PROPER FORM OF A BENEFACTION TO THE SOCIETY BY WILL.

No. I.—Form of Bequest of a Common Legacy.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East the sum of _____ Pounds free of Legacy duty* for the general purposes of the said Society to be paid within _____ calendar months next after my death, exclusively out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may be bequeathed for charitable purposes and in priority to all other payments thereout but to be subject to abate proportionably with other Legacies in case my general Personal Estate shall be insufficient for payment of them all in full. And I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society [or each of the said Societies] shall be an effectual discharge for the said Legacy [or Legacies respectively].

No. II.—Form of Bequest of the Residue, or a Share of the Residue.

And in order to give full effect to the bequest hereinafter contained for charitable purposes I direct that my Debts, the expenses of my funeral and of the probate and execution of this my Will and the Legacies bequeathed by this my Will or any Codicil thereto shall be paid out of such part of my personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may not be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the primary Fund † and in case only of the same being insufficient for payment thereof then out of such part of my personal Estate as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the ultimate Fund; and subject as aforesaid, I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, for the general purposes of the said Society, such part of my residuary personal Estate as by the Laws in force may be bequeathed for charitable purposes [or if a share only of the residue be intended to be given, then, instead of the words in Italics, say, "such sum of money as shall be equal to (one-fourth or one-half, according to the intention) of my whole residuary personal Estate to be paid exclusively out of such part thereof as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes or such less sum as the said last mentioned part of my personal Estate will extend to pay"]. And I declare that the Receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be an effectual discharge for the said residue [or sum of money, as the case may be]. And as to the remainder if any of my general residuary personal Estate I bequeath the same &c. §

* If so intended.

† In case there be other charitable Legacies, Insert here, "other than and except charitable Legacies."

‡ If it be intended also to charge the Debts and Legacies on real Estate, then add "and in the next place out of my Freehold and Copyhold Estates."

§ The latter Clause to be filled up according to the Testator's wishes; but it must not be for any charitable purpose.

STATIONS, MISSIONARIES, AND OTHER LABOURERS, MAY 1861.

* * * By MISSIONARY, is to be understood one in Holy Orders; and by CATECHIST, one who engages in such religious care and instruction of the people as may be consistent with his character as a Layman. The letter (m) means Married.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Females; such as, cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing Female Adults.

A STATION is the place at which a Missionary or European Catechist is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers sent from Europe show the date of their first leaving Europe.

The asterisk (*) denotes that the Missionary is on his way out; The mark (†) that he is on his way home.

LAWS AND REGULATIONS

OF THE

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST.

I. THIS Institution shall be designated "The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East;" and shall be conducted by a Patron or Patrons, a Vice-Patron, a President, Vice-Presidents, a Committee, and such Officers as may be deemed necessary, all being Members of the Established Church.

II. The office of PATRON of the Society shall be reserved for such Members of the Royal Family as may honour it with their protection; and that of VICE-PATRON for His Grace the Primate of all England, if, being a Member of the Society, he shall accept the office. The PRESIDENT shall be such Temporal Peer or Commoner as may be appointed to that office; and VICE-PRESIDENTS shall consist of all Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, who, being Members of the Society, shall accept the office; and of such Temporal Peers and Commoners as, being also Members, shall be appointed thereto.

OF MEMBERS AND GOVERNORS.

III. Annual Subscribers of One Guinea and upward, and if Clergyman, Half-a-Guinea, with Collectors of Fifty-two Shillings and upward per annum, shall be Members of the Society during the continuance of such Subscriptions or Collections. Benefactors of Ten Guineas or upward, Clergymen making Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas, and Executors paying to the amount of Fifty Pounds, shall be Members for Life.

IV. Annual Subscribers of Five Guineas shall be Governors during the continuance of such Subscription; and Benefactors of Fifty Pounds and upward shall be Governors for Life.

V. Members and Governors of Associations who contribute the above sums shall be considered as Members and Governors of the Parent Society.

VI. The Committee shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Members for Life, or Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

VII. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the First Tuesday in May; unless that day shall fall on the 7th of May, in which case the Annual Meeting shall be held, for that year, on Tuesday the 30th of April; when the Proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and a Treasurer and Committee chosen.

VIII. A Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society, at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a Quorum, shall be called at any time, at the requisition of the General Committee; or by any Thirteen Members, on addressing a Letter to the Secretary, specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in Three public Newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity.

IX. None of the Rules of the Society shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones established, but at the Annual Meeting, or at a Special Meeting called for that purpose.

X. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London, by a Clergyman appointed by the General Committee. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed, for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XI. The Committee shall consist of Twenty-four Lay Members of the Established Church; and of all such Clergymen as are Members of the Society. Eighteen Members shall be annually appointed from the Old Committee, and Six from the General Body.

XII. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their First Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society (being Members of the Established Church), a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds, a Committee of Correspondence, and a Committee of Accounts. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of its Proceedings, and shall report the same to the General Committee.

XIII. The office of the Committee of Patronage is, to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate, to the General Committee, proper persons, as Patrons and Vice-Presidents of the Society.

XIV. The office of the Committee of Funds is, to circulate information respecting the Society; to adopt proper means of augmenting the Subscriptions and Benefactions; to obtain Collections in Churches and Chapels; and to nominate, from time to time, to the General Committee, suitable persons to act as Agents for the Society in the principal Towns throughout the Empire.

XV. The office of the Committee of Correspondence is, to seek for proper Missionaries, to superintend their instruction, and to correspond with them when sent out.

XVI. The office of the Committee of Accounts is, to see that the Subscriptions are duly received, regulate the accounts, and undertake the charge of fitting out and conveying the Missionaries to their places of destination.

XVII. The General Committee shall receive the Reports of the other Committees, shall appoint the places where Missions shall be attempted, shall direct the scale upon which they shall be conducted, and shall superintend the affairs of the Society in general.

XVIII. The General Committee shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; the other Committees as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on: their Meetings to be always opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy. Five Members shall be necessary to compose a General Committee; and Three, each of the others. In cases of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XIX. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, and President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex-officio, Members of all Committees.

XX. Governors, being Members of the Established Church, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the General Committee.

XXI. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three of the General Committee, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary.

XXII. The Committee shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting.

XXIII. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the Committee, annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society, of whom, Three shall be chosen from the General Body. Three shall be a Quorum.

XXIV. The Life Subscriptions, or a sufficient part thereof to be equal to the Subscriptions of the existing Members for Life, shall be placed in the Public Funds, in the names of Four of the General Committee; who, on their acceptance of the trust, shall sign a declaration of the nature of it, and that they will relinquish the same whenever called upon for that purpose by the General Committee.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXV. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued: The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made, by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence, of his qualifications; and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member shall declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next Meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least Three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXVI. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVII. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a Special Meeting of the Committee; and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot, to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings; a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretaries.

XXIX. Each candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist. If admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary.*

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee; and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. That all questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between any Colonial Bishop and any Committee of the Society, shall be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

XXXIII. That the object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as, in any other respect, to alter the principles and practice of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations, and explained in Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Report.

The proposed reference shall be made, through His Grace the Primate, by the Committee, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the Committee may deem advisable; and the Committee will be bound so to refer all questions, falling within the scope of the Rule so understood as aforesaid, which the Colonial Bishop shall require them to refer.

While all decisions of the Bench of Bishops on questions so referred will be considered by the Committee as binding on them and their agents or representatives, the Colonial Bishops or other Ecclesiastical Authorities, unless concurring in the reference, cannot properly be considered as so bound.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The following passage, from Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Annual Report illustrates the practice of the Society in reference to this Rule:—

"The Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] our Missionaries: these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same Colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church."

APPENDIX II. TO THE THIRTY-NINTH REPORT.

REFERRED TO IN THE NOTE TO LAW XXIX.

REMARKS ON THE CONSTITUTION AND PRACTICE OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY, WITH REFERENCE TO ITS ECCLESIASTICAL RELATIONS.

It is the object of the following Remarks to show, that the constitution and practice of the Church Missionary Society are in strict conformity with Ecclesiastical principles, as they are recognised in the constitution and practice of the Church of England.

Throughout the system of the Church of England there is a recognised co-operation of temporal and spiritual functions in MATTERS ECCLESIASTICAL; that is, the Laity and Clergy have not only their separate and distinct provinces, but, in many important respects, they unite their agency for the accomplishing of Ecclesiastical acts.

For instance, in supplying a vacant Church, a Lay-Patron selects and presents "his Clerk"—as the Clergyman is technically called—to the Bishop; who thereupon invests him with authority to minister in that Church. So, also, there are certain Lay-officers appointed to every Church—the Churchwardens or Sidesmen—whose duty it is, not only to guard, in conjunction with the Minister, the temporalities of the Church, but also to watch over the due performance of Divine Service, the morals of the parishioners, and the conduct of the Minister; and to report, from time to time, on each of these matters, to the Ecclesiastical Authorities. The duty of these officers is implied in the old appellation, "Sidesmen," or "Synodsmen"—men summoned to attend and give information at Synods and Visitations.

The distinction and co-operation of lay and spiritual functions in the Church of England might be further illustrated in the case of Ecclesiastical Courts, and various relations which arise out of the principle, that the Sovereign is the Supreme Ruler of the Church.

Keeping the foregoing distinction in view, the Church Missionary Society may be regarded as an Institution for discharging the temporal and lay offices necessary for the preaching of the Gospel among the Heathen. It is strictly a Lay Institution: it exercises, as a Society, no spiritual functions whatsoever.

Such being the constitution of the Society in theory—are its proceedings conducted in conformity with this theory, and with the Ecclesiastical principles of the Church of England?

In order to review these proceedings, they may be conveniently arranged under the FOUR following Heads:

I. THE COLLECTION OF THE HOME REVENUE, and THE DISBURSEMENT OF IT ABROAD.

These acts are altogether within the province of Laymen.

II. THE SELECTING AND EDUCATING CANDIDATES FOR MISSIONARY EMPLOYMENT.

In this department there is no necessary encroachments upon spiritual functions. The Colleges in our Universities are Lay-Corporations, and may, in many cases, be administered and presided over by Laymen.

Yet it may be urged, that in this department there is an approach to the peculiar province of Clergymen; because spiritual persons seem the more proper judges of a Candidate's fitness for Missionary employment: and it is generally admitted, that a Bishop may exercise a control over the education and training of Candidates to be advanced by himself to Holy Orders. Now, in both these particulars the Church Missionary Society has carefully guarded its proceedings. The examination of Missionary Candidates is referred to a Clerical Sub-Committee; and the General Committee consult and act upon the report of this Clerical trial and judgment. In respect of the other point, the education and training of Candidates for Holy Orders, the Church Missionary College at Islington has the sanction and approbation of the Bishop of London; who, in this country, admits to Holy Orders all the Society's Candidates: and his Lordship has repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the results of the system of instruction, as they have been manifested in his examinations for Holy Orders.

