PROPER FORM OF A BENEFACTION TO THE SOCIETY BY WILL.

No. I.—Form of Bequest of a Common Legacy.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East the sum of _____ Pounds *free of Legacy duty for the general purposes of the said Society to be paid within _____ calendar months next after my death, exclusively out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may be bequeathed for charitable purposes and in priority to all other payments thereout but to be subject to abate proportionably with other Legacies in case my general Personal Estate shall be insufficient for payment of them all in full. And I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society [or each of the said Societies] shall be an effectual discharge for the said Legacy [or Legacies respectively].

No. II.—Form of Bequest of the Residue, or a Share of the Residue.

And in order to give full effect to the bequest hereinafter contained for charitable purposes I direct that my Debts, the expenses of my funeral and of the probate and execution of this my Will and the Legacies bequeathed by this my Will or any Codicil thereto shall be paid out of such part of my personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may not be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the primary Fund † and in case only of the same being insufficient for payment thereof then out of such part of my personal Estate as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the ultimate Fund; and subject as aforesaid, I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East for the general purposes of the said Society such part of my residuary personal Estate as by the Laws in force may be bequeathed for charitable purposes [or if a share only of the residue be intended to be given, then, instead of the words in Italics, say, “such sum of money as shall be equal to (one-fourth or one-half, according to the intention) of my whole residuary personal Estate to be paid exclusively out of such part thereof as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes or such less sum as the said last mentioned part of my personal Estate will extend to pay”]. And I declare that the Receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be an effectual discharge for the said residue [or sum of money, as the case may be]. And as to the remainder if any of my general residuary personal Estate I bequeath the same &c. §

* If so intended.

† In case there be other charitable Legacies, insert here, “other than and except charitable Legacies.”

‡ If it be intended also to charge the Debts and Legacies on real Estate, then add “and in the next place out of my Freehold and Copyhold Estates.”

§ The latter Clause to be filled up according to the Testator's wishes; but it must not be for any charitable purpose.

NAMES OF MISSIONARIES AND OTHER LABOURERS, AT THE SEVERAL STATIONS OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY: MAY 4, 1852.

* By MISSIONARY, is to be understood one in Holy Orders; and by CATECHIST, one who engages in such religious care and instruction of the people as may be consistent with his character as a Layman. The letter (m) means Married; (w) Widow.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Females; such as, cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing Female Adults.
A STATION is the place at which a Missionary or European Catechist is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society.
The figures after the Names of the European Labourers sent from Europe show the date of their first leaving England.
The asterisk (*) denotes that the Missionary is on his way out; The mark (†) that he is on his way home.

At the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, May the 4th, 1852, being the Fifty-third Anniversary—

The Right Hon. the EARL OF CHICHESTER, President, in the Chair,
THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE HAVING BEEN READ BY THE REV. JOHN VENN, M.A., PREBENDARY OF HEREFORD,

On the Motion of the RIGHT REV. THE LORD BISHOP OF WINCHESTER, V.P., seconded by JOHN CAMPBELL COLQUHOUN, ESQ., and supported by HIS EXCELLENCY THE CHEVALIER BUNSEN, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be received, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of this Meeting be given to the Hon. and Rev. John Thomas Pelham for his Sermon before the Society last evening; to His Grace the Vice-Patron; to the Right Hon. the President and the Vice-Presidents; and to all those friends who, during the past year, have exerted themselves in its behalf; and that the following Gentlemen be appointed the Committee for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies—
[See List, p. iv.]

On the Motion of the REV. WILLIAM KEANE, M.A., late Missionary Canon of St. Paul's, Calcutta, seconded by the REV. DR. DYER, of Philadelphia, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the fact of the Society having received a large increase of income concurrent with openings of unexampled encouragement in Western Africa, Palestine, and the Punjab, is to be regarded by this Meeting as a call from the Lord upon the Church Missionary Society to enter boldly upon the cultivation of those promising fields, and to persevere in the principles which He has hitherto so signally owned and blessed.

On the Motion of the REV. J. C. RYLE, B.A., Rector of Helmingham, Suffolk, seconded by the REV. R. H. COBBOLD, M.A., Missionary of the Society in China, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That whilst this Meeting desires to thank God for the large number of Clergymen and Graduates who have offered themselves as Missionaries during the past year, they are compelled by new and multiplied openings to make a fresh appeal for men fully prepared to enter upon the work; and at the same time to urge upon all the supporters of their cause the paramount duty of enlarged faith and hope in prayer to Him who alone can make that appeal successful.

On the Motion of the REV. O. E. VIDAL, M.A., Bishop Designate of Sierra Leone, seconded by the REV. ROBERT BICKERSTETH, M.A., Rector of St. Giles's-in-the-Fields, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the success of the Yoruba Mission, and the late events at Lagos, are to be regarded as a special call for a large supply of European and native labourers to occupy, without delay, the wide and important field which Divine Providence has there opened to Missionary operations.

At a Meeting of the Society, held at Exeter Hall, in the Evening of the same Day—

The Most Noble the MARQUESS CHOLMONDELEY, one of the Vice-Presidents, in the Chair,

On the Motion of the REV. JOSEPH RIDGEWAY, M.A., seconded by MAJOR ROWLANDSON, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting receives with lively gratitude to God the intelligence of the steady progress of His light and truth in the minds and hearts of the people of India, by means of the spiritual and earnest agents of this and other evangelical Societies, in their itinerating, pastoral, and educational labours; and of the fresh openings, and encouraging calls for help from different parts of that wide field; and recognises in these circumstances, and in the increasing favourable disposition of the civil and military authorities, powerful obligations to persevering and extended efforts, and earnest prayer for yet more abundant blessings on the work.

On the Motion of the REV. VINCENT W. RYAN, M.A., Principal of the Metropolitan Training Institution, seconded by the REV. D. HINDERER, Missionary of the Society at Abbeokuta, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That in the discoveries made by travellers and Missionaries in Africa, from the North, East, West, and South, viewed in connexion with the present state and prospects of Christian Missions, this Meeting recognises with thankfulness the providence of God in preparing the way for the spread of His Gospel through that vast continent, and the duty of the Church of Christ to be ready to avail itself of every fresh opportunity of making known to its benighted inhabitants "the unsearchable riches of Christ."

On the Motion of P. FREDERICK O'MALLEY, ESQ., Q.C., seconded by the REV. T. G. P. HOUGH, Perpetual Curate of Ham, Surrey, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting cannot separate without an ascription of praise to the great Lord of the harvest, who has so richly crowned the past year with His goodness; together with an earnest supplication that His grace may drop abundantly upon the pastures in the heathen wilderness, and that the Church at home may largely consecrate her best energies to this blessed cause—her substance, her prayers, and her souls.

XVIII. The General Committee shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; the other Committees as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on: their Meetings to be always opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy. Five Members shall be necessary to compose a General Committee; and Three, each of the others. In case of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XIX. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, and President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex-officio, Members of all Committees.

XX. Governors, being Members of the Established Church, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the General Committee.

XXI. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three of the General Committee, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary.

XXII. The Committee shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting.

XXIII. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the Committee, annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society; of whom, Three shall be chosen from the General Body. Three shall be a Quorum.

XXIV. The Life Subscriptions, or a sufficient part thereof to be equal to the Subscriptions of the existing Members for Life, shall be placed in the Public Funds, in the names of Four of the General Committee; who, on their acceptance of the trust, shall sign a declaration of the nature of it, and that they will relinquish the same whenever called upon for that purpose by the General Committee.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXV. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued: The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made, by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence, of his qualifications; and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member shall declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next Meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least Three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXVI. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVII. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a Special Meeting of the Committee; and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot, to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings; a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretaries.

XXIX. Each Candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist. If admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary.*

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. That all questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between any Colonial Bishop and any Committee of the Society, shall be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

XXXIII. That the object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as, in any other respect, to alter the principles and practice of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations, and explained in Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Report.

The proposed reference shall be made, through His Grace the Primate, by the Committee, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the Committee may deem advisable; and the Committee will be bound so to refer all questions, falling within the scope of the Rule so understood as aforesaid, which the Colonial Bishop shall require them to refer.

While all decisions of the Bench of Bishops on questions so referred will be considered by the Committee as binding on them and their agents or representatives, the Colonial Bishops or other Ecclesiastical Authorities, unless concurring in the reference, cannot properly be considered as so bound.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The following passage, from Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Annual Report, illustrates the practice of the Society in reference to this Rule:—

"The Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] our Missionaries—these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same Colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church."

APPENDIX II. TO THE THIRTY-NINTH REPORT.

REFERRED TO IN THE NOTE TO LAW XXIX.

REMARKS ON THE CONSTITUTION AND PRACTICE OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY, WITH REFERENCE TO ITS ECCLESIASTICAL RELATIONS.

It is the object of the following Remarks to show, that the constitution and practice of the Church Missionary Society are in strict conformity with Ecclesiastical principles, as they are recognised in the constitution and practice of the Church of England.

Throughout the system of the Church of England there is a recognised co-operation of temporal and spiritual functions in MATTERS ECCLESIASTICAL; that is, the Laity and Clergy have not only their separate and distinct provinces, but, in many important respects, they unite their agency for the accomplishing of Ecclesiastical acts.

For instance, in supplying a vacant Church, a Lay-Patron selects and presents "his Clerk"—as the Clergyman is technically called—to the Bishop; who thereupon invests him with authority to minister in that Church. So, also, there are certain Lay-officers appointed to every Church—the Churchwardens or Sidesmen—whose duty it is, not only to guard, in conjunction with the Minister, the temporalities of the Church, but also to watch over the due performance of Divine Service, the morals of the parishioners, and the conduct of the Minister; and to report, from time to time, on each of these matters, to the Ecclesiastical Authorities. The duty of these officers is implied in the old appellation, "Sidesmen," or "Synodsmen"—men summoned to attend and give information at Synods and Visitations.

The distinction and co-operation of lay and spiritual functions in the Church of England might be further illustrated in the case of Ecclesiastical Courts, and various relations which arise out of the principle, that the Sovereign is the Supreme Ruler of the Church.

Keeping the foregoing distinction in view, the Church Missionary Society may be regarded as an Institution for discharging the temporal and lay offices necessary for the preaching of the Gospel among the Heathen. It is strictly a Lay Institution: it exercises, as a Society, no spiritual functions whatsoever.

Such being the constitution of the Society in theory—are its proceedings conducted in conformity with this theory, and with the Ecclesiastical principles of the Church of England?

In order to review these proceedings, they may be conveniently arranged under the Four following Heads:

I. THE COLLECTION OF THE HOME REVENUE, and THE DISBURSEMENT OF IT ABROAD.

These acts are altogether within the province of Laymen.

II. THE SELECTING AND EDUCATING CANDIDATES FOR MISSIONARY EMPLOYMENT.

In this department there is no necessary encroachments upon spiritual functions. The Colleges in our Universities are Lay-Corporations, and may, in many cases, be administered and presided over by Laymen.

Yet it may be urged, that in this department there is an approach to the peculiar province of Clergymen; because spiritual persons seem the more proper judges of a Candidate's fitness for Missionary employment: and it is generally admitted, that a Bishop may exercise a control over the education and training of Candidates to be advanced by himself to Holy Orders. Now, in both these particulars the Church Missionary Society has carefully guarded its proceedings. The examination of Missionary Candidates is referred to a Clerical Sub-Committee; and the General Committee consult and act upon the report of this Clerical trial and judgment. In respect of the other point, the education and training of Candidates for Holy Orders, the Church Missionary College at Islington has the sanction and approbation of the Bishop of London; who, in this country, admits to Holy Orders all the Society's Candidates: and his Lordship has repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the results of the system of instruction, as they have been manifested in his examinations for Holy Orders.

III. The Third general head of the Society's proceedings is, THE SENDING FORTH, TO PARTICULAR STATIONS, THE MISSIONARIES THUS ORDAINED, OR OTHER CLERGYMEN WHO HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY ORDAINED.

Now, here an objection against the Society has been founded on the use of the term "sending forth:"—it sounds like an exercise of Ecclesiastical power. But, Ecclesiastically speaking, the Bishop of London "sends forth" every Missionary ordained by him. The Law of the land has sanctioned the Two Archbishops, and the Bishop of London, in ordaining persons to officiate abroad. The Secretary of the Church Missionary Society requests, by Letter, the Bishop of London to ordain, in conformity with the provisions of the Act of Parliament, such and such persons, whom the Society is willing to support in some Foreign Station. The Bishop, by the imposition of hands, gives them authority to preach the Gospel, with a view to their Foreign location.—In the case of persons already in Holy Orders, who may join the Society, they may be said to go forth by their own voluntary act; but their Letters of Orders, given by a Bishop of our Church, are their mission and commission, Ecclesiastically speaking.

Hence, to call the acts of the Church Missionary Society—in selecting the station, paying the passage-money, and agreeing to provide the Missionary's salary—to call these acts a SENDING FORTH of Preachers, in an Ecclesiastical sense, is to confound names with things, and to lose sight of all true Church principles.

IV. The Fourth general head under which the proceedings of the Church Missionary Society may be arranged, is, THE SUPERINTENDENCE OF MISSIONARIES IN THEIR LABOURS AMONG THE HEATHEN.

Here a distinction must be made between the case of those Foreign Stations which lie within the jurisdiction of a Colonial Bishop, and other stations, which are not so situated, and may therefore be termed Extra-diocesan.

In the first case, the Church Missionary Society has expressly determined, that all its ordained Missionaries shall be submitted for licence to the Bishop of the diocese in which they may be stationed; and that no Missionary shall exercise his spiritual functions in such diocese without a licence. The Society has further recognised the uncontrolled discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence, and the propriety of specifying in such licence a particular district as the field of labour; so that a Missionary cannot be removed from one district to another without the sanction of the Bishop.

These principles were stated in a Letter from the Society to the Bishop of Calcutta, signed by the Right Honourable the President—December 17, 1835—in a manner so satisfactory to the Bishop, that he embodied them in the four following Rules, expressed for the most part in the words of the Society's Letter: which were, at the Bishop's request, entered upon the minutes of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, as the recognised Rules of their practice:—

"1. The Bishop expresses—by granting or withholding his licence, in which the sphere of the Missionary's labour is mentioned—his approbation or otherwise, of that location.

"2. The Bishop superintends the Missionaries afterward, as the other Clergy, in the discharge of their Ecclesiastical duties.

"3. The Bishop receives from those—the Committee and Secretary—who still stand in the relation of Lay-Patrons to the Missionary, such communications respecting his Ecclesiastical duties as may enable the Bishop to discharge that paternal superintendence to the best advantage.—The Archdeacon of Calcutta or Bombay acting under the Bishop's immediate directions when he happens to be absent.

"4. If the Bishop* or Archdeacon fills, at the request of the Society, the offices of Patron, President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, &c., he receives, further, all such confidential information, on all topics, as the Bishops officially neither could wish nor properly ask [to receive]."

The Bishop also wrote to the Parent Society in the following terms:—"You seem to me to lay down the principle most correctly. . . . This is to me perfectly satisfactory; as I shall instantly inform the Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom I report all the proceedings of the diocese."—9th June 1836.

It will be perceived, that the Missionaries, thus licensed, stand toward the Bishop in the relation rather of Stipendiary Curates, than of Beneficed Clergymen. For a Bishop in England cannot refuse a licence or institution to a benefice, without assigning a reason which will bear investigation before a Court of Common Law; nor can he deprive a Clergyman of his benefice without a judicial process. But no law has provided any such check in the case of Missionaries: the Bishop has the power of withholding a licence, or of withdrawing it, at his sole discretion, without assigning any cause, as in the case of Stipendiary Curates in this country.

If it be asked, What are the checks and safeguards against the undue exercise of this discretionary power of the Bishop?—it may be replied, in the words of the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Parent Society, April 12, 1837:—

"We are not to take for granted, that discretionary power will be abused; but, on the contrary, to provide, by a cheerful and friendly spirit and conduct, against the likelihood of such an occurrence. If the event of arbitrary conduct should arise, or be supposed to arise, the remedies are—public opinion—an appeal to the Archbishop—and the Society's refusing to make other appointments and locations than those unreasonably objected to. Nothing is the least likely—and probability is the guide of life—to arise to impede or cramp the Committee; since they unquestionably and avowedly possess, The choice of men—The appointment of spheres of labour—The temporal power, including pecuniary support."

But though the Bishop's licence is at once the pledge and proof that the Society's Missionaries are under Episcopal superintendence and jurisdiction, and that the spiritual oversight rests altogether with the Bishop; yet the Society may seem, to some persons, to keep up a kind of spiritual jurisdiction and oversight, by requiring accounts from the Missionaries of all their proceedings, and by giving them directions, from time to time, which may bear upon their spiritual duties. But it must be remembered, that the Society stands toward its Missionaries in the relation of Trustees of the fund out of which their salaries are paid. In the case of a Beneficed Clergyman in this country, the Minister is the guardian and possessor of the temporalities of the benefice, because the benefice is an endowment; and the Patron has no further connexion with the Minister whom he has once presented to the Bishop. In our case, the office of Patron is, in a sense, perpetuated by the payment of the salary, and the possession of all the temporalities of the Mission.

This matter has been well explained by the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, May 26, 1837:—"The Missionary Committees," says his Lordship, "have a far greater latitude in India than any Lay-Patrons at home. Upon presenting his Clerk to the Bishop, the Patron at home is functus officio. The Clergyman is removed, on being once instituted and licensed, totally and for ever from the Patron, and is transferred to the superintendency of the Bishop. The Patron has nothing whatever more to do with him. But in India, the Committee is (1) the continued paymaster of the Missionary after he is duly licensed;—for institution and induction there are none. (2) They correspond with him. (3) They supply him with Catechists. (4) They report his chief proceedings home. (5) They propose removals and changes of Station to the Bishop. (6) They exercise, unavoidably, an influence which does not belong to the mere Lay-Patron; and are aiding, in a variety of ways, to the comfortable and honourable discharge of the Missionary's most exalted and most spiritual duties."

It remains to consider the case of those Stations which are Extra-diocesan; i.e. where there is no Colonial Bishop of the Church of England having jurisdiction over them.

In these cases, the Society has endeavoured to procure for such Stations the benefits of the Episcopal office from the nearest Bishop of the Church of England. Application was made by the Committee both to the late and to the present Bishop of Madras, to extend, as far as circumstances would admit, these benefits to the Mission in Travancore; which, as an independent state, not forming a part of the British Dominions, was not included in the diocese of Madras. A similar application was made on behalf of the New-Zealand Mission, to the Bishop of Australia; who at once acceded to the request, and kindly promised to visit New Zealand as soon as his other duties would permit; stating, in a Letter to the Society's representatives at Sydney, "It is highly satisfactory to me, that our friends at home are taking a view of these things which proves them to belong, not only to a Missionary, but also to a Church Society." (See Annual Report, 1838.)

Such is a General View of the Constitution and Proceedings of the Church Missionary Society.

It is not intended to assert, that errors are not sometimes committed in the application of these principles to matters of detail. It must be remembered that Missionary operations are, alas! new and anomalous in the system of the Church of England; and that it is not always easy to draw a definite line between the two provinces which belong respectively to the Bishop and the Committee. It has been observed by the Bishop of Calcutta—Letter, May 26, 1837: "The boundaries of the power of Committees, as they approach to those of the Bishop, can be ascertained, in many points, only by time and observation." Perplexities have consequently occurred; and, unhappily, misunderstandings have sometimes arisen between the Representatives of the Society abroad and Ecclesiastical Authorities. But these are the principles by which the Home Committee have endeavoured to guide the proceedings of the Society: and they confidently respond to a sentiment expressed by the Bishop of Calcutta—"The principles of our new relations are now fully recognised: the details will soon find their level."—Letter, 9th June 1836.

In reviewing the Ecclesiastical relations of the Church Missionary Society, there are two or three points which it seems very important to notice.

1. Missionary operations, as they are conducted by the Church Missionary Society, though apparently anomalous in the system of the Church of England, are yet in strict conformity with its constitution and principles: they are analogous to many other instances of voluntary exertion for the extension of true religion within the Church, in which Ecclesiastical authority and Lay co-operation unite for the accomplishment of the same end: so that these operations may be regarded as the acts of the Church of England, putting forth its energy for the Conversion of the Heathen World. For it has been shown, that the Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth our Missionaries—that these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church. Even in the few cases in which Lutheran Clergymen are employed, this rule is observed; and all the congregations which are gathered into the fold of Christ are trained up as Members of the Church established in this land.

And here it may be observed, that nothing less than the sanction of a duly-assembled Convocation can more fully identify the acts of any Missionary Society, within the Church of England, with the Church.* Without such sanction, all associations of Churchmen must stand in the same position. Still further, not to notice the present abeyance of Convocations, it may be asserted, that even if the Church were to assemble in her provincial Convocations, and to decree and to regulate Missionary operations, such proceedings could not essentially add to, or alter, those important particulars which, under present circumstances, entitle the operations of the Church Missionary Society to be regarded as Missionary operations of the United Church of England and Ireland.

2. It must be ever borne in mind, that Missionary operations are, in their very nature, temporary and preparative;—that they are to be gradually but eventually superseded by a different order of things, when the Heathen Nations shall have become Christianized. In some cases, as in the West Indies, this change is further advanced than in others. Now, it must be expected, that, in proportion as this change advances, difficulties and perplexities will arise in our Ecclesiastical relations, peculiar to this TRANSITION STATE—from Missionary operations, to that happy consummation when there shall be an endowed and established system of Christian Instruction, and a territorial division of Ministerial labour.

* The American Episcopal Church has, in Convention, thus identified itself with a Missionary Society.

February 1839.

This consummation the Church Missionary Society has ever kept in view, and devoutly desired; and, as far as possible, has prepared for its approach. In an interview with the Bishop of Barbados—April 1835—this point was expressly alluded to; and it was stated by the Committee to his Lordship, "that whenever a district should be brought into the state of an organized Christian community, it should assume entirely the Parochial form, and cease to be occupied as a Missionary Station.—The Bishop entirely acquiesced in this view; and only expressed his anxiety that it should not be so acted upon as prematurely to deprive a district of the Missionary's services."—(Extracts from Committee's Minute.)

3. Lastly, it must be evident, from a review of the whole subject, that our Ecclesiastical relations depend, in many important respects, upon a mutual confidence and good understanding between the Committee and its representatives, and the Ecclesiastical Authorities both at home and abroad. This must be the case, to argue upon no higher grounds, while those relations are governed by Ecclesiastical laws and canons made without reference to Missionary operations, for an Established Church in a Christian country; and where so much is also necessarily left to the discretion of both parties. If we look to our Home operations, the Committee places confidence in the Bishop of London, that he will continue to ordain the Missionary Candidates introduced to his Lordship by the Society, according to the provisions of the Act: and the Lord Bishop of London relies upon the Committee's using every means to select, train, and duly qualify proper Candidates to be thus introduced to him.

So also, in its Foreign operations, the Society places confidence in the Colonial Bishops—as it has been already shown, in a quotation from the Letter of Bishop Wilson—that they will not exercise an unreasonable or arbitrary discretion, in withholding or withdrawing licences from our Missionaries, or in refusing ordination to our Candidates. And the Bishops, by granting licences and ordination to the Missionaries of a voluntary Society, whose income is liable to fluctuations, and whose agents are constantly changing, manifestly place confidence in the Committees, that they will use every endeavour to keep up the Missions once established; and that they will not, on their part, act in an unreasonable or arbitrary manner, or withdraw the salary from a licensed Missionary, without reason sufficient to prove to the licensing Bishop the necessity of the proceeding.

It seems impossible to supersede this conventional understanding—as it may be termed—till Missions are supported by endowments, or till a code of Missionary canons be established by competent authority.

This mutual confidence and good understanding now exists, it may be thankfully asserted, between the Committee of the Society and the Ecclesiastical Authorities of every Colonial Diocese in which Missionaries are labouring. And may He, who is the God, not of confusion, but of peace, and "the great Shepherd and Bishop of Souls," unite together the hearts and hands of those who are labouring in this Holy Cause—"that all and every of these may, IN THEIR SEVERAL CALLINGS, serve truly and painfully, to the glory of His name!"

2 CORINTHIANS X. 15, 16.

——“HAVING HOPE, WHEN YOUR FAITH IS INCREASED, THAT WE SHALL BE ENLARGED BY YOU ACCORDING TO OUR RULE ABUNDANTLY, TO PREACH THE GOSPEL IN THE REGIONS BEYOND YOU”——

THERE are two words in this epistle—the one expressing the rule by which our Heavenly Master is pleased to accept our services; the other, the way in which He is wont to manifest His own effectual power on our behalf—which have greatly encouraged me in undertaking the office assigned to me this evening—“If there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not;” and, “My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness.”

The words of the text bring out a principle continually to be traced in all the ministerial labours of the Apostle, and not less so in that which concerned his personal growth in grace and godliness. He looked at present work and progress in relation to its immediate and its final issues; in relation also to that whole design in its completeness, of which it was itself only an imperfect part in progress.

The grace of God had made him “a wise master-builder” in the regard which he paid, first and continually, to the foundation on which the whole building was to rest; from which it should take its beginning, derive its life, increase, stability, and glory; and the same divine teaching led him, when dealing with any part, however inferior and however imperfect, to have an eye to the model to which the whole was to be conformed, the dimensions of its full developement, the end it was to serve, the relations of union and communion existing between each several part and the whole. We find him, therefore, when commissioned to preach “the unsearchable riches of Christ to the Gentiles,”—and in fulfilment of that commission preaching the Gospel to the cities of Asia and Greece—recognising a dispensation unto

“all men;” and, further, that the church that should be gathered out from “all men” by this dispensation, should, in its completeness of number and perfection of character, make known to “the principalities and powers in heavenly places . . . the manifold wisdom of God.”

In teaching and warning individual souls in respect to their present spiritual condition, he had immediately in view their presentation “perfect in Christ Jesus;” and, as in the case of others, so in his own case, “pressing toward the mark” was the constant bent of his mind and heart, “if by any means he might attain unto the resurrection of the dead,” “if that he might apprehend that for which also he was apprehended of Christ Jesus;” and, in the discharge of the ministry which he had received of the Lord, nothing moved, either by present obstacles that opposed, or present successes which encouraged, but only anxious to “finish his course with joy.” Successful result, either in his own soul or his ministry, was no call to rest, or even to relaxation, but to enlarged efforts. He saw not in it the satisfaction of a work accomplished, but only a progress and growth pledging to him, and the earnest of, future and enlarged successes. As a husbandman, employed in the cultivation of a wide waste, looks upon the growth of “the blade” and “the ear” as the promise of “the full corn in the ear,” and in this promise anticipates with hope, and begins to prepare with diligence for extending the sphere of his operations; so, no sooner does the Apostle mark in the church at Corinth a revival of spiritual life, promising fruits of righteousness, than his heart gathers the hope, that by them his sphere of labour will be enlarged; that from amongst them more labourers will be thrust forth, by whom more precious seed should be cast into the regions that lay waste beyond them.

And now let us proceed to consider this hope which the Apostle expressed: it suggests to us—

I. The gracious purpose of God to give His dear Son “for salvation unto the ends of the earth.”

“Every good gift is from above,” and in receiving it we enjoy a blessing, and occupy a trust. What we have “freely received” we must freely communicate, or we risk our tenure by a betrayal of trust, and mar our blessing by failing in one essential condition to its enjoyment.

It is a cheering thing to hear of a design, to look upon and bear part in an effort of love, to extend a benefit which we have tasted to those who are destitute of it—to alleviate misery by the application of a remedy whose efficacy we have tested. But such designs and efforts may and do fail for lack of adequate power, or from fickleness of purpose, or waxing cold in love, or by removal of those that designed, or from obstacles over which we had no control ; or they may prove to be counter to, or aside from, the purposes of Him, who, with a larger benevolence and unerring wisdom, ordereth all things in heaven and earth “after the counsel of His own will.” He may say, “Thou didst well that it was in thine heart,” and yet not permit the accomplishment of our design, or not by our instrumentality.

But here we have a purpose of good which cannot be disappointed—God purposing good to sin-ruined man ; electing His own Son to be His servant, by whose incarnate person, spotless obedience in life, perfect atonement in death, He would “reconcile the world unto Himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them ;” and by Him having made peace, by Him to preach peace, beseeching men to be reconciled to Him.

It is indeed a joy to behold this excellent benefit in the sovereignty and love of the Father that purposed ; the completeness, wanting nothing, with which it has been perfected by the eternal Son ; the all-sufficiency of the power of the eternal Spirit for its effectual application. It is a further joy to behold, in the “great cloud of witnesses” collectively, and in special monuments of grace individually, the accomplishment of this mighty purpose ; to mark it, not only in salvation planned, salvation effected, but salvation enjoyed. Angels rejoice over one such instance, and so does the Lord of angels, the Great Shepherd of these saved ones, who bought them with His blood, sought, found, and brought them home by His Spirit ; but it greatly commends the love of the Redeemer, it greatly enhances the joy of the redeemed, it meets a longing desire which that joy prompts, when, looking up to Him who has “washed them from their sins in His own blood,” they behold “the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world.” Blessed, indeed, is it to know, by the witness of the Spirit speaking peace through His blood, that we have, though we have sinned, such “an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous, and that He is the propitiation for our sins :” but does it not enlarge our thoughts of Him—does it not enhance our joy in Him—to be taught, by the same Spirit, “not for our’s only, but also for the sins of the whole world?” We see him that was “a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious,” the chief of sinners, made a monument of mercy, and chosen to be a vessel unto the Lord to “preach the faith which once he destroyed ;” and we glorify God in him : but is it not greater joy to learn that this was no act without a parallel, or without consequence, but an act purposely intended to be “a pattern to them which should hereafter believe?” We look upon a blessed company gathered out from self-righteous Jews, and dark sensual Pagans, from the heart of a heathen city, and we rejoice to learn that the exceeding great love which, when they were “dead in sins” and “children of wrath,” quickened them, “and made them sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus,” was not solely that they should be blessed, and in their salvation be “to the praise of the glory of His grace,” but that His kindness towards them in Christ Jesus might show the riches of the grace of our God to “ages to come.” It is blessed to behold the Great Shepherd of the sheep rejoicing in spirit, giving thanks to His Father and their Father for having in His good pleasure revealed His salvation to babes—to the little flock which then surrounded Him with grateful hearts, as He bade them rejoice that “their names were written in heaven;” but more blessed still to hear Him, from the midst of that same flock, give utterance to His travelling soul in yearning compassion for souls as yet unborn, in lands as yet unknown—“Other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice.” Blessed to mark, amidst the supplications of that ever-to-be-remembered prayer for those already gathered to Him out of the world, not “for these alone, but for them also that shall believe on me through their word.” Blessed to gather God’s gracious purpose in this wide, far-reaching application of His salvation; not only because of the good with which it is fraught, not only because of its complete adaptation to the whole necessity of perishing sinners; but on this account especially, that the fact of its being His purpose makes it a matter of no uncertain issue—“He is strong that executeth,” as well as good that purposeth: “with Him is no variableness,” against Him no counsel, no strength—His own glory involved, His own arm enlisted, in the accomplishment of this loving purpose, so big with everlasting benefit to us His guilty creatures—“I must bring,” “I will draw,” is the language of covenant faithfulness, unchanging love, almighty power. It was this that gave hope and strength to Paul, when, in this same city of Corinth, he preached, at the first “in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling,” and amidst blasphemy, and persecution, and contempt, “the unsearchable riches of Christ.” “Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace: for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city.” His purpose there, and at that time, to take out from that city, from Jew and Greek, a people for His name, made the instrument by which it was to be effected almighty for the work he was to fulfil; and made all the combination and rage of powerful adversaries to be vain and impotent.

And how broadly is this purpose we are considering written in the very heading of the gracious testament of our God! Though “hid in God,” yet from all eternity a fixed purpose; though through the Patriarchal and Mosaic dispensations and prophetic writings not so distinctly manifested, but set forth as a mystery, yet revealed and promised from the first and throughout. And when, in the fulness of time, He sent forth His Son; when He in His death rent the vail that screened, and gave access with boldness to the holiest in His blood; then was thrown down the partition wall; and of those that were near, and those that were afar off, having made one new man, and “reconciled both unto God in one body by the cross,” He made for both, proclaimed to both, peace with God—gave, and showed that there was, free access for both through Him by one Spirit to the Father. Then did He enlighten His Apostles to see that the Gentiles should be fellow-heirs with Israel; that it was so written in their scriptures—this purpose of God, that “Christ should suffer, and rise from the dead the third day: and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.” And then, in accordance with this everlasting purpose, in fulfilment of these writings of the Prophets, did He issue the glorious command, “Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.”

The “stone cut out without hands” had been “laid in Zion”—the “living stone;” and it was to become “a great mountain, and fill the whole earth.” From “every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation,” were to be drawn unto it souls, that, coming unto it, should be built up on it “lively stones,” “a spiritual house.” Though as the smallest of all seeds in its visible commencement, yet was it to grow and spread, till, as a tree, there should take refuge and dwell under it “all fowl of every wing.” Whether we look at the field into which the precious seed is to be cast, or the field from which the glorious harvest is to be reaped by the Son of Man, the same great purpose of extension to the ends of the earth marks our gospel dispensation. When marking out the seed-plot, “the field is the world;” when—speaking, as He does, of things which are not as though they were—He reveals Himself, not the Son of Man going forth to sow, but, with crowned head and sickle in hand, coming to reap, it is the harvest of the earth that is ripe; it is the earth that is reaped. The sowers are charged to go forth into all the world; the reapers gather in the glorious sheaves from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other. As at His ascension He charged His servants to teach all nations His gospel word so at His coming shall nations be gathered to be judged by a gospel rule. The Apostles were slow to believe, slow to act upon, this blessed purpose; but when Simon, taught from above to "call no man common or unclean," declared to them how the Holy Ghost had accompanied the preaching of the gospel to the Gentiles, even as on them at the beginning, then did they rejoice to own that God had indeed "also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life." The tidings which now came again and again, "declaring the conversion of the Gentiles . . . caused great joy unto all the brethren." And in glad fulfilment of the work of the Lord, they apprehended more clearly the purpose declared in the Word of the Lord, that He would "visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for His name;" and ever after was it their joy to proclaim that "there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon Him." "Other sheep I have," was, and still is, the voice of the Great Shepherd. "The regions beyond" is the cry of him that hath the mind which was in Christ. "Them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice," is the language of the Saviour. "I am debtor" unto all men . . . "so, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel," is the mind of one who was constrained by the love of "Him which died for him, and rose again."

And is not the existence of our beloved Society, and are not her faithful Missionaries—are not the souls which the Lord by them hath taken out from among the heathen—an utterance of the same mind in our own Church? the fruit and the witness of that indwelling presence of her Lord which is the spring of all her life, the wisdom of her counsels, and the strength of her performances. Yes! there is much in our Church that would seem to call for the concentration of all our thought, energy, prayer, upon the setting in order the things which disturb—the supplying that which is lacking to the faith, the godliness, the peace of our Church. Much also is there in our land, and among our people, that would seem to call for the collective energies of the Lord's servants at home, and to confine them here. But all experience illustrates, what all Scripture teaches, that it is not only the will and purpose of Him that it should be the high function of His Church to make known His "salvation unto the ends of the earth," as well as to seek the good of those who, by nearer and more immediate bonds, are made her peculiar and natural charge; but that her strength for the work at home is granted in her labours of love for those abroad; and that in going forth at His bidding, even with scanty and narrow supplies, which seem less than enough for her own necessities, she shall not only find it suffice for the famishing thousands to whom it is distributed abroad, but overflowing with a larger measure, and with a more healthy influence, for her home wants. When the Lord called for provision out of the supplies that seemed, and that were, so utterly insufficient for herself and her child, with whom the things that remained were ready to die, was He forgetful? Is He ever forgetful of the mother or her child? Had not the demand for help to a stranger, at a time of such pressing home necessity, a purpose big and rich with sufficiency for that need? And has it not been so with us? O yes! let us believe His gracious promises; let us be taught by His gracious dealings; let us throw ourselves, our plans, our desires, and efforts, into the mould of His wide-extending and loving purposes; and while we grieve over, and sigh for, the sins and spiritual necessities of our land; and humble ourselves for the lack of unity and godly love, the errors that eat as a canker, the worldliness that deadens, the divisions which weaken the energy that there is in our Church to be a witness for our Lord at home; and while we set our heart and hand to the work of our God among our own people; let us ever keep in view, in our prayers and in our labours of love, "the regions beyond:" and that, not only for their sakes, but for our own, as that work in which we may especially expect the reviving influence of the manifested presence of our Lord in the midst of ourselves, and the lifting up by the Holy Ghost of the standard to the stemming the tide of ungodliness, the casting off, by invigorated health, the plague-spots of the Romish apostasy—such a burning, and such a shining of the light of God's Word in our candlestick, as should shame and silence the now vaunted efforts of the Adversary to obscure, pervert, or corrupt "the glorious gospel of the blessed God," which is committed to our trust. Aye! and when we look upon those Mission-fields in which we have been permitted to work for Him amongst the heathen; and while we rejoice over and with the souls that are the fruit of our labours in the Lord; let us consider them in their true light, and see in them, not a work accomplished, calling to rest and satisfaction, but a work in progress, a successful result, calling us to enlarged efforts, as the earnest of still larger and more glorious results; let us hear Him, by whom and to whom those souls have been gathered, while in the midst of His Church He gives praise for the children God hath given Him, crying, "Other sheep I have." Oh! let Him hear in our heart's purposes and prayers, let Him see in our plans and labours, let Him hear us "speak often one to another," and exhort one another for "the regions beyond." "Let the children first be fed," was a divine word, spoken to try, and so to strengthen, the faith—not to silence nor to deny the petition that sought, out of the home supplies, some crumbs for a stranger's need.

But our text suggests to us—

II. The means ordained for the fulfilment of this purpose.

When we have a mind to know, and a heart to do, the will of the Lord, our inquiry will be, How would He have it done, by whom, by what? And our text supplies the answer, By His Church, by His preached gospel. Doubtless the Apostle exercised a peculiar office, for which he had received a special personal commission. God had revealed His Son in him, that he should preach Him to the heathen. But nevertheless he went forth to the work, set apart and commended to the grace of God, and sent forth, by the church at Antioch, their Missionary, as well as the Lord's Apostle; a debtor to all men, doubtless, by virtue of his apostleship, which laid necessity upon him; but also a debtor, in common with every Missionary, to the brethren who had sent him forth—their representative, the member to whom was entrusted the active ministration of a work, in which all the members had a common interest and a common obligation; a debtor also, in common with every redeemed soul, to “show forth the praises of Him who had called him out of darkness” and “translated him into the kingdom of His dear Son.” To “preach the gospel to every creature” is the common privilege and obligation of the whole church; and therefore the Apostle does not say to the church at Corinth, “When I have been enabled to correct the errors, and ‘set in order the things that are wanting,’ and confirm the faith of the weak amongst you, then I hope to have time and opportunity to preach;” but, “having hope . . . that we shall be enlarged by you . . . to preach the gospel in the regions beyond you.” And as the Church is the body whom the Lord hath charged with this work, so from it must be our expectations of its fulfilment; and, as members of that body, on ourselves must we feel to lie the obligation of its performance. The silver and the gold of Egypt may be employed in the erection of the tabernacle, but the workmen must be of Israel, whose hearts the Lord hath prepared with skill and wisdom to do the work “according to the pattern shewed . . . in the mount.” The being “a citizen of no mean city” may have, in many ways, given occasion for access, and imparted an influence to the Missionary labours of the Apostle—all he was, and all he had, was consecrated to the Lord—but it was employed by a heart and lips sanctified by the Holy Ghost to be a vessel of honour in the service of his Divine Master.

It is assuredly true, that a nation is responsible for the use it shall make, for God's glory and man's benefit, of whatever it possesses of wealth, power, position, or any other influence; it is affectingly true, that a Christian nation, like our own, has peculiar responsibility attaching to that Name it bears, that its occupation and employment of all it is, and has, be to the honour, and not to the dishonour or forgetfulness, of that great Name. But, nevertheless, the Lord does not speak to nations, but to churches—even to His own servants, wherever they are found—when He calls for the fulfilment of this gracious purpose.

Furthermore, it is doubtless the clear responsibility of the whole baptized body, involved in the seal and sign of their profession, to take part in this work; but it is only by the living members of that body, made one with their Divine Head by a living faith of the operation of the Holy Ghost, that this work can be effectually carried on. These alone have the mind in them “which was also in Christ Jesus;” to these alone is Jesus precious, and His law a delight; from these alone can we expect labours of love for His name's sake. However few in number, however weak in worldly influence, however little they may possess of all that, to which man would give the name of power; yet on them, as the instruments in the hands of their Lord, as members together of the body of which He is the Head, does all hope of this work rest. God may give Nehemiah the support of Artaxerxes' decree: and national influence and protection, the sanction and countenance of constituted authorities, the learning of the wise, the riches of the wealthy, the alms of the benevolent, have been, and frequently are, enlisted to further the work of making Christ known to the heathen. There is nothing exempt from the “all things” which “serve Him,” who is “Head over all things to the Church,” and in whose hands “all things work together for good to them that love Him, to them who are the called according to His purpose.” Even “the wrath of man shall praise Him;” and opposition, persecution, injustice, and wrong, have “fallen out rather unto the furtherance of the gospel,” to the praise of His wisdom and power. But, it is vessels chosen of God, and filled with the Holy Ghost, emphatically, men of God, and “not of the world,” who “have obeyed from the heart the doctrine delivered them,” of whose service we may expect the effectual conduct of this work.

But though the truth meets us in every page of the Word—stands out in the result of every work of the Lord—is written so legibly, both in the fruitfulness that has at times adorned, and the errors and decay that have dishonoured, the profession of Christ's religion—though it is attested by the labours of every Missionary, and in the history of every Mission—and though the scarcely less instructive history of our Society's operations at home bears concurrent testimony—yea, though the experience of every one amongst us, who, born of God, is in his own soul the workmanship, and in labours of love the living instrument in the hands of God the Holy Ghost, again and again declares, that it is “not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts”—yet, do not the minds of my older and more experienced brethren in this work attest the truth of what I myself deeply feel, that while of all things this we have the most cause to rejoice in, this also, above all things, we have the most need to watch with holy jealousy and anxious prayer, as the one thing the most essential that we possess, and yet the thing we are in most danger to lose—the spirituality of our work, spirituality in our workmen. Without Him we can do nothing to glorify Him, or to edify His church; and therefore, for every department of our work, at home and abroad, we must have men in whom Christ lives, that we may have men by whom Christ will work. With others than these we may teach the heathen much that is good, convince them of many errors, win their consent to much truth; we may persuade them to cast off their old superstitions, and put on the profession of our religion; we may greatly improve their moral character, and ameliorate their social and domestic condition; but here it will stop. And if we desire and aim at more than this; if we would “turn them . . . from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is in Christ Jesus;” then we must be, then we must have, men, as of old, who will carry about in themselves, as well as in their teaching, “the dying and the life of the Lord Jesus.” Others may speak a word, and even the Word, with an effect that shall cause a shaking where there was all the stillness of death; a coming together of bone to bone with a uniformity that, for a time, shall have the semblance, and claim the name, of a work of God. But there will be no life; and none but those who are themselves alive unto God by the Holy Ghost which dwelleth in them, will, in life and in work, recognise the need, cry for, and obtain, “the breath from the four winds” that shall raise the dead in sins to be a living host in Christ.

And as the living church of God is the body by whom, so the living Word of God is the instrument by which, this purpose is to be fulfilled.

Paul was addressing a people dwelling in a city abounding in cultivated and gifted minds, wealth, and worldly influence. Paul himself was not behind his age in intellectual endowments or attainments ; but were these his dependence ? No. Did he then despise learning and talent ? or take no count of worldly influence, position, and power ? Did he rate at no value the favourable hearing of Sergius Paulus, the almost persuasion of heart of King Agrippa, or the access to Cæsar's household ? No ; we feel he did not. But he was ever careful to avow, and jealous in maintaining, that "not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God ;" not by "enticing words of man's wisdom," or "excellency of speech ;" but by "great plainness of speech," "knowing nothing save Jesus Christ and Him crucified," did he hope to prevail. Was Paul, then, indifferent and reckless of the stumbling-block which this doctrine would occasion to the bigoted but conscientious attachment of the Jew to the law of Moses ? or the contempt and derision which it would excite in the mind of the intellectual Greek, and the metaphysical philosopher ? No. He would, and did, become "all things to all men, that he might by all means save some." But in the full knowledge—who could know it better ?—that the preaching of the cross would be "unto the Jew a stumbling-block, and unto the Greek foolishness," he determined to know among them nothing else. The wisdom of God had ordained that "by the foolishness of preaching He would save them that believe," and he would not be wiser than God. He knew that "the excellency of the power" was not of the preacher, or of his preaching, "but of God"—God's ordained instrument—the wisdom of God, and the power of God ; the appointed, the tried, and therefore the trusted weapon of his warfare. "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ : for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ." "I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified." This his commission ! This his experience ! This his hope !

"To preach the Gospel !" This may be, in the ears of some, "a cant term ;" in some minds it may be judged "a worn-out thing," which we, in our enlightened day, have outlived. "The offence of the cross has not ceased." The Jewish formalist, zealous for his rites and traditions ; the intellectual Greek, with his pride of learning ; Gallio, with his indifference to all such things ; Festus, with his charge of madness and enthusiasm ; Demetrius, with his craft in danger, are but types of minds and characters which at all times, and in our own, exist, and to whom the preaching of the cross is an offence. And we do well to remember, while we claim for it the honour that is due to the Word of the living God, that he who proclaims it may be but “a tinkling cymbal,” or as “sounding brass;” with the Word of salvation on his lips, he may be a “son of perdition;” he may preach for filthy lucre, or for the honour that cometh from man, or “of envy and strife,” and not for the love of Christ. This we do well to remember, “lest . . . when we have preached to others, we ourselves should be castaways.” But the Gospel itself is “the voice of the Son of Man,” which the dead hear in the hour which now is, and live. It has attached to it the promised influence of the Holy Ghost; ordained to be, and is, the voice of the Good Shepherd, which the sheep that are given unto Him, and are now going astray in this wilderness world, “shall hear,” and “return to the Shepherd and Bishop of their souls.”

Avowedly and rejoicingly, by the friends of our Society, and confessedly by her opponents, is this recognised to be a marked feature in all her plans and labours—“preaching the Gospel;” the ground of many of her conflicts, the occasion of many of her crosses and temptations, the weapon of all her victories, the bright cheering pledge in times past, and now, of her Lord’s presence and blessing. May the Lord the Holy Ghost ever keep this the fixed purpose of our hearts, and the hearts of all who may take up this work with us, or after us, reverently and jealously to regard it as the one ordained weapon, heartily and everywhere to employ it as the trusted weapon of our warfare!

“Great,” doubtless, “is the mystery of godliness” which it unfolds. Here, more than in any other manifestation of His glory to man, there is a height and depth which pass knowledge; and it may seem to some a hope of presumption, a work of enthusiasm, to put before the mind of an unlettered, uncivilized savage, the record of a mystery, about which some of the most cultivated and talented minds of our race have been perplexed and have differed. But the experience of the preached Gospel, uttered by the divine lips of Jesus, spoken by the Apostles and by all preachers of their doctrine in all ages, only illustrates the truth, that God’s teaching can, and does, reveal to weak babes what remains hid from the wise and prudent; that it is not the uncultivated understanding of the savage that constitutes the obstacle, that it is not the highest mental acumen that constitutes the qualification, for knowing and believing the things freely given to us of God; but it is “the natural man,” destitute of spiritual mind and life, that is the common obstacle in both: it is the spiritual illumination of Him who called light out of darkness, shining into the heart, that can alone enable either, and is equally efficient for both, to see and acknowledge “the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.” And therefore, unhesitatingly, unreservedly, and from the first, with the faithfulness of a messenger who is sent to all with a message, about the contents of which, or time of delivering which, he has no discretion given him, we must at once, and to all, preach “Christ, and Him crucified;” proclaiming the word of reconciliation committed to us, “to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them;” and praying men, “as though God did beseech them by us . . . to be reconciled to Him,” on this very ground, that “He hath made Christ to be sin for them, that they might be made the righteousness of God in Him.” We take up this “ministration of righteousness,” exceeding as it does in glory all other ministrations, declaring in it the righteousness of the Son of God, “the end of the law to every one that believeth,” unto and upon him, and justifying him from all things before God: and our hope of result in so preaching, that minds will be enlightened, and hearts savingly converted to God, is, that “the ministry of reconciliation”—this “ministration of righteousness”—is also “the ministration of the Spirit:” our Gospel is preached with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven. In this preaching, “the SPIRIT and the Bride say, Come.”

Christ’s sheep in the regions beyond, this our object. Men of God, these the workmen. The Word of the gospel, this our weapon. The power of the Holy Ghost, this our strength.

III. We proceed now to the consideration of the third point suggested in our text—A preliminary condition to the fulfilment by the Church of this purpose of God. As the rain and the snow from heaven water the earth, and cause it to yield both “bread to the eater and seed to the sower,” so are we taught shall be the operation of the Word of God upon the soul. In supplying the nurture of its growth it affords also the means of its reproduction, and the one in proportion to the other. There can be no growth without life, and there can be no fruits of increase where there is no growth; and therefore the Apostle, in his prayer for these saints at Corinth, desires these two things as coincident results of the influence of God’s grace upon their souls—“He that ministereth seed to the sower both minister bread for your food, and multiply your seed sown, and increase the fruits of your righteousness.” A short time before, he had addressed another epistle to them, in which he spoke with thankfulness of the privileges and advantages they had enjoyed in spiritual things, the gifts of utterance and knowledge with which they had been enriched, that they came behind in no gift; but still there was something greatly lacking. He alludes to things which greatly tempered his joy, and occasioned sorrow and misgivings respecting them. Their gifts had been exercised in a carnal, worldly spirit; had been the occasion of envy, strife, and debate: moreover, brother had gone to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers, and cases of gross sin had occurred among them. He had, moreover, received a communication from them, and the subject of their inquiries had been nice questions about the conduct of their assemblies, questions about the limits of Christian liberty in intercourse with the world; also metaphysical questions about the mode, leading to a calling in question the doctrine, of the resurrection; but not a word does he hear of them, or from them, about the work of the Lord Jesus in sounding out the word of the Lord in "the regions beyond" them. And in the Apostle's answer to this communication, in the epistle to which we have alluded, there is faithful reproof, earnest expostulation, full and powerful statement of the doctrine they had contravened, wholesome and detailed directions respecting the other subjects of their inquiry; but not a word about the spread of the Gospel. "The regions beyond" are not mentioned; no, not though at the time he wrote, and though in the letter he alludes to, that "great door and effectual" which was opened to him, by which "all they that dwelt in Asia heard the Word of the Lord Jesus." It is true that, in compliance with the general apostolic injunction "that they should remember the poor," they had shown a disposition to make a collection in aid of the temporal wants of the saints at Jerusalem; but in the provision for spiritual things, even their own supplies had been by the robbery of other churches.

But now, how different is the tone of the Apostle's second letter! Comforted by the account brought to him by Titus, marking in them evident signs of humiliation for their sins and carnal-mindedness, and the revival of real godliness, he says, "Great is my boldness of speech toward you, great is my glorying of you." Marking the fruits of their godly sorrow unto repentance, "what carefulness it wrought in them, yea, what clearing of themselves, yea, what indignation . . . what zeal, yea, what revenge!" he rejoiced, saying, "I have confidence in you in all things:" yea, "had hope, when their faith was increased, that he should be enlarged by them . . . to preach the Gospel in the regions beyond them." And so it has ever been, and must be. Growth in the divine life, whether in a church, a society, or an individual, is essential to, and it is the sure pledge of, "abounding unto every good word and work."

Israel is destined, in the hands of Him to whom they are yet beloved for their fathers' sake, to be as "life from the dead" to our world. But what is the preliminary condition of that holy and glorious influence? Is it not stated in the words of him, who probably did not fully know "what, or what manner of time the Spirit . . . in him did signify" in the testimony it bore—"God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause His face to shine upon us. That Thy way may be known upon earth, Thy saving health among all nations. . . . God shall bless us; and all the ends of the earth shall fear Him." Or, as another son of Israel was taught to say, "Darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people: but the Lord shall arise upon thee, and His glory shall be seen upon thee. And the Gentiles shall come to thy light." While these words fill our hearts with the longing hope and expectation of Israel's salvation, and Israel's glory, "in the day of the Lord," do they not also involve a principle, and set forth a law of spiritual life and influence, applicable to "the Israel of God" in all ages?

There must be intensity of light in us, if we would reflect it far around us. We must distinctly apprehend, if we would clearly manifest—we must largely appropriate, if we would widely diffuse—the things of Christ.

St. Paul knew that though the city of Corinth abounded in wealth, learning, and worldly influence, yet that in the church which had been gathered out of it there were "not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble." Yet he does not say, "Having hope, when your numbers are increased, and you have added unto you some of the learning, wealth, and influence of your renowned city;" but, "when your faith is increased."

And what does this teach us concerning our work in the Lord? "The Lord," brethren, "hath done great things for us: whereof we are glad;" and wherever we have reached, "according to the measure of the rule which God hath distributed to us," in preaching the Gospel, there have we reason to say, "Thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of His knowledge by us in every place." And when we look up to the throne of God and the Lamb, and mark with assured faith, among the company of "the spirits of just men made perfect," a goodly number gathered from the wide-spread field of our Missions, and then look on the fields from which they have been transplanted, and see in Africa, India, America, and New Zealand, thousands more partakers of the same grace, and preparing, as "vessels of mercy," for the same glory; and as, again and again, our hearts are made glad by the tidings that many more are being "added to the Lord;" our thankfulness for past successes, our deepening sense of the inestimable benefits already vouchsafed, enlarges our future expectations, and faith learns to utter the confident trust—"He hath been mindful of us: He will bless us!"

From all our Missions, moreover, in measure, and from some with an urgency beyond precedent, the cry is for enlargement, and that in abundant measure. The principles which bade our fathers commence, and in obedience to which we have now reached unto the present result, demand a response to this cry. The blessing visibly attendant upon all past effort; the unprecedented way in which the whole heathen world is thrown open to our actual intercourse, with a breadth almost extending to the fulness of our great commission to "preach the gospel to every creature;" our own peculiar position in connexion with our land, our Church, in relation to the world at large; all force upon us the conviction, that not only there never was a time when the opportunity and the encouragement for preaching the gospel to the heathen were so large; but never was there a time at which, never a people in whom, to stand still in this work would involve so fearful a responsibility. All this we own; but what is the response to the call? "Where are the means?" we ask. "Where are the men?" We travel through our land, we pass through this great city, we mark on all sides proofs of abounding wealth, rapid advancement in science, marvellous achievements of mechanical skill, all bespeaking that there is no lack of means, and no lack of energy to employ it with wonderful results. Great is the enterprise, skill, perseverance, manifested in all things around us, and not less great the wealth and prosperity with which God has blessed it. We see what the combination of mind and talent with mechanical skill and material strength have produced, and are producing, throughout the world, conferring a general benefit upon all, and blessing, with large interest, those whose energy, and talent, and wealth, have been thus employed; and remembering how, by a parallel law, such principles applied to this higher object, such energies and means devoted to our higher aim, would issue in a larger and higher general benefit, with a more real and lasting blessing on those who employed them, we long to see these powers, these energies, these means, consecrated to the Lord; that this great purpose we have in hand, so pregnant with glory to the Lord Jesus, and everlasting good to our fellow-men, might have a first, or, at least, a larger place, among the objects of their employment.

