitious usages. Of course this demand could not be listened to. It may be hoped that this painful interruption to Mr. Fuller's work is but temporary. It is, however, an evident proof that the work of God is making progress among the people, and that the kingdom of darkness is being stirred to wrath by the victories of the Cross.

The Rev. R. Smith has undertaken the station work at Victoria during the absence of the Rev. F. Pinnock. The early part of the year was spent in an attempt to open a way for the Gospel on the northern side of the Cameroons mountain ; but Mr. Smith met with the most determined opposition from the chiefs of Rumby and Old Calabar. In Victoria, he reports the near completion of the new chapel, towards which both men and women have most heartily given their personal labour. The congregations have been good throughout the year, and God's blessing has followed the preaching of the Word. Six persons have been baptized, and the inquirers' class has increased to twenty-nine. The day-school is well attended, and some children are brought over from Fernando Po to enjoy its advantages. The colony is becoming more and more known as a city of refuge, in the outlying districts on the mountains. Within the last few months eight poor helpless men and women fled thither for protection and for life, and thus escaped a cruel and unjust death. The kindness shown to them is not without danger ; but the missionary and his people are prepared to brave the wrath of man, in order to give freedom to the slave and safety to the perishing.

WEST INDIES—TRINIDAD.

After a stay of a few months in this country, the Rev. W. H. Gamble returned, at the close of the year, to his station at Port of Spain. On resuming his work he has been cheered by the baptism of three converts, and by finding that the extension of the Mission to Carenage, Chaguanas, and McBean's Wood presents very encouraging prospects. At the latter place a chapel is almost ready for use. The people of Chaguanas he describes as very clannish, amenable to their head men, faithful to their contracts, honest, and truthful, but regardless of the marriage law. Though only twenty miles from Port of Spain, the place is not accessible without great difficulty, and is surrounded by swamps rife with malaria. But he fully expects to find among the people a hearty reception for the truths of the Gospel.

The Rev. W. Williams has met with much encouragement during the seventeen months that he has occupied the station at San Fernando. The visits to the churches he finds very laborious ; but his reward is the blessing vouchsafed to his work. He has the general oversight of seven churches, and during the year has baptized thirty-seven persons. Although the pastors are not sustained by the funds of the Society, the churches do but little for them ; but Mr. Williams hopes shortly to see an improvement in this respect.

HAYTI.

Much of the early part of the year was devoted to the acquisition of the language, which the Rev. J. E. Gummer is now able successfully to employ in his ministry among the people. In Lolo and Voltaire he has found congenial and useful assistants, the latter especially having greatly contributed to the well-being of the church during the long period in which it was deprived of a missionary's guidance. It is Mr. Gummer's conviction that Protestant truth has penetrated far beyond the pale of the churches already established. Many persons doubt and many utterly disbelieve that the baptisms, masses, and penances of the Romish system can secure salvation. Thousands of the male population, though nominally adherents of the Church of Rome, are held to it merely by custom, by regard to family attachments, or by worldly interest. Contact with zealous and devoted native Christians, and the diffusion of the Scriptures, have on the part of many more produced clearer views of God, of His truth, and of human duty and responsibility, and these truths have acted on their minds with results which only eternity can fully reveal. Comparatively few in numbers as the converts have hitherto been, they have borne a bright and decisive testimony to the saving power of the Gospel. As this report is about to close, the Committee learn with great sorrow that Jacmel is the seat of revolution, and that the town has been beleaguered by the forces of the Government. Mr. Gummer has sent away his wife and children, but resolves himself to abide the issue. May it please God to protect the life of His servant, and speedily restore peace to this distracted land.

THE BAHAMAS.

The arrangement for Turk's Islands, proposed last year, having been found impracticable, the Committee gladly accepted the services of the Rev. E. Gammon, of the Pastors' College, for this portion of their mission field. On his arrival, a few months ago, he received a hearty welcome from the few members of the church remaining; but he found everything in disorder, and the entire population suffering from extreme poverty, the effect of the decay which since the American war has befallen their staple manufacture—that of salt. Many of the people have emigrated, and but few members remain of the flourishing communities which in years gone by have sustained the cause of Christ. Mr. Gammon has yet to visit and to examine into the state of the congregations on the Caicos, and at Puerto Plata in St. Domingo. The Committee await his report with much solicitude.

Although the other islands of this coral group have participated in the commercial distress which has fallen with such crushing weight on the Turk's Islands section, they have not suffered to a quite equal degree, and the Revds. J. Davey and W. Littlewood continue to report fair progress in the numbers of additions to the churches, and their steadfast adhesion to the scriptural truths in which they have been instructed. The Committee have called Mr. Davey's special attention to the importance of training additional men for the service of the churches, and they hope he may be able to find suitable persons for this duty, so important to their future prosperity and welfare.

JAMAICA.

The late period at which the Jamaica Baptist Union has this year held its session has deprived the Committee of their usual report. They are, however, happy to learn that the meetings of the Union have been of an unusually interesting and pleasing character, and that the Divine blessing which for some years past has attended the ministration of the brethren has been again apparent. Considerable additions have been made to the churches, the returns showing a clear increase of 499 persons, and the contributions of their congregations are considerably in advance of former years. The same cause has deprived the Committee of the account of the work of the Calabar Institution; but they are happy to record that the trying difficulties referred to last year have passed away, that harmony and Christian affection and confidence have been restored, and that the Institution is again pursuing its career in peace and with increasing usefulness. Revival services of great interest have been held at East Queen-street; and the Rev. D. J. East is permitted to rejoice in manifold tokens of Divine blessing on his arduous and devoted exertions for the benefit of the coloured people, among whom so many years of his eminently useful life has been spent.

With this year the Appeal Fund, instituted in this country four years ago, will be closed, and the two brethren sent out, in accordance with its provisions, will continue their ministry independent of the Society's aid. Both these brethren have successfully carried out the object for which they went to Jamaica. The Rev. T. L. Rees established himself at Wallingford, where, and at Hector's River, he has been able to form a church and to complete a new chapel. The Rev. P. Williams has been located at Mandeville and Zion Hill, in the county of Manchester. At Zion Hill a new church has been founded, and at Mandeville the membership is considerably increased. The Committee trust that the enlargement of the work in Jamaica thus accomplished may abide in strength, and that their two young brethren may long remain to be a blessing in the island, where God has called them to minister His Word.

EUROPE.—BRITTANY.

Early in the year the Rev. A. Jenkins opened a station at La Madeleine, a suburb of Morlaix, which in a short time became so encouraging as to induce the Committee to avail itself of the opportunity of purchasing at a small price the premises in which the work was carried on. The suburb is chiefly inhabited by the working classes. The house purchased forms a part of a small church formerly consecrated to Mary Magdalene. A large niche built in the front wall, and a massive statue of John the Baptist, are all that remain to show the purpose for which the structure was formerly used. The first floor of the building, which will hold 160 persons, is now constantly crowded with auditors, many coming from considerable distances, and, at an early hour, to join in the singing and take part in the worship of God. Several very encouraging instances of the power of God's truth have occurred, notwithstanding opposition. "You must not on any account read the Bible," said her confessor to an elderly widow who told him what she was doing. "It is a Protestant book, which positively teaches men to imitate Judas!"

At Tremel, Mr. Lecoat has had the pleasure of receiving three persons into the church, and is carrying on the mission with energy and great acceptance. At his stations in the country considerable numbers of persons assemble to hear the Word, although efforts have continually been put forth by the priests and by some of the local officials to hinder the meetings. In one instance, Mr. Lecoat was refused permission by the maire, at the grave side, to bury the corpse of a Christian woman. Leaving to obtain authorization elsewhere, the maire mocked the mourners, till at length Mrs. Lecoat stepped forth and with energy explained the message of the Gospel, and discharged the last office for the dead, to the amazement of the baffled official and with the grateful thanks of the assembled crowd.

There is, however, a prospect that these interruptions will cease. The recent changes in the Government of France are likely to facilitate the labours of the missionaries, and to remove the obstacles which it is the pleasure of French officials so often to create. Mr. Jenkins remarks:—"I am writing to you with a heart filled with gratitude to God. You are aware of the great event: the Republican party has triumphed at the elections, and by its vote the country has given the clergy a decisive check, and shown that it will bear their sway no more. The consequences of this political event must be immense, as may be gathered by the extreme efforts which the party, together with the upper classes, has made to retain power, and the anger and dismay with which they now look upon the immediate future. This is not to be wondered at, for we shall now have those liberties which almost every Government has denied the country. Colportage will be freed from the restrictions imposed upon it, and we shall not see a repetition of what occurred only a few months ago, when a colporteur was refused, by the prefect of our own county, the necessary authorization for selling the Scriptures, unless he could show a note of approval from the bishop, and was turned out of the office because he expostulated. Nor shall we be obliged, when preaching in the country, to be in constant alarm from officials, for acting without authorization and holding illegal meetings. All this is a thing of the past, it is to be hoped. France has turned a new leaf, and a new chapter begins in the history of our mission in Lower Brittany."

NORWAY.

From the Rev. G. Hübert we learn that the Word of God continues to grow in his native land. More than thirty new disciples have been added to the little bands of true worshippers which exist in many of the coast towns. In Bergen the chapel is always crowded, and so encouraging is the work that Mr. Hübert is anxious to erect a Mission Hall in another part of the city, where some of the members of the church may assist him in breaking the bread of life to the people. In the place of Mr. Sunstedt, who has left for Sweden, the Committee have engaged the services of Mr. Bakke, and they hope, during the year, to place two other brethren in important parts of this promising field.

ROME.

The work in this great centre of the Papal system continues to afford the Committee the greatest satisfaction. For a few months the new chapel was closed in order to complete it, but in the month of November was re-opened. Over the entrance may be seen the inscription "Sala Cristiana," a fitting indication of the Christian work of Mr. Wall and his coadjutors, and of which it is the principal seat. The first baptismal service in the new sanctuary took place in December last, one of the candidates having formerly been a curate of the Roman Church, then an infidel, but now a humble follower of the Saviour, to whose feet he was led by the ministry of Chevalier Grassi. About 100 persons constitute the membership of the Church. In close connection with the chapel, is the Bible and Tract Depot, from which, though it has been opened but a few months, thousands of Gospel tracts and New Testaments have been sent out to all parts of Rome and Italy. Fifty thousand copies of the New Testament have been placed at the disposal of Mr. Wall by a Christian friend in Manchester. The little volume is published in a form and style which, with various indices render it the most complete and beautiful edition existing in the Italian language. For the dispersion of the sacred book by colporteurs, the Committee have supplied Mr. Wall with the requisite funds. The book is piled in the windows of the shop, and it is interesting to watch the expression in the countenances of passers by, the scowl of the priest or monk, and the surprise of the honest seeker after truth, who enters to purchase a copy for threepence, at which low price it is sold to all who can afford it. A printing office on the upper floor of the building, enables Mr. Wall to print tracts for circulation in large numbers. Three evangelists render Mr. Wall assistance in preaching the Gospel in various parts of Rome, and a fourth in Naples. A few months ago the Committee were happy to accept the services of Mr. William Landels, who will enter on active labour as soon as he has acquired a sufficient knowledge of the language. No less efficiently does Mrs. Wall bear her part in the diffusion of Christ's Gospel. Not only is she often employed in widely circulating Scripture tracts in the houses of the people, but more especially does she devote herself to the relief of more than a hundred of the wretched beggars who swarm in the streets and at the doors of the churches throughout Rome. They assemble in a large room in Trastevere, and receive from her hands relief in food and clothing, and also listen from her lips to the words of heavenly truth and consolation.

The Committee rejoice to learn that their brethren of the General Baptist Missionary Society have energetically entered on this great field, and retain the Chevalier Grassi, one of the earliest converts made by Mr. Wall, as their representative. If the unification of Italy is one of the great events of the century, not less important is the duty of the Church of Christ to avail itself of this marvellous opportunity of preaching Christ in Rome itself—both the weakest and darkest spot of the Papal system. Thus far the Word of God has had free course, and is glorified.

FINANCES.

From the General Summary of the Cash Account, it will be seen that the Treasurer received during the year the unusually large sum of £44,762 ls. 10d. Of this amount, £1,334 came as the response of several friends to an appeal to clear away the debt of last year. £942 10s. received from the Court of Chancery on the Nicholl's residuary account, have been invested in the Legacy Fund, and £4,000 are held by the Society's trustees on behalf of the new Mission in Cachar. After deducting the receipts for these objects and for special purposes, there remain £34,888 9s. 3d. for the general expenditure of the Society. This sum has fallen considerably short of the hopes and expectations of the Committee. For the first time for several years they have to report a diminution in the receipts from the churches. The congregational collections are, indeed, about equal to last year; but the falling off is to be traced to the absence of large donations, of which during the year there have been but few. There is also a diminution of £1,684 9s. 11d. in the sum appropriated from the Legacy Fund, as compared with the large receipt from this account in the last balance-sheet; and there is also a smaller advance from the Calcutta Press by £536 9s. 10d. The Committee have thus found themselves in receipt, from these three sources alone, of £3,166 less than last year. A portion of this deficit has been met by the falling in of £1,000 from the Annuity Fund; but there is still left a deficiency of over £2,000 in the receipts of the year.

Turning to the other side of the account, there has been expended the sum of £39,433 6s. 3d., an excess over last year of £2,081 13s. 4d. Adding this to the deficiency in the receipts, the result of the year's operations has been to leave the Society in debt to the Treasurer to the amount of £4,354 12s. The increased outlay is spread over the Missions in India, Africa, Hayti, the Bahamas, and Italy. The enlargement of our missionary operations in the countries mentioned sufficiently explains the addition to the cost of the Mission. Had the Committee received from the churches, not only the same amount as last year, but that proportionate increase they had hoped to obtain—the loss of which, probably, may be accounted for by the want of prosperity in the general trade of the country—the deficiency, if any, would have been of a small amount. They cannot doubt that the friends of the Society will make every effort during the coming year to recover the ground thus lost, and will strive to provide the Committee with the means both to discharge the debt, and to meet the necessary requirements of the increased staff. On their part, the utmost economy and care will be exercised in the distribution of the funds entrusted to their hands.

The Committee are persuaded that there is no diminution in the missionary feeling among the churches. The meetings and services throughout the country have year by year multiplied in number and in interest. They have amounted during the year to nearly 1,600. Everywhere the members of the deputations are received with uniform kindness, and enjoy a hospitality which it would be difficult too highly to commend. For the arrangement and conduct of these numerous services the Committee are deeply indebted to the pastors and deacons of the churches, to the superintendents and teachers of Sunday-schools, and to the Young Men's Associations, which they are happy to see are springing up in various parts of the country. Of these, special mention should be made of the very useful auxiliaries in London and Birmingham. Nor can the Committee fail to express their hearty thanks to the missionaries at home, who have without stint given their energies as deputations, and to the many ministers and brethren who have willingly and with much self-denial helped to plead before the Lord's people the cause in which the Society is engaged. The Mission is loved the more from this contact of the churches with the missionaries, whilst their confidence in the love and prayerful sympathy of the brethren at home is increased by their mutual intercourse.

HOME PROCEEDINGS.

The most prominent incident in the home proceedings of the year has been the retirement of Dr. Underhill from the Secretaryship of the Society, an office which he has held ever since 1849, when the Rev. F. Trestrail and he were invited to it. This joint secretaryship lasted till the year 1870, when, on Mr. Trestrail's retirement from office, Dr. Underhill was appointed sole secretary, having, however, as his helpers, the Rev. C. Bailhache, as Association Secretary, and Mr. A. H. Baynes, as Finance and Minute Secretary.

During these twenty-seven years of service Dr. Underhill's labours have been of the most varied and important character. In 1854, at the request of the Committee, he went to India, with a view to the re-organisation of the mission there. With the co-operation of our missionary brethren he was enabled successfully to accomplish the objects the Committee had in view. The work of our Indian mission, in all its departments, has been carried on ever since on the basis of principles which were then adopted. The Secretary was absent during somewhat more than two years and a half, having visited every station and seen every missionary in connection with the Society in Bengal and the North-West Provinces. An equally exhaustive visit was paid to the mission in Ceylon.

In 1859, Dr. Underhill was again requested to leave home in order to visit our West Indian stations. Accompanied by Mrs. Underhill, he first went to Trinidad, thence to Hayti, and, finally, to Jamaica, where he was joined by the Rev. J. T. Brown, of Northampton. On the way home the Bahamas were visited by Dr. Underhill. The reports given of the islands were of a most satisfactory character, and the knowledge obtained by the visit has been constantly brought into practical use in the conduct of our Mission in the West down to the present day.

Once more, in 1869, Dr. Underhill gave his services to the Society by going to Africa, with a view to the adjustment of difficulties which had long existed there; and again his visit proved a success. Mrs. Underhill accompanied him, as she had done before, but only to die in an inhospitable climate. Her husband returned home, bereaved—called thus by the Master's will to the greatest of the many sacrifices already made in the prosecution of his life-work.

Two other visits—one to France and the other to Italy—in the interests of the Mission in those countries, complete the list of that kind of service rendered by the Secretary.

At home, Dr. Underhill shared with his colleagues the manifold labours of the secretaryship, bringing into use, in committee, in correspondence with the missionaries, and in his visits to the churches, the almost invaluable knowledge gained by his travels. His advantages had been exceptional, and his fitness for his work was as exceptional as the result.

The Secretary's announcement of his intention to resign his office was received by the Committee and the churches throughout the country with feelings of regret and anxiety, and it was a perfectly natural thing that an attempt should be made to mitigate the loss to the Society, as far as possible, by an arrangement which would secure to some extent, more or less, the advantage of his counsel and help. Hence the proposal that he should accept the post of Honorary Secretary—an office new to our Society, but not unknown elsewhere. Most heartily do the Committee, in the name of the Society and the denomination, thank him for his past services; and most earnestly do they express the hope that he may long be spared to render help which it is felt will always be as readily given as it will be gratefully received. Under these circumstances the Committee propose to the members of the Society, in their annual meeting, the election of Mr. A. H. Baynes and the Rev. C. Bailhache as joint secretaries of the Society.

Early in the year the Committee were called to mourn over the decease of the Rev. James Mursell, of Newcastle-on-Tyne. For ten years Mr. Mursell had shared with them the conduct of the Society's affairs, advocating its interests in many parts of the country, and sustaining the energies of the missionaries by his personal sympathy and affection. Towards the close of the year the Committee suffered a still greater loss in the death of the Rev. W. Brock, D.D., who, throughout the forty years of his connection with the Society, frequently devoted his great powers to the furtherance of its objects. He rendered services of the greatest value, manifesting in them all his ardent attachment to the Gospel, his earnest desire for its triumph in every land, his love for Christ's servants, and his loyalty to truth and Christian liberty. Of those who were his colleagues in the early years of his active exertions for the Mission, few now remain. Rapidly are they being gathered to their fathers; but the cause remains. "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, to-day, and for ever." Most surely will the same Divine Voice call out others, who, like the brethren we sorrow for, will as devoutly consecrate their best energies and their noblest eloquence to the promotion of the kingdom of our Lord. Again, the Committee commend to the support and the prayers of the friends of the Society, and of the churches, whose desire for the spread of the Gospel in heathen lands they attempt to fulfil, the missionary brethren, who both in the East and West are diligently engaged on their behalf, carrying to those who lie in darkness and under the shadow of death that great Light, which alone truly illuminates the path that leads to the life eternal.

REPORTS FROM THE STATIONS.

THE following summary, taken from the reports of each station, and, for the most part, in the words of the Missionaries themselves, contains as complete a view as practicable of the individual exertions of the Missionaries during the past year :—

The population of Calcutta was found to consist of 447,601 persons by the census of 1872, of whom 21,356 were stated to be Christians. The suburbs of Calcutta contain 285,910 persons.

1.—Mission Press.

The work of the Mission Press has been given in pages 3 to 5 of this report, and may be found in still fuller detail in the annual report of the Bible Translation Society.

2.—Work in Calcutta.

The Rev. T. C. Banerjia communicates the following details as to the work in which he is engaged :—

“I have been daily employed in my evangelistic duties. I preached every week to pretty large audiences, by turns, in three chapels situated in different places of Calcutta. I declared the Gospel truths to hundreds of people at each time in two conspicuous places at Wellington Square, whither I went several times every month. For some successive months I preached in the compound of the Lal Bazaar Chapel, where I had large audiences of promiscuous people. Here I would often have many educated and respectable hearers, with whom, after general preaching, I would be for hours engaged in conversing on religion.

“I preached every now and then at Mulali Durga, and other places on the Circular Road, before a considerable number of hearers at each time. I went often to some bazaar or other in Calcutta, where, after some effort, I generally succeeded in securing the attention of a good number of hearers. Several shopkeepers showed good feelings, and entertained me with seats and polite treatment. I visited many houses, where I was called for treating patients, and giving them medical advice gratis, and where I studiously embraced every opportunity to declare to people the truth as it is in Jesus. The people that called on me for free medical advice did not return home without hearing full particulars of the great remedy which God in mercy has provided for the formidable malady of the souls of men. I visited several houses simply for preaching, and had very interesting conversation with many respectable and educated people, as well as with the orthodox Hindoos of the old class.

I preached on different occasions before patients in the largest hospital in India. I held interesting conversations on religion, for several days in a month, with many students of the Campbell Medical School. I visited several times the villages of Belloor and Utarpara, and the noted places of Howrah and Hughly, in three of which I was very profitably engaged almost as often as I went to them. People heard me with particular attention. The visitors that called on me were, in the course of conversation, drawn to hear much of the love of God in the gift of His Son. I taught several inquirers, who came to my house, to know fully the gospel economy of salvation, and the claims it has to a Divine original.

"Of the people that heard me and my worthy and zealous friend, the Rev. G. C. Saha of the Scotch Mission, during the past year in some of the chapels mentioned above, two have declared their faith in Christ; one has joined the Free Church, and the other the General Assembly's Mission.

"Still I thank God and rejoice to see that they are the fruits of my labour, and are earnest, sincere, and faithful believers in the Lord Jesus. One of these men has come out with his wife and seven children. He heard me and Mr. Saha for about four years. He is a high-caste Koolin Brahmin. The other man that heard us during the last year only is a very promising youth. He has begun to preach the Gospel that has imparted unspeakable peace and joy to his heart. He is a gifted young man. He preaches with remarkable eloquence, zeal, and earnestness. He is a thorough Bengali scholar, knows English, and has begun to study theology, Greek, and Hebrew. I entertain high hopes of him.

"In addition to my evangelistic labours, I rendered during the last year regular assistance to the pastor of the Intally Church by conducting divine service with his congregation. I helped also a Presbyterian pastor by preaching once a month for him. I had for some months a Bible-class for young men connected with the Intally Church.

"Last year I wrote to you about my brother and his wife; this year I have to say that he is dead! He departed this life on the 20th of September last. During the three months he stayed in my house I conversed with him daily for hours on the subject of religion; removed most of his objections by long discussion; refuted all the arguments he could possibly adduce against the religion of the Lord Jesus from the writings of the British and Continental infidels of the last and present centuries; read to him several lectures and treatises in defence of the Christian religion; and persuaded him regularly to go to a place of divine worship, and some religious meetings. He seemed to be a different man from what he was when he came to my house. His good wife, who was a strict Hindu and a devoted worshipper of idols, manifested a marvellous change for the better in every way. They both would gladly join us in our family worship, and the Hindu woman sometimes appeared much affected by my exhortations. After leaving my place he read the Bible and some religious books with attention and delight, but after some months he fell so seriously ill and his health was so much shattered that he could not possibly read anything, or hear anybody with patience and attention even for a quarter of an hour. I would go now and then to see him, and speak to him of the religion of the Lord Jesus according to the opportunity I could find. The last time I went to him at his special call I found him dead on his bed. His widow, who read about fifty tracts and books of the Christian religion, and heard my exposition of the Bible for some months, is now in the family of her Hindu brother, an influential lawyer and a rich man at Hughly. She is very much afraid of him and her mother, and seems to have no moral fortitude to avow to the world her convictions regarding the subject of religion. Poor soul, I pity her. May God look down graciously upon her, quicken her heart by grace and His Holy Spirit, and enable her to follow the Lord Jesus as her only Saviour!"

Another native labourer in Calcutta, the Rev. S. P. Buksb, reports as follows:—

"Every morning during the year, Sundays and some other days excepted, I used to visit from house to house in that quarter where I myself am living. The circle of my visitation was, Gobrah on the south, Seal-dah on the north, Intally on the west, and Salt Lakes on the east. Within this circle thousands and thousands of people of different caste, ranks, and sect, are living, and I in the centre of it. The place where I live is called Kamardanga, and it is almost in the centre of this circle. I visited lofty houses and humble huts, and by doing so I was enabled to preach Christ and Him crucified to the rich and respectable, as well as to the poor and needy; not only to the men but to the women also. In some houses where I conversed with the men in outer departments I observed the women to peep out and hear my words from their female-apartments.

"In some houses I have had sweet-meats to eat, and once a poor old Hindoo woman, who had nothing with her to give me, offered half a seer of milk to drink. I thank God that by this means, with much encouragement and less discouragement, I had good opportunities to spread Christian knowledge and diffuse the light of the Gospel among many Hindoos and Mohammedans, rich and poor, learned and ignorant, men and women.

"Every evening throughout the year, Saturday and Sunday excepted, I had fixed for preaching the Gospel in the streets. The following places were selected for my street-preaching: different places on Circular Road, such as Napit Bazaar, Goukhana, corner of the South Colinga Road and that of Park Street, Baitakkhana and Wellesley Street near Mohammedan College, and also the different places on the Strand, such as Hautkhola, Mint Ghat and Babus Ghat, and Shambazaar: these places are within the town of Calcutta; Chitpore, Khidurpore, Chetta, Taligunge, Old Baligunge, Balla Ghata, and Soonra: these places are in the suburbs of Calcutta. Hundreds and thousands of people, inhabitants of different countries, followers of different religions and sects, of different ranks and posts, of different talents, educated and non-educated, rich and poor, men and women, heard the Word of God in these places during the year. In my street-preaching I was often accompanied by brothers Ram Krishna Kobiraj and Surup Chunder Sen, and occasionally by other brethren. I often and often used to sing our hymns in my street-preaching, sometimes before the preaching and sometimes after it. I used, now and then, short prayers with my preaching.