III. The Third general head of the Society's proceedings is, THE SENDING FORTH, TO PARTICULAR STATIONS, THE MISSIONARIES THUS ORDAINED, OR OTHER CLERGYMEN WHO HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY ORDAINED.

Now, here an objection against the Society has been founded on the use of the term "sending forth"—it sounds like an exercise of Ecclesiastical power. But, Ecclesiastically speaking, the Bishop of London "sends forth" every Missionary ordained by him. The Law of the land has sanctioned the Two Archbishops, and the Bishop of London, in ordaining persons to officiate abroad. The Secretary of the Church Missionary Society requests, by Letter, the Bishop of London to ordain, in conformity with the provisions of the Act of Parliament, such and such persons, whom the Society is willing to support in some Foreign Station. The Bishop, by the imposition of hands, gives them authority to preach the Gospel, with a view to their Foreign location.—In the case of persons already in Holy Orders, who may join the Society, they may be said to go forth by their own voluntary act; but their Letters of Orders, given by a Bishop of our Church, are their mission and commission, Ecclesiastically speaking.

Hence, to call the acts of the Church Missionary Society—in selecting the station, paying the passage-money, and agreeing to provide the Missionary's salary—to call these acts a SENDING FORTH of Preachers, in an Ecclesiastical sense, is to confound names with things, and to lose sight of all true Church principles.

IV. The Fourth general head under which the proceedings of the Church Missionary Society may be arranged, is, THE SUPERINTENDENCE OF MISSIONARIES IN THEIR LABOURS AMONG THE HEATHEN.

Here a distinction must be made between the case of those Foreign Stations which lie within the jurisdiction of a Colonial Bishop, and other stations, which are not so situated, and may therefore be termed Extra-diocesan.

In the first case, the Church Missionary Society has expressly determined, that all its ordained Missionaries shall be submitted for licence to the Bishop of the diocese in which they may be stationed; and that no Missionary shall exercise his spiritual functions in such diocese without a licence. The Society has further recognised the uncontrolled discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence, and the propriety of specifying in such licence a particular district as the field of labour; so that a Missionary cannot be removed from one district to another without the sanction of the Bishop.

These principles were stated in a Letter from the Society to the Bishop of Calcutta, signed by the Right Honourable the President—December 17, 1835—in a manner so satisfactory to the Bishop, that he embodied them in the four following Rules, expressed for the most part in the words of the Society's Letter: which were, at the Bishop's request, entered upon the minutes of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, as the recognised Rules of their practice:—

"1. The Bishop expresses—by granting or withholding his licence, in which the sphere of the Missionary's labour is mentioned—his approbation, or otherwise, of that location.

"2. The Bishop superintends the Missionaries afterward, as the other Clergy, in the discharge of their Ecclesiastical duties.

"3. The Bishop receives from those—the Committee and Secretary—who still stand in the relation of Lay-Patrons to the Missionary, such communications respecting his Ecclesiastical duties as may enable the Bishop to discharge that paternal superintendence to the best advantage.—The Archdeacon of Calcutta or Bombay acting under the Bishop's immediate directions when he happens to be absent.

"4. If the Bishop* or Archdeacon fills, at the request of the Society, the offices of Patron, President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, &c., he receives, further, all such confidential information, on all topics, as the Bishops officially neither could wish nor properly ask [to receive]."

The Bishop also wrote to the Parent Society in the following terms:—"You seem to me to lay down the principle most correctly..... This is to me perfectly satisfactory; as I shall instantly inform the Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom I report all the proceedings of the diocese."—9th June 1836.

It will be perceived, that the Missionaries, thus licensed, stand toward the Bishop in the relation rather of Stipendiary Curates, than of Beneficed Clergymen. For a Bishop in England cannot refuse a license or institution to a benefice, without assigning a reason which will bear investigation before a Court of Common Law; nor can he deprive a Clergyman of his benefice without a judicial process. But no law has provided any such check in the case of Missionaries: the Bishop has the power of withholding a licence, or of withdrawing it, at his sole discretion, without assigning any cause, as in the case of Stipendiary Curates in this country.

If it be asked, What are the checks and safeguards against the undue exercise of this discretionary power of the Bishop?—it may be replied, in the words of the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Parent Society, April 12, 1837:—

"We are not to take for granted, that discretionary power will be abused; but, on the contrary, to provide, by a cheerful and friendly spirit and conduct, against the likelihood of such an occurrence. If the event of arbitrary conduct should arise, or be supposed to arise, the remedies are—public opinion—an appeal to the Archbishop—and the Society's refusing to make other appointments and locations than those unreasonably objected to. Nothing is the least likely—and probability is the guide of life—to arise to impede or cramp the Committee; since they unquestionably and avowedly possess, The choice of men—The appointment of spheres of labour—The temporal power, including pecuniary support."

But though the Bishop's licence is at once the pledge and proof that the Society's Missionaries are under Episcopal superintendence and jurisdiction, and that the spiritual oversight rests altogether with the Bishop; yet the Society may seem, to some persons, to keep up a kind of spiritual jurisdiction and oversight, by requiring accounts from the Missionaries of all their proceedings, and by giving them directions, from time to time, which may bear upon their spiritual duties. But it must be remembered, that the Society stands toward its Missionaries in the relation of Trustees of the fund out of which their salaries are paid. In the case of a Beneficed Clergyman in this country, the Minister is the guardian and possessor of the temporalities of the benefice, because the benefice is an endowment; and the Patron has no further connexion with the Minister whom he has once presented to the Bishop. In our case, the office of Patron is, in a sense, perpetuated by the payment of the salary, and the possession of all the temporalities of the Mission.

This matter has been well explained by the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, May 26, 1837:—"The Missionary Committees," says his Lordship, "have a far greater latitude in India than any Lay-Patrons at home. Upon presenting his Clerk to the Bishop, the Patron at home is junctus officio. The Clergyman is removed, on being once instituted and licensed, totally and for ever from the Patron, and is transferred to the superintendency of the Bishop. The Patron has nothing whatever more to do with him. But in India, the Committee is (1) the continued paymaster of the Missionary after he is duly licensed;—for institution and induction there are none. (2) They correspond with him. (3) They supply him with Catechists. (4) They report his chief proceedings home. (5) They propose removals and changes of Station to the Bishop. (6) They exercise, unavoidably, an influence which does not belong to the mere Lay-Patron; and are aiding, in a variety of ways, to the comfortable and honourable discharge of the Missionary's most exalted and most spiritual duties."

It remains to consider the case of those Stations which are Extra-diocesan; i.e. where there is no Colonial Bishop of the Church of England having jurisdiction over them.

In these cases, the Society has endeavoured to procure for such Stations the benefits of the Episcopal office from the nearest Bishop of the Church of England. Application was made by the Committee both to the late and to the present Bishop of Madras, to extend, as far as circumstances would admit, these benefits to the Mission of Travancore; which, as an independent state, not forming part of the British Dominions, was not included in the diocese of Madras. A similar application was made on behalf of the New-Zealand Mission, to the Bishop of Australia; who at once acceded to the request, and kindly promised to visit New Zealand as soon as his other duties would permit; stating, in a Letter to the Society's representatives at Sydney, "It is highly satisfactory to me, that our friends at home are taking a view of these things which proves them to belong, not only to a MISSIONARY, but also to a CHURCH SOCIETY." (See Annual Report, 1838.)

Such is a General View of the Constitution and Proceedings of the Church Missionary Society.

It is not intended to assert, that errors are not sometimes committed in the application of these principles to matters of detail. It must be remembered that Missionary operations are, alas! new and anomalous in the system of the Church of England; and that it is not always easy to draw a definite line between the two provinces which belong respectively to the Bishop and the Committee. It has been observed by the Bishop of Calcutta—Letter, May 26, 1837: "The boundaries of the power of Committees, as they approach to those of the Bishop, can be ascertained, in many points, only by time and observation." Perplexities have consequently occurred; and, unhappily, misunderstandings have sometimes arisen between the Representatives of the Society abroad and Ecclesiastical Authorities. But these are the principles by which the Home Committee have endeavoured to guide the proceedings of the Society: and they confidently respond to a sentiment expressed by the Bishop of Calcutta—"The principles of our new relations are now fully recognised: the details will soon find their level."—Letter, 9th June 1836.

In reviewing the Ecclesiastical relations of the Church Missionary Society, there are two or three points which it seems very important to notice.

1. Missionary operations, as they are conducted by the Church Missionary Society, though apparently anomalous in the system of the Church of England, are yet in strict conformity with its constitution and principles: they are analogous to many other instances of voluntary exertion for the extension of true religion within the Church, in which Ecclesiastical authority and Lay co-operation unite for the accomplishment of the same end: so that these operations may be regarded as the acts of the Church of England, putting forth its energy for the Conversion of the Heathen World. For it has been shown, that the Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth our Missionaries—that these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church. Even in the few cases in which Lutheran Clergymen are employed, this rule is observed; and all the congregations which are gathered into the fold of Christ are trained up as Members of the Church established in this land.

And here it may be observed, that nothing less than the sanction of a duly-assembled Convocation can more fully identify the acts of any Missionary Society, within the Church of England, with the Church.* Without such sanction, all associations of Churchmen must stand in the same position. Still further, not to notice the present abeyance of Convocations, it may be asserted, that even if the Church were to assemble in her provincial Convocations, and to decree and to regulate Missionary operations, such proceedings could not essentially add to, or alter, those important particulars which, under present circumstances, entitle the operations of the Church Missionary Society to be regarded as Missionary operations of the United Church of England and Ireland.

2. It must be ever borne in mind, that Missionary operations are, in their very nature, temporary and preparative;—that they are to be gradually but eventually superseded by a different order of things, when the Heathen Nations shall have become Christianized. In some cases, as in the West Indies, this change is further advanced than in others. Now, it must be expected, that in proportion as this change advances, difficulties and perplexities will arise in our Ecclesiastical relations, peculiar to this TRANSITION STATE—from Missionary operations, to that happy consummation when there shall be an endowed and established system of Christian Instruction, and a territorial division of Ministerial labour.

* The American Episcopal Church has, in Convention, thus identified itself with a Missionary Society.

February, 1839.