We cast, again, a disappointed look upon our Universities, as we behold the talent and attainments of many gifted minds, capable of, and destined to exercise a powerful influence over the minds and interests of others, and remember how, year by year, the call to them for help in this greatest of all works is so feebly responded to. But while we look here our hands are ready to hang down, our hearts feel discouraged. What is it, then, that we want? Men gifted with a high order of intellectual endowment and attainment? Yes, we want these. Do we want the exercise of that influence which God has entrusted, that authority which is of Him in those who are over us in the Church or in the State? Yes, we want this also. Do we want the far-reaching influence of our merchants, and the substance of our wealthy? Yes, all this we want; for all this we ask—for our land's sake, for our church's sake, for their sake who hold it in trust, for the world's sake, for our work's sake. But there is a greater want than this! in the lack of which all these were powerless for the work we have in hand; and having which, we possess the pledge for all of all other things which shall be needful for us—"more faith!" the faith which, laying hold of Christ for the entire supply of the whole necessity, the all-satisfying portion of our own souls, as our all-sufficiency in wisdom and strength for ourselves and our work, in all He has called us to do, shall realize the great truth, first, in the trust that stirs to earnest effort, and then, in the issue that gladly crowns with success. "All things are your's, for ye are Christ's." "Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas"—here are our Missionaries; "or the world"—here our lacking, longed-for means; "or life, or death"—here the blessing purposed in the sparing to us our devoted Krapf, here the blessing equally ordained in the removal of our honoured and lamented Weitbrecht; "or things present"—here the great opportunity of our present position; "or things to come"—here the foreshadowing tokens of the coming onset of the powers of Antichrist, and the premonitory signs, and the coming issues, of the glorious appearing of our Lord—"all things are our's!" Oh, that with godly sorrow, holy indignation, awakened carefulness, fear of conscious responsibility, our hearts may be bowed at the feet of Him who is "the Author and Finisher of the faith" we need, and the propitiation, in His blood, for all the short-comings of our unbelief! who, possessed of the fulness of the Spirit, holding in His right hand the whole ministering agency of His church, is the spring of our restorations, when things are ready to die, as He was our "life from the dead." O that, looking upon Him, and at ourselves and our work, before Him our heart's cry might be, "Lord, help our unbelief!" "Lord, increase our faith!" Then might we expect that "a live coal . . . from off the altar" would "touch the lips" of many amongst us, and many around us. Out from our Universities would come forth men whose heart's cry should be, "Here am I, send me!" out of the world around would come those with substance with which to honour Him who gave it, and who, having "first given their own selves to the Lord," would give themselves "unto us by the will of God."

Yes! if we would have more and fitted labourers thrust forth, we must pray, and we must ask in faith; if we would have our means multiplied, we must ask, and ask in faith; if we would have hearts opened at home to send or to preach, if we would have hearts opened abroad to receive the Gospel, it must be when "our faith is increased." Faith beholds Christ, appropriates Christ, assimilates to Christ. Faith, being of the operation of the Holy Ghost, leads the mind to judge, the heart to love and purpose, in accordance with the will of God. Faith purifies the heart from carnal affections, overcomes the world, receives and welcomes Christ into the heart to dwell there; thus "comprehends . . . the love which passeth knowledge," and, under its constraining influence, the soul becomes ready to live for Him who died for it, and to spend and be spent for all for whom He died. Without faith we cannot please Him; but, if we have faith, nothing shall be impossible to us. In faith our net has been let down at His word, spite of many discouragements, and after many a night of fruitless toil. We stand now in the midst of successes and results exceeding what we asked or thought—too large, apparently, for the conduct of our present strength and means. Oh, what needs it but that we lie low in humiliation for our sins and shortcomings before His feet, to whom we gratefully give the glory of all our successes, to hear Him say, concerning the greater and larger works yet to be done, "Fear not! I will make you fishers of men."

IV. And now, lastly, let us consider from our text the measure of the Apostle's expectations of the church of Corinth in furtherance of this work—"that we shall be enlarged by you according to our rule abundantly"—"according to his rule," as to the direction of the enlargement. This had been distributed to him by the Lord, directing Him in his first commission to the heathen—when longing to win souls to Christ amongst those of his own flesh at Jerusalem, pointing him "far hence to the Gentiles;" a rule which restricted as well as directed him, "not where Christ was preached," but where "He was not spoken of;" a rule that, in the teaching of the Spirit, turned him aside from fields of labour which his own judgment would have selected in Asia and Bithynia, and, by a suggestion from the Lord, directed him to the cities of Macedonia; a rule given him in his first call, written on all the providential dealings which attended the exercise of his calling—now restraining, now directing, now by the opposition of some, now by the imitation of others, now by trials and afflictions, now by triumphs and successes; a rule and a measure, in the following of which he had reached unto Corinth, but not stopping there, but reaching forwards to “the regions beyond.” In accordance with this rule he had reached unto them, preaching the gospel at the charge of other churches; now, according to this rule, he hoped to be enlarged by them for “the regions beyond,” by finding among them fitted and willing labourers to go with him to the work, and the ready supply of all needful means for their support in the work.

And in what measure did he expect this of them? His view of the large purpose of God, who “would have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth,” and had commanded the Gospel to be preached “to every creature,” led him, when he looked upon the vast numbers yet untaught in “the regions beyond,” to desire that the measure of his enlargement should not be a narrow one. The view which he took of the present miseries of perishing souls—overhung as they were by the shadow of a coming and eternal wrath; the confidence he had that the Gospel of Christ was “the power of God unto salvation to every one that believed;” the persuasion that God would “take out a people for His name,” by an “election of grace,” out of every nation and kindred; the cheering sense he had of all the mighty things already done by the preached gospel; led him to desire that he should be enlarged by them in its ministrations “abundantly.” And the example of other and neighbouring churches, who, after much shorter experience, had “sounded out the word of the Lord” in regions near and beyond them; of others, also, who, in the beginning of the gospel, though amidst persecutions, in the space of a few months “sent once and again unto his necessity;” encouraged him to expect the like grace in them at Corinth: and the more, when he remembered that by the Missionary efforts of other churches his ministry at Corinth had been in part supported, he felt, that not only the free grace of Jesus made them debtors to Him, to deal out with the same free love to others as He had dealt out to them; but that the free ministration of that Gospel to them, at the cost of others, should lead them to be ready abundantly, at their own cost, to minister to “the regions beyond.”

It would be deeply interesting to trace the identity, in its origin, character, and principles of application, of the rule of the Apostle with the rule distributed to us of the Lord, and by which we have reached unto our present position. But time forbids me to enter upon it; and I hasten rather to apply to ourselves, and our work in “the regions beyond,” not so much the direction in which, but the measure with which, he desired and expected to be enlarged. And would it not be a grievous unfaithfulness to the rule distributed to us of the Lord; would it not betray ungrateful oblivion of all that the Lord hath done for us, and by us; would it not argue sad straitening of the bowels of compassion, with which the saved and the pardoned should ever listen to the crying need of the perishing; if our Society did not desire to be enlarged by us—of whom, in her active agencies at home, and her faithful Missionaries abroad, she is the chosen, tried, and trusted representative—abundantly? May I not say that it would be a dishonourable distrust of our faith and love, weak though they be, if she did not only desire, but declare to us, who are her’s in the Lord at home, and to those who have been gathered to the Lord by her labours abroad, her hope and expectation that we should thus enlarge her “labour of love?” For the desire there is indeed a cause, and for the expectation of its fulfilment, I trust, no uncertain warrant.

We see as distinctly, in the result of our work, the broad seal of our Master’s faithfulness in blessing, as we recognise, in the rule of our commission, the broad seal of His authority. We feel a deepening responsibility as we hold a rule, in the application of which we have marked such unspeakable results. And as we contrast with those results of everlasting benefits the miseries of those to whom our rule has not been applied, and the narrow limits of the ground occupied, with the vast expansion of “the regions beyond,” we feel that we have no common urgency, no common opportunity, and therefore no common responsibility, pressing upon us to enlarge “abundantly” our work. When we measure our work in its results by the weakness of our faith, the feebleness of our efforts, it is great indeed! if we measure it by the far-reaching consequences in time, and glorious issues in the day of our Lord’s appearing, it is great! But if we measure it by the breadth of the rule distributed, by the freeness and the fulness with which we have received, the greatness of the opportunities that have been afforded, the vast numbers of souls to whom the gospel has not been preached, and yet equally needing the grace, equally included in the provisions of our gospel commission; then do we see that there is a crying need that nothing less than “abundantly” should be the measure of our enlargement. Our brethren in foreign lands, who are one with us in the support of our Society, and who are eye-witnesses of the pressing need which demands, and the success that attends, her labours, have responded with no feeble voice to this call. Their share of supplies for the support and enlargement of the work has been nobly increased, from bearing the proportion of one-seventeenth, ten years ago, to bearing, last year, the proportion of one-tenth of the whole fund contributed. It is cheering, also, to see that, in the Mission churches, our brethren gathered out from the heathen are not backward in this work; but, both in men and means, are proving that the work of faith, by which they turned from dumb idols to serve the living God, has not wanted its proper fruit—labours of love in sounding out the Word of the Lord beyond them. In the supply of men given us of the Lord for this work, those that have come forth from the field of Missionary labour, as ordained Missionaries to the heathen, have increased in ten years from the proportion of one-twelfth to be one-eighth of the whole band; and the whole increase of nearly six hundred in the aggregate number of labourers employed by our Society, as compared with that aggregate ten years back, has been altogether from those fields of our Missionary labours, and not at all from our own resources.

Surely we may say that “the abundance of their joy,” even if not, in all cases, of “their deep poverty,” has “abounded unto the riches of their liberality.” Oh, let this forwardness on the part of these our brethren provoke in us the same abounding zeal and love! I fear the response to the cry for the enlargement of our work is not so full and encouraging from our associations throughout our land, as was that which filled us with hope last year. We are not straitened in our brethren abroad; we are not straitened in the churches which we have gathered from the heathen; much less are we straitened in Him, whose we are and whom we serve. No. He is able and willing “to make all grace abound towards us; that we, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work.” Oh, then, let us not be straitened in ourselves! let us take up the weapons of our warfare, not with the doubtfulness and narrow expectations of him, who smote but thrice with “the arrow of the Lord’s deliverance,” but with the bold expectant faith with which his reprover smote the waters with his master’s mantle. “Strong in the Lord, and in the power of His might,” let us, as in our personal warfare, so in this our work for the Lord, “forgetting those things which are behind, reach forth unto those things which are before, and press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.”

And now, dear brethren, suffer a few words of application in conclusion. I would fain believe, what I have earnestly prayed, that the felt presence and power of the Lord, in whose name we are here assembled, has more than compensated for my own utter unworthiness and insufficiency for the post I now occupy. It has been my desire to speak as in His presence, in accordance with His word, looking up for His blessing. It has greatly encouraged me, to feel that many hearts before me have been lifted up to the Master in expectation, while they have received His word from His unworthy servant. We have considered together the work which He calls us to do for Him collectively among the heathen; we have seen how dependent that work is—I will not say for its fulfilment, but its fulfilment by us—upon His work in us individually, upon the existence and the growth of the life of Christ in our souls. “If ye are Christ’s”—oh, how much of the future of our course on earth, how all the interests of our eternity, hang dependent upon this—the existence, I venture solemnly to repeat, of the life of Christ in our souls. For it is not the fact of our assembling here together in connexion with this work; it is not employment in this work, however extensive; it is not our feeling of interest in it, however warm; no, nor intimate connexion with, nor the charitable, unsuspecting judgment of the Lord’s people concerning us, that will make us His, or prove us to be His. So subtle are the workings of a heart “deceitful above all things;” so able in counterfeiting to the heart within and to the judgment without is the arch deceiver; that a “son of perdition” may be found among the chosen twelve, unsuspected and trusted by all, probably for a long time unsuspected even by himself, or any but Him who “knew what was in man,” and knew him from the beginning. No! nothing but the work of the Holy Ghost can make us to be, nothing but the witness of the same Spirit should satisfy us that we are, Christ’s. O that each soul before me may experience that work of the Spirit, that he may be, and have that witness of the Spirit that he may joyfully know that he is, Christ’s indeed! And if we are His, we have seen that “all things are our’s.” But if we would prove this in life, work, and joyful issue, we must grow from the weakness of the babe to the strength and experience of manhood in Christ: and where does this teach us to look? As our work for Christ led us to look inwards upon His work within us, so does His work in us bid us look upward to His work for us.

“Holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession,” once sent from God to us, now gone to God for us! Behold Him in the yesterday of His undertakings for us, one with the Father in the eternal counsels which purposed, content, yea, in delight coming forth, in the fulness of time, to accomplish in the body prepared for Him the great work of our salvation! Behold Him on the cross, in the last agonies of the triumphant conflict, uttering forth the memorable cry, carrying with Him one memorable trophy of His victory! This was He, "yesterday," in the love of His undertaking; this was He, in the complete accomplishment of His undertaking; and now, is He not the same, in love and faithfulness, in our "to day"? Exalted on high—above all power, and wielding all power—possessed of all, bestowing all blessings on His Church; "of God made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption;" crying, in the largeness of His love and in the plenitude of His blood-bought redemption, "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth!" and "able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by Him." This was He, YESTERDAY! This, even "the same," is our Jesus "TO-DAY!" And what will He be in His and our "FOR EVER?"

Oh! amidst the many awful and terrible issues of that great day of God—the "flaming fire" that will consume—the "iron rod" that will break in pieces—"the sword" that will smite, all that opposeth Him; the binding and banishment of the great adversary—the overthrow of Antichrist—the casting out from His kingdom all that offend—the perdition of the ungodly—and fiery baptism of the earth—amidst these, the attendant judgments, what is the conspicuous, great "grace, which is to be brought" unto us? Jesus in glory! "All things beneath His feet." Death, even, "swallowed up in victory!" Looking upon His perfected body, which was "the travail of His soul," and beholding in them the whole fulfilment of His Father's commission, and, in their conformity to Himself without spot or wrinkle, perfect meetness for His Father's glory, He "shall be satisfied," and admit and welcome them to the enjoyment with Him of "the kingdom prepared for them from the foundation of the world."

Dear brethren, are we Christ's? Is He all this? Will He be all this? Has He obtained, does He hold, is He coming to bring, all this for us? "Lord," again we cry, "increase our faith!" Yes! with a faith that embraces this Jesus in the present fulness of His grace, and now, "the substance of what is hoped for," "partakes of His glory to be revealed," we become enlarged to love Him, by comprehending more largely His love; and thus enlarged to labour for Him, and to yield ourselves unto Him, trusting to be fitted and ready to be employed by Him for what, and for all, He will.

Our faith thus increased, our Society should be enlarged by us, and abundantly, "to preach the Gospel in the regions beyond;" enlarged, in sowing the precious seed, to aims and labours something commensurate with the wide expanse of the great harvest field, from which we hope, ere long, to see Him come and reap His sheaves for glory. And the hope which I feel I will not withhold, that, in our offerings to-night to the treasury of the Lord for this work, there shall be an individual purpose of heart, that shall TESTIFY TO THE LORD, and a collective amount that shall betoken to each other, and to our Society, the resolve of our faith in Jesus, that the record, which, in the great congregation will be to-morrow read, of all God has done, and calls us to do, in this blessed work, shall meet a response from our hearts and many with us, that shall strengthen the feeble knees, and lift up the hands that hang down, of many a Missionary, whose heart is well nigh faint through "hope deferred;" and warrant the expectation, so pregnant in its fulfilment with blessing to the earth, and blessing to ourselves, that the wide field that invites shall be occupied with labourers that will work; and the door opened to us shall, through His blessing upon our enlarged efforts, become as "effectual," to the glory of His name, and the increase of His church, as it is "great" in the opportunity for our entrance.

REPORT,

&c. &c.

IT has pleased God to grant to the Church Missionary Society a larger Income, during the year which has just closed, than in any preceding year of its history. To the Lord Jehovah, whose is the silver and the gold, be all the honour, and praise, and glory! This unexampled prosperity has come upon the Committee by surprise; the remittances during the last month of the year, when many of the Associations send up their annual accounts, having been larger than there was any reason to expect.

STATE OF THE FINANCES.

INCOME.

The Income of the Society for the year ending March 31, 1852, arranged under the usual heads, has been—

I. GENERAL FUND — Associations, Benefactions,	£	s.	d.
Legacies, &c.	104,858	12	5
II. SPECIAL FUNDS—
Disabled Missionaries, &c., and Missionaries' Children's Home.	1910	14	11
China-Mission.	929	18	6
Total of Contributions to the Parent Committee,	107,699	5	10
III. LOCAL FUNDS, raised and expended in the Missions,	10,975	4	4
Grand Total.	£118,674	10	2

This statement exhibits an increase of 6421*l.* 11*s.* 7*d.* upon the income of last year, arising chiefly from an increase of 4019*l.* 6*s.* 2*d.* in Benefactions paid direct to the Parent Society; and an increase of 3876*l.* 15*s.* 10*d.* in the amount of Legacies. In some of the miscellaneous heads of income there has been a decrease. But the amount received through Associations, which is the true index of the Society's financial prosperity, has not only maintained the large amount of last year, but has even exceeded it by 341*l.* 12*s.* The Committee trust that they may therefore confidently rely upon the maintenance, at its present high average, of this chief branch of income, through the blessing of God upon the continued zealous exertions of the friends of Missions.

EXPENDITURE.

The Expenditure of the last year has fallen below the estimate made at its commencement. There has been paid from home 93,244*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.*, which, together with the 10,975*l.* 4*s.* 4*d.* raised and expended in the Missions, leaves an apparent balance of 14,455*l.* 0*s.* 6*d.* But from this balance there must be deducted at least 2000*l.* to meet the bills of exchange from the Missions, which have not yet been presented.

After all prudential deductions, however, there still remains an available balance of at least 12,000*l.*, which the Committee, upon careful and serious reflection, regard as a special provision from the Lord, to enable and encourage the Society to enter boldly upon some of those new fields of labour which, concurrently with this increase, have been providentially opened to Missionary enterprise: more especially by an additional supply of men, whether European or native, who will preach “the unsearchable riches of Christ.” This will, indeed, imply a permanent enlargement of expenditure; but they confidently hope that the same grace, which has supplied the large income of this year, will abound even yet more and more in succeeding years.

ISLINGTON INSTITUTION.

The report of the Principal of the Institution is, in all respects, most satisfactory. But the Committee have still to lament the small number of students. Sixteen students have been admitted during the year, while seven have left for their Stations, or to prepare for embarkation, and seven have left, after a shorter or longer period of probation, as not affording sufficient promise of success in their studies. The number of students in April was eighteen, being only a small increase upon the number of last year. The Committee would therefore earnestly appeal to the friends of the Society, and especially to the clergy, to seek out, and bring under the notice of the Committee, young men of established piety and zeal, and of sufficient ability to pursue literary studies with success. The students, when once received by the Committee, are wholly supported by the Society, till they go out as Missionaries.

MISSIONARIES' CHILDREN'S HOME.

“The Home” now comprises four houses in Milner Square, Islington, the fourth having been lately added on account of the many pressing claims for admission. The Committee have reason to thank God for the very successful commencement of this important Institution. The need of such an Institution, and the various collateral benefits, have become far more manifest than they had previously anticipated.

A spacious new building has been commenced* in a more airy part of Islington, which is making rapid progress, and will be able, it is hoped, to receive the children at the close of this year. The expense of the new Home will be defrayed by the grant of 8237*l.* 6*s.* 11*d.* from the Jubilee Fund, by the amount of the Pratt-Memorial Fund, 804*l.* 0*s.* 2*d.*, and by a legacy of 5000*l.* from the late Miss Cook of Cheltenham, who took a lively interest in the Home, and had designed, had her life been spared, to contribute yet more largely to its erection. There is also a further sum reserved for this object, being the balance of the accounts of the year ending March 31, 1851. It will be seen,† in the accounts of that year, that the sum of 37,312*l.* 12*s.* 9*d.* appears under the head of Capital Fund. But upon the subsequent adjustment of the various accounts, the Capital Fund was reduced to the amount fixed by the Committee, namely, 15,000*l.* in exchequer bills, and 19,067*l.* 3*s.* 8*d.* consols, the balance being appropriated to the expense of building and furnishing the Home.

ORDINATION OF MISSIONARIES.

Five individuals in connexion with the Society have been admitted to Deacons' Orders in the course of the year—three Students from the Islington Institution, by the Bishop of London; and one Student from Islington, and one from the Madras Institution, by the Bishop of Madras.

NUMBER OF MISSIONARY LABOURERS.

From the foregoing statements it will be seen, that since the last Report four clergymen, one layman, and the wives of two clergymen, have been removed by death; that eleven clergymen, the widow of a clergyman, and one female teacher, have returned home, two on a visit and the others on account of health; that ten additional labourers—nine clergymen and one layman—have been sent out; and that two clergymen, one European layman, one African layman, and one female teacher, have returned to their labours, besides one other clergyman who spent only a few months in this country.

The number of clergymen and European laymen in connexion with the Society as Missionary labourers is 204, viz.

PATRONAGE.

During the past year the Committee have placed upon the list of Honorary Life Governors, as persons who have “rendered very essential services to the Society,” the following individuals—

The Rev. William Jowett, a former valued Secretary. The Rev. John Bowen, who has lately travelled in the East, under the auspices of the Society, but at his own charge. Doctors Whiting and Todd, who successively for many years have been the Honorary Medical Advisers of the Committee. The Rev. Dr. Hoffman, late Principal of the Bâsle Missionary Institution, and now first Chaplain of the King of Prussia; and the Rev. Dr. Barth, the zealous and devoted advocate of the cause of Evangelical Missions in the kingdom of Wurtemburgh, which has supplied the Society with a very large proportion of its foreign Missionaries.

FOLLOWING the course which has been adopted in late Reports, the Committee will take their annual review of this Mission under the threefold division of Pastoral Ministrations, Education, and Missionary Efforts beyond the Colony.

I. PASTORAL MISSION-WORK WITHIN THE COLONY.

It appears, by papers recently presented to Parliament,* that there were, in 1850, 36,458 Christians in Sierra Leone, out of a population of 45,472. When it is remembered that all liberated Africans introduced into the colony are heathen or Mahommedans, and that many thousands have been recently introduced, this result of Missionary success is very satisfactory.

The general character of the Reports for the last year, from every Station of the Society within the colony, have been satisfactory and hopeful. There has been in the course of the year a very considerable increase in the number of adult baptisms, and in the lists of communicants. Last year the list of communicants amounted to 2061; this year to 2732.

The Rev. T. Peyton, upon returning to the colony after a visit of two years to England, thus describes his retrospect of Missionary work in Sierra Leone during fourteen years, the period of his experience in the colony—

Jan. 5, 1851: Lord's-day—I preached my first sermon at the new church, west of Freetown, to an attentive congregation, from Psalm ciii. 1—5. This church is built in a densely-populated part of the town, the dwelling-place of the most direful superstition and moral darkness, and therefore affords a large field for Missionary usefulness. Though the spacious church was far from being full, yet I could not but rejoice to see so large a number assembled in the

* "Reports made for the year 1850 . . . to exhibit generally the past and present state of H. M. Colonial Possessions," p. 185. Presented 1851.

Lord's sanctuary to hear the joyful news of salvation through Christ. The achievements of the gospel in Freetown, as well as in every other town and village of the colony, afford convincing proofs of what may be done in making inroads upon Satan's territory, by the preaching of Christ and Him crucified.

On returning home, I could not but contrast the state of the Missionary work in town now with what it was when I first arrived in Africa in 1837. At that time we had only one small chapel, affording accommodation for about 200 people, a Day-school of 200 children, and a Sabbath-school of 50 adults. We thank God for the present altered circumstances. At the east of Freetown there is a church, accommodating from 500 to 600 people, which is well attended, and superintended by a native Minister, trained for some years in the Day-schools and the Fourah-Bay Institution. In connexion with that congregation there is a Day-school of 324 children, a Sabbath-school of 288 adults, and 354 communicants, and candidates for baptism and the Lord's Supper. At the west of Freetown, the Society's new church, above mentioned, will comfortably hold 1800 people, and we trust will soon be filled every Lord's-day. In connexion with this church there is a Sabbath-school of 350 adults, and a Day-school of 300 children, besides already a goodly number of communicants and candidates for baptism. During the past six years the Society has also founded a Grammar-school and a Female Institution in Freetown, where, at present, 78 young persons are being trained, some for the Missionary work, and others to fit them for usefulness in general society in after life.

The Station of Wilberforce was occupied by the Society in 1849, and, with two hamlets in its vicinity, is under the care of the Rev. H. Rhodes. He writes—

April 20: Easter-day—I preached from Matt. xxviii. 6. In reverting to this day last year, and the state of things then, I could not but rejoice at the perceptible improvement in the attendance on public worship, and at the altered and more becoming behaviour of some colony-born youths, who at that time caused me much uneasiness. At the Lord's Table twenty commemorated the dying love of our blessed Saviour, and, I trust, felt something of its divine influence in their hearts.

At a later date, September 1851, Mr. Rhodes writes—

Two years have just elapsed since I came to reside at Wilberforce, and it is with a truly thankful heart that I would mention the gradually-improved aspect of things during that period.

In another communication he adds—

I certainly cannot boast of large numbers being "added to the church;" but of those who are joined in Christian communion with us, I can speak with some degree of satisfaction and confidence as regards their general deportment. I am persuaded I could have had more accessions to our numbers, had I not felt that much caution was necessary.

The Rev. J. U. Graf, who has the charge of Hastings, report—

Amongst my people a nice and practised eye will discover innumerable failings and shortcomings, which only Christ, in mercy, can make up. Still, I trust there is progress in the individual hearts, and in the general tone of godliness in the whole.

At the end of September Mr. Graf writes—

This being the close of a financial year, it may not be out of place to mention the several moneys which my people have contributed during the past year.

collected by 134 communicants and fifty candidates. The 30*l.* 5*s.* 11*d.* was paid by 150 children in the school. Amongst the donations there is 2*l.* as a "Thank-offering" from a woman for deliverance from trouble.

We refer to these contributions, and similar liberality at Wellington, as indicating the growth amongst our liberated Africans of a due sense of responsibility in this respect.

The Rev. C. F. Ehemann first commenced the Mission at York in 1848. Two years afterwards he visited Europe. Upon his return to his Station, in March 1851, he thus writes—

March 16: Lord's-day—Through the goodness of God and our Lord Jesus Christ I stood again before the congregation—which I had collected one by one with much prayer and fear, and which, on this very account, is the more endeared to me—to preach to them again the glad tidings of their salvation. Gratitude filled my heart when I saw them again; but at the same time the earnest wish and prayer went to the throne of grace, that I might prove a blessing to them, that they might be saved, and I be able to say, at the last day, "Here am I, and those whom Thou hast given me." The church was well attended, and the people were very attentive.

June 27—When I catechized the class of candidates from John iii. 16, and showed them the great love God bears to all of them, tears were rolling down "Blind Jem's" cheeks. Surely, thought I, here is one over whom the angels in heaven are rejoicing. My feelings when I went home were far different from what they were nearly three years ago, when I sometimes left these very persons with tears in my eyes on account of their great carelessness. Thus the Lord is doing His work here, as everywhere, by degrees and almost imperceptibly, which makes us sometimes inclined to think, Surely I spend my time and strength in vain; whilst He says, "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter."

Pastoral Labours of Native Teachers.

Many of the Stations formerly under the charge of European Missionaries have now been placed under the pastoral care of native teachers, with occasional European superintendence. The whole of the Mountain District—comprising the villages of Regent, Gloucester, Leicester, Bathurst, and Charlotte—has been for the last year under the general superintendence of only one European Missionary, the Rev. N. Denton, residing at Regent, and assisted by native catechists, resident at other villages. The district keeps up its character for the regular attendance of the people upon the means of grace. A few extracts will illustrate the character of the pastoral labours of these native teachers, many of whom, it must be remembered, were first brought into the colony as slaves.

Mr. John Attarra, who has charge of the village of Wellington, in a letter dated March 8, 1851, thus expresses his views and feelings in connexion with the work in which he is engaged—

I take a great delight in this happy work among my country-people, which it has pleased our gracious and merciful God to make me one of the poor weak instruments to carry on among them, and I thank Him that He has so mercifully inclined the hearts of many to attend to the Word. In all seasons I have had every reason to bless the Lord for having enabled me from time to time to tell them of a crucified Saviour, who came into the world "to seek and to save that which was lost."

In another letter the same native catechist writes, June 18, 1851—

My people have raised in this year the following contributions—a sum of 12*l.* 0*s.* 5½*d.*, a special contribution to the Church Missionary Society, as a thanksgiving-offering for the many spiritual benefits and privileges which the Society has conferred on them. They have, moreover, given 2*l.* 16*s.* 3*d.* to the Abbeokuta Mission, towards the buying of a church-bell for that locality. They have also raised 3*l.* 6*s.* for the Rev. J. W. Weeks,* as a token of their sympathy with him in the sad state in which his countrymen are at present. May the blessing of God rest on the little offerings which they have made towards the erection of a church for the worship of Jehovah in that distant land!

* Towards Mr. Weeks' church in Lambeth.

Another native catechist thus describes his labours, Sept. 30, 1851—

It is now a year and five months since I was stationed at Dublin [Bananas]. I would, in the first place, record with thankfulness the great measure of health which my heavenly Father has bestowed on me, and the strength with which He has enabled me to discharge my duties. The chief portion of my time has been spent for the happiness of my fellow-creatures. I have frequently carried the Word of God into their houses; and those who had never been at the house of God are now attending the means of grace. The church members who had mingled with worldly company are now separated from them, and have no more to do with their customs. Some of them are making good progress in their profession.

The Rev. N. Denton, the superintending Missionary of another catechist, writes—

It affords me much pleasure to speak of Bathurst—a place which for a long time past has given us great discouragement. The removal of an European, and the appointment of a most suitable and devoted native, have been the means, in the providence of God, of producing a very salutary effect on the minds of the people. They were previously aware of a reluctance on the part of our Missionary Brethren to labour among them; and when they saw a native put into the Mission-house they began to fear lest they should be, by and by, wholly given up. This, on the one hand, seems to have led them to seriousness and reflection, while, on the other, the sterling character and unaffected piety of the native catechist have, under the blessing of God, produced very beneficial results.

The same native catechist thus describes, in his own journal, the improvement of his people—

The state of things at this Station is still encouraging. Many of those who were enemies unto the truth of the gospel of Christ, and who had not even looked to see with what materials the house of God is composed, are now drawing nearer, and presenting themselves at the place of worship every Lord's-day, both morning and evening, to embrace the religion of Christ. Many of them have offered themselves as candidates, and declare plainly that they will have nothing to do any more with their heathenism and wicked practices. So in this quarter [March 1851] I am happy to state, that those who were not observers of the Sabbath-day, and who would rather observe their idolatrous worship than the worship of the true God, are now received into the class of candidates.

Mr. Denton reports his having procured from England for this village a bell for their church. "On hearing of its arrival the people were quite delighted; and as soon as it was landed a good number flocked to town to bring it home. They took it out of the cask, tied it to a pole, and, as they carried it along, rang it, and shouted for joy." The native catechist in his journal thus alludes to the bell—"I hope that, by God's grace, every one will try to come into the house of God when the bell shall give them an inviting sound to prepare themselves for a better world, where earthly bells shall sound no more to summon mortals to come together and worship the Lord."

The Committee are persuaded that these extracts will sufficiently prove the preparedness of the church at Sierra Leone for the establishment of a native ministry, as soon as it shall have the advantage of the presence of a wise and pious Bishop to ordain and superintend native pastors. The Committee thank God that this long-desired benefit is on the eve of accomplishment. From Africa the encouraging news has already arrived, that not fewer than twelve native candidates will be ready to be presented to the Bishop for ordination upon his arrival in Sierra Leone. It may be hoped that such a supply of native ministers will enable European Missionaries to "branch out," and break up new ground among the heathen tribes beyond the colony, accompanied by native evangelists to diffuse the light of life, which they have received, amongst their benighted countrymen.

II. EDUCATION.

Fourah-Bay Institution.

This Institution has continued under the charge of the Rev. E. Jones as Principal, assisted by the Rev. S. W. Koelle and the Rev. G. Nicol. The average number of students has been nineteen.

Mr. Jones's last Annual Report—Oct. 20, 1851—is to the following effect—

I record, with gratitude to the Giver of all good, that we have safely reached the close of the third year since the opening of the new Institution.

I feel no disposition to conceal the fact, that we have met with serious difficulties in procuring a regular supply of duly-qualified students; yet these difficulties are slowly and steadily diminishing, and causes are now in operation which will materially tend to remove many of our present obstacles. There are many things to cheer us; and now that we have the prospect of soon having a resident Bishop amongst us, with other clear signs and tokens, one is almost irresistibly impelled to the conclusion that other and better days are dawning upon Africa; that the time for God to visit her with His mercy and His favour is fast approaching, when He will pour down

His blessings upon her barren wildernesses, and cause her children to stretch out their hands unto Him in prayer and praise.

The extraordinary decrease of the slave-trade ; the intended lines of steam communication, connecting our whole western coast with England ; the action of the various Missionary bodies from the Gambia to the Gaboon ; and the great success the Lord has given to our fellow-labourers at Abbeokuta ; should fill us all with thankfulness and hope. The Lord grant that we may be alive to our responsibilities, and that African Christians may never lose sight of this all-important principle in God's moral government of mankind, "Unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required."

The Rev. S. W. Koelle returned to the colony during our last vacation, and was consequently enabled to resume his duties from the commencement of the present term. The Hebrew class under his charge during this period has read twenty-five chapters in the prophecies of Isaiah. A commencement has been made by him in Arabic, in which the class has made creditable progress.

The Rev. S. W. Koelle makes the following remarks upon the study of Arabic—

In the Korân we have read and translated three of the shortest chapters, i.e. the first, the ninety-ninth, and the hundredth. The study of Arabic must be called a very practical one for African Missionaries, on account of the great sway which Mahommedanism exercises over almost the whole northern half of the continent.

The Rev. J. U. Graf thus describes the annual examination of the Institution, in a letter dated Nov. 14, 1851—

The annual examination was held on the 21st ult., when a small party of gentlemen, not connected with the Mission, were present. The students showed greatest proficiency in translating Isaiah in Hebrew, and the Gospel of St. Luke in Greek, the chapters having been proposed by the visitors, so that they had had no opportunity to prepare for the specific portions of Scripture on which they were examined. In these two important branches they—I mean the first two classes—might have competed with the usual higher schools of learning of Europe.

The Grammar-school.

The Rev. T. Peyton having returned to Sierra Leone at the commencement of the year 1851, resumed the charge of the Grammar-school, with the assistance of the native tutor, Mr. Quaker.

This Institution is self-supporting, excepting the salary of the Missionary. The Report for the last year is highly satisfactory. The number of pupils is 53, of whom 23 are boarders. The education is of a sound and Christian character, and designed to prepare the pupils for mercantile pursuits, or other useful employments, if they are not transferred to the Institution to be trained for the ministry. It was mentioned, in a former Report, that the study of navigation had been introduced. Two of the most advanced pupils have been since received on board one of Her Majesty's steamers, to perfect themselves in practical seamanship. Great progress has also been made in the introduction of the industrial system. Three cotton machines are worked daily by the pupils, and 1400lbs. of seeded cotton have been cleaned. There is also a cotton plantation, in connexion with the school, of about six acres, which is mainly cultivated by the pupils. In reference to the religious character of the Institution Mr. Peyton writes, at the end of September—

Since my return to Africa I have studied to keep in view the valuable instructions delivered to me on my departure from England, and we have endeavoured to make the education of the Grammar-school practical, scriptural, and Missionary. Every opportunity is embraced to bring before our youthful charge the great importance of their taking an interest in the Missionary work; and our labours in this respect have not been in vain. The pupils of the school have formed a Juvenile Association among themselves; and several of them have become weekly collectors, and have gleaned, in pence and halfpence, in four months, 2*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.*

All the pupils are employed as Sunday-school teachers.

Village Schools.

The village schools have been regularly visited and reported upon.

The liberated African children who are wholly placed under the care of the Society, the Government paying the cost of their maintenance, present a peculiarly hopeful character. In their case regular and industrial habits are formed, and the Society has the power of selecting any promising children for further training as native teachers. By the children of the Gloucester school about twenty acres of land, which had been covered with impervious bush, has been thoroughly cleared, and the whole planted with cotton of different kinds. An industrial master has been obtained in the colony, who superintends the labour in the farm.

The Female Liberated-African School at Charlotte is under the care of Mrs. Clemens, widow of the late Rev. J. C. Clemens. The number of children is 72. Mrs. Clemens writes, September 1851—"When I compare their moral state and behaviour with the troubles in the beginning, the change is really surprising to me. For months we had never to punish one for lying and stealing."

Female Institution.

Miss Sass has continued her zealous labours in this school, notwithstanding repeated attacks of sickness. The number of pupils is 23. She writes, September 1851—"From day to day I see little or no improvement; but when taking a retrospect of the past year, I find abundant cause, in the general improvement of the children, to thank our God for having blessed my endeavours."

Native Languages.

The Rev. C. F. Schlenker, upon his return to Europe on account of health, brought with him valuable materials for the formation of a Timneh Grammar, which he is now preparing for the press.

The Rev. S. W. Koelle has pursued his inquiry into the different languages spoken in Sierra Leone, and has compiled a catalogue of no fewer than a hundred different specimens. A notice of this collection is given in the Report of the Governor of the colony, presented to Parliament.* Mr. Koelle has endeavoured to ascertain the locality of each dialect or language, from which it appears that there are at Sierra Leone representatives of countries lying at every point of the compass inland, and at distances varying from the immediate neighbourhood of the colony to two and even three thousand miles, chiefly upon the western and eastern coasts of Africa. Many of these localities are, however, found in the neighbourhood of Lake Tchad. The importance of Sierra Leone is thus manifested as a starting-point for the evangelization of Africa, and the seat of a Missionary Bishopric.

III. MISSIONARY EXERTIONS FOR EXTENDING CHRISTIANITY BEYOND THE COLONY.

During the early part of last year Mr. Koelle resided in the Vie country. He has furnished the Society with an interesting account of his sojourn among the native tribes. The social and political disorganization of the country, arising out of the circumstances alluded to in the last Report, preclude, for the present, any Missionary efforts. Mr. Koelle employed his time, however, in acquiring an extensive knowledge of the language, which he has embodied with great ability in a Vie Grammar and Vocabulary. This work will be shortly published, and will prove another and important step towards fixing the languages, for the enlightenment, through translations of the Word of God, of the vast regions of Western Africa.

The Rev. C. F. Ehemann has also made a Missionary tour in the Sherbro country, with the view of perfecting himself in the language, and ascertaining the facilities of commencing an out-station amongst that neighbouring tribe.

The sympathy of the Liberated Africans in Sierra Leone for the Missionary efforts in Abbeokuta, has been manifested on many occasions. When they heard of the barbarous attack upon Abbeokuta by the King of Dahomey, and that another was to be attempted, the sum of 50*l.* was sent by the negroes of Sierra Leone to assist in the means of defence.

The visit of the Rev. Samuel Crowther to Sierra Leone was hailed with deep interest; but he was called to England shortly after his arrival there, and the account of his visit to the colony, upon his return to Africa, belongs to the Report of next year.

At home, two applications have been made to the Committee, which show that their Mission at Sierra Leone may be made serviceable to the extension of Missionary operations at a distance. The first was from Lord Harris, Governor of Trinidad, in the West Indies, who represented to the Committee the state of a large body of negroes lately liberated from captured slavers in that island, who have formed a distinct community, retaining their own language and their heathenish customs. It appeared, on inquiry, that these negroes were of the Yoruba nation, and the Committee have engaged to supply them with native teachers from Sierra Leone, as soon as provision can be made for their maintenance. The second application was from the Governor of the Gambia, who urged upon the Committee the importance of commencing operations in that colony on behalf of the Mandingo tribes, which the Committee hope may be accomplished by means of some of the native teachers at Sierra Leone.

Timneh Mission.

Mr. Schlenker having returned to Europe for the recovery of his health, this Mission was first placed under the superintendence of the Rev. J. Beale, and subsequently, upon the arrival in the colony of the Rev. D. H. Schmid, it was transferred to his charge, as he is acquainted with the language, having formerly resided at Port Lokkoh. A native schoolmaster resides on the Mission premises, and

Mr. Schmid, who resides at Kisse, visits the Station as often as his other duties will permit. Mr. Beale reports—

Feb. 18, 1851—I paid a visit to the Timneh country, in company with Mrs. Beale, and made myself acquainted with the condition of the Sierra-Leone traders as well as the country people. During our week's absence from the colony we visited together all the chief places and persons, and could not avoid noticing the different reception we met with from what we experienced when visiting that Mission some years ago. Then they showed such a haughty bearing and low cunning as was very painful to us; but now, much more frankness and civility.

And Mr. Schmid writes, July 31, 1851—

When I went to salute the children, and to look after the school, I was much pleased with their progress in learning, as well as with their spiritual state. There are some promising youths baptized by Mr. Schlenker, and some preparing for that rite, who, I think, would do well at Fourah Bay, and in the Grammar-school. I would earnestly recommend these youths to the prayers and supplications of Christian friends at home. They appear to be sincere and affectionate, but I cannot but feel anxious about them. Their faith is not yet tried. When they leave our school, and get into the society of their country people, who are always endeavouring to ensnare them, with a sorrowful heart we must sometimes see them driven by the stream of sinful company until their faith suffers shipwreck.*

Death of Mr. Van Cooten—Visit to England of the Rev. S. Crowther.

THIS Mission has sustained the loss of Mr. Van Cooten.

whose zealous and devoted spirit in his Master's cause, no less than his medical skill, gave promise of extensive usefulness.*

The Rev. Samuel Crowther left the Mission in May on a visit to Sierra Leone; from whence he was summoned by the Parent Committee to England, in order to confer with them upon the state and prospects of the Yoruba Mission. Mr. Crowther arrived in London in August. His visit has not only furnished the Society with much important information, but has also enabled him to carry through the press a Dictionary of the Yoruba language,† as well as to complete translations of portions of the Scripture, which will confer an immediate and incalculable benefit upon his country.

During Mr. Crowther's visit to England he was honoured with an interview by Her Majesty's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Lord Viscount Palmerston, for the purpose of explaining the state of the slave-trade, and the political relations of his countrymen. Lord Palmerston, upon Mr. Crowther's departure from England, wrote to him the following letter, expressive of the interest felt by Her Majesty's Government in the welfare of the liberated Africans—estimated at more than three thousand, and of whom he was the representative—who have emigrated as British subjects from Sierra Leone to Abbeokuta—

Foreign Office, Dec. 18, 1851.

SIR—I have been informed by the Church Missionary Society that you are about to return to your native country; and I am glad to have an opportunity, before you leave England, of thanking you again for the important and interesting information with regard to Abbeokuta and the tribes adjoining that town, which you communicated to me when I had the pleasure of seeing you at my house in August last.

I request that you will assure your countrymen that Her Majesty's Government take a lively interest in the welfare of the Egba nation and of the community settled at Abbeokuta, which town seems destined to be a centre from which the lights of Christianity and of civilization may be spread over the neighbouring countries.

Her Majesty's Government trust that the measures which the British Commodore on the African station has been instructed to take in consequence of the attack made last spring by the Chief of Dahomey against Abbeokuta, will prevent the recurrence of such an

The events which have occurred in this field of Missionary labour, during the last year, are of a character far different from the usual course of Missionary history, yet tending, as the Committee trust, through the good providence of God, to the speedy and effectual furtherance of the gospel in those regions. The Missionaries of the Society have been in the midst of war and bloodshed. They have been called upon to mediate between armed conflicting parties; and they have been enabled to manifest a degree of faith, prudence, and courage, which, no less than the results of late events, call for unfeigned praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God. The Report of each of the Stations of Badagry and Abbeokuta may be conveniently given in one narrative, as the political events to be recorded have affected the whole Mission.

Towards the end of the year 1850 it became evident that the various parties interested in the slave-trade, both upon the coast and in the interior, were preparing for a combined and desperate attempt to crush the rising Christianity of Abbeokuta, and to expel the Missionaries from the land.

The first alarms arose at Badagry. The slave-trading chiefs, both at Lagos on the east, and at Porto Novo on the west, combined their operations with Dahomey, and sent their war-canoes to pass and repass the town of Badagry, which is situated on the banks of a river or lagoon. In the midst of these alarms the Missionaries and European inhabitants very gratefully acknowledge the kind sympathy shown them by the commodore and other officers of Her Majesty's squadron on the coast, the lively interest expressed for their safety, and the offer of prompt assistance whenever the aspect of affairs should appear more threatening.

In January 1851 Her Majesty's Consul, Mr. Beecroft, arrived at Badagry, and visited Abbeokuta. He did all in his power to prevent disturbances, to repress the slave-trading parties, and to encourage the Europeans to exercise their conciliatory influence, and pursue their peaceful labours. At an interview with the chiefs of Abbeokuta, the Consul represented to them that he had been sent to see if any thing could be done for the good of their country, by the establishment of lawful commerce, the opening of the roads, and the suppression of the slave-trade. He brought forward the fact of the return of so many of the Sierra-Leone people as an evidence of the good intention of the English Government. The Consul's address was responded to by the assembled chiefs in the best spirit, and presents were sent as tokens of friendship. One principal chief presented him with a load of cotton, a bag of ginger, and a bag of pepper, as specimens of the productions of the country, and as a token of their desire to trade with the produce of their farms.

On the occasion of an hostile armament appearing before Badagry, some of the boys from the Missionary boarding-school were taken away to places of safety. The Rev. C. A. Gollmer, however, remained at his post. The parent of two of his scholars, a native priest of Ifa, came to him to speak about the removal of his children, and the rest of his family, to a town in the country. The Missionary told him he might do so, adding, "But as for me and my house, we commit ourselves to God, and in Him we put our trust." These words fell into the man's heart: he reflected upon them, and the day after he came and said, "I cannot take my boys away from you, for I will, with you, put my trust in God."

At length the grand coup de main was attempted—the destruction of Abbeokuta by the powerful army of Gezo, the tyrant, or "Leopard" of Dahomey. On Sunday evening, the 2d of March, intelligence was received of the approach of the enemy. Many of the Christian converts went from Divine Worship and their special prayer-meetings to man the walls, for the whole male population was summoned to the defence of the town. Many of the timid inhabitants fled when the Dahomians were in sight. The Missionaries remained calmly at their post, exhibiting an unshaken trust in God. Mr. Crowther's house was near that part of the wall against which the chief attack was directed; but he thought it his duty to remain there, though his wife and family took refuge in the other Mission premises.

The attack was coolly directed. Masses of well-trained warriors, male and female, estimated at from 11,000 to 16,000, well armed with muskets, bore down with a steady tread upon the town, defended only by a low mud wall. They fought with desperation. But the Lord, who giveth the victory, did not suffer one Dahomian to enter the town, except as a prisoner. The enemy were completely routed, first under the walls of Abbeokuta, and the next day at a neighbouring town, which they attacked in their retreat, and where they were overtaken by the Egbas. The Dahomians lost, it was estimated, 3000—the Yorubans only 200 or 300. One thousand prisoners were taken by the Yorubans, and manifested their desperate character by rising against their captors, and, in several instances, killing them many days after the battle. The Missionaries diligently occupied themselves in endeavouring to mitigate, as far as it was possible, the horrors of war, and to save the lives of the prisoners. These were at length exchanged, in the town of Porto Novo, for ammunition, and other means of defence against future attacks. This disposal of the prisoners was in itself a signal triumph of Christian principles, as hitherto they had always been regarded as the private property and slaves of those who happened to be their captors.

In the midst of warfare it would be vain to look for the incidents which enliven our usual Missionary narratives: we can present only one notice of this kind, furnished by the Rev. S. Crowther. On the third Sunday after the battle he administered the Lord's Supper to fifty-five Communicants. He writes—

It was to us a season of heartfelt gratitude to our heavenly Father for the spiritual and temporal mercies we have received from Him since the last persecution, which separated us for a time; as well as for the late deliverance from destruction through the hand of violence, by which John, one of our number, was removed from us. These afflictions and mercies were calculated to impress upon each and all our minds the vanity of earthly things, and the necessity of following the Lord fully, because of the uncertainty of time, as evidenced in the case of our dear friend John. We had heard nothing of him since the day of the battle at noon, when the Egbas were driven back from the river, and compelled to retreat within the walls. We had searched for him on the day after, but in vain. In the afternoon of the next day, the 5th instant, his brother, who would not give up, found his body in a bush, at a place remote from any other, where, it appeared, he had attempted to screen himself when he was separated from his friends, and there was killed, and his head taken away. He was one of those who were early impressed by the preaching of the Gospel. He soon enlisted himself as a candidate for baptism, and one of his two wives followed his example. After two years' trial and instruction, he chose his fellow candidate for his wife, and dismissed the other, amidst much trouble and family trial, and was at last baptized into the church, choosing for himself the name of John Baptist, because he was so much taken with the character and life of that holy man of God. John being a son of a late chief, he was particularly singled out in the persecution of 1849, and was cruelly treated because he would not follow the example of his late father, neither showed any inclination to fill his office. He was heavily fined, and forced to become a member of the Ogboni; but nothing could shake off the faith of John in Christ as his Saviour, nor would he exchange his Christian profession for another. When the converts could not openly come to church nor to my house, I cannot now tell how many tearful nights he spent at my house, when I endeavoured to comfort them under their trying circumstances. John was the first who pushed his way to church on Christmas-day 1849 [a time of persecution], and made way for his fellow-converts. As he was better circumstanced than others, he was liberal, and was a succour to many in time of distress. From him we had much of our correct information of the state of the slave-trade at Lagos. As he was an active trader in it in time past, so he became averse to it after his conversion, and hoped and longed for its abolition. He was not bright in acquiring the art of reading, but he had a remarkably retentive memory, and many a time, at our Saturday meeting of communicants, very accurately related the sermon preached on the preceding Sunday. The history of Christ's sufferings soon melted him, when he thought how far man had fallen—that Jesus, who came into our miserable world to save us from death, should be thus treated by us sinners whom He came to save! We trust he is now resting with his Saviour in heaven, whom we believe he faithfully served on earth.

There is reason to believe, however—from information that reached Abbeokuta after the above narrative was written—that John yet lives. Some Egbas, who were carried away captive by Dahomey, and were afterwards sent to Badagry for the purpose of being ransomed, affirmed that John was not killed, but carried away with them. Mr. King, the Native Catechist, writes, May 28—

The news cheered many hearts in the town, especially all the converts. All prayed that the report might be true. His wife was almost mad with joy. Poor thing! she was just about being expelled by her husband's elder brother, and others in the family. It was about two weeks ago when she was told to go out of the house: as the only person who followed book matters was no more, they said they could not brook her going on with the same in their family. As her own relatives displayed even greater dislike, for embracing Christianity with her husband, we were just considering how to arrange about her when this news came. All were overjoyed, except the brother, who asserted to have discerned John's body among the mutilated corpses in the field. He could not, of course, feel so glad, as he had made away with all Dasalu's property. Doubtless we shall find many willing to subscribe towards his redemption, as soon as that shall become practicable.*

* While this Report is passing through the press, additional information respecting John has been received by the arrival of the Rev. I. Smith in England on account of his health. It seems that John was captured, as reported above, and was afterwards liberated by Gezo. He was seen and spoken to by a British merchant at Whydah, but has not been seen since. After this interview, and while still at Whydah, he sent to his wife, Martha—who had proceeded to Badagry to take advantage of any opportunity that might arise for

The Committee desire to record the signal mercy of God in the wonderful deliverance vouchsafed to the rising native church at Abbeokuta, as well as in the preservation of the lives of the Missionaries. It was ascertained from the prisoners that Gezo had given no orders to respect the property or persons of the Missionaries. As in the capture of Okeodan, all persons would have been devoted to destruction who could not be sold as slaves. They notice also, as matter of thanksgiving, that this attack was perfectly unprovoked by the Yorubans, and that this signal victory was gained by the native courage and skill of the people, without the assistance of the squadron, or any European soldiers.

The immediate moral effect upon the inhabitants of Abbeokuta was most striking. The victory was by them universally attributed to the goodness of the God of Christians; all persecution ceased; the principal chiefs sent their children to the Christian schools; and it may be hoped that great advantage will soon be seen to have accrued to the cause of Christ from this deep and bloody plot against its very existence in Abbeokuta. Mr. King writes, March 24—

I preached to the people at Ilawo, under a tree, when many of those who went to build the walls were just returning. They listened with marked attention. Some good, I am confident, will result from the Dahomians coming here, to the Lord's glory and for the good of the Mission. It inspires greater confidence in the minds of the people toward the Missionaries, or white people, than ever, as their sincere friends and well-wishers; and it extorts praise from the lips of the people throughout the town. After that war, wherever you go you hear people praising God, and thanking the white people.

Destruction of Badagry by the agents of Kosoko—Attack and capture of Lagos by the British.

The next event of an hostile character took place at Badagry, where the usurper of Lagos attempted to seize some of the inhabitants, and to carry them as slaves to Lagos. The opposite party armed themselves, and resisted: a general conflict ensued between the two parties. The town was fired, and nearly the whole of it reduced to ashes. The flames were most providentially arrested as they approached one of his return home—a symbolical letter, consisting of a stone, a piece of charcoal, a pepper-pod, a grain of parched maize, and a piece of rag, the whole tied in a small cloth: the interpretation being, that he was quite well, as hard or strong as a stone; that his prospects were, however, very dark; which caused him such anxiety that his body was heated; sufficiently to roast maize upon; and his cloth (the ordinary native covering) was no better than a rag. His wife was still at Badagry, in the hope of receiving some further tidings, when Mr. Smith left Lagos. It is feared that the poor fellow may be in captivity, if indeed still on the coast.

the merchants' factories, which contained a magazine of gunpowder; and the Mission premises were also protected. Again the Missionary acted the wise and Christian part of calmly remaining at his post with his wife, even in circumstances of extreme danger, that he might not create additional confusion, and that he might be at hand to mitigate the horrors of the bloodshed. Again it pleased God to give the ascendancy to the party favourable to the British. The other side was driven from Badagry with great loss. Kosoko and the people of Lagos now became more enraged, and threatened with destruction the British merchants, as well as the Missionaries. One Englishman was shot on Badagry beach while guarding his goods.

The British Consul came to the coast, and attempted to mediate with Lagos. He had one interview with Kosoko, in the town of Lagos; but upon approaching a second time, with a flag of truce, both his own boat and the boats of the men-of-war were fired upon; and such hostile demonstrations took place as to leave no doubt of the determination of the slave-trading party to persevere in their iniquitous schemes.

Under these circumstances Her Majesty's cruisers felt it necessary to interfere, and, acting upon instructions from the Home Government, took measures against Lagos. Two attacks were made by the boats of the men-of-war, at the interval of a month: the second was completely successful—the usurper Kosoko was driven from the town with only a few followers. Akitoye, the lawful sovereign, was reinstated upon the throne, and the most decisive measures were adopted to put down for the future the slave-trading practices of this its last stronghold upon the west coast of Africa.

The loss of British lives in this fierce encounter must ever be the subject of deep regret, painful reflection, and lively sympathy with the friends who deplore their loss. It adds another item to the dark catalogue of woes connected with the history of the slave-trade; yet the Committee feel assured that the results will be not only conducive to the introduction of lawful commerce, civilization, and Christianity amongst the millions of that part of Africa, but that they will stop the annual waste of thousands of lives, through the more effectual extinction of the slave-trade, and so eventually save to the British nation the treasure and life which must otherwise have been expended in its suppression. Important treaties were made with Lagos and Abbeokuta by the Commodore on the station, in which protection is secured to the Missionaries, as well as to lawful commerce. The result was communicated to the Missionaries in the following Christian letter from the Commodore—

H.M.S. "Penelope," off Lagos, Jan. 2, 1852.

GENTLEMEN—I have much pleasure in acquainting you that I have succeeded in negotiating a treaty with King Akitoye and the chiefs of Lagos, the 7th and 8th articles of which are as follows—

"The King and Chiefs of Lagos declare that no human beings shall at any time be sacrificed within their territories, on account of religious or other ceremonies; and that they will prevent the barbarous practice of murdering prisoners captured in war.

"Complete protection shall be afforded to Missionaries or ministers of the Gospel, of whatever nation and country, following their vocation of spreading the knowledge and doctrines of Christianity, and extending the benefits of civilization. . . . nor shall any subjects of the King and Chiefs of Lagos who may embrace the Christian faith, be, on that account, or on account of the teaching and exercise thereof, molested or troubled in any manner whatsoever."

I am not without hope that the measures I have carried out may be the means, under God's blessing, of contributing in some degree to the success of the most important undertaking which devolves upon you.

I have the honour to be, Gentlemen,

Your most obedient humble servant,

(Signed) H. W. BRUCE,

Commodore, and Commander-in-Chief.

Threatened second attack of Dahomey upon Abbeokuta.

As a conclusion to these statements, it must be mentioned that Dahomey still threatened to attack Abbeokuta, even after the surrender of Lagos; upon which one of the commanders of the squadron proceeded to Abbeokuta, to assist the inhabitants to put the place into a proper state of defence, and to encourage them to maintain their ground. The Missionaries also set apart the first day of the new year as a day of humiliation and prayer for the Divine protection. The converts crowded each of the three churches, and the day was observed as if it had been a Lord's-day. The following account is given by Mr. King—

Jan. 1—To-day being new year, it was deemed requisite by the Rev. H. Townsend to have two services for the purpose of commencing the year with supplication for divine protection against the Dahomians' second aggressive invasion this year. Some prayers for that purpose were composed by him, which were translated. To my great surprise, the church was so densely crowded that the spaces without seats on either side were occupied beyond the door to the street. The number of those standing out could, in my opinion, equal one-fourth of those within; though many, on account of the heat of the sun, were obliged to leave before the close of the service. As an encouragement to confide in the omnipotent arm of our God, I addressed them, from Isaiah xxxvii. 14—20, on the divine deliverance wrought in behalf of king Hezekiah and his people, in answer to his humble and fervent supplication before God, directing their attention to Him in whom alone our help is found; and in the evening, from 1 Samuel xvii., on the victory of David over the boasting Goliath, pointing out to them the entire confidence of the victor in Jehovah's strength.