"Besides my morning visitation and evening preaching, I preached Christ in season and out of season. My door was always opened for visitors from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. every day; and I often received my visitors by this time, and conversed with them on religious subjects.

"I had three inquirers in last year, all Hindoos by birth. One of them is an inhabitant of Khidurpore, who, as he himself expressed, often heard our preaching at Khidurpore. Now he believes in our Lord, and is a candidate for baptism. Another is an inhabitant of Calcutta, and of a rich family. He has read with me for the last three years; but thanks be to God, he acknowledged our Lord Jesus to be his Saviour in last year. Now he is a believer, and a candidate for baptism. And the last one is one of my neighbours; he lives near my house, and comes to me to read the Scriptures in English every Saturday and Sunday regularly. This youth is also of a respectable family. He is in favour of Christianity, but still he has some doubts on the Divinity of our Saviour.

"During the last year, I had two itinerating trips; one in the beginning of the year, in the month of January, in which my lot fell to preach the Gospel at Cutwah.

"About a week I preached in Cutwah, at different places, and paid visits to some of the respectable families. Thanks be to God that I found the people of both classes here ready to receive me well, and hear the Gospel with great attention. One day a respectable family of this place, Brahmin by caste, sent lots of sweetmeats for us. I was also cordially received and loved by the brethren and sisters here. I shared with them in week services, performed one Sabbath service, and gave a sermon in Bengali for their edification.

"I had another trip in the month of November to preach the Word of Life at Narainpore, some seven miles away from the railway station of Rampore Hant.

"Every day, as long as I was at Narainpore, I was fully engaged in religious conversations with the people, who were daily resorting to my lodgings purposely to hear the Gospel. They were Hindoos, Mohammedans, and Santals, not only men, but women also. Some of them were coming from distant villages, where I had no chance to go and preach Christ to them. I was not engaged only in the day, but part of the nights was also spent in speaking with them. Sometimes I was so engaged with them that I had no time to eat.

"During the absence of our dear brother Goolzar Shahn I continually helped his congregation by performing the Sabbath services in Colinga Chapel. I also assisted the pastor of the Intally Church by occupying the pulpit by turns, and performing other ministerial functions for the edification of the Church and congregation during the year.

"In last year, I translated two small pamphlets from Hindustani into Mussulman-Bengali for the Tract Society, one on the Divinity of our Lord, and the other on the True Repentance. I also composed one in Mussulman-Bengali, for the use of Mohammedans of the Bengal Presidency, for the same Society. The Proverbs of Solomon, in Bengali, have been versified by me. The work is completed, but still it is under revision."

3.—Zenana Work.

In Calcutta and its neighbourhood there are now, under Mrs. Lewis's direction, three lady Zenana visitors, and fourteen native Bible women and teachers employed constantly. There are five girls' schools, numbering 160 children. Those engaged in the Zenana visiting express in their letters great encouragement from the evident increase and steadfastness of the faith in Christ amongst the Hindoo women they visit, as shown by their patience in affliction, open confession on the death-bed, and anxiety to impart to others the blessed tidings they have received. The Hindoo lady who wrote the hymn which was read at the meeting last year has been instrumental in bringing her mother-in-law to Christ; and another woman who has stood firm amidst persecution for two years or more has, by her patient endurance, overcome much of the ill-will, and is now allowed to receive the visits of the Christian teachers again. The New Testament and other parts of the Bible, the "Peep of Day," and the "Pilgrim's Progress" are the constant reading-books.

II.—CHURCHES IN CALCUTTA.

1.—Circular Road.

Pastor, A. WILLIAMS.

Number of members, 164.

The Rev. G. H. Rouse, who is occupying the pulpit during Mr. Williams' absence, has furnished the following report. In addition to the facts already given at p. 16, Mr. Rouse says :—

"The history of the Church during the year has not presented any very marked features. Nothing has occurred to disturb the unity of the brotherhood, and the members have, for the most part, maintained a consistent Christian walk.

"On Mr. Wenger's leaving for fur-lough in England, it was thought desirable to elect two additional deacons. Mr. G. S. Sykes and Mr. R. A. Williamson were accordingly elected by the Church, and have devoted themselves with much energy to the work to which they have been called. These two brethren are both sons of earnest men of God, who did good work for His Church on earth, and are now gone to glory.

"During the early part of the year we had several social meetings of members of the church, to enable them to become better acquainted personally with one another, and to seek mutual edification by the consideration of some subject connected with spiritual life. The meetings were pleasant, and I believe profitable. We hope to repeat them this year. One result of them has been the formation of a Dorcas Society, which meets monthly.

"The weekly meetings in Mr. De Rozario's house have been continued during the year, and the attendance is very encouraging. Besides this, our young brother Mr. J. A. De Cruz, who joined the church three or four years ago, has been very active in the neighbourhood in which he lives, which is called Taltollah, in visiting the residents, and seeking to lead them to Christ. He has commenced a Sunday morning service in the house of one of the residents, and good is evidently being done. He has also formed a Branch Total Abstinence Society, as drunkenness is productive of so much evil in the neighbourhood.

"The fortnightly meetings in Miss Johnston's house have been continued, and a considerable number attend them.

"This year, as last, we had in Calcutta a series of special united evangelistic services. The attendance was at first not so great as last year, but an earnest spirit pervaded them and good was evidently done. Weeks of special services were held afterwards at several Chapels, our own included. Two of those who joined our Church traced their conversion to these special meetings; but our expectations had been so raised by the ingathering of last year that we were disappointed at not reaping a fuller harvest.

"Still, the Lord has not left us without manifest tokens of His presence with us. In all, twelve persons have been baptized during the year. One of these was 'an old disciple,' who had known the Lord for many years.

"In addition to the pastorate of Circular Road Church other matters have taken up my attention during the year. An average of two or three hours daily has been given to proof-reading, chiefly of Bengali Scriptures printed either for the Bible Translation or for the Calcutta Bible Society. This, though not very intellectual, is yet rather tiring work, as the eye and mind have to be fixed steadily on the details of the printed page, and a mistake in a single small letter will sometimes turn a whole sentence into nonsense. During the year I have also paid some attention to the subject of Mussulmani-Bengali literature. The late census has revealed to us that the Mohammedans form the larger part of the population of Eastern Bengal, and yet almost all the Bengali Christian literature is intended to present the truth to Hindoos; the controversial tracts almost all oppose Hindooism rather than Mohammedanism, and the arguments and illustrations used are adapted rather to the Hindoo than the Mussulman mind.

Besides, works intended for Moham-medans ought to be written in Mus-sulmani-Bengali, a dialect of Bengali containing more or less of Moham-medan, that is, Hindustani phrase-ology.

"I have also commenced a Bengali Commentary on Isaiah, as it is felt that there is great need for good commentaries in Bengali. I hope I may be able to finish it during 1876. With my other work I was not able to give much attention to street-preaching in the vernacular, but I usually went out three mornings in the week with Babu Christanya Biswas, to Beliaghatta, about two miles off, where a large number of boatmen from Eastern Bengal, chiefly Mohammedans, come for trade. We generally got an attentive audience to listen to the Gospel message; and we distributed tracts and sold Scriptures, which we hope may carry light to some distant villages where it may be the Gospel has never been heard.

"During the year a few other secondary matters also took up my time. It was thought desirable that I should take up the secretaryship of the Calcutta Auxiliary Baptist Missionary Society, which was almost defunct. It has revived a little, and has taken Christanya Biswas on as preacher, in addition to Moti Lal, the only preacher who had been for some time permanently on its funds. But it is far more difficult to get funds for any religious or other object than it was some years ago. India is no longer the land of rich men, and in these Suez Canal days the sympathies of residents in India are much more with England than with India. Latterly, owing to the serious illness of Mr. Moncrieff and of Mr. John Robinson, I have also had to take up, for a time, the secretaryship of the Benevolent Institution. And I have also had charge of the South Australian Baptist Mission in Furreedpore, and of the churches near the Mutlah during Mr. W. Wenger's absence in England; and the editorship of the Christian Spectator has remained in my hands."

2.—Lal Bazaar.

Pastor, JOHN ROBINSON.

Number of members, 155.

The failure of Mr. Robinson's health has obliged him to retire from the active duties of the pastorate. Mr. Robinson reports as follows:—

"The open-air services in the grounds of the Lal Bazaar Chapel were commenced in October, 1874, and kept up without intermission till April, 1875; the addresses were delivered in English, Bengali, or Hindustani, according to the number of those present who spoke and understood either of those languages. Our usual services in the chapel have been regularly kept up and well attended. Among the European and African sailors who resort to the chapel, several have, we believe, been savingly converted. A few have been baptized, but a large number left the port shortly after their conversion. The following incident, which occurred in March, may prove interesting:—Bibles in different languages, to the value of 20 rupees (£2), were given as a thank-offering, to be disposed of to sailors at half price. A number of them were present when the parcels were opened. Some came forward and made their purchases. Others looked and longed, but could not afford to pay, and were unwilling to take the books on credit. Just at this time a young sailor, named Donelly, came up, and laying a five rupee note on the table, said that was to pay, as far as it went, for those who could not pay. After distribution had been made, Donelly spoke to them in a very interesting manner, directing his address especially to his shipmates, who had often mocked and jeered at him when he knelt down to pray in the fore-castle. He spoke of the blessedness of serving the Lord, and urged his companions to come to Jesus. His address was listened to with deep attention, and in the course of that week twelve sailors professed to find peace in believing. Donelly and two more joined the Church, and were baptized. The others, though not baptized, gave good ground for hope that they had been brought to a saving knowledge of the truth.

"During the rains we were not able to continue the outdoor services, but they were again commenced in September, when the Brethren Spurgeon and Brown were with us. I cannot tell you how much we missed dear Brother Mintridge, who ever took a deep interest in these meetings, and found them refreshing to his soul. Very early after the commencement of these services, in September last, a sailor, named Allen, decided for the Lord, and, on the day before he left this port, had an opportunity of telling what the Lord had done for his soul, in the presence of about 130 sailors, who had come in to a tea-meeting. These meetings for tea and address deserve a passing notice. The whole affair is got up, and the provisions supplied, entirely by our young friends, members of the Church; some of whom issue cards of invitation, or use other means to bring the sailors in, while others wait in the lecture-room to give them a welcome. And after the tea, during which much pleasing conversation goes on, addresses are delivered by ministers and others. Our dear young friends have found their reward in seeing many awakened, and being themselves made the means of their conversion.

"The number this year who have at our meetings professed their determination to follow the Lord, has exceeded a hundred.

"We have this year received by baptism and dismissal from other churches, 24. Three more were received last night, and will be baptized, I hope, next Sunday. But our number has been diminished by 4 exclusions, 6 deaths, and 2 cases of withdrawal.

"The chapel-roof, which was completed last year, and other expenses connected with the lighting and repairs, cost 6,750 rupees, nearly the whole of which, all but 150 rupees, has been cleared. I think you will allow our people have done well."

3.—Intally.

Pastor, GUGUN CHUNDER DOSS.

Number of members, 91.

At the end of January, 1875, the Rev. G. Kerry resigned the pastorate of this native church, and the Rev. G. C. Doss was chosen by the members as his successor. He was ordained on the 20th April, in the presence of many missionaries and pastors, both English and Bengali, and has undertaken the charge of the church gratuitously. Five persons have been baptized during the year, ten were received from other churches, one was restored to the communion, and there is one candidate for baptism. The worshippers every Lord's-day average 120 persons. The interesting circumstances of Mr. Doss's settlement are fully detailed in a letter from him, inserted in the March number of the Missionary Herald, of the year 1876.

4.—Intally Christian Institution.

Missionaries, G. KERRY, R. J. ELLIS.

Number of scholars, 250.

5.—Boarding School for Native Christian Girls.

Missionary, Mrs. KERRY.

Number of scholars, 40.

Of these Institutions, Mr. Kerry reports as follows:—

"Intally Institution.

"There is little to report regarding this School; its work has been steadily carried on as in former years. The one noticeable fact has been an attempt made by a party of rigid Hindoos, to establish a school in the neighbourhood in opposition to the Christian school. By the connivance of one of the subordinate officers of the educational department, to transfer a Government-aided school to our neighbourhood, it was some time before I was aware of it, though I was puzzled at the few scholars in some of the lower classes, and at the small number of new boys coming to school at the beginning of the year. When I learnt the facts, I represented them to the magistrate, who gave immediate orders for the removal of the school from our vicinity to its original locality.

"Girls' School."

"This School has been carried on as usual, having through great part of the year from sixty to seventy pupils. Though none of the girls have been baptized, we have reason to know that some have been led to seek the Saviour, who would have been baptized but for our carefully avoiding anything which would make their baptism seem to be an act done to please their teachers. We have had one great trouble, however, namely, the want of funds. This year funds failed as they have never done during the past six years, and, as food continued to be high priced, our difficulty was all the greater. Mrs. Kerry is obliged, for the sake of her sons, to return for a season to England, but it is arranged that the school shall be carried on by Mrs. Ellis, formerly of Jessore, so that the work will not be stopped. Mrs. Kerry leaves her work with much regret, and earnestly commends it to the generous and prayerful remembrance of the kind friends who have helped her in past years, and trusts they will continue the same help to Mrs. Ellis, who now takes her place."

With the beginning of this year, Mr. Kerry removed to Barisal, and his place has been taken by the Rev. R. J. Ellis.

A report of this native church has not reached us, but we learn that the pastor has had to contend with many difficulties.

III.—HOWRAH.

Missionaries, T. MORGAN and

E. C. B. HALLAM.

Number of Members, 55.

Howrah, in the district of Hooghly, may be regarded as a suburb of Calcutta, and is situated on the opposite side of the River Hooghly. As it is the site of the chief railway-station to the North-West Provinces, it has become a very busy and populous town, its inhabitants numbering 97,784 souls.

As the Rev. T. Morgan is in England for his health, the following report has been supplied by the Rev. E. C. B. Hallam:—

"The writer joined this station on Saturday the 2nd January.

"During the past ten months the members of the English congregation have manifested a commendable degree of interest in the work of the Lord; and to this fact in a great measure may be attributed the very marked increase in the congregations both on Sundays and week days.

"The services have been well and regularly attended, and the presence of the Lord has been enjoyed by us.

"There have been 22 cases of hopeful conversion; 11 of these have been baptized and received into fellowship; one has been baptized, but has not yet sought fellowship in the church; another is a candidate for baptism and church fellowship, and the remaining nine have not yet asked for baptism, though it is known that some of them are thinking seriously on the subject. Besides these, two Pndobaptist brethren have been baptized and received into fellowship. Two others have been received by letter from Allahabad.

"The native portion of the church has also been in some measure quickened. Three have been baptized, and one is seeking baptism. Five others have been hopefully reclaimed from backsliding. One has died.

"A series of 'cottage prayer meetings' has been commenced among the brethren at their own suggestion. It is hoped that good may result from this spontaneous movement.

"Two of the brethren engage in bazaar work, and one in colportage, the two former without pay.

" Sunday Schools.

"An English Sunday school was organized on the 1st Sunday in February and has been carried on vigorously ever since.

"A library has been added, which already contains 178 volumes.

"The 'Berean Leaf' has been introduced, and 75 copies subscribed for, most of which are used.

"A 'Child's Paper' is about to be introduced from the month of January, 1876.

"Total number of names on roll, 94.

"The Bengali Sunday school was re-organized on the first Sunday in April.

"There are about 96 names on the roll, about 60 of which are the names of heathen lads, who are taught in our patshalas; the remaining 36 are names of native Christians, adults and children of both sexes.

"The attendance has fallen off considerably of late, owing to the absence of many of the heathen lads, especially during the late poojahs. Efforts are being made to induce the boys to attend more regularly. For the six months during which the school has been in operation, the average attendance has been about 50.

"Fifty copies of the Bengali 'Berean Leaf' are taken, and our native Christians, with a few of the heathen lads, are beginning to appreciate them. Besides our large Scripture class, we have two infant classes who are taught from large printed Bible pictures, chiefly scenes from the lives of the patriarchs and Christ.

" Day Schools.

"Two patshalas are sustained in the suburbs, but with what profit either to the lads themselves or to the mission, the missionary is not prepared to say. They are taught by heathen teachers, and are scarcely likely to gain much knowledge of divine things, save as they do so by means of the Sunday school. They (the patshalas) are sustained by local funds and are, therefore, free to the boys, and this gives us a hold upon the boys on Sunday.

" Dorcas Society.

"In July a Dorcas Society was organized. Regular meetings are held at the houses of the members by turn, twice every month, at which new garments are made, or second-hand ones are repaired, for distribution among the poor.

" Home Mission Society.

"This Society also was formed in July. Its object is to bring souls to Christ by the use of all available and Scriptural means.

"Its modes of operation at present are, tract distribution, house-to-house visitation, preaching in the vernacular, &c.

"With the exception of the native evangelists, its agents, thus far, are all volunteers. They have already met with encouragement in their work, in every department.

"A native preacher has been appointed, with salary and house allowance of Rs. 25 per mensem.

"A cottage prayer-meeting has been established by one of the members, which is in a flourishing condition.

"Conclusion.

"The congregation, both on Sunday and week-days, is good. A number of persons are professedly seeking salvation, and the people's hearts and purses appear to be open for every good work.

"The missionary feels much encouraged, and hopes to be able, ere another year closes, to report a strong, vigorous, working church in Howrah.

"Brethren pray for us."

STATIONS AND CHURCHES IN BENGAL.

I.—DUM-DUM.

Pastor.—C. B. LEWIS.

Number of members, 11.

This station, chiefly occupied by the military, lies to the north of Calcutta about seven miles. The settled population is between five and six thousand.

II.—BARASET.

Native Missionaries, PUDMA LOCHUN

ROY and KEDAR NATH

MOOKERJI.

Number of members, 6.

This is the principal town of the division of the same name, and contains some 11,822 inhabitants. It is about fourteen miles to the N.N.E. of Calcutta.

The missionary brethren furnish us with the following report:—

"When brother Kedar Nath Mukerji and I go to preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ, which giveth peace, to the agricultural labourers, then they receive us with joy, and almost all listen attentively to our words. Sometimes they bring learned men of their own and neighbouring villages to talk with us on the subject of religion. When this man is defeated in argument, or says to the hearers, 'What these men say is not bad, it is all profitable;' then some of the listeners say, 'True, we can say nothing in opposition to their words.' We then seek earnestly to make the Divine Word enter into their hearts; but sad to say, the seed of the Word does not find an entrance into their hearts; they hear, but they do not consider; a little light, like that of a fire-fly, enters their hearts, but through want of consideration it is soon extinguished.

"The Hindoos will not eat or intermarry with those of other castes; but there is now much more freedom of intercourse with Christians and others than there used to be. Many of the people of Bengal read the Bible with attention; and some frankly confess that without a knowledge of the Bible there can be no true knowledge of religion. Others say that the four gospels are sufficient to obtain a knowledge of true religion; that Jesus Christ was a marvellous man; that none was obedient to God as He was; and that if we have not the loving faith towards God which He had, we cannot gain religious life. They confess that the teaching of Jesus regarding the worship of God is marvellous and true. He said we can know God only by repentance and truth, and that this is really so. Confessions such as these we have often heard from the mouths of Hindoos. Although millions of the people of Bengal are idolaters, and are far from the kingdom of Christ, yet through the light of Christianity a great deal of their darkness is being removed; of this fact we have many proofs. The priests unblushingly make confessions like these to us:—'The women of the Zenana, in many cases, having received instruction opposed to Hinduism, have given up the practice of their religious rites. The people give us a bad name, saying that we rob them of their money by our deceit. They give us a little outward reverence in the presence of others, on the ground that we are their ancestral priests, but the Hindu religion is being destroyed.'

"When we go from one village or sub-division to another, we often find that respectable people come to us by night, and listen attentively to the Gospel; and if any rich man or Zemindar lives there, he invites us to his house, bids us be seated, and sends for any intelligent men who may be in the village to come and converse with us, one man being chosen to lead the conversation. So it was on four occasions last year. We give the account of one such visit. At Basirhat we remained six days, staying on a sand-bank by the side of the river, and went about in all directions preaching. One day, as we were returning in the evening, we met a respectable man, and when he learned that we were preachers of the Gospel, he said, 'Come with me, and we will, several of us, listen to what you have to say.' He took us to the house of a rich man, where, in a short time, sixteen respectable persons came together. After some time the master of the house stopped the conversation, and asked us to give an account of our religion. We said, 'Jesus is come from God as the Saviour of all men. He who feels the burden of his sins, and casts them by faith on Christ, shall be blessed in this world and in the world to come, and through the righteousness of Jesus Christ will gain eternal life in heaven.' The hearers listened attentively, and at the close the master of the house rose, and asked us to come again the next evening. Thus two evenings, from sunset to eleven at night, we taught them regarding the religion of Jesus Christ. At Baraset there lives an intelligent and much-respected Babu, named Kali Krishna Mitra. For many years he has been a seeker after the truth; we have therefore had long conversations with him. In April and May, 1875, he seemed to be more drawn towards the truth, he became more bold, engaged in prayer regularly in his house, and four times we openly united with him in prayer, in the presence of many of his Hindu friends. One day he said to us, 'About eighteen or nineteen years ago Dr. Underhill came to Baraset, with a view to the establishment of a mission here. He happened to come to my house, and spoke to me about the omnipresence of God; he seemed to make me feel the near presence of God. My mind was thus drawn towards the Almighty, through Dr. Underhill's words, and when he left I was much impressed by his courteous demeanour.' On June 5th, the Baboo, expressing his faith in the Trinity, was baptized in his tank. We are sorry to say, however, that through the influence of his friends, he has remained a secret Christian since then."

III.—TWENTY-FOUR PERGUNNAHS.

Missionaries, G. KERRY,

ROMANATH ROY CHOWDHRY.

Number of members, 337.

A district lying along the eastern bank of the Hooghly, around Calcutta, and extending southwards to the sea. Narsigdarchoke is 16 miles from Calcutta, Lukhyantipore 35 miles, and Khari 50 miles. The other stations, excepting Tambulda, which is S.E. of Calcutta about 16 miles, lie grouped around the above. The population of the district is given as 2,210,047 in the census of 1872. Dum-Dum and Baraset are included in it.

Mr. Kerry reports as follows:—

"It has caused great grief to me and the brethren in these village churches that my colleague Romanath Roy Chowdhry has for many months of the year been laid aside from his work by serious illness; he is suffering from enlargement of the spleen and malarious fever, brought on chiefly by his diligent itineracies in the swampy regions where these churches are located. The district seems to have become more unhealthy than it used to be, and it is now almost as perilous for Bengalis not born and brought up in them to spend much time in these villages as for Europeans.

"I earnestly hope and pray that God may be pleased to restore my dear brother to health and strength, for his labours have been very abundant and very efficient. He had fully won the love and confidence of the brethren in the villages. His piety and zeal and gentleness, combined with considerable ability and firm grasp of Gospel truth, gave him marvellous power over the people, whether Christian or non-Christian. His presence among the people is greatly missed, for they seem to need, more than most people, a leader and an example in Christian work and effort. This he has been among them during the past five years.

"It is now six years since, at the request of the Committee, I undertook to lead these churches to take upon themselves more than they had ever done before, the duties and responsibilities of Christian men, in the maintenance among themselves of public worship and Christian work. On the whole, very pleasing success has attended this effort. I am bound to say the success is largely due to the assistance given me by Romanath. Year by year the stipends of the pastors have been reduced in amount. For the first two or three years the people collected among themselves for their pastors, and supplied the whole or nearly the whole of the deficiency caused by the reduction of the payments made from the Society. There was one church, however, which did nothing for its pastor. The collection was made at the end of the year after harvest. But this year, owing partly to Romanath's absence, and partly to the very hard times of the last year or two, the pastors will receive very little money from their people. The testing time of this new movement has now come; and as some new circumstances very trying to these feeble communities are arising, I feel some anxiety as to what the result will be.

"The pastor of the small Church at Rajarampore died at the end of the year. His people had done nothing for his support; the reason of this may have been in part that he was on the whole as well off as the rest of them, having a little land on the proceeds of which he lived, aided by the allowance from the Society. These people of Rajarampore are not, I fear, in a very good state in regard to piety, and they are few in number; so few that it cannot be expected, poor as they are, that they should support a minister. I am hoping that they will soon choose one of themselves as pastor, and they promise to try and do something for him. Luckhynarayan Mundle has been connected with us for about sixteen years; he testified at the last, as he had done for so many years, to his faith and hope in the Lord Jesus.

"The Church in the two villages, Nursigdarchoke and Russool Mahomed Choke, has for its pastor a man somewhat advanced in years; his people did a little for him in former years, but this year he will receive little or nothing, I fear. He has brought me a letter addressed to the Committee, in which he states his hard case as he feels it, with simplicity and truth.

"The people of this Church have shown a willingness to do something for themselves.

"The Church at North Luckhyan-tipore has shown greater dissatisfaction with the new order of things than any of the other churches. At first they submitted with apparent goodwill. Their pastor is a comparatively young man who was trained for evangelistic work in Mr. Pearce's class; his case was one of great hardship, and he was anxious to return to the work of preaching to the heathen. I have therefore placed him at our station, Rosh Kali, where he will have a large field for work. The people he has left now ask me to give them up to some other Missionary Society that will supply them with a free pastor and chapel as we used to do. They appear, at present, quite disposed to leave us. I hope, however, that this is but a temporary fit of displeasure, and that kindly remonstrance will bring them to a better state of mind.