This consummation the Church Missionary Society has ever kept in view, and devoutly desired; and, as far as possible, has prepared for its approach. In an interview with the Bishop of Barbadoes—April 1835—this point was expressly alluded to; and it was stated by the Committee to his Lordship, "that whenever a district should be brought into the state of an organized Christian community, it should assume entirely the Parochial form, and cease to be occupied as a Missionary Station.—The Bishop entirely acquiesced in this view; and only expressed his anxiety that it should not be so acted upon as prematurely to deprive a district of the Missionary's services."—(Extracts from Committee's Minute.)

3. Lastly, it must be evident, from a review of the whole subject, that our Ecclesiastical relations depend, in many important respects, upon a mutual confidence and good understanding between the Committee and its representatives, and the Ecclesiastical Authorities both at home and abroad. This must be the case, to argue upon no higher grounds, while those relations are governed by Ecclesiastical laws and canons made without reference to Missionary operations, for an Established Church in a Christian country; and where so much is also necessarily left to the discretion of both parties. If we look to our Home operations, the Committee places confidence in the Bishop of London, that he will continue to ordain the Missionary Candidates introduced to his Lordship by the Society, according to the provisions of the Act: and the Lord Bishop of London relies upon the Committee's using every means to select, train, and duly qualify proper Candidates to be thus introduced to him.

So, also, in its Foreign operations, the Society places confidence in the Colonial Bishops—as it has been already shown, in a quotation from the Letter of Bishop Wilson—that they will not exercise an unreasonable or arbitrary discretion, in withholding or withdrawing licences from our Missionaries, or in refusing ordination to our Candidates. And the Bishops, by granting licences and ordination to the Missionaries of a voluntary Society, whose income is liable to fluctuations, and whose agents are constantly changing, manifestly place confidence in the Committees, that they will use every endeavour to keep up the Missions once established; and that they will not, on their part, act in an unreasonable or arbitrary manner, or withdraw the salary from a licensed Missionary, without reason sufficient to prove to the licensing Bishop the necessity of the proceedings.

It seems impossible to supersede this conventional understanding—as it may be termed—till Missions are supported by endowments, or till a code of Missionary canons be established by competent authority.

This mutual confidence and good understanding now exists, it may be thankfully asserted, between the Committee of the Society and the Ecclesiastical Authorities of every Colonial Diocese in which Missionaries are labouring. And may He, who is the God, not of confusion, but of peace, and "the great Shepherd and Bishop of Souls," unite together the hearts and hands of those who are labouring in this Holy Cause—"that all and every of these may, IN THEIR SEVERAL CALLINGS, serve truly and painfully, to the glory of His name!"

AT the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, April the 30th, 1861, being the Sixty-second Anniversary—

The Right Hon. the EARL OF CHICHESTER, President, in the Chair,

PREBENDARY OF HEREFORD,

On the Motion of the LORD BISHOP OF WINCHESTER, V.P., seconded by ABEL SMITH, Esq., V.P., it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be received, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Lord Bishop of Ripon, for his Sermon before the Society last evening; to His Grace the Vice-Patron; to the Right Hon. the President and the Vice-Presidents; and to all those friends who, during the past year, have exerted themselves in its behalf; and that the following Gentlemen be appointed the Committee for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies—[See List p. iv]

On the Motion of the REV. D. T. BERNARD, M.A., seconded by MAJOR LAKE, of the Bengal Army it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the present aspect of the Missionary field, especially in respect of the increase and success of native agency, invites the Church at home to united prayer for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, to an enlarged scale of liberality, and to the more abundant sending forth of Evangelists to aid and strengthen the formation of native churches as living witnesses in all lands.

On the Motion of the LORD BISHOP OF VICTORIA, V.P., seconded by the REV. JOHN MEE, M.A., Secretary of the British and Foreign Bible Society, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting recognises, in the results of the late expedition to Peking, and the terms of the Elgin treaty, as well as the progress of the Taeping movement, a special claim of the vast empire of China upon Protestant Missionary Societies for large and prompt measures towards sending to her the Gospel of the Prince of Peace.

On the Motion of the LORD BISHOP OF CARLISLE, V.P., seconded by the REV. WILLIAM CADMAN, M.A., Rector of Trinity Church, Marylebone, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the present peaceful state of Great Britain, contrasted with the distractions of other nations, as well as her great moral influence and political power, and, above all, her spiritual blessings at the present day, summon her to the fore-front of the struggle for the maintenance and universal diffusion of the truth of the Gospel.

At a Meeting of the Society, held at Exeter Hall, in the Evening of the same Day—

THE MOST NOBLE THE MARQUESS OF CHOLMONDELEY, V.P., in the Chair.

After a few remarks by the Chairman, the Meeting was addressed by—Colonel Michael Dawes, Lay Secretary; the Rev. Joseph Ridgeway, M.A., Editorial Secretary; Captain Arthur Mildmay, Bombay Army; the Rev. Lal Behari Singh; and P. F. O'Malley, Esq., Q.C.

2.—The Chairman will briefly state the object for which the Meeting is assembled, and then call on the Rev. <sup>to offer up the usual Prayer</sup> to Almighty God, for a blessing on the proceedings of the day.

3.—After Prayer, the Chairman will make such further observations as he may deem necessary, and then call on Mr. <sup>to move the First Resolution.</sup>

FIRST RESOLUTION.—Moved by
Seconded by

That this Meeting fully recognises the duty incumbent on Christians to employ all suitable means for the propagation of the Gospel throughout the world; and hails, with thankfulness to the Great Head of the Church, the labours of the CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY in its various Stations in Heathen Lands, and among decayed Christian Churches.

SECOND RESOLUTION.—Moved by
Seconded by

That an Association be now formed, and entitled, "The Church Missionary Association;" and that the following be its Officers and Rules:

PRESIDENT.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.

TREASURER.

SECRETARY.

COMMITTEE:

with power to add to their number.

RULES.

I. Annual Members of this Association shall be all persons subscribing annually One Guinea or upward; or if Clergymen, Half a Guinea; and also such persons as shall collect in its behalf One Shilling or upward per week.

II. Life Members shall be Benefactors of Ten Guineas or upward; or if Clergymen, such as shall contribute Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas; and Executors paying bequests of Fifty Pounds.

III. Annual Governors shall be Subscribers of Five Guineas per annum.

IV. Life Governors shall be Benefactors of Fifty Pounds.

V. Members will be entitled to receive the Annual Reports of the Parent Society, and to vote at its General Meetings. Subscribers of Ten Shillings per annum will receive a copy of the Annual Sermon and Abstract of Report. Collectors of Sixpence and upward per week will receive a copy of each Monthly Number of the "Church Missionary Record"; and Collectors of Two Shillings and upward per week will receive a copy of the Annual Report, in addition to the "Record." Governors will be entitled to receive the Reports; and, if Members of the Established Church, to vote at Committee and General Meetings of both the Association and the Parent Society. Clergymen will have the same privilege as Governors. Contributors of 1d. a-week and upward will be entitled to receive the Parent Society's "Quarterly Paper."

VI. The objects of this Association shall be, to call forth the zeal of well-disposed persons, and particularly those of the Established Church, in support of the Church Missionary Society—to recommend proper persons who may offer themselves as Missionaries to the Parent Society—to disperse as widely as possible Missionary information—to promote the formation of Branch Associations—and to procure Collections and other Contributions.

VII. The whole of the funds so obtained, after deducting incidental expenses only, shall be remitted to the Church Missionary Society, in aid of its designs.

VIII. A General Meeting shall be held annually, on such day as shall be fixed by the Committee; when a Report of the Proceedings of the Association shall be read, and an account of its receipts and disbursements presented, duly audited.

THIRD RESOLUTION.—Moved by
Seconded by

That the success which, under the Divine Blessing, has attended the Church Missionary Society, in its efforts to make known the Gospel of Christ among the Heathen, is a loud and providential call for increased exertions, for devout thanksgiving to Almighty God, and for continual prayer for a more abundant outpouring of the Holy Spirit, to render the means employed successful.

FOURTH RESOLUTION.—Moved by
Seconded by

That the new and enlarged openings for Missionary exertion, in different quarters, demand our best energies to make known the blessed Gospel of Christ to Heathen and Mohammedan Nations.

2 CORINTHIANS V. 14, 15.

“FOR THE LOVE OF CHRIST CONSTRAINETH US; BECAUSE WE THUS JUDGE, THAT IF ONE DIED FOR ALL, THEN WERE ALL DEAD: AND THAT HE DIED FOR ALL, THAT THEY WHICH LIVE SHOULD NOT HENCEFORTH LIVE UNTO THEMSELVES, BUT UNTO HIM WHICH DIED FOR THEM, AND ROSE AGAIN.”

WE have in these words an inspired Apostle's vindication of the zeal which animated the first heralds of the Gospel. That zeal had provoked the enmity of numbers: on its account they met with scorn and persecution. They were, in turn, ridiculed and despised. Nor was this to be wondered at. Irrespective of the truth itself which the Apostles delivered, their zeal in proclaiming it was calculated to stir up the opposition alike of unbelieving Jew and Gentile. Their course of action differed so completely from prevailing custom and opinion. By the majority it was thought right to consult each for his own ease and advantage. The abnegation of self—the cheerful endurance of reproach or persecution—with no temporal end to gain, no carnal ambition to gratify, was conduct which men in general could neither comprehend nor appreciate. Yet this was the conduct uniformly exhibited by the Apostles. In these men there was an utter disregard of human smile or frown; they felt it to be a very small matter to be judged of man's judgment; they neither feared the world's hate nor sought its favour; they willingly accepted whatever befel them in the pursuit of their cherished purpose—to magnify Christ and his Gospel. They could even take pleasure, as one of their number affirmed, in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses, for Christ's sake; they were crucified to the world, and the world unto them. They were more than content to be poor and despised, to be made “a spectacle unto the world, and to angels, and to men” yea, and to be treated as the offscouring of all things, provided only they could make full proof of their ministry and preach the “unsearchable riches of Christ.”

How was it that these men differed from all beside? Possessed as they were of the like passions and infirmities with other men, what could have been the motive which actuated them, or the principle by which they were governed? Of this the explanation is given in the words of the text. In the name of the glorious company of the Apostles, St. Paul frankly reveals the secret of their unexampled zeal. Their enemies had charged them with intemperate fervour amounting to madness. To such accusers he makes answer: “Whether we be beside ourselves, it is to God; or whether we be sober, it is for your cause;”—as though he had said: “Call us fools if you will, or even madmen; we are fools for Christ’s sake; we are ambassadors for Christ; put in trust with the Gospel; we become all things to all men, that we may, by all means, save some; and the power under which we act is the irresistible influence of the love of Christ.” “For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that He died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him which died for them and rose again.”