Missionary Work at Abbeokuta.

Though Missionary operations have been in a measure suspended at Badagry, they have been continued with increased success at Abbeokuta. The Rev. H. Townsend writes, at the close of the year—

I am able to report a satisfactory increase in the attendance on Divine worship; so much so, that many are obliged to stand outside, and the doorway is often blocked up by persons standing in and around it. The church at Igbein [Mr. Crowther's Station], also, is better attended, and it will be necessary to provide more benches to accommodate the people there. We have had satisfactory proofs, also, that our preaching is not in vain in the Lord. There is a growing attention towards our Day-school, which we hope will end before long in an increase to this part of our labours. We have eighteen boarders—fifteen under our own roof, and three with my schoolmaster. We were obliged to refuse one boy for want of suitable accommodations. Subsequently we received three more than we intended, wishing not to refuse three children of the chief Sokeno. These children are stripped of all charms and idolatrous beads by their own parents—a proof that they give them up to be instructed in Christianity with all sincerity.

Mr. King thus speaks of the progress of the native teachers in their studies for the improvement of their own minds—

Of the teachers under instruction I am glad to say that their progress is very encouraging. Three of them have gone through Allen and Cornwell's Grammar. In Watts's Scripture History they have gone through to the end of the book, and have begun it again; so they are coming to a thorough acquaintance with Scripture history, and other events connected with the history of the Jews, &c.

One instance may be given of the fortitude of the native converts under persecution, which, before the victory over Dahomey, occasionally broke out. Mr. Crowther writes—

Jan. 5, 1851—The enemies met a mortifying defeat in the case of a young woman named Phœbe, a communicant of my church. The babbalawo who is the head of Phœbe's family apprehended her, and made her feet fast in the stocks, and determined not to release her unless she consented to resume the worship of Sango, whose sign, consisting of beads strung in a particular way, was forcibly tied round her neck. Her husband was at the same time troubled to sacrifice to Ifa. For several days no sign of yielding was shown by Phœbe; whereupon the old babbalawo got very angry, and, though she was expecting her confinement, she was flogged by the old priest unmercifully, and pushed down into a pit in the square, and dry leaves were cast upon her, with threats to bury her alive. They left her there and went away, after which Phœbe managed to get out. I am thankful to say she sustained no injury from so unmerciful a treatment, nor did she regret the day she exchanged heathenism for the Christian religion, which she determines to hold fast to the end. The figure of Sango, which was prepared for her to worship, was given in charge of her mother, because it was feared obstinate Phœbe would cast it into the fire should she get at it. This is only one case out of many, in none of which have the enemies succeeded to get any of the converts to worship the false gods they have forsaken. This any one may imagine will enrage the persecutors more, and make them ashamed before those who remonstrated against their proceedings.

Occupation of Osielle as an Out-station.

The Rev. D. Hinderer's special instructions, when he was first sent to Africa, were, to aim at extending the Mission towards the Haussa country. He has met with no encouragement in respect of the Mahommedan tribes; but, desirous of acting upon the spirit of his instructions, instead of taking up a new Station in the town of Abbeokuta, he determined to attempt the extension of operations in the neighbouring country. After visiting several villages, he commenced an Out-station at Osielle, a farmers' village eight miles east of Abbeokuta, to which reference was made in the last year's Report. He accepted the invitation of the headman to reside under his own roof until a dwelling could be erected for his use. He was greatly encouraged by the candid and friendly spirit of his host. Soon after the preparation for his house was commenced, Mr. Hinderer expressed his wish to erect a place of worship in the first instance. The headman answered playfully, "You are a troubler indeed: you give me no rest. Why do you want to begin another building? Finish your own first." Mr. Hinderer replied, that he wanted to build God's house first, because God once took it very ill of His people of old that they made themselves fine houses, and left the house of God unfinished. This the headman immediately turned to some good use, by telling the people standing by, "Hear what the white man says: so should we also do—put God first and ourselves after."

A small chapel and house were soon finished, and a day-school opened with a native teacher. Mr. Hinderer continued to reside for four or five months among the villagers, and their attention to his instructions was encouraging. An answer made by one of the leading men is not only interesting from the intelligence it manifests, but will suggest many sad reflections in respect of other countries, in which the lives of professed Christians have been the chief hindrance to the success of the gospel. "Remember," said the negro to the Missionary, "how deeply we are rooted into heathenism: we cannot get out of it all at once. Some time ago, in a conversation with your servants, I was, among other things, told that a man who serves God could no more steal, no more deceive, no more commit adultery. These things we hear and remember, but our eyes are watching your hands too, to see what they do. Only have a little patience: after some time we shall see if the works of your hands agree with the words of your mouth. Then we shall consider again if this new way will suit us also." Mr. Hinderer thus writes, after six months' experience—

And now, in concluding my account of Osielle, I would earnestly and respectfully beg the Committee to send us more help, either native or European. This town is healthy and promising. A population of at least 7000 is within a few miles' reach of the gospel messenger stationed here. Yet I have not made tents here for myself to sit down in comfort. We are debtors to the whole world, and more especially to this vast continent in which our gracious God has placed us: it is therefore that we must break forth to the right hand and to the left, and more particularly are our eyes fixed on the dark interior, at the doors of which we are continually knocking by our feeble prayers, as well as by other means. Should we soon be able, by God's kind providence, to proceed on our line towards the east, I should, without hesitation, leave this place to be supplied otherwise; and how otherwise, but by additional hands from home?

That we are aiming at the Missionary chain through Central Africa is no longer a question. It only appears that our mode of procedure here in the West has been, and perhaps ever will be, of a different character from that of our brethren in the East, occasioned by difference of circumstances. They—until of late without a fixed Station—have had, compared with us, almost unrestricted scope for exploring the country. We, on the contrary, have been tied, and tied providentially, to one single, but nevertheless most important post, and this, not only by constant wars around us, but happily, also, by the remarkable success which we have met with there. Perhaps my brethren, who had the privilege of commencing this Mission, might soon have forced their way onward beyond the Egba country, but doubtless at much risk for the prosperous Mission they had commenced, if not at the hazard of its entire overthrow. I am sure our friends in England have no idea of the jealousy which exists between the different tribes here, even between those who are on friendly terms with each other; and jealousy is here, if anywhere, the fruitful mother of the most destructive wars. Even my coming here to this small town, governed and inhabited by nobody but Egbas, created great jealousy among the Egba chiefs in Abbeokuta; so much so, that they told it to my face, and one, indeed, revealed what was the sore point. "It was you white men," said he, "of whom we made a boast before our poor farmers, and now you are going in the midst of them, thus spoiling our boast." However, this sort of feeling seems to be going down a little, and they have now at least one small but practical proof of our being in earnest with what we have continually talked into their ears—that we want to go, and will go, beyond Abbeokuta. And now, also, that we are so well established in the Egba country, our going beyond it, if Providence open a door for us, which I have no doubt will soon be the case, will no more involve that risk to the well-being of this Mission, which no doubt it would have incurred before.

And now for our chain again. Two good links we have already towards it—Badagry and Abbeokuta; and I am sure God will graciously hear our prayers, and give us Ibadan, about two days' journey N. E., as a third. Next to that, Ilorin may, by the providence of God, in time constitute a fourth; and a fifth will bring us to the Niger; and the same number again, if not less, to the Tchad, where we shall soon shake hands with our brethren in the East. Thus we plan and conjecture upon future blessed events; yet not upon our own fancy, but upon a sure word of prophecy—upon the gospel promises of a never-failing God to all nations.

Opening of Ibadan—Sojourn there of Mr. Hinderer.

The expectation of reaching Ibadan was not disappointed. The chiefs of Abbeokuta negotiated for permission to be given to the Missionary to visit it. Official messengers were sent to introduce him, and Mr. Hinderer started in the middle of last May, with a caravan of 4000 people as his companions on the road. He was received with much respect and hospitality, and was lodged in the house of the head chief for three months. During this lengthened sojourn he had constant opportunities of making known the gospel message, and of free communication with the chiefs. The population is estimated at 60,000, and all speak the Yoruba language, or its dialects. One of the oldest chiefs, who is most respected for his wisdom, was faithful enough to tell the Missionary of parties who would oppose every thing that was good, and would therefore oppose him in his object, which he knew to be good from what he had heard of white men in Abbeokuta; but he added an assurance, that their opposition would be vain. The chiefs at length consented to Mr. Hinderer's return to Abbeokuta and Badagry, upon his promise to use his endeavours to procure another Missionary, who, with himself, might reside amongst them.

Concurrently with Mr. Hinderer's visit to Ibadan, the Committee must record another remarkable encouragement. The king of Ifé has negotiated a peace between Abbeokuta and the other Yoruba tribes who had long been at war with it, and has expressed his wish that Missionaries should come to him to teach him the new way of happiness. The African king conveyed his sentiments by a symbolical contrivance, sent by the hands of a messenger commissioned to interpret it, and bearing with him kola nuts, a recognised token of amity. The symbol consisted of two shreds of cocoa-nut fibre twisted together to denote the close alliance between the white men and Abbeokuta, and three knots upon the cord ; two to represent the white men and Abbeokuta ; and the other, in the centre, the king of Ifé, who desires to be third with the other two.

The time-honoured authority of the king of Ifé is regarded by the Yorubans with a strange and superstitious reverence. And the Missionaries characterize the reception of such overtures "a very wonderful and mysterious providence on behalf of our Mission."

General Review.

Such are the encouraging prospects opening forth for Western Africa. The salvation of God is sent to these Gentiles, and they will hear it ; and we recognise the very secret of our strength, the sure hope of our success, in the very simplicity wherewith those great verities are brought home to them. It is a vast field now unfolding before us, and we would have the Christian church awake to the new responsibilities imposed upon it by the almost boundless facilities presented by the Yoruba Mission. It is no sparse or scanty population that occupies the region skirted by the Bight of Benin. Populous towns, not inferior in size to Abbeokuta itself, are to be found in closer proximity to it than would be presented by many districts of our own island, and which almost remind us of the crowds that have congregated in the valley of the lower Ganges. Care has been taken, in estimating the following numbers, to avoid all approach to exaggeration, and they probably fall short of the actual amount. But if you travel a day and a-half to the north-eastward you arrive at Ibadan, with a population reported at 60,000. Two days more would bring you to Ogbomoso, an old town which has never been captured, numbering at least 45,000 inhabitants. A journey of two days northward from the same centre conducts to Ijaye, a town said to contain 40,000 souls ; while three days' journey in the same direction reaches Isehin, whose 70,000 inhabitants have hitherto successfully withstood the assaults of slave-dealing chiefs, and, like Ogbomoso, have never witnessed an invader within their walls. A point further to the west lies Igboho, in the very centre of the Yoruba territory : the numbers it comprises have not yet been accurately ascertained, but a smaller town in that direction, Ketu, has been reached by an American Missionary, and is estimated at 20,000. To the north-east again lies Ilorin, one of the towns above mentioned. It is said to contain from 60,000 to 70,000 souls, a mixed multitude of Mahomedans, Fellatahs, and heathen—formerly a great rendezvous of pirates and men-stealers, but now tranquil and orderly, and an important centre of trade. At the same distance, but more eastward, is the large and famous town of Ifé, from whence all the idols in this part of the country are said to emanate—but whose king has now come forward to invite Christian Missionaries to visit him. Multitudes from these towns flow into Abbeokuta each market-day, and return with the intelligence of the Missionary Settlements there, and of the willingness of the English to engage with them in lawful commerce. Shall the expectations thus generated be falsified?

Again, south-eastward of Abbeokuta, and parallel with the Bight of Benin, runs the territory of the Ijebus, whose numbers are said to amount to 160,000; and Christian emigrants from Sierra Leone have been only waiting to return to their native land, as the Yorubas did to Abbeokuta, till the slave-dealing power of Lagos, the natural seaport of their country, be superseded by the restoration of its lawful sovereign. Mr. Crowther, on his way to England in April 1851, saw three strangers sitting on a block of wood in the Mission premises at Badagry. Their dress and demeanour declared them to be Sierra-Leone men. When saluted, they produced certificates from the Rev. E. Jones, of Fourah Bay, and proved to be members of the Otta tribe, whose country lies between Abbeokuta and Lagos. They had an African's love for their native land; "but we will not go back," said they, "till Missionaries will accompany us to our own country." Can any one doubt that the crisis has arrived, which imperatively demands a large accession to the number of Ordained Labourers in the ripening fields of Western Africa?*

Return of Dr. Krapf to the Mission with reinforcements—Death of the Rev. C. Pfefferle.

THE Rev. Dr. Krapf, the Rev. C. Diehlmann, and the Rev. Christian Pfefferle, left England for East Africa on the 4th of January 1851. At Berlin Dr. Krapf was honoured by an interview with His Majesty the King of Prussia, who expressed much interest in his undertaking, and wished the blessing of God on his journey and labour. At Trieste the Missionaries were joined by three mechanics, and, embarking on January the 16th, they proceeded by Syra, Smyrna, Alexandria, and Cairo, to Aden. An Arab boat having been engaged, the Missionary party, with the exception of Mr. Diehlmann—who, as was mentioned in the last Report, resigned his Missionary office and returned to Germany—re-embarked on the 20th of February, and reached Mombas in safety on April the 3d.

During Dr. Krapf's absence in Europe, the Rev. Messrs. Rebmann and Erhardt had remained at the Station, being chiefly employed in the building of a Mission-house, upon ground granted to them by the natives, at a short distance from Rabbai Mpia. The first accounts from the Mission, a fortnight after Dr. Krapf's arrival, were encouraging. Dr. Krapf wrote, April 15—

Our new brethren are all well, the climate of Rabbai agreeing with their health. We have reason to be thankful to God for the mechanics who have been chosen. They comport themselves as true Christians, and are diligent in their respective labours. Kaiser, a native of Wurtemberg, has planted a number of European apple and pear-trees which we took from Germany. The vines thrive already. Besides, he has committed the principal seeds of Egypt and Germany to the Kinika soil, and we shall see which will thrive.

A plan was immediately formed, that Dr. Krapf should go to Usambara, to redeem the pledge given to king Kmeri, and Mr. Pfefferle cheerfully joined him in the undertaking. It was proposed that they should remain together till the new Mission was fully established, and Mr. Pfefferle should be able to conduct it himself, with the assistance of one of the mechanics. Afterwards Dr. Krapf designed to go, with another mechanic, to Ukambani, to labour there till another brother could be sent to assist him, and eventually to supply his place, so as to enable him to extend the Mission line forward into the interior.

How suddenly these plans were frustrated, and turned into sorrow and disappointment, will be best described in Dr. Krapf's own words, in a letter to Dr. Barth, of Wurtemberg, dated June 20, 1851—

Let me now, as my custom is, look backwards and forwards. But what do I see in the time past? Scarcely more than the remnants of a defeated army. You know that I was commissioned to strengthen the East-Africa Mission with three Missionaries and three mechanics. But where are the Missionaries? One remained in London; another at Aden; and the third, brother Pfefferle, died on the 10th of May, of a nervous fever—the fever of the country. One might say, with Samson, “Behold, here they lie all in heaps”—Judges xv. 16, heaps upon heaps—or, with Gehazi, “Alas, my master! how shall we do?” 2 Kings vi. 15. And if you then look for the other three men, the mechanics, and ask, How do matters stand with them? then I have to answer, These have lain, since Good Friday, upon a bench, ill of fever, where they linger on, neither dead nor alive; and, instead of being a help to me and to my brethren, they stand rather in need of help and waiting on from us, and therefore serve just the contrary from what we had expected of them. That is a fine business, you will say: the heavy part of the army is beaten, and the light division completely unnerved, and yet you will conquer Africa, will draw a chain of Missions between the east and west! You cannot be in your right senses with your plans. Yes, dear brother, this is the language of my own reasoning; and many will say the same, when they hear of these things. And yet I keep to my purpose. Africa must be conquered by Missions: a chain of Missions must be effected between the east and west, though a thousand warriors should fall to the left, and ten thousand to the right. Africa must become a son of rejoicing, though of old it was, and now is, a son of sorrow. I have not learnt this in the sanctuary of reason, but in the sanctuary of the Lord. Indeed, in the former I find nothing but discouragement and contradiction; but in the sanctuary of God a voice comes and tells me, ‘Fear not: death leads to life, destruction to resurrection, the demolition of all human undertakings to the erection of the kingdom of Christ. Instead of allowing thyself to be disheartened by the defeat, take up the cause thyself. Trust no more upon human aid, upon the number and strength of thy warriors and their weapons; but alone upon the living God, who can help as much by small as by great means. Look upon Him who has trodden the wine-press alone, and prevailed at last. Do what you can, in the strength of the Lord, and leave the success in His hands. Believe, love, fight, and be neither weary nor faint for His name’s sake, and thou shalt see the glory of God.’”

When I had heard this voice in the sanctuary of the Word of God, I could calmly accompany my departed brother to the grave, in the full conviction, that, in spite of this bereavement, the work of the Lord must and will prosper in Africa. Removing from his grave, I quickly laid hold of my travelling staff; and it is only the rainy season, which has continued till now, that has, up to to-day, kept me at Rabbai. And though I also should have to fall, it does not matter, for the Lord is still King, and will carry on and complete His cause in His own good time. The idea of a chain of Missions between East and West Africa will yet be taken up by succeeding generations, and carried out; for the idea is always conceived tens of years before the deed comes to pass. This idea I bequeath to every Missionary coming to East Africa. Every one who is a real patriot, and is indifferent to life and death for his Master's honour, will open this bequest, and take his portion out of it, as a fellow-partaker of the tribulation, of the patience, and of the kingdom of our Lord.

However, our Missionary friends at home must not, on account of the past difficult experience, be inclined to send no more warriors into the field, but be rather prepared for greater sacrifices. The talk, that it is not time yet, or that so many Missionaries die, all goes for nothing, however plausible it may be. Here is need of faith, patience, fidelity, self-denial, and love. If, on the day of reckoning, we should say, "Our Missionaries were taken ill and died, and therefore we abandoned Africa," would this excuse hold good? I believe not. Africa is certainly placed before the Missionary community as a trial, so as by it either to faint, or to gain the victory in the battle-field. He who perseveres to the end will and must conquer.

The day for my departure on my journey is fixed for the 7th of July, if the Lord will, and I live. I intend, at first, to stay at Yata, on the border of Ukambani, and from thence to travel round on all sides through the land, and preach the word of life. The whole is only a trial, to see whether the Lord will let His light shine in that land. What further ways to the west will then open time will show. We must gradually press forward, as we see that the Lord Himself opens the doors of the world before us. Nothing can be forced.

Dr. Krapf's Journey to Ukambani.

Subsequent letters, dated Oct. 4, inform us of the disastrous results of this journey. Dr. Krapf left the Station July 11, travelling through the territories of the Wanika and the mountains of Bura. In a dense forest the party was attacked by robbers, but mercifully preserved, and they reached Yata, in the Kikamba country. The people received him in a friendly manner. Dr. Krapf writes—"I explained that I was a teacher of the Word of God, who was come to lead them to the true happiness in this world and in the world to come. They all decreed unanimously that I should stay with them, and be free to do what I liked among them."

The Wanika servants whom Dr. Krapf had brought with him, and who had promised to build an abode for him, soon resolved upon returning to the coast, and were with difficulty persuaded even to construct a rude shed, neither sufficient to defend him from the heat of the sun by day, nor the cold winds of night from the snow-mountain Kilimanjaro, "which stood like a giant" before him, at the distance of four or five days' journey. Dr. Krapf was therefore compelled to alter his plans, and to return to the coast till better preparation could be made for a permanent settlement in Ukambani. He determined, however, to avail himself of the present opportunity of travelling for two months about the country, and "though in weakness, to preach the name of Jesus in many places where it was never before heard." He first visited his old friend Kivoi, in Kitui, to be conducted by him to Ulu, on the river Dana, and to other places. Dr. Krapf writes—

The river Dana is 180 hours' distance from Rabbai—viz. 90 hours from Rabbai to Kikumbuli, 110 hours to Yata, 146 to Kivoi, and from his place thirty-four hours more. But Kivoi detained me a whole month before he was ready to go to the Dana. During the interval, I saw and spoke to many people of Ukambani, who flocked together to see me. I also made acquaintance with a merchant from Uembu, a country which is two days' journey north-east from the river Dana. This man gave me much important information; viz. that at the foot of the snow-mountain Ndurkenia, or Kirenja, was a lake, from which the Dana, the Tumbiri, and the Nsaraddi rivers do flow. The Dana and Tumbiri rivers, he said, flowed into the east sea, that is, the Indian Ocean; but that the Nsaraddi takes its course towards a still larger lake, called Baringo, the end of which could not be reached under very many days' journey. He said it was five days' journey from Uembu to Kirenja, and thence nine days' journey to Baringo, which means as much as Great Sea. And now we know almost for certain where the sources of the Nile are to be looked for; viz. in the lake Ndurkenia, from which flows the Nsaraddi, this again flowing through Baringo. I pass by several other important geographical disclosures.*

Kivoi accompanied Dr. Krapf, with a caravan of fifty men, to visit the river. When within about an hour's distance from it they were attacked by a marauding tribe, more than double their number. A fight ensued: Kivoi was surrounded and killed, with a few of his people: the rest were dispersed. Dr. Krapf proceeds with his narrative—

I was at last left alone in a shower of arrows. Twice I fired my gun in the air, for I did not wish to kill any body. At last I took to flight; but whilst leaping over a broad and deep ditch I fell into it, injured my loins, and broke the stock of my gun. By the time I had got out of the ditch, all the Wakamba men, with whom I wanted to flee, had disappeared in the thicket, but my enemies also had ceased pursuing after me. Passing a little further on, I observed many men, and thought they were our fugitives, and was about to go up to them; but I took my glass first to see who they were, and, to my terror, I found they were our enemies carrying the spoiled goods. I hastened again into the thicket, where I met two rhinoceroses, which at first came up towards me, but soon ran again into the woods.

I was then quite alone, very hungry and thirsty, for I had not eaten or drunk any thing since the day before, hoping soon to reach the river. As soon as I considered myself secure from the enemies, I sat down under a tree and offered up a prayer, supplicating God's mercy and faithfulness upon myself as a poor destitute. I then thought of what I should do, whether go down to the river, or at once return back. I resolved at last, at any risk, to proceed towards the Dana, for I stood in need of water. Thirst drove me down to the river, and not a scientific curiosity. I ran as fast as I could in the direction in which I expected the stream of the river, and all at once I observed its water-mirror through the thickets and trees which surrounded its high banks. "Thank God!" I exclaimed, "now I can quench my great thirst." I drank at first most heartily; then I filled both barrels of my gun and the case of my spy-glass with the cool water, observed the river and its environs, and hid myself nearabouts till night broke in.

I then got up and commenced my journey back, not knowing the way, neither the proper direction. But I followed the direction of the wind; for I had observed that, on our journey here, we had it at our back, and therefore, on my journey back, I should have it in my face. At first I ran over a woody place; then I came through high and thick grass, which fatigued me much in walking, and often I was on the point of falling down and going to sleep from weariness; but I always roused myself up again, and said, "Thou must go forward or perish: haste, and save thy life."

The night was spent in the midst of terrors of various kinds. The next day he pursued his journey, and was again reduced to the utmost extremity for want of water: he providentially met with some in the bed of a river. "I exclaimed, 'Oh, how good is the Lord!' and drank with tears of joy and thanksgiving rolling down my cheeks. I then ate a little gunpowder, emptied my powder-horn, and tied the powder in my pocket-handkerchief. Having filled my gun-barrels, powder-horn, and spy-glass case with water, I travelled onwards." At length he met a fugitive of Kivoi's party, who gave him food, and they travelled in company together, through many dangers, till they reached the villages belonging to Kivoi's tribe.

Here new dangers awaited Dr. Krapf. The relatives of Kivoi consulted upon putting him to death, because he had not saved their chief's life in the hour of danger; but eventually he was allowed to return to Yata, and from thence to the coast. Dr. Krapf adds the following reflections upon this affecting narrative—they were not much pleased with it, for they wished me to stay longer. But I felt sure that a Missionary in Ukambani must first have faithful servants, and a better dwelling-place, before he can permanently settle down and begin his work. I now understand why the Apostle Paul was displeased with Mark for having left him, and why he ordered a lodging to be prepared for him. On the whole, I understand this man of God better when he speaks of hunger and thirst, of nakedness and robbers.

Ye Christians and Mission friends! have you already sufficiently thanked God for your lakes and fountains, for your corn and barley, for your water-soups and bread, for your government and civil order, for your temporal—I will not say your heavenly—blessings? Of a truth, ye need men to remind you of all the good you have. I trust, if ever I come to Europe again, it may be given me to bring clearly before your minds what you possess. I will not tell you of many great and extraordinary things; but will talk of your good houses, your river water, your beds and clothing, your roads, your magisterial order, &c. But the time will come when you also must be deprived of every thing, like your Missionary, who, at 180 hours' distance from the sea-coast, wandered about poor and miserable.

When I arrived at Rabbai I could scarcely stand on my feet, and I could not have borne it much longer. But the Lord does not lay upon us more than we are able to bear. When it is enough, then He makes an end to the trouble. He is merciful and gracious. Therefore “bless the Lord, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless His holy name!”

You will now ask what I intend to do in future. My answer is, that we must put off the Mission to Ukambani for three or four years more, and first possess a nearer Station. This could be had at Kadiaro, a mountain about three or four days' journey from hence, and visible from Rabbai. This Station must first be established, and bear some fruit, before we can plant a Missionary tree in Ukambani. I clearly see that it is not every Missionary who could undergo such fatigue. The chain of Missions will yet be completed when the Lord's own hour is come. His mills grind slowly, indeed, but beautifully fine.

The Committee appeal to the churches of England and Germany to supply the men who will join Dr. Krapf and his valiant surviving comrades, again to assault the kingdom of Satan, though he hath hindered them once and again; and to establish in Taita or Ukambani a Missionary Station as a witness for Christ, and an occupation in His name of the coast of East Africa.

After Dr. Krapf's return to the coast, Mr. Rebmann left the Mission for a time, to visit Egypt, where he was united in marriage to a lady engaged in female education in the Cairo Mission. He has since returned, to join his companions at Rabbai Mpia.*

MEDITERRANEAN MISSION.(European Missionaries first arrived in 1815.)

Occupation of Jerusalem as the Society's chief Station.

THE Committee have the satisfaction of commencing their Report of the Mediterranean Mission by the announcement that Jerusalem is now a Station of the Society, and the centre of operations of this long-established Mission. Mr. C. Sandreczki has been transferred from Smyrna to Jerusalem, to act as Secretary of the Mission, and to exercise his extensive knowledge of the modern languages of Europe, as well as Greek, Turkish, and Arabic, in maintaining Christian intercourse with the various strangers who resort to Jerusalem, and in otherwise assisting the Missionary operations. The Rev. A. Klein was, in the course of last summer, sent to labour as a Missionary at Jerusalem, and in the adjacent parts of Syria.* Under these arrangements, the Society will have the benefit of the countenance and assistance of Bishop Gobat, while they will be enabled to strengthen his hands in the important labours which he is sustaining in connexion with inquiring members of the fallen churches of the East.† Thus the connexion which for many years existed between the Church Missionary Society and Dr. Gobat, while he was one of their Missionaries, is resumed in an altered and more important, but not less cordial relation.‡

Conference at Jerusalem.

The first event under the new arrangement was the holding of a conference at Jerusalem between the Bishop, the Rev. J. R. T. Lieder from Cairo, the Rev. J. Bowen, and Mr. Sandreczki, from Smyrna: in order that the whole field of operation might be prayerfully and thoughtfully reviewed, the circumstances of each Station, the desirableness of its being retained or otherwise, the alteration in the mode of action hitherto pursued, which increased experience and the altered circumstances of our position suggested as desirable or necessary—subjects to which the assembled Missionaries would be enabled to address themselves under peculiarly favourable circumstances, in consequence of the recent exploratory tours of Mr. Bowen and Mr. Sandreczki, through Asia Minor as far as Mosul and Urumiah, and the new and enlarged information which they were thus enabled to place before the Conference. The following extracts are taken from the minutes of the Conference, which was continued for three days—

On Monday, May the 12th, the above-named parties met the Right Rev. the Bishop of Jerusalem at his residence on Mount Zion, and proceeded to business. The Bishop read Isaiah xlix., and offered up a prayer for the divine blessing on the subjects that would be brought under the deliberation of the Conference. The Bishop expressed his happiness at meeting with the members of the Missionary Society assembled, and his earnest hope and trust that the blessing of God would rest upon their labours. . . .

The Conference, although imperfectly acquainted with the present state of the Mission in Syra, are of opinion that the effort which is there being made for the spiritual benefit of the Greeks should not be abandoned without a last attempt to bear a full and decided testimony to all the truths of the Gospel, in opposition to the errors of the Greek Church. . . .

The Conference are of opinion that the Mission at Smyrna should be continued, with the primary view of preaching to the Greeks, the success of which, under God, would be the most effectual means of opening the door of faith to the Mussulmans, who, in the mean time, would not be overlooked as opportunity presented itself.

On the question, whether Jerusalem or Smyrna would present the better field for influencing the Mahomedans, the Conference are not prepared to give an opinion as to any difference in that respect. But in general they are convinced that, as yet, there is no door open for direct and avowed Missionary effort on behalf of Moslems, because any such effort would, humanly speaking, inevitably lead to the suppression of the Mission, if not endanger the existence of all the Protestant Missions in these countries. But there is nothing to prevent every Missionary in these parts from bearing the Mussulmans upon his heart in prayer, and improving all opportunities of speaking to them of the way of salvation, while his direct and avowed object should be the fallen Churches; and present experience shows that it is by efforts for them that Mahomedans are most likely to be interested in the Gospel.

The Conference are, nevertheless, deeply impressed with the conviction that the present aspect of the Mahomedan world is highly important. From a variety of sources they know that long-cherished prejudices are giving way; that in numerous instances scepticism occupies the place of credulity and fanaticism, while Christianity, under the Protestant form, is gaining in various quarters a respect and esteem never given to the corrupt systems hitherto known to the Moslems as the religion of Christ. Under these circumstances, they cannot but feel that the followers of the false prophet should not be lost sight of by Missionary Societies, though what ought to be the precise nature of efforts on their behalf the Conference are not prepared to state. Probably the best and only means that could now be used would be—if the opportunity and instrumentality could be found—the preparation of suitable works for acting on the Mahommedan mind in its present aspect.*

Northern Syria is occupied, as far as at present may be expedient, by Missionaries from America, stationed at Beirut, Abbaye, Tripoli, Aleppo, and Damascus; while it is in contemplation to occupy Hasbeya and Saida (Sidon), and a colporteur from the same Society has this season visited Hamah. It seems, therefore, desirable that the Church Missionary Society should at present consider Palestine, south of the Lebanon, as its more immediate sphere in Syria.

The Conference rejoice to find that the Committee contemplate opening a Mission in these parts, and fully coincide in the view that Jerusalem should be the centre. . . .

A labourer would at present be advantageously located at Nazareth. The Protestant community already formed there, under the pressure of persecution, destitute of, and most anxious for, a pastor and instructor, have very strong claims upon the sympathy of the English Church. Nazareth would also form an important centre. There are several Christian villages within an easy distance. Acre and Tiberias are only a short day's ride each: Nablous, twelve hours'. The people have relations with Djebel Ajelûn and Selt, beyond Jordan, and from Nazareth these places might safely be visited, until something permanent could be done for them.

Arabs of the Desert.—Mr. Lieder described the Wady Feiran, near Sinai, as possessing many physical and geographical advantages; but there being no Christian population on which to have an evangelizing effect, the Conference cannot consider that place, or any other south of the Holy Land, as affording an opening at present. The Conference are decidedly of opinion that something should be done for the Arabs of the Desert, through the medium of efforts on behalf of the sadly-neglected Christian population scattered among the villages. Even in the tents of the Arabs from the Hauran to Kerek in the country beyond Jordan, many of whom have applied to the Bishop of Jerusalem for instruction, and assistance in the way of books, there are opportunities of usefulness. . . .

The Conference desire to express their thankfulness to the Committee for the opportunity they have thus had of conferring together on the interesting and important subjects brought before them. They feel deeply grateful to their Heavenly Father for the unanimity and brotherly love in which their deliberations have been carried on ; and they humbly hope that, however feeble may have been their endeavours, yet their coming together will be found not to have been in vain.

Nazareth—Services rendered by Mr. Bowen.

On the conclusion of the Conference Mr. Bowen proceeded to Nazareth, from whence he wrote, June 30, 1851—

I had several opportunities of reading and expounding scriptural truth at Nablous, and made an effort to preach on the Sunday to about twenty-five who assembled.

I arrived at Nazareth early, having started before day-light to avoid the heat and flies in the plain of Esdraelon, passed by a new route going near Jerain, probably Jezreel, and, at a short distance, passed Salem, near which John baptized, and not far off was a village—no longer a city—called Nain, while Tabor rose on the right. Riding up to the town, I looked with peculiar feeling on the massive convent, and thought of its power and influence, its eighteen monks, Spanish and Italian, all anxious to oppose the truth ; but I believe only two of them can speak Arabic. However, in a worldly point of view the opponents are formidable. The weapons they use, too, are carnal—bribery, intimidation, and slander : the former is very powerful here. Since I have been here, I have had many opportunities of teaching ; but it is difficult to do any thing regular on account of the irregular habits of the people, whom I cannot get to assemble for instruction in the week ; but several come in the evenings to Family Worship, which I conduct in the Sheik's house, where I am staying.

The social condition of the people generally is deplorable. Ignorance and superstition prevail, together with a meanness and selfishness, the combined result of oppression and false teaching, and evil example in their rulers ecclesiastical and civil. There are, however, pleasing exceptions, two of which are mentioned by Mr. Bowen ; one, a man of Cana of Galilee, who has studied the Scripture with some attention, and is in earnest seeking to follow the Gospel ; another, a young man, a native of Nazareth, now at Haifa, a small port under Carmel, who has attained to a very intelligent knowledge of Scripture by diligent study : he was, from the first, a thinking man, and was made infidel by the absurd superstitions of the Greek church. The books given away freely fell in his way : they were from Malta. He said he saw some sense in them, and was induced to study the Scripture. He is of considerable talent, of respectable family, has stood a good deal of persecution, and appears to be an interesting character.

Mr. Bowen remained at Nazareth six weeks ; and then, after revisiting Beirut and Jerusalem, returned to England, where private affairs required his attendance.

The Committee must record the very important services which Mr. Bowen has rendered to the Society by travelling for two years and a half entirely at his own cost, but under the direction of the Committee, as one of their Missionaries. He acquired the Arabic language, so as to communicate with facility with parties speaking that language; and he has furnished the Society with reports of his proceedings, which contain much valuable information, and will prove a great help to the Committee in their future operations in those parts.

Proceedings of Messrs. Klein and Sandreczki.

The Rev. A. Klein arrived at Jerusalem in August. His chief attention is at present directed to the acquisition of the Arabic language; but he has made several visits to the inquiring Greek Christians at Nazareth and Nablous, and is about to open a School at the former place, under the Anglican Bishop of Jerusalem. A spirit of inquiry has also sprung up at Bethlehem, Ram Allah, and in other places, which have been visited by Mr. Sandreczki and Mr. Klein. In every case, persecution, more or less violent, and the temptations of bribes, have been resorted to by the convents and ecclesiastical authorities.

A very large number of Greek and Latin Christians have expressed their determination to avail themselves of the late firmân of the Sultan * by legally declaring themselves Protestant Christians, and placing themselves in connexion with Protestant Missions. It is too early to speak of actual results. There must be a season of mental struggle and vacillation, before those who have been long depressed by a corrupt form of Christianity can act for themselves, and walk according to the truth of the Gospel.

Mr. Sandreczki reports the visits of some of the leading inhabitants of Bethlehem, who desired to separate from the Greek Church, and to be received into the Anglican Church. He writes—

Their motives may be impure, in one way or other, but they lead them to the way of truth in a lawful manner. Liberty of conscience has been granted: must we push them back? My orthodoxy does not go that length; and, thanks be to God! I myself have not been dealt with in such a manner. I should have heartily despised the preacher, whether Missionary or not, who would have prevented me from leaving the church of Rome. And do our phil-orthodox friends in England really believe that the Greek church is better? Eighteen years have taught me, that, as regards the system, she is Rome's equal, and still worse in practice.

Report for the Year 1851.

The Rev. F. A. Hildner continues to superintend the Society's Schools at this place, which are now reduced to three—two being for girls and one for infants—the number of children amounting to 291. In his Annual Report for 1851 Mr. Hildner writes—

The representatives of the general and local Government have continued to be favourable to our operations, and especially to the schools. In reference to the latter, they have anew unequivocally expressed their satisfaction at the two public examinations. The Bishop and his Clergy, on the other hand, have apparently, and perhaps intentionally, taken little notice of our work. Neither have they particularly countenanced it, nor has any thing of an inimical nature transpired which could be attributed to their influence. The little intercourse I have had with them has been of a friendly nature.

With but little interruption I have regularly continued to perform on the Lord's-day morning a service in English, and in the afternoon one in German. To the small number of the Protestant residents here an increase of travellers and sailors has been added; so that our little chapel has been several times quite full. A few Greeks have also attended, on account of whom I have, similar to my custom last year, now and then preached in Greek, instead of English, when all present could understand it.

It has been acknowledged that the Society's schools have been signally influential in raising the standard of education in Syra, and elsewhere in Greece, and have occasioned or facilitated the establishment of many other schools. Of such, a goodly number is now in operation here; so that Syra holds, if not the first, yet unquestionably the second place in Greece respecting schools. In some the Scriptures are read and taught. I have lately provided private Schools with the New Testament, which is specially used on the Lord's-day. It is interesting to see the boys of these Schools going to School on the Lord's-day morning, and returning home with the Testaments under their arms.*

General Review.

The Rev. J. T. Wolters has during the last year continued his labours at this Station. He has lately removed with his family from the Mission house at Boujah to occupy one in the town of Smyrna, as more convenient for his Missionary work. In his review of the past year Mr. Wolters writes, Feb. 5, 1852—

Our work of making known the blessed gospel to the natives of the country has been carried on as usual, and opportunities have not been wanting of declaring to many individuals “the truth as it is in Jesus.” Three times a week a Bible class for Greeks has been held at Mr. Dalessio’s house, chiefly by himself, with much zeal and ability; but since I came to live in town I have begun to take an active part in these Bible classes, holding one every Wednesday evening at my own house. Mr. Dalessio has also had a Bible class for Italians at his house. The number, both of Greeks and Roman Catholics, who during last year, with more or less regularity, have attended Mr. Dalessio’s instruction, is 32.

In reference to the members of Oriental Churches who have joined the Church of England, Mr. Wolters writes—

These native Christians have been admitted to the communion of our church at their own earnest request, being convinced of the impossibility of serving the Lord with “a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men” within the pale of their own churches. Let, therefore, no man accuse Protestant Missionaries of proselytism, and of causing divisions and schisms in the Eastern Churches. It is not we that proselytize, it is the gospel itself: it is the heavenly light of its doctrines which exposes the darkness and errors of these fallen churches. And then it is the tyranny of their rulers, it is the hand of persecution, that drives away every sincere inquirer from the bosom of his church. For no sooner is a man known to have intercourse with a Protestant Missionary, and to listen to his instructions, or to read the Scriptures and other books setting forth evangelical truth, than he is annoyed, molested, troubled, and threatened in every possible way. These are the only weapons with which the Greek Church defends her orthodoxy.

Translations.

Mr. Wolters thus describes his labours in this department—

We have been enabled to do something during the last twelve months. The first four homilies of our church have been translated and carefully revised, and one slight revision more will make them ready for the press. The translation of Venn's "Complete Duty of Man" has also been continued, and Jowett's "Christian Visitor," on Matthew and Mark, has been printed in the Greek language. The assistance offered to me by the Prayer-Book and Homily Society and the Religious Tract Society is very welcome, and I hope to avail myself of it during the course of the present year.

Encouraging symptoms of future improvement.

Mr. Wolters thus concludes his review of the labours of the year—

I cannot close this short review of our labours without relating one or two circumstances which have come to our knowledge, and which have encouraged us in our work of patience. The time seems to be drawing near when the darkness of the Greek Church is to be penetrated by some rays of heavenly light emanating from the Sun of Righteousness.

At a place near the Gulf of Volo, in European Turkey, some Greeks have been stirred up to inquiry, chiefly, as it seems, by reading the Scriptures and other books. Among these, the Liturgy of our church and my Greek sermons were mentioned.

At Thyatira—Rev. ii. 18—there are a few individuals who read the Scriptures. They are convinced of the errors of their church. One of them visited us last autumn, and seemed to be a man who is in earnest about the way of salvation.

Lastly, I must not omit to mention our dear brother Priest Eustathius. His humility, his meekness, his consistent Christian conduct, secure him the love and esteem of all who know him. How pleasant the thought, that in a lonely valley near the ruins of the ancient Colophon (vide Lempriere's Dictionary), and in the neighbourhood of Ephesus, this humble disciple of Christ is making known "the truth as it is in Jesus" to the poor peasants and shepherds around him. Besides teaching a small number of children, some adults assemble in his house in the evening, to whom he reads and expounds the Word of God. His great poverty he bears with Christian resignation and patience, hoping and trusting the Lord will not leave nor forsake him.

The case of the Cairo Mission was fully considered in the Missionary Conference at Jerusalem, and the Committee were advised to continue it upon a reduced scale in Cairo, and to add, if possible, an additional Missionary or Scripture readers to travel among the surrounding villages, or to reside in the country districts.

In accordance with the arrangement mentioned in the last Report, the Rev. W. Krusé will shortly retire from this Mission, after a long and faithful service. The Rev. J. R. T. Lieder will remain in charge of the Missionary operations and of the Schools, which are now reduced to those for female education.

Summary.

Schools & Scholars (No Return.)

The Committee cannot conclude their Report of the Mediterranean Mission without noticing the charges which have been brought against the Society in some quarters, of seeking to proselyte the members of other Christian communities. The Society aims at a far higher object, from the pursuit of which it cannot desist, even though proselytism should be a consequence. Its aim is to give the Bible to Oriental Christians—to help them to “read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest” its pure doctrines, and to lead each humble inquirer to the Saviour of sinners. Compared with this object, proselytism to any particular ecclesiastical communion sinks into secondary importance.

The Church Missionary Society may well appeal to the history of half a century, as a proof that it has always paid due respect to constituted ecclesiastical authorities. No turn of affairs would afford them greater satisfaction, than for the rulers and priests of the Oriental Churches to become themselves the leaders of an enlightened movement, and to take in hand such modifications of their system as a thorough reformation may require. The Committee have solid grounds for believing that the course they are at present pursuing is the one most likely to lead to this blessed result; and they will not spare any efforts which it is possible for them to employ towards its accomplishment.*

THE Annual Report of the Bombay Auxiliary Church Missionary Society commences with the ascription of praise to God for His signal mercy in giving to His church, in Dr. Harding, a second Bishop of Bombay, endued with the catholic and Missionary spirit which endeared his predecessor, Dr. Carr, to all who have the best interests of the church at heart.

Congregation of Native Christians.

The small body of Christians who compose the native church at Bombay exhibit a remarkable illustration of the miscellaneous character of the population of the city, and therefore of its importance in a Missionary point of view; the number of baptized native Christians being 62, but comprising ten different nations and languages.

The increase of numbers since last year has been owing to the arrival at Bombay of Protestant Christians from other places, only three adults having been baptized. The Rev. C. W. Isenberg has had charge of this congregation, and service has been regularly performed in Marathi.

Education.

The Money School has been visited with a severe trial, in the removal by death of its late Principal, the Rev. T. Jerrom, after little more than three years' labour, from a post for which he was eminently qualified by his talents and acquirements, and after he had brought the school to a high degree of efficiency in the several departments of science and literature which its course of instruction embraces. After Mr. Jerrom's death, the superintendence of the school was committed to the Rev. Messrs. Rogers and Price. The number of boys at the close of the year was 313. The buildings are quite inadequate to the accommodation of so large a number, and arrangements are being made for the erection of a more suitable building.

Vernacular Schools—Several new schools have been opened in the course of the year, so that the number now amounts to twenty-two, containing 872 boys and 207 girls, who receive a useful education in the native language, combined with religious instruction. These schools are under the superintendence of Mr. Sargon and Miss White. It is to be regretted that there is no sufficient supply of Christian teachers for these schools: many of them are therefore still under heathen masters. But this arrangement can only be regarded as temporary, and it is hoped may soon be superseded by the appointment of responsible native Christian masters. The Bishop of Bombay writes, Dec. 30, 1851—

I have inspected the schools, going in unexpectedly; and I have also attended the formal public examination. Public examinations seem to me very seldom to give, at least to a stranger, the best opportunity of testing the worth of the instruction. In scripture history and sacred knowledge I found the elder pupils exceedingly well prepared. In the ordinary conduct of the schools, when I have dropped in, the quietness and general attentiveness pleased me. The boys are eager at arithmetic. The elder youths pain one by the extent of their scriptural knowledge, and accuracy of sentiment, while yet they remain in bondage. Future days, however, must see fruit of all this.

NASIK.

The Rev. J. S. S. Robertson has been alone in charge of this Station. His chief attention has been directed to the care of the divinity students; and his health has not allowed of much exertion beyond the Mission premises in preaching to the heathen. This duty, however, has been performed by the catechists and divinity students. The number of native Christians has suffered some diminution, through deaths and removals: they now amount to 50.

Divinity Students.

The class of divinity students has comprised the two native deacons who were ordained at the close of last year, together with two other Hindu and two Parsi converts, two Indo-Britons, and one Indo-Portuguese. Three of these left in the course of the year, so that at its close only six remained. All have carefully studied the Holy Scriptures, the Greek Testament, Pearson on the Creed, and Church History. The conduct and progress of the six remaining students give Mr. Robertson much satisfaction, and the promise of their becoming faithful ministers to their countrymen.

Visit of the Rev. G. Candy.

At the close of the year the Rev. G. Candy, Secretary of the Corresponding Committee, visited this Station, and has furnished the following report upon the several departments of labour—

1. The state of the Divinity Class.—As I preferred ascertaining this by quiet observation through daily intercourse, instead of special examinations, I requested Mr. Robertson to carry on his annual examination of the class independently of my visit. He had nearly finished his examination when I reached Nasik. I saw the students two or three times a day during the time I was there, and had private conference with each individual of them. Once I assisted Mr. Robertson in an examination of them in the Greek Testament, with the result of which I was well satisfied. I selected at the time three or four passages from different Epistles, which they readily construed and parsed. I look upon this class as very promising, and full of encouragement. To it Mr. Robertson devotes his principal strength and energy; and the good effect of his most valuable labours is very manifest.

2. The Orphan Asylum.—It contains five boys and eight girls, including an infant in arms. Mrs. Robertson is truly a mother to them. She not only lives among them, but seems to live for them. Their affection for her seems to have no bound. They are all instructed in Marathi, and the elder ones in English also. Their knowledge and acquirements are very creditable, and it was quite a pleasure to witness their enjoyments. The eldest girl was married as a heathen child to a Brahmin of the place. He became a convert, and used his marital authority to place his young wife in the Mission-house, greatly to her terror at first; but she soon became reconciled to her situation, and now thanks God that she was brought there. She gives pleasing evidence of being a partaker of God's grace. The expenses of the Orphan Asylum are defrayed entirely by private contributions.

3. The Schools.—These are, one English and five Vernacular. The English School is small, not exceeding twenty pupils, but the progress of the youths is very satisfactory. The Assistant-Catechist, Mr. James Wilson, is the master; and I consider the efficiency of the school to be much to his credit. I did not give a thorough examination to the Vernacular Schools, as my health was feeble during my stay at Nasik; but I saw them all, and satisfied myself that they are in an efficient state.

4. The general state of the Mission.—Within the walls of the old Wada (the Mission House) the state of things is very satisfactory. The Mission may be said to be comprised almost within those walls. It is greatly to be regretted that there is not another Missionary at Nasik, who could give himself especially to vernacular preaching. It is not wholly neglected, as some of the students go out every week. Mr. Robertson's very delicate health hinders his doing more than thoroughly carrying on the work in the Wada. Here the daily services are performed with great propriety. All the Christians assemble in the forenoon in the chapel; and those who understand only Marathi in the afternoon also. Those who understand English, attend Mr. Robertson's evening lecture and worship. The heathen connected with the Mission have daily instruction in a room adjoining the chapel; and once a week all the puntojis and schools are collected there for the same purpose. The Marathi service on the Lord's-day forenoon quite delighted me. In the afternoon there is service and a sermon in English for the benefit of the English residents at Nasik. On the second Sunday that I was there, I had the privilege of occupying the pulpit ; and, having especially in view the divinity class, I addressed the congregation from the words, "Ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord : walk as children of light,"

JUNIR.

General View—Schools.

The Rev. C. C. Mengé remains alone at this Station. He reports "that operations have been carried on during the past year in the usual manner, but the effect has manifested itself rather in the increase of hostile feelings against the Gospel among the Brahminical members of the community. There has been great cause for humiliation as well as for gratitude, for both encouragements and severe disappointments have been experienced." No adult baptism has taken place. The native Christians only number 10 members, 6 being children.

Three Vernacular Schools have been in operation, with an average attendance of 120 pupils, including 12 girls.

Preaching to the Heathen.

Mr. Mengé reports—"The gospel has been regularly preached in the streets and bazaar of Junir twice a week, and on other days in different parts of the town. Besides this, a Mission tour has been made in the beginning of the current year in the direction of Ahmednugger, and a later one in the direction of Punah."

Mr. Mengé's Journal of his work at Junir and in its neighbourhood shows that a conviction of the folly and impotence of idol-worship is evidently diffusing itself over the district. The native catechists—Ram Krishna and others—are attracting considerable attention. At one place visited, "the determined enmity of the Brahmins, and the sincere pleasure with which some poor villagers listened to 'the truth as it is in Jesus,' were clear proofs that the gospel had been preached there by our scripture readers from Astagaum." These native helpers are pursuing their daily work of evangelization with energy and success. The circulation of Marathi and Guzurathi tracts is not without encouraging results. On one occasion our Missionary was visited by three Brahmins, who had been induced to take this step by what they had heard in the street, and read in vernacular Tracts. "They felt convinced of the vanity and sinfulness of worshipping idols of wood and stone. They felt, also, the necessity of having some one to deliver them from the power and guilt of sin." An interesting conversation ensued with the Missionary, in which he endeavoured to "expound unto them the way of God more perfectly." They listened attentively, and requested permission to converse occasionally with Mr. Mengé on the important subject of Christian truth. Thus a few natives, here and there, are taking the more decided step of entering the Mission premises as catechumens, previous to their admission into the visible church by baptism.

MALLIGAUM.

Visit of the Rev. G. Candy.

Through the removal of Mr. Rogers to Bombay, to assist in the superintendence of the Money School, this Station has been left without a Missionary, under the care of a native catechist, with the kind superintendence of the Rev. C. Laing, the chaplain.* The Rev. G. Candy, in the course of his tour, visited the Station, and gives the following report—

From Nasik I took the Rev. James Bunter along with me to Malligaum, which we reached on the morning of the 22d of October. Both Mr. Bunter and myself were most hospitably received by Capt. H. N. Bell, of the Engineers. I also saw a great deal of the Rev. C. Laing, than whom the Society, I may say, does not possess a warmer friend in India.

I found nine candidates for baptism awaiting our arrival. Mr. Laing had expected to have eleven, but two persons had been hindered coming from Dhulia. These nine candidates Mr. Bunter and I carefully examined as to their knowledge, manner of life, motive, &c. Six we considered suitable subjects for the sacrament of baptism. The other three we deferred for further instruction and preparation. Three of those baptized had come upward of a hundred miles, from a village near Aurungabad, and purposed returning immediately after their baptism. The circumstances under which they were brought to the knowledge and profession of Christianity were remarkable. A native convert, who had been baptized by Mr. Isenberg about three years ago at Astagaum, resided in their village. He had with him portions of the Scriptures, the Book of Common Prayer, and some tracts. From these he instructed those whom he could get to listen to him. I was gratified by the amount of knowledge which these three catechumens possessed. The native convert above referred to, named Ramji, had brought these three persons to Malligaum for baptism, supposing that Mr. Rogers was still there; and hearing of my expected arrival, he kept the candidates for me. He told me that there were five others in their village similarly instructed and prepared, who, when these returned, would come forward for baptism.

* The native minister, the Rev. James Bunter, is at present residing there.

On Friday the 24th of October, the six persons were received by baptism into the visible Church of Christ. As I wished James Bunter to be looked up to as much as if he were an European clergyman, and the ordinances to be as much valued at his hands as at my own, I devolved the administration of the baptisms upon him. At half-past four full evening service in Marathi was held in the church at Malligaum. The prayers were read by Mr. Bunter, who, at the second lesson, administered the sacrament of baptism to the six converts. After the prayers I preached in Marathi upon the occasion, addressing myself especially to the newly-baptized. Mr. Laing was present, and a respectable congregation of Europeans and natives, who appeared to be much interested.

There are a few others at Malligaum and in the neighbourhood who appear to be hopeful inquirers. Altogether, I look upon Malligaum as a promising Missionary Station; and I earnestly trust and pray that our dear brother, Mr. Bunter, will be made an instrument of much good there. I think it a matter of no small advantage to him that he will have the supervision and counsel of Mr. Laing, who will be to him a true friend.

By the kindness of Mr. Laing I advocated the cause of the Church Missionary Society twice at Malligaum on Sunday the 26th of October. The collection amounted to 180 rupees, which, for so small a Station—scarcely thirty Europeans—I think very liberal.

ASTAGAUM.

This Station has been necessarily suspended for the present.

SINDE.

The Rev. C. C. Schreiber has resided at Kurachi during the past year. He took one journey up the Indus, to survey the Missionary prospects of the country; but his attention has been devoted to the acquisition of the language, and until he is able to converse with the people without the aid of an interpreter, the Committee do not expect to receive a supply of Missionary information.

Introductory Remarks of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee.

THE following general remarks upon the Missionary operations of the Society in North India, during the past year, are made by the Corresponding Committee in their Annual Report—

There are about a hundred schools of various sorts in connexion with us, in this presidency, attended by above 6000 youths, 1250 of whom are native Christian boys and girls: and amongst the schools are five, called, for distinction's sake, "Seminaries," in which, without ostentation or much extra expenditure or machinery, a number of native Christians, both adults and youths, with some females also, are being trained for future teachers of their fellow-countrymen.

More than 6000 native Christians, young and old, are the fruits still surviving of the labours of this Mission; besides many more who have died in the faith. About 1000 of the above number are admitted as communicants, being approved of by their Missionary pastors, after careful instruction, and due probation as to their consistency of character, &c.

The amount contributed and expended in the various local missions throughout the presidency, without passing through the hands of the Corresponding Committee, has been, as usual, much larger than the sum which that Committee collects in India, and, we doubt not, fully equals 50,000 rupees, which is about its average of late. Complete accounts have not yet come in; but the portion received in connexion with the Benares Mission alone amounts to 12,605 rupees. So that the whole amount contributed, more or less directly, to the objects of the Church Missionary Society in this part of India, may be rated at between 70,000 and 80,000 rupees.

We acknowledge, in grateful terms, the aid received from local Church Missionary Associations, both in Calcutta and throughout the country. Their services are, in fact, invaluable. With separate Committees of their own, always including the Rev. Missionaries of the Society when on the spot, they manage in the most efficient manner, as only persons on the spot can, several minor branches of the work, collecting funds for the support of those departments in their own neighbourhood, and disposing of the funds thus collected independently of the Corresponding Committee, and usually with the most laudable care and judgment. The Associations at Agra, Benares, and Calcutta, are the most extensive in their operations; the first, in particular, includes within its charge one of the most extensive printing-presses in India, besides orphan and other schools, together with other branches of the Mission.

Two or three of these Associations have been formed within the year; one of them at Simla, another at Jubbulpur, and another, more lately, at Bhagulpur. We hail their increase with much satisfaction, as they afford scope for the exercise of zeal for Missions on the part of pious lay friends of the cause, whose local knowledge, and experience in the country and in business, are often most advantageously enlisted in the cause of the Lord.