"The Church at South Luckhy-antipore and Dhanghatta has chosen for their pastor a man who has for thirty years or more been employed as an evangelist, but who is now more suited to home work. The people here have loyally accepted the new order of things; but then they are somewhat better off than some of the other churches—they are more numerous, and have some land now belonging to the church, about three acres, which helps them in the maintenance of their pastor. In the early part of the year there were some baptisms here; also a family from the heathen joined the Christian community.

"At Khari there has been a good deal of activity at times; a Sunday-school was established, and prayer meetings increased in number. In former years the people did nobly for their pastor's support, but this year they say they can do very little. Bad harvests have caused them to fall into arrears with their rents, and their landlords are pressing them very much. In the early part of the year there were fifteen baptisms here, and others are seeking fellowship with the Church.

"At intervals during the past thirty years, the Roman Catholics have made efforts among the Christian people of the South to draw them aside, but till within the last two or three years these efforts have had little success. Now the efforts have been increased, and the Catholic Missions have seemingly gained a footing. They have gained very few of our people directly. In former years, the agents of the Propagation Society, in a most unscrupulous way, made inroads upon our people, and drew a considerable number away from us by various influences, chiefly pecuniary. Now the Roman Catholics are gaining these people in large numbers. It has been so at Khari and at Dhanghatta. Of course, we have some unstable and fickle-minded ones amongst us, and it would be surprising if some did not leave us; but it is a cause of great joy that hitherto our people remain generally firm. Past conflicts of a similar kind with proselytising missions have no doubt strengthened the character of the people. We see also the advantage of having trained the people to regard the Scriptures as the foundation of their faith, the sole authority in religion.

"Rosh Kali and Bishtopore are two centres of Evangelistic work. At each place two evangelists are stationed who diligently preach the Gospel in the district around."

IV.—SERAMPORE.

1. English Church.

Pastor, J. TRAFFORD, M.A.

2. Native Church. JOHNNUGGER.

Pastor, GUNGA NARAYAN.

Number of members, 75.

3. Serampore College.

President, J. TRAFFORD, M.A.

Tutors, C. JORDAN, J. THOMAS.

Number of scholars, 300.

Serampore, in the district of Hooghly, is about fourteen miles from Calcutta, with which city it is connected by railway. It lies on the western bank of the River Hooghly. The population numbers 38,463.

Mr. Jordan writes as follows :—

"Our college classes last year did not vary much in point of number from those of the preceding.

"We sent nine students to the Matriculation Examination of the Calcutta University, out of whom six passed.

"Altogether seven students went to the First Arts Examination, but of these one only passed.

"Mr. Martin and myself, in addition to the ordinary routine work, as to which we are mainly guided by the University curriculum, attended to the daily work of teaching and preaching Christ to all the youths and young men who come to our college. Mr. Martin went through part of the Epistles to the Corinthians, as well as that to the Galatians, whilst I took up the Gospel by Luke, and also some portion of Dr. Angus' excellent work, 'Christ our Life.' During the greater part of the year Mr. Martin and myself went out to preach in the vernacular twice a week.

"We have had the English chapel repaired. Our congregations have been good, and I hope our labour there has not been in vain in the Lord. Latterly I have recommenced a prayer-meeting at the chapel on Wednesday evening, and have been encouraged by the attendance thereat.

"We lost our Zenana teacher in October last, and have not yet been able to find a suitable substitute. In connection with this latter branch of work, I have had the happiness of baptizing a widow lady of Brahmin caste. She was long a believer, and had to suffer for Christ's sake. At last she forsook all and followed the master. She is now under instruction in Calcutta, and is most kindly cared for by our excellent friend Mrs. Lewis. May this Brahmin lady by and by bring light and healing into many a wretched Bengali house!"

Mr. Thomas writes as follows respecting the departments under his charge :—

"The session just closing has not been quite so successful as the last, which was, in every respect, exceptionally successful.

"The numbers have slightly fallen off, the average daily attendance during the year having been 236 against 259 in 1874; the largest average attendance was 273 in April, against 277 in April last year.

"These numbers do not include the European class, in which the daily attendance has almost doubled. With the exception, however, of the session of 1874, the numbers in the school have been larger this year than they have been for many years past.

"The falling off in the attendance may be partly accounted for by the fact that a new school has lately sprung up in the neighbourhood, and it may also have been due partly to the increase of the malarious fever, which has now for some years hung about Serampore and the neighbouring villages.

"A disturbance in the school, arising from a misunderstanding between some of the European and Bengali boys, which occurred about September last, led to a good many of the boys being suspended for two or three weeks, and in consequence several left the institution; but we trust that all unpleasantness resulting from it has quite past away, and that for the future all will be able to work in harmony.

"The results of the recent examinations, while on the whole satisfactory, have not been altogether so. Some of the classes have done well, the sixth and last very well; but while in every class there are boys who have done creditably to themselves and to their teachers—in some cases, indeed, exceedingly well, still some of the classes made but a poor show in the examination. This was especially the case with the first class, and to a less but still noticeable extent with the second, third, and fifth classes. But, while finding fault, I have no wish to impute blame to the teachers, who have, I believe, worked as hard this year and as patiently as in any past year. The result to which I have referred, and which I regret, has been caused almost entirely by the fact that there have been in these classes a larger number than usual of boys who have been unfit for the class they have been in, and unequal to the work they have had to do.

"I trust that experience will have taught us the necessity of being more careful and more strict, in the future, in promoting the boys; but I wish I could hope to have the sympathy and the co-operation of the parents of the boys in this by no means easy task."

Of the Native Christian Boarding School Mr. Thomas reports:—

"The past session has been a chequered one, and at times I have been not a little tired. To speak first of my difficulties.

"In March, a charge of a very serious nature was brought against our senior student, respecting a girl to whom he was engaged to be married. I proceeded to Hooghly to investigate this charge, and not only did I find it to be utterly false, but the investigation revealed a depth of depravity, on the part of the parents of the girl, both of whom were professing Christians, which was truly astonishing. The result of all was, that Kally Podda felt it his duty to marry the girl, in order to remove her from her parents' influence, and to this, after carefully considering all the circumstances, I gave an unwilling consent.

"Two other lads gave me a good deal of trouble during the first half of the year: in consequence of their misconduct, I was compelled to suspend them for a time, nor did they remain long in the house after they were permitted to return.

"The general health of the boys has on the whole been better than it was last year; still we have had two serious cases of fever (not typhoid), and two or three of the other boys have been more or less troubled with it.

"The number of boys in the house has been about the same as last year. There have generally been thirty-three present, but for two months the number rose to thirty-eight. There appears to be no immediate prospect of its reaching fifty, as was originally anticipated, unless, indeed, we were to throw open the school to any who might like to come, in which case it might be easy to fill the house with boys, whose parents would be glad to have them boarded free of expense to themselves.

"The native Christian community is not yet, I believe, prepared to send us as many as fifty boys, such as we should be glad to have, and we must have patience, if we do not see the school prospering to this extent.

"But this report must not be altogether desponding, nor need it; I have boys in the school of excellent ability and who are working well. The friends of the institution might like to have a short account of these. Among the best are the four lads from Barisaul, sent me by our late lamented Brother Sale; their success bears testimony, not merely to the carefulness of his choice, but also to the excellence of that system of village education which he instituted, and of which these boys are the first, and I fear, almost the only fruits.

"One of these, Anundo Kobiraj, is anxious to become, what his second name imports, a Doctor, and I have this year given him leave to attend the Serampore Hospital, and to devote a part of his time to the study of medicine. He very much wants to try and get admission to the native medical class at Sealdah in Calcutta. It will be necessary for him to pass an examination, and for this he intends to compete about June next.

"He will have to provide himself with board, lodgings, clothes and books, besides paying a fee of three rupees (six shillings) a month; still Mr. Ellis and I have both urged him to go on and try, in the hope that all needed help will be forthcoming.

"Koylas Sirdar, who is supported by the Frome Sunday School (Mr. Rooke's) has again done well, having gained the second place in the fifth class, at the recent examination. The two other boys from Barisaul have also done well: Prem Chand stood fourth and Russik sixth in their classes.

"A lad from Soory, Preo Nath Chuckerbutty, bids fair to make a good student in time; he is only in the eighth class as yet, but I hope to see him do well some day. He was facile princeps in his class in English, but having been deficient in arithmetic when he came, he is not yet quite able to compete with the best boys in the class in this subject.

"Among the most interesting of all are the Karens, of whom there are now six under my care; almost all of this race that I have had to do with, since I came to Serampore, have pleased me very much, with the modesty of their deportment and by the intelligence and perseverance they have displayed in their studies. One of these deserves especial notice. George Looney, with his two nephews, came to me in March last; he had been engaged for a few years as a teacher by the American Missionaries at Rangoon, but feeling the deficiencies of his earlier education, he resolved to come to Serampore to prosecute his studies further, leaving behind him his young wife, who entered heartily into his plan, and is now working to support herself and her child, while her husband is endeavouring to improve himself.

When he came he was in tolerably good, though not in affluent circumstances, and he hoped to continue here four years, but during the year he and his relations have sustained heavy pecuniary losses, and two months ago, he told me he feared he would have to return to Burmah at the close of this session. His noble-hearted wife has, however, written to him urging him to stay, and his friends of the American mission will do what they can for him, as he is held in deservedly high estimation by all who know him. His two nephews have also done well this year; one of them carried off the first prize in the European class, and the other was close upon his heels.

"As usual we have had our Sunday afternoon classes. The younger boys have been taught by one or two of the older ones, and have had the Berean Sunday school lessons translated into Bengali by the Tract Society, together with Scripture geography for which we use the little work adopted as a text-book by the committee for the examination of native preachers. The service class has read with me the second half of Acts, and six chapters of 1st Corinthians; these classes have often been very interesting.

"As mentioned in the Report the Church at Johnnugger proposes henceforth to support its own pastor. This result is owing to a letter addressed to the Church by Mr. Martin, which was well received, and, led by the preacher Umritta, monthly subscriptions were commenced; in the first month thirteen rupees were collected. Since the commencement of the year, Mr. Martin, in conjunction with Mr. Kerry, has assumed charge of the churches in Backergunge."

V.—SEWRY.

Missionary, W. A. HOBBS.

Number of members, 63.

Sewry is the principal town of the district of Beerbhoom, which is situated at the north-western extremity of Bengal. The population is reckoned at 695,921 persons, of whom 111,795 are Mahomedans. Sewry, which contains 9,000 inhabitants, is about 130 miles N.N.W. from Calcutta.

Mr. Hobbs has furnished us with the following report :—

“1.—The Church.

“Thanks be to the Holy Spirit we are making advances both in numbers and stability. Only a few years ago the savour of the Church in Sewry was, as you are aware, anything but fragrant.

“Glory be to God, the reproach is now rolled away, so that in a spirit of thankful boasting I can say I am not ashamed of the little church over which the Holy Ghost has made me overseer. There has been but one case of serious discipline throughout the year. Six members have left the district since my last report, but thirteen have been added by baptism or letter, so that we show a clear increase of seven church members (the total number now being sixty-three), whilst the aggregate Christian community has advanced from 129 to 148.

“The Church, in addition to meeting the current expenses connected with public worship and keeping the chapel in repair, entirely supports four widows, whilst it occasionally helps its poorer members. For these various objects it has contributed during the year 146 rupees, and has moreover a reserve fund of 80 rupees in the savings bank to re-thatch the chapel whenever it may be needed.

“2.—The Mission Schools.

“These comprise eight boys' and two girls' schools, all located within three miles of Sewry, so that the repeated inspection of them is a comparatively easy matter. The eight boys' schools contain 247 scholars, with an average attendance of 207. The two girls schools have

72 scholars, with an average attendance of 55. Of these ten schools, two are in Sewry, two to the west of Sewry, two to the east of Sewry, and two the north of Sewry. The expenses connected with carrying on all this primary and religious education amounted during the year to £91 4s., to meet which five residents in the civil station contributed £18, the Christian Vernacular Education Society £36, and Government £38 8s., so that our mission school work here is no burden whatever upon the funds of our Missionary Society.

“The Sewry girls' school is reported by the Government inspector to be the best in his district; and that the boys' primary schools hold their own with other primary schools.

“Christianity is taught in these schools as freely as in our own British schools in England; and that the fathers of the children are not averse to the religious instruction we give their boys, is tolerably evident from the number who congregate around the school house, and the pleasure they manifest whenever the missionary goes to the village to hold an inspection.

“3.—Our Sunday School,

now in the second year of its existence, contains thirty-six boys and girls, with an average attendance of thirty, taught by four male teachers. The first class girls (numbering four), taught by Mr. Spurgeon and myself, has recently been visited by a shower of grace, as the result of which the whole class has consecrated itself to God; a blessed encouragement to us in this dry and barren land, where anything like heart-feeling is so seldom to be seen.

“I find by my journal that, not including journeys near home, I made eight principal tours in the course of the year, sleeping 135 nights at places ranging between 11 and 200 miles from Sewry. On almost every occasion I was accompanied by one of our three native evangelists, and not unfrequently we were all four away from home at the same time, labouring two and two in opposite parts of the district.

"In most places that we visited we secured good audiences, who listened attentively and bought Gospels, &c., freely; still, in a grievous number of instances, we got new and painful impressions that the interest our message created was almost purely of an intellectual character—the reasoning faculty constraining the people to admit that the Gospel of Christ is charming and probably true, whilst the will coolly asserted an intention to die in the faith of their ancestors rather than take up the cross and follow the Lord Jesus.

"I feel sure there are dozens of men in this district who know the Gospel to be a revelation from God designed to effect their deliverance from ruin, but from lack of courage to act upon their convictions are drifting on to certain destruction.

"5.—Sale of Scriptures and other Religious Books.

"The sales during the year 1875 have been larger than during any previous year of my residence in Beerbhoom, amounting to 960 portions of God's Word (mostly gospels) and about 2,200 tracts and small books.

"For the 960 gospels, &c., I received as payment £4 14s. 9d., and for the 2,200 miscellaneous religious books about £2 10s.

6.—Zenana Work, &c.

"When Mrs. Hobbs left India in March last, I was afraid that the Zenana work here would suffer greatly, and, unless European help came speedily, would die a lingering death. But though no help has come yet, still it lives. Of course work is not carried on so vigorously or efficiently as though an European lady were here to help in it, and to superintend it, but the fact of there being to-day ninety-three native women under religious teaching, in addition to fourteen who are learning to read, besides a girls' school with twenty scholars, is sufficient to indicate both that the native agents are faithfully doing their work, and that the women of the villages are willing to be taught in their homes.

"In the village of Lombodarpore there are several women who make no secret of their attachment to and trust in Jesus Christ, and their consequent entire alienation of heart from the idolatry which surrounds them. I have no doubt about their real discipleship, and anticipate that they will be claimed by the Lord of Hosts on that eventful day when he will gather together and assort his jewels. Moreover, three of our female church members (not Zenana mission agents) gratuitously conduct a Christian service in this village every Lord's day morning in three different houses."

"In taking a retrospect of the labours of 1875, I am, upon the whole, encouraged.

"The Church is at peace, and is increasing in number and power. The Gospel has been widely preached, and our preaching seconded by the reception into Bengali homes of nearly 1,000 gospels, and more than 2,000 books of a religious tendency. Conviction of the truth of Christianity as a divine remedy is, in hundreds of instances, openly confessed; and were the result of publicly embracing it less terrible than it is, numbers would wear the livery identifying them as the enrolled servants of Christ.

"Brighter scenes will gladden the next generation of missionaries than our longing eyes are privileged to behold; and we, when in our graves, will be kindly remembered as having done something in the former unpropitious days to bring about the better era."

Since the beginning of the year the Rev. R. Spurgeon has removed to Jessore, to occupy the stations left vacant by the removal of the Rev. R. J. Ellis to Calcutta.

VI.—CUTWA.

Missionary, ANUNDO CHUNDO DUFFADAR.

Number of members, 19.

A large town on the western banks of the Hooghly, in the district of Burdwan, about seventy-five miles N.N.W. from Calcutta. It contains a population of 7,963 persons, of whom 6,817 are Hindus and 1,131 Mahomedans. The small remainder are Christians.

The removal of the missionary to Howrah has deprived us of the usual report from this station.

VII.—SONTALISTAN.

Missionaries, H. P. BOERRESEN, LARS SKREFSRUD.

Number of members, 2,000.

Native helpers, 11.

This interesting mission is situated in the midst of Sonthal villages, about fourteen miles west of Rampore Haut, on the East India Railway.

The Sonthal Pergunnahs, in the district of Bhaugulpore, contain a population of 1,259,287 persons, divided into 9,872 townships. The tribes, which are neither Hindus nor Mahomedans, number 528,899. It is among these tribes, who are pure Sonthals, that the Mission is carried on.

The central station is Ebenezer, about four hours from Calcutta by rail, in the very heart of the Sonthal country. Mr. Boerresen journeys among the Sonthal villages, visiting the converts, and preaching to the heathen, who crowd to hear the Gospel. The Sonthals, along with the Koles, occupy the great central plateau of India, lying north-west of Calcutta, and it contains about five millions of people. They are not Hindus, but a fine manly independent race, of whom thousands have embraced Christianity.

"The communicants number upwards of 2,000; they have left off all their evil drinking habits and heathen customs. Of late they have undergone much persecution from their heathen chiefs. Mr. Skrefsrud writes, 30th December, 1875: . . . 'We believe that the whole tribe will confess Christ, and we must work up to that faith, and lo, we shall see that we shall not be confounded.'

"A number of native pastors and catechists have been set apart; thirty native pastors have charge of 144 villages; there are eight travelling catechists, and thirty-nine village schools. The pastors are not paid, but support themselves by farming; the catechists being sent from place to place, receive a small salary. The sum of £500 has been given by friends in Birmingham for a church, which will be shortly erected at Ebenezer, the head station.

"Sir William Muir, the distinguished Oriental scholar and statesman, formerly Lieutenant-Governor of the North-West Provinces, and now member of the Calcutta council, says the results are most remarkable. His words are:—'The mission has only been at work seven or eight years. It has already struck root all round. Within a radius of thirty or forty miles there are not less than 5,000 Christians—men, women, and children—and 2,000 communicants. Messrs. Boerresen and Skrefsrud believe the movement to be national. They admit that there are powerful elements of opposition in many villages, besides the general love of drink, and the facility of divorce. But they make no secret of their anticipation that the whole tribe is coming over. They may be too sanguine; but certainly the existence of such a feeling among men who are spending their lives in the midst of the people is remarkable.'

"Of village life where Christianity has laid hold of the people, he writes:—‘I saw one of the villages near Ebenezer, and was much struck by the simplicity of the people. They may know little of doctrine, but they have a firm faith; they have their little village church for their five-and-twenty or thirty converts; and there they have service morning and evening. They have their native pastor, or catechist, and elders (there are two to every village), and apparently they hold themselves well and bravely towards the non-Christian part of the village. Here, too, they delight in singing hymns, sometimes to their native tunes; and I have no doubt that what may be wanting in systematic doctrinal teaching, is made up by the rich practical teaching contained in the hymns. At Ebenezer (the notice received was short) only two or three hundred Christians came to see us. I was much struck with the interest they showed in what was said to them, and their extreme earnestness in appealing that the liquor-shops should be shut; and here, too, at the end, as a farewell, all joined in a farewell hymn, singing it with great fervour and spirit. One cannot mistake, in such an assembly, the signs of a real work. Mrs. Boerresen has some thirty or forty girls whom she is educating under her own eye, and who look up to her as a mother. They promise extremely well, and sing beautifully; and these, as well as the boys’ school, ought to provide a valuable educational agency. What was to me most satisfactory, was the testimony of some Bengalee landholders who called on me. They were the zemindars of the talookas around Taljbari. The Santhals, they said, were degenerating as a race from their simple manner and guileless habits, by contact with the people of the plains, and they were given to drink; but the Christians were an exception—they never drank.’”

VIII.—JESSORE.

Missionaries, R. J. ELLIS, R. SPURGEON, GOGON CHUNDER DUTT, BROJONATH BANERJEA.

Number of members, 171.

This district of Bengal lies to the west of Calcutta, and contains more than two millions of people, of whom 915,413 are Hindus, 1,151,936 are Mahomedans, and 1,142 are Christians. The rest are of various beliefs. Jessore, the chief town, containing 8,152 inhabitants, is eighty miles from Calcutta.

Mr. Ellis’s report is as follows:—

“The past has been to us a year of much sorrow. At the beginning of it we had to be away from our station on account of ill health; in August our dear brother Mintridge was removed by death and, shortly afterwards, our children (one of whom subsequently died after only twenty-eight hours’ illness) had an alarming attack of fever; while from our own compound there were four funerals within two months. These circumstances had so depressing an effect upon the health and mind of my dear wife, that it became evident she could no longer continue to reside at Jessore, and it was accordingly arranged that we should remove from that station to another.

“The present is, therefore, my last report from Jessore, which we have occupied for nearly eight years.

“Reviewing the work of the year we have reason to thank and praise our Divine Master for the long-suffering which He has shown towards our various infirmities, and for the help He has given us to pursue our course notwithstanding all discouragements. We began the year at Delhi, where it was my privilege to engage in a week of special services, in English, along with Brothers Smith and Guyton. These services, I have been told, have been blest to some, who date their first lasting religious impressions from the time they were held. I also visited Shahjehanpore, by invitation of the American Episcopal Methodist Missionary, and took part in their annual conference. At Lucknow, also, I took some part in their services from time to time; while at Futtehgurh we enjoyed a time of refreshing with the brethren of the American Presbyterian Mission, and other dear Christian friends. Very pleasant and profitable it was to pass this season of needed rest among labourers of our own and other denominations, and we returned to Jessore in February, greatly strengthened both in body and in spirit, to resume our numerous labours.

"The first thing that claimed attention on returning home was the preparation of the 'Manual of Christian Duty,' in English, with a view to its publication, in Bengali, by the Bible Translation Society. This is now ready for sale, in the latter language. An edition of 2,500 has been printed. The book contains every Christian's whole duty, in New Testament words, arranged in six parts, under 115 heads. At our last conference it was agreed that it should also appear in Hindi, in which language I hope to prepare an edition soon. The American Episcopal Methodist brethren are also to prepare an edition in Urdu.

"While upon this subject I may mention that, for the Calcutta Tract Society, I have prepared three lengthy tracts in Mussulmani Bengali. The translation of one of these was prepared by Moonshi S. P. Buksh, of our Mission, but had to be recast and revised. The translation of the other two is my own work. These tracts are, respectively, on the 'Divinity and Humanity of Christ,' the 'Way of Righteousness,' and 'Prophecies regarding Jesus Christ.' The first is now nearly ready for publication, and the others will follow. I have also made a beginning with the translation of Mr. Spurgeon's 'Hints to Village Preachers,' from 'The Treasury of David,' with which work I hope to progress apace when we get settled in our new home at Intally. I am also helping to prepare a new edition of the Gospel of Luke in Mussulmani Bengali.

"Much of my time in the early part of the year was occupied in the tuition of our late lamented friend and colleague, Mr. Mintridge. The time and labour thus bestowed were ever gratefully acknowledged by him, and his unfailing docility and patience enabled him, latterly, to make most satisfactory progress, both in the study of the language and in the pursuit of the knowledge which would have eventually made him an able minister of the New Testament. We dare not speak of his death as untimely, but the event is numbered among those upon which we still await the knowledge that is to be vouchsafed to us hereafter.

"Many circumstances prevented my itinerating, to any appreciable extent, in 1875, but our native brethren, both at Jessore and at the out-stations, have largely supplied my lack of service in this respect; while I was enabled to overtake the station, preaching with little interruption. I have regularly had three services in the week with the Church, and a Teachers' Bible class on Sunday. The teachers of the village schools studied with me the Berean-Leaf Lessons, with a view to the introduction of these into the higher classes of the schools. As in former years I have kept up regular preaching in the large markets in and around Jessore, and have usually secured an attentive hearing for the Gospel. In July I visited the Mohesh Mela, at Serampore, to assist the brethren there with the preaching. On the whole the work was encouraging. In June I also visited, hurriedly, the out-stations of Jhenaida and Magoorah. The native brethren have made several preaching excursions, varying in duration from a few days to a month at a time, and, in addition to the preaching thus carried on, we have sold 3,255 scriptures.

"The schools, which form perhaps the most prominent feature of the Jessore Mission, have done well during the past year, and I leave them with upwards of 850 pupils, all of whom are under religious instruction."

In the month of December Mr. Ellis removed to Calcutta to assist Mr. Jno. Robinson for a short time. He also preached daily in the bazaars of Calcutta, sometimes thrice, to large and interested audiences.

Mr. Dutt reports as follows:—

"We commenced the year under review with earnest prayers and confession of our sins before the throne of our Heavenly Father, and He has graciously answered our prayers for the benefit of our Churches beyond our expectation, and we have forgotten all our trials caused by epidemic, fever, and cholera.

"During the year we had thirty successful evangelistic services, and the same number of love feasts, and my heart fills with gratitude to God to record the favourable signs among our people. I can safely say that there is a revival among us since December last (1874). The church members are enjoying more and more heavenly blessings, many hardened sinners, who were excluded from the Churches, returned as prodigals; and many Roman Catholics, who joined the priestcraft for mammon, confessed their sins publicly, and in some cases the Churches at once received them without waiting for a long time.

"All the Churches in connection with the Khoolnea Mission, by their united help, engaged a preacher of the Gospel, paying 15 rupees a month since December last, to work among the Hindus and Mahomedans. For the purpose of supporting the above-mentioned brother and other purposes, the collection of the churches, in December only, is little above 100 rupees.

"During the year the Kuddumdi and Kalishpore Churches paid their pastors as usual. Shellabunya Church has collected 150 rupees, and Kalishpore about 60 rupees, to build their new chapels.