Under a deep sense of the responsibility which is cast upon me in having now to plead the cause of the Church Missionary Society, I propose, in prayerful dependence upon the teaching of God’s Holy Spirit, to examine this passage, first, as unfolding the principle on which the Apostles acted; and, secondly, as exhibiting the power of that principle in producing self-denying effort to extend the Redeemer’s kingdom.

I. We have then to notice first, the principle which animated the Apostle, and those who laboured with him in the Gospel. That principle was THE LOVE OF CHRIST—a fervent love to the Saviour, kindled by the contemplation of his unspeakable love in the work of man’s redemption. It was an entire devotion of heart and affection to Christ; controlling the will, directing the judgment, consecrating every energy, and enlisting every faculty into the service of the ever-blessed and adorable Emmanuel.

The Apostle had dwelt upon the amazing love of Christ, in having come to seek and save the lost. He had striven to comprehend the length, and breadth, and depth, and height of this love which passeth knowledge; he had traced it in the several steps which lead to the consummation of the Christian’s hope—the promise made in Christ before the world began; the preparation for his first advent, continued along successive centuries till the fulness of the time was come; the incarnation of the Eternal Word; his life of patient suffering and unfaltering obedience; his meek endurance of the contradiction of sinners against Himself; his death of unexampled pain and humiliation; his glorious resurrection and ascension; his continued work of intercession now carried forward in heaven; and the contemplation of that matchless love, whereof all this was the fruit, had served to kindle in his heart such adoring gratitude that the love of Christ became a master principle which gave impulse and direction to the whole current of his daily life and conversation.

It is a noble spectacle where you behold a man acting under the influence of a principle like this. You can easily understand how, in ordinary matters, a person may be brought under the control of a master principle—a principle so constantly in operation, and with such constraining force, that he is actually ruled by it at all times and in all varieties of circumstance. I might even go beyond this, and affirm that, in all probability, every one here present is, in a greater or lesser degree, under the dominion of some master principle; you may be almost unconscious of the ascendancy which it has over you; of the silent but uniform force with which it acts; of the extent to which you daily and almost hourly render homage to its supremacy: yet the principle is at work—you have some paramount aim to which the whole tenor of your life is subservient, and the plans which you form, and the schemes you undertake, and the intercourse you maintain with your fellow-men, and with all the varied concerns, pleasures, or pursuits, of this transitory life, are, in reality, determined by the master principle which is enthroned within; so that you may be said, without exaggeration, to be constrained by it.

Yes, and it is an affecting consideration, that were I now to obliterate from the first clause of the text that one word Christ, and propose to each unit of this assembly to supply the word which should make the sentence truthfully applicable to his own case, how diversified might the master principles appear to be which rule the hearts of many, who, in name and profession, are disciples of Jesus? Are there none of us, my brethren, who would have, with shame, to write, the love of “this present world” constraineth me; or, the love of “riches” constraineth me; or, the love of “pleasure” constraineth me; or, the love of “the creature whom I worship and serve more than the Creator” constraineth me? Oh! for the master principle which reigned in the heart of the Apostle, and of his companions “in tribulation, and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ." That master principle was "the love of Christ." I do not say that he was insensible to the power of other motives: we know from his own testimony that it was not so. He had a love which made him yearn over his brethren and kinsmen according to the flesh, for whose sake he had great heaviness and continual sorrow in his heart, and could even wish himself accursed from Christ. He felt the tenderest compassion for them that knew not God and obeyed not the Gospel—those enemies of the cross of Christ of whom he had spoken often, and yet could not tell without weeping: motives such as these contributed their measure of influence; but, after all, the grand motive was the love of Christ. This was the ruling principle. It was this which upheld him in his career of toil and tribulation; it was this which made him indifferent to reproach and persecution; this which held him fast to the work of faith and labour of love; it was this which made him nobly persevere, unwearied by repulse, unterrified by danger, undisheartened by the malice of foes, or the desertion of false friends, counting nothing done while any thing yet remained to be done; toiling, wrestling, bleeding, suffering for the Gospel, and still glorying in it all, because he could declare, "The love of Christ constraineth us!"

I observe, secondly, that St. Paul having explained the principle from which he acted, proceeds to defend the supremacy which he yielded to this motive: first, he alludes to the fact that Christ died for all mankind. His words are, "Because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead." He takes for granted the vicarious nature of the death of the Mediator. It was a death undergone in behalf of others; in their stead, or upon their account. Moreover, the expression, "If one died for all, then were all dead," clearly denotes that the redemption which the Lord Jesus effected was procured for the whole human race: this conclusion is still more apparent, if we accept the rendering of which the original will evidently admit. "If one died for all, then all died in Him."

Let us for a few moments dwell upon the conclusion which is here affirmed. The inspired Apostle assumes that Christ died upon the cross in the place of all mankind. The statement clearly involves the doctrine of the substitution of Christ in the sinner's stead—the same doctrine which is figuratively taught in the whole ordinance of sacrifice, as enjoined under the ancient dispensation. All first died in Adam. By reason of the federal position in which he stood towards those who were to come after him, when he fell, all fell in him. "In Adam all die."

This is not a mere speculative truth. It is revealed with the utmost plainness. It is a truth also, of which universal experience affords confirmation. It is in itself the explanation of the prevalence of sin and sorrow—suffering and death. Apart from the knowledge of this truth, we should be at a loss to explain wherefore the effects of sin are apparent in all lands; or why it is that the plaintive cry of human woe is wafted on every wind, and from every clime of our sin-stricken world.

But this is not all; revelation unfolds the truth, that all fell in Adam; but it goes on to declare, how the Eternal Word was made flesh, that He might become the substitute in the sinner's stead. He became the second Adam, the Lord from heaven. In this capacity He was subject to the moral law of God. He rendered a perfect and meritorious obedience. He magnified the law and made it honourable. He endured the penalties which we, the sinful and rebellious, deserved. He redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us. He put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself, offered once for all upon the cross; and when He died, He made propitiation for the sins of the whole world; and “by the grace of God, He tasted death for every man.”

What amazing love is involved in this great mystery! That a Divine Being—co-equal and co-eternal with Jehovah—by whom, and for whom, all things were created, God over all, blessed for ever—should have humbled himself to become a man—to take into union with his Divine nature, the nature of man,—that He should have brought Himself down to the level of humanity; making Himself bone of our bone, and flesh of our flesh; condescending to become in all points such as we are, sin only excepted; that for us men, and for our salvation, He might obey the law which we had broken; and by his expiatory sufferings and death make atonement, and bring in an everlasting righteousness! Who shall describe this love? What imagination can worthily conceive its greatness; or what tongue of angels or men can adequately tell its fulness? Angels regard it with never-ceasing wonder: it will inspire to all eternity the songs of the Church triumphant in heaven!

But the argument of the Apostle turns upon the fact, that Christ died in behalf of ALL. It was not a mere remnant to whom the sin of Adam was imputed, neither was it a mere remnant for whom redemption was provided. “All we, like sheep, have gone astray; and the Lord hath laid upon Him the iniquities of us all.” “All died in Him.” It was human nature gathered into his person upon which the wrath of God inflicted the punishment due to sin. Such, then, is the vindication by St. Paul of his surrender to the love of Christ, as a constraining principle of action. Nor is it difficult to perceive the force of this reasoning. The groundwork of the whole is the fact, that Christ died for all mankind. To every human being it may be said, the death of the Lord Jesus Christ in your behalf is a truth which you are bound to realize: it has a bearing upon your moral responsibility—upon your present and eternal interests—which nothing can set aside. When Jesus Christ died upon the cross He died for you; in your behalf He left the throne of glory; for you He emptied Himself of the glories of the Godhead; for you He condescended to be born in the stable and cradled in the manger; for you He wrestled with the tempter, in the desert; for you He kept His heavenly Father's law; for you He agonized in the garden—poured out his soul as an offering for sin—was laid in the tomb, and descended into hell; He was delivered for your offences, and He was raised again for your justification. Through his meritorious obedience unto death, He has made it possible for you to be pardoned and accepted. Through his prevailing intercession He has procured the gift of the Holy Ghost, by whose quickening power you may be made alive unto God, and obtain through the avenue of a living faith in the Son of God, an entrance into the kingdom of eternal glory. Is not this a fact to be pondered? does it not yield a motive worthy to become a master principle, to guide the reason, correct the judgment, sway the affections, and bring into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ? Surely if we could estimate this fact now as it will appear in the light of eternity—if we could view it in the aspect which it presents to principalities and powers in heavenly places, to whom is made known by the Church the manifold wisdom of God—if we could regard it as lost souls, who disbelieved or neglected it in their day of opportunity, now view it in their misery; it would seem surrounded with such irresistible evidence of the love of God, with such a vivid manifestation of the glory whereof the believer in Christ shall be made the partaker; there would be, in this one fact, such an incentive to holy zeal, such a motive to flee from iniquity; that, falling captive before the power of this mighty truth, we should be able to exclaim from our very hearts with the Apostle of old, “The love of Christ constraineth us.”

II. I pass on to consider the effect of this principle, the love of Christ in producing self-denying effort to the Redeemer's kingdom.

You will observe, that immediately after having asserted the Redeemer died for all, and, consequently, all died in Him, the Apostle adds, "He died for all, that they which live, should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him, which died for them, and rose again." This, then, was the defence he gave of his zeal in the cause of the Gospel. By the unbelieving Jew on the one hand, and the philosophizing Greek on the other, the fervent zeal of the Apostle was ridiculed and despised. In answer to those by whom he was accused, the Apostle declared, first of all—"Christ died for all." Surely this by itself were a sufficient reason to justify the largest measure of devotedness to his service. Can we ever do enough to manifest the gratitude we owe for kindness so unexampled and so undeserved? Is it not the language of reason, no less than of sanctified affection—

"Love so amazing, so divine, Demands my soul, my life, my all?"

But the argument in the text reaches beyond this. St. Paul speaks of the end for which this love was displayed: Christ died, not merely to ransom from eternal death the millions who were perishing; not simply to snatch from the grasp of Satan the trophies of his conquest. He died, that "they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him which died for them, and rose again." "To this end, Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that He might be Lord both of the dead and living."

The message then of redemption through the blood of the Lamb is not merely the offer of inconceivably precious blessings—blessings such as by no other means could a fallen creature have ever obtained. That message tells, indeed, of a salvation freely offered, without money and without price: it speaks of an atonement which is efficacious to cleanse from all sin—of the free gift of righteousness which is unto all, and upon all them that believe—of the renewing grace of the Holy Ghost, whereby the corruption of our nature may be removed, and the whole man, in body, soul, and spirit, be rendered meet for everlasting bliss; and it bids all to whom it comes, Jew and Gentile, without exception, and without reserve, "Look in faith to the Lord Jesus, that from his obedience, his wounds, his passion, his death, his resurrection, his intercession, you may find pardon, peace, acceptance, and salvation."