Juvenile Associations are of comparatively late origin, in connexion with our Society in this country. The Calcutta Juvenile Auxiliary, formed about a year ago, has in connexion with it about twenty-five collectors, who have collected, amongst their companions and friends, 736r. 14a. in aid of the Missionary work of the country, besides becoming gradually acquainted with Missionary affairs, and diffusing a knowledge of them amongst others, by means of the little Missionary books and papers which they read and lend to their contributors.

There are Auxiliaries formed in some of the Queen's regiments in this country, the men of which have entered very warmly into the design, and contributed to the work of Missions with a liberality which must cost them some self-denial, and might be imitated with advantage by many in a higher rank. The Secretary had lately the happiness to receive, at the same moment, a contribution from three companies of Her Majesty's 18th regiment, in Fort William, for the relief of the native-Christian widows and orphans of one of the Krishnaghur Missions, and another from Her Majesty's 70th regiment, at Cawnpur, for the formation of a Church-of-England Mission in the Punjab, of which they had heard from the Rev. T. H. Fitzpatrick, on his way up the country. May the interest felt in the great work of Missions, by these and others of the brave soldiers of our country, be accepted of the Lord, and, through His grace, become, as it were, a covering of their heads in the day of battle!

CALCUTTA.

Native Christians, Baptisms, &c.

The number of native Christians under the care of the Missionaries in Calcutta and its neighbourhood amounts to 230. In the Mission chapel services are held both in the Bengali and Hindustani languages, but in the Out-stations of Agurparah and Thakerpuker in Bengali only. The Rev. Messrs. Sandys, Long, and Bost reside in Calcutta, and Mr. De Rozario at Agurparah.

Preaching to the heathen has been regularly kept up by the Missionaries and their catechists, in both the vernacular languages, at Tuntonia Chapel and in the public thoroughfares. Five native Scripture Readers, one being a Chinese, are employed in paying weekly visits to the heathen servants of Christian families who subscribe a proportional amount of the expense of this means of supplying their dependants with Christian instruction. The number of families thus visited is 68, and the number of servants amounts to no less than 768.

The Christians at Thakerpuker, and in some of the surrounding villages south of Calcutta, are under the pastoral superintendence of the Rev. J. Long, who, with Mrs. Long, spends three days in each week at Thakerpuker. His chief attention is directed to the training of the young and the instruction of native agents.

This Station was visited by the Rev. T. V. French, on his arrival in Calcutta. His impressions of the character of the work are conveyed to us in the following extract from a letter dated Jan. 7, 1851—

We drove over together yesterday to visit Mr. Long's Out-station at Thakerpuker. I was deeply interested in all I saw. The schools seemed very flourishing—the numbers being 60, and the answers very satisfactory; and the animated, beaming countenances of the children proving the interest they took in their work. About 30 adults—rather more than less—attended the morning prayers; some very aged apparently, and others quite young people. We visited two or three of the houses with Mr. Long, and were cordially greeted by the people. It was a sight which gladdened one's heart; but comparing these with the other villages we had seen, we could not but feel how much labour must have been bestowed on this infant church. Mr. Long is hoping to get a church built in the village before another year is over. Mrs. Long seems to take her full share in the Missionary work, and is studying hard at Bengali.

In connexion with the Calcutta Mission, during the year, ten adult baptisms have taken place. One was that of a Mahommedan, Khadim Ali, about twenty-five years of age. He had been employed as a corrector of the press in Hindustani, Persian, and Arabic, in a printing office where many religious works have been printed. As soon as the Hindustani service was commenced at the Mission church, he attended the means of grace, studied the Scriptures, and visited the Missionaries. He was baptized on the 20th of May, by the name of Khadim Mussee, "servant of the Messiah." He continues in his occupation; but his studies are directed to such subjects as may qualify him to become a teacher, if he should appear to be suitable, in other respects, for that office.

Mr. Sandys notices that there are better prospects than formerly of a movement in the right direction among the Mahommedans of Calcutta. He has more frequent applications for the Holy Scriptures in the Hindustani and Persian languages, and for the solution of difficulties and the removal of doubts. He writes—

Another interesting case exhibits the power of God's Word to enlighten the mind through the teaching of the Spirit, without the aid of man's teaching. A cultivator of the soil in the Sunderbunds, far from civilized parts or the hearing of the preached Word, had read the Scriptures, a copy of which he had obtained from his employer, and in the wilderness had been led to "behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." Obtaining permission to come and remain in Calcutta for a season, that he might learn of these things more fully, he was baptized by me, on the 5th of May, after fair trial; and has returned to his employment in the Sunderbunds with copies of Scriptures and tracts, which he promised to read and distribute among the people. We may therefore hope that more fruit will spring up from this first-fruit, and that many others will come to know the Lord through this weak instrument of His grace. What an encouragement to the distribution of God's holy Word! It is intended that intercourse between this part of the country and the Mirzapur Mission Station should be kept up in future.

The baptism of six adults and four children was performed by immersion in the Thakerpuker tank on Whitsunday, "not because immersion was considered of more importance, in itself, than affusion, but simply to show that in the English church baptism by immersion or affusion is equally valid."

Education.

The English school at Mirzapur, containing 350 pupils, was under the care of the Rev. S. Hasell till he removed to Krishnaghur. It was then transferred to the superintendence of Mr. Bost. Mr. Long still devotes the forenoons of three days every week to the upper classes of this school, and expresses much satisfaction in the work of imparting Christian instruction and useful knowledge to pupils who exhibit great quickness and intelligence. He has prepared several school-books in Bengali for their use.

The number of vernacular schools has been somewhat increased during the past year.

The industrial system has been introduced into the schools at Thakerpuker, and apparently with a promise of useful results.

BURDWAN.

This Station has been occupied by the Rev. Messrs. Weitbrecht and Geidt.

Death of the Rev. J. J. Weitbrecht—his last Report.

The Committee have learnt by the last mail that it has pleased God, in His inscrutable wisdom, to remove from us the able, zealous, and devoted Missionary Weitbrecht, and that at the very time when he was preparing for enlarged labours, and the eyes of the church at home were fixed upon his noble enterprise of wholly devoting himself to intinerating in the country round his Station as a centre.* The following extracts from his last report will be read with peculiar interest—

We have been permitted to continue our labours without much interruption, and to witness truly encouraging signs, showing that those who plough and sow in hope shall, ere long, see their hope realised. It is a great thing to be able to labour perseveringly and not to grow wearied: when the Lord gives this grace, animating His servants, and keeping alive their faith amidst many trials and temptations, we may take it for granted that He has gracious designs to carry out. It is a remarkable thing, though our present success in conversions is still small, as time advances, the prospect that the Lord will do a great and glorious work in Bengal, and that its inhabitants shall be given to Christ for His inheritance, is becoming more certain to my mind; so much so, that sometimes I earnestly long and pray to be spared some years longer to witness how this spiritual kingdom, which has so long resembled a little mustard-seed, shall come to resemble a large tree, which shall “send out her boughs unto the sea, and her branches unto the river.”

In the trial of separation from all that is dear to a father and a husband, I could fully enter into the feelings of an heroic female Missionary, when parting from her children, who were going to America for their education. As she kissed them, for the last time, she turned her streaming eyes to heaven, and exclaimed, “O Jesus! I do this for Thee!” At the same time I can say, my solitary hours have often been sweetened by a refreshing sense of His presence who brings peace to His people.

In looking on the state of our native congregation we have, on the whole, much cause to be thankful. . . . I do believe a testimony for the truth of Jesus has been established in the life of many members of our little native Christian church. Some few are unsatisfactory characters, and cause grief: this is what must be expected.

Our catechists and teachers have, with few exceptions, given their cheerful and faithful assistance in schools and preaching. I sometimes wonder how perseveringly the preachers go on, meeting, as they do, with many a contemptuous sneer and unkind word from the Hindus. I feel pretty sure a man who is not truly pious and prayerful cannot bear such a course of trials for a length of time.

Labours of the Rev. B. Geidt.

Mr. Geidt pays special attention to the catechists, teachers, and monitors employed in the Mission. They all assemble at his house generally four times a week for biblical instruction. He remarks—"My labours among them, though I have to prepare for each lesson, are sweet and cheering, having a beneficial influence on their minds, and evidently telling on the children in the vernacular schools in which they teach."

* A short memoir of Mr. Weitbrecht is given in the “Church Missionary Record” for May 1852, pp. 97—99, and a letter from his bereaved flock to the Home Committee in the “Church Missionary Gleaner” for June.

Mr. Geidt, in his report, makes a remark upon the efficiency of native teachers when trusted alone, which has a most important bearing upon the solution of many Missionary problems of the day. Alluding to times when both the Missionaries were absent upon tours, and when the duties of the Station devolved upon the catechists, he writes—

It seems that when our catechists are entrusted for some time with the responsibility of the congregation, they take special care that nothing of an unpleasant nature should happen among their brethren, and things are carried on orderly. It is, in fact, an advantage to these men when they are thus initiated in their work by degrees.

Missionary Tours.

Extensive tours have been made during the last year by both the Missionaries of this Station. In the early part of the year Mr. Weitbrecht was accompanied by the well-known and zealous Missionary of the London Missionary Society, the Rev. A. F. Lacroix, of Calcutta. A few extracts must be given from Mr. Weitbrecht's journal.

Jan. 13, 1851—We halted at Hajipur. As the tent was put up, we were surrounded by 250 people, and, after taking our simple meal, proceeded to preach. There was no lack of hearers in this populous place—weavers, shopkeepers, and peasants, all came to hear the Gospel. I spoke on the parable of the unfruitful fig-tree. They all agreed that a tree which bears no fruit is only fit for firewood. I pointed out the need of a change of heart in those who are spiritually barren and dead, and directed them to Christ, who could effect it. This was a delightful meeting. I felt that the power of the Spirit was amongst us. Many seemed to be moved. Looking at the mass of people before me—not less than 300—I inwardly prayed that the Lord would manifest Himself among them, and open their hearts.

I asked the people to show me another place where they were in the habit of meeting in the evening. They conducted me to a Shib temple, and requested that I would preach from its steps. I always like such a spot: it is carrying the lamp of the Gospel into Satan's dark corners. I had the honour to sit before the nose of the idol. I spoke on the text, "God so loved the world." Among about 400 hearers there were some thirty females peeping out between the nearest cottages, and listening with intense attention. It is very encouraging to see elderly females among our hearers, feelingly nodding assent.

Jan. 14—In the afternoon we went to Ramjibonpur, a place of 10,000 inhabitants. What a densely-peopled country this is! No sooner had we arrived in the market-place than we were followed by at least 500 people. It is not likely that a Missionary ever saw this town, yet the people immediately found out who we were. "Ishu Krister lok"—Jesus Christ's people—"are come." This report was carried from mouth to mouth. Mr. Lacroix preached in the market to about 800 hearers. I went further on, and had as many as my voice could reach.

Mr. Weitbrecht thus concludes his journal of his tour—

Feb. 1—Our preaching tour has now nearly reached its termination. We have happily succeeded in visiting nearly all the towns and villages laid down in our travelling route, describing in our travels a semicircle, from Burdwan southward; and after reaching the south-western borders of the Hoogley district, coming round eastward, the line terminated to-day at the banks of the Hoogley, above Serampur. The journey, with all its roughnesses and little privations, has been very pleasant, and, I feel sure, was attended with much heavenly blessing. I never spent a happier month in all my Missionary life. To travel and labour thus in the Lord's cause, with a faithful and experienced brother, is very pleasant. After the day's work was over, the long evening hours were spent in useful reading and conversation concerning the things of the kingdom of God, the present aspect of our Missions, and our hopes concerning the future. We have distributed above 80 New Testaments in English and Bengali, 1800 Gospels, and above 4000 tracts. The retrospect upon such a tour is satisfactory in the highest degree; and this satisfaction arises from the consideration that it is that kind of apostolic labour which the Lord will assuredly bless, and which in the event will bear most abundant fruit.

In a radius of sixty miles around us, numberless and densely-peopled villages invite the advent of the messenger of peace. It is a great mistake to think that they have heard the gospel in every village. By no means. I confess it, with a feeling of shame, that almost every village I have been visiting with Mr. Lacroix was quite new to me; and towns with from 5000 to 25,000 inhabitants, such as Kyti, Dewangunge, Ramjibonpur, and Chunderconah, had probably never seen a Missionary before our late visit. So there is dense dark heathenism, untouched and unpenetrated hitherto, almost before our door, at a distance of forty to fifty miles.

Mr. Geidt remarks, upon the Missionary tours which he undertook—

With one or two exceptions we have experienced a great deal of kindness and goodwill towards us, and have much to be thankful for. And we have heard many a testimony expressed by natives themselves, which go to prove that Hinduism is on its wane, and shaken in its foundation. In illustration of this remark I will give you one or two instances. A rich baboo of a large village paid me several visits. The last time, when he sat, surrounded by a large crowd, near my hut, he said openly, "I compare Hinduism to a tree whose leaves are falling off, whose branches are cut down, and whose roots seem to be rotten: and there can be no doubt the trunk must fall ere long, and Christianity will be put into its place." In another village, a baboo did not rest until I went under his roof; and he showed me every kindness and attention during the two days I was with him. He came often, to see whether his men had prepared every thing properly, and would sit up with me till eleven o'clock at night, speaking on religion and the reformation of India. He is an intelligent man. Many Brahmins paid him visits while I was there. He very well knows, however, the interested motives which actuate their visits. I derive, of course, very great support for the sure success of Missionary work from the Word of God; yet there is a general feeling among the nation that Christianity will ultimately become the religion of this country, though it may not be in their generation. These and like testimonies operate as a great encouragement to the Missionary to go on, and fill his heart with pleasing hopes for the future; because there will surely come a time when all the ends of the earth shall become Christ's possession. Hallelujah!

Education.

Of the schools Mr. Weitbrecht speaks very hopefully. The native English school is attended by larger numbers than either the Government school or that supported by the Rajah. The number of children, however, in the district desirous of an English education is small. In reference to this circumstance Mr. Weitbrecht writes—

Thus it happens that about 150 or 180 pupils are distributed in three rival schools; and were it not for the general conviction being abroad that the best education can be obtained in the Church Missionary Schools, we should stand a poor chance of struggling effectually against so many disadvantages.

In my Bible class I have frequently been encouraged by the deep and lively interest of the pupils in the Word of God. When the first class were reading the history of David's fall and heartfelt repentance, the youths were much affected; and one said, "Many people here live in these sins, but we do not repent as David did." When I was reading with the second class Pharaoh's history, how he confessed, after the hailstorm, "I and my people are wicked," and yet hardened his heart again, some boys declared, "This is just as we do: when we hear the Bible explained, we feel a desire to believe in God, and after school is over we forget it again." After a few words of caution on my part, that it was dangerous to trifle with our eternal interests, the first boy in the class called out, "We are all Christians in heart: we are all convinced that this is the gospel of salvation: but how can we leave our friends and parents?" This is, indeed, the great difficulty with many enlightened youths: they feel the truth, and long to be benefited by it, but they do not see sufficiently the excellency of Christ—that He is worthy to be followed and loved, above father, mother, and friends. But I feel persuaded the Lord will manifest His glory, and there will be a great change for the better. It was after this stirring movement that one lad of the said class was missed in school for ten days, and the others informed me that he was being kept in close confinement because he avowed his faith in Christ. Three days afterwards I met the young man in the bazaar. I said, "Is it true that you have been kept in confinement?" "Yes."—"Why?" "Because I told my uncle's guru that I believed Christianity to be the only true religion, and the idols are all nothing. Upon this I was shut up, and a guard placed over me for ten days."—"How did you get free again?" "Yesterday I lost my patience, and cried, and said to my father, 'If you will not let me go, I shall hang myself.' Then my father was frightened, and my friends let me go." I encouraged him, and expressed a hope that he would boldly step forward and renounce his connexion with heathenism.

Another striking instance I may mention. Last February I was preaching in a fine village—Satipur: when I returned to my tent a young man came forward and said, "You knew my brother Moddusudden very well: he was monitor in your English school?" I replied, "Indeed I did; and now he is gone to another world." This Moddusudden was a highly respectable young man, and, like so many others, a "Christian in heart." After ascertaining some particulars about his last days—he died of a malignant fever—I inquired, "Did your brother on his sick-bed say any thing about the Christian religion?" The young man smiled, and replied, "Yes, he did tell us a great deal."—"What were his words?" "Oh! he very much exhorted us to believe in God and not in idols."—"What God?" "Why, the God you worship." The youth was evidently reluctant to come out with the fact; but so much became clear, that Moddusudden, my old pupil, whom I loved, and much desired to see in a state of salvation, delivered a faithful testimony to Jesus before his friends on his dying bed. Thus many a seed of corn is doubtless springing up and ripening unknown to him who is ploughing and sowing in hope.

KRISHNAGHUR.

The Sudder Station* of this Mission has been subjected to the very great disadvantage, inseparable from Indian Missions, of a frequent change of Missionaries through the failure of health. The Rev. C. H. Blumhardt has been absent in Europe, and the Rev. J. Innes, on account of the state of his wife's health, has also come home. The loss of these two experienced Missionaries was supplied by two German brethren, who had been a few years in India in connexion with another Mission, and so were happily acquainted with the language, but were only admitted to Deacons' orders by the Bishop of Calcutta in October 1850—the Rev. Messrs. Meyer and Bost. In June 1851 Mr. Hasell, of Calcutta, was removed to Krishnaghur, and Mr. Bost to Calcutta. The rest of the Mission has remained generally under the same arrangements as last year.

* Sudder—the chief seat of Government. Thus the town of Krishnaghur is the Sudder Station of the district of Krishnaghur, or Nuddea; Burdwan, of the district of Burdwan, &c.

General View of the Mission.

The moral and religious attainments of the Krishnaghur converts have been the subject of much criticism in periodical publications in India. In some quarters it has even been asserted that their profession of Christianity is little better than hypocrisy, and likely soon to come to an end. But there have been also found on the spot others, better able to speak of these things from personal knowledge and from extensive experience of the work of God, both at home and abroad; and they regard the Mission as affording much promise of Christian fruitfulness. Out of the large numbers of inquirers who first came forward, a considerable proportion were actuated only by worldly desires and hopes. Such persons are gradually withdrawing altogether from the Christian ranks; and the removal of their names causes an apparent diminution in the numbers. It has also never been concealed, that the mass of baptized converts were but babes in Christ; that their intellectual faculties were, like most other agriculturists, of a low order; and that their progress is impeded by their intimate connexions with surrounding heathenism. When the Missionaries undertook their spiritual oversight, they had no trained catechists or schoolmasters to assist them. All the external machinery also of a Mission—houses, churches, and schools, which usually spring up in a Mission before conversions begin—had in this case to be at once attended to, together with the care of large and scattered numbers of catechumens. It is no wonder, therefore, that the progress has been very slow, and that, upon a severe investigation, much will be discovered both erroneous and defective.

Still, the Committee see nothing in their former statements which they could wish to retract. They are persuaded that the work is of God, and that some spiritual progress, though slow and feeble, may be discerned by a spiritual eye. They have gained, they trust, much experience; and especially they have learnt to be content with the paucity of conversions in other Missions, until there shall have been raised up both institutions and native agents sufficient to supply the demands of a large and sudden accession of converts.

After these cautions, it cannot be alleged that the Committee are misleading the public if they notice a few particulars in which there is evidence of spiritual life, and the germ of hope, in the reports of the Missionaries.

The Rev. H. C. Krückeberg, who has charge of the Chupra district, states—

The whole number of Christians is 558, of whom 339 reside at Chupra, and the rest in the villages. The Christian village at Chupra numbers now eighty-one houses (straw huts). It is intersected with roads, and divided into seven portions: each portion is under one of the native assistants. They have to watch over the general conduct of the people, see that they attend worship, or, if unable, have prayers in their houses. The assistants have given me much satisfaction during the past year, more especially in a few cases of bad conduct, when they assisted in bringing the matter to light, and the parties to a sense of feeling their guilt, making public confession of the same before the assembled congregation, asking pardon, and the prayers of the people. The number of communicants is 92. On a day previous to the sacrament being administered, the members desirous of partaking of it have to come, the men to me and the women to Mrs. Krückeberg, when they are questioned about the state of their mind, their social relations and conduct; after which they meet for prayer.

The Rev. C. W. Lipp, in his report of the Rottenpur Station, after mentioning the removal from their office of not fewer than nine readers and teachers, and the exclusion from the church of many nominal Christians, writes—

The number of Christians under my care is, at the close of this year, 972 persons, of whom 701 are baptized and 271 unbaptized; Jogindo not included. The number of Christian villages in connexion with this Mission is fourteen. They being constantly drained of their best members, by their moving to this or some other head-quarters of the Mission, little cheering can be said about their spiritual improvement, except that those who made originally, or who, by degrees, were brought to make some heart-work of their being Christians—and their number is small—are still standing, and steadily increasing. The others, being dead, are dead still; and almost every endeavour to call them to the means of grace proves fruitless, dead as they are in trespasses and sins, and surrounded with the thick, thick darkness of an old stagnant heathen world.

Those readers and teachers who are left work on satisfactorily; and although one would wish them more spiritual in general, and more stirring and active in particular, they have improved also in these points more or less. This improvement, both in the agents and in the congregation, is owing, as an outward means, to the creation of "elders of the church." These have weekly meetings with their pastor. It is also owing to our prayer-meetings, which have this year, too, been regularly kept up and well attended to.

There is a large village in the neighbourhood where there is a large (heathen) school, which is not only daily visited by the native Christian teachers, but also by the Missionaries ; and preaching and giving gospels and tracts is almost daily carried on ; but especially on the market days. A new attempt has also been made to reach the heathen. This church appointed, about the beginning of the present year, two (native) evangelists, who have no other duty to perform but to go from place to place, far and near, with their Bible. They have been out preaching the best part of this year.

Mr. Lipp also notices the institution of a loan fund. The remarks connected with this subject will serve to throw considerable light upon the social condition of the people.

Another thing, which is calculated to be very beneficial to our Christians, is a loan fund, the creation of which has sprung up from the meetings of the elders. Its object is, in the first place, to settle our school-boys and school-girls. For, after giving them their schooling, as all Christian children ought to have it, the question, "What is to become of the boys who have been schooled, and who"—though here we have not much difficulty in the matter—"will not go back to the plough?" is not yet solved, and something must be done, lest the teaching our boys unfit them for life. The fact is, that they must be settled in some way or other, otherwise they will be at the end vagabonds, and nothing else, though they have been at school for ever so long, and learned ever so well. If this fund prosper, we shall be able both to teach some boys trades, and also to set them up afterwards. The fund is also intended to assist such of the Christians as are worthy of receiving assistance in their agricultural pursuits. Lastly, it is to enable us by degrees to build new villages, with a view of collecting the Christians, as opportunities may offer, into several spots, and also of raising their outward position and condition ; for until now our Christians have not proved a light and a salt to their heathen neighbours ; but, on the contrary, they have learned, or rather stuck to, the ways of them ; and it is also clear that it is useless to expect great things—much spiritual advancement—from congregations almost entirely made up of day-labourers, or very inferior cultivators of the ground, the greatest part of whom live in abject poverty. Thus the fund will not only prove very useful, but its coming into existence is otherwise important. It has come out of the church itself, and is, as it were, the first dawn of light, and of being alive not only to the privileges, but also to the duties of Christians. Such an object would die away soon, or at least would prove very inadequate to the wants which it is to remove, if not assisted by Europeans. For the present, besides assisting some cultivators a little, all we have been able to do is making arrangements for setting up a butcher, a barber, and a book-binder, in the Christian village of Rottenpur. The fund is now spent.

The Rev. F. Schurr writes, respecting the Station of Kabastanga—

Previous to the administration of the Lord's Supper due notice and instruction are given relative to the subject, and the candidates are subsequently examined individually. One hundred and eight persons have been admitted during the past year. These are generally seasons of refreshment from the Lord. Most of the communicants appear to appreciate and profit by this divine ordinance.

I have carried the glad tidings of salvation to both Hindus and Mahomedans in the neighbourhood. Two of the readers have recently made a prolonged tour, and returned anticipating a rich harvest at a future period in some of the villages they visited. May God graciously exceed their hopes and our prayers !

The general aspect of this moral wilderness shows that the heaven is working in some, and inspires the hope that it will ultimately penetrate the whole mass, and change the desert into a garden of the Lord.

The most hopeful feature, however, of the work at Krishnaghur is to be found in the Solo District, which is thus described in the report of the Corresponding Committee—

We have not received from this Station either report or returns for the year, owing probably to a severe and dangerous illness with which the Rev. C. Bomwetsch was seized in August last, and which brought him to the very verge of the grave. The Lord was graciously pleased to preserve him from death, for the work's sake as we trust ; but his strength was not fully restored until after a voyage to sea.

Although we have had no report from the Missionary himself, however, we have had—what some would consider still more satisfactory—the testimony of two or three judicious and disinterested friends, who have visited the district at different times, and have spoken in very pleasing terms of the success of Mr. Bomwetsch's zealous exertions, in both the schools and the congregation, more especially the former.

Well-selected native Christians—both those who have already been acting as readers or teachers, and younger ones, who give promise of becoming useful in such capacities—are sent from the other Bengal Stations, at the discretion of the several Missionaries, to Solo, and there enter the classes in training, living, during the period of their stay, with the other elder pupils of the schools, in the simplest native manner, attending the lessons of Mr. Bomwetsch, and, when deemed by him sufficiently qualified, giving lessons to the younger scholars under his eye, until they become well enough acquainted with the principles and mode of teaching adopted by Mr. Bomwetsch, to conduct a school or assist in conducting one themselves.

Persons who are accustomed to associate the idea of a normal school with a stately edifice, large establishment, fine lecture and class-rooms, well-paid professors, &c., would feel inclined, on coming into the Solo school, to ask, "Where is it?" But let them stay there a few days, and see the teacher pupils coming at the regular hours from their simple native dwellings to the Missionary's lessons in the Mission-house or the schools. Let them hear those lessons given, even though they may not understand them, being in the Bengali language ; let them watch the intelligence that soon lights up the native countenance, and the prompt replies which start forth to the teacher's rapid questions, whether they be on the map, the globe, history, the grammar, the music-board, or the Bible itself; let them observe the hour of the lesson come to an end, and yet teacher and class alike unwilling to separate from an engagement so interesting to both; let them further listen to the ordinary lessons and singing in the schools, even in the Infant-school, and sit down with the native flock on a mat on the floor of the odd-looking chapel, where they assemble for worship; and let them observe, yea, feel the spirit which breathes through the whole, and they will ask no more, "Where is the training school?" They will know, they will feel, that they are in the midst of it. They will have learned that without display or extravagance, without cloistered halls, surpliced students, or any dwarfish mimicry of English collegiate apparatus, which would be absurd if it were not so pernicious, because destructive of what we want to cherish—native simplicity in our native churches—an effective and valuable school can be carried on for the training of teachers, both for the schools and the chapels, for the young and the old of our growing native Christian congregations.

But the whole of the training cannot be seen at Solo. The visitor, who wishes to witness a most important part of it, must go out with the Missionary and his selected band of helpers and learners, on his Missionary excursions into the scattered towns and villages of Bengal: he must stand with him under a tree, or in the open bazaar of the village, whilst he preaches to the people, Jesus; meets their objections, bears with their perversity and ignorance, endures their insolence, reproaches, and taunts, and pleads with them for their souls; whilst the learners stand by, and the more advanced of them take a share when they can in the animated discussion. He must accompany the party back after nightfall, weary but not disheartened, to the tent, and hear the conversation wherewith they—the Missionary and his disciples—beguile the way across the plains; should share the Missionary's simple evening meal, and be present when the neophytes gather again in the tent to read the Scriptures for their own souls' good, and hear the Missionary's exposition and application of them to the circumstances of the hearers, and perhaps also to the events of the day, and when they kneel together to implore with a fervency, which in such circumstances only is easily experienced, grace for themselves, and mercy and salvation for India and a perishing world. And yet again should he join the party in the morning, when they seek to sanctify and strengthen their souls by the Word of God and prayer, in anticipation of the labours of the day. And as he witnesses all this, let him remember that it is continued day after day for a month or more, and he will be able to form some better judgment of the character of the training influences which may be, and which in this instance are, brought to bear on the minds, characters, and habits of those whom we are to look to for usefulness in the settling churches of this country.

These are the influences in which we feel most confidence, and without which all the scholar-craft in the world will leave Missionary or pastoral labourers for the native, or indeed for any flocks, no better than “a sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.”

* Testimony of the Rev. H. Thomas.

The Committee close their account of the Krishnaghur Mission by citing the testimony of the Rev. Henry Thomas, one of the Chaplains at Calcutta, who, at a Missionary prayer-meeting in Calcutta, thus spoke of a visit he had recently paid to the Mission—

I have been enabled to fulfil a long-cherished wish of seeing the Missions at Krishnaghur and Burdwan. I have been deeply interested in many things I have seen, and trust it has been profitable to my own soul, and that I may be instrumental in stirring up others to regard the work of Missions with increasing interest, and especially to pray for those engaged in the work, who long for and value the prayers of faithful brethren on their behalf.

In speaking of the schools and their operations, I should premise that as these are all conducted in the vernacular tongue—except the English schools at the Sudder Stations of Krishnaghur and Burdwan—I laboured under great disadvantage in examining the young people educated in them. I visited not only all the Christian boys' and girls' schools, but also many of the out-schools for heathen children, and much good is being done by, and may be expected to result from them. It is indeed pleasing to see the lively interest manifested by the children, and to hear their ready answers to the questions asked. I was surprised at the proficiency of many of the children: it proves that much care is taken, and they are well instructed. I believe that these schools might well bear comparison with schools for children in the same classes of life in England.

Besides church services, the Missionaries generally have stated meetings for prayer, and catechetical instruction, for men and women separately. At some Stations, four or five days in the week are so engaged. These meetings are found to be of essential use, enabling the Missionary to afford counsel and instruction in a familiar way to the people, tending to give a practical turn to their minds, disabusing them of a hundred prejudices, and building them up by the Word in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. On one of these occasions, at Rottenpur, being asked to address the assembled people, I told them, among other things, of our prayer-meetings in this room, and how we longed to know that they walked according to the gospel, and by their life and conversation afforded a Christian example to their heathen neighbours. The Missionary asked them if they had any thing to say in answer, and one of them said, Yes, they had something to say, and that was, to ask our prayers in their behalf, that they might be enabled so to live as to recommend the gospel to their countrymen, and never to defame the Christian character. At Bollopur, where I passed a Sunday, instruction was imparted between the services to classes of grown-up people; and in the classes might be seen some old men, who, though unable to read a word, evinced much interest in the Bible stories, and surprised me with their answers to questions relating to scripture facts. The children, too, have their Sunday lesson.

I am confident that a good work is going on in the Mission field, as much as in this city, or in the different parts of India. We are too apt to form our judgment of native Christians on wrong grounds, by comparing them with European Christians, who have by birth and education long been habituated to walk according to the precepts of the Gospel; whereas, the proper standard of comparison lies between them and their heathen countrymen, or between their own present and former state. I am convinced of this, that the more of the work of God there is in the heart, the more readiness there will be to acknowledge the reality of the work in the hearts of our native brethren.

BHAGULPUR.

The Rev. E. Drøese labours singly at this Station.

Baptisms, chiefly of hill-people.

This Mission was commenced in March 1850, though a few Christian laymen had previously established a school, and several natives had been brought to a knowledge of the truth, and some of them had been baptized. On the 2d of April 1851, five adults and one child were baptized; one being a soldier, about twenty-four years of age, and another a teacher in the government school, aged twenty-two. Two were women, a Hindu, and a Mahommedan with her child. In a later communication, July 9, Mr. Drøese writes—

On the 3d instant eleven more were received by baptism into the church of Christ. Five of them were females; among them, the two eldest girls of Mrs. Drøese's school. All the baptized are of the hill tribes. They were baptized in the presence of a numerous congregation of white and coloured people. Archdeacon Pratt was present, and delivered to them a simple and impressive address, which has made quite a stir among the native Christians.

On the 29th of October the same Missionary writes—

You will be glad to hear that again eighteen souls have been received into the Church of Christ—thirteen adults, and five children belonging to them. The eldest of those baptized was a man of about fifty years, the youngest a babe of six months. All of them, except one, are hill people. Oh, that the Hindus and Mahommedans would begin to come in as numerously! As yet, only five out of forty-one are not hill people.

The fact of forty-one baptisms, within a period of labour of little more than a year and a half, is full of encouragement. It must be, however, borne in mind, that the hill tribes have no caste, and no antiquated religious system, and are, therefore, generally regarded by the Missionaries as more likely to receive the gospel freely, and at once. It has been stated, also, that their conversion will have little or no effect upon the Hindus and Mahommedans. This statement may well be questioned. Every accession to the church of Christ, in the sight of the heathen, must have some effect upon them at present; and as soon as light dawns upon any heathen mind, that mind will at once become susceptible to the encouragement which these conversions suggest.

It is not the least interesting fact, connected with conversions among the hill tribes, that they exhibit the conquest of the gospel over races who never bowed to the ancient conquerors of Hindustan.

BENARES.

Native-Christian Congregation.

The native Church has received an increase, the number of baptisms having exceeded that of deaths and removals. It amounts to 314, of whom twenty-six reside at Ghurwa, the rest, near or at Sigra.

In the course of the year there were thirty-three baptisms, of whom ten were adults, being eight men and two women. Two of the baptized were young men, who, about fifteen years previously, had been pupils under the instruction of the Missionaries, but had left Benares without embracing the truth; but after so long an interval, the seed that had been sown began to spring up. Two others of the baptized were Brahmin youths in Jay Narayan's school. The parents and friends of one youth at first violently opposed the baptism, and resorted to a court of law, which directed the youth to be delivered to his friends, after he had fled to the Missionaries for protection. By a remarkable and unlooked-for series of events the boy was at last allowed to follow his own desire.* The father of the other youth stated, "If my son wishes to become a Christian I can have no objection, for he is not a beast, that I should wish to bind him with ropes." The two youths received baptism on September the 3d, at St. Paul's Church, Sigra, in the presence of a large number of fellow-students from Jay Narayan's, and some baboos from the city. The ceremony was solemn: the heathen scholars and the baboos all stood while the youths made their public profession of their faith in Jesus Christ. Since their baptism these lads have continued regularly to attend the school, and to study Sanscrit, and, to all appearance, are on good terms with their fellow-students.

* Full particulars of this young man, Gauri Shankar, are given in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for July 1852, and of his companion, Muni Lal, in the Number for August.

The congregation at Ghurwa numbers twenty-six. It is under the charge of Mr. Woods, European Catechist. The Missionaries occasionally visit it. Land was rented, and Native Christians located upon it, as an experiment, which is thus described—

The aim we have in view is, to raise a congregation which may in time become independent of European support. So long as we must have European pastors to take charge of Native-Christian congregations; or, if we have native ministers, so long as these must be supported by foreign contributions; we cannot call that congregation firmly rooted and independent. Our constant aim, therefore, ought to be, to elevate, not only the minds of our people, but to raise their temporal condition also, that they may be able to maintain their own minister; for I have no hope that Government ever will maintain them. May the time soon come, when we shall see hundreds of native ministers supported by their own congregations, without our help!

The Rev. G. G. Cutlbert, on a recent visit to Benares, spent a day and a night at this little Christian native Outstation, with three other Missionaries, and all were much interested by the simple, rural, yet Christian aspect of the whole infant settlement. Some families are especially industrious, and have produced a good effect upon their heathen neighbours. On an occasion when the women of the neighbouring villages had assembled to celebrate some heathen festival, and were desirous of the company of some Hindu women nearest to the Christians, the influence of the latter prevailed, and the Hindus refused to join their heathen countrywomen. Nor is direct Mission-work neglected. A catechist resides on the spot, and, besides, the Missionaries make frequent visits.

Education.

The Orphan Boys' and Girls'-schools, and an Infant-school, are kept at Sigra. The only trade now carried on in connexion with these Institutions is bookbinding, which has produced some profit.

Jay Narayan's College and Free-school has suffered many and severe trials during the last year. The health of the Principal, the Rev. Michael J. Wilkinson, obliged him to withdraw to the hills in the early part of last year. Mr. Acheson has had the general superintendence of the English classes, and the Missionaries have severally contributed their help in different departments. The chaplain of the Station also most kindly undertook to carry forward the mathematical studies of the pupils. By these means the school has been kept together, and has even increased in numbers. At the close of the year the scholars were 493.

At the close of last year a terrible blow was inflicted upon the Mission. An European teacher, who had been for many years employed as a teacher, and whose labours had given great satisfaction to all parties, suddenly became, under the evil influence of another party, a changed character, and, through cruel treatment, a murderer of his own child, and has been transported for life. Under this fearful trial, the confidence and sympathy manifested by Christian friends on the spot proved a great alleviation to the Missionaries, and abundantly testified to the general respect which the Mission enjoys.

As soon as this sad intelligence reached England, Mr. W. Wilkinson, who had formerly been a teacher in the school, but had returned home on account of health, immediately volunteered to return to Benares; and, in the course of three or four days, started by the overland route on his way to India.

Preaching to the Heathen.

The Rev. W. Smith and the Rev. C. Reuther have wholly devoted their labours to this work: each of the other Missionaries, and the catechists, also bear their part in the same. Mr. Smith reports—

In December, after making a regular tour of about half the city, from the ghâts upwards, I commenced, as usual in the cold weather, to itinerate, accompanied by our excellent co-adjutors, Triloke and Nehemiah. Afterwards, in company with my brethren Fuchs and Reuther, I went to Gorruckpur, where we held our Missionary conference. Thus in the Gorruckpur, Azimgurh, Jaunpur, Ghazipur, Benares, Mirzapur, and Allahabad districts, 380 towns and villages were visited—some of them repeatedly—the Word spoken, discussions held, and a vast number of books distributed; and had it not been for the unusual quantity of rain which fell, we should have been able to do more work in this way.

The opposition manifested in the city at present is great, and the spirit of the people against Christ is bitter. This may arise, in part, from a respectable boy from Jay Narayan's school having been lately baptized by Brother Leupolt, and a Gosain (Hindu devotee), with a good deal of property, having joined us. Year by year, and, I may say, month by month, the two armies of Christ and Satan respectively seem coming more and more into contact. May the servants of the Lord, who truly are a "little flock," while their enemies "fill the country," have on the whole armour of God, and be strong in Him, and in the power of His might!

Of the same work Mr. Reuther reports—

Since I joined this Mission nearly my whole time has been employed in preaching to the heathen. I have visited the city nine or ten times a week, and spent from three to five hours every day in the streets of it. In a city like Benares, a preaching Missionary must be prepared to meet with a great deal of opposition, which I have frequently experienced. Numbers of enemies have disturbed, and even dispersed, my congregations; one crying, "Now Jesus comes!" another, "The padre is a great liar: don't hear him; he will make you all Christians!" a third, "He is the son of an evil spirit, an unclean being: let him worship Ram." Occasionally, also, pebbles, or water from the Ganges, have been thrown at me, and once I was even wounded by a brick being thrown at my head. However, these things are becoming less every year. Upon the whole, the people listen well, and often manifest a considerable degree of attention; so much so, that now and then I could perceive them to be deeply impressed with the gospel plan of salvation.

The Rev. C. B. Leupolt, in his report of his labours in the same department, writes—

Some time ago, when preaching in the city, I was requested by a man to deliver a message to the Home Committee. It was as follows. In mentioning it, I shall endeavour to use, as far as possible, the man's own words. "You have," he said, "now preached the gospel many years, spent thousands of thousands of rupees in tracts, and Scriptures, and teaching, and going about from street to street and lane to lane, and little is the effect that your labours and profusion of money have produced; for what are those few hundred converts, which you have in the several Missions, in comparison to the mass of the people? And why is this? I will tell you. Your system of carrying on your work is faulty. The fault lies at the root; and unless you pursue a new course, adopt a new plan, you will never succeed. That radical change in your plan must commence at home. You come out on a wrong principle. Tell, therefore, your friends at home that they must change their system, and then they will have success, and not till then."—"But what is this false principle?" I asked. He replied, "The false principle is this: you preach well; all you say about God, His goodness, His love and care, His holiness and mercy, is excellent; the morals which you preach are beautiful; all you say about the resurrection, about heaven, about the life to come, is cheering. But when you thus preach, and have all the hearts of the people with you, you spoil the thing again by a foolish part of your preaching, which is the cross of Christ. Leave that out: refrain from telling people that Jesus Christ was crucified for them, for that is an offence to us all. Why call Jesus Christ by this name? Why not call him God, Lord, Saviour? but cease to preach Christ crucified; and tell your friends at home to give their preachers special instruction that this doctrine be no longer preached, and numbers will embrace Christianity."—"Is this all?" I replied. "Yes," was the answer.—"Well, friend," I said, "this is nothing new that you tell us: 1800 years ago people like yourself told St. Paul the Apostle the same things. The cross of Christ, some said, was foolishness; others considered it an offence. Yet, strange to say, this very foolishness, i. e. the cross of Christ, has achieved the most paramount revolutions in the world. It was the preaching of Christ crucified by which our forefathers were converted; and it is the preaching of Christ crucified which will overturn all the idols of Hindustan; and it is this very doctrine in which we rejoice and glory most.”—“Well,” he continued, “if you are a wise man, follow my plan; if a fool, go in your own foolish way. If you wish to see India converted, follow my advice; and if you desire to labour in vain, follow your own foolish head.” Having said this he walked away.

Mr. Cuthbert thus describes the impression produced upon his mind by observing how much preaching was the “business” of the Missionaries—

In that immense city, filled with idol-temples, where truly Satan reigns, there the daily work of the Missionaries is, early in the morning to go to the ghâts, where so many Hindus from far and near assemble to bathe in the sacred stream—Brahmins and others. With these people the Missionaries hold converse and discussion. Strangers often view the ministers of the gospel with astonishment, and argue at first against that gospel; but, unable to refute its truths, remain silent, and frequently receive tracts and books, which they carry away to their distant homes. In the afternoon the Missionaries go through the streets, and into the corners of the city, and there preach Christ and His salvation; and, although much exposed, seldom finding a covered place, yet they regularly proceed in this daily task, accompanied by catechists. They have preaching chapels, but did not use them during my visit, but preached in the open streets. At times few attend to the catechist at first, until some person of note stops to listen: then many follow his example, and often dispute with the preacher. The Missionary relieves the catechist by reading some chapter of the Bible, and commenting on it. It was remarkable with what silent attention “the Word” was usually received: while the comments and exhortations of the preacher frequently called forth noisy questionings and disputings, the reading of Scripture would not be interrupted, nor draw forth any objection. Does not this prove that Word itself to be admirably suited, by Him who gave it, to be used as an instrument for the conversion of the heathen? I rejoiced at witnessing especially the zeal of a military officer, a true soldier of Christ, who, on the occasion of a short stay at Benares, made it a practice to accompany the Missionaries daily into the “streets and lanes of the city,” speaking to the people about their souls and their Saviour; not exactly preaching to them in the ordinary way, but talking to them as he met them in the street, or as they sat in their shops, where customers and passers-by stopped to listen, and others gathering round, a crowd would assemble, and with them this Christian soldier pleaded his Master’s cause. Not only so, but at other times, and in other places, he would stir up others who loved Jesus to speak for Him. Some may object to this, but for my part, I only wish that a few more such officers were found willing to preach Christ and His gospel to their fellow sinners.

These extended extracts may be aptly closed by the heart-stirring appeal of one of the Missionaries engaged in this blessed employment of making known the gospel to them who have not heard of Christ. The Rev. J. Fuchs writes—

One remark I would make from my short experience, which has been often mentioned—that the preaching in the city is particularly a work of faith, which, to persevere in, and to do cheerfully, requires much patience, love, wisdom, and strength from above; and therefore all true Christians, who desire to see the kingdom of God established in Hindustan, ought to make it their special duty to remember daily in their prayers those who preach the gospel of a crucified Saviour, which is to the Mahommedans foolishness, and to the Hindus a rock of offence, but which, nevertheless, is the only means of their salvation.

If any thing can give additional force to this appeal for the prayers of Christians at home, it will be found in the fact, that these laborious and patient Missionaries themselves abound in prayer. Mr. Cuthbert remarks—

Prayerfulness is the blessed feature of this Mission, which struck me especially. The Missionaries from the two Stations, Sigra and Bhelapur, meet for united prayer every Wednesday evening at the former place; and again, on Saturday evening, they go to Bhelapur, and spend the evening in prayer and Christian conversation. They have also a clerical meeting every two months, in which they are joined by the East-India Company's clergy of Benares and surrounding Stations. Also the first Monday in every month is especially a day of prayer. In the morning the Native Christians meet in the prayer-room with the school-boys and girls, and catechists. In the evening the natives meet again in their prayer-room, and the Missionaries also have a meeting among themselves. Messrs. French and Stuart closed their visit to Benares at the Saturday evening meeting, when just setting out on their way to Agra; and I, too, then met all the brethren for the last time, and, when we commended each other to the Lord, those who were going and those who were staying, there were amongst us expanding hearts and flowing eyes, and surely we felt that the name of the place was, "The Lord is here."

JAUNPUR.

The city still continues without a Missionary. It is visited by the Missionaries from Benares as frequently as their own onerous duties permit them to do so. The Mission work is chiefly confined to schools under the care of Mr. Caesar, of which there are four, one of them being at Azimgurh, 40 miles distant from Jaunpur. They together contain between 300 and 400 intelligent native youths, who, through the medium of the English and vernacular languages, are receiving a sound scriptural education.

Mr. Reuther, in company with Messrs. Smith and Fuchs, visited Jaunpur in February 1851, and thus speaks of it in a letter of May 15—

After having delivered our glad tidings in several villages, we reached Jaunpur on the 11th of February. We stayed there for a day in the Mission-house, visited the Free-school in the afternoon, and went to the bazaar in the evening. The school was attended by 224 boys: we examined several of the higher classes, and were much gratified to find that what the boys had read they had read well.

Jaunpur seems to be a large and useful field for a Missionary, and it is much to be regretted that there is no one to supply it. What a deal of good might be done there by a zealous and devoted Missionary, a man well instructed unto the kingdom of God, who should be able to bring forth out of his treasure things new and old! The English and native congregations; the native schools; the bazaar preaching; the villages round about Jaunpur; Azimgurh, with its school, as an Out-station—all this, and even more, is ready for a Missionary.

CHUNAR.

This Station cannot be continued much longer on the Society's list, being only occasionally visited by a Missionary, and the Native-Christian flock consisting, as stated last year, of persons connected with the cantonment, and therefore properly belonging to the ministerial charge of the chaplain of the Station.

GORRUCKPUR.

The Missionary duties of this Station have been carried on during the last year by the Rev. J. P. Mengé alone, whose health has been mercifully preserved under labours of no ordinary amount. Two native congregations—one at Gorruckpur, the other at the Christian village Basharatpur, two miles distant—a large English school, orphan-schools, and a vernacular school, together with addresses to the heathen in bazaars and public thoroughfares, occupy, in constant succession, the time of the Missionary.

General View—Baptisms.

Mr. Mengé states, in his Annual Report—

Very eventful to the Gorruckpur Mission has been the year which is now closing. Never, as long as I have been here, and that is now more than ten years, have I been so much encouraged in my work as I have been during the last ten months. The gospel has not merely been made known to numbers of persons, who have visited the Station from all parts of the district, but has been acknowledged by many, whose temporal interest was against it, as the message of the Most High to sinful men, to make them wise unto salvation. Severe trials, too, have not been wanting; but has ever the kingdom of Satan been vigorously attacked without strong opposition on his part?

Among the baptisms which have taken place, Mr. Mengé reports the case of one family which has afforded him much encouragement, and which he thus describes—

A respectable Kaist, with whom I became acquainted more than seven years ago, is a native of the kingdom of Oude, and was born not many miles distant from Lucknow. He received a good education, and was the munshi of Mr. Crawford, chaplain of Allahabad, many years ago. From him he received a New Testament, which he read through, and, very soon after, his conscience smote him, when he thought of worshipping idols, and he accordingly left it off, and has, since then, been reading and really studying the sacred Scriptures. I became acquainted with him here, when preaching in the bazaar, and invited him to visit me regularly in my house. This he also did for about two years, and I was often astonished at the knowledge of Scripture he possessed. He could say by heart long portions of the gospels, but he still was not ready to receive baptism. He sometimes urged the case of Cornelius, who was a believer long before he was baptized, &c., as a sufficient excuse for not receiving baptism, though a believer in Christ. There was one mark in his character which pleased me all along, viz. that he warmly defended the truths of the gospel before Hindus and Mahommedans. He gained his livelihood as a native doctor; and, from what I know of him now, he certainly appears to be well versed in all the arcana of native pharmacology and pharmacy, and has been the means of curing some difficult cases.

The wife and a brother of this man, together with his servant, became candidates for baptism, and earnestly desirous of being received into the visible church of Christ. Mrs. Mengé examined the wife, and found her to be “a very amiable, simple-minded woman, full of joy and gratitude to God. She can read her Bible in the Persian and Arabic character.” “They were all baptized on the 3d of August. The two brothers come to me two evenings in the week, when I explain to them the Word of God. They are both anxious to serve the Lord by making known the gospel to their benighted countrymen.”

Mr. Mengé has also been much encouraged by a party of more than twenty cultivators, who have lately renounced idolatry, and sought Christian instruction in a body, and who have with that view been permitted to settle at Basharatpur. This case, like the last, receives an additional interest from the fact that it is connected with the memory of zealous Missionary friends, who, at the time, saw no fruit of their labours. They came from Mahewa, where, for several years, a school was maintained by the late excellent Miss Bird, who resided at Gorruckpur, with her brother, R. M. Bird, Esq.—“a most devoted female Missionary,” writes Mr. Mengé, “who did all she could, during the years she was in India, to benefit the females, adults as well as children.”

Visit of the Rev. G. G. Cuthbert.

Mr. Cuthbert thus reports the result of his personal observations at this Station—

On reaching Gorruckpur on the 14th of February I was greatly surprised and delighted at the aspect of things. I expected to find the farm and settlements at Basharatpur a failure, but it was quite the opposite: every thing was in a most thriving state. Some years ago the land was covered with jungle. Native-Christian families were settled upon it, and assisted with some farm implements. For some time its success seemed doubtful. Now all is going on well: above a hundred individuals—self-supporting—crops flourishing—cottages cheerful—all full of promise. When we went on a week-day evening, notice having been given for service, the people, like those in an English village, were waiting outside the church for their minister. They formed two rows for us to pass through, making their salaams. Mr. Mengé preached. My attention was attracted by a child, who appeared to be able to read a Hindui Bible that lay upon her little knees. After service I called her to me, and ascertained that she was about four years and a-half old, and that she could read pretty well. There were three or four others equally competent. There is a good catechist at Basharatpur, who takes much pains with the people. The whole place is most cheering; in appearance like a sanatorium, and really much improved by cultivation. On Sunday morning I again accompanied Mr. Mengé to the Basharatpur church, and addressed the congregation on Matt. xi. 28—30. Their serious attention was very pleasing.

The amount of work that Mr. Mengé gets through is truly surprising. English and native services—there are two native congregations, that at Basharatpur being above two miles from Gorruckpur—English and vernacular schools, preaching in bazaars, and all the details of a double Mission. Mrs. Mengé has the Orphan Girls'-school in very nice order; and Mr. Greenfield, the English schoolmaster, is a zealous and efficient helper in his department.

AGRA.

The Rev. C. G. Pfander has been absent from India during the last year, in consequence of his wife and family returning to England on account of ill-health.

Secundra—the Printing-press.

The Rev. F. E. Schneider has had the care of the native-Christian congregation at Secundra. This village is a feature in the Mission of great promise. The Society's printing press affords abundant supply of labour, and the Christian character of the people is maintained by the zealous superintendence of a resident Missionary. The number of adults is 182; of communicants, 120. The village has its church, with a peal of bells presented by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-West Provinces, its Infant and Day-schools, and its village hall, in which Missionary and Bible meetings are held.

The Orphan Institutions comprise thirty boys and eight girls. These, together with the other schools, are under the care of native teachers, and are reported to be in a satisfactory condition. It is stated—

The printing press, under the able management of its superintendant, Mr. Longden, has been very successful in its various departments. Whilst affording ample employment to the inhabitants of the Christian village, it has, from its available profits, materially contributed to the support of the Orphan Institutions; so that the subscriptions formerly paid by Christian friends to these institutions can, with their sanction, be transferred to the College fund. If, after defraying all the expenses connected with the support of the Orphan Institutions, a yearly surplus of profits should remain, it is the desire of the [local] Committee that it should be devoted to the gradual formation of an endowment fund for the church at Secundra, for the support of a pastor.

The Rev. C. T. Hoernle has had the charge of the Native-Christian congregation at the Kuttra, in the city of Agra. He gives the following account—

When I came to Agra in 1839, I used to preach at the Kuttra chapel. The whole congregation then consisted, besides the orphan children, of six or eight adult members. Now it numbers 110 souls; viz. 33 men, 30 women, 23 boys. and 24 girls. This increase certainly calls for gratitude towards the Lord who has given it. But besides the above members, whose names are registered, and who regularly attend on the means of grace at this chapel, there are other Christians of various communities—as Armenians, Nestorians, Greeks, and Indo-Britons—who, without having formally joined the congregation, attend divine service, and occasionally partake of the Lord's Supper. Including these, about 20, the whole number of Native and East-Indian Christians connected with the Kuttra congregation amounts to 130 members, 46 of whom are regular communicants.

The Kuttra College School.

The design, long cherished by the friends at Agra, of an Institution for the education of the higher classes of natives upon a Christian foundation, has been greatly advanced during the last year towards a successful issue.

The building of the College is rapidly advancing. An officer of the engineers has most kindly undertaken to superintend the work, and funds are coming liberally in from most unexpected quarters; among others, a number of native heathen gentlemen at Allahabad spontaneously subscribed about fifty pounds. In the mean time, the Rev. Messrs. French and Stuart have devoted themselves to the study of the native languages, and to the teaching of a school containing 180 boys, which is to form the nucleus of the new College. Their labours have been already blessed, not only by the considerable increase of numbers, but in a marked progress in the knowledge and mental attainments of the pupils.

The Rev. T. V. French thus describes the system of education upon which the Institution is based—

Christian truth is made the basis of that which is taught, and Christian morals the basis of the discipline. Though opposition and hostility are occasionally scarcely repressed from exhibiting itself openly in the remarks which the boys are encouraged to make, on the whole, scriptural teaching is well received, and that not unfrequently with a genuine expression of admiration. The endeavour is, to convey such teaching, not by statements made in the outset which shall violently shock their prejudices, and which are in danger of awakening ridicule or disgust; but by a course of instruction which shall be uniformly solemn in tone, and adapted, as far as possible, to the state of mind and power of comprehension of the pupils. The result is hoped for, from the bringing to bear upon their minds of a sustained and steady influence, and seizing every opportunity afforded by inquiries elicited from the boys themselves, and by simple explanations of the passage in hand, rather than from running violently counter to their feelings, and treating them with contempt. In some two or three instances, it is even now hoped that the blade is beginning to appear. These cases serve to excite interest and attention; but to say more of them at present would be premature. The success attendant on school efforts seems especially to call for faith and patience. Evening instruction has been occasionally extended to a few of the boys in the Government College. Considerable attention has been awakened among some of these, by the desire to discover wherein our system of education will differ from their own. Thus the Bible comes under their notice. Their acute observation will lead them to take careful notice of the moral effects which a Christian education will produce. We are therefore especially anxious that an improved tone in regard of truthfulness should distinguish those who go forth from our Institution. We have to lament the existence of some causes which materially hinder the efficiency of the work. The hopelessness of being able to supply the boys with good and proper books, considering their own poverty and the great cost of educational books in this country, is a constant subject of uneasiness. Few presents would be more acceptable from friends in England than a dozen copies of any really good elementary work on science, history, moral philosophy, or general knowledge.

Preaching to the Heathen.

The Missionaries, or their catechists, have gone out daily to address the heathen. Mr. Hoernle makes the following remarks upon the state of the Mahommedan population in Agra—

The Mahommedans of this place have been very quiet this year. Except an occasional outburst of their anger at our discussions in the bazaar, and now and then a principal argument, backed by a brick-bat directed at our catechists, no controversy of any note has taken place. Although they have often been challenged to disprove, if they can, the evidence advanced against Islam in Mr. Pfander's "Mizan-ul-Haqq," none have come forward to attempt the task. There is, however, a considerable stir amongst the Mahommedans in other quarters. At Delhi a most interesting controversy has lately been carried on between two clever and well-educated Hindus, and the learned Kазie of that city. One of the former, although he has not yet made a confession of his faith, is fully convinced of the truth as it is in Christ. He and his friend have ably contended for the Christian truth, overthrowing, in their own clever way, all the arguments advanced by their antagonist in favour of Mahommed and the Korân. Many Mahommedans have since taken to reading our Scriptures and controversial books. I have been frequently requested to supply them with these books, and large packets have been sent to Delhi. The motive is doubtless, with many, only a desire to find objections against Christianity and the divine authority of our Scriptures. They wish to attack us on our own ground, which is evident from the tenor of certain questions that were lately put to me in writing: yet the perusal of these books may, by the grace of God, become the means of enlightening the heart of one or another, as it has often been the case with infidels at home.