"There were ten baptisms in our churches. Three Hindus, one Brahmin, and two chandals have been baptized at Booridanga. At Kalishpore, a carpenter and his wife came among us; and at Shellabunya, Ram Chand Mundal embraced our holy faith with his children. Some years ago, Ram Chand Mundul was a well-to-do inhabitant of Mazirgatty, where he received a copy of Genesis from our coolporteur, and heard about Christ and his salvation. When he discovered the errors of Hinduism, and was convinced of the truth of Christianity, he, as was natural, divulged his religious experience to his wife, who bitterly opposed his making a public profession of it. Some time after, the Zemindars quarrelling among themselves, began to oppress the ryots, and Ram Chand, to satisfy their illegal demands, lost everything, and was obliged to leave the village and remove with his family to a village near Khoolnea. Here he could not get sufficient land to support his large family. At last he settled in a village, among his relatives and friends, near Shellabunya, one of our Christian villages. Here his wife died. His eldest son, a fine young man, now and then used to work with the Christians of Shellabunya, and heard about the Christians and Christianity. One day, in the course of conversation, the above-mentioned young man, with fear and trembling, gave out to his father that he wanted to become a Christian. Hearing this from his eldest son, Ram Chand leaped for joy, and informed him and his other children how he was led to believe in Christianity, and soon gave out publicly that they were Christians. At first Ram Chand thought of living with his friends and relatives; but, owing to bitter persecution, he was obliged to leave his own people, and settle among the Christians of Shellabunya.

"Our Sunday schools are in a prosperous state, since Mr. Williamson, our sub-divisional officer, has kindly taken charge of them. Here we thank both Mr. and Mrs. Williamson for their kind help in various ways in prosecuting our Missionwork.

"Last year we visited a smaller number of villages than other years, but we are more satisfied with our work. It was our practice in other years to visit the churches and to preach among the heathen by twos or threes; but, since the latter part of the last year, wherever I went I took with me as many preachers and lay Christians as I could, and regularly attacked the villages. I have every reason to believe that wherever we visited we made, by the grace of God, favourable impression on the minds of the villagers. It was our practice in other years to preach the Gospel only, but last year wherever we went we sang our hymns, and commenced and ended our preaching with prayer. Our churches have subscribed about 50 rupees for making a shamiana (a kind of awning) for preaching the Gospel, and we have decided to use native music in singing our hymns."

IX.—BACKERGUNGE.

Missionaries, T. MARTIN, G. KERRY.

Number of members, 1,178.

This low-lying district lies to the east of Calcutta; Barisaul, its principal town, containing 7,684 inhabitants, being 185 miles distant. The population of the district is stated to be 2,377,433 by the Census of 1872, in the following proportions: Hindus, 827,393; Mahomedans, 1,540,965; Christians, 4,852; and others, 174. The stations are much scattered, and are found in the northern part of the district.

Before leaving this station for Dacca, the Rev. A. McKeuna furnished us with the following report. Mr. Martin and Mr. Kerry commenced their labours with the current year:—

"Respecting the churches, it is possible only to summarise the preachers' reports, and that may be best done, perhaps, by saying that the usual Christian agencies amongst us have been uninterruptedly at work. Any feeling of alloy will be found in the fact that these agencies are wholly sustained by the Society. This, in a large Christian membership like ours, cannot be regarded as satisfactory, admitting even, which may be admitted, that a considerable per centage could do nothing for the pastorate, supposing that the people, at their very best, could even sustain the pastorate, as it is sustained by the Society, which I quite doubt.

"Any honest attempt to place the churches on a healthier and more scriptural footing must inevitably encounter difficulty; but a postponement of the effort simply perpetuates and enhances what is highly artificial; whilst to do what is right must itself, so far as an 'abiding' work is concerned, lead to right in the end.

"Some attempt has been made by insisting on, at least, a minimum of scriptural knowledge on the part of nominal Christian candidates, to prevent our Churches being overrun by mere nominal professors, as has so largely been the case hitherto.

"Thought has been given to systematizing, also, the gifts of the people. But the least cumbersome way to effect this, in the case of churches numerically strong enough at least, would be to make the pastors at once partly dependent upon their churches. It must surely be regarded as an undoubted evil, from every point of view, that the pastors are wholly independent of their own churches. Still, it has been so, apparently from the beginning, both with pastors and people, owing, probably, to the force of circumstances. Nor must it be overlooked in the presence of another Mission in our very midst, that abnormal difficulties have to be dealt with.

"Of the special evangelistic work at the close of the year, in addition to that carried on by the preachers and Bible women at their respective stations, I submit the following extracts from the 'Dukhin Shah Bah-pore and Mela Journal.' It has reference to the mela in October and November :—

"Early this morning a prayer-meeting was held in our boat, when we asked the God of all good for His blessing, that we might boldly preach His truth without distress. Then went up to the mela and preached for three hours. The crowd listened to our message with manifest attention. In the afternoon, at one o'clock, held another prayer meeting, when we thanked the Lord for His kindness, and begged for His Holy Spirit. At the mela, opened with singing a Christian hymn, and proclaimed the indispensable need of salvation; how to be had at all it must be had in this mortal life, and how it can only be found in Christ. We were very happy in the work of the Lord this day. One young man in particular seemed to be much exercised. May a gracious Lord bless this day's work, and cause it to abound in good fruits! At night visited a Roman Catholic's house which happened to be near, and conversed with him on religious subjects. Were greatly astonished to see how dry was his mind, and hard his heart. We wished to worship God in his house with him, but he and his family would not agree. May God be kind to these people, and turn their inflexible souls to the Saviour!

"This morning, went up to the mela after prayer, when many people accompanied us. Preached upon the guilt of sin and the necessity of fleeing from the wrath to come. Quite tired out, turned to the boat for rest; but at two o'clock went up again and discoursed on the love of Christ. A very long discussion ensued with a Mahomedan, who maintained that "Sinners shall proceed to hell for a limited period only, and shall then rise to heaven." He also maintained that Mahomet was incarnate as prophet and saviour too.

"To-day, after united prayer, and opening with a hymn, one of the brethren discoursed on the love of God to man, as shown in the gift of His Son, Jesus Christ. After this, we sang another hymn, when another brother preached on the judgments of God. Renewed preaching at 2 P.M. This afternoon has been the largest audience as yet. May the Word preached be much blessed!

"To-day, after customary exercises, had an unusually large audience. We meet with little opposition. Our hearers admit that we seek their good. In the evening a young Hindu came forward who believes neither in caste nor in Hinduism. He insisted on reading a poem which he had composed in honour of Jesus Christ. "But for my Zemindar," he said, "I would be a Christian openly, even as I am one secretly."

"This morning, after prayer, went up to the mela; but the people were so drunk with idolatry, that they wouldn't even listen to us. They shouted with a loud noise, and sang lascivious songs before the idol Kali. Alas! how long shall these remain in darkness, worshipping demons!

"During parts of November and December, I myself was out on special work, and in addition to preaching to large congregations in various parts of the district, disposed of some 850 single portions of Scripture.

"The following are extracts from the Zenana Missionary's Journal:—

"To-day, visited the village of Eupatollee. Was invited into a house where were many women, also a purohit (family priest). They then said, "Now let us hear what you have to say." I asked the purohit (who celebrated shradhs), "What is the use of all this?" "In this way," he said, "survivors are made pure and holy, and by paying money and feasting the friends of the deceased, they are made happy." I replied,

"O, brother, God tells us that, as a man sows, so also shall he reap. Not by son performing parent's shradh can son be made clean or parent happy. What say your own shastres?"—

"I a sinner, you a sinner, sinners every one;
Sinless—none are found who dwell beneath the sun.

Again, being unholy myself, how can I make others holy?" Then he asked, "Can salvation not be found, then, in gifts and pilgrimages?" "Here," I said, "your own shastres would again answer you; but listen, whilst I show you how salvation and holiness may be obtained." Then I showed, from the Scriptures, how God is just, and the justifier of him who believeth in Jesus. Men, sometimes in the poorer houses, come in amongst the women and take part in the conversation, which cannot altogether be avoided.

"'Baboo-nugger. Baboo —'s house. Nine women. Read part of a tract, and explained it. One of the women then said, "But Jesus is only a man?" "Truly a man," I replied; "but more than a man. Man can but do man's work. Jesus did the work of God." Here I read some of the miracles of Christ, when another of the women stated, "All that is written in the book we love, called the Life of Christ." I then, at their request, sang some Christian hymns, with which they seemed very pleased. With these women I repeatedly meet. They are evidently well instructed; they cannot be called Hindus.

"'Baboo —'s house. After conversation and instruction, the baboo's wife brought out a picture of the Crucifixion of Christ. "Now tell us," she said, "how we are to believe for salvation on one who was born, and who died?" Then I read portions of the first two chapters of Luke's gospel, showing that this was no ordinary birth, but that it meant glory to God and peace to men. "But then, if Jesus was of God," she said, "how was He allowed to die?" Then I showed, from the Scriptures, how it was that Christ must die, and how this was the very object of His birth. Was here three hours, during which several Christian hymns were sung, and various conversations ensued."

"Into brahmo houses the Zenana missionary has pretty free access, also into those of the poorer classes. With Hindus of the old school she has not been so successful, and has been occasionally repulsed by them.

"The boys who have been assisted by the kindness of our young friends of the Salters' Hall Chapel Sunday School, thirteen in number, are mostly beginners. Two of these have attended the Bhagdah Anglo-Vernacular School, where they live with their friends. One boy has passed the University Entrance Examination; but he, both in age and attainments, is far beyond the rest. One lad has joined the Church; and of the conduct of the boys generally I can speak well. Those who live in the village attend a short service every morning, and in the chapters thus read in the course of the week, three from the Old Testament and three from the New, they are carefully examined, as a Sunday school exercise, on the Lord's day. To find lads sufficiently advanced in Bengali to begin at once with English seems our main difficulty; and in one or two instances there has been some little trouble, owing to the vacillation of the parents. All the above lads have received aid only in part; with some it has only amounted to paying school fees. One or two youths, in addition to the above, have attended the Barisal Government Normal Schools for gurus, and have drawn the small Government allowance. But this attempt, as yet, has not been very satisfactory.

"Village schools vary considerably in point of efficiency, and have, numerically, been much as last year. The general supervision has been better, teachers have been slightly better qualified, merely intermittent efforts have been fewer. Two Government-aided Schools in the Furreedpore district were closed, owing to non-attendance. And here is our main difficulty—with the people themselves. Not only do they contribute nothing to the education of their own children, but in very many cases they are quite averse to their children being educated. The report of the Government Inspector of the Madanepore sub-division of the Furreedpore district, in which nearly half of our churches are situated, is largely confirmative of my own experience: 'The native Christians have no appreciation whatever of the value of primary education.' For one thing, the children's labour is valuable.

"In Backergunge this difficulty does not meet us—at least to so large an extent.

"A severe epidemic of cholera swept through the district the latter part of the year, causing great mortality and suffering. I grieve to state that forty-two of our own people died, Kodom, one of our teachers, a good Christian woman, being amongst these. The Government was open-handed in its efforts to check the scourge, and amongst our own people cholera medicine was freely distributed.

"It is painful to revert to the great loss sustained by our Mission, in September last, by the death of our dear brother Sale. He and Mrs. Sale long and lovingly sought the good of this people; and by them, doubtless, they will be long and affectionately remembered."

The capital of a district of the same name. It is about 250 miles north of Calcutta. The population numbers 1,501,924. The town of Dinagepore contains a population of 13,042 souls.

XI.—DARJEELING.

Missionary, J. C. PAGE.

Number of members, 47.

The hill territory of Darjeeling has a population of 46,727 persons; and the Terai, 47,985.

During a part of the year Mr. Page was too ill to pursue his devoted labours; later on he was able to visit a portion of his vast field, and to furnish the following report:—

"I.—Dinagapore.

"There is no improvement in this station. The one event of the baptism of three young persons, in December, does not compensate for the general state of deadness in both the Church and the congregation. The newly-received members are children of Christian parents. It was to be expected that they should possess a clearly defined view of gospel truth. And the chief encouragement one derives from their confession of faith is that their lives are so far consistent with it, and their youth promises usefulness to others hereafter.

"The neglect and apathy of the members have a most disheartening effect on our good old brother Peters, their pastor. He seems unable to contend against these adverse things, and unwillingly it may be, but assuredly, just lets them take their own course.

"Meanwhile, one must remember that several of those who joined the Church long, long ago, are approaching the end of their course, and we do desire their places to be filled up, as one after the other they go away, by more and by devoted converts.

"1. Sādhāmahal.

"Can this be the place where, half a century ago, the pious indigo planter, Fernandez, gathered around him a large native Christian community, and long laboured to do them good in things temporal and spiritual? Can this be the place where our good brother Smylie lived, a great portion of many years, and worked in the groove his predecessor made—and while, in his own quiet way, so working, narrowly escaped with his life, while his native assistant was murdered on the spot?

“Fernandez’s bungalow is remembered, in that a few walls are still crumbling down, while the fine noble trees which his hands planted attest to the fact that this was once a ‘pleasant place.’ Fernandez’s name is still, in some sort, pronounced by a few old women who mourn and moan over the past days, when the Christian, nominal or real, could look up into the faces of the surrounding Mohammedans. All is now gone! The community has decreased. For four years there has been no baptism in the old quiet river creeping slowly by the old disappearing mission grounds. The school has been long closed. The chapel I put up in 1869 has tumbled down. The few children who had learned to read the Scriptures are forgetting how to put their letters together. The little church is in a dying state.

“For the fourth time I have placed a new teacher among the people. The chapel is being put up again—a smaller, cheaper thing—by our subscriptions in Dinagepore, and the labour of the men of Sádhamahal. And I want to try, still again, if one can arouse these sleepy, cold, careless, heartless ones, into life and action.

“2. Kalkapore.

“It is a comfort to visit this place and meet our brethren here. And yet we were constrained to hear the tale of trial and sorrow they had to tell. When I was last in the village, there were 49 members in the church who had been received by baptism during three previous years; and a happy, simple, contented, united flock I left behind. I went to England. The famine came and touched these poor ones. Of course their neighbours, Hindoos and Mohammedans in like position, suffered also; but our people suffered more severely. They were isolated. No one stood up for them, or stood near them. Loans from Government, which the hungry thousands received, giving some kind of security for repayment, were denied the Christians. Who would answer for them?

“Owing chiefly to the pinchings of hunger, sickness followed in the steps of want, and four-and-twenty of the comparatively small community died in a few months. Several others, seeking food, wandered from district to district, and finally were lost to sight, their friends not knowing to this day where they are.

“Withal, I would speak with pleasure and gratitude, favourably, lovingly, hopefully, of the Kalkapore Church.

“In its reduced state even, it has continued firm in its simple faith. The services of the Lord’s-day have never been neglected. No quarrels or dissensions have disturbed the village. The non-Christian neighbours have had no reason to complain of those who call Christ Lord; but, on the contrary, they speak well of them, and are being influenced for good by them. There is life among the people; and I had the real comfort of baptizing nine of them lately, and of welcoming among us three families from the heathen around. Old and young are anxious to learn Bengali, as their own language and Hindi, which they understand, are not spoken in those parts.

“The visit of Mrs. Page and myself evidently greatly cheered the little flock. They felt they were not forgotten; that they had, after all, some little place in the company of Christians of every race; that there were praying people in other parts of the world who were concerned about their welfare; and that they might look somewhere on earth for guidance in difficulties and consolation in sorrow.”

" II.—Rungpore.

"In the town of Rungpore there have lately settled two families, once in the Barisaul district. These, with others some little distance off, constitute a nucleus on which, and with which, it is possible to work around. Nearly all the adults can read. A neat little place of worship has been generously provided for them, and they have been put in the way of benefiting others. The usual services are regularly conducted. One good old man has been employed as a colporteur, in place of the old colporteur who, after two years' service and a long Christian life, has gone to his rest. The others have situations remunerative enough to keep them in comfort; and, with three or four exceptions, they have intelligence enough to give an answer in meekness to any one who may ask them of the faith which is in them."

As Mr. Page was unable to preach, the preaching house in the bazaar of Darjeeling was occupied by Mr. Anderson, of the Church of Scotland Mission. Anundo, the Nepalese convert, has returned from a tour, full of zeal, and as earnest a Christian as ever. The Lepcha convert had taken service with a Russian gentleman, but was soon to return to Darjeeling.

XII.—DACCA.

Dacca, the capital of Eastern Bengal, extends for several miles along the banks of the old Ganges. It is about 190 miles N.E. from Calcutta. Its population is said to number 69,212 persons; but the entire district contains 1,852,992, in the following proportions: Hindus, 793,789; Mahomedans, 1,050,131; Christians, 7,844. Sub-station, Dayapore.

XIII.—TIPPERAH.

COMILLAH.

Number of members, 28.

Tipperah is a large district S.E. of Dacca, and contains a population of 1,533,931 persons. The chief city, Comillah, has 12,948 inhabitants.

This station, with the village of Saheb nagur in the hills, is worked by the missionaries of Decca.

XIV.—MYMENSING.

Number of members, 14.

Mymensing, to the north of Dacca, is a very populous district, containing 2,349,917 inhabitants. The chief city, of the same name, has 10,068 residents.

From the Missionary's Report we extract the following account of the above three missions:—

"English Sunday School, Dacca.

"We have nothing particular to mention in connection with the Sunday School, except that the work of instruction has been steadily carried on throughout the year, thanks to the unwearied exertions of Dr. Livingstone and his helpers. The attendance has been very good, although we have lost a few pupils since the opening, in October, of another Sunday School in connection with the Diocesan School established here.

"The preaching in the various bazaars in Dacca has been carried on with energy whenever the missionaries and preachers have been at home. The interest, especially among the Mohammedans, seems to have increased ever since they have heard the Gospel preached in their own language by the Urdu-speaking preacher, Sultan. A series of discussions, each some hours in length, was held in public, in the verandah of the English Chapel, between a Moulvie and Sultan, which were discontinued only when the former was obliged to leave Dacca. On the last occasion, the disputants sat arguing with only an hour's intermission, from 2 P.M. till past midnight.

"In the various outstations and on our journeys we sold from 3,500 to 4,000 Bengali Gospels and other parts of the Bible, and about 400 tracts. Besides these, a good number of Bengali tracts and portions of the Bible were sold by Babus Solomon and Ram Charan Nath.

"Itineracies.

"The following is a statement of the various tours and journeys undertaken by us during the year :—

"In January, Babu Ram Jiban, of Dacca, Dina Bandhu, of Dayapur, preached the Gospel in the western and southern parts of the Dacca district.

"Ram Kanto Dass and Brojo Mohun, of Comillah, made a preaching tour to the western and southern parts of the Tipperah district.

"Towards the end of this month, Mr. Allen, with Babu Solomon, who volunteered to accompany him, visited Cachar and Silhet, going up by the Koosheara, and coming down by the Surma river.

"Upendra Ghose visited the western part of the Mymensing district.

"In February, Gocul and Brojo Mohun visited the southern part of the Tipperah district, and preached for some days at the Sitakund mela near Chittagong. Ram Jiban accompanied me on a tour to Mymensing, which occupied half of February and part of March.

"In March, Gunga Charan, Upendra Ghose and Ram Dayal, preached the Gospel to hundreds at the Hosunpur mela in the Mymensing district.

"In April, Ram Jiban visited Mymensing and the neighbourhood, which gave him the opportunity of seeing 'Sree Nath's' disciples at Serajdabad. Ram Kanto Dass and Brojo Mohun also paid these people a visit, and, coming to Dacca for a supply of books, preached the Gospel along the Comillah river, the Gumpti.

"In May, Gunga Charan and Ram Dayal visited two melas south of Mymensing.

"Babu Solomon, with Sultan, the Urdu preacher, and Dina Nath, a colporteur, preached the Gospel in the Tipperah district and in the town of Comillah.

"Ram Jiban and I made a preaching tour to the west of Dacca, through the Hilsamary khal.

"In June, Dina Bandhu, of Dayapur, visited the northern part of the Dacca district, while Ram Kanto Dass and Gocul took the northern part of the Tipperah district.

"In July, Babu Ram Jiban of Dacca, and Ram Kanto Dass of Comillah, visited the western and northern parts of the Tipperah district as far as Brahmunberia.

"During part of the former month, and of August, Mr. Hobbs, of Sewry, then on a visit to Eastern Bengal, accompanied me, together with Sultan and Bhan Puri, on a tour to Mymensing. Thence, taking Upendra Ghose and Ram Dayal, we extended our trip to the eastern parts of the Mymensing district. Near Hassunpur, the Mymensing brethren parted from us, and, after spending a few days at home, started on another tour to the western parts of Mymensing. Dina Bandhu was absent for a month, visiting the Ruth Jattrat at Dhumroi, and afterwards preaching in its neighbourhood.

"In September, Ram Jiban removed to Comillah for a month, and Ram Kanto Dass and Gocul came to Dacca for the examination: Gunga Charan, Upendra Ghose, and Nathu of Mymensing, also came to Dacca for the same purpose.

"Dina Bandhu paid another visit to Dhumroi and its neighbourhood.

"Towards the end of this month, the native brethren left for their respective stations, Gunga Charan and Upendra Ghose taking Tangael and Jumalpur on their way, preaching there, and in many other places; and Ram Kanto Dass and Gocul paying a visit to Kendua on the Luckya river.

"In October, Ram Kanto and Gocul preached the Gospel west of Comillah, along the Dowdoandee Road.

"Gunga Charan and Ram Dayal made a tour to the north of the Mymensing district as far as Tura, on the Garo Hills. They returned in November.

"In November, Ram Kanto Dass and Gocul travelled again to Noacolly, in the south of Comillah.

"After my return from the Conference in Calcutta, Ram Jiban accompanied me on a preaching tour up the Dulaserry, and down the Jabuna and Padma rivers, and, passing down south from Goalundo, we visited Serajdabad and Munshigunj.

"Babu Chand was absent for a few days on a trip to Mymensing.

"Sultan proceeded to Comillah, to accompany Ram Kanto Dass and Gocul on another visit to Noacolly.

"In December, Ram Jiban and I visited the most easterly parts of the Mymensing district, and went up the Surma to Silhet. Having been absent from home for two months, I cannot give the particulars of the work in the other stations, during the month of December.

"The reception of the message of the Gospel on these journeys, has been as varied as one acquainted with the masses of the people of Eastern Bengal can imagine. On the whole, the Dacca and Mymensing districts are decidedly the most promising, for, in the towns and villages of these districts, the Gospel is universally listened to with serious attention, and the messenger of the Gospel of Christ welcomed, and even treated as a friend. The Tipperah and Silhet districts, however, present a different aspect. The Hindu population, as a rule, listen with greater attention than the Mohammedan, the latter nearly always opposing the truth, and giving vent to their hatred of Christians by abusing, and threatening to maltreat them. In the Silhet district, with the exception of the towns of Silhet, Sonamgunj, Dhol, and Azmerigunj, the Mohammedans are not only fearfully ignorant, but, as a natural consequence, bigoted and fanatical to a great degree. So little do they appreciate the value of books, that they grudge a single pice for a gospel.

"Dacca Zenana Mission.

"The following particulars are given by Miss Robinson:—

"The Dacca Zenanas, which had been closed for upwards of two years, in consequence of the panic caused by the conversion of a Hindu lady of rank in Calcutta, were re-opened by the influence of Mrs. F. R. Cockerell, the Commissioner's lady, whose genuine interest in the cause of female education, and visits to the Zenanas in person, so pleased and flattered the Babus, that they yielded to the condition on which alone she would consent to establish a mission, namely, that the teachers should be allowed to impart religious instruction. On Mrs. Cockerell's leaving Dacca, the work was taken up by the Ladies' Association in London.

"There are twenty-three houses now under instruction, with from one to three pupils in each, who are taught reading, writing, sewing, geography, and Scripture history. Of the four native teachers, three are engaged in teaching Bengali to the middle class women, while one is employed in teaching English to the better educated ladies of the higher classes, who are, generally speaking, of the Brahmo persuasion.

"My weekly visits to each of these houses, for the purpose of examining the pupils, give me many opportunities of speaking to them of a Saviour's love; and though some are dishearteningly careless and apathetic, interrupting me by childish questions such as, 'What did you have for breakfast this morning?'

or, "Is that face on your brooch the likeness of the great Queen?" Others are attentive, putting thoughtful questions from time to time, and carefully weighing the replies. The "Peep of Day" is an especial favourite with them, the story of the Cross calling forth expressions of wonder and admiration, not unmingled with tears. "What words these are!" one of them said; "they make me alternately glad and sorry." Another inquired how it was that one who could work such wonderful miracles did not use His power against the men who were crucifying Him. "No man could have shown such forbearance," she added.

"The opposition on the part of the Babus has been almost entirely withdrawn, two or three of them having gone so far as to request that their wives should be instructed in Christian truth."

"Only one was baptized in the Mymensing mission during the year, and he is a Garo, who lives in the plains near Mymensing. As he is an intelligent, earnest man, he has already begun to testify of Christ, and to preach Him to the neighbouring Garo Hill-men, many of whom have settled down in the eastern and northern plains of the Mymensing district. Being acquainted with both the Garo and Bengali languages, he has accompanied our native brethren on various journeys, and promises to become an efficient preacher. His chief work will be among the Garos, who, though learning to imitate the idolatrous practices of the Hindoos, are yet favourably disposed towards the truth as it is in Christ.

"Extensive and frequent journeys have been made, both by the resident preachers at Mymensing and ourselves from Dacca; and when the former have been at home, they have carried on the work in the town and neighbouring markets of Mymensing.

"The visit of Mr. Hobbs, of Sewry, was a great comfort and enjoyment to me, and more so, as I was in bad health during our trip to Mymensing. His lively addresser, accompanied, at times, by singing of Bengali hymns, drew large crowds around us, who listened with evident pleasure. Being eight strong at Mymensing, we divided ourselves during our stay there into three different parties, so that the Gospel was preached simultaneously in three different localities. Addresses were also delivered, not only in Bengali and Mussulmaui-Bengali, but also in the Urdu and Hindi languages.