But the message does not end here. It conveys a call to active service in the cause of Christ, to unwearied effort to extend his kingdom, till, wide as the limits of the whole earth, the tidings of salvation by grace shall have been universally heard and embraced. The language of the Gospel message is, "Ye are bought with a price, therefore glorify God in your body and spirit, which are God's." To every one who, through grace, accepts its proposals, the solemn call is addressed—"Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling, for it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure." "Give all diligence to make your calling and election sure." "Let your light shine before men." "Ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people, that ye should show forth the praises of Him, who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light." Consecrate, then, time, talent, substance, influence, to the glory of the Saviour, to the advancement of his kingdom, to the winning souls from everlasting death. Mean and insignificant, after all, are the largest offerings, or the costliest oblations we can present. What is the tribute of our service, or the devotion of our lives, or the contributions of our means, as compared with what we owe to the Redeemer? What were a whole life spent in effort to advance the Gospel, as compared with the claim which arises out of the humiliation and shame, the anguish and the death of Christ in our behalf? The adversary may smile at the fervour of Christian zeal; he may regard with contemptuous pity the devotion of the Missionary who forsakes both kindred and country, and cheerfully encounters the perils of Missionary warfare, provided only he may lay some trophies at the foot of the cross, from amongst the tribes of the heathen. But if the conduct of men were to be estimated now as it will be hereafter, when the fashion of this world shall have passed away, and the shadows of time shall have melted into the realities of eternity, surely it would appear, that since Christ died for all, yea, and since He died to secure the devotion of his redeemed to his service, the folly and the madness are not with the Apostle, the Evangelist, and the Missionary; but with those who neglect the great salvation, and who, in their blind and idolatrous love of this present world, are utter strangers to the principle which is affirmed in the words, "For the love of Christ constraineth us."

Surely, my Christian brethren, this great motive power—the love of Christ—is the mainspring of all genuine Missionary effort. We have no confidence in any attempt to evangelize the heathen which originates not in this motive. The holiest of enterprizes is not secure from abuse; and Satan, whose malice is ever directed as much to pervert what is good as to originate what is evil, may employ the disguise of an apparent zeal for Christianity to mask the design to extend his own empire. It is not impossible, as past experience proves, that carnal principles may originate the semblance of Missionary effort. The zeal for party made the Pharisees of our Lord's day "compass sea and land to make one proselyte." Ambition for the dominancy of a particular sect may kindle a fervour and zeal which rivals in its outer manifestations that which distinguished the labours of Apostles; the mere love of adventure or thirst for enterprise may induce a man to attempt to reclaim some moral waste of heathenism, and clothe it with the attractive features of Christian civilization; but these are not the principles which animated the first heralds of the Gospel. The power under which the Apostles acted was the all-constraining love of Christ; and should we not do well to study the principle which guided them in the Missionary warfare? They were the earliest Missionaries whom the Church of Christ ever knew, and to every Missionary of the present day they present the pattern of what a Missionary ought to be. To them was confided the task to evangelize the nations, and how did they discharge their commission? They first freely offered themselves in body and soul a living sacrifice to God: realizing their own personal interest in the living Redeemer, they went forth in the power of the Holy Ghost, and preached Christ and Him crucified. They had felt the power of the Gospel; they were confident in its efficacy to meet the wants of the world; they were influenced by a principle not of earth; they had received a Divine impulse, and, yielding to its control, they embarked on a nobler enterprise than had ever enlisted before the energies of living men. They were set for the defence of the Gospel; their mission was to war against the dominion of Satan; to liberate an enslaved world; to enlighten nations that were lying under the shadow of death; to proclaim the advent of the promised Messiah; to preach forgiveness of sins, and the offer of everlasting life through faith in his name; "to direct each soul with whom they could come in contact to personal communion with Christ as its Mediator, Atonement, Righteousness, and Saviour." The dignity of their commission might well inspire their loftiest efforts. Compassion for souls perishing without Christ—the longing desire to staunch the bleeding wounds of our sin-smitten race—motives such as these might have impelled them onwards, though it were to imprisonment and to death. To be the honoured ambassadors for the King of kings—messengers of Christ, bearing in their hands the ever-blessed Gospel of the grace of God—was an office which angels might have rejoiced to fulfil. But there was one motive—more powerful by far—which dwelt in these Missionaries of old, and kindled their unquenchable zeal. Read this motive in the language of the text, "The love of Christ constraineth us." They had pondered upon this love, till captivated by its subduing power; and what did this principle say to them? "Live not to yourselves; live to Him who died, and rose, and revived; live to his glory; live to impart the treasures of his Gospel; live to obey the command, 'Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature.'"

To the operation of this principle we, as a nation, are indebted for the inestimably precious gift of Christianity. That the good news of salvation by Christ resounded from Jerusalem throughout Judea, into Asia, and to the furthest bounds of the West; that Missionaries set foot upon our own shores; and that through the preaching of the Cross the worship of idols gave place to the worship of the one living and true God; all is due to the operation of this great Missionary principle—"the love of Christ constraineth us."

And to the glory of the grace of God be it spoken, the same principle has been the mainspring of the operations of that honoured Institution whose cause I now plead. It was the love of Christ which moved in the heart of its founders, and stirred within their breasts the desire to send Missionaries from our own Church to distant heathen lands. They felt, moreover, that this was the essential principle to make an effective Missionary. They were not insensible to the need for men of intelligence and of power to contend against the subtleties of heathen idolatry: they knew full well there is an ample field in heathen lands for the exercise of the choicest intellectual gifts; but they felt at the same time that in vain were the endowments of genius, and all the resources of learning, to constitute a true Missionary, without the surrender of the whole man as a living sacrifice to the influence of this principle—"the constraining love of Christ:" therefore it was they resolved that "none should be sent forth as Missionaries from this Society but those who appeared to have themselves experienced the blessings of the Gospel, and therefore to be earnestly desirous to make known to their perishing fellow-sinners the grace and power of a Redeemer, and the inestimable blessings of his salvation." To that resolution, through evil report and through good report, has the Church Missionary Society, from the commencement, unflinchingly adhered. To the glory of God's grace be it spoken, the lives of our Missionaries have evidenced that their prevailing principle of action has been the same—the constraining love of Christ.

And now, after more than sixty years have run their course since the Society was formed, shall we not, upon this its solemn anniversary, re-affirm the principle, and declare that our great need is more of the constraining love of Christ, for the extension of the Missionary spirit at home, and of Missionary action abroad! Christian brethren, suffer me to say, the necessity is urgent for both: we want more of Missionary zeal throughout this highly-favoured land.

I am not insensible to the fact, that even within the past thirty years the Missionary spirit has wonderfully revived and taken root. To the work of the Church Missionary Society, in bringing the wants of the heathen prominently forward, and giving wide diffusion to Missionary information, the Church and the country at large are indebted, through God's blessing, for the existence of a zeal for Missions, of which many kindred Institutions beside reap the benefit.

We recognise the good hand of God upon the Society in the number of Auxiliary Associations throughout the kingdom; in the large contributions to the Missionary cause; in the comparative frequency with which the claims of this Society are pleaded in our Churches; and in the still more cheering fact of the increasing number of those who, in latter years, have offered themselves candidates for Missionary work.

But can it be said that the standard of the Church's Missionary zeal is what it ought to be, or what it would be, if all her members were thoroughly imbued with this sanctifying principle—"the constraining love of Christ?" How many hundreds of parishes there are in the land in which there is no Missionary Association whatever! How small is the proportion to the whole number of churches in which the cause of Christian Missions is regularly pleaded! With what languid zeal is the appeal too often made! Who can say that the income of the Society is what it ought to be, when you regard the enormous and rapidly-increasing wealth at home, or the claims of the Missionary field abroad! Again, while we rejoice in the numbers who have freely offered themselves to the Lord's service for gathering souls from amongst the heathen, what are these compared to the hundreds who might consecrate themselves to this the noblest calling in which a man can engage, if only there were more of the love of Christ filling all hearts, and constraining the members of his mystical body to live, "not to themselves, but unto Him that died for them and rose again!" Oh! if the Missionary spirit is to rise to its proper level, it must spring from a deeper and more fervent love to the Redeemer. This would constrain the wealthy to pour their offerings more plenteously into the Lord's treasury. This would lead the clergy to embrace more eagerly the opportunity for inciting their flocks to take an interest in the effort to evangelize the heathen. This would quench the jealousies and heartburnings which too often serve to keep aloof from each other the fellow-disciples of the same gracious Master. This would make still larger numbers ask, as they contemplate the millions who are without the knowledge of Christ—for whom, nevertheless, Christ died—"Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? Is it within the purpose of Thy providence that I should go forth as Thy messenger to proclaim among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ?"

And is there not a cause for extended Missionary action abroad? Can it be said of any one field upon which our Missionary work is carried forward, that the labourers are in due proportion to the harvest? Even on the fields we profess to occupy, is not the agency lamentably inadequate to the work? Are there not cities whose populations are numbered by millions, and whole countries beside, given up to idolatry, without a single ambassador from Christ to tell them of the only name under heaven given among men whereby we can be saved?

I plead for these perishing heathen, and ask you, for the sake of that love upon which you depend for eternity, to help the great Missionary cause. Are there none in this congregation to-night, who will even now ask, What do I not owe to Christ for all He hath done for me? For me He became poor; for me He left a throne of glory; for me He endured the cross; for me He sent his blessed Spirit; on me He cast a look of tenderness and love; and when I was a stranger, and an enemy, He called me by his grace, and made me a child by adoption, and an heir of everlasting glory; and shall I refuse to deny myself some luxury, or abridge some wonted but needless expenditure, or curtail some present gratification, that his great name may be glorified, and his salvation more widely proclaimed in foreign lands?

Is it too much to hope that thee may be in this assembly some young men, within whose hearts the desire may even now kindle to join the ranks of our Missionary army abroad, and, under the influence of the constraining love of Christ, go out to the warfare against the kingdom of darkness? If in any heart such thoughts are stirring, I entreat you let the feeling ripen at once into action. The night is far spent, the day is at hand: all things around tell of an approaching consummation. Prophecy is daily unfolding itself into history. "I will shake all nations," saith God; "and the Desire of all nations shall come." Whither can the eye turn, and not discern a shaking amongst the nations? Everywhere the signs are evident of impending conflict. Perplexity prevails; wars, and rumours of wars, are on every side; the tidings are borne upon every wind, and from every quarter under heaven. The famine and the pestilence are fulfilling God's word. What reflecting mind can fail to ask what shall be the end of all these things? I pretend to no discernment of the times and the seasons, which God hath put in his own power. But this we assuredly know—"The kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ." "The idols He shall utterly abolish." "The heathen are to be given to Him for an inheritance." He will come again "in power and great glory." We know, further, there are certain signs which, on the authority of our Lord Himself, will foretoken the nearness of his coming; and we must be deaf to prophecy, and blind to some of its clearest fulfilments, not to perceive that there is scarcely a predicted token which is wanting to justify the expectation that the time is short, and the coming of the Son of Man draweth near.