The Out-Station at Runkutta.

Of this Mr. Schneider writes—

Our branch Mission at Runkutta, five miles west of Secundra, has been carried on in the same simple and quiet way as was stated in our last report. The undertaking, after more than four years, cannot any more be considered as a trial. We not only perceive that this Mission can be carried on without much difficulty, but that it presents also a field not altogether barren, although we cannot yet speak much of fruit. Our two labourers there, Jeremy and Alexander, do not despair, but go on cheerfully in their work of faith and love, waiting for the blessing of the Lord. Their weekly reports, which they read to me when I visit the Mission, have often cheered and encouraged me. The regard and esteem which they generally enjoy from the villagers is quite pleasing, and the obedience and love which the boys show to their teachers is certainly a good sign.

Jeremy and Alexander continue, as formerly, to visit the neighbouring villages and markets round Runkutta ; and although no converts have as yet come from their labours in the villages, yet it clearly appears from their journals that the people generally listen with attention, and show an interest in religious conversations. It has happened, even, that they invited them to read and speak to them.

MIRUT.

Native-Christian Congregation.

The number of native Christians attached to this Station is gradually increasing, and now amounts to 130. During the last year fourteen adults have been baptized. The communicants are 50 in number.

In consequence of the increase of converts and inquirers, the Christian village has been greatly enlarged. Besides the services on the Lord's-day, there is an evening service daily for the native Christians who reside on the Mission premises, and the catechist and readers meet the Missionary daily for catechetical instruction and prayer, before going to preach in the bazaars. Some of the recent converts are men of so much decision of character and ability as to give promise of future usefulness as teachers. One, a Mussulman, who had been a soldier in the East-India Company's service, after his own baptism went into Bengal to fetch his brother, that he might also receive the truth: the brother, who is intelligent, and has received a good education, has joined the congregation of Christians. Mr. Lamb reports—

Though perfection must not be expected on this side the grave, and all are liable to their weaknesses and infirmities ; and though there have been occasional differences and slight quarrelling among the native Christians ; altogether we can bear testimony to their general good behaviour, and can hold them up as patterns to many congregations of European Christians.

Education—Results.

There are two schools at Mirut ; a Boys'-school, which is conducted by some of the converts, with a very manifest blessing upon their endeavours to recommend divine truth to the children ; and a Girls'-school, superintended by Mrs. Lamb. The following instance is encouraging—

One little heathen girl, it is stated, rather quiet and intelligent, felt much inclined to receive Christian instruction ; and was so pleased to attend the Hindustani service in the chapel, that the persuasions of her mother could not keep her away. At last she even persuaded the mother to come, and the result has been, that, after due instruction, the child, her mother, sister, and sister's husband, have been all baptized, though they had to go through severe trial and much opposition.

A Boys'-school, as the commencement of a branch Mission at Bareilly, was commenced in January.

Preaching to the Heathen.

Mr. Lamb reports—

During the year that has passed there has scarcely been a day in which the gospel has not been proclaimed, either in the different bazaars of the Station, the city, or neighbouring villages, in addition to the many villages and cities at a distance of 120 miles north, east, south, and west.

On three occasions Mr. Lamb took extensive Missionary tours. In one of these he visited the Hurdwar mela, at which he remained twelve days, and preached fifty-one times. He states—

There were a great many from the Punjab, who listened very eagerly and attentively to the gospel message, and very gladly received books. They perfectly understood our preaching, and we felt greatly encouraged. I think the Punjab will be the most promising field of labour in India. Though but little success may be expected among the Mussulmans, the Sikhs, I feel convinced, will in numbers embrace Christianity, for they are not bigoted, and many have shown their design to embrace the truth when they find it.

After the mela, I proceeded, vid Deyrah and Rajpur, to Mussurie and Landour, for the express purpose of looking out for a suitable place as a branch Mission in connexion with Mirut. Mussurie is a very eligible situation, as from thence we could visit and preach to the people at Rajpur, Deyrah, and several villages on the hills round about, besides making Missionary tours through villages further distant.

Mr. Lamb reports that the proposal of an Out-station at Mussurie was cordially responded to by the European residents, and funds were at once raised for building a Mission bungalow and schoolroom.

It deserves to be specially recorded that, during Mr. Lamb's Missionary tours, the native services in the church were kept up by the kind assistance of a military officer at the Station, well acquainted with the language, who so efficiently instructed the converts, and directed the native readers, that the Missionary's absence was attended with little detriment to the congregation.

THE PUNJAB.

Commencement of the Mission.

The Rev. Messrs. Fitzpatrick and Clark, who were assigned to this Mission, arrived upon the field of their future labour at the close of last year. They have determined to commence the Mission at Umritzir, and have entered upon the study of the native language.

The Mission has been opened with peculiar encouragement in the cordial welcome which has been accorded to our Missionaries by the Presbyterian and other Missionaries from America and England, who have been before them in labouring on that field; and also by the hearty sympathy and co-operation manifested by the civil and military officers in the province. The last Report mentioned the gift from an anonymous correspondent of 1000*l.*, to be paid to the Society as soon as two Missionaries for the Punjab should arrive in India. We have now to announce a second gift, also anonymous, of 1000*l.* upon the actual arrival of these Missionaries in the Punjab.

A large public meeting was also held at Lahore, at which Archdeacon Pratt presided, and which was attended by a large assemblage of civil and military officers, to form a Church Missionary Association for the Punjab. A resolution passed at this meeting is so much in accordance with the thirty-first fundamental law of this Society, to maintain "a friendly intercourse with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the gospel of Jesus Christ," that the Committee cannot omit to record it on the present occasion.

At the conclusion of the regular business of the meeting, the Rev. W. Jay, the chaplain of the Station, thus addressed the Chairman—

"Mr. ARCHDEACON—I trust I may be allowed to state, that, whilst we all hail the commencement of the Punjab Mission of the Church of England with lively joy and satisfaction, we are yet not unmindful of the earnestness and the Christian zeal of our American brethren, who have gone before us in endeavouring to evangelize the heathen around us. I propose, therefore, that some communication be made to these, on the part of this meeting, to assure them how much we value their exertions; how 'very highly we esteem them in love for their work's sake;' and how earnestly we hope that they may each year receive still higher and higher encouragements in the field of usefulness which they have chosen, and how much and sincerely we wish them good speed in the Lord."

The proposition was received with loud plaudits, the gentlemen assembled rising unanimously to do honour to the Rev. C. W. Forman, the representative of the American Mission, who attended the meeting.

KOTEGURH.

The Rev. T. N. Merk has continued at this Station, chiefly occupied in the study of the language. This is attended with much difficulty, from the numerous dialects which prevail in the hills. Even natives of Kotegurh are scarcely understood at a short distance from the Station.

Mr. Merk's report is not of an encouraging character. He conceives that there is still greater indifference to religion on the hills than in the plains, although opposition is sometimes met with. The probable reasons of the want of success Mr. Merk thinks may be, 1. The thin and scattered population, together with their physical difficulty of access; 2. The fact that very few can read; 3. The independence of the hill-people as compared with the kulis of the plains, and their better temporal condition.

Sunday services are regularly held, attended by from 20 to 30 hearers. The two girls who were baptized in 1849 continue to give satisfaction: they have been placed under Mrs. Fuchs, at Benares.

Missionary Journey to Kulu and Kangra.

This has been one of the chief events of the year, though the present results are not important. Mr. Merk first visited his three schools in Kulu, at varying distances from Kotegurh, and containing together 51 boys on the books. The teachers of these schools were all trained at Kotegurh, and behave well, but are yet heathen. Mr. Merk reports—

The boys read Hindui—the more advanced ones the Bible, chiefly the New Testament: they write, also, some of them very nicely indeed, and are taught a little arithmetic. I examined all the boys, and was, on the whole, satisfied with their attainments. Much more might be expected if the schools were conducted by Christian teachers, and if a part of the instruction could regularly be taken upon himself by the Missionary; but this is, for local reasons, impossible.

Education—native education—is at an exceedingly low ebb among the people of Kulu.

Having visited the schools, Mr. Merk went on to Kangra, twelve or fourteen marches distant from Kotegurh, and the place which was at first proposed as the most eligible site for a Punjab Mission.* Kangra is divided into two portions, situate on the eastern and western sides of a hill, Fort Kangra being near the western portion. A valley, eight or ten miles broad, separates Kangra from the snowy range, and one or two ranges of low hills intervene between it and the Jullunder Doab. The climate is hotter than at Kotegurh. The population of Kangra is estimated to amount to 5000 or 6000, chiefly Brahmins and Rajputs. Very few Sikhs are found in the district. The language is a dialect of the Hindui, and different from the Punjabi. In the valley there are several large villages, each containing about 1000 inhabitants. Along the snowy range there is a scattered population: and beyond it, though not very distant from Kangra, are found the Gudis, who formerly came from the plains. "They are Hindus, and are known for their simplicity and inoffensiveness. But all the inhabitants of the Kangra district are much more simple and inoffensive than the people of the plains." Two melas are held at Kangra every year, on which Mr. Merk remarks—

Kangra is the most famous place of pilgrimage in these provinces. High and low, from a great distance, resort to its most holy temple, which has been richly endowed and ornamented by the late Runjit Singh: its roof is covered with his gold. The temple was built, according to the Hindu history and chronology, 20,000 years ago; and it is held in such veneration, that people believe, if a man there cut out his tongue, it will grow again in the course of a few days, if not in six hours. In the belief of this superstition and deceit, it occurs still that people actually cut out their tongues. One such case occurred six days before my arrival at Kangra and a year ago a man cut off his head in the temple, performing, as he thought, a most devoted and acceptable act of divine worship!

JUBBULPUR.

In the "Church Missionary Intelligencer" for August last the Committee inserted and enforced a strong appeal from the energetic chaplain then at Jubbulpur, the Rev. J. A. Dawson, for a Church Missionary at that important central Station. The Christian European population there had formed themselves into a Committee to collect funds, had erected schools and dwelling-houses, and provided school-books and furniture, needing only men to turn all these to account. The appeal has not been answered, and the Committee have been unable to send a Missionary to occupy this promising post. Jubbulpur has been the scene of the wonderfully successful endeavours of Colonel Sleeman, and other British officers, to humanize and civilize the Thugs. Shall British Christians stop short of imparting to Jubbulpur the higher blessings of the everlasting gospel?*

Concluding Remarks.

In reviewing the Missionary aspect of India, the Committee cannot withhold their conviction of the rapid approach of some great crisis. One broad fact is evident to all, that the proud, bigoted, and absurd prejudices of Hinduism are giving way—that preachers of the truth are listened to with an attention and candour which create the most surprise in those veteran Missionaries who have had the deepest experience in their work; and that a persuasion has come over the native mind, that Christianity is to prevail in the next generation. The very variety in the solutions of the fact, offered by those who look only to second causes, is a remarkable testimony to its undeniableness.

There is already apparent a threefold separation among the Hindus. Each of these divisions may be illustrated by striking events during the last year, which have occurred in North India.

1. There are still the rigid and bigoted Hindus, who embrace with blind fondness, or value as their craft, the time-honoured system of Brahminical mythology. But a few years ago, Hinduism was pronounced by intelligent Christians in India to be destined to last for ages, and to be impregnable to the efforts of the Christian preacher. The devotees of the system smiled with contempt at all proposals for relaxing its severest requirements. But now there is alarm in its strongholds, which has impelled its most bigoted supporters to try the desperate remedy of concession.

On the 25th of May last a public meeting was held in Calcutta by native Hindus, in consequence of recent conversions, especially of those in the new Educational Institution of the London Missionary Society, in a part of Calcutta called Bhowanipur. The object of the meeting was to counteract the influence of Christianity, by providing for the converts a more easy way of return to their old superstitions, and of regaining the privileges of caste. It was proposed to accomplish this by a pecuniary fine, gradually lowered with the caste of the person, instead of penances and ablutions, requiring, in the case of Brahmins, fifty years for their performance. It was vainly supposed that, by thus relaxing the requirements of strict Hinduism, Christian converts might be allured back. There were present at this meeting 300 native gentlemen, nearly 100 of whom were Brahmins of highest repute upon all questions of Shaster-law. "The chairman of the meeting was a Rajah, best known among his countrymen for his valuable contributions to Sanskrit literature, and his inflexible adherence to every dogma of the Purans. His chief supporter, Rajah Kalee Krishna Bahadoor, maintains a regular council of pundits, whose decisions, upon matters of ceremonial or religious observance, carry as much weight in Calcutta as those of the Pope in the Roman-Catholic churches of the continent." The chairman also stated that the Maharajah of Nuddea, the religious oracle of Bengal, concurred in their opinion. From a document published in India the following words may be quoted—

We have heard a great deal too much of late of the small number of converts made in Bengal. The meeting of which we have just spoken is in itself a sufficient answer to all such calumnies. The very foundations of native society must have been shaken before men, aptly described as more Hindu than the Purans, would come forward with a proposal for lightening the massive chain which for 2000 years has crushed the intellectual and religious activity of one-eighth of the human race, and that for the avowed object of saving Hinduism from the encroachments of Christianity. The meeting, it is evident, looked upon the Missionaries as the great enemies whose exertions and activity required to be baffled; and while they acknowledged that it was hopeless to attempt to supplant them as educators of youth, declared that their influence was making itself felt through every grade of native society.*

2. The second division into which Hinduism is already separated comprises those who have been sufficiently enlightened by intellectual education to despise the futilities of Puranic fables and superstitious customs, but who are unhappily blinded by the god of this world to the light of the truth. These are the Vedantists; men who fancy that they are following the light of reason by rejecting whatever does not approve itself to their narrow understandings, and who strive to construct a religious system out of the original principles of Hinduism, adapted to minds partially enlightened by the surrounding blaze of Christian truth. The rapidity with which Vedantism has spread, and is spreading, amongst the Hindus who have received an English education, is very remarkable. Several native newspapers in each of the Presidencies advocate these principles, and especially are they the idol of a party which arrogates to itself the title of Young Bengal.

The event, by which we illustrate this class, is taken from the Journal of our late experienced Missionary Weitbrecht, who thus reports an invitation which he had received from a Rajah of high station and great wealth—

* "Friend of India," June 7, 1851.

The Rajah of Burdwan has lately established a religious service after the fashion of the Vedantists of Calcutta. Having been invited by him to attend the ceremony, which is performed every Saturday evening, under proviso that I should abstain from making any observations on the occasion, I went, accompanied by a gentleman of the Station. A bell was rung to invite the hearers, and, on entering the place, we found a large oblong room fitted up and arranged much like a church. The seats were enclosed with neat railings. At the further end there was a raised desk or platform, gracefully decorated with red cloth. On this were sitting two young pundits, and below, in front of them, four singers and musicians with instruments. The Rajah kindly invited us near him, to the front seat. There were some sixty babus present, I should think nearly all being persons employed in his various offices. On the punkah* suspended over the pundits was written, in gilt letters, "God, the unchanging, self-existent." The pundits commenced the service by chanting some invocation or prayer in Sanskrit in praise of the Creator; after which one of them read a text from the Sama Veds, translating it into Bengali, and then expounded it in a simple and intelligent manner. In this way he went on for twenty minutes. Then the second pundit gave out a text from another Shaster, and delivered an address composed for the occasion in pure Bengali. I was agreeably surprised to find nothing really objectionable in these discourses, either in point of theological doctrine or morality. The preachers chiefly dwelt on the being and attributes of God, quite in harmony with what is called pure deism. Even pantheistic notions were controverted and disallowed; e.g. the preacher said, "God is a spiritual being: He is above all created substances: He is not the sun, not fire, not the sky: all these were made by Him, but He was before them." Now the very Veds from which the pundit took his text contain adorations and prayers addressed to the sun and fire as divine beings. Hence I come to the conclusion, that the preachers are choosing such passages, and framing their expositions in such a manner, as to please his highness the Rajah, who is now decidedly opposed to any kind of elementary or idolatrous worship. In another discourse the preacher illustrated the wisdom and benignity of the Divine Being from the wonderful structure of the human body, and the powers of the mind; "the ear being made to convey sounds to the head, and, through the medium of the brain, to the mind; and the eye doing the same office with regard to the visible objects of the external world." "If there were no air to convey the sound, the ear would be of no use; and if there were no ear, the sweetest sound of music, and the lively prattling of the babe, could never be perceived by the man," &c. The whole ceremony lasted for about an hour and a quarter, and was concluded with singing and music, which lasted far too long for our ears; for Bengali music is generally not in accordance with our ideas of sweet sounds. I heard that one of the hymns sung in praise of the Creator was composed by the Rajah himself.

In a conversation with the Missionary, at the conclusion of this ceremony, the Rajah said—"Did I not tell you it is all like your Bible, only not Jesus Christ?" He expressed, also, an intention of building a large church, with a spire, adding, "I like your church; it is a fine structure: whatever plan strikes me as suitable I shall adopt. I am quite free to choose in such things, without reference to Hindu customs and ideas." The Missionary asked, "Will you allow me to preach in your church?" The Rajah answered, "O yes! I have no objection, if you don't mention one name, the name of Jesus."

It is a question much debated at present, whether Vedantism will lead the natives nearer to, or further from, the truth. It was the opinion of Weitbrecht, in which the Committee fully coincide, that, whatever be the result in the case of individuals, the effect upon the masses must be immeasurably in favour of Christianity, if there be but a sufficiently strong phalanx of witnesses for the truth to grapple with the intellectual puerilities of scepticism, and to exalt before men that "name which is above every name," and to which "every knee shall bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth." Mr. Weitbrecht has thus recorded his own convictions upon this subject—

I confess I see something encouraging in this religious movement of the Rajah of Burdwan: it is a forward movement for the better. He is winding his way out of the old rotten system. His moral character is very much improved, and far better than that of most of his equals. He is much attached to his wife, and honours her as a Christian would his partner. He is just and humane in the administration of his estates: no complaint is heard on this point from the zemindars or ryots. He lately said to a resident at Burdwan, "I am seeking truth, and I am resolved to worship the true God." The Brahmins have spread the report all over this country, the Rajah is become a Christian.

It has been said by many, that a Hindu forsaking the creed of his fathers, and turning pantheist or deist, is rather going from bad to worse, inasmuch as he is casting off the restraints which formerly kept him from many vices prevalent among Europeans, and as he continues to hate the gospel as much, or more heartily than he did before. This, however true, is but a partial consideration of the question. If the Vedantist were unalterably fixed in his present mental position, he certainly would not be a whit improved in a religious point of view by the change he has made. But the fact is, he cannot stop where he is now: he is obliged himself to confess, that the holy book from which he derives his religious faith is not of divine but human composition. A keen-eyed, sensible Vedantist must feel that his system is defective in one essential requisite—it wants a solid foundation. So long as pride and self-conceit predominate, it may suffice him; but when troubles, sickness, family cares, and other trials in daily life, dispel the maya of his philosophical fancies, he will, he must feel, that, in order to get comfort, peace, hope, and happiness, he must turn to God and not to vain man: he must have the solid basis of a divine revelation, and not an elaborate philosophical system, to build his faith and hope upon. And where is he to go and look for it? even to the same gospel which hundreds of Hindus have already found to be “meat and drink indeed.” I hope and pray the Rajah will be led to find it so. I would recommend his case to be remembered before God by all earnest Christians: it is a most interesting subject in regard to the evangelization of these parts. He has a considerable knowledge of Christianity. If the light of divine truth were to shine upon his heart, his prejudices against the name of Jesus would soon give place to deep, heartfelt veneration; and what would be the consequences of his conversion? Doubtless the day which witnessed him bending his knees before the Son of God would witness a shaking of the whole of Bengal, and thousands would follow his example. Our great trial then would be, not, as it now is, the paucity of converts, but the difficulty to find out the sincere inquirers from among the crowds who come from secular motives.

3. A third division consists of avowed and secret believers in Christianity. Many thousands have openly embraced the truth, and joined the Christian church. They have been lately estimated, after a most rigid investigation of the statistics of every Protestant Mission Station, at more than a hundred thousand. And, beyond these avowed Christians, there is another class, and probably a far larger class, who are in the position of Agrippa under the preaching of the apostle of the Gentiles—almost Christians, distracted between their consciences and the world, and striving to discover some easy way of entering into the fold of Christ. Under favourable circumstances—such as, in the providence of God, may at any moment occur—multitudes of this class would declare themselves at once as Christians.

It has been asserted, indeed, that the Christian converts are all of so low a class in society as to be more likely to discredit than to advance the cause of Christianity among the Hindus generally. Even if this statement were correct as to the social position of the converts, the conclusion might easily be disproved; for not only will the grace of God discover itself by its own radiance, whatever may be the position of the favoured recipient; but Christianity at once elevates the character and expands the mind of a heathen convert far above the standard to which a heathen native, however favoured by education, can attain. But the very fact on which this inconclusive reasoning is built is mis-stated. “To the poor the gospel is preached," as in primitive times; but a few, though "not many," are called, whose abilities, reputation, and position in society, must cause their conversion to be known throughout the length and breadth of the land.

The event of the last year, by which the progress of conversion among the Hindus may be illustrated, is the case of a distinguished native scholar, a member of a leading and wealthy family in Calcutta, who vindicated his conversion by giving in November and December a course of public weekly lectures in the metropolis of India upon the evidences of the Christian religion. The first and last lectures of the course were given by a native minister whose conversion took place many years ago; the rest by babu Gannendeo Mohun Tagore. The fact of such lectures having been given, and the subjects selected, will sufficiently speak to the mind of any intelligent observer of the course of events in respect of India's evangelization. The following was the programme issued on this occasion—

Lectures on Theology, to be delivered in English in the Old Church Rooms.

Lecture First—By the Rev. K. M. BANERJEA, on comparative Theology; wherein a comparison will be instituted between Christianity and Hinduism, as to their respective doctrines and claims on our assent.

Lecture Second—On the prophecies of the Old Testament; showing the truth of the Christian religion from their undeniable fulfilment.

Lecture Third—On the prophecies of the New Testament; showing the divine origin of the Christian religion from their fulfilment.

Lecture Fourth—On miracles; showing the historical foundation upon which the evidence from miracles rests.

Lecture Fifth—On the connexion between criticism and Scripture.

Lecture Sixth—On the connexion between science and Scripture.

Lecture Seventh—By the Rev. K. M. BANERJEA, on comparative Theology; contrasting the moral discipline exercised, and the practical effects produced on society, by Christianity and Hinduism.*

The Committee are looking forward with deep interest to the renewal of the Hon. East-India Company's Charter in the next session of Parliament. They look back to the battle which was fought in 1813 for the admission of Missionaries into India, and they thank God for the wonderful change that has since taken place in the opinions of India's governors; so that now there only remains, they trust, the adjustment

MADRAS.

THIS Mission is conducted by three Missionaries, as in the former year. It is marked by a very comprehensive and systematic arrangement of services for the pastoral care of the native Christians, amounting to about 500 souls, and for bringing the gospel before the heathen at several important preaching stations and thoroughfares.

The Rev. J. Bilderbeck, in his report for the half-year ending June 30, 1851, remarks, that during that period they have experienced "more comfort and encouragement in their work, yet mingled with sorrow and sharp trials, than at any former period." Their plan of engagements exhibits eight regular services on a Sunday, two on a Wednesday, seven preaching exercises on other days, and four social meetings, making 21 fixed services, beside other duties, as inspecting schools, conversing with inquirers, and street preaching. Mr. Bilderbeck writes—

You will be glad to hear that our congregations have multiplied; that the attendance on our Sabbath and weekly services has been in most instances steady and cheering; that our communicants have increased; that larger multitudes have assembled to hear the Gospel proclaimed in thoroughfares; that inquirers have been more numerous; that several individuals and families, among the higher and lower classes, have professed a willingness, ere long, to embrace the truth; and that, within the last six months only, 16 souls have been brought within the pale of the Church by baptism, of whom six are adults.

One of the adults is an interesting young man, of about twenty-one years of age, in the service of a private family. He is the son of an ayah whom the late Mr. Fox, of blessed memory, had baptized when formerly at Masulipatam. Various circumstances appear to have operated in leading him to embrace the truth; but his mother's example—and, who can tell, also the prayers which might have been offered up for her and her only child by so devoted a man—may have had a full share of influence in directing this result; for the old woman still speaks of Mr. Fox with the most affectionate veneration and gratitude; and when, after due preparation, her son came to be baptized, it was her earnest request, and the expressed wish also of his employer, that he should be named "Watson."*

MASULIPATAM.

This Mission has continued under the care of the same Missionaries as in the former year. The Rev. R. T. Noble has charge of the Native-English school, assisted by Mr. T. K. Nicholson, the Rugby-Fox master. Three other Missionaries are engaged in carrying on the different departments of Missionary labour. This is one of the incipient Missions of the Society, in which the seed of Gospel truth, which is being diligently sown, has as yet manifested only in a very small degree the promise of a future harvest, but in which we are as fully assured as in more advanced fields, that "in due season we shall reap, if we faint not."

Native Congregation—Missionary Tour.

The small congregation of native Christians at this Station has occasioned much anxiety to the Missionaries, from the faults and infirmities which have been manifested. The Tamil department especially has been unsatisfactory.

The Rev. J. E. Sharkey thus expresses his feelings on the review of his labours—"One feeling accompanies this enumeration of my engagements—the feeling of unprofitableness: one promise comforts me—the promise of grace: one thought helps me—the thought of His presence: one prayer fills me—the prayer for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit."

Mr. Sharkey gives the following graphic description of a Missionary tour in the neighbourhood of Masulipatam—

Dec. 23, 1850—In the evening I returned to Bundur (Masulipatam), after a pleasant tour of about three weeks spent wholly in the society of the poor heathen, and engaged in directing them to "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." The season was particularly adapted for travelling, and was of no small assistance to me. The reception I met with was everywhere most encouraging. I scrupulously confined the distribution of tracts and gospels to the reading classes. The Word of God was preached in open streets, under trees, and in cottages, to as many as assembled, men as well as women. A Pariah would sometimes, forgetful for a moment of the ban of caste, creep into the crowd of listeners, and continue undetected till some fastidious Brahmin, with a cry of horror, sounds the alarm of pollution, and bids the outcast stand off. He obeys, but still lingers within hearing, and does not depart before he has heard the gospel. Mahommedans, too, would sometimes come and hear their false refuges also battered down. Thus the Gospel has been preached, though in much weakness. But the Lord reigns, and the heathen are His by inheritance. "Let Him do what seemeth Him good," and may He have mercy on me, His unprofitable servant! *

TINNEVELLY.

The Reports of this Mission for the last year exhibit a marked, though gradual improvement in the essential features of an advancing Mission.

There has been no large accession of inquirers, but a decided increase in the number of baptized converts; which now amounts to 14,832, being an increase, during the year, of 1314. The number of communicants amounts to 2996, being an increase of 253; the number preparing for baptism has decreased by 586, and there still remain 10,448 under instruction; so that the whole number under the instruction and discipline of the Missionaries amounts to 25,280.

Steps towards the establishment of a Native Ministry.

Two very important measures have been adopted in the course of the year, with a view to the establishment of a native ministry. First, a large body of young men attached to the several Stations under preparation as native teachers, hence called "Preparandi," have been brought together at Palamcottah, to form an Institution, under the Rev. E. Sargent, for special instruction and training in respect of their future employment. The other measure is one still further in advance. Three out of the five native deacons, whose ordination was described in the last Report, have been appointed to minister in assigned districts, in the view of these districts becoming ultimately native parishes under native ministers, to be transferred to an independent ecclesiastical position as soon as funds can be provided, independently of the Society, for a minister's maintenance. In the mean time, as long as the stipends are paid by the Society, the whole will continue under the superintendence of the Missionary. The Rev. J. Thomas thus alludes to this event in his Report for the year 1851—

Two out of the five deacons who were ordained last January are my fellow-labourers in the gospel; and I feel truly thankful to God for help so efficient. The Rev. Seenivasagam Mathuranayagam is stationed at Pragasapuram, a village seven miles from Meignanapuram, where there are between 600 and 700 Christians, with a suitable church, and boys' and girls' schools, numbering upwards of 100 children in daily attendance. He has several other congregations within a distance of three miles, and his whole pastoral charge may be considered as amounting to 1410 souls. The locality is admirably suited for the purpose of carrying out the intentions of the Parent Committee in the establishment of a native pastorate, by which the older and more established congregations are placed under the care of the native clergy; thus leaving the Missionaries more time for preaching the gospel to the heathen. It is a remarkable and most gratifying feature in this part of the country, that from Nazareth, a Station of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, to Nallumavady in this district, a distance of five miles, having a population of at least five thousand souls, there are but few families who still continue in heathenism; and this blessed change has taken place within the last ten years, so that we are abundantly encouraged to go on in our work without being weary or faint. May God permit us soon to witness many more such illumined spots; and may the gross darkness which still broods over the heathen mind be rolled away! The Rev. Mathurenthiram Savariroyan has lived at Asirvadapuram, and has assisted me in the work of that district generally.

I earnestly wish that the number of our native clergy were multiplied tenfold; and I regret exceedingly that our theological institution is at present in abeyance. Were it in operation, we might expect an additional number of native clergy in a few years. There are many pious catechists, who are ready to enter upon a fuller course of theological study with the view to receiving orders; but, as many of them are advanced in years, the acquisition of the English language offers an insuperable barrier. It is, undoubtedly, extremely desirable that our native clergy should be acquainted with English; but, in the present state of the church in Tinnevelly, I very much question the wisdom of making that acquirement a sine quâ non.

It must be, however, stated, that the employment of native pastors does not supersede the need of European Missionaries. These are more than ever required, both for the first training and superintendence of native pastors, and, more especially, for the extension of the work among the heathen. The Rev. J. T. Tucker thus expresses—June 30, 1851—his views upon this subject—

I am disposed to think, that, in the course of a few years, very many persons, who are still worshippers of idols, will cast away their images and serve the Lord God Almighty. Almost every heathen I converse with acknowledges the folly of idolatry; and were there only more faithful labourers to send forth among them, I believe Christianity would become the prevailing religion in Tinnevelly. But unless more Missionaries are sent, this people will become careless about any religion at all. It is true that iniquity prevails; but, with such an opening for Missionary enterprise as there is in Tinnevelly, the church ought to exert herself, and send forth, in the name of the Lord Jesus, many more labourers. We want European Missionaries. I do not wish to exalt my caste; but, I repeat it, we want European Missionaries. It is a cause of much thankfulness that we have recently had such an accession of our native brethren to help us; but I still think that we who are here, and behold the work, should sound forth our opinion as far and loud as we can, viz. that, humanly speaking, our work in Tinnevely must be, at present, carried on by European agency.

Visitation and Confirmation by the Bishop of Madras.

The Missionaries speak with much gratitude of the beneficial results of the visit of the Bishop of Madras in the beginning of the year 1851, described in the last Report, and of the confirmations he held in the several districts of the Mission. The Rev. Septimus Hobbs, in his half-yearly review of the Station, June 1851, thus writes—

The bishop's excellent address was translated by Mr. Barenbruck. We thought it calculated to be exceedingly useful to the people; and being desirous that the benefit should be permanent, we asked him if he would kindly allow it to be printed, and circulated amongst our people. It has accordingly been written, and printed in Tamil, forming a tract of twelve pages. It has been circulated amongst the native Christians in the province, who have received it with much eagerness and pleasure. With the blessing of God, it will be an instrument of much spiritual good.

I regret that I was not able to take full notes of the examination of the candidates for confirmation, but I found that the demands on my time would not admit of my doing so. I am persuaded that the replies of many would have been read with considerable interest; and would have exhibited an amount of Christian knowledge amongst the people, much greater than that which they are generally supposed to possess. I feel assured, also, that our work of faith, in seeking for our people the outpouring of God's Holy Spirit, has received a peculiar blessing from God. There has not, indeed, been any miraculous shaking of the house, nor speaking with other tongues. But He who so graciously vouchsafed sensible evidences of His approval of the work of the Apostles, whose holy example we follow, has not withheld from us the ordinary manifestation of His favour. Many of the native converts who had previously been instructed with great care, but with apparently little effect, have subsequently exhibited a clearness of view, with respect to the work of redemption and the office of the Holy Spirit, which is quite a surprise as well as a delight to me. Some persons, who had been careless for years, and who had learned nothing for a considerable time, notwithstanding many efforts to teach them, became suddenly aroused, and were diligent in acquiring Christian knowledge. Again, many others who had walked disorderly, and who had consequently been for a long time a great grief to me, forsook their evil deeds, and have ever since manifested a "newness of life" which encourages me to hope that the change has been wrought by the Spirit of God. These last persons, indeed, were not amongst the confirmed; but the indirect benefit of the special instruction to the candidates for confirmation has been very great.

The Rev. James Spratt writes to the same effect —

Altogether, it was a season which I much valued, and for which I felt truly thankful. It was a time in which the good seed was plentifully sown; and I doubt not that there were many, especially of the youthful candidates, under serious impressions, and in whose hearts there were desires to give themselves to Christ. Those desires, I trust, were strengthened on the day of confirmation both by the prayers and addresses of the bishop. His addresses, I feel assured, will not soon be forgotten. They were so simple, and yet so full of gospel truth: they presented so much of the privileges as well as the duties of the newly confirmed, and were so earnestly and affectionately pressed on their consideration, that they cannot but prove to them, under God, a lasting blessing. In former communications, I have frequently lamented the want of piety amongst the youthful portion of our people. This I can no longer justly do. Already I know a few who give cheering evidence of love to the Saviour, and I own I feel sanguine that the recent confirmation will have added to their numbers. The existence and increase of piety amongst the youths of our congregations would form one of the surest marks of the spiritual life and vigour of the infant church of Tinnevelly, and would constitute, perhaps, the feature most full of promise for its future development and stability.

General improvement of Mission work in Tinnevelly.

The Rev. P. P. Schaffter, the oldest and most experienced Missionary of the Society in Tinnevelly, makes, in his review of the state of the Mission—June 30, 1851—the following very important statement—

There has been a gradual improvement in this Mission, more marked during the last two or three years than it was before. This improvement does not merely consist in knowledge acquired by routine, to which all in the Mission, more or less, can pretend; but in a considerable number it consists in an enlargement of the mind, and in the understanding of those truths which form the basis of our holy religion. More pleasing still is the fact, that a good many not only understand those truths but realize the power of them in their souls, and exhibit them in their walk and conversation.

The Rev. J. Thomas thus reports his return to Meignanapuram after a visit to England, and his general impression of the state of his large district—

I naturally notice, in the first place, my return to the Missionary work at the commencement of the present year, after an absence of three years. I trust that I feel, in some adequate measure, the unspeakable honour of being again permitted to engage in this great and holy work—a work to which I consider my life devoted; in which my highest earthly wishes are gratified; and in which I am satisfied both to live and to die. Nothing could be more pleasing to us than the unequivocal manifestation of joy and gladness, on the part of an affectionate people, when we appeared again among them.

Most of the congregations had sent representatives a distance of thirty miles, to meet and welcome us on our arrival at Palamcottah. Perhaps no people possess so delicate a sense of what is suitable and touching, in the expression of affection and respect upon such occasions, as the Hindus. Their fault is, a liability to run to the extreme—to offer marks of honour, and to indulge in language of praise, which are altogether repugnant to our feelings.

My impression of the state of the congregations, after three years' absence, is, considering all things, very favourable; nor have I felt in the smallest degree disappointed, from having formed too high an opinion of the people, during my absence: indeed, I have been rather gratified by an amount of order, propriety, and stability, beyond what I could have expected. This I attribute very much, under God's blessing, to the fact, that the superintendence of my district during my absence passed into the hands of my former coadjutor, the Rev. J. Spratt, who, from his acquaintance with the native language, and experience of Missionary work, was well qualified to carry on the affairs of the district upon the same system which had been pursued for many years, not without some amount of success. I have no doubt whatever but that true and enlightened piety is becoming more prevalent among our people generally, though I feel that, on account of the great difference which exists between us and our converts, in a social point of view, we do not possess equal facilities with our brethren at home for ascertaining the real extent of piety among them.

The attendance at public worship, especially on Sundays, is very satisfactory. At our large church here, upon those Sundays when I am at home, and when the Christian inhabitants of the adjoining villages are expected to attend, the average number has been 1200. I have generally been able to preach twice on Sundays, often on week days, and to administer the Lord's Supper two or three times every month, in different parts of the district, to an average of 430 communicants.

All the congregations have been visited with tolerable regularity, and the whole Christian body under my care, now amounting to 6546, has been under constant supervision, and every part of the machinery employed in the district has been made to fulfil the appointed intention, so far as it can be done by human agency. May the blessing of Almighty God, "without which nothing is strong, nothing is holy," rest upon us!

Individual Instances of Christian conduct.

Mr. Schaffter writes, June 30, 1851—

I could substantiate my hopeful statement by instances from among the congregations, which have come to my knowledge since my return. For instance, about two months ago the cholera broke out in the congregation of Sivillasamuttiram, but in none of the neighbouring villages; and in less than ten days fourteen persons were attacked, and six died—a considerable average, considering that this congregation consists only of a few more than a hundred people. I came there when the evil was raging. I expected, on my arrival, to encounter everywhere lamentations and panic-stricken faces, such being usually the case in Indian villages in times like these: but not so—the people, though evidently very sad, were composed, and seemed prepared to meet the worst. Two native doctors were engaged in administering medicines, and the schoolmaster—the catechist being also ill—spiritual advice and comfort, to the sick. The sight at once relieved my mind very much. I spent one day and one night there. We met twice in the church for prayer; and here, as well as in the houses of the sick, I had evidences that some of the people truly trust in the Lord's promises made for a time of need, and which can be apprehended by faith only. A woman came to me, whose two little ones had died, and had just been buried; and this is the instance which struck me most. No breaking out in loud cries and lamentations: tears were in her eyes; but her countenance was expressive of perfect peace and resignation. She gave a collected attention to the words of comfort I spoke to her, which I felt were not much needed, as it was evident she had a much better Comforter than I could be. Then she expressed, in a beautiful manner, her assurance that her children were happy with the Lord, and the joy she felt that it was so. I have never seen a more perfect instance of Christian resignation to the will of God, or a better commentary on the words, "For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation also abounds through Christ." I have seen the woman since, and she appears still to derive the same comfort from the same source.

The native minister at Dohnavoor, the Rev. Jesudasen John, records the following instance of an aged disciple—

Feb. 13, 1851—I started this day on a Missionary tour. The first village I came to was Perumbatu. Here nine families, who came under instruction about three months ago, continue to be regular in their attendance on the means of grace, and are apparently sincere in their profession of Christianity. I was rejoiced to see that the old man, who has been instrumental in bringing these nine families to a profession of Christianity, was also present. Although of a low (barber) caste, he is much respected by the Christians and heathen, both here and at Sevel. He expressed to me his firm belief that God would, in His appointed time, cause the walls of this village to fall as he did those of Jericho; and then would the number of this small company of humble worshippers of the one true God be greatly multiplied, receiving into their ranks those who now despise Him. "I often meet these people," he said "and exhort them to remain firm, setting forth the happiness which I myself feel from an humble hope in the merits of Christ. The heathen," he added, "are much troubled in consequence of the vadam (the gospel) having entered their village."

The Rev. J. T. Tucker, in a letter dated June 20, 1851, gives a pleasing notice of juvenile piety—

You will perhaps remember that I mentioned the case of a little school-boy at Manalkadu, who was very zealous in his endeavours to persuade his parents to give up devil-worship. He has since declared himself a believer in Jesus, and prevailed upon his parents, and four other persons, to renounce heathenism and join Christianity. I understand they have done so entirely on account of the zealous exertions of the little boy. He is named Ninar, and is only nine years of age.

Encouraging prospect of the speedy extension of Christianity amongst the Heathen.

The Missionaries in Tinnevely appear, from their Reports of last year, to have been encouraged beyond former example in their endeavours to make Christ known to the heathen through preaching the gospel. Mr. Schaffter writes, Dec. 31, 1851—

Generally speaking, the heathen are much more favourably disposed toward the gospel than they were four or five years ago, though secret enemies and open opposers are not, even now, wanting. During the outbreak, and for a long time after, when we tried to engage them in religious conversation, they seldom gave a favourable hearing. Some, taking no notice of the argument, only offered a most violent opposition. Others, without deigning to give any reply, went away sullenly. Others, again, met our addresses with a cold and unmeaning assent, more disheartening than decided opposition. But they seldom behave after this manner now; and it is not seldom the case that they lend a most attentive ear, and by their civil answers and questions show that they take an interest in the subject, that the subject itself is not strange to them, and that they wish for further information.

The aged and experienced native Missionary, the Rev. John Dewasagayam, writes—

Sept. 6, 1850—Dohnavoor. Having encouraged my son, the Rev. Jesudasen John, in his duty to the numerous heathen and Mahomedans in his district, we made a commencement in the afternoon, trusting the help of the Lord to do our duty humbly and faithfully. We went to Ehrvady, a large Mahomedan town. Walking through several streets to find a suitable place, we came to the large bazaar street. I addressed the people that stood there, saying that we came to tell them what the Christian religion is, and wanted to stand and read and speak to them. But they requested us to take our seats in a bazaar, which we gladly did. A number of Mahomedans and Sudra heathen surrounded us, and some of them took their seats, and a good many appeared to hear us sincerely. The people appeared very friendly, contrary to our expectation. Jesudasen read the first three chapters of Genesis, and I explained them. A respectable-looking Sudra appeared desirous to help me in my explanations. I found afterwards that he was employed, for a considerable time, in one of our Mission schools. After explaining the text, chap. iii. 15, I spoke something of the Saviour of sinners, and told the people that my son will hereafter come and continue to give them instruction. They received also, with much pleasure, some of our tracts. We returned home very thankful for the favourable reception the Lord had given us among these bigoted Mahommedans.

The Rev. J. T. Tucker, in a letter to the Rev. T. G. Ragland, June 20, 1851, writes—

I am on a Missionary tour, in every sense of the word, and I think, without exception, have never before had such opportunities of preaching the blessed gospel to the heathen. I have kept in mind what you said about our endeavouring to visit at least two heathen villages once a month; and in order to accomplish it I have commenced a plan of doing so; and also, on travelling from one Christian village to another of an evening, to visit, if possible, a heathen village on the road. By this means I now get a crowd of heathen almost every evening between the hours of five and six; and to them I make known the glad tidings of salvation. This sort of work can be accomplished better in this district, where there are so many idolaters, than in the south. I hope in the course of a few years, if spared, by this plan to preach the gospel as a witness in every village throughout the district.

The following extracts may be selected from the journal of a previous tour—

Feb. 16, 1851—It being the Sabbath, we went to the Kasavangundu church at half-past seven o'clock, A.M., where I preached to a very crowded congregation on Gen. i. 26. The light was almost excluded from the church by the number of heathen who crowded the door and windows.

Feb. 19—Sattharapetty. I hear that a Brahmin, when assisting to place the idol on the car at Trichendoor this year, fell down, which incident the people look upon as an omen of the fall of idolatry. Although this is nothing more than a superstitious notion, yet I believe that idolatry is really losing ground. When talking yesterday with Brahmins and others about their professing themselves Christians, they heard willingly, and assented to all that I stated.

Feb. 20—Kytar. I walked out in the afternoon near the idol temple, with a view of getting a congregation to whom I might proclaim the glad tidings of salvation; and it was not long before a few Mahommedans came round me, with whom I had an opportunity of speaking for at least an hour on the glorious things revealed in the gospel. I was at first standing, but they begged I would sit down, and were so importunate about it, that I sat down on an old box brought to me for that purpose, and preached to them in a sort of catechetical way—questioning them on natural history, and leading their minds from nature to nature's God, and His Son Jesus Christ. A Mahommedan took great interest in what was said, and afterwards asked me several questions, evidently not to cavil, but to obtain information. I spoke especially on the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and of all men at the great day of judgment. At last several requested me to give them books, which request I was too glad to attend to, and accordingly distributed copies of single gospels and tracts to all those who could read. On returning to the bungalow, I was invited by the merasdar (proprietor) to enter the idol temple; but as it was dark I thanked him for his invitation, and requested permission to be allowed to see it on my next visit to Kytar.

The reports show, also, that much of the labour thus bestowed upon the heathen may appear long after the death of the Missionary, though at the time, and on the spot, little success has been visible. The Rev. John Dewasagayam reports an interesting conversation with a native gentleman, who had been a pupil of the late Rev. J. Hough, when chaplain of Palamcottah. "The Christian sympathy shown by this worthy servant of God has made a deep impression upon this heathen, who holds a respectable office in the court."

Mr. Schaffter reports another instance to the same effect—

When at Vellalankullam I called for a wealthy individual of the Pariah caste, who had been instructed for some time, and had evinced a great desire to be received in the congregation. I was much gratified at seeing the knowledge of Christian truths he possesses, which is much greater than I should have expected, considering that the time he had been instructed was not long. In the course of conversation the following particulars came out—That he was the son of a man who, in Mr. Rhenius' time, was a member of the Tinnevely congregation—I recollect the circumstance, and that Mr. Rhenius used to consider him as a good man; that in his boyhood he and his two brothers had been instructed in the Word of God by the father, who had charged them, especially before he died, to embrace the truth and to persevere in it, which charge they had, in reality, always resisted; that immediately after his father's death he had broken off every intercourse with Christianity, and had launched into sin and heathenism as fast as his sails would carry him; that, notwithstanding, the instructions and exhortations of his father came from time to time to his mind, and about a year ago so powerfully that he had not been able to resist, and had been forced, as it were, to make an open profession of Christianity; and his two brothers, who have enjoyed the same privilege as he has, will probably follow his example. This favourable turn has taken place at least ten years after his father's death. This is an encouragement indeed to persevere in sowing the Word of God, and in waiting with patience for the fruits.

Not only the Missionaries, but the native teachers, have exerted themselves with much zeal in the same cause. Mr. Schaffter writes—

Some of the catechists have tried to improve opportunities to make known "the truth as it is in Jesus" amongst the heathen of their immediate neighbourhood; and our itinerant readers have travelled through towns and villages, and visited public markets, speaking the Word of God, and distributing portions of Scripture and tracts.

All these efforts, we well know, are very poor and defective; but the Lord may yet, of His mercy, give the increase.

Mr. Septimus Hobbs also reports, March 6, 1851—

This evening one of my readers came to me, saying that he had a request to make. On my asking what it was, he said, "I understand that on the mountains between this province and Travancore, in the heart of the jungle, there are some regular settlements of wild men. I do not think that they have ever heard the sound of the Gospel. May I have leave to go for a few days into the jungle and see if I can find them, and if I can ascertain whether they will be willing to be instructed in the truth." I asked him if he knew their language, and he told me that he did not, but that he thought there were some amongst them who understood a little Tamil, or that, at all events, he should find some means of making himself understood amongst them. I told him that he certainly might go, and that I should be much pleased if any of them should be willing to embrace Christianity. He replied, "Perhaps this is too much to expect at present, for as yet they know nothing of it, and there are great difficulties in the way of teaching them. If we can prevail upon them to accept a schoolmaster amongst them, perhaps this is as much as we can expect for some little time." I was glad to hear him speak thus, for it showed that he had thought much on the subject, and was not acting from a mere momentary impulse. He asked if his friend and neighbour Masillamany might go with him, and I consented to this also. It is very gratifying to me to find these two young men come forward, of their own minds, with a desire to carry the gospel of Christ amongst such a people. This is the most truly Missionary enterprise I have ever been acquainted with amongst the natives, and I am glad that it originated entirely with themselves. May God, in His goodness, prosper it! I should have been amongst these wild men long ago, had it not been necessary for me to take temporary charge of the Nalloor District, in addition to my own, which rendered it impossible for me to carry out my intentions and wishes. I rejoice, however, that the first Missionaries to them are native Christians, who willingly offer themselves. I shall not be long after them, however, should it please God to preserve me in health to the end of the fever season. No European can remain one night in the jungle at this time of the year.

Mr. Hobbs subsequently wrote—

The two young men went on their mission, and returned to me on the 24th, bringing a most interesting account of their journey and reception. They found several settlements of jungle men, and communicated with them chiefly by means of some man whom they found out, who had been accustomed to barter with them for wild honey, and other products of the jungle. They tell me that these secluded people have a great regard for truth and honesty; that they have no idols, nor any distinctions of caste; that their religion consists in a few simple ceremonies, and that they worship Agastree as the god of the mountains; that they very much wish to learn Tamil, and are anxious to have a schoolmaster; also, that they have a strong desire to see me. I hope soon to afford them and myself that gratification.

A few months afterwards Mr. Hobbs himself visited these people in the mountains. He found them to be greatly oppressed by the farmers who rent the mountain forests, and who accompanied the Missionary in his visit, to counteract all his efforts for gaining the confidence of these mountaineers, or providing for their instruction. The people themselves showed every desire to obtain a knowledge of the message delivered to them. Mr. Hobbs writes—

Though I used my utmost efforts to be simple and clear, I was obliged to make frequent use of an interpreter. The young readers who first came up by themselves a few months ago acted as interpreters, and managed exceedingly well. But the mountaineers managed best of all, for they would not be satisfied until they understood every sentence spoken to them. Sometimes, after two or three attempts to make myself understood they said, “No, we do not understand yet.” But as soon as they had gained the idea they said, “Now we understand: you may go on and tell us something more.”

Persecution of the Converts—Missionary Trials and Disappointments.

The communications of the Missionaries show that the native Christians are often subjected to injuries, both in person and property, from unconverted neighbours, and even from native officers of justice. One extract from the journal of the Rev. J. Thomas—April 25, 1851—will illustrate this statement.

The people at Vellalanvillei are constantly exposed to more or less of trouble from the heathen merasdar, kurnam (village accountant), &c. Just now they have put a tax upon twelve of them, to which they are not liable; and the authorities will no doubt remit it on hearing the necessary facts proved. As we were talking, going along the road, of the enmity of the heathen, one of the people, to my great delight, remarked, that the heathen did not take into calculation that the gospel was of God, and that He was pledged to vindicate and honour it; and hence they were surprised to find that all their hostile plans prove utterly abortive. Several respectable men have joined us from the ranks of heathenism this week, to the great annoyance of our adversaries. The same individual observed, also, “We have suffered much, but the first verses of the 43d chapter of Isaiah were my comfort.” He then quoted the verses, to my astonishment and delight, and those words especially, “Fear not: for I have redeemed thee,” with great emphasis. My first feeling was, “The Lord of Hosts is with us!” Oh, how delightful to hear these people, who a few years ago worshipped devils, thus applying and quoting the Word of God in so intelligent and suitable a manner! We have many discouragements, many a false-hearted Judas; but the instances just mentioned fill us with joy, and inspire us with a courage which carries us in triumph through all our difficulties and trials.

The Committee, while they record successes and encouragements, desire to remind their Christian friends that there are also difficulties and disappointments, and that the Missionaries need our deepest sympathy, and constant prayers that they may be kept from fainting. There is much to try their faith and patience, even in the spiritual condition of their established converts, beyond that which is found in pastoral duties in the church at home. The Rev. Septimus Hobbs writes—

Many persons speak of the trials of the Missionary, but few, perhaps, know what they really are. They do not consist in separation from the friends of our youth, separated though we be; nor in earthly privations, though we sometimes know them too, but they are as nothing. They consist in that which even the Apostle of the Gentiles felt to be a “care”—“the care of the churches;” especially in a country like this, where Satan has been strengthening his kingdom for thousands of years—where the abominations of idolatry are even now seen “under every green tree”—where the infection has spread into every house—where heathen principles have been instilled into every infant bosom, have formed every habit, prescribed every relative duty, created in every mind superstitious notions, and raised groundless but potent fears and illusive but seductive hopes, and where no action, however trivial, is free from this all-pervading but evil influence. I speak, of course, of the heathen community. But who can imagine that the native Christians are all at once delivered from this power? Certainly no man of experience. If every truly converted man were, from the day of his conversion, sinless—if thenceforth former habits and associations, relatives, friends, &c., had no power over him for ever—then we might look for such a result in our Tinnevelly converts. But in such a country as this, I am persuaded that the most assiduous and watchful care will be needful for some years, lest, after a good foundation has been laid, a corrupt superstructure should be raised.

Many severe trials also arise from the relapse of those who had once placed themselves under Christian instruction, and some of whom have been admitted to the full privileges of the Church of Christ. The Rev. J. Dewasagayam writes—

Before I state the great encouragement and comfort which it has pleased the Lord to give me in my work, I beg to inform you of the painful duty I have had to perform in excluding several members, for immorality and relapse into heathenism. One of the former was a man of the Vellala caste. He was employed as a schoolmaster, and was a regular communicant. But when he had an opportunity of showing the sincerity of his profession, and was invited to dine with his minister and Christian brethren, he not only refused to do it, but also quarrelled with some of our people shamefully, and neglected his duty. I suspended him for a time; but seeing no sign of sincere repentance in him, I found it necessary to dismiss him. To our great grief, he returned with his family to his heathen relatives at Palamcottah, and appears now to have openly embraced heathenism. One family was removed because a member of it, a well-instructed girl in the day-school, was secretly married to a heathen; and another family for immorality. Seven relapsed families at Kadatchapuram, of thirty-two souls, were all baptized, and twelve were communicants. In two families, of twelve souls, at Nesapuram, eight were baptized, of whom two were communicants. Their relapse has grieved many of our people, and I hope they united with me in humbling ourselves, and in praying to the Lord, with whom "nothing is impossible," for their recovery. The motive for leaving us was a firm attachment to devil-worship and sacrifice; and we found afterwards that they were doing it privately when living in our villages.

The native minister, the Rev. Abraham Samuel, also writes, May 25, 1851—

In the evening I went to M—— and called upon the headman. He had fallen from us lately, and returned into heathenism. I showed him the danger of forsaking the true God and worshipping dumb idols. But my words made no impression on his mind, and he said, "The Lord forsook me and my family." Thus he laid the ault, not upon himself, but upon God. Again I reminded him that the Lord is gracious enough even now to receive him and his family if they repent and turn to Him. There was not the slightest movement in his heart, even when I told him of the judgment that will fall at the last day upon every one who does not believe in Christ. He was under Christian instruction for twenty years, but was not baptized. I give up the matter to God, for He alone can soften the hardened heart and make it "an heart of flesh." In the same day a woman came to me, and said that for a month she had been much troubled by the devil, and had dreamed dreadful dreams, and lost several of her cattle, since she embraced Christianity, so God had forsaken her, and therefore she should worship devils again. I told her of Job, and reminded her, "God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it." Further, I told her of her folly in forsaking God and worshipping devils, and the account that she must give at the last day if she despise now the grace of God. But my words made no impression on her heart, and I saw her ears were shut not to hear, and her eyes shut not to see, the things pertaining to her soul. May the Lord be gracious to her soul, and convert her!

Among the discouragements to the progress of the gospel must be reckoned the false principles which have been countenanced by the Romanist Missionaries, tending in many ways to confuse the minds of the natives, and to keep up heathenism both within and without the nominal Church of Christ. The Rev. Septimus Hobbs writes in his journal, Feb. 4, 1851—

I must here explain that the practice of the Romish Church in India has led to a general feeling amongst the natives, that the use of charms and incantations is not essentially anti-Christian. Crosses, crucifixes, shells, and other amulets, may often be seen suspended round the same neck, as charms against diseases and other evils. Various other kinds of enchantments are also in common use amongst them. The use of spells is therefore not regarded as in itself anti-Christian by the heathen or Romanists, nor, of course, by new converts, until they have been taught the “more excellent way.”

The extracts under this head of our Report may be well closed by the following animated appeal from the senior Missionary in the district, Mr. Schaffter—

But in this thing especially we feel the need of the influences of the Spirit of grace to be shed abroad in a richer measure. That it may be so we earnestly pray; and we entreat all Christian friends, who in deed and in truth long for the coming of the Saviour's kingdom, to join us in the same prayer of faith. Without these influences, how can the above-mentioned people, however well-disposed they may be, truly forsake the world, and join themselves, in all sincerity, to the people of God, taking upon themselves the yoke of Christ? It is an easy thing to make an outward profession of Christianity, when worldly motives exist for doing so; but when no such motives exist, and when existing motives urge one in an opposite direction, which is the case with most of the people I now speak of, then such a profession is not so easily made, and an especial help of the Spirit of grace is required. Not only, however, for the turning of an Hindu into the right way, but in all other parts of our Mission work, the assistance of the Spirit of God is required: without it, all is toilsome, useless drudgery. The noblest Mission efforts, the most splendid schools, the wisest methods, the most unwearied zeal, diligence, preaching, and teaching, the fairest appearances, all sink in languor, and end in death.