"Almost every day, sometimes twice a day, we met with markets, and though often interrupted by torrents of rain, the work was carried on at intervals, and thus, on this single tour, thousands heard the glad news of salvation.

"At some places, people bought gospels and other parts of the Bible in numbers, but in others not a single copy could be sold. Thus, on one occasion, at a market where people were willing to buy, an English-speaking youth, annoyed at having been refused a gospel gratis, used his influence, as son of the zemindar of the place, to forbid their doing so, under pain of his displeasure; on another occasion, a Brahmin prevented many from buying, by threatening them with his curse."

STATIONS AND CHURCHES IN NORTHERN INDIA.

I.—MONGHYR.

Missionaries, T. EVANS, E. JONES.

Number of members, 94.

A town of 59,698 inhabitants. It lies on the southern bank of the Ganges, 300 miles N.W. of Calcutta. The district of Monghyr contains 1,812,986 persons, of whom the Mohammedans number only 182,269 souls. The district contains 1,142 Christians; the rest are Hindoos.

The Rev. T. Evans writes as follows:—

"It would be interesting to the friends at home to know that from this mission station alone no less than 10,000 copies of Scriptures and tracts have been distributed among the heathen around us during the last year, including some 3,000 gospels and books of the Old Testament, and 7,000 tracts full of Gospel truth.

"By far the greater part of these books were sold, and what we gave away was given to those who had no money to buy, and who were eager for a portion of God's truth. It is also worthy of note that nearly all the above books were distributed, not in cities and towns, where the Gospel is well known, but among the simple-minded villagers, many of whom had never before heard the name of Jesus. If we faint not in our prayers for the dew of Divine grace to rest on this good seed sown, I doubt not we shall reap the fruit in due season.

"I have spent over two months of the cold season in the district of Tirhoot, going from village to village preaching Christ, and distributing the written Word. Over 100 villages were visited, and 2,000 copies of the Gospels, and about 5,000 tracts were scattered abroad among these villagers. We visited several towns where the Gospel was quite new to the people, and in most cases we were well received, especially by the common people, who heard us gladly.

"I had our worthy and venerable native brother Sudin with me, who indeed is a workman that 'needeth not to be ashamed,' and a most powerful preacher of the Gospel. I had also our new convert Bhei Haran, who acted as colporteur, and visited villages which we could not go to. His conversion is a most interesting one.

"I am glad to be able to state that in both the English and the native churches here peace and concord have prevailed during the year; and in the native church especially we have evidence of progress in the knowledge of the truth, and several young men who give promise of future usefulness in the cause of Christ.

The work at Jamalpore is progressing. Two services are conducted every week, and a promising Sunday-school has been opened by my young colleague, Mr. Jones, who is zealous in his work for the Master, both among the natives and the Europeans, and is now able to speak with feeling in the Bazaar.

"I am very anxious to make a move in our work by getting a sub-station out in the district. There is a fine place for a station some ten miles away beyond the Ganges and the Gunduk, and I hope we may be able to take it up, as it is a place from which other large country towns and villages are easily accessible.

"The name of the place is Khugena."

Patna is situate on the southern bank of the Ganges, about 320 miles N.W. of Calcutta. It is largely inhabited by Mussulmans, and the entire population is said to number 158,900. The district contains 1,559,638 inhabitants.

Mr. Broadway has furnished us with the following report:—

"The work has been carried on without intermission.

"1. In the city, the desire of the people to hear the truths of the Gospel, which we declare to them daily, seems to have increased to a marked and prominent degree. We have always had before us large and friendly audiences, the interest and attention evinced by whom have been exceedingly satisfactory and encouraging. Our antagonists have been, for the most part, leaders of the various prevailing sects.

"The confusion respecting religion has no bounds among the sects extant. Some consider it merely a method appointed to ward off the wrath of God, and think that if all its rites, consisting of ablutions, prayers, alms, austerities, and sacrifices, be duly observed, it must necessarily lead to heaven without regard to form or designation. Others hold that Christ, Ram, Boudh, and Mohammed are simply different names applied to the incarnations of the same Deity for the rescue of the human race from evil in different parts of the world; and that, as rivers are distinct streams far apart from each other, and each pursuing its own course, though they all find place in the same great ocean, so the adherents of these names, though far apart from each other and pursuing different courses, will all in like manner find place in the great ocean of eternal bliss. Others, again, cling to the old doctrine of the emanation of souls in particles from a great original, the repeated transmigration from body to body, and final absorption into the great original.

"We have found the religious leaders of every sect unusually concerned of late. They have observed a feeling of estrangement from religion beginning to affect the members of the systems they advocate, which they attribute to apathy for spiritual matters common to human nature. In order to rouse their adherents to a sense of duty, they have attempted to copy our example of holding forth in public places.

"One leader of the Mohammedan community from Lucknow, considered to be a person of uncommon sanctity, was so deeply concerned for the religious welfare of his brethren in this city, who come in constant contact with the Gospel, that he resolved to strengthen their faith. For days together he visited our preaching places, and even took possession of our stand if he happened to be earlier than we; if later, he stood on some spot near us, and held forth his false doctrines, as it were, in our face.

"We may add here, that this is the third Islam preacher who has failed in his attempt to maintain his ground and been obliged to withdraw from the place.

"2. In melas, where the opportunity is especially favourable for our purpose, every possible effort has been employed to improve it. In the mela held at Sonapore the work was very animating. It is one that lasts for weeks, and the gathering this year was larger than the preceding nine or ten years. Messrs. Bate and Grieff, Ram Sing, and Sabha Chund joined us, and we were glad to have them. Our camp was thronged with people, and multitudes heard of the way of salvation. On all occasions sundry attempts were made to defend the creeds professed, but there were no discussions worthy of the name. We have reason to believe that our message was generally received with good feeling; and, under the blessing of God, we trust it will prove 'a savour of life' to many, if not to all those who have heard it.

"The book-stall was in the hands of Imam Masih and Ram Sing, who also attended to calls and addressed the people alternately. The sale of books was greater on this occasion than ever known in this place.

"A woman who had purchased a complete copy of the New Testament, was interrogated by some of the crowd gathered around the place as to the usefulness of her purchase. She looked firmly at them, and replied, that she knew what she had done—that she could read, and had examined the book and found it good, therefore had she purchased it.

"3. In the district the interest of the people continues unabated. During the rainy season Imam Masih made two trips to the north as far as Durbhunga. On the first occasion he journeyed via Hajipore, and on the second via Barh, which extended his field of work over a large tract of the district. He found willing hearers everywhere. At Durbhunga he disposed of gospels and tracts amounting to 7 rupees.

"A while later, at the change of the season, we travelled together to the south. We commenced our journey eastward, and went on to Bokhtiarpore. From Bokhtiarpore we took a south-east direction and circled round to Behar. From Behar we continued the same south-east course until we attained beyond the Rajgeer hills; we then travelled west, and then towards Gya. From Gya we turned northward to Patna, leaving the south-west to Mr. Grief, who was then itinerating there. Our journey was rough and trying; but the kindness we met from the people, combined with the interest we found in our own work, amply compensated for all difficulties that attended it.

"John Rahim Buksh and Chirag Masih itinerated as far as Mokama, the eastern boundary of the district. They, too, met with proper attention and hearing in the places they visited, and felt that the truths expounded would not be lost to all who heard them.

"4. We have made efforts to obtain an influence over the higher and also the educated classes, and our success has been satisfactory. We have had numerous visits from educated Mohammedans, Hindoos, and Brahmos. They have been friendly disposed, and seemed sincere in their inquiry after truth.

"Bengalis only seem to take favourably to Brahmoism. The people of this province do not appreciate the system. At the commencement of its revival, its votaries exulted in the idea that Brahmoism had no parallel; but, now that the excitement of novelty has subsided, and sober consideration has taken the place of quickly-formed and indefinite conceptions, many seem dissatisfied with it.

"5. The demand for our books has of late increased throughout the place. The people have commenced to purchase and read them freely. Some have been known to purchase them for their children. These instances indicate that the fear they formerly entertained of reading our books is dissipating, and we may conclude that the Gospel is gradually finding its way to their hearts."

Dinapore is a few miles west of Patna, and contains 61,300 inhabitants. It is the seat of the military authorities for the district. Bankipore lies between Patna and Dinapore, and contains 72,746 inhabitants.

The following is extracted from the report:—

"During the year I have been engaged in preaching in the bazaars, as far as my health and strength enabled me, and the Lord helped me, in this work of faith, and labour of love. I have always been assisted by our brother John Raheem Buksh, whom I find at all times ready to go forth with me, and who, by his life and preaching, makes a worthy fellow-labourer. Brother McCumby frequently accompanied us for about two months together, after his return from one of his preaching tours.

"I regret to say I was laid aside from my work, by a serious and severe attack of illness, for a time.

"On the night of the 10th December, when travelling by train, a very respectable and intelligent Pundit, of one of the Rajas, proceeding to meet the Prince of Wales at Calcutta, accompanied me in the same railway carriage from Allahabad. With him I spent an hour or two most agreeably. Our conversation was regarding the sinner being pardoned through the atoning blood of Jesus, and made holy and fit for heaven through the sanctifying influences of the Holy Spirit. How rejoiced I was to hear the Pundit say, 'True! true! this is the only way of salvation.' He said so with much feeling, and only the ear of the Almighty heard him, for the other passengers seemed to be asleep. I do pray that my trip to Meerut and back may not have been in vain.

"Since my return to Dinapore I have had another visit from my old friend Jugjewan Lal. He was happy, he said, to tell me that he was now doing well as a Hindoo teacher in his village. I went through the first four chapters of Matthew's Gospel with him, exhorting him to hold on firmly to Jesus. He assured me that he really did so, and acknowledged no other Saviour. May the Lord pluck him as a brand !

"With reference to the English branch, I am glad to say we have found a volunteer and an acceptable preacher in Mr. J. C. Grieff, son of our venerable brother Grieff, of Gya, who has been officiating for me in the chapel since my illness, and also officiated for Brother Broadway during his tour in the district, and so forth.

"The services in English have been conducted during this year as they were last year, only that the number of attendants may have in some measure increased, at the public services on the Lord's-day, and on Thursday evening, as well as the Bible-classes on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday evenings. Brother Jordan, of Serampore, favoured us with a visit at the commencement of the year, when special services were held for four or five evenings together, which proved a season of spiritual refreshment to us all.

"Eighteen persons in all have been received into the church by baptism.

"Our coadjutor, Moulvee Imám Masih, has prepared two rather elaborate, but excellent, tracts, and has two more in hand. Let us hope that our brother may have his reward, when they are printed and circulated, in finding them duly appreciated by the people to the good of their souls."

The most sacred of all Indian cities. It stands on the northern bank of the Ganges, about 430 miles N.W. from Calcutta. During festivals the population is said sometimes to reach 600,000 persons ; but its ordinary inhabitants number only 175,188. It contains 4,000 Hindoo temples, as well as many mosques.

Mr. Heinig reports as follows of the work in which he has been engaged :—

"I have now laboured in Benares thirty short years, preaching the Gospel, testifying before young and old that Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners. This period can well be divided in two parts ; the first reaches up to the beginning of 1857, when there were many, who not only opposed the message of salvation, but abused me most severely. It was, however, manifest that their ill-behaviour was not on account of the Gospel, but in order to make me angry, in which they never could succeed.

"During the Mutiny in 1857 (from which year the second part begins), it was not advisable to go preaching into the city ; nevertheless, four of those vehement abusers visited me repeatedly, begging of me to come again and preach unto them, promising that they would never abuse me again. I am glad to say they kept their word, and ever since large crowds of Hindoos and Mohammedans stand and listen and argue reasonably. Of late, occasionally it happened that women also, when listening, fearlessly testified before the male assembly to the truths they listened to, and declared before them in unmistakable terms that salvation is not of our merits, but by the grace of God, and in simple expression told them that all their idol worship and all connected with it has proved to be in vain.

has been limited this year by myself and the native preacher Joseph Chut-tree visiting the annual fair at Allahabad—preaching for six consecutive days to large numbers.

"Having been unwell the latter part of the year, instead of going to the annual fair at Balliya I attended the Conference at Calcutta, while Joseph Chuttree conducted the Hindustani services here.

"Hindustani Services"

have been regularly conducted both on Sundays and Wednesdays; the attendance on these solemn occasions has been thirty-three and upwards. The orphan children have been also very attentive to their Sunday-school lessons.

"Orphans"

in connection with the Mission numbered twenty-eight at the close of the year. I am thankful to say they have enjoyed excellent health during the trying hot season, and have been most diligent in their attendance at school, and to their needle and fancy-work."

Mr. Etherington reports as follows:—

"My time last year was devoted partly to preaching in Hindi or Urdu, partly to literary work in Hindi, and partly to work among the European and Eurasian population of Benares. Of the former, work amongst the natives, I can add but little to what you already know. Christ and His salvation are continually presented to the people; they listen, generally with apparent interest, and understand in many cases, all about it, but there the matter seems to end. When the importance and the necessity of believing and trusting in Christ as the Saviour are pressed upon them, they say, 'How can we? Your religion is true and good for you, but if we were to receive it we would be immediately outcasted, and then what would become of us?'

"As I was about to leave, after preaching in one of the ohouks, or squares, of Benares, not many days ago, an intelligent, but rather fast-looking, young man said, 'I wish to ask a question—What is good and what is evil; what is virtue and what is vice; is there any difference between them?' I replied, 'Whatever is in accordance with the will and command of God is good, and whatever is opposed to His will and command is evil. Do you not feel that there is a difference between them?' He said, 'There is no real difference; vice and virtue are but different names for actions which in their nature are one. He (God) acts, and He actuates. We only do what He leads us to do, and we cannot do otherwise, for nothing takes place apart from Him. The powers of body and of mind, by means of which we act, He gave to us; so that if we do wrong with them, we are not to blame; He should not have given us the power to do wrong.' I replied, 'All our powers are doubtless given to us by God, to enable us to do what is good, but not to do what is wrong. He gave us, for instance, a tongue, that we might speak what is true and pure, but not what is false or abusive, as you have all been doing during the past month.* He gave us hands to work with, and to help one another, but not that we might steal, or injure one another,' &c.

"It is comparatively easy to answer their objections when they are sincerely brought forward, but to a Hindoo, anxious to know and follow what is true, the social difficulties that lie in his way are far greater than the intellectual, and nothing but the grace of God can enable him to overcome them.

* During the month Phagun, which comprises part of February and part of March, a festival called the "Holy" (as if with an intended sarcasm), the grand Saturnalia of the Hindoos, is held. The most filthy songs are sung about the streets by men and women, and the foulest abuse is freely indulged in by all parties, which is, however, all taken in good part. The effect of this festival on the morals of the people is terribly sad.

"Perhaps there is no country in which the condition of things is more likely to produce Nicodemuses, or men like Joseph of Arimathæa, than India. I believe that when, at last, the secrets of all hearts shall have been revealed, there will be found among the saved thousands of men and women who in India believed in and trusted in Christ as their Saviour, but who had not the courage to confess Him openly. The number of secret disciples among the women is greater, I think, than is generally supposed, and is likely to increase with the spread of Zenana teaching.

"A good deal of my time last year was given to literary work. I have translated into Hindi nearly half of Dr. Wenger's Commentary in Bengali on the four Gospels. I hope to finish the work within the next twelve months. I gave some time also to the preparation in Hindi of a connected life of Christ in Scripture language, with brief notes. The book will be the Hindi version of the life of Christ, in Bengali, which Mr. Rouse prepared. As yet, only about a third of the book is in print, owing, I believe, to the pressure of work at the press in Calcutta.

"The work among the European and Eurasian population was in some respects more encouraging last year than during any previous year since I have been here. There were more baptisms. The church, however, is still small and weak.

"The school which I established last year for poor Eurasian children has so far proved successful. It costs the mission nothing. The municipal committee here have renewed their grant of Rs. 800 towards it for the present year, and Government make a monthly grant of Rs. 46. These sums, with a few local subscriptions, will suffice for its support.

"Some months ago, Mrs. Etherington was led to try the experiment of Sunday-schools for heathen women and girls. We hardly hoped that in the heart of this great heathen city such an experiment would succeed, and anticipated opposition. We are now rejoicing in the fact that the schools are established, and have only to regret the lack of Christian teachers."

The capital of the district, with a population of 149,008 persons; it is situated on the River Jumna, about 800 miles N.W. from Calcutta.

From the report of Mr. Gregson we extract the following particulars:—

"At the beginning of the year Mr. Williams left Muttra for England, after fifteen years of incessant toil in the plains, without ever once taking leave, or being laid aside from his work by sickness. Mr. St. Dalmas moved from Chitoura, and occupied Muttra, where, we trust, he will have as many years of usefulness as his predecessor."

"Preaching to the Heathen."

"The heathen have had the Gospel preached to them in this district for many years. The ground has been well covered; the bazaars, the villages, and melas have been visited by European and native preachers, with apparently little result, no awakening, no crying aloud, What must I do to be saved? No inquiry after truth. The people are indifferent and careless; if they gain no worldly advantage by becoming Christians they have no desire to change their faith; nothing appears to touch the Hindoo heart but the corrupting rupee. For money they will be very zealous for the Christian faith, or any other faith, if it paid them better. But we prefer to wait, and not get weary in waiting, for the Spirit of the Lord to arouse this heathen land to a sense of its need.

"Although we have not been privileged to gather in any to the church, from among the heathen, we can testify to the readiness with which they have heard the Gospel. Crowds have listened in the bazaars, markets, and melas. The Gospel has been preached, in humble dependence upon Him who has given the command, Preach the Gospel to every creature.

"Preaching to our own People."

"At the beginning of the year we had the privilege of receiving a visit from the Rev. A. N. Somerville, of Glasgow, who was on an evangelistic tour through India: many were cheered by the earnest addresses and fervent appeals of this venerable servant of Christ.

"It will be long ere his visit to Agra is forgotten, and the good resulting, we hope, will be enduring as eternity.

"The congregations at Havelock Chapel have been larger than ever, and several have united in Christian communion at the Lord's Table, which is open to all denominations. Our contributions have also increased: during the year, Rs. 1,716 has been raised.

"Although our Indian congregations are very fluctuating, we hope to raise as large a sum next year; whether the money thus raised be paid into the Mission Fund, as in our case, or to a distinct Pastors' Fund, the result is very much the same, as the Missionary Society receives the amount raised by the congregation which has the services of their missionary.

"Temperance Work."

"Our soldiers now garrisoned in Agra take a deep interest in the progress of Temperance in the Army. There are two branches of the Soldiers' Total Abstinence Association, one in the 59th Regiment and the other in A/19. Temperance Lectures have been delivered through the year, and hundreds of men signed the pledge. Some, we rejoice to find, frequent the prayer-meeting,

Bible meetings, and Divine services in the chapel. We earnestly desire that temperance may lead the way to the door of the sheepfold, and bring wanderers back to the tender Shepherd. Many are now members of the church, who formerly frequented the canteen. From a missionary point of view it is impossible to over-estimate the importance of this movement in India, where drink and religion are regarded by the natives as synonymous terms. A Hindoo Brahmin once told me that a wealthy native in Agra was almost a Christian, because he drank brandy and water. Our national drink has made as great, if not greater, an impression upon the native mind, as our national religion.

"The Sunday-School."

"Our work among the children has been very encouraging this year. The school has been well attended; the superintendent and teachers devote a great deal of care and attention to the management and instruction of the children.

"We leave our year of toil in the Master's service in humble dependence upon His mercy to pardon all its imperfection, and bring out of frail deeds, the blessings of His grace."

VI.—CHITOURA.

VII.—MUTTRA.

Missionary, J. WILLIAMS.

A place much frequented by the Hindoos for the worship of Krishna. It is of great antiquity, and is situated on the banks of the Jumna, about thirty miles N.E. from Agra. The population numbers 63,431 persons.

Mr. St. Dalmas removed to Muttra on the departure of Mr. Williams for England, and has furnished the following report:—

"According to the census of 1871, the population in the district of Muttra was composed of—

Hindoos	-	816,870
Mohammedans	-	75,649
Christians	-	23
		892,542

"In all nearly a million of people, and if we abandon these artificial district boundaries, and include the population of neighbouring towns falling within the Muttra missionary district, the population would be greatly raised. Out of such a population in 1871, only 23 returned themselves Christians, and I confess, with sorrow, that I fear the number at the present time is still less.

"In 1874, the number of Baptist church members returned was only three, as compared with seven in 1872 and 1873, and I cannot record any increase at the end of 1875.

"It is more than thirty years since our Society commenced operations in Muttra, and the Church Missionary Society founded a mission here twenty years ago, and there are still a small church and school under the charge of a native catechist of that society.

"Two professed converts have been baptized during the year; they were publicly baptized in the River Jumna, in the presence of Hindoos and Mohammedans. Both of them have, since their baptism, left Muttra, and, I have only too good reason to fear, have not yet brought forth fruit meet for repentance. We have now only two native Christians in Muttra, in connection with our Mission: one, an old man, who has been for some time a kind of pensioner on the bounties of Padre Sahib, and the other a servant who came with me from Chitoura, and was formerly one of Colonel Wheeler's orphan boys at that place.

"Various efforts have been put forth during the year. I have had the privilege of preaching at three large melas in October and November.

"I had an interview with the Rana before leaving Dholepore, and as it is long since a European missionary appears to have visited this mela, I felt the more thankful to be allowed to establish a precedent. This place will be more accessible soon, as it lies half way between Agra and Gwalior, on the line of railway which is to connect these two places.

"Immediately after the Dholepore mela, I returned from Agra to Muttra, and prepared for the Goverdhan mela, which is attended by 100,000 people. As a demonstration of the power and hold Hindooism has on the minds of the people, this mela exceeds anything else I have yet seen in India.

"After returning from Goverdhan mela, I accompanied Mr. Gregson to Bateshar mela; we were the only two European missionaries, but we were glad to see a band of native preachers and colporteurs from the Presbyterian and Church of England missions.

"It is a great help to a missionary to attend these large melas, as people come to them from all parts; many take books to their distant homes, and others recognize the missionary when he happens to visit their villages. In a tour I have lately made for a month, north and west of Muttra, people have told me in nearly every village that they heard or saw me preaching at Goverdhan mela, and some who had bought books were glad to see me again and purchase more. In one large town, 100 miles from Bateshar, some people told me as soon as I arrived that they had seen me at that mela. This kind of recognition is very gratifying to a missionary, and a good introduction to his preaching in a new place.

"In addition to visiting these three melas, I have been itinerating in the district, preaching and selling Scriptures in towns and villages to the extent of my singleability. But I may well ask, What is one among such a multitude? If there were 100 preachers in this Muttra district, they would each have 10,000 people to preach to.

"I have just been spending a week in Brindaban, and have been astonished at the little opposition I have received, compared with what might have been expected. There are temples there which would make splendid churches, ay, cathedrals, for Christian worship, if the proprietors would leave the ranks of Krishna for the army of Christ the Lord. One modern temple, especially, provoked in me an intense desire for temples which we build not to worship in, for it is a magnificent and spacious structure, capable of holding as many people as the Metropolitan Tabernacle.

"From March to August I was engaged in street-preaching in the city. A daily Hindoo service has been held at the bungalow, the regular attendants being half a dozen servants and occasional visitors. On Sundays, two services were held during the hot season, at different places, the attendance being rather larger than on week days.

"Singing is a great attraction in this as in other lands. During a recent camping out, whenever my wife could accompany me to the village bazaars, and sing a hymn to the people, the effect was very marked. My wife has not only visited some of the native women in their own homes or zenanas, but, better still, has had women coming to the tent to see her, only too glad to listen to her singing and talking. It will be easily understood by those who know anything of female society in India that these women belong, mostly, to the poorer classes, who are not shut up in zenanas, but have to go, day by day, to the fields to work, or to the wells to draw water.

"On one occasion more than a dozen women, engaged in picking cotton near our house, requested to be allowed to come to the daily service (held just after breakfast) when we sing a hymn, read and pray in the vernacular for the sake of our servants. Of course, we gladly let these women come, and they have continued to attend whenever they have been working near at hand. This daily service is held in the verandah of the bungalow to make it more accessible to outsiders.

"Soon after I came to Muttra, a few of the English soldiers asked me to form a Bible-class, which I gladly did. We have met once a week in our bungalow, as there was no room available in the barracks. The 10th Hussars, now in Muttra, is the Prince of Wales's own regiment, and the bulk of them have gone to the camp of exercise at Delhi; some are to form an escort for their honourary colonel on the occasion of the approaching royal visit to Agra and Gwalior. When the cold season outing is over, and the regiment is again assembled, I hope we shall have the privilege of meeting with a larger band of Christian soldiers than we commenced with last year, and, also, have the joy of seeing others added to them, and to the Lord."

GUYTON, and W. CAREY, M.D.

This ancient capital of the Great Mogul lies 900 miles distant N.W. from Calcutta. The number of inhabitants is usually estimated at 150,000, equally divided between Hindus and Mohammedans.

The Rev. James Smith has favoured us with the following report of the operations in progress in Delhi and the surrounding district:—

"The past year has been one of steady progress. At its commencement a serious quarrel between two members, that had eventually to be settled in court, threatened to mar the peace of the churches; but it passed over without serious mischief, and, on the whole, much peace and prosperity have been enjoyed.