Members, then, of the Church of the living God, gird yourselves to the work which remains to be done; a work to which ye are summoned alike by the dispensations of Providence and of grace. Redouble your efforts to speed the march of the everlasting Gospel. Millions on millions of immortal souls are perishing without Christ. From many and many a distant Macedonia the cry is heard, "Come over, and help us." Many a lone Missionary station needs to have its little band of Christ's soldiers reinforced. Some have fallen on the field, and the call is loud and imperative for others to press forward and be baptized for the dead. India, lately scourged by the desolations of war, and now smitten in some of her fairest provinces by the consuming famine; China, thrown open to British commerce, as she never hath been hitherto, with her benighted millions of unevangelized heathen; Africa, with her sad history of cruel wrongs and oppression, with her multitudes of perishing idolaters; islands of the ocean, wherever the ray of Gospel light has fallen, or the darkness of superstition still covers the people, all seem to utter a voice to England, as the home of Protestant and evangelical truth, to send them the Gospel.

By all the preciousness of the Gospel; by the immortal hopes which cluster around it; by the blessed issues that will follow upon the development of God's eternal purpose, to give the sovereignty of the world to the Lord Jesus; by the constraining love of Christ; I summon you to throw yourselves into the effort to evangelize the heathen. Give time, give prayer, give substance, give energy, give influence, to advance the kingdom of God's dear Son ; then shall you share in the glories of his second coming ; yea, you shall stand with the ransomed round the throne, and hear the gracious approval —“ Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.”

REPORT,

&c., &c.

THE Committee have to announce some falling off during the last year in the income of the Society, chiefly in respect of Legacies, which are less by 5107*l.*, and of Benefactions, which are 3043*l.* below the amount of last year. The contributions received from the Associations have exceeded those of last year by 1123*l.*: they amount to 101,853*l.*, the largest sum which has ever yet been received from this source. The result, however, is a diminution of the General Fund of 7041*l.* as compared with last year.

The Financial Statement is as follows—

| INCOME.                                                |          |    |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------|----------|----|----|
| GENERAL FUND—Associations, Benefactions,               |          |    |    |
|                                                        | £        | s. | d. |
| Legacies, &c. . . . .                                  | 123,020  | 12 | 5  |
| Fund for Disabled Missionaries, &amp;c. . . . . | 1,779    | 7  | 11 |
| Total Ordinary Income . . . . .                        | £124,800 | 0  | 4  |

The Special India Fund has produced during the last year 4382*l.*, which being the produce of the third year since the mutiny, affords a gratifying proof that sympathy for India's great want, Christianity, still lives in the hearts of Christians at home.

Besides the income received by the Parent Committee, there is a further sum which has been raised and expended in India, and in other Mission fields, amounting to upwards of 20,000*l.*

EXPENDITURE.

The expenditure of the year, including that of the Special India Fund, has exceeded that of last year by 8240*l.*: but as a large portion of this excess has been occasioned by the extension of the Indian Missions, when the due proportion of disbursements in India is placed to the account of the Special India Fund, according to the original intention of that fund (See Annual Report, 1858, p. 212), the balance upon the operations of the year stands thus—

|                            | £       | s. | d. |
|----------------------------|---------|----|----|
| Income of the year .....   | 124,800 | 0  | 4  |
| Expenditure of the year .. | 130,900 | 13 | 3  |
| Excess of expenditure .... | £6,100  | 12 | 11 |

The Committee had reckoned too hopefully upon receiving an income equal to that of last year, otherwise they would not have ventured upon so large an expenditure. This sum of 6100*l.* is supplied from the “working” Capital Fund; so that the Committee are this year unable to replace, as in former years, the full amount borrowed from that fund during the progress of the financial year. But as they regard themselves under a pledge to keep up the Capital Fund to the amount required, measures must be immediately adopted to secure a surplus income, by restricting the expenditure in the Missions, and by suspending the supply of fresh Missionaries—except in cases of actual vacancy—unless the deficiency of 6100*l.* be speedily supplied through the exertions of their friends.

The Committee would deeply deplore their financial difficulties if they could believe that they would prove any check to the Missions of the Society at the present crisis: but they trust that the review of the Missions, on which they are about to enter, will exhibit so powerful an appeal for increased support, as not only to relieve their anxieties, but to set the Lord’s work at liberty for a corresponding extension of the Missions.

ASSOCIATION ARRANGEMENTS.

As the income of the Society mainly depends upon the Associations, the Committee have directed their attention to the perfecting of the system for superintending and aiding that vital department of their work. They acknowledge the very valuable and self-sacrificing labours of their Collectors throughout the country. In relation to their exertions, the Committee have only to entreat the Treasurers and Secretaries of Associations, and their clerical supporters, to aid and encourage the Collectors by monthly, or at least quarterly, meetings, at which the collections may be duly received, information given, the publications circulated, and the work sanctified by the word of God and prayer. But the Committee think that enlarged resources may be obtained through the assistance of Honorary District Secretaries. With this view they propose a sub-division of counties into districts, of such moderate size that clergymen and laymen of influence may undertake to canvass their neighbours for support, and to arrange for meetings, sermons, and deputations. Such a sub-division of labour would greatly augment the efficiency of the Association Secretaries. Seven counties have already been so divided, and placed under the supervision of zealous and influential friends. The Committee earnestly desire to extend the system throughout the whole country.

NEW MISSION HOUSE.

The Committee have this year commenced the erection of a new Mission House. For many years past the business of the Society has suffered through the inadequacy of accommodation, and premises have from time to time been engaged adjoining the Mission House, till it has become necessary to erect a building, by which the whole business of the Society may be transacted under one roof. The Committee carefully estimated the extent of accommodation required for the due transaction of the business of the Society; and they have entered into a contract for providing that accommodation in a building of as plain and economical a character as the case will allow. The Committee do not propose to take the expense from the general fund of the Society; but to borrow from one of the special funds of the Society, by way of mortgage, under competent legal advice.

PATRONAGE.

The Bishops of Carlisle and Worcester have accepted the office of Vice-Presidents.

The Committee have also added to the list of Honorary Governors for life, "having rendered very essential services to the Society," the Rev. James Ivory Holmes, late Secretary of the Devon and Exeter Association; and Francis Witherby, Esq., who has for many years transacted the whole business of the Society, in the purchase and sale of public funds, gratuitously.

THE ISLINGTON INSTITUTION.

The following is the Report of the Principal for the last year—

It is impossible to review the history of the Institution during the past year without feelings of gratitude and praise. At no former period since the establishment of the College have the Students been so numerous: they have, with few exceptions, enjoyed uninterrupted bodily health, and the Missionary spirit, exhibited in various ways, has in almost every instance ratified the selection of the Committee, and given promise of much future usefulness in the active Mission field. The number of Students reported three years ago was twenty-two; the year following, twenty-eight; last year, thirty-four. There has been a further addition during the present year of six, making an average in residence for the past twelve months of forty. To God, who alone can incline the hearts of men, and fit them for His service, be all the glory. We have to lament at the present time a diminution of funds; but will He who has graciously raised up men suffer this diminution to continue? Having bestowed the greater blessing, will He not vouchsafe the less? "The life is more than meat, and the body than raiment."

The increase above referred to has not been occasioned by the adoption of a lower standard of qualification and attainment; but is owing partly to the fact, that candidates have presented themselves in larger numbers than heretofore, and partly, we may hope, to the growing conviction of the friends of Missions throughout the country, that, as the minister at home should be the highest style of Christian, so the Missionary abroad should be the highest style of minister; and that if that day is to be hastened when "from the rising of the sun even unto the going down of the same the name of the Lord shall be great amongst the Gentiles," we must not present to Him "the torn, and the lame, and the sick, as an offering." (Mal. 1.) Notwithstanding the increase in our numbers, the candidates accepted still bear a small proportion to those whom the Committee feel constrained, from a sense of duty, to decline.* Sixty-five students have resided in the Institution for a longer or shorter period during the past year. Several of these, after a term of probation, have either been declined by the Committee, or have (in one or two cases) voluntarily withdrawn from the Society. Fifty-five continue connected with us: of these, fourteen have left the Institution with a view to their various spheres of foreign labour; two are pursuing elementary studies elsewhere, preparatory to their rejoining the College; and the remaining thirty-nine are in residence at the present date.

In the Report of last year an attempt was made to analyze the several sources of Missionary supply, and to ascertain the various means and agencies through which candidates had been led to offer themselves to the Society. It may not be uninteresting to the Committee, on the present occasion, to be made acquainted with the result of inquiries which have been made in reference to the previous employments and spheres of life of those who have resided in the College during the past twelve months. The Scriptures furnish us with such particulars in the history of the Apostles, Evangelists, and their fellow-labourers in the primitive Church. The Saviour was pleased, both before and after his ascension, to call into his vineyard, and send forth as his ambassadors, men occupying various positions in life, and engaged in various employments and pursuits. The more humble classes, then as now, supplied by far the larger numbers, but the Divine selection was not limited to them. God is a Sovereign, and chooses whom He will for the accomplishment of His purposes. Peter, Andrew, James, and John, were fishermen; Matthew a publican; Luke a physician; Paul, not merely the learned Rabbi who sat at the feet of Gamaliel, but at the same time a tentmaker; Barnabas a Levite. We find amongst our Students a remarkable variety in this respect. Of the fifty-five above mentioned, there were—

Though there is this great variety in the previous circumstances and pursuits of the Students, it is satisfactory to have learned by experience, that no sooner has an accepted candidate entered the walls of the Institution, than he has found himself in a congenial atmosphere, and has been welcomed as a brother among brethren. A spirit of love, fostered by constant social prayer and united study of the Word of God, binds together the whole body: and rarely does a Student take leave of his companions without acknowledging that the days spent under the roof of the Institution have been amongst the best and happiest of his life. It is a gratifying circumstance, that amongst the Students included in the summary above given, there are several intimately connected with former friends and promoters of the Mission cause, and of our own Society in particular, whose names have long been revered, and will be held in everlasting remembrance. One Student is a great-grandson of the Commentator, Thomas Scott, for a short time the Secretary of the Society; the preacher of its first Anniversary Sermon; and, during some years, the trainer of its Missionaries in his retired parish of Aston Sandford. Another is the grandson of the venerable Josiah Pratt, the successor of Scott in the Secretariat, to whose judgment and other excellent qualities the Society owes, under God, in so large a degree, the remarkable measure of success which has been vouchsafed to its labours both at home and abroad. These great and good men would have rejoiced had they been permitted to foresee that children of the third and fourth generation would thus intimately be connected with a cause so near and dear to their hearts. Two other Students are sons of faithful and devoted labourers, who have long borne the burden and heat of the day in the service of this Society—Wolters, our Missionary for a quarter of a century in Smyrna; and Schaffter, who for thirty-five years has carried on his work in Tinnevely. Such instances forcibly remind us of the promise in the Psalmist: “The children of thy servants shall continue, and their seed shall be established before Thee.”