Education.

The various schools, both at Palamcottah and in the Stations, have been kept up with spirit: the number of scholars has, on the whole, increased. Of the seminary for Christian boys, under the care of the Rev. W. Clark, the Rev. J. Thomas reports, as the result of his examination, July 4, 1851—

The general impression was that the seminary is in a healthy and prosperous state. In my own experience of fourteen years I have not known it in so promising a condition, and there is every reason to hope that it will furnish the Mission with many valuable agents.

I would strongly recommend the Committee to augment the number of scholars to 100.

I do not think that I have any further remarks to make ; and I find that in the written notices of the brethren [who examined the different classes] there is nothing of any moment. Putting all together, “satisfactory and improving” will, I think, exactly describe the seminary’s condition.

The Rev. J. T. Tucker gives a good report of his examination of the native English school. He states—

The youths who attend this school are the children of some of the most respectable natives in the province. Their ready compliance to be instructed in the truths of the gospel for the sake of an English education is a great step gained ; and although they remain followers of the false gods of their forefathers, yet they know full well our object in giving them instruction ; and it is our duty and hope to believe that God will, in His own good time, bless the exertions of Mr. Cruickshanks, and, according to His sovereign love, vouchsafe to “have mercy upon whom He will have mercy.”

Mr. Cruickshanks himself gives this interesting account of the first class in his school—

Here may be found youths able to speak and write English with something like propriety ; and indeed some of the more advanced are so well acquainted with English as to be able to think in it, and, if they may be believed, can think better in English than in Tamil. These, besides Scripture, on which of course I mainly depend as a means of clearing and nerving their intellect, are instructed in the elements of logic, mechanics, and astronomy, as well as in the other ordinary branches of education ; and it is hoped, that with minds so trained they cannot fail of rising above the mental and moral standard of their country : and with such an effect once achieved, what can hinder them from becoming Christians ? Interest indeed may, but superstition cannot, for they are no longer under its influence.

The Rev. Stephen Hobbs gives this important view of Christian education in the Satthankullam district, January 1851—

As the slow and difficult process of training youths for service goes on, the effects are everywhere visible. I have never, for example, seen the schools, taken as a whole, in so prosperous a condition as at present, whether as to the number of children learning or the progress they are making. I do not mean that this department has attained the desired standard as yet ; but if the persons employed in it should go on improving in intelligence, practical ability, and moral rectitude, as they have thus far, and the requisite complement for the district be supplied, as may reasonably be hoped, I think that within a short time the visible results will be increased tenfold, and education stand on quite a different footing from what it has hitherto held. The field in this district is already beginning to be cleared of heathen schoolmasters. Hitherto, their superiority in the art of teaching, and the preference in which instruction in heathen legends is held over Scripture truths, have secured them scholars in spite of the appeal which our free schools offer to the saving propensities of the parents; but before long, if present progress should continue, the Mission will monopolize all the education in the district, except, perhaps, in Saththankullam itself, which, being rather a large place, will afford room for competition for some time to come.

The progress of education in Tinnevely has led the Committee to adopt measures for securing an adequate supply of Tamil works for general information, upon Christian principles. Such elementary literature has been provided in the languages of North and Western India, by the zeal of various parties interested in the mental improvement of the natives; but in the Tamil language little has hitherto been accomplished. The Committee have therefore engaged the assistance of Mr. J. G. Seymer, who was formerly connected with the Society, and whose abilities for the work are of a high order, to return to Madras, and undertake this department of work.

Religious Societies.

The various religious societies instituted and supported by the native Christians of Tinnevely have continued to prosper. In the Kadatchapuram District they have added to the Church-Building Society a Church Endowment Fund, which in the first year reached 16*l.*, which was put out upon interest. The Committee are glad to record even this humble commencement of the self-supporting principle in a native church.

The Tinnevely Tract Society has met with much encouragement. At the anniversary meeting held at Palamcottah, Jan. 1851, it was stated that the issue of tracts had increased from 49,000 to 92,227. Mr. Dewasagayam employs his older boarding-school boys, as well as his scripture readers, as tract distributors. He notices one interesting occasion in the following terms—

They distributed many tracts and parts of the New Testament to many heathen who went last month to the feast at Trichendoor. They received them, and heard our people read with more attention than at any former period. When I heard, a few days after, that the cholera raged at Trichendoor, and a good number became victims to it, I was thankful that we had brought the valuable books to their hands in time. Many, on their return, appeared to be thunderstruck. Some of them had left their friends half dead, or unburied. They expressed their deep sorrow for trusting their poor idols, and their hearty wish not to go there another year.*

* Further accounts of the Tinnevely Mission are given in the "Church

TRAVANCORE.

This Mission has been conducted, during the last year, by the same Missionaries who were in charge at the period of the last Report. As the number of Missionary Stations increases, and the work presents in each of them similar features, the Committee will no longer give, as in former Reports, the particulars of each Station, but only the more prominent facts connected with the district at large.

The statistical returns of the Mission show that on the 31st of Dec. 1850 the number of baptized persons in connexion with the Mission was 3364, and on the 31st of Dec. last 3728, showing an increase of 364 persons; above 60 of whom were received from the Church of Rome.

General View of the prospects of the Mission.

The Rev. H. Baker, in his report for the year ending June 30, 1851, thus speaks of the encouragement to be derived from the state of the Syrians—

I believe there is a growing disposition among the Syrians of the Cottayam village district, chiefly among those of the middle and lower classes, to come into closer connexion with us; and I am happy to report that sixteen families, consisting of about sixty souls, have cut off the badge of their heathenism—the knot of hair on the fore-part of the head—and been received under Christian instruction. Thus, I trust, a brighter day is opening upon us, and that, after many years of toil and labour, of alternate hope and disappointment, we are beginning to see the long-desired fruit of our labour, the conversion of the heathen to God.

The Rev. Joseph Peet enters more at large into this subject, in a letter dated Jan. 24, 1852.

The history of the Mavelicare Mission for the year just passed has been, and is now, very eventful. On the one hand, the opposition to, and persecution of, the Church of Christ, have been more virulent than I ever experienced them in Travancore. While, on the other hand, out of a number of catechumens I have been enabled to admit into the church by baptism more individuals in the year 1851 than in any preceding year.

In a country like Travancore, where Brahminical influence exerts so much sway, and the Government is the professed supporter of idolatry, sympathy for Christianity is not to be looked for. It will not, therefore, excite surprise to hear that ill-disposed persons have been in the habit of plundering the property of our people, and otherwise injuring them. As a specimen of this species of persecution, I may mention that about three or four months since, while some recent converts were reaping their paddy,* upwards of sixty slaves, instigated by an influential heathen, went into their fields, and, after grossly abusing my people, took away most of their crop of paddy in open day; and though this was publicly known, my people could not, and cannot, gain any redress.

From all this it may be inferred, that the heathen in these parts are generally and violently opposed to Christianity; such a notion, however, requires to be received with limitation. It is true, indeed, that I have known deep and general opposition to the spread of Christianity in these parts, but I had outlived it: the gradual spread of Christian knowledge, and a growing conviction of the disinterestedness, if not the benefits, of our labours, tended greatly to remove suspicion and soften prejudice, so that we were enabled to live in comparative peace, and, generally speaking, on friendly terms. The present serious trouble is caused wholly by a few individuals, and not the inhabitants generally. Evil-disposed persons do indeed take advantage of this to injure my people, chiefly with a view to plunder them; and it is to be feared that forgotten prejudices have been revived, and a breach made between the Christians and heathen that will take years of forbearance, prudence, wisdom, and love, to repair.

This is a lamentable state of affairs, the more especially that, for a while at least, the future prospect is gloomy; but even though we had no other ground of comfort, it is satisfactory to know that affairs have come to the worst: my people have been abused, beaten, robbed, manacled, and imprisoned, merely for the sake of their religion. The sway of British influence, and the power of British opinion,† prevent more virulent persecution. Yet, in the teeth of opposition, people come forward to unite themselves with us. A movement is made: a knowledge of the truth is arresting the attention, and quickening the hitherto deadened consciences of the natives to a sense of the importance of eternal things. In a word, whether I look at the state of people's minds in my own Mission, or reflect upon what I see and hear in the surrounding districts under the spiritual care of our Church Missionary brethren, I am confirmed in the correctness of a statement I ventured to advance some years ago; viz. that, humanly speaking, the conversion of Travancore to Christ is but a question of time. My opinion is formed upon what I see of the practical workings that result from general knowledge, based on Christian principles, and is grounded upon data so tangible and self-manifest, as to show the result with the certainty of a moral demonstration.

Let me not, however, lead any astray by inducing them to form exaggerated notions from what has been advanced. That truth is advancing, and Christianity gaining ground, in Travancore, are facts too manifest to be hidden or denied; but it is equally a fact that Christianity has much to do, and many struggles to endure in

* Rice is so called, while it remains in the husk.

† It must be remembered that British rule does not extend over Travancore. It is an independent State.

Travancore, before she gain the final victory. She is opposed by the Government, and dreaded by the Brahmins; but, sad to say, her worst foes are those who are nominally within her own pale. I need not refer to that blood-stained caricature of Christianity, the Papal church, as in falsehood, fraud, and enmity to Christ, it is everywhere the same. But I must make a passing remark to show the state of, and to express my grief for, the Syrian church in these lands. As a church, she is manifestly degenerating, and the causes are obvious. The Word of God and means of learning the truth have been placed in her hands: she prefers her idols to the boon, and apparently, as a church, she has been given up. At all events, the seeds of dissension, corruption, and dissolution, have sprung up within herself, and are producing the most fatal results. Formerly there was but one metran, or bishop, to conduct the affairs of that church. Now, through falsehood and fraud, some four or five individuals have, or say they have, been appointed metran; and each is using means, not to be named, to have himself installed into office, although there is over the church a metran who was appointed to that office many years ago. This is one of the present chief causes of disturbances and trouble in that unhappy church, and from the same cause have arisen deep hatred to the truth, and increased opposition to every attempt at reformation. But yet, thanks be to God! the truth has taken deep root in the hearts of many individuals of that community: many have joined our pure church; very many sigh for a reformation in their own church; and still more have ceased to invoke the creature, and bow their knees to none but Christ; and all this, instrumentally, has been effected by the labours of our own Society.

The object of our labours is not—as some, we hope in ignorance, assert—to destroy the Syrian church, and erect our own upon its ruins. No: we wish and labour to bring her back to the faith of Christ; and for that purpose we show her her own corruptions in the glass of God's holy Word, and in the language of that Word we implore her to forsake idolatry; and we call upon all her enlightened members to assist us in our efforts to cleanse her, and to show their abhorrence of her evil course by ceasing to follow it, and by uniting with our scriptural church. If, contrary to all appearances, by a miracle of grace the Syrian church become reformed, there will be plenty of room for us to stand together, and labour together for the conversion of the Papists, heathen, and Mahomedans in these lands. At present, however, the Syrian church is a disgrace to Christianity, and one of our great opponents; yet its opposition tends to arouse the sluggish mass of the native mind, by inducing inquiry as to the merits of scriptural Christianity: inquiry leads to knowledge; knowledge leads to conviction; and conviction has brought many as true penitents to the foot of Christ.

Of our church members, I am thankful to be enabled to state, that the trials of the past year have proved them to be faithful to their principles, and have, I trust, had a beneficial effect in teaching them to consider the more seriously about their souls' concerns. Our Christians, and especially our converts, have much to endure, not only of direct persecution, but also from the enticements, the threats, and the superstitious notions, of their own relatives and neighbours.

The number of individuals admitted into the church of Christ by baptism in this Mission during the whole of last year was 132. During the latter part of the year, and when the persecution was at its greatest height, I had numbers of other applicants, but, on account of the trials that would assuredly follow, I received none but those I had full reason to believe would not yield to any persecution.

Some few months since it pleased God to permit me to open another church in this Mission. It is situated in the midst of a scattered heathen population in Krishnapuram. This building was erected "in troublous times," in the* midst of much opposition, and at a great outlay, as we had to convey timber and stones more than twenty miles, and partly by land. It is a substantial building, calculated to hold some two hundred persons. The cost has been defrayed by private contributors, and for the benefit of a people of whom some have given repeated evidence that they are a portion of God's dear children. On the day of setting it apart for divine worship I had the privilege to obtain the assistance of the Rev. Messrs. Beuttler and Chandy, and I fully believe we had the presence and approbation of our blessed Lord, because there were assembled a goodly number of those who love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity, and who worship with an enlightened understanding, and "in spirit and in truth." To our Triune Jehovah be all the glory, and let His kingdom come, and let the whole earth be soon filled with His glory as manifested in the person of Christ. Even so let it be speedily. Amen and Amen.

Visitation of the Bishop of Madras.

The Rev. J. Hawksworth—in a letter dated April 25, 1851—thus refers to the visit and confirmation of the Bishop of Madras—

His Lordship held two confirmations in this Mission. The first took place here [Tiruwalla], as the head quarters, in a temporary church hastily erected the week before the confirmation. The second was held at the Out-station of Mallapalli, which the bishop most kindly consented to visit, in order to prevent the extreme inconvenience to which the female part of the congregation would have been subjected, had they been under the necessity of coming here. The road through the jungle, a distance of about fourteen miles, was very obligingly cleared by the Circar Government* at my request. The people were greatly delighted to see their bishop amongst them. It was the first episcopal visit they had been favoured with, and I am sure the congregation and their resident minister, a native clergyman, will long remember his Lordship's kindness with gratitude. Even the heathen appeared to exert themselves heartily to help us on our way. There were no regular bearers to be procured. It was delightful to think, as we went along the new road—made by heathen hands to enable the servant of the Lord to carry far up into their country his Master's message—it was delightful to think that the day is coming when those who are now outcasts shall be brought into the bond of the covenant, and shall say to the Lord's servants, "We will go with you." May that day speedily arrive!

* The government of the circar, or district.

I am persuaded that a blessing has been vouchsafed. The number of communicants has increased, and I think I see more earnest attention on the part of some.

During the past quarter, thirteen converts from heathenism have been baptized. These are the first-fruits from heathenism at the Karakil Out-station. Though they have been severely persecuted, they stand firm. Hitherto they have walked most consistently, and they search the Scriptures. One of them is an old man seventy-five years of age.

Missionary Success.

The journals and communications of the Missionaries furnish many special instances of encouragement, which will illustrate the general view given above. Mr. Peet thus describes a visit to a village recently brought under the instruction of our Mission, in a letter dated Jan. 5, 1852—

Late last night I returned from Krishnapuram, and was much delighted with my day's work. At church about, I should think, ninety persons were present; and the services went on as orderly as any service in England could, though many have been added to us but lately. It was really quite surprising and delightful to see them at worship in every part of it. Then at our school we had about forty people in classes. Mark the good of our Female Boarding-schools—to teach the women of one of the head classes, I had a woman of the congregation who had been trained at Allepie; and it was very pleasing and satisfactory to hear her teach and explain the Church Catechism. The men also did well. It seems to answer nicely at present, and will, I trust, go on.

The Rev. H. Baker, jun., in his report of the Pallam District for the year, thus refers to the case of a number of converts who were admitted in a body into the Christian church, as reported last year—

The Chogans, who were baptized last year, after one and a half years' trial, are going on well. They are not, as far as I can find, lifted up with pride at their baptism, thinking they are now Mapalas or Syrians in caste, and, as such, refusing to inferior castes what they demand of the higher. We teach them to consider themselves Christians; and I believe that this has been the means of saving them from much oppression, since they are now enabled each one to work for himself in his own compound, and worship God on His appointed day, without hindrance. In this part of the district there remain one Brahmin, one Nair, and eighteen Chogans, under instruction.

The Rev. J. Harding gives the following interesting account of the progress of the gospel—

Sept. 5, 1851—Yesterday morning I visited for the first time a district named Kawalum,* about nine miles to the south-east of Allepie, where upwards of forty Chogans had expressed their desire and determination to become Christians. In reply to my inquiry why they wished to become Christians, they said that they were at present oppressed by their more powerful neighbours, the Nairs, and that otherwise it was impossible for them to obtain any knowledge of the true God, and the way to heaven. I give their reasons, good and bad, that our friends may know how often a regard to present relief and temporal good mixes with the desire of many of the heathen to embrace Christianity; though such motives are frequently concealed, and not, as in the present case, first and frankly acknowledged. “But suppose, which is very likely to be the case, you are called to suffer still more and greater injuries than you at present endure, for the gospel’s sake—are you prepared, with this prospect before you, to embrace the true religion?” “Yes,” they replied, “we will not go back—we have decided to become Christians.” I then told them what would be required of them as the followers of Christ, and that, unless they were resolved to “follow the Lord fully,” they had better hesitate; but that if they were sincerely so minded they need not fear; for that an omnipotent God would be on their side; earthly trials, should they come, would be more than compensated by the consolations of Christ, and an everlasting reward in the presence of God would be their final portion. They promised to erect a school-house at once, and in a few days, I hope, their children will be placed under Christian instruction.

Sept. 25—This morning I again visited Kawalum, having been there about a fortnight before, and made arrangements for having a school-house erected. Within a few days after my previous visit the school-room was built, and there is already a daily attendance of between thirty and forty children. I found forty there this morning, and nearly a hundred people—Chogans, Syrians, Roman Catholics, and slaves—assembled to meet me; and amongst them the Tanden, or headman of the Chogans, who seems very favourably disposed towards Christianity. The school-house, which is strongly built, and large enough to accommodate sixty persons, has been erected entirely at the expense of one individual, and, if needful, he would cheerfully put up another in a different part of his property. This, indeed, should these people remain firm, will, I have little doubt, be found necessary, as there are three times as many children in different parts of the district, who could not, on account of a large intervening river, attend the present school.

After I had spoken for some time to the numerous group around me, one of the chief men asked if they might unroof and demolish a little idol-house close to the spot where we were standing. I told them, as I had also done on my former visit, that the idol, which was merely a small smooth stone, could do them neither good nor evil; and forthwith four of the men carried off the roof wholesale, while some of the rest removed the idol stone, and a cocoa-nut from which it was supposed to quench its thirst. The stone was presented to me, and, after rubbing off the dust of ages, was safely lodged in my pocket. For 200 years, probably, this stone had been revered, and offerings of rice and cocoa-nuts presented to it, or rather to the god whom it was supposed to represent; for most of the people are not so silly as to believe that the idol is the deity, though, equally with those who do so regard it, they violate both the letter and spirit of the second commandment.

Two extracts may be added from a journal of the Rev. G. Matthan, which, though of a date prior to the year under review, has only lately reached the Committee. The first relates to an excellent woman whom he visited in her last illness at the request of the family, all of whom remained members of the Syrian church. He found her to be clear in her views of the doctrines of the gospel, and strong in faith in the Redeemer. "She was in heart and feeling a thorough Anglican, having been in the habit of reading daily a portion of the Word of God, and of praying from an excellent form of family prayer published by our Missionaries." Mr. Matthan concludes the account with this remark—

Such instances of real piety among those who are members of other communions are worthy of being noticed and borne in mind; since they are calculated to show that the benefits of Missionary operations, in connexion with the circulation of the Scriptures, are not to be wholly measured by their direct and visible success; but that they may really, though indirectly, extend to numbers, the greatness of which can be fully known only "in the day when God shall judge the secrets of men."

The second extract relates to a conversation with a Syrian priest on the duty of preaching the gospel to the people, and concludes with the following general observation by our native Missionary—

A regular administration of the sacraments, together with a certain decency of external conduct, is, in their opinion, all that is required to constitute a good minister. The catanars are regarded as the successors of the Levitical priesthood, being entrusted with the administration of the sacraments rather than with that of the Word. There are, therefore, but few among the Syrian priests who are in the habit of preaching the gospel. The practice probably came into disuse in the times of ignorance, when the scriptures were in a dead tongue, which even the clergy did not understand. There are now, however, many in the sacerdotal order, who, by their education under the Missionaries, are qualified to instruct their flocks by exposition and preaching of the Word of God. But they perversely or timidly shun the performance of this important duty, lest they should be suspected of, or appear countenancing Protestantism, with which preaching is associated in their minds, as it was the Missionaries by whom the practice was first introduced into the country. The difference is become so marked, that our church is known among the heathen by the term "Preaching Church," while the Syrian is distinguished by the name "Mass Church." I told the catanars that St. Paul was of a different mind from them, seeing that he gloried more in being a preacher of the cross of Christ than a minister of the sacraments, which they so unduly exalted. The Prophet Isaiah, lvi. 10, 11, describes the character of these men, when he says, "His watchmen are blind . . . they are all dumb dogs . . . greedy dogs . . . shepherds that cannot understand."

Labours amongst the hill tribes—Araans.

The Rev. H. Baker, jun., reports—Feb. 5, 1852—the result of his visits to the hills, and the admission of the first converts amongst the people into the Christian Church by baptism.

Towards the hills there are, at Moondakyam, seventeen families, Christians, some of them by birth and others by conversion. These have each their own compound and provision-ground reclaimed from the forest. Thirteen have finished their houses, the others are preparing. They would, in the past month, have been joined by twelve or fourteen families more, had not a report been spread that the Missionary was not to visit them again, and the settlement had been forbidden. I stayed five weeks with my family at this place in November, and have just returned from them, after baptizing thirty Araans in a neighbouring village. Mr. Johnson, from Cottayam, and a brother of mine, who had accompanied me on my first visit to the Araans, three years and a half ago, were present. I examined the catechumens repeatedly; and the earnestness of their manner and answers satisfied me and those present, so that we could not see any thing to forbid their baptism. There are still about thirty persons at Assapian, who are preparing for baptism. At Combukuthi, another Araan village, there are more than forty instructed.

The Rev. E. Johnson thus speaks of the baptism of the Araans, in a letter dated Jan. 31, 1852—

They were baptized by families. I humbly trust that God was present with us, and that His Spirit was vouchsafed with the outward ordinance. Deeply did I sympathize with Mr. Baker's joy in seeing the first-fruits of his arduous labours for above three years—from grey-headed, though sturdy, old age to helpless infancy—admitted into Christ's church. May the blessed work go on and prosper in his hand! When the baptisms were over we walked about the place. It was pleasing to find how well the people knew, and how readily they answered to, their Christian names. Mr. Baker gave me an account of his visit to the place with dear Mr. Ragland, and of his earnest prayers for an abundant blessing on the place and its then future inhabitants. We thanked God, who had given us to see so much of the fulfilment of our dear friend's prayers.

Mr. Baker thus describes the prospect of Missionary labour among the Araans—

In our tour we visited seven Araan villages, and either saw or heard of twenty-three of their settlements within a circle of ten miles from Moondakyam, containing hundreds of inhabitants. At one place we were told there was only one house. We found four families, and quite a host of little-ones. At another, one guide said there were four houses : we found about sixty men. The whole mountain side is flanked and supported by precipices, covered by cocoa-nut, areca, and other fruit-trees, and full of people moving about. At more than one village the people invited us to visit them again. From Chowrymulla, to the south to Thodenvany, Peryaru, the western slope of the Ghaut range is full of Araans, most of whom pay no taxes. Two itinerant Scripture readers, with a Missionary, to visit and teach these people, would do much good. They have not the caste prejudices or worldly-minded selfishness of the low-country people, and more are willing to "learn Christianity."

Slavery in Travancore.

Mr. Matthan, in his report for 1850, refers at some length to the oppressed and miserable condition of the slaves. Their number in the kingdom of Travancore amounts to probably one-sixth of the whole population. In the village of Mallapalli they amount to 500, out of 2000 souls. "They are regarded as so unclean that they are thought to convey pollution to their fellow-creatures by contact, or even by approach. They are so wretchedly provided with the necessaries of life that the most loathsome things are a treat to them. Their persons are entirely at the disposal of their masters, by whom they are bought and sold like cattle, and are often worse treated." Mr. Matthan has striven to conciliate and benefit this despised class of his countrymen, and with much success.

The Rev. J. Hawksworth writes, March 30, 1851—

For some months past there has been a very hopeful movement among the poor slaves in the neighbourhood of Mallapalli. In this country these poor creatures are regarded by the higher classes, and even by common kulis (labourers), as utterly unclean and polluting. But now they have heard of Jesus; and it is quite delightful to hear them pronounce His name, and tell of what He has done for them; how He has died for them, and is now pleading for them. Some of them speak as if they had at length found a friend—"a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." And it is quite affecting to hear them repeat the Lord's Prayer; addressing God for the first time as "Our Father," and proceeding with broken accents till they stop, overpowered by their feelings. One poor old man, said to be above 100 years old, is learning eagerly, and has made surprising progress. A short time ago he was heard to say, "I may not live to be baptized, but I believe I shall live to get to heaven." Last Saturday I went to see a school in the jungle. The slaves were erecting it for themselves. A member of our Mallapalli congregation, expressing his surprise and joy at what he saw, said to me, the other day, "Sir, I believe these poor creatures will become far better Christians than we have been."

The journals of Mr. Matthan contain many allusions to this department of his labours. When the bishop visited Mallapalli he kindly saw, and addressed a few words to, some of the slaves under instruction. "His making them come near him is greatly noised in the country, for to do such a thing by a great man is an abomination among the natives. It was, therefore, a sharp rebuke to the pride and self-righteousness which lurked under the prejudice, claiming birth, superiority, and holiness, and saying, 'Stand by thyself, come not near to me; for I am holier than thou.'"

Jan. 10, 1851—A few days ago one of these people asked his wife to give him his supper; but she would not give it him, as he had not prayed. He immediately retired to an adjoining jungle, to perform his evening devotions. On being asked by some of our people, who happened to be on the spot, why he did not pray in the house, his reply was, that he feared his mind might be disturbed by the prattlings and cries of the children. Such symptoms of Christian feelings on the part of the slaves have a great tendency to remove the prejudices of our people, and to counteract their fears and selfish views with respect to their being instructed.

March 2: Lord's-day—The slaves under instruction were, according to arrangement, assembled this morning in the Church compound, to be examined in their lessons. All those who witnessed the examination were astonished at the amount of knowledge they possessed. Though none of them knew letters, a large proportion of them were able to repeat the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, and the Apostles' Creed. They understood the distinct offices of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, and were able to return sensible answers to several other questions, showing that they understood what they committed to memory. Among those who answered well, there were some men and women who had never been able to attend the place of instruction, which affords a proof that religion occupies a prominent place in their minds, so as to be the topic of conversation among themselves. It was really moving to see some of them shedding tears while repeating the Lord's Prayer, and being assured of the love of Christ towards so low and despised a class as they were.

Nevertheless, much opposition appears to be rising here, as it always has arisen in similar cases, against all attempts to benefit the oppressed. Mr. Matthan writes—

Nominal Christians join with the heathen in throwing obstacles in our way, with a view to thwart our efforts for the benefit of these poor creatures; and our own people are wavering between the calls of duty and of interest. Strong fears exist, among all classes of people, that the enlightenment of slaves will be followed by their liberation, and the consequent ruin of the interests of agriculture. We are therefore being regarded as enemies to the best interests of the country, though they are unable to attribute to us any sinister motive, save that of enthusiasm. Some men threatened to beat the ashan (school-master) who goes to instruct them on Sundays, with a view to deter him from further persisting in the work. One man, and a Christian too in name, got some of his slaves actually beaten for coming to hear of Christ against his order.*

Cottayam College.

This institution was re-opened by the Rev. E. Johnson in June 1851. It is too early to report with confidence either its present state or its prospects.

Cottayam Printing-Press.

The printing-press has during the year been usefully employed, in the printing of the Scriptures, a monthly periodical, catechisms, tracts, sermons, and useful publications. The printing in the Malayalim language could not be performed elsewhere. The importance of maintaining this powerful engine of good will be manifest from the following extract from the journal of the Rev. H. Harley, Sept. 11, 1851—

The Roman-Catholic priests are actively employed in the propagation of their erroneous tenets and doctrines. They have established a printing-press, at a convent near Cottayam, for the purpose of issuing Malayalim works. They have just published a Malayalim work, in 18mo., comprising 343 pages, containing all their principal prayers, and especially addresses to the Virgin, saints, and angels. In the frontispiece is the cross, with the following inscription in Malayalim—"Hail, cross of our salvation!" The prayers appear to be the same as those used throughout Europe in Roman-Catholic countries. The typography is tolerably good, but not equal to that of the Church-Mission Press. As a commencement has been made, other Romish works will probably issue from the same press. "The weapons of our warfare," however, "are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of the strongholds" of Satan!

COCHIN.

The Rev. J. G. Beuttler joined the Rev. H. Harley, in the beginning of 1851, at the remote Station of Trichoor, where Mr. Harley had long laboured alone.

General View.

The report of this Station, June 30, 1851, shows an encouraging progress, both in the addition of new members to the

* Further accounts of these poor people may be seen in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for January 1852.

Christian Church from the heathen, and in an evident improvement in the native congregation. Mr. Harley writes—

One circumstance from which I infer that spiritual benefit has been imparted is, that several members in the congregation endeavour to propagate the extent of their knowledge. A mechanic who has joined for some years lately went to his native country, Iriniakudi, about fourteen miles from us, and took with him some Christian books, to distribute among his heathen relatives and friends. The consequence is, a great demand is now made for books in the above-named village, which I have engaged to visit as soon as the state of the weather permits. The religion of Christ is a self-propagating religion.

Scripture Readers—Movement among the Syrians and Romanists.

Mr. Harley very wisely devotes much of his attention to the instruction of the Scripture readers. He writes—

We have been careful that none but spiritual agents be employed in spiritual labours. Our efforts therefore have been directed to send forth readers imbued with the spirit of the gospel, so that in all their daily itinerations among the heathen and Roman Catholics they may, “both by their life and doctrine, set forth God’s true and lively Word.” Many heathen have through our weak instrumentality been brought to the knowledge of the truth. The Spirit of God alone can change the heart. May that Spirit be largely vouchsafed, so that “the wilderness and the solitary place may be made glad, and the desert rejoice, and blossom as the rose.”

In a later communication—Dec. 30, 1851—Mr. Harley states that the native Christians amount to 550 souls, and are divided nearly equally into two congregations, assembling respectively at Trichoor and Moolicherry. The Scripture readers now visit, according to an arranged plan, the surrounding villages, so that “within the course of a month they traverse all the principal villages round Trichoor.” The converted Nambouri Brahmin, accompanied by an assistant-reader, bears his part in the visitation, and distributes many books amongst the higher caste of natives, with most of whom he was on terms of intimacy in his heathen state.

Whilst this increase of activity and success is manifested in the Mission, there appears to be great excitement among the Syrians and the Romanists. The experience of the Missionaries in Cochin is precisely similar to that already recorded by the Missionaries labouring in the adjoining kingdom of Travancore. Mr. Harley states, in the report already quoted—most divided state, and many are anxious to be joined to a purer faith. Harassed by internal discords, with no acknowledged head, the clergy ignorant, and incapable of instructing, the condition of the people is deplorable to the greatest degree. Many are anxious for a purer faith, but have not sufficient fortitude and faith to bear the trials and persecutions attendant on a separation from their communion. Since, however, the Syrians receive the Word of God in an unmutilated and incorrupted state, we may hope that they will gradually put away all their heterodox doctrines, and simply receive "the truth as it is in Jesus." The Word of God has been very widely dispersed at this Station, which contains a population of at least 12,000 Syrians, of whom every family, I believe, is in possession of God's Word, which has been distributed by myself, or procured from other quarters by them.

The emissaries of Rome have begun to bestir themselves to oppose the truth in these parts. Within the last few months a Romish priest, from the convent near Cottayam, arrived at Kotapade, and compelled all the people who had received our books to bring them to the church, under pain of excommunication. As soon as the whole were collected, they were publicly burned in the presence of the people. He however took the precaution to reserve the covers for his own use, for binding Roman-Catholic works. Thus the blind are leading the blind, and both are falling into the pit. The priest above alluded to has been collecting a large sum of money from all the Romish Churches, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the press near Cottayam, and publishing works referring to the Romish Church. I understand that they are about to make a version of their own Scriptures in the Malayalam language. Considerable activity, therefore, is evinced by the Romanists in the propagation of their blasphemous tenets. Their efforts are directed to repress the spirit of inquiry that has been excited among the people, and this has been the cause of their committing our Scriptures and tracts to the flames at Kotapade. The people, I am informed, were in the habit of proposing questions of difficult solution to their priests from the Scriptures, which was reported to the Romish priest from Cottayam, who publicly burnt all our books, to put a summary end to such discussions. Hence the Romanists, like the Pharisees of old, "shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for they neither go in themselves, neither suffer they them that are entering to go in." But notwithstanding that the powers of hell thus combine together, the truth of God's Word shall finally prevail. "The knowledge of the Lord shall cover the earth," and the kingdom of Satan be finally destroyed. The Romanists, in order still further to prejudice the minds of the people, have spread a report that in England a considerable number of families have embraced the Roman-Catholic faith. The allusion was of course made to the Tractarian apostasies. The facts were undeniable, but I cautioned my informants not to fall after the same example of unbelief, as the unhappy individuals alluded to had been deluded to "believe a lie." But notwithstanding this opposition, my efforts have been directed simply to preach justification by faith through Christ alone, "without the deeds of the law." May the Spirit of the Lord apply the Word more and more to the hearts and consciences of the hearers!

Soon afterwards Mr. Harley writes—

Several of these people come to our church here every Sunday, a distance of nine or ten miles, and are anxious to be baptized. I do not know them, however, sufficiently well yet, and they are not themselves so advanced in the knowledge of Christian truth, as to warrant me to receive them.

Yesterday upwards of thirty people came from Kawalum,* having travelled hither in four small boats. Twenty-eight of the number desired to have their top-knots cut off, and thus to evidence their renunciation of idolatry. Having for some time tested their sincerity, I complied with their request, and before going to church this mark of heathenism was removed. Only six of the above were ready for baptism—a husband and wife, with four of their children, the eldest having been left at home to keep house. These, after the second lesson, were solemnly enrolled among the professed followers of the Lamb. They are well acquainted with the elementary truths of the gospel, and manifest great decision and openness of character. The husband has spent several rupees in building a large school-house, and has, I have been told, always paid the expense of the journeys to and from Allepie performed by himself and neighbours. As no inducement of a temporal character has ever been held out to them, but, on the contrary, probable trials, losses, and persecutions, we feel encouraged to hope that they are really acting under the influence of grace, and will prove blessings to their friends and neighbours. May the Good Shepherd lead, and comfort, and strengthen them! †

Stations. He has exerted himself for the erection of a Mission Church in Colombo, which the Committee earnestly hope may be soon accomplished, in which English and native services may be held, and which may thus prove a centre of union between the native Christians and those European friends of Missions who take an active interest in the evangelization of the native population.

A Church Missionary Association has been re-organized at Colombo, which promises to call out much valuable local assistance to the cause of the Society.

COTTA.

The Rev. A. D. Gordon and the Rev. I. Wood have divided between them the duties of this Station.

Village Congregations.

Mr. Gordon has charge of twelve villages, in which divine service is held, and in each of which a school has been opened. The total number of services held on a Sunday is 15; the average attendance of adults being 568, and of children 471. The excess of the former over the latter is a new feature in the statistics of this Mission. Mr. Wood has fourteen villages in his district, and he is assisted by the native minister, the Rev. C. Senanayaka. "Five catechists are employed in this division of the Station, each of whom has two or three villages set apart as his peculiar charge, in which he holds services on the Sunday, when the Missionary is unable to attend, and which he is expected to visit as often as possible on other days, for the purpose of distributing tracts, conversing with the people, instructing adult candidates for baptism, and superintending the schools."

Education—The Cotta Institution.

There are connected with this Station 28 vernacular schools for boys and 38 for girls, containing 750 children. At Cotta there are also a boys' and girls' English schools.

This institution has been under the charge of the Rev. A. D. Gordon. The number of students is 22. An examination was held last July, at which several of the friends of Missions from Colombo attended, and took part in the examination, which extended to various Greek and Latin authors, Euclid, Joyce's Scientific Dialogues, and Scripture History. Mr. Gordon writes—"The assurances I have received from all who were present on the occasion, of their perfect satisfaction with what they had heard and witnessed, has been exceedingly gratifying, inasmuch as the subjects on which the examination was conducted were considerably in advance of those of the examinations held on former occasions."

BADDAGAME.

General View.

The report of this Station is still of a discouraging character. The Rev. G. Parsons, in his annual report, thus speaks of the village, containing 2400 inhabitants —

At this place the church is built, and here are the mission residences, seminary, and girls' school; but here, alas! is the greatest indifference to the good news of salvation. It seems as if the people were hardened to the sound of the church bell and the Missionary's voice, and accustomed to treat both with silent contempt. Last year I established an early service for the heathen, who objected to come to the ordinary service. Like every thing else at Baddagame, it succeeded for a time, but within three months fell to nothing. In vain I invited, opened the church, and had the bell tolled Sunday after Sunday. As no one came, I discontinued the service.

Establishment of Cottage Lectures.

Another plan which has been adopted by the Missionaries, and noticed in the same report, is of a more hopeful kind.

The Rev. A. Goonesekera has succeeded in drawing together every week several little companies of people to a kind of cottage lecture. This is quite a new feature in the Station; and by this means many—who before were either determined Buddhists, or too careless to come to hear the word of God in the church—are regularly brought together and instructed. The attempt is but recent, and we must be prepared to see many who are apparently inquiring go back, and walk no more with us. In August, the number of attendants in seven classes was sixty-one. After six weeks the number of classes was increased to nine, and the attendants to 104.

The following extracts from the journal of the native minister, the Rev. Abraham Goonesekera, refer to these adult classes—

July 25—As none of the blacksmiths living in the hamlet of Ken-nagode have hitherto taken any notice of the true way of salvation, I thought of visiting them and their families this morning, with the view of obtaining their consent to form an adult class among them once a week for Christian instruction. There are fifteen families of them. Owing to an enmity, four families do not wish to have any dealings or connexions with the others, therefore they refused my proposal, but the other eleven accepted it. In these there are twenty-seven adults, seven boys, and nine girls. They themselves fixed a place for the class.

Sept. 23—This morning I opened an adult class in the house of the former second master of Paleketiye school. He was not at home. His wife said he was gone to Hiccaduwa. She took an active part in the formation of the class, by running up and down in the neighbourhood, and calling in young and old women, accommodating them in her house, and requesting their careful attention to what was being told to them. It was an interesting assembly, mostly adults. After a short prayer, I spoke to them, in the way of preface to my discourse, first about the divine origin and the antiquity of the Christian religion, and then about its introduction into this island by the Portuguese. Having thus obtained their attention, I read to them the first beatitude in our Saviour's Sermon on the Mount, and then, in order to get them into the habit of religious consideration and thoughtfulness, I asked them to find out the meaning of the phrase "poor in spirit," to which blessedness is annexed. Several of the adults, after consideration amongst themselves, mentioned what they thought it meant; but finding none of them got the true meaning, I explained it to them, showing that their rejection of the way of salvation appointed by their Creator, and their acceptance of human notions on the point, argued a proud state of mind. I asked them whether they had not been guilty of cherishing this pride. They were silent. Then I put to them some other questions, about the necessity of a Creator, and how proper it would be in such a Being to give a religion for the conduct of man, that he may so pass this life as not to lose his soul's eternal welfare in the next. They answered my questions correctly. I then brought them back to the former point, that is, their being guilty of the worship of Buddha and other beings instead of their Creator. Some of them acknowledged they had done wrong. I told them it was more than wrong, that it was highly sinful in the sight of their proper lawgiver and benefactor, Jehovah, the Lord of heaven and earth. I advised them to be reconciled with Him, through His Son, their only Mediator and Saviour.

New Out-Station at Bentotte.

Mr. Parsons has extended his labours to the towns and villages on the sea-coast. In many cases he has met with no encouragement, but at Bentotte the modeliar (native magistrate) is a Christian, who always attends the services of the Missionary, and invites his neighbours. "There is here also a government-school, in charge of a Christian young man who was educated at Cotta, and who is always ready to forward any plans, from gratitude to the Society for his own and his brother's education, and from love of the truth." Here, therefore, a school-room has been built by the people, and the Missionary has a congregation of from 60 to 100 adults, besides 50 children.

KANDY.

Congregations—Schools—the Kandians.

The Rev. W. Oakley reports of this Station, that the usual attendance at the Mission School-room on the Sunday morning is about eighty adults, of whom ten are heathen Kandians. The people have expressed an earnest desire for the erection of a Mission Church, and have subscribed 150*l*.

towards the erection. There are three chapels in the neighbourhood of Kandy, at which divine services are held.

Three new schools have been opened, in addition to four which were formerly reported. Some of these schools have been opened among the Kandian population. These people are the descendants of the ancient ruling families of Ceylon, and are still regarded with especial respect. There has lately appeared among them a better disposition than formerly to receive Christian instruction. In one instance a young Kandian, who had been baptized three years ago by Mr. Oakley, has been appointed to a government-office in the district. "He has continued stedfast in his profession of Christianity, and has been a communicant from the time of his baptism. He has proposed to erect a school-room in his village, and has offered to superintend the master, using his influence to draw the people together whenever the Missionary is able to visit the place."

Encouragement at Ratmewela.

Mr. Oakley reports other hopeful symptoms of a spirit of inquiry among the Kandians in the villages of the Kandupalata district, which contains about 3200 souls, more especially at the village of Ratmewela, about twelve miles from Kandy. Nearly fourteen years ago, a man from that village, a rigid Buddhist, was sent into the gaol at Kandy on account of a family dispute about property. There he first heard the gospel preached by the Missionaries. Upon his release and return to his village, he walked over each Sunday to attend the preaching of the Missionaries, though his life was threatened even by his own brother. He was baptized by the name of Abraham. His former character had been very bad: he was not merely a heathen, but a devil dancer, and one who took the lead in such ceremonies and deeds of darkness. His meek and consistent conduct after baptism gradually won upon the respect of his family and neighbours. His brother and other members of his family eventually became inquirers, and were received into the Christian church. Abraham became a schoolmaster under the Society, in a school built at the expense of his brother, in which a widow, with her two children, were baptized at the commencement of last year.* It is proposed to locate a catechist at the village, as several young men, educated at the Mission-school, have expressed their desire for further Christian instruction.

* A full account of Abraham and his brother is given in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for July 1852.

General View.

Mr. Oakley reports, of the general condition of the Station—

The present state and prospects of this Station are encouraging, more so perhaps than in past years. The attendance of the people at the services, at the different places of worship, on the Lord's-day, has been steady throughout the year. In the schools there has been a considerable increase. The catechists, instead of being located, as formerly, in Kandy, are now, with one exception, living in villages at a distance from the town, where I trust they are actively and usefully employed. The number of candidates for adult baptism is at present twenty-five, of whom ten are Kandians.

JAFFNA DISTRICT.

Nellore, Chundicully, and Copay.

There has been no change in the ministrations of the Missionaries at these Stations.

The Rev. J. O'Neill reports that the Bishop of Colombo visited the district in August last, and held a confirmation in Nellore Church, at which 50 candidates from the Mission were confirmed—13 from Copay, 17 from Nellore, and 20 from Chundicully.

The Rev. R. Pargiter reports of his Station, Chundicully—“Week-day services have been regularly kept up during the whole year. At some of the school bungalows they have been held every week.” He adds—

The Romanists around the Station are exerting themselves, and making every effort to injure us. Having lately obtained a grant from Government for education, they are seeking to destroy or injure our schools, and threaten any Romish parent who dares to send his children to a Protestant school. Festivals and processions and theatrical representations are the means by which they decoy the unwary and the ignorant; but hitherto my people have maintained their ground against all attempts to draw them aside. The pure truth of God is, I am convinced, the most effectual weapon in the hands of both minister and people against Rome, in all its errors and deceptions; and this I am determined to use with more vigour and diligence, in proportion as Rome puts forward her desolating and soul-destroying power.

Opening of a new Station Church at Copay.

At the close of the year a new church for the Rev. R. Bren's Station at Copay was completed, and opened for public worship on the 9th of Jan. 1852. The length of the nave is seventy-six feet, its width thirty feet, and the chancel is sixteen feet square. “As the edifice is intended strictly for a native congregation, and also in order to save expense, no seats have been provided for the people ; but the church floor is covered with mats, such as they are accustomed to sit upon in their own houses. By this arrangement a greater number of persons can be accommodated than upon benches." On the day of opening three services were held, which were well attended by the people, and by the Missionaries of the American and Wesleyan Societies. The sum of 15*l*. was collected in the course of the day. At the early service three adults were baptized, and at the mid-day service there were about 130 communicants. The land—about five acres—was a gift to the Society by P. A. Dyke, Esq. The whole cost has been nearly 400*l*.

Education.

Of the Chundicully seminary Mr. Pargiter reports—

The progress of the boys has been very considerable in almost every branch of study. The seminary underwent a thorough examination in connexion with that of the schools generally, and again by the bishop in August, who expressed himself much pleased with the attainments of the students. A number of boys have been admitted during the year, on payment of a sum sufficient to defray all necessary expenses connected with their board, and seven others are supported by English residents in Jaffna. Two of the students have been appointed to schools, four are under instruction for baptism, and ten received confirmation when the bishop was here.

The female boarding-school at Nellore is under the care of Mrs. Long, who reports that the school is in a very satisfactory state. The parents of the children show great interest in the school. The number of applications for admission is daily on the increase. There are at present upwards of twenty candidates in the admission-book.

Measures have been adopted for the regular inspection of the Mission schools by the Missionaries, when a thorough examination takes place. The result has been very beneficial at present.*

CHINA MISSION.*(European Missionaries first arrived in 1844.)Mission Establishment :

6 Ordained European Missionaries.

Bishop of Victoria's Report of St. Paul's College, and of the China Mission generally.

THE Bishop of Victoria has addressed to the Archbishop of Canterbury his annual report of Missionary operations in China, dated Jan. 28, 1852; from which it appears that the new buildings at St. Paul's College, Hong Kong, have been completed, in which the bishop now resides as warden of the college, together with a full staff of tutors and students.

This institution had its origin in the Missionary zeal of the late chaplain of Hong Kong, the Rev. Vincent Stanton, who in the year 1843 devised the scheme of an Anglo-Chinese school, and collected subscriptions for its erection amounting to about 3000*l.*, including a liberal donation of 1000*l.* from himself. By his exertions the present very eligible site was procured, and buildings erected sufficient for the accommodation of himself, an European tutor, and thirty-four native pupils. This school was opened in the spring of 1849. But as soon as an Anglican see was erected for China, Mr. Stanton proposed to the trustees the transfer of the whole property to the bishop for the time being. The Bishop of Victoria accepted the transfer, paying off a debt of 643*l.* which remained against the institution. The bishop has been enabled, by a munificent donation from a brother and sister, aided by a grant of 2000*l.* from the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, to complete all the requisite buildings of a collegiate establishment. The bishop writes—

About sixty persons reside in the building, which is of moderate dimensions, but built in collegiate style. It has attracted much attention among the Chinese population; and I trust it will become a little centre of Missionary operations and Christian influence, which will, at no distant period of time, make a sensible impression on these parts.

The present number of our Chinese pupils is about thirty, averaging generally from twelve to eighteen years of age, including three half-castes, natives of India or Ceylon, but settled for some time at Hong Kong. One-half of these have been recently admitted. In the early part of last summer two Japanese youths, also, brought to Hong Kong from a wreck, remained for some weeks in the school, and have since gone to the north of China, in the hope of returning to their own country.

The new college building is conveniently arranged, and well adapted to the varied plans of usefulness which we are endeavouring to carry out.

The amount of Christian knowledge acquired by the fifteen elder youths is remarkable, and is not generally exceeded by youths of the same age in English schools. Their conduct has been almost uniformly good. I cannot but hope that on a few hearts a work of grace has been begun. Three were baptized during the last summer.

The Rev. E. T. R. Moncrieff, a Missionary of the Society, is the senior tutor of the college. The bishop gives Mr. Moncrieff's report of his department of labour, from which the following is an extract—

The chief subject which has occupied their time and attention has been, and I trust always will be, the great truths of our holy religion. As far as the merely theoretical knowledge of these goes, they are certainly fully equal to almost any youths of the same ages at home, and superior to a very great majority. The greater part of the gospels they have read many times, and have also been carefully questioned as to the meaning of the text: and with a very considerable portion of the Old Testament history the elder boys especially are well acquainted, not so much from a perusal of the books themselves, as from abridgments of the history they contain, prepared by some of our brethren in the field. A very full catechism, founded upon the Church Catechism, and drawn up by Bishop Boone of Shanghai, is familiar to all the boys; and those of the first class have also learned, and apparently understand, a little Catechism on the "Evidences," prepared a few months since by myself. I trust, therefore, that many of our pupils have an intelligent knowledge of Christian truth. I would I could also add that they have a spiritual perception of it: for this, however, we must look to Him who alone can give the increase.

In secular knowledge, most of our pupils understand the leading facts of geography and astronomy, and they have recently commenced a short outline of general history.

The bishop also remarks, in reference to Missionary labours in other parts of China—"The Reports of the Church Missionary Society, the mainstay of the Church-of-England Mission in China, have fully described the state of the three northern Stations of Shanghai, Ningpo, and Fuh-Chau." His lordship gives the following general views of the Mission—

Among the encouragements which I am privileged to record is the fact of the past year having witnessed the first-fruits of the Church-of-England Mission in China: I trust, only the beginning of a more plentiful harvest of souls to be gathered into the Church of Christ. There have been baptized—three at Ningpo, four at Shanghai, and three at Hong Kong. If we were satisfied with a low standard of Christian profession, many additions to this number might be made.

Native converts from heathenism are very weak, require constant supervision, and need our earnest prayers. It is not reasonable to expect immediately all the fruits of the Spirit in full bloom in the Chinese character, even when rescued from the evil influences of paganism, and brought under the power of divine grace. Our greatest hope is in our youths, for raising an effective native Christian ministry. Adult Chinese cannot ordinarily be brought beyond a certain point in theological attainments. Their language is unwieldy, difficult, and ill-adapted for expressing and conveying spiritual ideas. It is difficult to hope that any nation, with such a language as the Chinese, can become even intellectually great. We hope much from the teaching of English to the better and more promising class of Chinese youths. There are few books composed by foreigners in Chinese which contain much beyond what is elementary and superficial. Lengthened observation and experience lead me to believe that few Missionaries will be found able to convey, until after many years' study of the language, instruction in the higher departments of theology and science, to those who must become the future evangelists of their countrymen.

After describing the political agitation in China, and the opposition of the new Emperor to all liberal plans of government, as well as to the labours of Missionaries, the bishop concludes his letter with these remarks—

With such symptoms of internal danger and change, it is difficult not to feel that we, whom God has stationed on the frontiers of this land, may ere long have to gird up our minds, and to buckle on "the whole armour of God" against a new and momentous emergency. We have a mighty work to accomplish, and a glorious vocation to fulfil, as watchmen upon the bulwarks of Zion, and heralds of the approaching victories of the cross.

We form an army of observation, collected on the outposts of this land, soon, perhaps, destined, in the name of Christ, to invade its interior provinces, and to extend the bloodless triumphs of the gospel among its benighted population. Let our weapon be the sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God; our protection, the favour and blessing of the Almighty; our armour, "the shield of faith, where-with we shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked!"

FUH-CHAU.

The two Missionaries, the Rev. Messrs. Welton and Jackson, have remained at this Station. Their time has been chiefly occupied in the acquisition of the language. Mr. Welton has much conciliated the people by freely imparting to them the benefit of his medical skill. He has opened a dispensary, which is attended by large numbers of the natives of all ranks. On occasion of one of the Chinese festivals, the attempt to distribute Christian tracts led to a serious riot, in which the Mission-house was assaulted, and much mischief done to the property. Upon a proper representation, however, to the Chinese authorities, an ample apology was made to the Consul, and compensation was paid for the damage done to property. At a later date—Nov. 5, 1851—Mr. Welton writes—

Our peaceful objects and pursuits are being appreciated, and, as the Vice-Consul's teacher told him a few days ago, the people begin to know and appreciate our benevolent objects. May they seek to us for the bread of life! We distribute a good number of books among the Chinese, especially the Scriptures; and copies of the Scriptures are often inquired after by intelligent literary men. A few days ago a schoolmaster came to me for a copy, so that I hope, even now, our labours are not in vain.

NINGPO.

At this Station there are the three Missionaries of the Society named in the last Report, the Rev. Messrs. Cobbold, Russell, and Gough. Mr. Cobbold returned to England in the summer, with the sanction of the Committee, upon private affairs.

Preaching—Schools.

The Missionaries have two little chapels in different parts of the city. One, near the south gate, has an average attendance of about forty persons, consisting principally of the lowest orders, who happen to be passing by at the time. In the other chapel, which was opened at the beginning of last winter, and which is in a better position, the attendance is larger—about eighty in number. The people are also of a better description, a good many of them being men engaged in business. The attention which they give is very uncertain. Sometimes they listen in silence from the beginning to the end: at other times the Missionary has scarcely commenced, when all is confusion, and there is no possibility of maintaining order. Still the Missionaries persevere: "they cease not to teach and preach Jesus Christ." The sinfulness of idolatry is pointed out, and the heathen are invited to turn from idols and serve the living and true God; and thus a knowledge of Christian truth is gradually spreading. The prejudices of the people against the Missionaries are fast dying away; and it is now no unusual thing to hear some of the women say, "Before, if we saw you at a distance, we would run away and hide ourselves: now we are not afraid to come and talk with you."

There is also an interesting day-school, attended by about twenty boys, varying in age from ten to fifteen, principally the children of artisans. Most of these poor children can give clear and intelligent answers to the solemn, soul-saving truths of Christianity.

Baptisms—Hopeful Candidates.

Our Missionaries have been encouraged by the baptism of two native converts. The following account occurs in Mr. Cobbold's journal—

April 20, 1851: Easter-day—This morning, at seven o'clock, we had the privilege of admitting into fellowship with ourselves, and Christ's visible church, two out of five candidates who have been under instruction for the last three months. The baptisms were performed in the hall of our house, where, in our second year, we used to hold service. The mother and grandmother of our servant, Ah Ling, now named Ling teh, and the wife and two children of Kae hwing, now named Hoh-e (Yüeh-yi), were present, and Messrs. Russell and Gough stood witnesses. The solemn questions put to the converts they answered with apparent feeling, and with great distinctness: and the quiet solemnity of the whole service was calculated to impress those Chinese who were present—namely, our teachers, and those commonly present at our services—with reverence. At the close of the service I gave a short address, explaining the nature and institution of baptism, showing it to be a sign, a seal, and a means of grace; and then addressing first those Christians present, next the two just baptized, and also the inquirers, and those who harden their hearts against the truth. This admission of two, amidst this vast population, may appear a small matter in the eyes of many; but we know who has said that He does not despise "the day of small things," and the little one may "become a thousand," the Lord hastening it in His time.

The Rev. W. A. Russell also writes—

One is a servant who has been with us for nearly three years, an interesting young man about twenty years of age, whose general conduct since he came to us has been very good, and who has, I trust, latterly, though not in a very prominent manner, shown decided proofs of piety and real conversion of heart to God. The other is a tailor, who for the last two years has been from time to time employed by us, giving much satisfaction by his industry and good behaviour. His views of the great truths of Christianity seem clearer, and his general acquaintance with Scripture larger, than the one already referred to; but this may be only from his natural superiority of intellect, he being very clear-headed and sharp-sighted. He is, I trust, equally sincere in his acknowledgment of Jesus alone as his only and all-sufficient Saviour. Mr. Cobbold administered to them the outward form of baptism, in the little chapel in the lower part of our house, after a short service, conducted by me according to our beautiful Liturgy, and the reading of the eighth chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, Mr. Cobbold concluding with an appropriate address. It may be interesting to you to know that the names we gave to these two converts have been those of their own selection—Ling-teh, meaning "spiritual virtue," chosen by our servant, and Yüeh-yi (Hoh-e), "a learner of righteousness," chosen by the tailor. May their future lives testify to the reality and sincerity of their profession! Two or three others of our present candidates are, I hope, likely soon to follow their example.

As the first steps in the establishment of the Redeemer's kingdom in any country have a special interest to the eye of faith, the Committee add a few notices of two of the other hopeful cases alluded to in the last letter. Mr. Cobbold writes, respecting one of them—

The teacher in one of the schools, whom we call Mr. Russell's teacher, told him the other day that he had had serious thoughts of applying for baptism, for he had six months ago received it in his heart. He said he had delayed on account of the following difficulty in his family: his son is to be married soon, and he felt uncertain how far, as a Christian father, he ought to interpose positive parental authority in forbidding any idolatrous ceremonies at the wedding. He therefore delayed another month, when this difficulty would be over.