"There has been a most hopeful movement at Marowly that has spread among the large number of villages by which it is surrounded. A good school was established during the year, and a building for both school and worship is being erected; fourteen have been baptized, and the nucleus for a good working church gathered. Nor is this all, for a demand for instruction has reached us of such an extensive character that we cannot meet it. The labouring classes, especially the workers in leather, are just awaking to a sense of the fact that only Christianity can deliver them from the degradation into which idolatry and caste have thrown them. It is true that the motives by which these people are actuated are mixed, and in some cases purely secular; but there can be no doubt that the original movement is a religious one, and that it may be by care controlled and kept in a religious channel. There is one serious aspect of the case that has engaged a good deal of our attention, and that is the necessity of being prepared with suitable teachers and preachers for enlightening the multitudes of the poorer classes, who appear to be turning their attention to Christianity. Unless means are supplied, and men trained for the village work, now so full of hope and interest, we shall be in great danger of having, instead of intelligent growing Christianity, baptized heathenism, or Christianity steeped in superstition. The small Christian schools are eminently suited for the enlightenment of the poor; the schoolmaster being a Christian, spends half the day in teaching the children, and the other half in visiting from house to house and teaching adults, whilst almost nightly the people gather about him and finish the day smoking and talking over religious matters. We have thirty-three of these schools scattered over an area of 50 miles. We want, not only to increase their numbers, but their efficiency, and to this end the central school must be supplied with better apparatus, and more thoroughly qualified teachers, and the classes now meeting three times weekly, under Mr. Guyton and Mr. Dannenberg, largely increased in numbers. The magnitude of the work is appalling, and if it should go on increasing as it has done the last few years, will soon be beyond any control; hence the necessity of our being prepared with properly trained and instructed Christian men to meet demands for Scripture teaching, that are likely to exceed the most sanguine expectations. The spread of the truth is to some extent spontaneous, and is due to our persevering efforts to teach our people self-help, and the duty of preaching or teaching the Gospel without being paid as native preachers. It has been deeply interesting to us all, when more than once Fakhira has appeared at the chapel on Lord's-day morning, with two, four, and once half-a-dozen men, who had come with him fourteen miles in order that they might put on Christ by baptism.

"At Sumpair these poor people have built themselves a schoolhouse, in which they meet daily for worship, and Fakhira, their apostle and teacher, has all his wants supplied by them. They have never asked for help from the mission.

"Lal Das also is, we believe, doing a good work on the Muttra road, among villages too far away for us to visit.

"Chunni Lal is our most efficient worker in these evangelistic operations. The native church has undertaken his entire support, and gives him 15 rupees per month. He is thus at liberty (without being troubled with corroding care about his family) to carry on his labours, and there is no doubt as to his faithfulness and zeal. He has travelled a good deal in the district, and baptized on several occasions during the year. His influence is most useful in creating a spirit of independence among the people, and many hopes as to the future centre in him.

"We are deeply grateful to the great Head of the Church for sending us such efficient aid during the year. Mr. Guyton has passed exceptionally good examinations in both Urdu and Hindi, and has proved himself to be fully qualified for the work to which he has devoted his life. Dr. Carey and Miss Thorn, thoroughly qualified medical missionaries, have entered on their duties with energy and hope. This supplies an especial need in Delhi; for whilst the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel has professed to maintain a medical mission, they have really had no qualified gentleman or lady capable of meeting the growing wants of the city in this department. Even if their mission had possessed any vitality, there is abundant room for two or more among the millions of Delhi and the surrounding country.

"In conclusion, we desire to thank God, and take courage. The one member in 1858 has grown into 327 in 1875, and the heaven is working far and near."

This district lies to the east of Delhi, and contains about 370,000 inhabitants.

We have no special report from this district this year. Subha Chund has been assisting the work in Allahabad and elsewhere during the year.

X.—ALLAHABAD.

Missionaries, J. D. BATE and J. H. ANDERSON.

Number of members, 84.

This important city, situated at the junction of the Ganges and Jumna rivers, is now the seat of Government for the North-Western Provinces of Hindustan. It contains 143,693 inhabitants. It is about 600 miles from Calcutta, with which it has communications both by rail and river.

Mr. Anderson reports as follows:—

"The Lord has granted a larger blessing on our labours than we have had in previous years. At the beginning of the warm weather, when travelling about in the villages was becoming impracticable, in conjunction with our Methodist brethren, we commenced a series of revival services in a part of the town called the railway barracks. These barracks are blocks of buildings erected by the railway company for its employés. I had previously visited the houses a great deal, and my daughter and Miss Ruth Gordon, had for a good many months been regularly distributing tracts among the people. It pleased God to bless those services, a number were awakened, and several were baptized and joined the church. Some months have gone by; they have all continued steadfast in the faith; and we have not had one case of discipline. Four or five of these new members have been actively engaged in trying to do good, and two of the men have a strong desire to be wholly engaged in missionary work. Their not knowing the vernaculars is the obstacle which prevents them realizing their wish for the present. We have had interesting cases of conversion from other sections of the community. A young man from Scotland, whose parents are members of a Baptist church there, after a long inward struggle, renounced the world to follow Christ. Another case was that of a young lady in Mrs. Anderson's school, and also in the Sabbath-school, whose exhibition of early piety gave peculiar pleasure to the church. Some have been enrolled as members who were previously connected with other churches. In all twenty-eight persons were received into the church, of whom five were natives who had previously been church members. And in addition to these, four were baptized without joining our church.

"On the other hand, two cases of exclusion have happened.

"The congregations on the Lord's-day at the chapel were very good during the first half of the year, and the week evening services were remarkably well attended. This was during the period of the revival. My health then failed. An affliction of the throat, resulting from too much speaking, made it necessary for me to ask missionary brethren in Allahabad to preach for me a good deal. They did so readily, and I am much indebted to them for their warm practical sympathy.

"My esteemed colleague, Mr. Bate, has taken his share in the English preaching; the Zenana lady and the city visitor have continued their work. Two English Sunday-schools have kept up, and the tract distribution has been persisted in throughout the year. Two native Sunday-schools have been established in which we have had 100 children. The attendance is now about sixty-five. We have also a day-school for native children, with an attendance of about twenty scholars. Some of the brethren have been working energetically in the Temperance cause, and about 100 members, principally persons on the railway, have engaged to be total abstainers.

"In regard to evangelistic work among the natives, I have made two or three excursions to the villages of the district, in the direction of Cawnpore, within a radius of thirty-six miles from our station. But I have become convinced of the desirableness of reaching a population less prejudiced and less bigoted than those residing in that direction, many of whom frequently visit Allahabad, and come under the influence of persons there who are very hostile to us.

"I have selected a district some sixty miles from Allahabad on the Jubbulpore Railway, which can be reached by rail in three hours, where there is a considerable number of people of the aboriginal class of Kols, speaking, however, the Hindi language. I hope to prosecute the work of evangelization among them. We have visited the villages around within a radius of six miles—some twenty in number. A few of them we have re-visited. It is our plan to go repeatedly to the same places where we are favourably received, so that by degrees the people of these places may become more enlightened than they can be by a cursory system of itineration. The people tell us they have never been visited by a missionary before. We are hopeful, from the way in which they listen, that the Lord will commence a work of His grace among them.

"I wish some churches or Sunday-schools would send us funds to support native preachers so that we may enlarge our field of labour."

The Rev. J. D. Bate reports as follows:—

"When I wrote to you my last annual letter (in January, 1875) we were in the midst of the great yearly festival of the Hindoos, held here at the junction of the rivers (the Ganges and the Jumna). We enjoyed, on that occasion, the valuable assistance of our dear brethren McCumby and Heinig; we had also most efficient help from our Hindustani brethren Imam Masih, Sabha Chand, and Ram Singh. We carried on our work there every day throughout the month, returning to preach in the market-places and bazaars of the city in the afternoon. During the four chief days of the festival we sold not less than 2,500 copies of our religious publications, about one-third being gospels and other Scripture books. The concourse of the people who assemble at these fairs on the chief days is so immense that no one who has never witnessed it could be expected to credit any description that may be given.

"But the Christian missionary who happens to have acquainted himself with the people, and with their ideas, sees elements abounding with encouragement and hope. He knows that among this immense concourse there is a number, whose extent it would be presumption to specify, who have in truth lost faith in the religious traditions of their race, and whose connection with the ancient superstition is so far nominal as to relate to the ceremonials only.

"They are only nominally Hindoos; just as many multitudes in Christian lands are but nominally Christians. The true reason why they do not openly avow their disbelief of Hindooism and their acceptance of Christ is that they lack the force which Divine grace alone can create within them. And here and there we meet with a man who is not a quidnunc, but a veritable seeker after a better way.

"Throughout the year I preached every day in one or other of the market-places of our city, excepting when I was prevented by illness or by some public engagement. Of course I except also those occasions when I have been journeying among the villages of my zillah, or have been away at some fair. I have got into circulation large numbers of Christian tracts, and portions of Scripture, both among the city people and among pilgrims and traders. There have been many encouraging circumstances, and also many that have been far otherwise; but cheered and sustained by the presence of Christ and by His promises, I feel that to stand in the public streets and tell of Him is the highest privilege and happiness of which I have any conception. During the year I preached at several Hindoo fairs, besides the one I mentioned just now. I may mention the fairs at Papamau, Kydganj, Alopi-bagh, Daraganj, and Karnoolganj; also, at the Sonapore fair, where I joined our dear brethren McCumby and Broadway in November.

"You will be sorry to hear that I returned to find that our home had been invaded by sickness; my dear wife was ill in bed, and within a week of my return one of our dear children (in her third year) was taken to heaven. We left in a few days after her burial for a journey in the zillah, and continued that journey till the day before the commencement of the great fair here at the confluence of the rivers.

"I have several literary works in hand, but will not now stop to describe them. In February last, a conference was held here in reference to the Christian literature in the Urdu and Hindi languages. Dr. Murdooh, at whose instance the conference was convened, asked me some weeks before to be a sort of representative of the work of our Society in reference to those subjects. With a good bit of diffidence I agreed to take the part he had been so kind as to assign to me. The subject was an exceedingly interesting one—for our Baptist brethren, past and present, have (as you know) taken a noble share in the creation of Christian literature in the vernacular of these provinces. I had to write a paper, and also to prepare a list of the books that had been produced by Baptists in those languages.

"I have also seen through the press (at the request of the committee of the North India Auxiliary of the Tract Society) two of the works of our dear brother Mr. Parsons; one of these, while editing, I considerably enlarged from the results of my own reading. It is a sort of vade mecum for the Christian preacher (native or European), containing important extracts from the religious books of the people in Hindi, Urdu, and Sanscrit languages. Previously to his retirement from the Lieutenant-Governorship of these provinces, Sir William Muir generously placed at the disposal of the North India Tract Society the sum of Rs. 1,500 (£150). His object was to make awards from this sum of certain amounts for prize essays in the Urdu and Hindi languages. Three adjudicators were appointed, of whom I was one. We examined twenty-seven MSS., of which about one-half were accepted for publication, and one-fifth for the prizes. Some very valuable additions have thus been made to our literature. I have also examined, preparatory to acceptance for publication, several Hindi MSS. for the Christian Vernacular Education Society.

"In April last I was (I grieve to say) obliged to send my dear pandit Shri Dhar Biswasi away on account of certain improprieties in speech. I found afterwards that he had gone hence to Monghir, where our brother Evans received him kindly. He, too, however, was, in course of time, obliged to send him away; and he has since joined the Church Mission in Benares. I love him very much, for I feel no doubt that he belongs to Christ, but the fact is his family troubles preyed upon his mind and unsettled his brain. If we had experienced what he has undergone, no doubt our heads would have gone bad too. I quite believe that he will return to me again some day, and if he be truly contrite in heart, I know that he will be forgiven by Him whom he has dishonoured."

XI.—SIMLAH.

Missionary, GOOLZAR SHAH.

Number of members, 29.

From the report forwarded by our esteemed brother we extract the following information :—

"We commenced the operations of the year with renewed vigour and bright prospects before us. We felt ourselves strong in the Lord. In our Mission staff we had three paid and three voluntary agents, in addition to which we secured the services of Mr. E. C. Johnson (that veteran soldier of the Cross, well known to many of the Lord's people), who worked with us zealously and faithfully for some months. Up to the month of June everything went on smoothly with us, and by the blessing of Him who is the source and fountain of all good we enjoyed peace and prosperity.

"But during the rest of the Simla season we had troubles and sorrows—sickness among the Mission staff—death by cholera of a promising youth, the only son of a hill-woman lately admitted into our church by the rite of baptism—damages inflicted upon the Mission House by the heavy rains of the season—unjust lawsuits brought against us by some hill people to put an impediment to our work—inconsistent walk of some of our brethren who came from Calcutta, and of two native Christian teachers who left us. All these were to us sources of trials, sorrows, and disappointments. But thanks be to God, He has graciously brought us safely through them all, and many of the Lord's people helped us in our difficulties, especially the Rev. J. Fordyce, pastor of the Simla Union Church, and Mr. W. H. Carey, to whom we beg to tender our best thanks.

"Mr. Johnson was obliged to leave us in August last, owing to family reasons, but before he left the station he recommended Mr. B. Simmonds, an active young European Christian, who is now working with us. His imperfect knowledge of the Hindi language is a great disadvantage to him. We hope and trust that he will overcome this difficulty within a short time, and prove himself to be a worthy labourer in the Lord's vineyard.

"This year we have missed very much our respected and beloved brother and fellow-labourer Mr. S. C. Banerjea, who has been unable to come up to Simla. We are thankful, however, to say that the Lord has graciously raised up another zealous brother, Mr. L. C. Mookerjea, to supply Mr. Banerjea's place to some extent, in addition to the valuable help we have obtained from our beloved brother Mr. Paran Chunder Bose.

"We feel thankful to our heavenly Father that we have been enabled to preach the glad tidings of salvation to the people of Simla another season.

"We have preached to the hill people as well as to those who have come up from the plains. Though our sphere of labour has been chiefly confined to the common people, yet we have occasionally visited men of higher classes, including the educated Babus from Bengal, for whose benefit special efforts have also been made by the worthy pastor and several members of the Union church, as well as by some of the missionaries of the Church Missionary Society and of other denominations.

"This season we have often visited the villages of Dhar and Bhogoge, as we did in former years.

"When the unreasonableness of the system of faith in which the villagers believe was explained to them, when they were told that the idols they worship were made of stocks and stones, and when the plan of salvation inculcated in the Holy Scriptures was expounded to them, some of them candidly acknowledged the error of their ways; others argued that the religion which they believed was the religion of their forefathers and must be true. But this reasoning will, we hope, soon vanish away. One family at Bhogoge and two families at the village Dhar are most attentive hearers.

"This year we have not been able to make any tour to the distant interior. But we have been able to visit, on two occasions, villages which are within a day's journey from this station. They are situated between the waterfalls and the Kooshomtee Bazaar beyond Chota Simla.

"As usual we had the privilege of visiting the two melas which take place every year near Simla, namely, (1) Mahasoo Mela, and (2) Taroka Devi's Mela.

"Two services have been held on every Lord's-day, in Bengali and Hindi. The former commenced at 8 a.m., the latter at 11 a.m. We are happy to state that throughout the season the attendance has been very encouraging. The former has been held for the benefit of our Bengali brethren. The average attendance at this service has been from twelve to twenty persons.

"The latter has been held for the resident members of the church, who do not understand Bengali—for the pupils of the schools connected with the mission, and for the non-Christian hill-men who are inquiring after the truths of our blessed faith. We are also happy to say, with reference to this service, that the attendance has been respectable, numbering from twenty-five to forty individuals of both sexes.

"We are thankful to report that there has been an accession of four members to our little church this year; of these, two are hill-women who used to attend our services occasionally for some years, and listened to the Word of God with attention.

"The third is a Punjabi who was inquiring after the truths of our blessed religion for some time; and has at last received the Lord Jesus as his Saviour.

"The fourth is the daughter of a nominal Christian, who has been awakened to feel the need of a Saviour and has accepted Jesus as her Redeemer.

"Throughout the season, there have been regularly four week-day meetings for the benefit of the brethren. We had meetings for Bible reading on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Boileaugunge and at Simla Bazaar, and for special prayer and religious conversation or fellowship meetings on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

"Two of our brethren (L. C. Mookerjee and Paran Chunder Bose) helped us in preaching to the hill-men both in the streets and villages, and in visiting from house to house; and two other brethren (B. Mundle and G. C. Nath) helped us in our work connected with the church, for which we are thankful to them.

"Though we are known as the Baptist Church of Simla, in consequence of its having been originated by the Baptists, and the majority of its members belong to that denomination, yet it is proper to mention that our congregation here, during the stay of the Government of India, consists of the members of various denominations. This season we had 16 Baptists, 5 Independents, 5 Presbyterians, 2 Episcopalians, and 1 Methodist in our church—altogether 29 members, of whom 5 are resident members, and 24 for the season. Consequently we have been, properly speaking, the native Union Church of Simla.

"Since the commencement of our church, there have been 16 baptisms, including 4 this year. These individuals are reckoned as its resident members. But it may be asked, what has become of the other 11? Three of them have been taken away by their relatives. The case of one who has been lately taken away by her husband is well known to the members of the Simla Union Church. Although they are surrounded by temptations, we hope and trust that the seed sown in them will not altogether be lost. Of the rest, 4 are at Dehra, 1 at Jhelum, 1 at Calcutta, 1 at Saharanpore, and 1 has fallen asleep in Jesus.

"Our school in the mission-house was ably conducted by Mr. Johnson during the time he was with us. Though the number of pupils did not exceed 25, yet we have reason to be thankful that Mr. Johnson's instructions have been blessed to the pupils.

"The breaking out of cholera at the station, and the death thereby of a promising youth in the mission-house, compelled us to close this school for one month. After this the school was re-opened by Mr. Simmonds; but several of our pupils have left the school, and the attendance has not exceeded 16, in consequence of the heavy rainy season and subsequent breaking of the camp in October.

"Our girls' school in the mission-house was re-opened this year and continued for three months only. The number of girls on the roll was 12; average attendance, 7. They were taught the Hindi First Book, sewing and needlework, and catechism and hymns. But in consequence of Mrs. Shah's serious illness we were obliged to close this school in July.

"In May last, we opened a branch school for boys at Chota Simla, and placed it in charge of one of our former pupils. We are averse to place non-Christian teachers in charge of our schools, but as the pupil alluded to was still desirous of learning more of the way of salvation, and as no Christian teacher was available at the time, we thought it best to entrust the Chota Simla school to that young man's hand. The number of boys on the roll of this school was 25; average attendance, 18. Mr. Johnson regularly inspected this school once a week, and since his departure, Mr. Simmonds has done the same."

Mr. Shah also states that 1,199 various tracts, books, and Scriptures have been sold, and 110 only given away. This is the largest number ever sold and distributed in one year.

PENINSULAR INDIA.

I.—POONAH.

Missionaries, HORMAZDJI PESTONJI,
E. B. FRANCIS.

Poonah is situated in the Western Presidency of Bombay, in Western India. It has ever been, of old, the capital of the vast Maharashtra country, and is renowned for being the seat of the ancient Government of Peshwa. It still sways somewhat Governmental authority, and continues to command considerable power and influence all around. It has been recognized by our British Government also as its seat of council, and is to the Governor of Bombay what Simla is to the Governor-General of India.

Mr. Francis has been fully occupied in learning the language, also visiting some of the places in the interior for missionary purposes. The Rev. Hormazdji Pestonji has not been able to furnish us with a formal report, but we are happy to state that he has been most busily employed in the various duties of his station, and has had the pleasure of baptizing three persons into the faith of Christ.

II.—MADRAS.

Missionary, S. J. CHOWRRYAPPAH.

Number of members, 12.

Mr. Chowrryappah entered on missionary work in this important city at the close of last year, and found a very cordial reception from the pastor and members of the Anglo-Indian Church, which has existed here for many years. Of his labours he thus speaks:—

“Soon after my arrival in February last, the Baptist brethren, with Mr. Money, the pastor, gave me a hearty welcome, and also gave me the use of the Baptist chapel to have my Tamil services in. I found there a few natives who had been brought to the Lord by Mr. Keirnan, who is working for the Lord amongst the heathen in this city. These were baptized by Mr. Money before I came. I was asked by these native members to establish a Tamil church. Agreeably to their wishes I have been enabled by the Lord’s blessing to gather a meeting in the Baptist chapel, and establish a Tamil Baptist church in the beginning of May, 1875. The church now numbers twelve, including the four whom I baptized soon after my arrival. Our Lord’s-day services are now regularly conducted both morning and evening, and for the breaking of bread once every month.

“One of the four whom I baptized is an old woman named Rauphummal, about sixty-five years of age; she spent all her days in ignorance and idolatrous superstition; she was marvellously led to the Cross, and to see a beauty in the crucified Lord Jesus Christ. Her mistress, who is also a Christian lady, tells me that, though she is very ignorant, she is a bright Christian, saved by sovereign grace at the eleventh hour.

“Street Preaching.”

“This part of the Lord’s work has proved a source of much strength to my own soul, for I have often felt the presence of the Lord in the open-air meetings.

“I have not followed the old custom of preachers, but with the assistance of Mr. J. Keirnan, I have got up some Christian lyrics, which we sing on the road side, and hundreds of natives flock round to hear us. In less than ten minutes I would have several hundred hearers. The beautiful singing would then drop, and the Gospel in all its simplicity would be made known to them. Now and again some one may attempt to disturb me during the time of my addressing the crowd; but I soon put a stop to the noise by singing a Tamil Christian lyric in their own metre. Thus the street preaching is carried out two, and sometimes three, times every day in the week.

“In the past year I have conducted Tamil prayer-meetings in private dwelling-houses in several parts of this city, where many, both Christians and heathens, have assembled to hear the blessed truths of the Gospel.

“I have several inquirers who are very anxious to know more of the Lord Jesus Christ. I trust that I will soon have to state that they have joined the little church by baptism.

“I left the station for the villages several times. Each time I remained absent, preaching in the several villages, a fortnight, and during my absence Mr. Keirnan supplied my place in Madras.

“I have preached in about seventy different villages, and everywhere I was heard and most gladly welcomed.

I have now received two calls in two different villages to establish a regular permanent preaching station.

"I am afraid I shall not be able to help them except the Lord inclines the hearts of all His people to help me in this good and noble cause."

III.—OOTACAMUND.

Missionary, GEORGE PEARCE.

On leaving Bengal to settle in the above spot, Mr. Pearce was invited to take charge of a small chapel built here some years ago for the benefit of visitors resorting to the Neilgherry hills for health. With this request Mr. Pearce complied, and he informs us that the Lord has greatly blessed his labours. Since his arrival he has had the deep sorrow of losing his beloved wife, whose long life had been devoted to the service of her Saviour, and in which she was greatly blessed among the women of Bengal. Mr. Pearce writes as follows:—

"You will be glad to hear that my work goes on steadily as before. I hope the Lord is blessing it. In December I had the pleasure of baptizing a native lady, who came from Kotagherry, another settlement on these hills, for the purpose, I believe, of submitting to this ordinance.

"The Tamil congregation, which I have mentioned before, keeps up, and two of the people, a young man and his wife, are candidates for baptism. The man is a clerk in a Government office, and is quite intelligent. He was brought up a Roman Catholic, but seems thoroughly dissatisfied with it. He has been with us now steadily two months.

"Feeling much the dearth of Christian books at this place, and, indeed, on these hills, I obtained from the London Religious Tract Society a consignment of their publications to the amount of £20, most of which I have sold, and remitted the proceeds. The committee are so pleased that they have forwarded me another consignment, and more valuable books than the former. I trust I may dispose of these equally readily with the former. Although Ootacamund is what is called empty from the absence of visitors, yet my congregation at Zion is giving me encouragement. Next month visitors will flock in, and the natives with them, when I hope to see the place well filled.

"The Lord is most graciously sustaining my health.

"I pray the Lord that I may be able soon to report to you the formation of a Christian Church at Ootacamund. Pray for me."

CEYLON.

I.—COLOMBO DISTRICT.

Missionaries, H. R. PIGOTT, F. D. WALDOCK.

Pastor of the Pettah Church, T. R. STEVENSON.

Number of members, 530.

From the report of Mr. Waldock the following particulars of the mission are taken:—

"The Pettah.

"Our brother Mr. Stevenson has kindly furnished some particulars of this church, which though happily not now dependent on the Society does not forget its filial relationship to it, as shown by the generous continuance of former contributions notwithstanding new and heavy pecuniary responsibilities. He says:—'The prospects of the Pettah Church are encouraging. We feel that we have much cause for gratitude. Our Sunday congregations are good, especially those in the evening. Not unfrequently every available seat is occupied. During the month of September, a week was devoted to special prayer-meetings. These were well attended and pervaded by a right spirit. Ten have been baptized during the year. The preaching-room at Slave Island has proved a useful auxiliary. We have begun the building of a new place of worship, situated in a central part of the city. Liberal contributions have been made towards it, both by our own congregation and neighbouring friends. It is expected to be completed in the course of a short time, and we fervently hope it will prove a valuable means of extending the Baptist denomination in the capital of Ceylon.'

"Grand Pass.

"The pastor of this native independent church, Mr. James Silva, has kindly sent the following:—

"The past year, as much as the previous year, was one of deep afflictions and trials. We have had to mourn the death of three members, including that of my wife. They have gone before, and we mourn with thanksgiving and hope, knowing that our loss is their gain. At certain seasons of the year we were tried by scarcity of means of support, but it proved only a trial. The Lord is good, and He has caused the scarcity to pass by the relief afforded; well proving the old experimental proverb, that "man's extremity is God's opportunity." Our Sabbath and week-days are all working-days, in sowing the seed of the Kingdom, in pastoral visits, prayer-meetings, distributing religious tracts, &c. Our success cannot be seen from the two baptized and one restored. There are many who, Nicodemus-like, love Jesus the Saviour, but something or other keeps them from a public profession of their faith. But we hope the day is not far distant when one look on the crucified Saviour will make them bold to confess their attachment to Him. Those who joined us had no little persecution from those who are enemies to God, and thus had the sincerity of their love to Christ tested, and grace was continued to them to remain steadfast. Some very promising new places are open to us, but we could not occupy them for want of labourers and means.

"This is the 12th year of our existence as a self-supporting church. 'Hitherto the Lord hath helped us.'

"Our grateful acknowledgments are also due to the Baptist Missionary Society for their continued fostering care, and for the grant of £50 towards the chapel building-fund.'

"I may add that our brother presides over a group of churches. The membership is 100. Their total expenditure last year was about £143.