The importance of the Institution as a means of supplying suitable agents for the work of the Society is strikingly exhibited by the fact, that whilst our Universities have hitherto only yielded, during the past half century, eighty or ninety accepted candidates (about half of whom are still in the field), there have gone forth from the Society's College, during the thirty-six years it has existed, more than 280 labourers, 120 of whom are still permitted to carry on this blessed work amongst the heathen. The Reports of the Missions from year to year show how highly the Divine blessing has rested on the labours of these devoted men. May the present race of Students prove no unworthy successors—following them as they follow Christ. So long as the Lord of the vineyard is pleased to vouchsafe us candidates of the right spirit and character—men of genuine piety and unwearied zeal; of a loving and self-sacrificing spirit; of sound judgment and sanctified common-sense; together with such a measure of mental energy and aptitude as shall give promise of the acquirement, at no distant date, of a foreign language—we may not doubt that the Institution will be privileged to send forth those who will not only build on the foundation, and carry on the work of their predecessors; but also go forward to the “regions beyond,” and make known the name of the Saviour where hitherto it has never been heard.

The Committee will hear with satisfaction, that, owing in some measure to the increase of students, there has been a considerable diminution in the average expenditure. In the Report of last year it was stated that the average annual number of Students from the foundation of the Institute to that time had been twenty-two, whilst the average expenditure amounted to 129*l.* per annum. The average expenditure during the past year has been 107*l.* per Student, a reduction of 22*l.* each. Should our number continue to increase, there will, no doubt, be a corresponding diminution in the average cost of training.

The usual studies have been pursued with diligence, and, it is hoped, with as large a measure of success, as, considering the circumstances of the Students, can be expected. Most of those who join us have had few previous educational advantages; and in other instances, where a fair English training has been received, there is rarely ever the slightest acquaintance with Latin, Greek, or any foreign language. It is gratifying that, notwithstanding these difficulties, the candidates for holy orders have generally so acquitted themselves as to elicit the commendation of the Examinin Chaplain and Ordaining Bishop.

The evangelistic efforts of the Students continue to be carried on with zeal and earnestness. In addition to the stated services in the Irish courts, to which reference has been made in former Reports, a weekly prayer-meeting has been established, attended by an average of thirty or forty poor persons. The bargemen on the canal are addressed every Sunday afternoon. When the Students first commenced their efforts on behalf of this neglected class of men, scarcely one of them possessed a copy of the Scriptures. During the past year nearly 300 have been induced to purchase, at a reduced price, the New Testament; and many are found carefully reading the word when the Students pay their accustomed visits. Owing to the extensive building operations in Highbury, large bodies of brickmakers, bricklayers, and carpenters have been brought together; these have been regularly visited and addressed by the Students. A similar work has been carried on in the cattle-lairs and coal-yards. During the summer months, ten or twelve different open-air preaching stations were occupied on the Sunday evenings, under the direction of the Committee of the Islington Church Home Mission. By efforts such as these, the Missionary spirit is fostered, and much valuable experience gained by the Students, whilst, at the same time, an incalculable benefit is being conferred on hundreds, and even thousands, in the immediate neighbourhood of the Institution.

In closing this Report, the Principal desires to express his sense of the invaluable services of the Vice-Principal and Tutor, whose labours and energies are unceasingly devoted to the best interests of the Students; and who, by their ready and kind co-operation, have greatly assisted and relieved him in his onerous and most responsible duties.

MISSIONARY'S CHILDREN'S HOME.

The number of children in the "Home" on the 31st of March 1861, was thirty-four boys and thirty-five girls; total, sixty-nine. The health of the children, and their progress in their studies, have been satisfactory.

ORDINATION OF MISSIONARIES.

Twenty-three of the Society's Candidates have been admitted to holy orders during the past year—ten by the Archbishop of Canterbury, one by the Bishop of Mauritius in London, acting under the commission of the Bishop of London; one European, and three Native Catechists have been ordained by the Bishop of Sierra Leone; one Native Catechist by the Bishop of Madras; one Native Catechist by the Bishop of Colombo; two Native Catechists by the Bishop of New Zealand, and one European and one Native Catechist by the Bishop of Waiapu; one European and one country-born Catechist by the Bishop of Rupert's Land.

DEPARTURE OF MISSIONARIES FOR THEIR STATIONS.

The several Missions have been strengthened during the year by additional labourers, as follows—

West Africa Mission—The Rev. Michael S. Jackson, from the Islington Institution, and Miss A. Freymuth, left Liverpool on the 24th of November, for Sierra Leone, and arrived there on the 11th of December 1860. Mr. Henry Charles Binns, from the Islington Institution, embarked at Liverpool on the 24th of January for Sierra Leone, and arrived there in February 1861.

Yoruba Mission—The Rev. G. F. Bühler returning to Africa, and Mrs. Bühler, embarked at Liverpool on the 24th of October for Lagos, and arrived there on the 22d of November 1860. The Rev. Jonathan Buckley Wood, returning to Africa, Mr. Valentine Faulkner, and Mr. Thomas Wilcoxon, left Liverpool on the 24th of November for Lagos. Messrs. Wood and Faulkner arrived there on the 22d of December 1860; and Mr. Wilcoxon having remained a short time at Madeira, arrived there on the 24th of January 1861. Arthur A. Harrison, Esq., M.B., Trinity College, Cambridge, and Mrs. Harrison, embarked at Liverpool on the 24th of January for Lagos, and arrived there on the 18th of March 1861.

Mediterranean Mission—The Rev. Theodore Frederick Wolters, from the Islington Institution, left London in November for Smyrna, and arrived there on the 2d of December 1860.

Western India Mission—The Rev. Trenham K. Weatherhead, B.A. St. John's College, Cambridge, left Southampton on the 12th of October for Bombay, and arrived there on the 14th of November, 1860.

North-India Mission—The Rev. Joseph Bishop Wheeler, from the Islington Institution, Mrs. Wheeler, and Mr. William Sandys, a Burmese, and a student of Islington, embarked at Gravesend in October for Calcutta, and arrived there on the 10th of February 1861. The Rev. Robert Braithwaite Batty, M.A. late Fellow and Tutor of Emmanuel College, Cambridge, and Mrs. Batty, left Southampton on the 4th of October for Calcutta, and arrived there on the 20th of November 1860. The Rev. John Barton, B.A. of Christ's College, Cambridge left Southampton on the 20th October for Calcutta, and arrived there on the 29th of December 1860. The Rev. Edward L. Puxley left Southampton on the 20th of November for Calcutta, and arrived there on the 29th of December 1860. The Rev. J. A. L. A. Stern, returning to India, with Mrs. Stern, left London on the 1st of December 1860, for Marseilles, and arrived in Calcutta on the 10th of February 1861. The Rev. Charles B. Leupolt and Mrs. Leupolt, and Mrs. Fuchs, returning to India, with the Rev. John Mortlock Brown, B.A. St. Edmund's Hall, Oxford, Mr. G. H. Weber, Mr. J. Treusch, and Miss Annie Sherwood, embarked at Southampton on the 4th of December for Calcutta, and arrived there on the 10 of January 1861. The Rev. Christian T. Hoernle and Mrs. Hoernle, returning to India, and the Rev. Joseph Welland, B.A. of Trinity College, Dublin, embarked at Southampton on the 20th of December 1860 for Calcutta, and arrived there in January 1861.

South-India Mission—The Rev. R. R. Meadows, returning to India, Mrs. Meadows, and Miss Meredith, also returning to India, embarked at Gravesend on the 12th of June for Madras, and arrived there on the 16th of September 1860. The Rev. Walter John Edmonds and the Rev. William Ellington, both from the Islington Institution, and Mrs. Edmonds and Mrs. Ellington, embarked at Gravesend on the 11th of July for Madras, and arrived there on the 27th of September 1860. The Rev. Nigel Honiss and the Rev. Jonathan B. Simmons, from the Islington Institution, with Mrs. Honiss and Mrs. Simmons, left Gravesend on the 4th of October 1860 for Madras, and arrived there on the 14th of January 1861. The Rev. John Martindale Speechly, B.A. St. John's College, Cambridge, left Southampton on the 20th of November for Madras, and arrived there on the 25th of December 1860.

Ceylon Mission—Mr. Stephen Coles, from the Training College, Highbury, and Mrs. Coles, sailed from Southampton on the 20th of May 1860, for Ceylon, and arrived there on the 19th of June. The Rev. Robert Burchall Tonge, M.A., from the London University, and Mrs. Tonge, embarked at Southampton on the 4th of November for Ceylon, and arrived at Galle on the 6th of December 1860. The Rev. G. Parsons and Mrs. Parsons, returning to Ceylon, left Southampton on the 20th of February, and arrived on the 22d of March 1861. The Rev. Josiah Herbert Clowes, from the Islington Institution, and Mrs. Clowes, embarked at Southampton on the 20th of March for Ceylon.

New Zealand Mission—The Rev. Basil Kirke Taylor, B.A. Queen's College, Cambridge, embarked at Gravesend on the 2d of May for New Zealand, and arrived there in October 1860. The Rev. John Wycliffe Gedge, B.A. Trinity College, Cambridge, and Mrs. Gedge, embarked at Gravesend in July for Wellington, New Zealand, and arrived at his Station, Otaki, on the 5th of December 1860.

China Mission—The Rev. Arthur Evans Moule, from the Islington Institution, and Mrs. Moule, embarked at Gravesend on the 22d of April 1860 for Ningpo.

North-West-America Mission—The Rev. Lewin Street Tugwell, from the Islington Institution, and Mrs. Tugwell, left Southampton on the 16th of June for America, en route for Fort Simpson, on the Pacific, and arrived there on the 21st of August 1860.

DECEASE OF MISSIONARIES.