Some time after this date, and while the teacher still delayed his baptism, a fatal epidemic broke out at Ningpo, and some of those who had attended the preaching of the Missionaries were attacked, the teacher among the number. Mr. Russell, in a letter dated Oct. 15, 1851, thus describes the affecting sequel of his history—

Leo sin-sang, the teacher of one of our schools, on the night of the 8th instant was taken ill. Next morning he sent for me, when I immediately hastened to his house, where I found the poor man in the greatest mental and bodily suffering. He felt that his end was approaching, and seemed to manifest deeper repentance and self-condemnation than I have before witnessed. His not having openly and boldly acknowledged the Saviour before his countrymen, and not having sought to be enrolled by baptism amongst His followers, through fear of man, seemed to be the principal cause of his deep mental anguish. Assured of his extensive acquaintance with Scripture, and of his knowledge of all essential truths, and seeing him manifesting such deep penitence for what I always regarded as the poor man's besetting sin, I endeavoured to administer to him the comfort his case seemed to call for and warrant. But it seemed as though he would not be comforted. His spasmodic pains coming on with great violence, his attention soon became diverted from the concerns of his soul, and apparently centred solely on his poor wasting body. I remained with him the greater part of the day. About eight p.m. his son, who had been sent for, arrived from the country, and induced his father to allow himself to be carried in a sick chair to his home, where the poor man died an hour or two after his arrival. Since the commencement of our first school, about two years and a half ago, he has been its teacher, performing its duties with, I believe, much faithfulness and ability. His very accurate and extensive knowledge of Scripture, and his persuasion, I believe, of its being the book of God, as well as his general scholarship, rendered him an important and valuable assistant to us in carrying on the purposes of our little school, such as, I fear, cannot easily be replaced. He had his faults, and those not a few; but where, even in a Christian land, can we find one exempt from them? His prejudices against foreign medical aid continued to the last very strong: he refused to be attended by any but the native physicians. His grandson, a nice boy about fourteen, who has been in the school with him for more than a year, he recommended to my care, and seemed, as though with authority, to place him under my charge. Should it be found that he had a right to do so, and that the parents will at all recognise it, I shall gladly take him, and educate him with a view of his hereafter becoming an instrument whom the Almighty may be pleased to own for the propagation and extension of truth amongst his countrymen.

Nov. 4—The grandson of the school-teacher above referred to was brought back to me to-day by his uncle, who told me that his parents, who are in good circumstances, at the request of their father before his death consented to his being placed as before in our school, and under my direction. He also stated that the old man, on reaching home, expressed a desire that his grandson should enter our religion, and be educated with a view to it.

The difficulties, it will be perceived, which withhold the Chinese from an open profession of the Christian faith are more akin to those which exist in a nominally Christian land than to those which are found in other heathen countries. The Committee add another such instance, from the journal of Mr. Cobbold—

Last—though I believe not least in the sight of God, who seeth not as man seeth—is a very poor, illiterate, and dull man, a needle-maker by trade, whom we could not conscientiously baptize because he had not had strength of mind and faith to shut his shop on the Lord's-day. It was with great pleasure I learnt that this day he commenced the closing of his shop, to the amazement of his heathen neighbours, who said that the Romanists even did not go this length, for their converts keep open their shops. This, then, is not improbably the first instance, since Ningpo has been a city, that any one of its inhabitants has honoured the Lord's Sabbath by ceasing from his trade, and closing his shop. He demands our most earnest prayers; and as every blessing is from the Lord, I do trust that his six days' work, hallowed by the rest of the Sabbath, shall be more fruitful than the seven unhallowed days' toil of his heathen neighbours; and, above all, that the blessing of the Lord that maketh rich, and has no sorrow added with it, the peace of a pardoned soul, the joy of a true hope, may be abundantly vouchsafed to him.

The Phonetic System.

In consequence of the difficulties connected with the acquisition of the Chinese written characters, not only by foreigners but by natives, the Missionaries have become impressed with the necessity of introducing a new mode of orthography. They have been engaged, therefore, in writing down, in Roman characters, the colloquial dialect of Ningpo. Mr. Cobbold says, in a letter of Dec. 31, 1850—

I am writing out a dictionary of Ningpo colloquial, arranged under the various sounds. This has been some time in operation, and is now a book of some substance. My plan of proceeding has been this. After having accurately distinguished between the various sounds, and written them out in order, I have made my teacher write each on a blank leaf, and then, at his leisure, write under that sound all the words and sentences he could think of. This he was continually doing for about six months, and on his leaving me he wrote all out fair into a blank book. My present teacher has also been some time at the same work, adding in some places and altering in others. This I am now writing out in Roman letter for my own use. One advantage in this is, that I can write all the colloquial sounds pretty nearly as they are uttered, whereas writing with the character this is impossible. The meaning of each word or sentence I of course write by its side.

That this attempt is likely to be successful, and lead to important results, appears from the fact that the Chinese, who have been taught so to write by the Missionaries, are able to correspond with each other. An instance of this occurred on the occasion of Mr. Gough's temporary sojourn at Chusan for the re-establishment of his health after an attack of fever, which is related in the following extract from Mr. Cobbold's journal—

May 29, 1851—This afternoon we had letters from Chusan: two written in the Roman letter, in the Ningpo colloquial—one by Ling teh, the servant whom we baptized, and the other by one of Mr. Gough's boys. The latter was a capital specimen of a boy's letter: some words, as might be expected, were spelt wrong, as we consider it, which will be the case where we teach them to write exactly as they speak. Let a person who had never seen English written be told to write it exactly according to the sounds, and, "a man" he would probably write "ah man" or "eh man"—"The book," "Thih book," &c. All the letter was quite intelligible, giving an account of his studies, his walks, illness of one of the boys, &c., and was read off without any difficulty.

Chusan—Romanist Missions in China.

The island of Chusan was taken possession of by the British in Oct. 1841, and remained for four years under British rule. But no Protestant Missionary has been stationed in it, and the Romanists, taking advantage of the close similarity which exists between their system and that of Buddhism, are endeavouring to transfer the natives from one form of idolatry to another. Being within twenty-four hours of Ningpo, Chusan is occasionally visited by our Missionaries from that city, one of whom, the Rev. F. Gough, has communicated to us the following particulars in a recent letter—

I found the Chusan people still more accessible, and having greater confidence in us, than the Ningpo Chinese ; but, alas ! Popery, with its seductive doctrines, has the field to itself ; and it would seem that its spread would be greater still, were it not for the scandal arising from the practices of some of its converts. A Protestant Missionary stationed there would be confounded, by the mass of the people, with the Roman Catholics ; but when the difference came to be generally apprehended, and the gospel began to make way, the opposition from the Roman Catholics would be bitter. I know the spirit of some by experience. In the interior of the island, Russell and I called at one of their chapels, called "The Chapel of the Holy Heart." It was formerly a Buddhist temple, or monastery, and, alas ! we found it used still for purposes of idolatry, only of a more refined kind. On entering, we saw before us a high altar, with two lighted candles placed upon it. On the wall above the table was a picture, to which the person who addressed us bowed, and I believe crossed himself. He had, as he said, received baptism, and was in charge of the temple, being teacher also to some little boys. We asked him, in returning, what the picture over the altar was. He said it was the likeness of Teen-choo, that is, of God, for Teen-choo is the term by which the Roman Catholics render that word. We reminded him of an expression in their standard Catechism, that God is without material form or likeness. He seemed puzzled for a moment, and then said, "It is useful for making Him manifest or cognizable to our senses." He was reminded that Buddhists say the same in defence of their idolatry ; to which he appeared to have nothing to say. I believe it was intended to represent the bodily form of the Lord Jesus, but all he could tell us was, that it was the image of God. The remainder of the interior soon explained the meaning of the name of the chapel. Amongst other saints, predominated the picture of Mary, with her heart transfixed with a sword. All the prints were French, as appeared from the accompanying inscriptions or names in that language. The interior of the temple seemed to say to us both, the gross idolatry of Buddhism had been supplanted—by what ? by the alike idolatry of pictures, and the trust in false mediators, instead of the true and all-sufficient one.*

Amongst many notices which occur in the journals of the Missionaries respecting the Romanist Missions in China, the following may be selected. Mr. Cobbold writes—

I had a long conversation with two of the candidates for baptism on various points connected with Romanism, which one of them had seen something of. He commenced by saying that our doctrine was about the same ; but afterwards told us some things which had struck him as false. One of them was the following—Some foreign candles, properly blessed, came down from Shanghai. These wonderful candles had the effect, if lit in time of illness, of healing the sick person; in time of fire, of preventing the flames spreading to your property; in time of a storm at sea, of preserving your vessel from damage; and all this for the small sum of a hundred cash, or threepence-halfpenny of our money. It was given out that only a certain class of persons might buy them; but this class proving smaller than they expected, or the stock of candles larger, it was found that there was no other way of disposing of these, but by enlarging the number of purchasers, so it was given out that an inferior class might purchase them also. He mentioned that the priests of Buddhu often would retaliate on Romanism, and say, You abuse our idols as very senseless. Why, then, do you worship idols? Give us one of yours, and let us knock him to pieces, and see if there is any spirit in them.*

SHANGHAE.

The Committee have not been able as yet to supply this Station with a second Missionary. As the Rev. T. M'Clatchie's time is much occupied with translational works, the general Missionary duties cannot be fully sustained. Two interesting facts have, however, recently taken place; the first of which, though not strictly belonging to the Report of this Society, is of so encouraging a kind, and so closely connected with our Mission at Shanghae, that it is inserted in our present review.

Native Ordination—Baptisms.

Mr. M'Clatchie reports the ordination of a Christian native by the American Bishop Boone, and the baptism, by himself, of his first convert.

Sept. 7, 1851—This was a day of much rejoicing and thanksgiving to God with us. A Christian native was set apart to the office of deacon by Bishop Boone, of the American Episcopal Mission. This young man, Cha-e by name, has lived a godly and consistent life for some years past. I was present at his examination for deacons' orders, and was much gratified in hearing his answers to the questions propounded to him. His views of Christian truth are very clear and sound, and he passed a highly creditable examination. The ordination took place at morning service in the bishop's church in the city. A very large congregation assembled on the occasion, to whom, being kindly invited by the bishop, I delivered a sermon on 1 Tim. iii. 8, 9. The congregation was remarkably quiet and attentive, notwithstanding the large number present, and seemed much interested in the solemn ceremony. In the afternoon Cha-e preached his first sermon; and his excellent discourse will, I am sure, be long remembered by those who heard it. It was refreshing to hear a Chinese clergyman in the midst of a Chinese congregation praying for our "Emperor and Magistrates;" that God would behold them with His favour, replenish them with the grace of His Holy Spirit, and, leading them to renounce idolatry and every evil way, bring them into the way of peace. With much thankfulness to God we heard such declarations as, "The gods whom we worship are no gods. Jehovah alone is God, and beside Him there is no other."

Sept. 28—To-day, with thankfulness to God, I admitted my first convert, one of my blind class, to baptism. Sung has been under instruction for nearly two years. He has a very good knowledge of divine truth. I requested the newly-appointed deacon, and also Bishop Boone's catechist, to examine him with reference to the solemn ordinance of which he desired to be partaker, and they expressed themselves satisfied as to his fitness to be received into the church of Christ. I therefore baptized him to-day at the afternoon service. A large congregation was present, and Cha-e preached a sermon, explaining the nature of the sacrament just administered. I have three other candidates at present, who have been a long time under instruction, but I am not quite satisfied yet as to their state of mind.

At a later date, Nov. 6, 1851, Mr. M'Clatchie again writes—

Two more candidates from the blind class have been baptized, who have been a long time under instruction. One, above sixty years of age, besought the Missionary to baptize him, lest he should die without having fulfilled the command of Jesus in this respect. He has since, I understand, been endeavouring to induce an aged friend of his to come to the Missionary for instruction, and to fly to Jesus to save his soul before his eyes are closed in death. I have much reason to thank God for the spirit displayed by the three who have now been baptized. Every member of the class can now repeat the Creed, Lord's Prayer, and the Ten Commandments, perfectly, or nearly so. Besides this, they have a good general knowledge of the life of our Saviour, the history of the fall, &c.

When it is remembered that upwards of ten years elapsed in New Zealand before a single convert cheered the hearts of Missionaries, and that Shanghae, the oldest Station on the Chinese coast, has not been occupied eight years, and Ningpo not five years—while during this period the Chinese language, one of the most difficult of the many which are spoken in our world, has been so far overcome as to afford the Missionaries access to the understanding of the people—the Committee cannot but feel that in the prospects of Missionary work in China there is much to encourage them.*

General View.

VARIOUS statements have of late been made, by persons who have had the best means of forming a correct judgment, respecting the amount of the native population of New Zealand. But these statements differ so widely as to range between 120,000 and 80,000. It is, however, generally allowed that considerably more than three-fourths are Protestant Christians, and that those connected with the Romanist Mission do not exceed 5000: the rest refuse to join any Christian party, though they have laid aside, for the most part, their heathen practices. Thus the reports from New Zealand are gradually passing from the Missionary into the pastoral type; yet of that kind of pastoral work which belongs to our over-grown and most extensive parishes at home; for each Missionary has still his ten, or twenty, or fifty miles to travel over in his pastoral visitation of his scattered flock.

The number of natives connected with the Mission of this Society may be estimated at 50,000: the communicants are between 5000 and 6000. "It must be remembered," writes Archdeacon William Williams, "that none are admitted to the Lord's table, as at home, simply because they express a wish to come, but that on each occasion they undergo an examination in the company of their native teachers and neighbours, when there is little opportunity for inconsistency of conduct to pass unnoticed. There is therefore the best reason to believe that the amount of real Christianity is great, and that the outward change is the fruit of a sound principle within." The result may well excite our praise and gratitude to the great Head of the Church, for such a blessed recompense upon the past labours of the Church Missionary Society.*

In such an advanced state of Christian profession, it is evident that the measures most needed are those of Christian education suited to the formation of a Christian ministry. These measures the Society is endeavouring to carry out in its various departments of a Training Institution for young men as divinity students, and large educational establishments in three different divisions of the Northern Island, in which boarding-schools for boys and girls are maintained upon a system of self-support, by combining industrial pursuits with a sound and Christian education.

Northern District.

General View.

The Rev. R. Burrows has during the last year had the ministerial charge of the Waimate, and the Stations of Paihía, Kororarika, and Wangaroa, paying occasional visits to other villages as far as the amount of his duties has allowed. The Rev. W. C. Dudley has been appointed to this district. Mr. Burrows writes, Jan. 1, 1851—

Whilst the chequered scenes of the past year have served to remind us of the instability of all things here below, and have been such as should humble us before God, the improved state of our natives, at least in the outward observances of Christianity, has been a cause for thankfulness. Many of those who from the date of the last war—1845—had cast off all restraint, have during the year joined in worship with our stated congregations. Others, who were careless, have manifested an earnestness which we have not before witnessed. A considerable party, who formerly expressed their adherence to the Romish church, now assemble with us on the Lord's-day; and not a few of the heretofore heathen are candidates for baptism.

Education.

Mr. Burrows has also charge of the Waimate Institution. During the year 1850 the number of young men was only six, who were instructed in the English language and the elementary branches of an English education. The industrial system is connected with the establishment, and partly contributes to its support. There is also a native boarding-school, containing thirty scholars. The young men under training take part in the duties of the school, and occasionally act as Scripture readers and catechists at the surrounding villages.

The Committee have lately determined, upon the suggestion of the Central Committee in New Zealand, to transfer the seminary from the Waimate to Tauranga, which is situated upon the sea coast, sixty miles south-east of Auckland. The new locality will be central to all the Missionary districts, whereas the circumstance of the Waimate being situated at the extreme north of the island has presented an insurmountable obstacle to the receiving of students from the eastern and western districts.

The Kaikohi Station.

The Rev. R. Davis thus reports the state of his district after the death of Heke—

Dec. 7, 1850—Since the death of Heke we have enjoyed our quietude. There is now a degree of peaceful serenity in our atmosphere to which we were previously almost strangers. Heke's people retain their hardened state, and there is but little hope of them. One of our teachers returned from their place about six weeks ago with a very heavy heart. They told him not to come again, as they all had books and could read them, and knew quite as much as he did. The teacher was a meek and humble Christian, and felt their treatment very much. The poor fellows appear to be lifted up with that pride which their late chief possessed in a very eminent degree. No chief has yet appeared to take Heke's place. One of his leading chiefs, and a near relative, lately told me that it was not their intention to raise another chief to a superior dignity, as many of them had suffered much from the power with which they had invested Heke. This I was thankful to learn.

And now, as the country is again open before us, may the Lord pour out His Spirit upon us, that we may arise and repair the sad breaches which have been made in the walls of our Zion! At this place we hold on our way; but it is with difficulty, as the enemy appears, at all points, ready to dispute every inch of ground we endeavour to reclaim. The only advance amongst us is the inward work of the Spirit in the hearts of the faithful few; and this advance is very slow—yes, painfully so.

On the third of last month I ventured to baptize two adults—one of them an old chief, who was very ignorant, but he had been a long time a catechumen, and appeared anxious and sincere; the other a young married woman, whom I have long considered to be under the teaching of the Holy Ghost. She was remarkably clear in her answers to the questions put to her. She has, I trust, in spirit entered into life. Difficulties and trials doubtless await her, as the poor woman is united to a worthless husband.

I have lately visited Mangakahia. The old party are going on much as usual. They may be considered as being in a pleasing, hopeful state, but their progress in the knowledge of Divine things is very slow—much too slow to give me satisfaction. They felt disappointed because I did not baptize any of their catechumens; and one of the chiefs told me he should take them to another Missionary to get them baptized, which led to a serious and not unprofitable discussion.

This chief, and also the teacher, accompanied me down the river to the new party at Reweti Maika's place. Here I found the catechumens in such a state of discipline, that the difficulty would be as to whom I should not baptize. On the following day we repaired to the chapel at an early hour, and fairly commenced our examination; and after having examined them in the most close manner I was capable of, nine adults were admitted into the visible church of Christ. At this place the Redeemer appears to have a people whom He is preparing for Himself. May they show forth His praise! The little chief is very earnest, and a great disciplinarian. These people belong to the tribe of which Kawhiti, the old leading chief in the late war, is the head. One of his sons, I believe the only one who survived the war, is among the catechumens preparing for the next baptism.

At a later date Mr. Davis reports another visit to Mangakahia, which presents a lively picture of the visit of a New-Zealand Missionary to his Out-stations.

May 1, 1851—I have but lately returned from Mangakahia. My visit was interesting. When I arrived at the chief Reweti's place, he soon assembled his people, and brought forward a class of candidates for baptism. Their manner of expressing themselves astonished and perplexed me. Their knowledge had much increased; but I was fearful that they had got up a way or course of words in which to express themselves correctly, in order that they should be admitted to baptism. This perplexed and distressed me very much. After having conversed with these, the chief introduced another class, formed of the communicants and of those who were baptized in October. The state of this class relieved my mind and set it free, as a genuine work of the Spirit was manifested, which cleared up all my doubts.

On the following day the candidates for baptism re-assembled. It was a serious and anxious time, and the result was the setting apart of eighteen adults for baptism on the following day, Sunday. Early on the Sunday morning an old chief, the father of some of those who were baptized in October, and of some of those about to be baptized, came in a respectful manner, and requested admission into my tent. This was granted; and from the new and feeling way in which he expressed himself I was led to hope that he also had been made a partaker of divine grace. He had generally attended on former visits, but he always appeared hard, careless, and indifferent: now there was a humility and earnestness manifested which, I trust, is indicative of good. Another old chief, who up to this time had absented himself, appeared to be in a hopeful state. As we had to pass through his place on our way to Reweti's, he received us graciously, and said, "Pull down the fence: make the road easy for those who are carrying the burdens." He also wished us to stay a little with him. Formerly, when we passed through his place, he could scarcely be got to speak a word. On the Sunday morning he came, with a young wife and three children, and requested baptism for his children. This was granted on the faith of the church, as both the old chief and his wife had become candidates themselves. The Sunday proved a heavy Missionary day, from its various duties; but oh, that there were many such! In the morning the eighteen adults were baptized, and four couples of them married. In the afternoon service thirteen children were baptized. Much of the Sunday night was spent in religious conversation and prayer by the natives. I went to bed, but not to sleep. On the following morning I again met the newly baptized, and also the communicants: some of them were much affected.

To this place I went as a Christian teacher, but I was there to be taught what the love of God could effect without me, and by the most simple means: and I returned more than ever convinced that all that is required in order to extend the kingdom of Christ in this country, yea, and in all the world, is an active ministry of the Word, combined, of course, with prayer and devotedness. The chief of this place is in earnest, and he is active and devoted, and God has greatly blessed his labours, and will bless them. I hope to be with them again in July. Among the elder Christians there is a deepening work of grace. This was perceptible when I was there in the summer, but now it was more visible.

At Kaikohe there is also, I trust, a progressive movement towards a more ripened experience. The chief, William Watipu, with Paul, another teacher, is now out on rather an extensive Missionary tour. They will also visit Mangakahia before they return. William Watipu is an experienced Christian, and a feeling and clear preacher of the Word; and his friend with him is a persevering man. I doubt not but they will be made a blessing. I value such assistance very much.

The Kaitaia District.

The Rev. J. Matthews and Mr. W. G. Puckey thus review the state of the Kaitaia district at the close of the year 1850—

In reviewing the events of the past year, we must acknowledge that God has been gracious to us and our people. Our natives have lived in peace, with the exception of a quarrel between two parties in the district of Whangape, and which ended in a skirmish, in which three were wounded, but none killed. There was a small Christian community of natives and their teacher between the parties while fighting, not one of whom joined either side. When the teacher—Apollon—who is a chief, saw that on either side one was wounded, he insisted on their ceasing to fire; and in a few days, with the assistance of one of our principal chiefs, peace was made. The affair ended in many attending the Herekino chapel from each of the parties engaged. We have before now observed that quarrels have ended in the parties more or less embracing the gospel, from a conviction that the gospel of peace is the only remedy for all wrongs.

We are thankful for the assistance which many of our chiefs and teachers have afforded us during the year: on any appearance of outbreak they have always been ready to exert their influence in preventing evil and promoting good.

Our teachers have regularly attended the weekly meetings held for them at the settlement, and we trust that much sound scriptural knowledge has been diffused. They now possess printed skeletons of sermons on the Epistles and Gospels, and on the First and Second Epistles of Peter consecutively, and on the Epistles to the Seven Churches. The want of Prayer-books has been, and still is, much felt: they are well supplied with the New Testament, and the donation of the Pentateuch from the Bible Society was most acceptable.

of the work of grace which it is their privilege to witness amongst their native converts—

Dec. 15, 1850: Lord's-day—Mr. Burrows and I administered the Lord's Supper to 280 communicants. The congregation was very large and very attentive. Five pounds five shillings were collected in silver, and two pounds ten shillings in tickets for produce, for the schools. The natives seem to rejoice to give something, and I have heard many of them say that it was very painful not to have any thing to put on the plate. It was formerly thought that a New Zealander must never give any thing. This, however, was in "the shrubbery days" of the Mission, which we trust have been succeeded by the growth of more matured plants, and a better state of Christian feeling.

March 29, 1851—We had our Teachers' Meeting. When we were reading through the Psalms, I asked why the word "judgments" was given to the laws or Word of God. Himeona, our oldest teacher, said, "Because, although God is absent, or unseen by us, yet His Word judgeth us." "Yes," rejoined Meinata, "a man is sometimes unwell before he knows it, or at least before he owns it; but if one who understands looks him in the face, and says to him, 'Are you unwell?' he will say, 'I am.'" This Meinata thought was like the Word, which sometimes judged a man by telling him his malady before he owned it, and thus the Word or law of the Lord was called judgments. I told them, in addition, that it meant deep thought or counsel on the part of the Almighty. They assented to this, and said that what the Lord did or said was not "a thing said or done at random." In this manner our Native Teachers' Meeting is conducted—i. e. with an orderly liberty, if I may so speak, of making remarks in reply to my questions.

One instance of the work upon the heart of an individual convert may be added.

Dec. 4, 1850—I went to the Poutaki, a village nine miles off, to visit an old blind woman of the name of Pore. She had been anxious for baptism for some time, of which I had been several times reminded by the teacher, and also by the chief, her relative. They would say, "The blind person wishes to be baptized; she will not live long; do not delay." This old woman has long attended the means of grace, and appeared truly serious. Our itinerant native teacher was present, and he inquired of her, "Do you know what it is to pray?" To which she answered, "Do you mean long prayers, as those used in divine worship?" "No," was the reply; "but short petitions, such as that used by the publican, 'God be merciful to me a sinner.'" She replied, "That prayer is my sleeping friend," meaning, that that was the petition she mostly used, and her last prayer at night. She walked into the native-built church with some Christians of the village and the native teacher of the place, and was baptized by the name of Keturah.*

Middle District.

This district is under the care of the same Missionaries as stated in the last Report.

Auckland—St. Barnabas' Church, and Female Boarding-school.

St. Barnabas' church at Auckland, under the care of the Rev. G. A. Kissling, affords a point of union between the native converts and their European brethren in the Lord. The morning service is in Maori, and the native congregation is at all times good, frequently crowded. The afternoon service is in English, and attended by a good European congregation; but a small, though increasing number of natives, who have learned the English language, also attend, and manifest an intelligent and devout attention to the service.

The female boarding-school, which Mr. and Mrs. Kissling have had under their charge for several years, has contained from twenty to thirty girls, whose general behaviour has given great satisfaction. It is hoped that many of them may, as Christian mothers, contribute the element most needed for the establishment and progress of Christianity in the native church of New Zealand. A new and spacious building has been erected at the expense of the government. "The bishop presided at its opening, a large number of Europeans from Auckland being also present. Divine service was first celebrated. The bishop then called the girls by name in succession, and each was presented with a Prayer-book. Archdeacon William Williams then briefly addressed them in their native language, impressing upon them that, however sound the form of words contained in those books might be, it was essential, in order to their praying aright, that they should pray with sincerity and from the heart. At the close, Bishop Ken's well known evening hymn was sung with touching effect, and, the bishop having pronounced the benediction, the deeply-interesting proceedings of the day terminated."

Native Institution at Waikato Heads.

In the last Report a notice was given of the Rev. R. Maunsell's industrial boarding-school and its connected undertakings. The institution has continued to prosper beyond expectation, the number of boarders having been increased, still upon the self-supporting principle, from 80 to 102. In conducting this large establishment, Mr. Maunsell wisely makes use of native help, and bears the following important testimony to its value—

I find my native teachers an immense comfort: almost all the secular duties of this establishment are now discharged by them. They receive and take care of the stores, purchase our provisions, issue the monthly and daily rations, attend to the children of the institution, and to the many details, which, as you may imagine, are not few where so many are congregated together. They also render me very material aid in instruction, and in the supervision and management of the scholars when in school. I at least must confess that I had never imagined they were possessed of so many valuable materials for useful co-operation.

At a later date—June 12, 1851—Mr. Maunsell thus describes the labours of his Station—

Though I have nothing particular to impart, I know that it will be a satisfaction to you to know that we are at least as we were when I last wrote to you. I think I might safely add, that we are even in advance of what we were then. Not that I would affirm that the people in the out-settlements are gaining in spiritual-mindedness, or are progressing in the attainment of civilized habits. I am more than ever confirmed in my opinion, that until we are able to place amongst them a superior class of native teachers, who will urge them by example as well as by word, no very striking advance will be made upon our present position. To Christianize is one thing; to establish and increase their habits of Christian graces is another, and perhaps the more difficult. To eradicate the old habits of deceit, dishonesty, and falsehood; to banish their idle, unprofitable, and time-wasting gossipings; to form correct views of Christian propriety; to establish a sense of responsibility; to create a genuine aversion to sin—an aversion based on proper motives; to induce habits of Christian liberality, and zeal for the cause of the Saviour; to excite and sustain the feelings, anxieties, and conduct manifested by the Christian in the various relations of life, particularly in that of parents; to lead them to value and cultivate habits of private prayer—these are fruits which we ardently desire to see; for which we shall, I fear, long wait before they are fully developed; and which can be reared only by the most close and anxious attention—an attention that cannot be bestowed upon the whole district. I, for my part, should often have felt much discouraged if I did not receive comfort in the conviction that, after all, man is but a very subordinate agent in the work, and that my manifold short-comings can be most easily rectified by my good Master.

In our Station I am thankful to report a large measure of prosperity. Truly may I say that I am floating on a stream of mercy. I often wonder that God should so bless one so unfit and so unworthy. I rejoice, however, with trembling, and hope to be prepared when He is pleased to reverse my circumstances. We are now very close to eighty, this being now our average. My scholars, obedient, attentive, docile, and industrious; and we ourselves, though completely occupied from peep of day till late at night, enjoying a very large measure of health and strength. I have now labouring in my district three valuable young men, whom I have trained here. I have also a staff of four native teachers on the Station, whom I send to visit the neighbouring settlements on Saturday.

Our settlement now comprises eleven dwelling-houses, besides my own. We have timber cut, and are only waiting for a carpenter to put up another schoolhouse, and other buildings. We hope soon to have other native buildings erected, and thus to carry out my original intention of forming a Christian village. Agriculture is the employment I prefer above all others for my school. . . You must not, however, suppose that all our time is spent in industrial employments. Every morning at daybreak I have an examination of the whole school in Scripture: we have also a morning and evening school. This regular alternation of work and school accounts in a considerable degree for the contentment and obedience that reign amongst us, and for the attachment which the pupils entertain towards us, after they have been any time here.*

These extracts may be appropriately closed by a remark in a former letter of Mr. Maunsell's, in which he touchingly alludes to the increasing age of some of the New-Zealand Missionaries, and bears an honourable testimony to the enlightened zeal of the Governor, Sir George Grey, for the promotion of the best interests of the natives.

The time is, I hope, not far distant, when Christian villages will rise in goodly numbers, like so many oases in the desert, to gladden the eye and refresh the heart of the traveller. In the south, at Otaki; in the north, at Waimate;† in the centre, at Otawhao, most cheering commencements have been made. The time is fast approaching when your aged and enfeebled Missionaries will be compelled to cease rushing to and fro in their immense districts, in their exhausting efforts to keep alive the flame that our good God has enabled them to kindle. The victory has been achieved: our acquisitions must now be consolidated; and to no earthly means can we look with greater hope than to the establishment of these Christian communities. They give employment of the best description to the aged and experienced Missionary; they prepare the young for rising with the tide of colonization and improvement now sweeping over the land; and become also a centre, a stimulus, and a model, to the surrounding population.

We may, I think, regard it as a token of God's good will to our Mission, that, just as our people were brought into a position in which they would submit to training, and we were about to direct our attention to these institutions, a Governor should have been set over us so pre-eminently well qualified for promoting our efforts. The aid that he has given will be long remembered with thankfulness by myself, and those of my brethren who have entered upon these labours. As, however, the time for his removal from this colony cannot be far distant, we look with anxiety to the steps his successor may adopt.

Reconciliation of hostile Tribes.

The Rev. J. Morgan—under date of March 24, 1851—gives the following striking proof of the power of the gospel of Christ to kindle brotherly love in hearts which once rankled with the bitterest enmity—

I will allude to another circumstance, which took place two months ago. You will remember that before the introduction of the gospel Te Rauparaha and his tribe were driven away from this neighbourhood, having been conquered by the Waikato tribes. Rauparaha journeyed south, and conquered the tribes at Kapiti, where his tribe remain to the present time. About twelve months ago, a few of the leading persons of Rauparaha's tribe determined to visit the land of their fathers, from which, when children, they had been driven away.* When their wish became known, invitations were sent to them from all the chiefs now living in the country formerly belonging to Rauparaha. After a journey of several hundred miles on foot, they arrived, two months ago, at Arowena, thirty miles from Otawhao: they then came on to the Ruahine, Orakau, Kihikihi, Rangiaohia, and passed on to Maungatautari and Tauranga. Invitations were sent from every village on the line of road, and feasts prepared for them. They came unarmed: the deadly animosity of former years had passed away, and the conquerors and the conquered met in peace, and worshipped the Author of the gospel of peace in the same house of prayer. It was an interesting sight to see several hundred once savage New Zealanders thus assembled together. When at Orakau, Porokuru Titipa, the chief of Otawhao, Haunui, and others, at the request of Te Werowero, returned to the strangers a large tract of country, including the west side of Maungatautari, that in, the event of their wishing to return to their old possessions, they may be able to do so.†

Eastern District.

This district has during the last year been deprived of the presence and superintendence of Archdeacon William Williams, who has visited England, with the sanction of the Committee. Mr. Charles Baker has also been obliged, on account of impaired health, to remove to the neighbourhood of Auckland.

Progress of Christianity and Civilization at Hicks' Bay.

The Rev. G. A. Kissling accompanied the Rev. R. Barker upon his first entrance into the district which he had himself formerly occupied.* He has furnished the following very satisfactory description of the progress of Christianity and civilization in that district since he left in 1846—

I most sincerely and unhesitatingly express my conviction, from what I have seen and heard in this district, that, by God's blessing, a considerable improvement has taken place among these people since the time of my removal from them. This improvement shows itself—

1. In their disposition for instruction. Some years ago, parents could only with great difficulty be induced to place their children in our schools, and young men in many places manifested great rudeness and stubbornness in their conduct. Now, parents, in most places we came to, sought instruction for their children; and a number of young men came forward, entreating to become the travelling companions of their young minister, in order that they might be continually benefited by his teaching. Provided with slates, pencils, and books, they follow him in his journey whithersoever he goeth, and as soon as the body takes its rest the mind begins to work. Such a course must needs have its attendant blessings.

2. The spell of self-constituted native teachers has likewise been broken. Most of the native teachers, having been removed from the place of their own choice, hold their appointment from the Missionary. Mr. Baker also, having taken a number of them under special instruction, has better qualified them for their office. Hence we see them labour, both at church and school, with earnestness and success. Several nicely-built and decorated chapels, in their native way, bespoke the improvement of the system in the teachers.

3. There is a kindly feeling in the natives towards civil and spiritual authority. The late war of John Heke, now no more, evidently scattered the seeds of disaffection over the country. Though the natives behaved properly and friendly, yet some unwholesome leaven wrought, more or less, in their minds. From the conversation I had with those people on the eastern coast, I felt satisfied that they now regarded English laws and authority much more than they did before: they even requested me to transcribe the prayers for the Queen and royal family for their usual divine service.

4. The principle of doing something toward the support of schools, and erecting substantial buildings for divine service amongst themselves, begins to develope itself. At Rangitukia a quantity of timber has been sawn by themselves, and the people expressed, not only their willingness, but even their anxiety, for a plan of a church, and the requisite dimensions of timber, that they might go in a body to the forest and prepare the materials with their own hands. Several other settlements are ready to follow this example.

5. Another pleasing sign of their improvement is the extensive cultivation of wheat. Seven years ago, when I first laboured in that district, not a grain of wheat was grown. Mr. Stack brought thither two stockings full of wheat. This was carefully sown at Waiapu and the Kauakaua on nicely-prepared soil. This small quantity of seed yielded the first year, 1843, a crop beyond our expectations. This stock was now distributed amongst the best of our converts, with the condition that its produce should be distributed again, and used for seed only. From this small beginning large and rich fields of wheat now cheer the eye of the visitor, the natives being everywhere supplied with wholesome food, besides the many thousand bushels—last year 11,000 bushels were exported by them—which they sell to traders for excellent breeds of horses and cattle. The latter yield them a large quantity of milk, which serves for the support of their young children and the sick, and for regaling the visitors and strangers among them, as well as for themselves on their return from their peaceful plantations.

I am aware that these are temporal blessings, and outward signs of improvement; but they are, at the same time, an index to the growth of godliness, which has the “promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.”

The Waitangi District.

The Rev. W. Colenso gives the following account of his district at the close of the year 1850—

Notwithstanding many serious and altogether new obstacles, with which our work has had to contend during the year, especially in this neighbourhood, a decided progress has been made. Thirty-three adults, principally natives of this vicinity, have been baptized, and a very nice little chapel, with glass windows, door, pulpit, and reading-desk, has been erected and finished at Te Rotoatara. Among the adults lately baptized is the dear old man Te Motu, formerly, and until very lately, the native priest of Te Hapuku, and the principal “sacred” man of the district. Of the native sacerdotal rank very few indeed now remain among us, and about half of these are also candidates for baptism; while the others, though they still keep back, cease to perform their heathen rites, even when asked to do so, thus virtually consigning them “to the moles and to the bats.” Te Motu was baptized, with several others, at the opening of Te Rotoatara chapel in July last, when he received the name of Melchizedek.

My annual teachers’ school was held, as usual, in September, when sixteen teachers and monitors attended from all parts of the district. I had for some time almost feared that I should not be able to hold my school, in consequence of the state of the principal natives about me; but in this, too, God, always “wont to give more than either we desire or deserve,” graciously opened a way for us, and my teachers, though summoned very late, attended to their day. One of them, Richard Taki—an indefatigable and trusty native, of many years' standing in the church and of service to the Mission, a stranger in these parts—had just gone on foot, for the fifth time, from his Station in Palliser Bay to Wellington, a distance there and back of 100 heavy miles, upon matters connected with the boarded chapel building at his village. Upon his return to his home and family he immediately left them again for the Mission Station, in order to attend the teachers' school—reaching this place in time, but with sadly swollen and painful feet, which affliction he had to endure nearly the whole of his stay, but which never kept him from attending daily morning and evening prayers and school. By the time he got back to Palliser Bay, after the fortnight's school, he would have travelled nearly 500 miles in seven weeks, over such a country as this district, entirely for the purposes of the Mission; the only remuneration he got, if such it may be called, being a few garments for himself, his wife, and five children, costing the Church Missionary Society the sum of 1*l.* 13*s.* 2*d.*, which also included his share of payment for a twelvemonth's steady and heavy service!

The fact noticed at the conclusion of this extract presents one of the most remarkable and interesting features in the Christian progress of New Zealand, namely, that the native teachers, of whom there are nearly 400, receive no salaries, but work for the support of themselves and their families: yet it is through their agency that the Lord has chiefly sent the gospel message into the remote parts of the country.* It is easy to see how greatly this system will facilitate the establishment of a native church upon the principle of self-support, in comparison with the system, adopted in all other Missions, of supporting the native teachers by the funds of a foreign Society.†

Western District.

Proposed Boarding-school at Otaki.

Archdeacon Hadfield has accepted a proposal of the Governor to establish a boarding-school at Otaki for the natives, the Government supplying the funds for the requisite buildings. A large piece of ground has been given up by the natives to be attached to the school, and to be cultivated by the boys for the support of the establishment. Archdeacon Hadfield, having in a letter described this scheme, and the zeal of the natives to insure the education of their children, attached the following postscript—

* Vide the "Church Missionary Intelligencer" for June 1851, pp. 126—132.

† Further accounts of the Eastern District are given in the "Church Missionary Record" for July 1851, pp. 150—160.

I have perhaps scarcely conveyed to you a correct impression of the interest with which the natives of the place, and of the surrounding villages, regard the proposed school. The readiness with which they gave up the very best land they had, in the immediate vicinity of their own dwellings, and which they had at the time under cultivation, on which there were some beautiful crops, was a sufficient guarantee to us that they were in earnest in their co-operation, and that they felt that their children had already derived benefit from the school which has been in operation.

The Wanganui District.

The Rev. R. Taylor has still cause to lament the pernicious influence of ungodly European society upon his native converts. In a letter dated August 25, 1851, he writes—

I cannot report very favourably of the spiritual advancement of my natives, there appears to be so much deadness and indifference amongst them generally. The native population is now in a transition state: it is daily being brought more and more into contact with the European, and, as there is little observance of religion amongst the larger portion, the example of the multitude proves a serious check to the exhortations of the few who labour amongst them.

Mr. J. Telford gives the following account of his labours in his district in the interior—

On Sundays, as on week-days, I have morning prayers with the natives at seven o'clock. At ten A.M. they are again assembled for the forenoon service, which is always well attended, not only by the people living in the village and in the immediate vicinity, but numbers who reside in small settlements on the banks of the river, several miles both above and below Matawera, come in on Sundays to enjoy the means of grace on that holy day. Immediately after the forenoon service I divide the congregation into classes in the body of the church, each class having its respective native teacher. According to their advancement in religious knowledge, some read the Scriptures, some repeat their Catechism, and some explain the heads of the discourse which I have just delivered to them. Their observations on these occasions are often such as would astonish and delight their good Christian friends in England, who still continue to do so much for their spiritual improvement. In about an hour after the close of this congregational school, the bell is again rung to assemble the females and children to what I may term my Sunday-school, for which, since my arrival here, and its commencement, I have had much cause to be grateful to the Divine Teacher. I have hitherto been in the habit of forming the whole into one large class—the boys at the bottom, the girls next, and the women at the top; but I hope by-and-bye, as the minds of a few of the elder and more apt ones advance in knowledge, to have both male and female teachers appointed to different classes ranging beneath the first, under my own tuition. At the conclusion of the school, which lasts about an hour and a half, I set out to visit the people in their dwellings, and to inquire after the sick, if there be any, to administer medicine, &c. I always discover, in the course of these perambulations, who have absented themselves from the forenoon service or from the school. I do not know whether this plan, which I find extremely useful, is generally adopted. I may be wrong, but I have learned from experience that this people may be more benefited by such visits, and by social intercourse, than by any thing that can be preached to them from a pulpit. After my return from this little Missionary tour of the afternoon I rest for a short while. The next duty in which I engage is the evening service. This is not, I regret to say, quite so fully attended as those of the morning and forenoon; but it arises from the circumstance that many who have come from distant villages, and have no accommodation in Matawera, like to reach their homes on Sunday evening. Many such, however, prefer remaining until the Monday, which I also greatly prefer. This little sketch will convey to you an idea of how I spend the Lord's-day.

Mr. Telford gives in his journal an affecting but most instructive proof of the spirit of prayer and supplications vouchsafed to some of the New-Zealand converts.

In returning home up the river, a few weeks ago, I drew up my canoe for the night at Kanika. Whilst sitting by myself, blowing up my fire, in a house which the natives had kindly set apart for my accommodation, my ears were delighted, beyond any thing that I can express to you, with the language of prayer proceeding from some one near at hand. I listened for about half an hour, and still the voice continued its earnest entreaties and thanksgivings. When it ceased, another began, and how fervently did that voice send up its petitions to the throne of God! My very soul glowed within me, and I joined, unknown to them—for they were not aware of my presence—in their heartfelt devotions, and besought God that He would grant them their requests, which seemed to be on behalf of a sick relative brought close to the gates of death. I stretched myself upon the ground in my blanket, and went to sleep; but I frequently awoke during the night, and there was still one or other of these two voices engaged in prayer. With how much solemnity that language of faith fell upon my ears in the stillness of that night! In the morning I found it was a husband, joined by a dear Christian friend, praying on behalf of his sick wife. The whole three had once been devoted slaves of the prince of darkness.*

General Improvement.*

THE difficulties which beset the Christian settlement at Bartica Grove, and which have been described in former Reports, still exist, and greatly retard its social and religious progress. There appears no prospect of any considerable increase of Indian settlers. The journeys which have been made in many directions have shown that, while there is a willingness on the part of the Indians to receive Christian instructors, they cannot be persuaded to leave their accustomed rivers and open savannahs in the interior, and to settle so near the coast at Bartica, and at a place where there is a scarcity of fish and game. The Missionaries have also themselves become less anxious to increase the Indian population of the settlement, as they have sad experience of the evil of a too frequent intercourse with ungodly Europeans at George Town, and of the proximity of the penal settlement.

Under these circumstances, the Missionaries propose to make the chief object of their labours the training up of promising natives to act as teachers of their countrymen, in the hope that they may one day go forth as native evangelists, as in the case of the Indians of North-West America, as pioneers and associates of European Missionaries. Bartica Grove will therefore be maintained chiefly as a training station of native Indian teachers. In this view, the schools and Christian congregation, which have been so long nurtured by the Missionaries, will assume a new importance, as exhibiting a pattern of a Christian settlement, as well as a field upon which the native teachers may be first exercised and tested.

It is very satisfactory to find, from late communications, that the settlement is also itself improving, and that the Missionaries meet with encouragement in their labours. Upon a comparison of the present with former times the Rev. J. H. Bernau writes, Aug. 19, 1851—

Our services are tolerably well attended, and those who listen, we have reason to hope, do it with benefit. In fact, the Indians give us joy. It is the coloured population that makes us sorry, on account of their listlessness and depravity. To me, who have seen this place a perfect wilderness, the sight of a congregation, and so many children with happy faces, will be ever a cause of rejoicing and thanksgiving to my God. The place at present resembles a village, with houses, and gardens surrounding them; and I am glad in being able to state that our Mission gardens have greatly helped in supplying food for the children, whilst the flowers refresh the eye and exhilarate the spirits in this wilderness.

Missionary Tours.

The Rev. J. J. Lohrer has taken several Missionary tours in the course of the year, in the Lower Essequibo and Ituribisi rivers, as well as up the Essequibo to Waraputa and Pirara, stations formerly occupied by the Rev. T. Youd, and the latter of which the Society was compelled to abandon in consequence of a dispute respecting the territorial boundary between the colony and the Brazils. The latter tour occupied six weeks, commencing on the 2d of April 1851. The following are extracts from the journal of Mr. Lohrer—

April 7—We came to Umai, the place which Mr. Bernau selected for a Missionary Out-station. The land is considerably elevated, and a desirable spot for that purpose, if there were only people, or if those from the interior could be induced to settle here. There are seven cottages: one after another has been abandoned. There are now only three or four families living here. The people were so ignorant that they had forgotten the Lord's-day, though it is not long since William Simon, a native teacher, left them: yet they were evidently glad to see one who cared for their souls. They showed this, not to me only, but also to my people. They are of the Nikanikam tribe, and came from the interior in the time of Mr. Youd. They seem mild in their manners.

April 9—We came as far as Waraputa. This place is quite desolate: no trace of buildings is to be seen. One of my people says that two years ago, when he was up here, the frame of Mr. Youd's house was quite perfect, but now all is overgrown with bush and underwood. The place is now inhabited by serpents; but, what is more grievous, the souls living hereabout are inhabited by the "old serpent."

April 10—We saw several Carabeese, who had come from the Rupununi; among them one young man, Samuel, who had been formerly at school for a short time: he looked the most savage and frightful of all. How is it that those who once had advantages to improve turn out so badly? The answer is given by our Saviour, "Then goeth he, and taketh with himself seven other spirits more wicked than himself."

April 13: Lord's-day—Very rainy. I read in the morning the collect, epistle, and gospel with my people, and explained the epistle. I felt my separation from my dear friends, especially their Christian fellowship; but oh, how graciously the Lord comforts us! What are our bereavements compared with those of our dear Saviour? He exchanged the glory of eternity for death upon the cross in a sin-stricken world, that He might do good to fallen, ruined man; and should not we, who have tasted how good the Lord is, whose duty it is to have the mind of Christ in us, forego some outward comfort for the glory of Jesus and the well-being of our lost brethren? We would do it with delight. The Lord was with us, and blessed my short discourse on Heb. v. 9—"He became the author," &c.

April 20: Easter-day—I read to my people the epistle, Col. iii. 1, and explained it to them. As we set our eyes on Pirara, the end of our journey, so we should set our inward eyes, our affections, on heaven, and go on every day. Though we had to go against the current, and ascend many rapids and falls, yet that did not discourage us in our way to Pirara; neither should it in our way to heaven. I then showed them how the many temptations to sin, and our own weakness, were the rapids, and how we might ascend all these unhurt. They were interested in it. I had service at eleven o'clock, and gave the people a short address on John xx. 20—"Then were the disciples glad," &c. Afterwards I partook—three of my men being communicants—of the Lord's Supper with them. How ample the opportunity is, in these solitary places, to prove the truth of our Lord—"Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." I believe one learns here, better than anywhere, to care little for the world, and to rejoice and be glad in the Lord. I read, in the evening, Psalm lxviii., and spoke especially on "This is the day," &c., in connexion with the morning subject. It was a highly blessed Easter-day. God be praised for it!

April 23—We reached the Carabeese settlement, a little above the confluence of the Essequibo and Rupununi. It is now ten days since last we met a human being. It was therefore the more pleasant to see how gladly these people received us. Upon my arrival they assembled themselves together. I addressed them; and they promised to come again upon the morrow. The number of Carabeese hereabouts amounts to no more than sixty individuals. Most of these have had opportunity to make themselves acquainted with the nature of Christianity, and have slighted and neglected it. Many of them have been at the Grove, but it had no attractions for them; and it is to be feared that they still, and ever will, care little about the concerns of their souls; for the captain (chief), when I asked him this morning what he thought of the things he had heard, came with the old and convenient "I don't know."

April 24—In the afternoon a party of Makusi Indians arrived here from the Rupununi. I asked them, "Did you know Mr. Youd?" and the answer was given with real joy, and an evident desire that another Missionary might come among them—"Yes, but no dominie has been with us since. We are poor and scattered."—"Would you like a minister among you?" I said; and they replied, without hesitation, "Yes; then we would be as we were before:" meaning, that they would collect together. On my asking if the Makusi from Pirara would go down into the Lower Rupununi if a Missionary were to come, they said they thought they would, as formerly many went with Mr. Youd as far as Waraputa; but Pirara would be the best place. Is there no help for these poor but amiable people? I shall never forget how an old Makusi of this party grasped my hand, and how his countenance beamed with joy, and his pleasant smile seemed to say, "Stay with us, and teach us the way of life."

April 26—We reached a Makusi settlement, upon the Rupununi river. The people live far inland, and I could not go this evening; but they, on hearing a bugle sound, fired a gun; and six young men came, half an hour afterwards, saying they were not afraid to come, as they knew by the "trumpet" that it was the dominie; that they wished very much for a Missionary, and had been talking about it lately with people of other settlements. They number twenty-five souls.

Three days were spent, including the Sunday, among the Carabeese and Makusi; and Mr. Lohrer had much conversation with the people. He then pursued his course up the Rupununi River, and visited several small Indian settlements. Everywhere the name of Mr. Youd was familiar to the people, and some few fragments of his instructions were treasured in their memory. On the 2d of May he reached Pirara. The Indians in this neighbourhood amount to 100. Their chief settlement is about six miles from Pirara. They manifested great interest in the visit of a Missionary, spoke with much regret and respect of Mr. Youd, and were very urgent with Mr. Lohrer to remain amongst them. But he adds, "Of moving from the savannah they would hear nothing; and if any thing is to be done for them, it must be here."*

The Committee regret to state that the boundary question between the colony and the Brazils is still unsettled, and the Society is consequently prevented from occupying any Station among these interesting people. But there can be no obstacle to the residence amongst them of native teachers, trained at Bartica, nor to the occasional visits of European Missionaries.

In consequence of the rising of the waters, Mr. Lohrer was obliged to return rapidly down the rivers, and could only pay hasty visits to the various Indian settlements on the banks. He reached Bartica on the 14th of May.†

* A full account of this visit to Pirara is given in the "Church Missionary Gleaner" for November 1851.

GRAND RAPIDS.

THE Rev. R. James was in charge of this Station during the early part of the period under review. The work is altogether of a pastoral character, though a few heathen Indians occasionally visit the place. Mr. James meets with much encouragement in the steadiness of his people in their attendance upon the means of grace, and in the Christian liberality with which they contribute to the extension of the gospel among the distant heathen tribes.*

Missionary Tour.

During the months of May and June in last year, Mr. James made a Missionary tour to a place where there were indications of a desire on the part of the Indians for Christian instruction. It lies in a south-easterly direction from Red River, and bears the native name of White Dog, for which Mr. James has proposed to substitute Islington. The voyage thither occupied a fortnight. Mr. James spent eight days in the place, marking out the ground for a Mission Station, and planting potatoes and corn for a winter supply. He left two native teachers—one a schoolmaster—on the spot, who have reported favourably of the disposition of the Indians to listen to their instructions, and to send their children to school. It is earnestly hoped that the Society may be enabled next year to station a Missionary at this place, as another link of the chain which is destined—at no remote period, it is hoped—to connect together the distant extremities of this vast district.*

INDIAN SETTLEMENT.

The Rev. J. Smithurst having resigned the charge of this settlement, has been succeeded by the Rev. W. Cockran, who first projected and established it twenty years ago. This Station partakes of the character of a settled pastoral charge; and Mr. Cockran, upon his return to it after the interval of about twelve years, is cheered by the manifest progress of the people in Christian knowledge and practice. He gives the following striking account of the Power of Divine Grace in the heart of a Native Female Convert.

Though Missionary labours in Rupert's Land are beset with natural difficulties, yet we do not labour in vain. We occasionally witness the fruits of our labours.

Ten days ago I was sent for to visit an aged Indian woman, who expected that she was about to die. I had for a long time known her as a very consistent Christian. The following conversation took place. "You have long been serving the Lord: I hope that you now find Him gracious to you, and can look forward to death with comfort and joy." "I have the fullest confidence in the Lord, that He will take me to heaven."—"It is many years since you began to serve the Lord: what made you first think of becoming a Christian?" "As soon as I heard that Word," pointing to her New Testament, "I believed it, and began to try to do it. The more I learned of it the more I liked it, and endeavoured to do as it told me, and felt happy when I heard it."—"You have suffered a great deal of affliction: you have followed your husband and six children to the grave: what did you think of God when you were suffering the loss of all these? Did you think Him a hard Master?" "When I had my husband with me, and was surrounded by my children, I felt myself strong: when God removed them, one after another, I felt myself weaker by every stroke; and it made me cling closer to God." After a long conversation of the like nature, she desired me to let her son know that she looked forward to death with hope and joy; believing that, through the blood of Christ, all her sins were pardoned, and that for His sake she would be admitted into the kingdom of God. She then requested me to forward her New Testament to her son, "as being the best present she could send him;" hoping that he might find the same comfort from it which she had done in her affliction.

Here is an example of Christian fortitude and resignation. This woman was born under the cloud of heathenism, and grew to maturity in the worship of false gods. When she heard the Word, she believed it to be the Word of God, and obeyed; and the blessing of peace and joy became her portion. She followed on to know the Lord; and, in passing through tribulation, she became more and more confident that she was a child of God and an heir of glory. She now welcomes death as a messenger of peace, sent by the Prince of Peace to carry her home to her Father's house, where there are many mansions. Is this not a liberal compensation to the patrons of Missions? Is this not worth all that has been given and done to accomplish it?*

FAIRFORD, MANITOBA.

Visitation of the Bishop.

The account of this Station in our last Report was very discouraging. The Missionary could see no fruit of his toil. At the distance of 400 miles from his Christian brethren, and exposed to varied trials, he began to regard himself as "a vessel wherein is no pleasure." The bishop, in his truly paternal solicitude, proposed to visit the Station. The Missionary could scarcely hope to prepare even ten or twelve suitable candidates for confirmation; and one only adult Indian, out of many who had been long instructed, would offer himself for baptism.

The bishop arrived at the Station. He found the church, the school, the village, in a state of order and Christian advancement far beyond the description which the humble Missionary had given of his own labours. The bishop spent the first two or three days in inspecting the Station. The farm—which serves at once as an important means of supplying winter stores for the Missionary family, and as a model to the wandering Indian—was found well stocked with cattle; and at the close of the first Sunday spent at Manitoba the bishop thus records his impression—

The services of the day left not a shadow of doubt on my mind as to the duty of continuing the Mission. I had felt, I confess, serious doubts on the subject before, from the amount of labour and energy which had been expended, without, apparently, any return. But the fruit is now beginning to show itself: there is a deep under-current of good setting in, very much through the children of the school. Many have been long inquiring after baptism; but a praiseworthy degree of strictness has been observed by Mr. Cowley in sifting the cases, and rather keeping them back for a season, lest, by their subsequent conduct, they should bring discredit on the Christian name.

The candidates for confirmation were seen by the bishop individually, examined, and encouraged. The addresses of the bishop to the congregation were blessed to the awakening of a new spirit among the catechumens, who now became eager for baptism, and, after a searching examination, were counted by the bishop fit to receive it.