"Weilgama and Hanwella.

"The school at Hanwella has been discontinued, but the teacher has been removed to a very benighted district, where he is not only gathering a good school but seems to be earnest in spreading the Gospel.

"Byanville.

"Our brother John Melder, one of our oldest agents, and in fact a pensioner, is yet fully employed, and though he cannot point to extensive success, yet believes that there is a growing spirit of inquiry.

"Kotigahawatte.

"Here, the principal school has decidedly improved under a new teacher, but two others have been closed principally owing to the proximity of Government schools.

"Gonamelle.

"Our brother J. G. Ratnayake thus reports on this important station:—

"We have to be very thankful to our Heavenly Father for giving us an increase of three members, and five earnest inquirers, or candidates, for baptism. Also, He has most mercifully called one of our sisters to the eternal rest prepared for them that love Jesus. She died very happily, simply trusting on Jesus. Her last words with me were 'Although I shall not see you in this world again, yet I shall see you in heaven.' This year seemed to be a year of trial, but, thank God, all worked for good. The church seems to be prospering, and the heathen are in some respects more attentive than formerly when the Gospel is preached. We have eight day-schools in different villages, attended by about 650 pupils, and a Sunday-school at Gonawelle, of 145 children. This school seems in some respects better than it was last year. On the whole, we can say that this year has been a year of grace.'

"Weyangodde.

"This extensive station presents nothing special except that the new chapel long contemplated and partly prepared for is in actual course of building and will before long be completed.

"Madampe.

"Our brother Hendrick Perera says:—'Although the work done in Madampe and Chilaw (a somewhat important town about seven miles distant) has not gone back, but is slowly advancing, yet it is not doing so much as we had hoped. While some of the people are zealous, some have become lukewarm, and others have removed to distant places.

"At the present time there are fourteen communicants who attend the services, and of those who applied for baptism five seem to be in earnest.

"There are two services in the chapel on Sunday and one on Wednesday. There are various other places where services and meetings are held, and there is also a Sunday-school. There is a small day-school for girls, and also a school for boys, at which the attendance and instruction are good, and the number is daily increasing. There has also been occasional preaching of the Gospel at Chilaw, near the court-house, in the hospital, and at other places. In this way we are not only able to distribute many tracts, but to speak to many of the men from various villages whom otherwise we should not meet with. The Gospel has been made known in ten fresh villages also.'

"Raygam, Pasdun, &c.

"Our brother Juwan Silva has pursued his itineracy as severe family trials permitted.

"Saffragam.

"Our brother thus describes his work in this wide and wild district where 'gross darkness covers the people,' indeed:—'I have visited and worked in sixty-two villages repeatedly. It is a matter of joy that even in those villages where formerly stones were thrown at me, and I was reviled, I am now permitted to work peaceably. There are also five inquirers in these villages.

"It is to be regretted that although many persons at Ratnapura wish to attend the Sunday service we have no suitable place for them (Ratnapura is the principal town of the district). About 800 tracts have been distributed, but in Kukul Korale (a large district) it is very hard to find persons who are able to read. I quite believe that good might be done in this district by the speedy establishment of schools.'

"I may add, that in the early part of this year, before my return, an evangelistic tour of a month was undertaken by Mr. Pigott in company with most of our preachers. From all I have heard it was full of toil, incident, and promise.

II.—KANDY DISTRICT.

Missionary, C. CARTER.

Number of members, 100.

Mr. Carter has favoured us with the following report :—

“Kandy.

“The English and Singhalese services have been maintained in the chapel throughout the year, our English service alone being occasionally omitted through my visits to other places. The printing of the Old Testament has proceeded from Ezra to the end of Ezekiel. The preparation of the manuscript and correcting proofs of all this has left us little time for anything else. For the next edition of the New Testament we have revised as far as Matthew, 25th chap., and the first five chapters of Mark.

“It is very gratifying to find that the translation of the New Testament, begun so long as eighteen years ago, is not marred by bad Singhalese ; but we contemplate by revision to make it in passages more accurately represent the sense of the Greek, to render names for the most part uniform with those of the Old Testament ; and quotations from the Old to agree or differ in Singhalese so far as they do in the originals.

“Four years ago we printed a small hymn-book in Singhalese, containing fifty-five hymns, stitched in paper covers. The edition, 1,000, is now exhausted, and there is a demand for them. With a view of re-printing them during 1876, we have increased the number by about thirty-five, and hope to add some twenty or thirty more. These, when well bound, will last for years, and suffice for the wants of our congregations. To make hymns in Singhalese is no easy task, and I wish the productions of natives had saved me the labour. The faculty of music in the Singhalese is so exceedingly small that they have hardly any perception of either feet or accent ; their hymns, consequently, are composed of all sorts of feet and accents in each verse and line without any order, and, taking their clue from English hymns, they have made for the most part long, common, and short metres, to be sung to English tunes, apparently without any perception that such feet are not natural in Singhalese.

“We have tried to improve upon them also in other respects, as in rhyme, a more natural order of the words, so that they can be easily remembered, and in the sentiment.

“The labours of our agent at Gampola, as also of our agent at Matale, have, through long-continued and severe affliction, been so severe in the case of the latter that he has had to leave Matale and settle in the Colombo district.

“The pastor of the Singhalese church at Kandy writes :—

““In connection with the various operations of this church during the past year, the missionary in this district and the pastor of the church have maintained the Sunday services for the edification and instruction of the members of the church, though they have not been able to go much amongst the heathen, being prevented by work involved in the translation of the Bible.

“On the conclusion of this we shall be at liberty to engage in other work. Though now there is no apparent result, we have assurance that this good work will bear fruit. We have been able to finish all that remained to be done of the work of the house built for the pastor, through brethren and friends having contributed £7 10s. for that purpose ; but there still remains a debt of £38 to pay off of the entire cost of the house. The Sunday-school which had declined has been re-established during the year through the efforts of two brethren. Though the number of the children is still small we trust it will increase. On Sunday we have two services in Singhalese in the chapel and a prayer-meeting on Wednesday evening. The attendance on Sunday morning is from twenty to thirty-five, and in the evening from fifteen to twenty-five, and at the prayer-meeting from eight to twelve.

"Kadugannawa and Korigammana.

"Our regular work in these places has been carried on by Amaris de Silva. Kadugannawa lies ten miles to the west of Kandy, and Korigammana twelve miles still farther west. In these places regular services have been held with the few native Christians there are, and the work of making known the Gospel has been carried on by him in the villages around, extending to a distance of ten and sometimes twenty miles.

"Matale.

"D. B. Lewis, the pastor of our Matale church, and our evangelist in the district, was taken very ill in the month of July, and in consequence has had to retire from that district altogether. He writes:—

"Up to the time I was taken ill I maintained two services in the chapel on Sundays, the attendance averaging from twenty to thirty-five persons. We had services also every Sunday in the gaol. During the year one member has died, and one person been received into the church by baptism. The number of members now is fourteen.

"On week days we have had four prayer-meetings a week. Besides the work done in the hospital, near the court-house, and in the villages about Matale, I have laboured in distant villages, going from place to place.

"About 400 tracts have been distributed, one Testament, and three gospels. In my journeys from place to place, discussions often arose with Buddhists and their priests, and sometimes with Mohammedans. On many such occasions, not only were they unable to answer what was set before them, but I had evidence that they were brought to consider the truths of Christianity, though some reviled.

"At the present time the work of the church is carried on by two members, Brethren C. P. Dharmakirtte and J. F. Abayakon, who have often previously to this assisted in the work of preaching. It is also a joy to see Mr. Williamson and all his family energetic in the work of Christ. Though they are not Singhalese persons they are affectionate and zealous co-workers with the few Singhalese brethren.'

"Gampola.

"C. P. Ranasingha, of Gampola, writes:—

"I am deeply sorry to say that throughout the past year my work has been very much hindered by my continued afflictions. During the first eight months I was ill of fever and rheumatism from time to time, and during the last four months I was generally confined to the house.

"I visited sixteen villages around Gampola, and also conducted prayer-meetings as health permitted me. In the Gampola church there are nineteen members. One has been excluded and one re-admitted during the year.

"The average attendance at the chapel on Sundays is twenty-five. There are five candidates for baptism. I have distributed about 700 tracts.'

"Thomas Garnier, formerly of Matale, but now pensioned and living at Colombo, sends me the following:

"The weekly Portuguese services held at the former place up to September last have been on the whole pretty well attended, considering the locality and people. The attendance (twenty to twenty-five persons) is as good an evening congregation as we can expect on week days. Since I left, arrangements have been made for the continuance of the service at Mr. Corner's house, the services being conducted by different friends. In Borella, I visit the convict gaol hospital regularly, where I get a good number, averaging from eighty to 100 prisoners to hear me in Tamil and Singhalese. I also take opportunities of distributing tracts, and talking to the people who come in my way, though it is not much of this I can do, owing to my inability to get about. I am anxious to be useful so far as I can, for increasing infirmities indicate that my day is far spent, and I pray that the Lord may make use of me for His glory as He may see fit. I have distributed six copies of the Baptist translation of the Testament, and trust the Lord will bless the reading of His Word.'

"Our Kalugastote Anglo-vernacular boys' school has fifty-two names on the list, with an average attendance of about thirty-three. The children have made fair progress, as attested by the Government examination and award of £7 7s. 5d. Prejudice against Christianity is so strong in the central province, in districts where there is no admixture of natives at least nominally Christian from the sea-coast, that we have to proceed very cautiously in the school, and not make Christianity too prominent, or the children would be withdrawn. The truth, however, is set before them, and sooner or later it must overthrow what is false."

Mr. Gamble has forwarded the following report of his district:—

"During the year 1875 I was absent from the 13th April till the 21st November. While I was away the Rev. Mr. Williams, and brethren of other denominations, kindly supplied my place. But it cannot be supposed that the services were as regularly kept up as when I am here. When leaving, there were two inquirers, one of whom has been baptized since my return.

"Romanism is rampant here, so that we are opposed on every hand and in every way. And, unhappily, the Government give £10,000 sterling to the Roman Catholics for the maintenance and propagation of their false system.

"We are gladdened by a gleam of joy just now in having three young persons as candidates for baptism. Two of them are from my class in the Sabbath-school. One is a daughter of a respectable Portuguese, who for some years now has been a deacon of the church. The other is a young Creole girl, a daughter of our chief singer. It gives me great joy to have these young persons coming and offering themselves to Christ and His cause in their early youth. The other is a poor girl who had been deceived by a promise of marriage. Her child is dead, and she seems to have bitterly grieved over her sin, and to have truly repented of it.

"At Carenage our people remain steadfast and satisfactory. It is about eight or nine miles along the sea-beach for the most part that they have to travel. They come up to town usually once a month, and the other Sabbaths they seek their own edification in their meetings for prayer and praise.

"At McBeans Wood we have a very steady, good brother in William Modiste Cox. Some years ago, so far back as in Mr. George Cowen's time, there was a small number of people residing in this village who held our views, having indeed been baptized by Mr. Cowen, and some of them remain to this day. Brother Cox has, for some three years past, been labouring hard to put up a small chapel. Our beloved brother the Rev. John Law, shortly before he died, petitioned for a piece of land from the Crown, and there the matter rested. Mr. Cox came to me, and without delay I went and saw the land, and at once bought it in the Society's name. It is just such a piece as is needed. The chapel is almost completed, and I shall go down and open it so soon as it is finished. Our aim is to get the people to build the chapel themselves, hence the long time it has been in building; yet I have been obliged to advance moneys for the payment of labour and purchase of iron material.

"At Chaguanas, William Dunmore is the teacher. There are some thirty Yarrabas who need, indeed, much instruction and prudent guidance, having which, however, I fully expect them to become a right-hearted people.

"Chaguanas is, so to speak, out of the world. It is a very sickly part of the island, about twenty miles' ride from town, and to the southward of our Grand Savannah, which for many months in the year is a wide-spreading swamp, the malaria from which is pregnant with fevers and agues. It is said, and I think truly, that the European cannot long live in Chaguanas."

Mr. Williams reports as follows:—

"Since the return for last year was forwarded to you I have had the pleasure of baptizing thirty-seven persons, all during the month of January, and there are still many more to be baptized shortly. I am trying my utmost, at present, to get the churches to do something for their own pastors. With the exception of Mr. Webb's church the contributions towards each pastor's support are very small. The people do not seem to believe in much giving. The pastor has to toil hard to earn his daily bread, and has no spare time to devote himself to the study of the Word or the welfare of his people. I have some reason to believe that there will shortly be a decided improvement in reference to this matter of giving."

Mr. Davey has furnished the following report:—

"The people of this colony are now pretty familiar with hard times and poverty, yet the bulk of them submit to their lot with great patience. There has been more pilfering than usual, and though the Legislature passed a law last session for the more effectual prevention of predial larceny, yet to such an extent does that crime prevail that the large gaol in this city is well filled with prisoners. Immorality is fearfully prevalent, and though public services are as well attended as ever by those who have the means of attending them, yet we see not that consideration to the Lord that could be desired. As yet we have derived no benefit from the Disendowment Bill; and, as the colony is on the verge of bankruptcy, our legislators are at their wits' end to know by what means our credit is to be saved. Our congregations in Nassau, both on Sundays and week days, are very good, as they are also at the settlements of Foxhill and Adelaide. Throughout the Bahamas the Ritualistic clergy are busy, and have as strong a wish to crush out Dissent in these remote islands as their brethren have to destroy it in the rural districts of England. I have done a good deal among the young people by means of Bible-classes since my return, and a young man, a son of one of our native teachers, is studying with us, with a view to work in the out islands; I hope to obtain others before long. Our brethren have been labouring with a fair measure of success in their several districts, and Mr. Watkins reports forty-four baptisms in Andros Island. Brother Petty says the churches and schools are in a flourishing state in Eleuthera. In a letter accompanying the returns from San Salvator, Mr. Bannister says:—"During the public services our chapels have filled to overflowing with attentive audiences; our private meetings were also numerously attended with guests, made joyful on beholding our face once more. Amidst the tears of not a few we again sat down with mingled feelings of sorrow and joy to commemorate the glorious event which promised our salvation." Mr. McDonald, writing from Exuma, says that the people are very poor, but that their attendance on the means of grace is good. You will see from the statistics that the number of members in Ragged Island is not so large as it was, but this arises from emigration. As yet no returns have come from Grand Bahama."

Mr. Gammon writes us follows:—

"I believe this is about the time for sending the report of the Mission, but doubtless you will not expect one from me this year, for, as yet, things are in such disorder; however, it is very clear that the number of members as down in the report is very fallacious. For instance, as far as I can see at present, there are only about twenty-five or thirty bona fide members here in the church at Grand Cay; there are several names on the book, but many are either dead, gone away, or have backslidden. Since our arrival here, three months ago, it has been continual hard work to get things in order, especially so as I come to an entirely new life, new systems, &c.; but, of course, in time, this will all be right.

"There are some few old members who have clung to the church, but they are very poor and decrepit, and can do but little; the great evil is that there appear to be no young people coming up to fill their places. This is to be accounted for to a large extent by the poverty of the island, and the young men having to go elsewhere in search of employment.

"I am sorry to say the Sunday-school is in a very low condition, having scarcely any teachers; however, I have started a Bible-class for them, and hope by this means to train some for further usefulness. There are two or three persons waiting for baptism.

"Last Saturday week I visited Salt Cay and remained until Monday, and found that the church there had almost dwindled away; if anything, matters are worse in that island, and many, I am informed, have died for want of food, not being able to cultivate anything on the land, and having no employment. In the morning we had a congregation of about thirty, but in the evening it was better, as we had Wesleyans and Church people. The same sad tale is there—no one suitable to manage affairs.

"As yet I have not been able to visit the Caicos. Firstly, my health has not been very good, doubtless consequent on the change of climate. Secondly, the weather has been so very unsettled, too stormy for travelling in the small boats which go there. However, most of the deacons have been to see me from time to time. With these people the cry for food has been the worst in the district, and the Government has had to send them corn on several occasions. As to the spiritual condition I can say but little; from the reports of the deacons I fear theirs is about the same as the rest.

"From Peurto Plata I received a letter from a young man (John McKenzie) in which he states that he is 'striving to keep the members together,' and that, 'though few in number, they sometimes get good congregations.' I did not go to Peurto Plata, as I expected, by the last steamer, as I was informed that the rains were very heavy at that time, but expect to do so in March, when it is most probable the weather will be more settled. There are two or three stations in the interior, but I have not heard from them, although I heard they were about writing."

Mr. Gummer has kindly forwarded the following report:—

"You may be glad to learn that through the Divine power, not only have the preliminary difficulties incidental to the acquisition of a strange tongue been surmounted, but also, in addition to regular Sunday services to the English-speaking black immigrants, a commencement has been made in the preaching to the natives, in their own tongue, the Word of Life, by the missionary on fifteen different occasions, not with 'excellency of speech,' but in 'weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling' on some occasions, yet so as to be understood as to the sub- of the Message of Mercy, viz., 'Jesus Christ, and Him crucified.'

"I send you a very incomplete statistical return. I have written to the different localities, but have not been able to obtain anything more than the few items given. If one looks simply at the comparatively small number returned as the declared disciples of Evangelical truth in this land after several years of missionary labour in connection with our Society, he feels disappointed, even when allowing for the long intervals of interrupted labour, arising from the death or absence of the missionaries, and the frequent political troubles that have agitated the nation. But a fuller acquaintance with the people convinces him that Protestant truth has penetrated far beyond the pale of the churches already established. It has led many to doubt and others to disbelieve in salvation from sin and its curse, by baptisms, masses, and penances—the heretofore unquestioned delusion of the entire community. Thousands of the male portion, at least, of the nominally Romish Church are held to it, not by the ties of faith in the saving power of its rites, but by custom, and regard for family attachments and worldly interests. Nothing but the truth as it is in Jesus can save them from the cold negations of infidelity, for they have lost all faith in Romanism.

"One great hindrance to the progress of mission work here is the want of a good school at the parent station, which, if formed, might be expected to prepare some of the natives to conduct schools of an humbler sort in the other stations, and others as preachers and pastors.

"The hearts of the isolated workers at Jacmel would be much cheered if the committee, or the friends of the Mission, would provide us with the means of commencing one good school, which, once fairly started under a competent teacher, would, we believe, pay its way.

"Among the friends of the African is there not to be found a lady or gentleman fitted and trained for educational work, with, if possible, a knowledge of French, ready to devote herself or himself to this labour? And are there not other friends of the good work who would provide the means for the passage of such a one? We have searched in vain for a suitable teacher in this country; the stream cannot rise higher than its source.

"Our good brother Lolo continues his useful labours. He lately finished there-building of his house (destroyed in the revolution of 1867), and, according to the customs of the country, he made a feast and called his friends and neighbours, but, contrary to the customs around, he and M. Voltaire preached to a numerous company (including the Governor of the town and the Commandant of the police), unfolding the way of life, not through Mary and the so-called saints, but through Him who is 'the Way, the Truth, and the Life.' In July, Lolo journeyed to Leogane, a seaport directly north of Jacmel (about thirty miles), when he preached to 500 people at a funeral service, and spent a week distributing tracts and reading the Bible from house to house. Again, in November, he went there with a good supply of Bibles, many of which were sold; he again remained there over a week. He begs some friend to supply him with French tracts, particularly an illustrated one called 'Scènes Évangéliques.' (I also need greatly a supply of French books suitable for Sabbath-schools which I am trying to start.)

"Madame Cajoue laboured in various places in the early part of the year; but became very sick—'nigh unto death,' indeed—but God has seen fit to greatly restore her lost strength, so rapidly that we hope she may be able to re-commence her labours soon."

Number of members, 180.

As Mr. Rees has been supported by the fund raised in this country, in order to extend the influence of the Gospel to destitute parts of the island, he has kindly furnished us with the following report of his labours:—

"All through last year we have had what we can emphatically call 'hard times.' The storm of the preceding year did more harm than what at first appeared; much bread-kind was destroyed, and there was a consequent scarcity of that, but the principal damage done in the district was to the coffee crop, for the trees were so much damaged that they have not borne half as much as usual. Coffee, too, has brought a lower price than in either of the two last years. We have had also a great deal of sickness and a large proportion of deaths—a kind of dysentery has been going about the district, and has carried away many who were weak or otherwise predisposed. You will see, therefore, that we have no extraordinary success to report. Our little church is still increasing; I report with thankfulness an actual increase of thirteen, and also a spirit of earnest work among many who before seemed to take no interest in the Redeemer's cause. We have large congregations.

"I have only had £50 in money from the people for the new chapel; shingles have been prepared, the walls finished, the greater part of the frame for the roof is ready and drawn to the spot. When I understood that the 'Appeal Fund' was likely to be soon closed, I brought the position of the church before the members. One and all entreated me not to go away, and offered to do what they could possibly manage to support me as their minister. The usual rate, and what they have been accustomed to pay, is 12s. men, and 6s. females a year; but now the females offered 12s., and the males give as they can afford; two of the members promised £3, three or four from £2 to 30s. I was very gratified, as you may suppose, by such a proof of affection to me and love to the cause. I will do what I can to stay with them, but with all their earnestness and liberality I doubt if they will be able to raise more than £80, and all that they will give extra will, I suppose, be so much less given to the chapel. Hector's River, to which I was directed by the Jamaica Baptist Missionary Committee, when I gave up Santa Cruz, is a purely mission field; we have already a small cause there of forty members and eight inquirers, and, perhaps, it will be a long time, if ever, before I have a large church, for though there is a dense population there, in certain seasons of the year the people do not regard it as their home. As soon as the ginger season is over they go to their own districts and homes, leaving a comparative few at Hector's River till the next season. I regard this field with interest as being so purely a mission field, and intend to live partly amongst those who migrate there, and where the most horrible and flagrant wickedness prevails, but even if, as I hope and pray it may be, souls are converted by my instrumentality, still they will return to other districts and comparatively little increase the little church up there."

IV.—MANDEVILLE.

Missionary, P. WILLIAMS.

Number of members, 166.

The following is the report of Mr. Williams, who has been supported by the same fund as Mr. Rees:—

"The time has come for me to forward to you a short account of the Baptist Mission at Mandeville and Zion Hill, and, as this brings the term of my engagement with the Missionary Committee to a close, briefly to review the work of the four years during which I have laboured here.

"The district is not a needy one, looked at from a missionary point of view, when compared with many other places, Christian churches of various denominations having been established, and large congregations gathered on every hand. The Baptist Mission in this neighbourhood has always been weak and struggling. Through the aid rendered by the Society it has been in a better position during the last four years than, perhaps, it ever was before. The aid thus given has produced good results. The seed sown has borne fruit.

"At Mandeville there were, in the beginning of 1872, seventy-four members. At present there are 101, giving an increase for the four years, after deducting all losses by exclusion, death, &c., of twenty-seven. The present number of inquirers is ten. A Sunday-school has been established which has on its roll 160 scholars, with an average attendance of sixty-five. This has been in healthy and vigorous operation, and has been much blessed. During the last few months, however, on account of special circumstances, I regret to state that there has not been such a degree of life and vigour manifested as through the whole of the preceding time. A mission-house as a residence for a minister has been commenced, the roof of which is completed, and towards which the sum of £184 16s. 2½d. has been received. We are now erecting a bullet-tree belfry, at a cost of about £5, for a bell kindly given in part by Mrs. Sturge (Birmingham), and in part by a young man, a member of the church, who is now preparing for the ministry. The preaching of the Word has been regularly attended to, and though the congregations, except on special occasions, have always been small, yet it has been sanctified to the good of those who have heard. During the past year we had two baptisms, when nine put on the Lord Jesus Christ by a public profession of His name. These all came from the Sunday-school.

"Zion Hill.

"For many years previous to my arrival, there had been a preaching station here which received very occasional visits from the minister of the neighbouring churches. It was thought that there were large numbers of people in this district who had never been brought under the influence of the Gospel of Jesus. Hence it was that our brethren of the Missionary Committee decided to take it up as a mission field, and I was appointed to labour in it. I soon found and reported, however, that the population was not so large as had been supposed, and that many of the people were already connected with different Christian churches at a distance. Still there was room for our mission station, and God has blessed it. Though the station is not large, and there is no immediate prospect of its becoming so, it is both interesting and encouraging. The regular preaching of the Gospel inspired the few Baptist Christians with confidence, and filled them with joy. They had themselves commenced the erection of a chapel capable of holding about 300 people, which was considerably advanced. A church consisting of twenty-eight members, who were dismissed from Poues church for the purpose, was formed in April, 1872. There was much to encourage in the work, though the difficulties were many, and the disappointments not a few. I visited the district frequently, preached regularly, the church grew, and the chapel was completed. In 1872-73 I took several journeys into the woods and mountains beyond the station. In connection with these the little out-station, Penygarn, was taken up, and thirty members were added to the church; but the distance between Zion Hill and Penygarn, and the character of the pass (there is no road), which is frequently impassable, were such that the out-station has been handed over to another brother to whom it is more accessible. This transfer accounts for the large decrease in the membership of the church which we report this year. The present membership is sixty-five, with twenty-four inquirers, several of whom are candidates for baptism. The following figures show the additions and losses at both stations during the time of my work here:—

Baptized	59
Restored	21
Received	76
Died	9
Dismissed	31
Excluded	20
Withdrawn... ..	2
Present members	166

"Looking at the Mission as a whole, taking into consideration the circumstances of the district, and remembering, too, that in this parish the general feeling is not in our favour as a denomination, we have reason to bless God for what has been done. I should have rejoiced could I have told you of a fuller measure of blessing upon the four years' work. I can only now pray that the great Lord will accept the humble services that have been feebly attempted, and will even yet cause to be seen the bread which has been cast upon the waters, more abundantly than has been the case in the past.

"I will close this, my last annual report to the Society with the prayer that its efforts may be very widely extended, and richly blessed in the Kingdom of the Redeemer."

Mr. Fuller has forwarded the following report:—

"In our work great has been the lovingkindness of our Heavenly Father, for since I have been here in no year have we shared so much of the Divine blessing, nor seen so many asking the way of salvation. Although every day reveals more of the depth of degradation and misery into which these people are sunk, and the seemingly impenetrableness of their hearts, yet in the midst of it all we are made to see that this simple Gospel of our Lord is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth, even to the most degraded.

"You will be pleased to hear that during the year we have baptized fourteen persons, and that we have now a class of inquirers numbering thirteen. Although our attendance is not so large as when we first opened our chapel, yet such as it is it exceeds any of the previous years, and fills us with hope that a better future is in store for us.

"We can never have all the sweet without a drop of the bitter to remind us of how unsatisfactory are all things here below. We had begun the work at Rotto amongst the slave population with great hope of much good being done, but it has pleased God to lay His hand upon it for a time in the removal of James Cover by death, so that for the last two months the work there has stopped. We are hoping to be able to begin it again soon after the new year. This lad was a consistent member of the church for several years, and a servant of the Society since I came out again, and I have every reason to believe that his Christian example has left behind impressions that will not be forgotten. His end was peaceful, and his hope firmer on the Lord Jesus Christ. Not only are we cheered by the attendance, but more so from the example set by the chief and head men of the place, who are to be seen in their places every Lord's-day morning.

"The work at Jabari is also encouraging, and the teacher there speaks well for the work in the future. Five young men there have formed a class as inquirers; this has stirred the enmity of their friends and some of them have had much trial, but up to the present they have continued faithful, and one especially, I believe, is truly being led to experience the Saviour's presence in his soul.

"The schools at each place are as well as I can expect among a people who have no love for education; some few in the house have got on so well that I shall need another class of books for them.

"I am glad to say that I have been able to visit Bomono and the surrounding places, and everywhere there is a desire for the Gospel, but, as the people will not allow us to go inland to settle, all we can do for the present is to itinerate, which is hard work, as the people are ignorant and with no other means of communication but the ear, so that when we leave a place we have nothing to leave behind save trusting to the Divine blessing to follow what we have said.

"You will, no doubt, have heard of the intended conference at Gaboon; I hope to attend it, and also hope to profit from the wise counsel of other brethren.

"During the year I have been trying to impress upon our people the necessity of their meeting their expenses. I hope we shall be able to do better during the coming year, by establishing some sort of system in giving for the cause of Christ."

Mr. Smith has forwarded the following report:—

"The early part of the year was spent in long and wearisome voyages along the coast, and journeys over the great mountains, with the hope of ultimately opening up the country for mission work. The Gospel was proclaimed, but the most determined opposition was shown against our proceeding into the interior.

"Since the departure of Brother Pinnock and family for home, my health has much improved. The greater part of my time has been occupied in and around the settlement. Our new and substantial chapel is so far completed that we hope to commence service in it on New Year's day. The building will be the most attractive and durable place of worship for hundreds of miles. Many of the members of the church and congregation, especially the females, have worked right well. Many of them have given one day in the week for that special work. The sawyers, carpenters, masons, and painters have demanded continued supervision from the missionary; his absence from the work, is too often a signal for cessation of labour. Only Brother Pinnock and myself know the amount of labour and anxiety there is connected with such a work with the materials and people we have around us. But worthy is He for whom we have done this. We are thankful to be able to report the continued prosperity of this mission settlement. The population is increasing, and respectable dwellings are being erected. Year by year its influence for good is spreading on every hand. But in its present infantile condition, very much devolves upon the missionary, and the few leading men of the town. We are all much indebted to Mr. Brew, our senior deacon, who gives up the greater part of his time gratuitously to arrange the constant palavers of the people.

"Not a little of the missionary's time is frequently occupied in giving advice and administering medical aid. We have had five and six cases a day to attend to. Not long since one of our aged female members was very ill; we all thought she was sick unto death. Somewhat twenty-five females met in her house for special prayer, it was a most solemn and affecting meeting. From that night the sick one began to recover.

"Victoria is known for its good schools, we have children from Fernando Po and Cameroons. We hope next year to increase its reputation. We would that the Committee could send us a good Jamaica brother as a schoolmaster. The parents and friends around us appreciate education. We have nearly fifty in our day-school, sometimes sixty, and about 100 in the Sabbath-school.

"The past year has been one of much blessing. Renewed life has been manifest on every hand, especially in the prayer-meetings; generally we have the chapel more than half full. Many earnest prayers have been offered, sometimes with many tears. The meeting-house is sometimes quite full on Sabbath afternoon, and a spirit of hearing and of blessing has been very manifest. Our difficulty is, not to get applicants for the inquirers class and members for the church, but to keep them back until the work of God's Spirit is more manifest in their life. Fifteen fresh inquirers have been admitted into class, swelling the number of inquirers to twenty-nine. Apart from these, six have been baptized, and received into church fellowship. Other candidates are before the church.

"We have re-opened the school at Fish Town, where our native brother Charles Steane visits.

"Our brother Thomson being in England, it may not be out of place to report on the Bonjongo and Mapanja stations. It should be constantly borne in mind, that the latter station, with its native teacher, is entirely supported by G. Thomson, Esq., but placed under our superintendence. At each of the stations the Gospel is regularly preached, and schools carried on. Last week I was at the examination of both schools, and was cheered with the progress the boys and young men are making.

It has been, and will be, very uphill work. And dear brother Thomson has had his faith, patience and love very much tried. The people are beyond the corrupting influence of the liquor trade, but their heathenism, superstition, and utter disregard of anything connected with God's house or the Gospel are most distressing. Some of the people hasten by the chapel door, lest evil should befall them. I think I have never met or read of a people so absorbed by witchcraft, and its terrible consequences. A large number of poor helpless females must die around the base of this mountain, in consequence of their strong belief in that superstition. At Bonjongo, our native teacher was urging the young men to love God; some of them asked if he had not seen them at school and chapel—wasn't that loving God? what could be beyond that? Such is their darkness after years of teaching. But we have hope for some of the younger lads; and most earnestly trust that the good work going on at Victoria may extend up the mountain. Mr. Bundley, the young man at Bonjongo, is doing well."

Mr. Jenkins has forwarded the following report:—

"I am writing to you with a heart filled with gratitude to God. You are aware of the great event; the Republican party has triumphed at the elections, and by its vote the country has given the clergy a decisive check, and shown that it will bear its sway no more. The consequences of this political event must be immense, and may be gathered by the extreme efforts which this party, together with the upper classes, have made to retain power, and the anger and dismay with which they now look upon the immediate future.

"The French part of the work has not presented any new or very striking feature during the course of the year. Our services in the chapel have been held and attended as usual. Rev. Brand, of Lorient, and Chabal, of Brest, kindly came and supplied my pulpit during my absence in Wales last autumn, so that during that period the services have been interrupted the least possible. Small as our congregation of French Protestants is in Morlaix, it is, I suppose, the most heterogeneous that could be found anywhere. We have members of the Lutheran, Augsburg, and French national churches, besides our own Baptist friends; but I am happy to say that there is life and brotherly feeling among them, and that they all show a lively interest in the common cause.

"There is an encouraging fact in connection with the work of evangelization among the French people, and that is, that the Republican party, by the very principles it holds, is irresistibly drawn into closer sympathy with Protestantism. As public opinion in France generally follows the party in power, I believe we shall now see a marked change of feeling towards our churches. 'We are drifting towards you,' such is the opinion which has often of late been expressed to me; and the priests feel it so well, that the 'safety of religion' has been their war cry at elections. As the soil becomes thus better prepared, there can be no doubt that our opportunities of usefulness will also be multiplied.

"The work among the Breton population, which is the main object the mission is pursuing, has been more interesting. The Madeleine, a suburb of our town, almost entirely inhabited by the working classes, has become the centre of this part of the work. It is only two years since we began our Breton meetings there, in the loft of an inn. The congregation was small on the first day—about twenty came, but the numbers increased. In the course of a year we found it necessary to remove to a better and larger house. The people followed us thither and still in increasing numbers. As the house was put for sale, we took a decisive step and secured it through the Committee's help, trusting in the continuance of God's blessing upon this good work.

"It is in the room that occupies the whole area of the house on the first floor, and which may contain about 160 persons, that we assemble on Sunday evenings. The room is generally quite full, and so much so, sometimes, as to be quite uncomfortable. Knowing this, many come an hour or more beforehand and spend the time in conversation or in singing till I come.

"The people who assemble at the Madeleine are not all from that quarter. Some, having heard of the meetings, walk a good distance in order to be present. Among these are many interesting cases. An old woman sends all her children, saying that she has sought to bring them up in the fear of God, and that the meetings can but help her in that. An elderly widow, who has bought a Bible, comes with her son from the farthest part of the town, in the dark, through a lonely way, and despite a good deal of difficulty with her family on that account. She told her confessor one day that she read the Bible: 'Oh, you must not, on any account!' was the answer, 'it is a Protestant book, which positively teaches men to imitate Judas!' Such a statement, to a person who had already read the Book, and knew better, only served the more to open her eyes. There is a large spinning mill some way out of town; the wife of the director, a Scotchman, died some months ago, the works were stopped, and all the workmen, some two hundred, came to the funeral. The service produced a strong impression on them, and many have attended since. The director told me, the other day, that he often hears Moody and Sankey's hymns sung in Breton.

"The work in the country district has been carried on as in the preceding year, although my being deprived of our colporteur's services in spring, and my absence in Wales last autumn, the two seasons most favourable for country work, has somewhat impeded our progress. Ives Omnes and his son have, as usual, scoured the country, selling the Scriptures and distributing tracts and trying to open new doors for preaching the Gospel. Three new places have been added to those in which we preach occasionally, and we have some others in view. To find people willing to open their houses for this object is no small matter, as it requires, in those that do so, a good deal of moral courage and conviction; they are immediately pointed at as Protestants, and very often this means that their interests are at stake.

"It often happens that, after showing some willingness, fear gets the upper hand, and the door is closed on some pretext or other. An instance of this occurred some time ago: An old couple, living at a considerable distance from Morlaix, on being spoken to by the colporteur, who knew them, exclaimed, 'Oh, yes; tell him, for God's sake, to come and preach here before we die' (sic). We went, therefore, on the appointed day, and on nearing the house, whom should we meet, but the old man himself in the butcher's cart. 'Hallo, John!' cried my companion, 'where are you off to?' 'To Lôuargat, and I must be there for the day.' 'And the meeting?'—'Oh, as to that, you may do just as you please, but I can't be there.' . . . Thinking all might not be lost if his good partner were at home, we went on. The door was closed; we knocked, but in vain; just then we perceived some neighbours watching us at a distance, and smiling maliciously; we understood that the evil one had done its work, and that there was nothing to do but to return. In another place we were told not to come a second time, as they had never ceased being called names since had preached in their house.

"Looked at all around, the past year is one that calls certainly for gratitude to the Giver of every good and perfect gift."

Mr. Bonhon reports as follows:—

"I have maintained regularly the proclamation of the Gospel in town every Lord's day, and a new feature is the gathering at our chapel of an interesting English congregation which has sometimes numbered eighteen persons. The extra service for these persons was kept up through the year, and the contributions, though small, have served to pay our general expenses, with less difficulty than I, at one time, anticipated, on account of the departures and deaths (of which I spoke in my ordinary correspondence). During my visits to Plerin, Pordic, Guingamp, Lannion, the mine at Lacombe, and Trémel, I have endeavoured to arouse the indifferent, stimulate the zeal of believers, encourage inquirers, and comfort the afflicted and bedridden. I am more and more struck with the attention shown to the Word in connection with funerals. Twice I have been called upon to visit prisoners at the St. Briene prison, and I have reason to be thankful to the authorities for the facilities afforded me on such occasions.

"The missionary has, among his duties, to attend to the question of civilization. In such a country as Brittany, it becomes more and more important to do so with regard to places of worship.

"The Morlaix Chapel was not always as neat as it now is. Our friends at Trémel met in a very small hut when I first visited them in 1860. Here we began our meetings in a room on the fourth story of a private house. By-and-by I hired a shop near the large square, and, for one year, that served our purpose well, some money having been laid out in necessary improvements.

"Our present rooms, which we were so fortunate as to find when the shop proprietor refused to continue keeping us as tenants, whilst centrally situated, are only part of a very old house, which the corporation will dispose of before long. I do not think it would be wise to go on spending annually on them, to keep them decent, for the surroundings are getting very dilapidated.

"I trust our Committee will take the case in consideration, and remember the sacrifices in money which the people make yearly, to show their gratitude for the mission work done here. Besides the ordinary offerings there is a disposition growing among them on behalf of a proper place of worship; and it is my duty to signal several gifts and promises, amounting, already, to the sum of £30 sterling, towards having here 'A house of God' which the passer-by would recognize and respect. I could name several persons, of English or American parentage, who have literally been induced to join Roman Catholic congregations because they have not had any Protestant means of grace at hand since they came into Brittany! Our efforts have been blessed already on behalf of some of these, and here I count three of such who are not now such strangers to our efforts as they were some years ago. Both my wife and myself think that if something is not done now we might lose our present advantages. The ground which was proposed to me sometime back is still placed at our disposal on most moderate terms. I am glad to say that a neighbour of ours, an employé at the Préfecture (Government office) has assured me that he would be happy to facilitate our building operations at head quarters. One of those who have promised to help for the building is a chemist in town.

"Our Sunday school has been frequented, at the same time, by 20 young people; but at its worst went down to only 10 scholars. The first native girl, with and for whom the school was undertaken, is now a useful assistant, teaching the tunes on the harmonium to the younger ones. My Franco-Breton Sunday school circulars are very useful in the country, and with Mr. Lecoat I am about to publish a second edition of our Sunday school hymn book in Breton.

"I have kept up my intercourse, by correspondence and visits, with the former pupils of my Morlaix and St. Brieuc Sunday schools, and who now study to become normal teachers, in the schools of Courbevoie and Boissy St. Leger. Mr. Guillou, junior, is near the end of his course; Mademoiselle Clemence Jozin has latterly obtained leave to remain the full time for her studies. The chemist, who so much wants to see a decent place of worship here, has promised 100 francs and recommends our having also a good girls' school, to counteract the influence of the sisters' teaching, which is given to support superstition and Mariolatry. This chief city in the Côtes du Nord, now opening so encouragingly, I earnestly recommend to our Committee and the churches. The port is more frequented than formerly; a new railway will soon be finished joining this city to Cherbourg; and the floating dock is likely to be completed shortly, so that we may expect property to become more valuable in time. The position is a very favourable one indeed. What I related in connection with the funeral of the officer's wife shows that a central city re-acts very much on the whole department."

Mr. Lecoat has given us the following report which, though expressed in imperfect English, will convey a good idea of his work:—

"During the past year we have continued our labours in the Lord's work, sometimes full of joy and sometimes with much sadness.

"Tremel.

"I will begin with our most important station, where our services are regular. They continued every Sunday without interruption during the year. Many times when we have had a religious meeting the chapel could not contain the people. On Christmas-eve, 15th of August, and such days, we have a great crowd. Generally speaking, in the Roman Church people talk and make a noise, but when they come to our chapel they are silent.

"We can say, without any doubt, that the Gospel has made some progress in spite of the priests and the nobility, who annoy farmers if they come to our meetings. It is very hard for people to leave the Church of Rome, because as soon as the priest finds that one of their slaves wants to get free, all that the spirit of darkness can do is put immediately into use by the agents of Rome. They forget nothing that can hurt or do mischief. A workman has no more work; a farmer is turned out of his farm. In spite of all, our little church has increased by three new members during the past year.

"The first is a sailor, son of one of the members of our church, and who, for many years, never ceased to persecute his poor mother because she was a Christian. He left her to provide for herself, and, in fact, he broke the heart of his poor widow-mother. He was her only son. She prayed for him and continued to love the prodigal, hoping he would return. He married at home some years back, and became more and more sober. He came to chapel, and began to love his mother. When he came home last time he begged to be accepted as a member of the church. After many conversations with him, and having presented him to the church, all gave full assent. His wife was received with him.

"The third is a young man of nineteen years. He has been with us three years; his parents wish him to be left free as to religion. He first went to mass on Sunday, but soon left off and stayed with us. Some months later the son of Guillon, the evangelist, came. They soon became friends. They study the Bible together; I often explained it to them. About six months ago the young man asked me to receive him as a member of the church. We prayed with him and examined him; we told him to let his parents know of his intention. He went home. As soon as he told them, they replied if such was his intention never to come near them again. At last he said, 'Come what may, I will not be scared.' He was received, and for three weeks he did not go home, being afraid of his parents. He then went, and to his surprise they received him better than ever. The hearts are in the Lord's hands.

"If we have had the joy to receive three members more in our church, two old members have left us to be united with the church above.

"Sunday-school.

"The number of scholars registered is sixty-six; but the regular attendants are very variable. Sometimes many come, but generally we have fifteen or twenty-five.

"Day-school.

"Registered, forty-three; regular attendants, about thirty. Nearly all read and learn the New Testament. Fifteen have left us during the year, but all have taken the New Testament home. Thanks be to God, our school takes more and more footing in the country.

"Our two sisters, that give lessons à domicile, have kept on as usual, going from morning till night from house to house. Often the farmers ask them to read and explain; this they do in their simple way. The numbers of the scholars vary from twenty to thirty; for the other, from sixteen to twenty-five.

"We have continued, as in past years to visit several places near us. I only wish we could visit them oftener, for everywhere we are welcome; but the law about public meetings, colportage, change so often under this Government, that all we can do is to keep our ground, and try and work that well.

" Pont Menou

Where our Committee has bought the old houses, we have continued to have good meetings. In this place the people are well disposed. The dear old Prigent continues, in spite of age, to go about. He has at present thirty-one scholars, and he teaches them portions of the Scripture. He is eighty years old.

"Plounérin is an excellent place for meetings. The children of this parish keep up our school. Lately a landowner gave us the use of a large room for our meeting. The man who has done this was, some years ago, one of our worst enemies.

"Gospel truth is making way among our dear Bretons; but the breaking up of Rome is hard work. Women are much under the influence of the priests, but, with God's blessing, what we sow with tears will be reaped with joy."

* Small churches exist in several other places, presided over by brethren more or less supported from local resources.

Mr. Hubert gives the following general account of the work in Bergen :—

"I should have written to you long before, and given you a brief review of the past year, but my time has been so much occupied that I have not had time to do it before. Our enemies, embittered by our progress, are marshalling all their forces, and trying, both in newspapers, tracts, and discussion meetings, to extinguish the truth, but our hope and trust are in the Lord of Hosts.

"The Lord has in the past year blessed his little church here both with visits of several dear brethren, and well attended meetings; we have also had the great joy to receive twenty-seven dear souls by baptism; and two were restored, and three received by dismission, while one death and two dismissed, leave a net increase of twenty-nine dear souls. We must to the grace and glory of God say that the past year was very prosperous for us. Some inquirers have found peace with Jesus since the beginning of this year, and I hope soon will be received into the church. I had much to write about, but I am sad at heart to-day by seeing and hearing, last night, how deep-rooted the doctrine of Baptismal Regeneration is in this people, and that it is upheld by lay preachers who, I thought, did not believe it themselves.

"But our hope is in Him who has all power in heaven and earth, that as He has not left Himself without testimony in our midst in the past year.

"I have had a letter or two from our dear brother Bakke, he had been on a visit to Krageroe, and other places in its vicinity. At Krageroe he baptized two dear souls, who found peace with Jesus during his stay there.

"Mr. Bakke has in mind, and believes it to be the Lord's will, that he shall go to Trondhjem, but as it is about 800 English miles from where he now is living, he will not be able to accomplish his desire without some extra help to defray the expenses of this long journey with his family. We, here in Bergen, will help him with some, and so I know the few friends at Trondhjem will, according to their ability, but it will not be sufficient."

ITALY.

ROME.

Missionary, JAMES WALL.

Number of members, 90.

Mr. Wall's labours in Rome continue to be largely blessed, and during the year numerous additions have been made to the church.

Mr. Wall favours us with the following particulars of his work:—

"On the 7th of November, our new hall was re-opened for public service. It is situated at No. 35, Piazza in Lucina, on the Corso, or principal street of Rome. Over the entrance is a marble slab, bearing in bold characters the inscription 'Sala Christiana,' which seems to be a fitting key-note to every branch of Christian work carried on within. The hall, which is entered by folding-doors bearing the inscription, 'Ingresso Libero,' has an appearance of solidity, neatness, harmony of design. There is an utter absence of everything mediæval, and, as far as possible, a return to the simplicity, utility, and light, airy, joyous, social style of early Christian architecture. Instead of a pulpit, two marble colonettes sustain a brass rail, on which the Bible rests and at which the speaker stands, on a platform which, in consequence of the sloping of the floor, is not higher than the elevation of the entrance. On the left hand there is a room for a day school, and for week-night services, and just beyond, a marble baptistery, similar to the one found in the catacombs of San Pouziano. Thus Romans are reminded of what their fathers were, and what they are desired to be.

"Beside the entrance, there is a shop which is used for

"A Bible and Tract Depot.

Though it has been opened but a few months, thousands of Gospel tracts have been sent out, to persons passing, and to neighbouring cities and distant parts of Italy.

"Through the generous aid of a Christian gentleman, and co-operation of several ministers, both English and Italian, the New Testament has been brought out in a form and style which, with various indices, render it the most convenient, complete, and beautiful, existing in the Italian language. Fifty thousand copies have been placed at Mr. Wall's disposal, by the gentleman referred to.

"On the first floor is the printing office supplied with the best English letterpress, and a superior printing machine, to which is now added the Glasgow gas-engine. The young evangelists are learning to compose, and the depositarian works the machine; thus we shall be able to supply Italy with any quantities of Gospels, tracts, and, if means are forthcoming, with a cheap popular illustrated weekly newspaper for working men.

"The depositarian is a converted Roman who, for several years, has been a devoted worker for God. Having been himself converted by the study of the Scriptures, he is interested in their dissemination, and well fitted to recommend them to others. Early in the morning he may be seen issuing from the shop with forty or fifty Testaments, each of which is carefully wrapped in a printed paper explaining the scope of the work. These copies are left with the Romans as he passes from shop to shop, or floor to floor of the houses. On the day following he returns for the copies which the persons who received them may not be willing to purchase. Though the work has not been commenced more than a few weeks, several hundred copies have already been sold of the New Testament left in the homes of the Italians, and called for the following day; the sales vary from twenty to fifty per cent., and this, in Rome, where so many thousands of Bibles and Testaments have been disposed of.

"On Sunday evening, December 12, the first baptismal service in the new chapel was held. Notice had been duly given on the Sunday previous, when Mr. Wall stated that on the following Sunday he intended to preach on Baptism, when two believers would be immersed according to the manner practised in the early church; at the same time he invited any who desired, to come and discuss the matter publicly with him on that evening.

"Although none availed themselves of this opportunity of discussion, many Roman Catholics were induced, through curiosity, to attend the meeting, which was in every respect one of great profit and blessing.

"Mrs. Wall's work among the beggars is quite distinct from the other branches of this mission; this class of persons in Rome is induced to attend the weekly meetings by the pittance of bread which is given, but in many cases they continue to come from love to the truth itself. Every week an average of 300 mendicants are assisted, taught to repeat verses of Scripture, and to sing Sankey's hymns, and instructed in the elementary truths of the Gospel. This mode of reaching a special class was criticised at first, but the results have been so encouraging, that some who did so have thought well to adopt it with some slight modification.

"Mothers' Meetings.

"These are held on Mondays and Tuesdays in Lucina and at the Monti, and are directed by Mrs. Wall and Miss E—. There is an average attendance of about fifteen at each meeting, in which these Roman mothers are taught to work for themselves and their families, as well as to listen to the words of the Lord.

"Evangelists.

"Alessandro Petocchi was born in Rome in 1841, where his father was for many years on the Papal medical staff. He was brought up under the influence of his mother-in-law, who was a most bigoted Papist. From superstition he passed through scepticism to vice. His dissolute life was, however, often interrupted by the lashings of a guilty conscience. It was at this period of his life that he came into the meeting in Via Tritone in 1872. The Word reached his heart; he soon gave evidence not only of piety, but also of gifts for the ministry, and was consequently assisted to work for the Lord. He is now labouring in Trastevere with the prospect of great blessing. Friends in Edinburgh support him.

"Enrico Jahier was born in the Waldensian valleys, of an ancient Waldensian family, and educated as a Waldensian until the age of sixteen, when he went to Florence to continue his studies. While there he made the acquaintance of Sig. Rossetti, with whom he studied the Scriptures, and under whose guidance he was led to Christ. He soon began to speak, and went to labour in Naples with a Russian gentleman, who supported him to preach the Gospel in that city. During a visit to that place I baptized him with six others, in the sea, near Puteoli, where the Apostle Paul landed. He is now supported by friends in Glasgow. A small company of truth seekers are gathered, and the new locale is now opened in the very centre of Naples.

"Santi Stagnitta was born in 1840, at Messina, in Sicily, where his brother still follows the profession of advocate. In 1860 he took arms with his countrymen for the independence of Italy, and passed through the various campaigns until the liberation of Rome. During his military career he first met with the Scriptures which he read for some years before hearing the Gospel preached. When he went to hear the preaching in his own city, he was prepared to accept the truth and to defend it, which he did by writing a series of articles for one of the local papers. He laboured some time with the Methodists; was baptized in Rome in 1874, and has since then been labouring with much acceptance with me."

NOTE.—In consequence of the PARTICULARS of Contributions from many of the Auxiliaries not reaching the Mission House until after the close and audit of this Balance Sheet, it will be found that the totals of some of the Special Funds do not exactly agree with the details of the printed lists.

Treasurers, Secretaries of Auxiliaries, and all Friends remitting moneys are therefore very earnestly requested to supply FULL PARTICULARS at the time of remittance, so that corrective entries may be dispensed with, and the Missionaries may be at once advised of all special contributions sent for their use.