The confirmation took place on Ash-Wednesday. The bishop thus describes the scene—

The candidates stood in order before me, in all fourteen—ten males and four females—and gave their replies solemnly and audibly, “I do.” Luke Caldwell, whom I had so recently baptized [the one candidate whom Mr. Cowley had anticipated] was among the number. After the imposition of hands, and the succeeding prayers, I addressed them from St. John xxi. 15—“Lovest thou me more than these?” I seemed to feel more deeply than ever the impressiveness of the scene described in this chapter, and the beauty of these simple and touching words. There was much to give them additional interest from association, and the direct applicability of much in the context to the circumstances in which we were placed. Every image in the passage was familiar to those before me: they could feel the mercy of the Saviour appearing so often by the lake, and hallowing all connected with it by His presence during His earthly sojourn—appearing, too, after His resurrection by the same lake, and in the same gracious and condescending way. Thus the lake, the nets, the night of fruitless toil, and the unexpected success, all spoke to their hearts through the objects of daily life: they were a parable before their eyes. The affecting question of the Saviour, “Lovest thou me?” I could press home in either interpretation, whether as meaning more than those around, more than friends and kindred on earth, or more than these things before thee, thy boats and nets and earthly calling. Then came the closing exhortation, “Follow thou me.” How forcible in St. Peter’s own case! Years before he had heard and obeyed the call, and followed for a time; but when the hour of temptation came, he followed only afar off, and evil overtook him; but [now the merciful Saviour restores him to favour, and only gives him the same charge, “Follow thou me.”

The subject was applied to the consciences of all, by asking them whether, as in the presence of God, they could with humble sincerity reply, "Thou knowest all things; Thou knowest that I love Thee."

The service was a very impressive and cheering one. It was the closing confirmation of my first visitation, and made, in all, 442, and, with one confirmed afterwards during the week, who came from a distance, 443, in six confirmations.

On the Lord's-day following the confirmation 17 individuals were baptized. The bishop thus describes this scene—

After the second lesson, the candidates came forward and stood before the communion-rails. There was every varying age; some in declining years, some in full vigour, some children, and one or two infants. There was the best capote worn for the occasion by the men, the blanket by the women, while in the background there were many heathen Indians as spectators, with their beads and fantastic finery. It seemed no unintelligible action: all were ready to make their profession: even the children were sufficiently instructed to make their replies themselves, and approached to enter into covenant with God in their own names. Only three were to be baptized as infants: all the rest as adults, though some of tender years. They had joined with us in the hymns, joined with us in the previous part of the service, and now who could forbid water that they should not be baptized? It had been arranged that Mr. Cowley should leave my side during the baptismal service, and that he should give to each the right-hand of fellowship, and present them to me, standing himself as their sponsor or surety. It was at this moment that the interest was the greatest, as he took them one by one by the hand and placed them before me. Seventeen were in this way baptized, of five different families.

On the Sunday ensuing, a little party of fifteen assembled at the Lord's table; amongst them, a female who had come sixty miles to be confirmed and receive the Lord's Supper. In the afternoon two more candidates were baptized, raising the whole number to twenty; and the bishop afterwards addressed them a few words of farewell from Isaiah xxxv., as there was surely here "something of a partial fulfilment of its prophetic words, the desert beginning to rejoice and blossom as the rose." The bishop adds—

I determined to give a new surname to each family. To that of Jummia, as being the chief family brought in, almost without any exception save that of the old man, I gave the name of Sumner, after the present excellent archbishop, connecting thus the remotest branch of the church of Christ in the west with him whom God has graciously placed over us as our spiritual ruler. Jummia I baptized John Sumner, and his brother—whose former name was Ahkamma-kewenene, or the Man from over the sea—Charles Sumner, after the Bishop of Winchester.

The bishop proposes also to change the appellative of the Station from Manitoba to that of Fairford—the name of a town in Gloucestershire, with which Mr. Cowley had been associated—

It may perhaps serve to remind us of the beginning of God's work there. When we think of Manitoba, we may remember that it was the Indian's name for the narrow pass over the lake, which he imagined to be haunted by an evil spirit, and called, therefore, Manito-ba. When we name Fair-ford, may we think of that brighter passage to a better land, made known by Him who is "the Way, and the Truth, and the Life!"*

Aspect of the Station subsequent to the Visitation.

Mr. Cowley's own feelings in reviewing the events of the year are best expressed in the words of the following extract from his last Journal—

March 30, 1851—Till lately I have sown in faith and hope, painfully: now I am in some measure partaker of my hope. I however enjoy those whom God has given me chiefly as an earnest of an abundant harvest, for which I still sigh. Meanwhile it is very delightful to reflect upon the change in the congregation already effected. Formerly, none bowed the knee in prayer with us; and latterly, when inward conviction prompted some to do so, the fear of man was a snare, as was evident from their conforming only when no heathen, whose persecution they feared, were present. But since their baptism the fear of man seems to have been overcome, and they act according to the Rubric in unison with ourselves, and I believe, as far as they are able, join in the prayers, &c. How different from what we once experienced! I remember well when an Indian, being invited to attend divine service, said he would come if we would pay him for his time; and when, under those circumstances, Indians did attend, the shocking behaviour they were guilty of—laughing, talking, smoking, mocking. And one cannot but occasionally recall even more painful things than these. But in mercy God hath brought me thus far, held up my hands, strengthened my knees, and supported and cheered my heart. His is the work, and His be the praise!

At a later date—Nov. 22, 1851—he states—

We are, upon the whole, I trust, progressing towards the establishment of a Christian village, to the praise and glory of God. Four more houses have arisen since I last addressed you, making a total of seventeen, our own and the Company's included. The number who attend divine service on the Lord's-days is likewise increased to about 120; but the average attendance is less than 100. The Sunday-school is equally prosperous, there being on the book—adults, male 11, female 10: children, male 25, female 16—total, 62. The day-school numbers 41 children—25 boys and 16 girls, most of whom are clothed and fed at the Society's expense. The scholars are going on much as usual; and although many of them do attain to considerable proficiency in scriptural knowledge, yet in other studies they are not likely to attain to much competency, as their services are required as soon as they are available for out-door work.*

CUMBERLAND STATION.

Report for the Year ending Aug. 1, 1851.

At Cumberland the externals of the Mission are greatly advanced. There, in a Station of eleven years' growth, may be found the modest parsonage, the neat church, and an affectionate and improving flock of Christian Indians. The Rev. J. Hunter gives the following report—

The past year's experience has been similar to that reported in former years. We have had much to encourage us to persevere in the important work in which we are engaged, and also sufficient discouragement to keep us humble, and to lead us to cultivate a spirit of dependence upon the divine aid of Almighty God, who alone can make any efforts for the promotion of His kingdom and glory successful and prosperous. The Indians are making progress in divine knowledge, and also, I hope, in corresponding Christian practice and holiness. Our evening meetings for prayer and exposition of the Word of God, as well as our services on the Lord's-day, have been well attended during the past year. As our services are in the native language, all our Indians join in the responses and singing; and I have every reason to believe that very many of them are worshipping God, not only with the lips, but, in some poor measure, with the spirit also.

We have prayers every evening at half-past six o'clock, when a portion of Scripture is read and expounded, a hymn sung, and the Confession, and several prayers selected from the Evening Service, are offered up to God.

That a congregation of Indians are thus assembled every evening, and on each returning Lord's-day, in the midst of this vast wilderness, to worship God in His house of prayer, is a subject for devout praise and thankfulness. To the great Head of the Church let us ascribe, as we are in duty bound, all the praise.

Our Indians also take a lively interest in communicating what they know of Christianity to their heathen friends and relatives when they meet; and I have instances constantly coming to my notice where they have done much good in this way. I believe they embrace every opportunity to recommend, and place in a favourable point of view before the minds of the heathen, both myself and my work. In this way God is using them as instruments for disseminating the knowledge of Himself and His Word all around. I trust our church and congregation will prove like a city set upon a hill, which cannot be hid; and that, by the assistance of divine grace, they will be enabled, in some measure at least, to “let their light so shine before men, that they may see their good works, and glorify their Father which is in heaven.”

Mrs. Hunter has translated into Cree Watts’s First Catechism, the First Epistle of St. John, some sermons, collects, &c. We have also translated the Acts of the Apostles, nineteen Psalms, Faith and Duty, sermons, collects, &c. Mr. Budd will now devote all his spare time to making translations, as we are much in want of books in the native language at all our Missions.

In temporal things the Indians are making decided progress. The frames of seven new houses have been put up this summer, and they have very considerably enlarged their potato plots, and several Indians have commenced planting for the first time. They now manifest an earnest desire to make a home for themselves and their families near the church, in order that they may regularly attend the means of grace, and send their children to the school.

Letter from the Rev. Henry Budd.

Mr. Hunter at the close of the year visited Red River. The Rev. Henry Budd was left in charge of the Station. The following letter will be read with interest, as coming from a pure Indian—Christ’s Church, Cumberland, Dec. 10, 1851.

I cannot deny myself the pleasure of writing you these few lines, though not without reluctance on my part, knowing my insufficiency to do so. I cannot feel satisfied without writing you a little, when I know that you will be glad to receive a few lines from me, to hear of my welfare, and of the progress of the work in which I am engaged.

My present situation as a minister of our beloved church, and as the first-fruits of your North-West-America Mission, lies heavy on my mind, because it is connected with great responsibilities. I cannot think upon it without feelings of wonder and surprise. Sometimes I am ready to shed tears, at the thought that I should be called to such work as this—poor, unworthy as I am, scarcely fit to do the meanest office in the church of God, much less to be honoured with the ministry of the gospel of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. This is enough to humble my soul. When I “look unto the rock whence I was hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence I was digged,” I cannot help but exclaim, “What hath God wrought!” I am aware that there are high expectations kindled in the breasts of my Christian friends in England, as well as in the minds of all Christians in this country, respecting my being useful to the one great cause. I pray God who has brought me thus far to lead me safely on, and keep me from temptations and from dangers, until, by His grace, I reach His heavenly kingdom; and keep me from doing amiss in any way, by which the expectations of my friends will be disappointed, and the beloved Society brought to shame.

I am at present labouring at this Station alone. I am endeavouring, by God's grace, to be useful, and to do my utmost. Brother Hunter is gone to visit Red River, and expects to be back again in June next. I do feel my weakness and insufficiency for the performance of this most important work; but I have learnt by experience to know where my "great strength lieth." I do not set about it in my own strength. I feel my own strength as perfect weakness; but I trust in Him who hath said, "My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness."

I am doing all the translations in Cree that I can do. The whole of my spare time is devoted to this work. I am now sending Mr. Hunter, by this mail, a sermon written in Cree, for his own use while at Red River; and a phrase-book in English and Cree, for the use of the bishop, which I have done lately. But, my friends, when I am translating any portions of Scripture into my native language, I always feel that there is great responsibility connected with it. It would be well, therefore, that every portion of the Scriptures that is translated into Cree by me, or by any of my brethren, be properly inspected and closely examined by a body of men who know the language well, before it is sent to be printed. Happy shall I be, if, by the help of God, I am made the instrument in taking away the greatest obstacles and beating the path, by introducing the reading of the Holy Scriptures in the native language.

I have been greatly encouraged by the death of one of our Christian Indians, which took place lately. He was one of the young men trained up in this school, and was early in life brought to the knowledge of God's Word, and made to know his sinfulness and depravity. He died, manifesting the strength which Christ's own Word can give. He exhorted his friends, to the last hour, to follow the Lord closely, and spoke much of heaven, and said that he should soon be there. He died, sensible to the last, exhorting his friends, and encouraging them with his last breath. He fell asleep, I trust, in Jesus. I trust that his hopeful death has been blessed to many of us. But I must now conclude. Permit me to beg an interest in your earnest prayers for us. I in particular have much need of your prayers, that God may bless and crown my feeble labours "to the praise of the glory of His grace." *

LAC-LA-RONGE.

General View of the natural and spiritual aspect of this Station.

Lac-la-Ronge is an uninviting locality, especially in winter. The frozen lake lies sealed up and motionless in its granite basin, and the barren rocks and cliffs which enclose it are covered, not with vegetation, but with snow. The communications, also, with the Red River and with England are few and far between. In reference to these circumstances, the Rev. R. Hunt, the Missionary at this Station, writes—

* Interesting particulars of Mr. Budd's ordination, his first sermons, &c., may be seen in the "Church Missionary Record" for January 1852, pp. 8—11, and further accounts of the Cumberland Station generally are given in the Number for February, pp. 35—43.

As we anticipate that many communications from England and Red River are waiting at Cumberland Station with our supplies from England—all of them much longed for—we purpose sending off to-morrow two sleighs, drawn by seven strong dogs, to bring hither from thence as much as they can drag, with the help of three Indians, through the thick pine forests and over frozen lakes and drifted snow. Both I and Mrs. Hunt have been suffering from influenza, but now, thank God! we are much better, and not at all disheartened—far, very far, from it. We would not exchange this little tabernacle in the vast wilderness, through which our widely-scattered Christian Indians wander in solitude, for the most stately hall—with the grove, and lawn, and mead, and flowery sod—of England's happiest home. We have here a field to cultivate which the Lord has blessed. Above 170 Indians were assembled at the Station this fall, of whom I baptized 17 adults and 35 children, and married 15 couples.

According to the belief of Mr. Settee, the native catechist, every Indian—man, woman, and child—in this large but not populous district, is now a professed and baptized Christian.

Blessed be God for His goodness to His servants! If the natural character of the place be bleak and dreary, the spiritual aspect is far otherwise. Mr. Hunt's little farm has needed to have much labour bestowed upon it. The heavy wet clay and swampy mossy ground has required to be dried and warmed by draining; the surface of the stony, rocky ground to be cleared of the thickly-crowded stumps of fir-trees; the different kinds of earth and soil to be blended with each other—the sand from a more distant part being boated across the lake to lighten the heavy clay, while the rushy margin of the waters has contributed its plants for manure: all this has been necessary before crops of potatoes, oats, and barley could be raised; but, when raised, most gladsome in the barren region of Lac-la-Ronge. And no doubt the moral soil has required pains and labour in its own way, for the Indian character, in its native aspect, is most unpromising. We may judge of it by the following description given by an intelligent and sensible Christian Indian to our Missionary, Mr. Hunter—

The Indians regard both the ice and snow as deities; the former as presiding over fish, beaver, otters, rats, &c., and the latter over land animals; and they offer them certain rites and ceremonies to propitiate their favourable regards. When the Indians are eating, they cast a small portion into the fire, saying, "I wish to live!" "Give me long life!" "Give me plenty of moose to kill!" "Give me plenty of fur to trade!" "Take from the life of another Indian and add it to mine!" These are specimens of the prayers of the poor heathen in their natural state: their desires are earthly and sensual, and the offerings they make are small, but they ask a great deal in return for them. Dirty rags, small pieces of tobacco, broken bits of iron, crockery, &c., they present to their deities, and in return they expect long life, and what they esteem the good things of this world.

But if Mr. Hunt's labours in his garden have not been in vain, neither have the pains and prayers bestowed by him on his Indian flock. God has helped him there, otherwise all would have been useless. Paul may plant and Apollos water, but God gives the increase. Nor has it been withheld from Lac-la-Ronge, as Mr. Hunt is enabled to testify.

With respect to the spiritual state of the adults whom I baptized, the result of my examinations during many days was in every case very similar and very simple, to this effect—"I know that I am a sinner: my past life has been very bad, even since I have known better; but I wish to wash away my sins in the blood of Jesus Christ, and be baptized according to His commandment, and I will pray for the Holy Spirit to help me to do better." One young woman, of a very lively turn of mind, said, "I always much enjoy the means of grace, and then I feel how much I should like to do what Jesus Christ wishes; but when I go away I seem to leave all good behind me, and I do not then feel my heart when I pray." The last person I baptized, after much delay, was a woman upwards of seventy, who had been a medicine woman. With her I was not at first satisfied, but eventually she became very earnest in her wish to be baptized, "to wash away her sins," which she said troubled her mind so that she could not sleep. I warned her that baptism by water and human means would not avail without the cleansing and sanctifying aid of God the Holy Ghost, which she appeared fully to feel, and I no longer hesitated. I attributed her improved feeling to her son, aged twenty-two, who was baptized with her, having waited for his mother.

The preparation of the Indians for the Lord's Supper—which was administered, for the first time, on the 13th of October 1850, to 23 Indians, 3 half-bloods, and 3 Europeans, inclusive of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt—was a season of special interest. Much remains to be done; yet the eagerness and punctuality of these poor people in availing themselves of the spiritual advantages afforded to them, encourage our Missionary to a continuance of prayerful diligence in his work.*

MOOSE LAKE.

Our last Report announced the commencement of a Station at Moose Lake, two days' journey S. by E. of Cumberland, by John Humphible, a Christian Indian. The Rev. H. Budd has visited it. Of the mass of the population indeed he could only write—

They are not awake to their danger: they are asleep in the chain of sin, "dead in trespasses and sins." The Spirit of God must breathe on the dry bones, and move upon the face of the waters, and command the light to shine out of darkness, and quicken them from the death of sin, and influence their understanding, and enlighten their mind, and enable them to see their danger, before we can expect to hear them crying out, with the Philippian jailer, "What shall I do to be saved?"

But although the mass are still apathetic, instances have occurred here also of the power of Christian faith in a dying hour. The following narrative was related by John Humphible to Mrs. Hunter—

George Jebb, or "Kissa-Ookemahw," the "Old Chief," was taken ill rather suddenly. He complained of a pain in his back, and coughed very much. He bore his sufferings very patiently, and often expressed the satisfaction he felt in having embraced Christianity. He frequently exclaimed, "Nothing else could satisfy me now." He told John Humphible not to allow his children to be taken by their heathen relatives, for he wished them, he said, to be brought up as Christians. He never omitted holding morning and evening prayers with his family. On the morning of the day in which he died he engaged in private prayer as usual, and, from the loud clear voice with which he sang the hymn, no one would have suspected that his end was so near. On John Humphible going in to see him, he told him he was quite happy, and requested him to sing and pray with him; after which he said, "I feel as if I had two distinct beings—an inner and an outer man. My inner man is, I feel, already clean through the blood of Christ; but the outer man is still unclean." After some more conversation, he left him for the night to the care of his wife and children. About twelve o'clock, two of his little girls went to John's house, saying that they did not know what to think of their father; that soon after John had left him he had risen from his bed, and knelt, as he frequently did, to pray; but that, as he had not moved since, they wished John to go and see him. On entering the tent, John found him, just as the little girl had described, on his knees; and at first thought that perhaps he was asleep, but, on examining him, he found he was dead. The poor man, feeling conscious that he was dying, had no doubt commended his departing soul to the God who gave it. Who can doubt that this, his last act, was witnessed and accepted by the Saviour who loved him, and gave Himself for him?*

FORT PELLY.

The cry of the Indians at Fort Pelly, S. E. of Manitoba, has also been happily responded to. A native catechist has been placed there by the bishop.*

MOOSE FORT.

At Moose Fort, on the southern shore of Hudson's Bay, the Company have a chief factory: it is the meeting-place for the surrounding Indians through an extensive district. It is 700 miles from Montreal in Canada West, and still further from the Red River. There was formerly a Wesleyan Mission at this Station, which was relinquished three or four years ago; and this Society having been requested by the Company, and urged by the bishop, to occupy the post, the Committee sent out Mr. Horden, with his wife, to act as schoolmaster and catechist. Mr. Horden arrived in August last, and has been received with much cordiality by many who had once enjoyed Christian instruction, and were longing for its renewal. Mr. Horden has also taken two Missionary tours into the neighbourhood, which have much encouraged him, and awakened an earnest desire in his heart to extend the operations of the Mission. The Committee have assigned a clergyman to this Station, who will sail by the next ships.†

CONCLUSION.

THE Committee have thus discharged their annual duty of setting forth a sketch of the operations of the Society during the last year. As those operations enlarge, it becomes impossible to compress the solid matter which they afford into a moderate space. They are compelled to leave out many interesting facts identified with the progress of the work of God.

The Committee believe that the foregoing Report will carry conviction to the minds of all who read it, that the calls for help from the Mission-field were never more urgent or more inviting—that the Lord in His Providence has “done great things for us”—and that if we would render again unto Him according to His mercies, we must consecrate to this service the best talents and qualifications which He has bestowed upon us.

The Lord has given to the Society a large increase of Income at a time when no special efforts were made to procure it, when even the Committee had not dared to anticipate it. The fact to which we specially direct attention is, that a surplus has thus been given to us concurrently with certain special openings in the Mission-field.

In their concluding remarks, therefore, the Committee will confine themselves to an earnest appeal to our Church and Universities to supply men for the full occupation of the many and great openings now set before the Society.

In Western Africa, the events at Lagos, Abbeokuta, and Ibādan, speak with a thrilling voice in the communications just recorded. The same call has also been lately heard from the lips of our African brother in Christ, Samuel Crowther. In addressing a party of members of the University of Cambridge, he said—“St. Paul saw in a vision a man of Macedonia, who prayed him to come over to his assistance. But it is no vision that you see now : it is a real man of Africa who stands before you, and, on behalf of his countrymen, invites you to come over into Africa, and help us.” And again, another call has just reached the Committee from one of the naval commanders who jeopardized his life at Lagos. He writes—

“My object in writing is, to lay before you and the Society some of the wonderful openings now making in this country, for the benefit of which you were first organized... The work of the last two or three months has effected more towards the suppression of the slave-trade, than has ever been done in the same number of years since 1807. The capture of Lagos, though effected with a great loss of life on both sides, has been the most important step made for years . . . Lagos should be well occupied, as a central station. In the mean time it might be occasionally visited from Badagry and Abbeokuta, and thus no time be lost in preaching the Gospel and ascertaining the feelings of the people. I should say, that between Abbeokuta and Lagos abundant work can be found for at least six or eight fresh labourers. The capture of Lagos has also worked a complete revolution in the country, as far as Cape St. Paul's; the chiefs of every town on the coast having signed treaties for the suppression of the slave-trade, the encouragement of legal trade, and the protection of Christian Missionaries. Surely it must not be said that agents for mercantile houses can be found for each of these stations at small salaries, and that none can be found to make known to their inhabitants the heavenly treasure. Ample work might now be found for six or eight more upon the coast . . . To effect all this a great outlay will be required, each permanent station requiring buildings similar to those at Badagry. Several new stations ought to be occupied without delay—else that clause of the treaty respecting Missionaries must seem to the natives to be an empty form. To say nothing of the wisdom of being early in the field while the 'new palaver,' for such they call it, is recent in their minds. There is already a Roman-Catholic chapel at Aghevery. I entreat you no longer to be behind-hand." Such is the appeal, from British officers serving upon the coast of Africa for the suppression of the slave-trade, to British clergymen at home, to aid in the great and good work of making Africa "free indeed!"

Palestine also pleads for help. And shall the inhabitants of Nazareth, of Sychar, of Bethlehem, and of Jerusalem, plead in vain with those whose hopes for time and eternity are associated with those venerated names? Let us pay back the debt which we owe to the land which first sent forth Christian Missionaries. In a letter very lately received from the Anglican Bishop at Jerusalem, he writes—"If the present movement, both in Judæa and Samaria, is to be improved, the Church Missionary Society must send additional Missionaries. If the Samaritans,* numbering forty or fifty families, come to us, as

* The Samaritans here alluded to reside at Sychar, and are the remnant, and the only remnant, of the ancient Samaritans, retaining, as in our Saviour's time, the Pentateuch, a High Priest of their own, and sacrifices. They have lately introduced into their school the whole Bible. They are looking to the Church of England for instruction.

Let India be heard, which testifies from every spot, whether in mountain or plain, visited by the Missionary, that the people are prepared to welcome the glad tidings of a real incarnation of the true God, giving life to the soul of the believer, instead of the debasing avatars with which they have hitherto been deluded. India, at this day, invites the itinerant preacher of the Gospel. Let the grave of the zealous and devoted Weitbrecht stir the souls of some to take up the work which it was in his heart to accomplish.

Let one spot, at least, cause its touching appeal to reach our hearts. Jubbulpur, in Central India, presents its surrounding three millions of British subjects, who for a quarter of a century have belonged to England, but to whom the Church of England has not yet sent a Missionary. There is here the entire frame-work of a Mission already set up by zealous Christian officers and chaplains on the spot—a local committee to collect funds, schools, and dwelling-houses. And this is the language in which the zealous chaplain has addressed the Society—"The change which has recently taken place in the native mind is so remarkable, as to form the subject of common discourse amongst both natives and Europeans, namely, that the Hindus are fast deserting their idols and the worship of them. Both Hindus and Mussulmans are willing to listen to the Holy Scriptures, and acknowledge their excellence. There is an unusual demand for Christian books, and many pundits are inquiring diligently into these things. There is a village four miles from Jubbulpur, inhabited largely by Brahmins, in which the Holy Scriptures and the claims of Jesus are a daily subject of dispute and inquiry. Surely God intends to do great things here presently! O that Christian men everywhere would lend themselves willingly to the help of the Lord! that England would send us Missionaries! All that we require is men. Time presses, and what you do, I beseech you to do energetically and quickly. If I could only see a holy and experienced Missionary settled here, under the auspices of our truly evangelical Missionary Society, I think I could die content."

Especially let the Punjab plead for a large accession of Missionaries. Never was a Mission commenced with better prospects of encouragement; never did a country present a nobler field for the triumph of the Gospel—whether we regard its ancient celebrity, the manly character of the Sikh population, or the geographical position of the country in reference to

Central Asia and China. Shall the civil and military officers of the district combine their efforts to raise the funds—shall Presbyterian Missionaries offer their Christian and large-hearted invitations—and shall our church hang back? Two Missionaries are already upon the field, and they have received such an encouraging welcome that their hearts beat high with hope. In the fulness of their Christian satisfaction, one of them, lately a curate at home, writes—"The Bishop of Lincoln licensed me to minister to 300 or 400 of the peasantry of that county. The Bishop of Calcutta has now licensed me to minister to five millions of a noble and intelligent race."

Let all the Mahommedan races plead. The faintest intimation that the Moslem begins to inquire into the faith of Jesus is enough to awaken the soul of every reflecting man, and of every student of prophecy. Yet we have the fact, upon the testimony of men of long and deep experience, and at distant posts of observation—in Syria, at Calcutta, Jubbulpur, and Agra—that symptoms of a movement are discernible, such as they dared not have looked for but a few years ago.

On these grounds the Committee found their appeal for men who are capable of rising to the emergency of the crises in many lands—men of faith, men of the Bible; men who can "endure hardness" for Christ's sake; yet willing to become the servants of all, and to become "all things to all men, that they may by all means save some." The Society wants men to take the position of Secretaries to some of the Missions abroad—men to be the associates of Krapf and the successors of Weitbrecht—men who will reach forth, as Van Cooten did, from the western to meet their brethren from the eastern coast of Africa—men able to superintend the education of the intelligent classes in India. The surplus income of the Society would enable the Committee to send out at once forty additional Missionaries; and they are prepared to do so, if such a number should be called of God to offer themselves to the work.

But while thus urging their appeal for more labourers, the Committee do not propose to lower their standard. They must still reserve to themselves the judging of Missionary qualifications. Long experience has taught them what are the indispensable elements of Missionary success. The Committee cannot surrender the principle on which the Metropolitan of India, in his last charge, has bestowed this high commendation and sanction—"I beg leave," says the Bishop of Calcutta, "to mark with warm approbation their great care in the choice of their Missionaries. This is a primary point. The Church Missionary candidates are first examined as to their motives, piety, and general qualifications, and their freedom from the Movement, or other perversions. . . Accordingly, they are generally found by the bishops to be amongst the best qualified of all their candidates."

The Committee repeat the words uttered at the last Anniversary by one well known among us, but now far distant from us—"If there are any to whom God has given health not unsuited to a foreign clime, and an early training in our best schools and colleges, and an attachment to the cause of Missions, and it may be more or less of ministerial experience, then, on these very accounts, we must be bold to press the inquiry again upon them, whether their place is not among the heathen. Yes, and whether, so far from wasting their acquirements by becoming Missionaries, they will not be doing a greater service to the Gospel in that distant sphere, than they could ever hope to render to it in a ministry at home." So spoke the Rector of St. Ann's, Blackfriars, and within one month he was called by the great Head of the Church to go, and went forth as a Missionary Bishop.

With the concluding words of the same address the Committee close their Report. "God teach us all more truly to yield up ourselves, our souls and bodies, our friendships and relationships, and all that we count dear, holding nothing back, however loved, if only Jesus may be magnified, and His kingdom advanced!"

THE following statement, which has been published on behalf of a separate "Jerusalem Diocesan Fund," affords much information respecting the present state and prospects of Missionary operations in Syria and at Jerusalem—

A remarkable movement occurred some years ago in Palestine. Numbers of the Oriental Christians evinced a yearning for something more holy, more enlightened, than they had hitherto received from their spiritual guides; and they are now calling upon the Anglican bishop in Jerusalem to supply them with what they fail to procure from their own teachers. Various causes have conspired to produce this movement. Missionaries from America have long laboured in Palestine, in Beyrout, and the adjacent country, and in Jerusalem. "The London Society for Promoting Christianity among the Jews" has also long had its Missionaries in the same localities: their successes—the acquisition of land—the permission to build a church (then for the first time accorded to a Christian body, since the Turkish occupation)—opened the way for effecting a project long cherished by His Majesty the King of Prussia, by whose efforts, in conjunction with the Queen of England, a Protestant Anglican bishop was sent into Palestine. During the brief episcopate of Bishop Alexander, the movement was manifested, in the spring of 1845, by a petition from a community in Lebanon, to be received into the communion of the English church. This petition the bishop felt himself compelled to decline. He died in the autumn of 1845, up to which period, and for some brief space afterwards, all was apparently quiet.

When the present bishop arrived, who from long Missionary experience had acquired a faculty of conversing with the people in their native Arabic, and in their own familiar style, he soon discovered that the character and disposition of the people had undergone a signal change since his previous visits to them, twenty years before. Formerly they cared not for the Bible, or for Christianity, or for knowledge. Now they willingly received the Scriptures, and thirsted for instruction. Ere long, Nablous (Sychar) took the lead, and sent a deputation to him to Jerusalem, to declare their fixed determination to separate themselves from the communion of the Greek, and to beg him to receive them into the communion of the English church. This request the bishop refused, and advised them to return home, and give themselves to the study of the Bible and to prayer. After the lapse of about four months they returned again, asking for the establishment of a school. He directed them to petition the Greek Patriarch of Jerusalem, who twice positively refused the prayer of the petitioners. Then, and not till then, the bishop granted their request, and purchased at his own expense premises for a school, which was placed under the superintendence of a member of the Greek church. The school was opened with twelve scholars, but soon increased and prospered, in spite of an excommunication from the patriarch, and an insidious effort of that prelate to induce the Mahomedan Governor to destroy the school and burn the class-books, though he knew that THE BIBLE alone was used in the school: it now numbers forty scholars, male and female. The progress in scriptural knowledge evinced at the first examination had most important results. The bishop at first apprehended that the movement was far too much of an intellectual character—that it was mere ignorance of which they were ashamed, that it was merely knowledge they sought. But while he was absent in Egypt, and while therefore they had only the ordinary means of scriptural instruction, a light from above broke in upon them, and the intellectual illumination they had acquired, became, by the divine blessing, the dawning of the "day-star in the heart" to many.

The first examination of the school at Nablous attracted so much notice, that applications immediately poured in for similar institutions, from Tiberias, Nazareth, Jaffa, Gaza, Ramleh, Bethlehem, Beit-Jula, Ram-Allah, Kerac (an important fortress on the cliffs which overhang the eastern shores of the Dead Sea), and from Salt, on the eastern side of the Jordan, the Ramoth-Gilead of Scripture—may God give us wisdom to see that He is making it "ours," and strength to "take it out of the hand" of the enemy! 1 Kings xxii. 3. From all these localities came the same complaint—"We have been brought up in utter ignorance, our priests cannot, or will not, help;" and the expression of the same determination—"We will have our children delivered from this miserable situation;" and the same request—"Establish schools among us."

Hitherto, the cost of providing these inquirers with books, and schools, and teachers, and scripture readers, and in many cases with temporal relief, where they have been cast off by their former employers, has been wholly defrayed by the bishop, assisted by the efforts of a Committee of friends at Winchester, and some generous individuals in different parts of the country. But it is clear, that, as the movement proceeds, some more extensive organization is required to meet the emergency. The London Jews' Society are restricted by their constitution to the cases of unconverted Israelites: when they profess Christ, they must look to the bishop for future help. The Church Missionary Society have only lately commenced a Mission in Palestine. It is the bishop's wish to transfer to these Societies whatever portion of the work they may be able to undertake; but there will still remain a large and increasing portion which must fall on his resources; and it is for this that the present appeal is made.

It is difficult to define all the purposes for which the fund may be required. The following, however, may be specified—

I. THE DIOCESAN SCHOOL AT JERUSALEM.

This school the bishop opened on his own responsibility in 1847, for Jews and Gentiles; not only to afford opportunity for instruction to all classes, but as a refuge for the children of Jewish inquirers and converts. It was opened with twelve scholars: the numbers are now between sixty-five and seventy. The boys and girls are separated, and of the whole number thirty are Jewish.* For this school an immediate outlay of about 800*l.* would be most advantageous, in order to remove the school without the walls of the town, to a delightful and healthy situation on the brow of Mount Zion, a portion of the land purchased by the bishop for a burial-ground; where, for the above-mentioned sum, suitable premises might be erected, containing two large and airy school-rooms, and the necessary accommodation for thirty boarders.

* The London Jews' Society have always aided the bishop by defraying the expenses of Jewish children. Within the last month [June] they have voted 150*l.* per annum for this purpose.

II. SCHOOLS IN OTHER PLACES.

A brief sketch has been given above of the Nablous school, and the numerous petitions which flowed in when its success became known. It is impossible to specify the number of schools which might advantageously be instituted, or the annual expenses of each. One locality is deserving of peculiar notice, viz. Salt. Here the bishop ought to be in a position to establish a school, and eventually a Mission on an extensive scale. Salt being situated in the midst of a wild and lawless race, who scarcely acknowledge any governor, no existing power could interfere with the effort to evangelize from that centre the whole nominally Christian and Mahomedan population of the Haurân.

III. SCRIPTURE READERS.

These might be most beneficially employed in considerable numbers; perambulating the country, distributing Bibles, and plain and simple tracts, and teaching also the truths of scripture: they might also form a link of communication between the bishop and the schools he hopes to establish in various parts of the country.

IV. OCCASIONAL TEMPORAL RELIEF.

From the peculiar state of Turkey, emergencies must continually arise, and sudden changes occur, by which persons may be in a moment reduced to destitution. The bishop ought, therefore, to have a fund for special occasions; and that fund ought to be at his own sole disposal, that it may be so applied as not to excite in the converts the expectations of a certain relief, which would be the case if such funds were supposed to be dispensed by an established Society.

V. THE ABYSSINIAN CHURCH.

Abyssinia is the most southern portion of that extensive district within which the Anglican bishop is entitled to exercise episcopal superintendence over all those Protestant congregations who desire to submit themselves to his jurisdiction. The Abyssinian church has a convent in Jerusalem, which, by the request of the king, the Râs, and several influential members of the hierarchy, the bishop has taken under his protection. Numerous pilgrims every year visit the Holy City from that distant land, all more or less requiring charitable assistance : with regard to these, the bishop feels that he cannot leave them to perish with hunger, while he gives them the bread by which souls live (St. Mark viii. 1, 3); and the drain upon his resources, in both respects, has already been considerable.

VI. THE ANNUAL INFLOX OF PILGRIMS.

The fact that from 7000 to 10,000 Christian Pilgrims, besides Jews and Mahomedans, annually flock to Jerusalem, while it makes the Holy City a most important Missionary Station, shows also the expediency of placing independent funds in the bishop's hands. He ought to be able to attempt something for this mass of vice, ignorance, and superstition, yearly gathered around him; and to seize the opportunity afforded, by its annual dispersion throughout the world, of dropping those good seeds which may by their means be carried from Jerusalem to "every country under heaven."

VII. THE DRUSES.

Among this mysterious and interesting people ground has been already broken. They have often manifested a strong affection for the English—from whom (erroneously) they love to boast of their descent—and a disposition to receive instruction. At their own request, the bishop sent a lay Missionary among them, who met with a very kind reception; and though disturbances caused by the government conscription rendered it advisable that the Missionary should be withdrawn for a season, the prospect of re-establishing and extending the Mission, and of founding various schools in Lebanon and the Haurân, is still cherished, and with encouraging prospects of success.

VIII. THE SAMARITANS.

The school established at Nablous has led to a result, beyond that already stated, of very deep interest. There exists in that town the remnant, and the only remnant, of the ancient Samaritans—the mixed population transplanted from the East to supply the vacancy caused by the deportation of the ten tribes of Israel. They acknowledge, as in our Saviour's days on earth, only the five books of Moses as divinely inspired. The effect of the establishment of a school has been, to dispose this remnant of an ancient people to hear. At first their high priest objected to have the children of his community taught more than the Pentateuch, but he has been persuaded to admit the whole Bible—even the New Testament. He has studied the entire scripture himself; now speaks of the Divine Saviour with respect, and applies to Him terms reserved in Arabic for the Supreme God alone; affording, by this and other indications, a good hope that, ere long, he will himself profess Christianity, and draw all the community over which he presides along with him.

Such are some of the objects for which the "Jerusalem Diocesan Fund" will be made available. Their importance to the immediate welfare of the people in Palestine need not be pointed out: the ulterior results may, by God's blessing, be of inestimable and extensive benefit. While we offer ourselves to God as His instruments to procure for those who "hunger and thirst after righteousness" the promised blessing, that "they shall be filled," it is impossible to calculate the extensive influence of the exhibition of "pure religion and undefiled" on the Jewish and Mahomedan population of Syria. For ages they have seen Christianity exhibited in such a form as to excite disgust and abhorrence. They have seen it deformed by idolatry: and the Jew has experienced, at the hands of those who "profess the faith of Christ crucified," treatment which has made him turn away in contempt from a religion producing, as they suppose, such fruits. Let the pure religion of Jesus Christ be exhibited in the life of its professors—let the love and peace it inculcates be seen and experienced. Then, while the nominal Christians who are already disposed to seek salvation will be guided into the paths of peace, the way will be preparing for Israel to acknowledge the Redeemer; and for the Mahomedan, while he retains his confession that "there is only one God," to add—not, as now, "Mahomed is the Prophet of God," but—"JESUS IS THE SON OF GOD, THE SAVIOUR OF THE WORLD."

Church Missionary House, Nov. 22, 1851.

MY LORD,

I AM thankful to your lordship for permitting me to see letters addressed to your lordship by parties whose opinion is entitled to much consideration, containing strictures upon the Society's Mission to Syria; and I beg to offer a few remarks in reply, which will place the matter in its true light, and answer the objections which have been alleged against us.

The main points to which, as I understand, the strictures apply, are—

First, the propriety of our sending Missionaries to Syria, and other adjoining countries, where the chief sphere of labour, it is supposed, must be among the members of the Orthodox Greek church, while the whole heathen world is open before us.

Secondly, a supposed pledge, given by our church at the time of the institution of the Anglican bishopric at Jerusalem, that no aggressive measures of proselytism should be adopted against the Oriental churches, more especially the Orthodox Greek church.

In respect of the first objection, I must remark, that more than thirty-five years ago the Society first entered upon a Mission to the countries of the East, bordering upon the Mediterranean. Above twenty Missionaries, as well as many other agents, have been sent out to labour there: our operations have consisted of three branches—Missionary Tours, Education, and the Press. In the course of these years the Society has had repeated opportunities of reviewing the grounds of its proceedings, and of gathering a large amount of experience upon the question. Our Annual Reports have regularly, from year to year, reported the progress of the Mission; nine-tenths, at least, of our subscribers have joined the Society since this Mission was commenced, and, therefore, have virtually given their support to the principle on which it is conducted. The question of the propriety of these proceedings is,

Nevertheless, I will briefly state the grounds on which the Society's operations in the Levant were undertaken, and are still sustained.

These grounds may be easily learnt from the numerous published Reports of the Society. The following extract, taken from one of our early volumes, may be selected as a specimen—

"MEDITERRANEAN MISSION. The revival of the Christian churches bordering on these great internal seas, is an object most important in its probable influence on the extension of Christianity throughout the continents of Africa and Asia. They have long ceased to be instrumental in the propagation of the pure faith of the gospel, and have presented a distorted picture of that faith to the unchristianized nations. Yet every Christian church was a designed instrument for the maintenance and propagation of the gospel in the world. Had every church, as planted in the gracious providence of God, done her duty in promoting the glory of her Lord, the world would doubtless, at this moment, have yielded, from all its kindreds and tongues, the honour due unto His name: and it is by the revival of truth, and purity, and zeal in the Christian churches, that this great work must be accomplished. The Western churches of the Protestant world, whether in Europe or America, are fast rousing from their slumbers; and, while they direct their efforts, as opportunities offer, immediately toward the heathen, they are anxious that the more ancient churches of the Eastern world should gird themselves for that service, in reference to the surrounding Mahommedans and heathen, which has been long expected at their hands.

"It is to the revival of these churches that the representatives of the Society in these seas have hitherto directed their chief attention."—(Twenty-first Report of the Church Missionary Society, p. 97.)

is made, are the Greek Orthodox, the Latin-Greek, the Armenian, the Jacobite Syrians, the Nestorians, the Copts, &c. To all these churches the labours of the Society have been directed. The Greek Orthodox church is the most numerous. It is said to number four millions out of six millions and a half, which comprises the Christian population of the Turkish provinces of Europe and Asia. But wherever our Missionaries have found willing listeners, they have without distinction endeavoured to communicate to them the knowledge of the Holy Scriptures, and they have met with some encouragement in each denomination. The congregation at Nazareth, which Mr. Klein is desired to visit, is mainly composed of persons who were members of the Latin church.

The operations of the Society are grounded upon the palpable need of a thorough reformation in all these churches. The long and extensive observation of our Missionaries has afforded abundant evidence that the shades of difference are very faint in respect of the ignorance, the doctrinal error, and the moral degradation, of all these nominal Christian churches.

The Orthodox Greek church, as it is termed, in the Turkish provinces, maintains in its liturgical books, and the confessions of its faith that have been published under high authority—

The Adoration of the Virgin Mary, Angels, and Saints.

The Worship of the material Cross, and of Pictures.

Prayers for the Dead.

Auricular Confession and Priestly Absolution, as absolutely necessary for salvation.

A Doctrine essentially that of Transubstantiation; with various other errors and superstitions.

The reading of the scriptures is only partially allowed, and they are not read in public in a language understood by the people. The standard of Christian practice is, therefore, as deplorably low as the standard of Christian doctrine; and the Jews, the Mahomedan and heathen tribes, instead of receiving any light from these churches, are by their example confirmed in their prejudices against Christianity.

The shameful scenes which annually take place at the Holy Sepulchre, are but the manifestation of the superstition and wickedness of the various sects of Christians represented at Jerusalem.

It has appeared to the Society to be a legitimate and Christian object to endeavour to raise these lapsed churches, by circulating amongst them the Word of God and scriptural truth, and promoting the education of their children; but when, in addition to this object, regard is had to the vast heathen population of Asia and Africa, in contact with these oriental Christians, with many of whom they have a common language, and amongst whom they are scattered by commercial transactions to the utmost limits of Asia, it will be seen that the Mediterranean Mission has an important bearing upon the conversion of the heathen. But more especially Turkey must be regarded as the centre of Mahomedanism. The Mahomedan population, comprising throughout the world a hundred millions of people, present everywhere the greatest obstacles to the advance of Christianity amongst the heathen, and are themselves the most manifest objects of Missionary labours. It is clear, that if any impression can be made upon Mahomedanism in Turkey—and such an impression, it clearly appears, from information before us, is being made—towards a more favourable view of Christianity, the effects would be felt throughout the world. There is no country so favourable for presenting Christian truth to the Turks as those provinces of their empire in which the Arabic language is spoken, and no locality so advantageous as Syria and Jerusalem.

Such is the vast field and scope for Missionary exertion in Asia Minor, Syria, Palestine, and Egypt, to which the efforts of the Mediterranean Mission are directed. The nature of such a work prescribes special modes of operation, somewhat different from those adopted in the case of a heathen country. It has never been the object of the Society to form, among these oriental Christians, congregations according to the model of the Church of England, as in heathen countries: our object has been, by journeys, by the press, and by education, to disseminate the knowledge of scriptural truth throughout the country, in order, by God's grace, to raise the tone of Christian doctrine and practice. For this purpose our Missionaries have visited persons of all ranks, including many of the highest ecclesiastics; they have distributed the Holy Scriptures and religious books in all languages.

We leave to other agencies, under the providence of God, the work of settled pastoral ministrations, and parochial education. We rejoice, especially, whenever a priest of their own communion can be found among them to supply his people with scriptural instruction and pastoral care.

The Greek church thankfully accepted the assistance of the Society in the maintenance of a normal school at Syra, first established in 1829, when Greece was a province of Turkey, which has been eminently successful in elevating the standard of education throughout Greece. The school-books prepared and printed by the Society, in modern Greek and Arabic, have been adopted in numerous schools throughout the Levant. A similar establishment has been maintained at Caïro, for the benefit of the Coptic church, with the concurrence of the Patriarch. We have long had a station at Smyrna. Palestine and Syria have always been included in the journeys of our Missionaries; and lately, at the express invitation of the Jacobite bishop at Mosul, transmitted to us through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the Society sent two Missionaries on a tour of inspection into Mesopotamia. It may surprise one of your lordship's correspondents, who refers to the expulsion of our Missionaries from Abyssinia through French Jesuit intrigue, to hear that the present chief bishop, or abuna, of the Abyssinian church was a former pupil in our Missionary school; and keeps up a friendly intercourse with our Missionaries, and earnestly entreats their return. For these extended operations, it has been thought advisable to make Jerusalem the centre, more especially as between seven and ten thousand pilgrims annually resort to that city from distant parts of Asia and Africa. Mr. Klein was sent out to Jerusalem, in consistency with our proceedings for the last thirty-five years, to act upon the plan already described.

I trust this statement, and these facts, will sufficiently vindicate the propriety of the Mission upon general principles.

But it is alleged, secondly, that a pledge was given by our church, at the time of the institution of the Anglican bishopric at Jerusalem, that no aggressive measures should be adopted against the Oriental churches, especially the Orthodox Greek church.

A Convention between the King of Prussia and the late Archbishop of Canterbury, under the sanction of our Government, ten years ago, is the foundation of such a supposed pledge. These high contracting parties, or their representatives, are therefore the proper parties to determine how that convention is to be understood, and to be carried out. They were perfectly cognizant of the operations of our Society in the East. They neither made this Society a party to that convention, nor have they ever regarded the Society as restricted by that convention from pursuing its own course of action. They continue to this day to manifest their interest in the very Mission against which strictures have been addressed to your lordship. Reference has also been made to a "Letter commendatory," given by the late Archbishop of Canterbury to the first Anglican bishop, to the heads of the various Oriental churches. It is a misnomer to term this Letter, or any part of the former document, a pledge—for that word conveys the idea that the overtures were accepted by the parties to whom they were addressed, whereas it is notorious that the Letter of the late archbishop has been disregarded by the parties to whom it was addressed, and that no response has been made to the overtures which it contained, and that by the Greek Patriarch it was treated with scorn and derision. It is a question with the best informed whether the Greek church regards our church as a Christian church. It will be well, however, to refer to the terms of the documents which contain what has been miscalled a pledge; and to show that, so far from the operations of the Church Missionary Society being at variance with these documents, they are in strict conformity with them.

The first official document is, "The Instructions of the King of Prussia to his Ambassador," which formed the basis of the whole proceeding. These Instructions contemplated the protection and centre of union which the proposed bishopric would afford, not only to all European Protestants residing in those lands, but "also to the natives, some of them persons of high consideration, residing in Armenia, as well as at Beyrout and Jerusalem, who have expressed a desire to embrace Protestant Christianity, or to allow their children to be educated in its principles; but who have been held back because the Missionaries had no means whatever of ensuring protection and safety to them." (P. 43, "The Protestant Bishopric of Jerusalem," by Henry Smith, Esq.)

has been made—"A Statement by Authority of proceedings relating to the establishment of a Bishopric, &c." The passages in this Statement, which bear upon the question at issue, are the following—

"The immediate objects for which this bishopric has been founded, will appear from the following statement. Its ultimate results cannot be with certainty predicted, but we may reasonably hope that, under the divine blessing, it may lead the way to an essential unity of discipline" . . . "while it may be the means of establishing relations of amity between the United Church of England and Ireland, and the ancient churches of the East; strengthening them against the encroachments of the see of Rome, and preparing the way for their purification, in some cases from serious errors, in others from those imperfections which now materially impede their efficiency as witnesses and dispensers of gospel truth and grace."

"While the church of Rome is continually, and at this very moment, labouring to pervert the members of the Eastern churches, and to bring them under the dominion of the Pope, sparing no arts nor intrigues, hesitating at no misrepresentations, sowing dissension and disorder amongst an ill-informed people, and asserting that jurisdiction over them which the ancient churches of the East have always strenuously resisted, the two great Protestant powers of Europe will have planted a church in the midst of them, the bishop of which is specially charged not to entrench upon the spiritual rights and liberties of those churches, but to confine himself to the care of those over whom they cannot rightfully claim any jurisdiction: and to maintain with them a friendly intercourse of good offices, assisting them, so far as they may desire such assistance, in the work of Christian education, and presenting to their observation, but not forcing upon their acceptance, the pattern of a church essentially scriptural in doctrine, and apostolical in discipline."

"His spiritual jurisdiction will extend over the English clergy and congregations, and over those who may join his church, and place themselves under his episcopal authority, in Palestine, and, for the present, in the rest of Syria, in Chaldea, Egypt, and Abyssinia.

"He will establish and maintain, as far as in him lies, relations of Christian charity with other churches represented at Jerusalem, and in particular with the Orthodox Greek church, taking special care to convince them that the church of England does not wish to disturb, or divide, or interfere with them; but that she is ready, in the spirit of Christian love, to render them such offices of friendship as they may be willing to receive."

In the same document, there is also reference made to a college about to be established at Jerusalem, in which "the religious instructions given will be in strict conformity with the doctrines of the United Church of England and Ireland, and under the superintendence and direction of the bishop;" and the following very important sentence occurs—"Oriental Christians may be admitted; but clerical members of the Orthodox Greek church will be received into the college only with the express consent of their spiritual superiors, and for a subsidiary purpose:" a sentence which plainly intimates, that those who are not "clerical members" of that church, and all other classes of Oriental Christians, would be admitted without the express consent of their spiritual superiors.

The only remaining document which bears upon this subject, is "the Letter commendatory" from the late Archbishop of Canterbury to the prelates and bishops of the ancient and apostolical churches in Syria, and the countries adjacent. The expression in this letter is less precise than the statements already quoted: the words are, "We think it right to make known to you that we have charged the said bishop, our brother, not to intermeddle in any way with the jurisdiction of the prelates or other ecclesiastical dignitaries, bearing rule in the churches of the East; but to show them due reverence and honour, and to be ready on all occasions, and by all means in his power, to promote a mutual interchange of respect, courtesy, and kindness." This Letter was neither accepted nor acknowledged by the Oriental prelates: nor was it repeated in the case of Bishop Gobat.

A review of these documents, taken together, clearly shows that no restriction is placed upon the dissemination of scriptural truth, upon general plans of education, or upon the labours of Missionaries for the same end; and it was fairly to be presumed, that the appointment of a bishop would increase the number of Missionary clergymen in the country. The "purification" of the Oriental churches is contemplated as an ultimate object. All this is in perfect harmony with the course which has been pursued by the Church Missionary Society. The only assurance given in "the Statement" is, that these labours shall be pursued in a friendly, and not a hostile spirit; that there shall be no interference with jurisdiction; that there is no wish to disturb or divide. But if, as the natural result of such labours, pursued in such a spirit, members of these churches are led to see "the serious errors" of their own church, and to desire to join "a church essentially scriptural in doctrine and apostolical in discipline," there is nothing in these documents to prevent the reception of such enlightened converts; nor is there, in their reception, any violation of "the spirit of Christian love" towards the Oriental churches.

It would be preposterous to put an interpretation upon the documents, which would imply that after the church of England had used its best means, in the best spirit, to awaken a love of scriptural truth among the Oriental churches, it should repel those who may embrace the truth, and refuse to them the ministrations of our clergy, if they can no longer conscientiously remain under the ministrations of their own.

But, in truth, the documents were framed in a very different spirit; and while they significantly state, that "the ultimate results cannot with certainty be predicted," there is one clause in which it is not indistinctly intimated, that the spiritual jurisdiction of the bishop might be extended over congregations who may join his church in Syria, Chaldea, Egypt, and Abyssinia. The mention of the latter field can only refer to those who might be gathered together by Missionary labours, and the rest of the sentence must therefore allow of the same interpretation.

Hence, when Bishop Gobat, upon his consecration, applied to the late Archbishop of Canterbury for His Grace's judgment upon this very point—whether he was at liberty to receive into communion with the English church those members of the Greek and other churches who might be led conscientiously to separate from their own church—the late archbishop unequivocally declared that such individuals ought to be so received.

His Grace, however, pointed out an important distinction to be observed in such cases; namely, that it would not be advisable to receive whole villages, or masses of the people, if they should apply, because no reliance could be placed upon the purity of their motives. The bishop has acted upon this principle; and the result has been, that in several instances large parties, and lately a whole village, Beit Jala, near Bethlehem, have gone over to the church of Rome from the Greek church, after in vain applying to the Anglican Bishop of Jerusalem to receive them.

Circumstances have therefore arisen, such as the "Statement by Authority" alluded to, which could not be "easily predicted." The rulers of the Oriental churches have rejected the friendly offers of the church of England; but many individual members have been enlightened by the means used by our church, with the express design of leading to the purification of their churches. They have many of them separated from their own churches; have been recognised by the government of their country as Protestant communities, and as such have a right to claim from the Anglican bishop, by the very terms of the Convention, his protection and aid, if they choose to put themselves under his jurisdiction. The Anglican bishop is as ready as ever to act in the spirit of love; but a new state of things requires a new course of action, which is not at variance with any thing which the Convention contains, and which is the natural result of the principles which it propounds.

I have thus fully met the objection, as far as I understand it; for I would not appear to avoid any part of the question. At the same time I have gone beyond what was necessary for the vindication of the Church Missionary Society; for, as I have already explained, the Society has no intention of forming settled congregations under our Missionaries, as in heathen lands. Our instructions to Mr. Klein were, that he should rather suggest their remaining as reformed congregations of their own communion, until they should see themselves to be conscientiously compelled to separate from their church. The Society cannot, however, presume to say what course altered circumstances may require.

In conclusion, though I have trespassed largely upon your Lordship's time, I must venture to present this subject in another, and, as it appears to me, most important point of view. It is a fact, which is too momentous to be passed over, that American Missionaries of non-episcopal churches have laboured in the regions under review, with a very signal blessing from the Lord. They have multiplied their Stations in Asia Minor and Syria. They have numerous printing presses: and are dispensing the Word of God and scriptural books in large numbers. Their schools are numerous: already, very considerable numbers of Armenian and Greek Christians have placed themselves under their instruction, and have formed themselves into Protestant communities. These and all other Protestant communities have been recognised in a recent firmân from the Sultân, and have received ample protection, and have officers of government appointed to represent their interests. This Protestant movement is daily advancing throughout the East. Many appeals have been made to our Society, by Christian travellers and residents in those countries, to send zealous and able Missionaries of our church. Many of the non-episcopal Missionaries themselves, and some of their Directors in America, have expressed a desire to see the church of England taking a more prominent part in the scriptural revival of these churches. Is this a time for hinderances and checks to be thrown in the way by faithful members of our own church? If our Missionaries are held back, these alternatives are before us—one, that Protestant truth will be overcome and driven from the land, and these churches will be shut up in their errors and darkness; the other, that the Bible will prevail in the hands of non-episcopal Missionaries, and that, together with the removal of the error and vices of the Oriental churches, the episcopal form of government will be lost in the newly-formed churches.

The state of these lands is not unlike that of the European kingdoms at the beginning of the Reformation. Shall the Reformation take the turn which it did in England and Sweden, or that which it took in Germany and Switzerland?

I believe that the door is still open to the church of England, and to her alone, to interpose for the preservation of that which we hold to be an apostolic discipline—by persuading the rulers of the Oriental churches to take part in the blessed reformation which has commenced.

I would very humbly submit to your lordship, and the heads of our own church, whether a new commendatory epistle might not be sent, either through Bishop Gobat or some other messenger of our church, to the Oriental Ecclesiastical Authorities, to forewarn them of the danger before them, and to call upon them, for their own souls' welfare, as well as for the preservation of primitive discipline, to follow the example of the episcopal reformers of our church, of blessed memory, and to place themselves at the head of the movement for the "purification" of their churches.

I submit this proposal advisedly, having the means of knowing, from those best acquainted with the state of things, that the measure is feasible, and that the Missionaries of different denominations would not look with an unfriendly eye upon its execution.

I have the honour to be,
My Lord,
Your Lordship's very faithful and obliged Servant,
HENRY VENN.