The following Missionaries have been removed from their labours by death during the past year—

West-Africa Mission—The Rev. J. Stephen Wiltshire, Country-born, died at Freetown on the 7th of October, after a few days' illness. The Rev. Henry Rhodes died at Brompton on the 14th of November, after a lingering illness, having laboured as a Missionary for nineteen years.

Yoruba Mission—Mrs. Bühler, wife of the Rev. G. F. Bühler, died at Abe on the 4th of January last, after a short illness.

North-India Mission—Mrs. Davis, wife of the Rev. B. Davis, died at Benares on the 10th of September, of fever.

South India Mission—The Rev. Paul Daniel, a Native, died at Satthankulam, Palamcotta, on the 23d of November, of cholera.

Ceylon Mission—The Rev. Henry Whitley, M.A., died at Colombo on the 10th of November, by the falling of a wall in the compound, which buried him in its ruins.

China Mission—Mrs. Gough, wife of the Rev. F. F. Gough, died in London on the 15th of February last, four days after her arrival from China.

RETURN HOME OF MISSIONARIES.

West-Africa Mission—The Rev. C. R. Caiger and Mr. L.

Nicholson left Sierra Leone on the 21st of February, and arrived in London on the 15th of March 1861.

Yoruba Mission—Mr. George Meakin left Lagos on the 10th of October, and arrived at Liverpool on the 12th of December 1860. Rev. H. Townsend and Mrs. Townsend left Lagos on the 10th of March, and arrived in London on the 9th of April 1861.

Niger Mission—Mr. J. H. Ashcroft arrived at Liverpool Jan. 11th, 1861.

Western-India Mission—The Rev. A. Matchett left Bombay on the 12th of October, and arrived in London on the 9th of November 1860. The Rev. W. S. Price and Mrs. Price left Bombay on the 27th of December 1860, and arrived in London on the 28th of January 1861.

North-India Mission—The Rev. James Leighton and Mrs. Leighton left Calcutta on the 1st of February, and arrived at Gravesend on the 4th of June 1860. The Rev. Henry Stern left Gorruckpore on the 21st of May, and arrived at Baden, Germany, on the 28th of July 1860. The Rev. T. H. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Fitzpatrick left Moultan on the 21st of September, and arrived in London on the 9th of November 1860. The Rev. T. E. Hallett, and the Rev. S. Attlee, and Mrs. Attlee, left Calcutta on the 23rd of December 1860, and arrived in London on the 28th of January 1861.

South-India Mission—The Rev. H. Baker, Jun., and Mrs. Baker left Madras on the 22d of June, and arrived at Southampton on the 10th of August 1860. The Rev. T. Foulkes left Madras on the 13th of November, and arrived in London on the 15th of December 1860.

China Mission—The Rev. F. F. Gough and Mrs. Gough arrived in London from China on the 11th of February 1861.

North-West-America Mission—The Rev. T. H. Fleming left Moose on the 9th of September, and arrived in London on the 19th of October 1860.

NUMBER OF MISSIONARY LABOURERS.

Of the European Missionaries reported last year, two have died; eight European Missionaries and eight unordained labourers have been removed from the list, partly on account of ill health, and partly from other causes. Twenty-two ordained European Missionaries and eight unordained labourers have been sent forth from home during the year. Three European labourers have also been admitted to holy orders in the

Abroad—

|                                     |        |
|-------------------------------------|--------|
| Ordained European Missionaries..... | 170    |
| Unordained European labourers ..... | 30     |
| European Female Teachers .....      | 12—212 |

At Home—

|                                      |       |
|--------------------------------------|-------|
| Ordained European Missionaries.. ... | 22    |
| Unordained European labourers!.....  | 2     |
| European Female Teachers .....       | 1—25  |
| Total....                            | 237   |

This statement shows an increase of thirteen ordained European Missionaries, a decrease of four unordained European labourers, and an increase of two European Female Teachers, being an increase upon the whole of eleven Missionary labourers.

The number of ordained Native and Country-born labourers is sixty-six, being seven more than last year.

MISSIONS.

WEST-AFRICA MISSION.

(The date annexed to each name is that of the first departure to the Mission.)

Rev. Charles Reichardt, 1852.
 Rev. James Hamilton (m), 1857.
 Rev. George R. Caiger (m), 1857 : at home.
 Rev. Alfred Menzies (m), 1858.
 Rev. Charles Henry Brierly, 1859.
 Rev. Michael S. Jackson, 1860.
 Mr. Henry Bockstadt, 1857 : Schoolmaster
 Mr. Charles Knodler, 1857 : Ditto.
 Mr. Thomas Oldham, 1859.
 Mr. Henry Charles Binns, 1861.
 Mrs. Clemens, 1843.
 Mrs. Beale, 1846.
 Miss M. Sophia Hehlen, 1846.
 Miss Julia E. Sass, 1848 : at home.
 Miss M. R. Bywater, 1858.
 Miss Eliza König, 1858.
 Miss Annie Freymuth, 1860.

Bishop Beckles.*

The European establishment of this Mission has been reduced during the last year by removing from the list the names of two Missionaries, Messrs. Schlenker and Schmid, the one after twenty-six and the other after twenty-one years of zealous labour : each was ready to have returned to Africa but for the interposition of medical opinions that a return was out of question. The Rev. Henry Rhodes, after twenty years' labour in Africa, came home in an advanced stage of pulmonary disease, and entered into his eternal rest about twelve months after his return. The Rev. Samuel Black's constitution has also been judged unsuitable for a tropical climate, and his name therefore has been removed from the list. In the place of these four experienced Missionaries, the Committee have only been able to send out one young clergyman, and an European Catechist, and to allow of the employment in that Mission of two European catechists, Messrs. Oldham and Brierly, who were detained in Sierra Leone on their way to the Niger Mission. The pastoral duties have been, however, mainly discharged by a body of well-trained native ministers and catechists.

It is pleasing to notice how the memory of the early Missionaries who laboured in the colony is cherished, not only by the people, but by the younger generation of native ministers who now occupy the posts formerly filled by Europeans. Thus the native minister at Gloucester writes—

The encouraging circumstances of this village are, no doubt, the genuine fruits of the exertions of the Rev. J. Warburton, whose memory is quite fresh in the recollections of the people, and whose name is ever in their mouths, and of the other zealous men who for many years laboured here. We are only reaping the fruits of their labours. "Other men have laboured, and we have entered into their labours." We are not, however, without our discouragements. In a place like this, where all are professed Christians, and where habit has made attendance at the Lord's house, and upon other means of grace, a matter of course, there is great danger of resting in nominal Christianity ; and often we see sad instances of it, even in some of those whom we had regarded as our best members.

At the close of the year Dr. Beckles, the Bishop of Sierra Leone, arrived in the Colony. He has entered immediately upon the important work of organizing the native church upon the principles of self-support ; so that the Committee look forward to an early relief from the responsibility of Colonial pastoral cares, which they have so long maintained. The Society will only undertake to provide for superior educational establishments, and to maintain a Mission church in Freetown. All further responsibility the Committee hope to devolve upon the Bishop of Sierra Leone and the native pastorate.

The Missionary Aspect of the Native Church.

The present Report, as that of last year, will omit all details of pastoral work within the Colony, and direct its remarks to the Missionary aspect of the native church; only recording, with much satisfaction, that the Missionaries report a manifest improvement in the various congregations of the Colony, in the number of communicants, and the attendance upon the means of grace. And they trace this improvement to the prayer-meetings which were commenced in the first week in 1860, and have been kept up ever since. "The second week in January," writes one of the native ministers, "was observed amongst us as a season of prayer, before day-break daily, from three to five in the morning, throughout the week: the church was crowded at that early hour."

In each of the stations means are employed to bring into the church of Christ the heathen who remain within the colony, or who have been recently imported as liberated slaves. Mr. Caiger reports of a part of Pademba-Road District, called Brookfield—

This is indeed the heathen portion of my district, and, through the kindness of Christian friends in England, we have been able to continue our efforts there, by engaging a visitor, whose sphere is almost entirely confined to the heathen. Through the same kind help we have also been permitted to rebuild and enlarge the church, which we have named Bond Church, after the lady who has so materially assisted in its erection. It was a time of rejoicing when we were able to re-open it for divine service, on Sunday, March 18th, when it was filled to overflowing. On the following Thursday, Missionary scenes were exhibited, when the impression was left on our minds that we should have again to enlarge the building.

After examining some candidates for baptism, I felt justified in admitting five into the visible church. Two of these cases were extremely interesting, one having been educated by the great Missionary, Johnson, at Regent; but not until now, in his old age, has Christian teaching brought forth in him fruits meet for repentance. In this instance, as in many others, "One soweth and another reapeth." He hath since been received as full member of our church. Generally our candidates are detained much longer on probation; but I had no power to keep back one from the Lord's Supper who appeared so sincerely anxious to show his love to the Saviour. The other case is that of an old man, who gave me his greegree on my first visit to him, more than two years since. He has lately endured much persecution from his heathen neighbours and former friends, who have deprived him of his little all, which renders him entirely dependent on Christian charity for support.

Another new and interesting branch of Missionary labour has been commenced among Kroomen. The members of this tribe are chiefly employed throughout the whole west coast of Africa as seamen in European vessels, and especially as boatmen at the mouths of the rivers. They are a bold and strong race, and keep themselves separate from all other tribes. They come from the Kroo country, near Cape Palmas, and have "Kroo towns" at most of the places on the coast visited by European ships, where they reside for a season; but they never bring their wives to these towns, and therefore do not settle down amongst the rest of the inhabitants. Hitherto Krootown, Sierra Leone, though situated in Freetown, in the vicinity of the Grammar school, and of Pademba-Road Church, has been untouched by Christian efforts. During the last year, however, such efforts have been put forth with some success, which are thus reported by Mr. Caiger in his half-yearly Report (September 30, 1860)—

Some three or four of our church members have given me much encouragement, in that they have commenced and sustained a Mission to the Kroo people in this neighbourhood, a race who have hitherto resisted every effort made to bring them to the knowledge of the truth. The work was commenced by them after the rains of 1859, and now we have in Krootown a tolerably steady and attentive congregation of between forty and fifty Kroo people. The Finance Committee kindly granted me the assistance of a converted and earnest Krooman, lately come to the colony, to help in this work: he lives with us, and goes every morning and evening amongst his country-people as a Christian visitor, while the remainder of his time is occupied with instruction in reading, writing, &c. There is a simple service held among this people, both on Sunday and Thursday evenings. We have no church as yet for them, and are therefore dependent on the kindness of one of their chief men, who gives us the use of a large room. There is a little improvement with regard to the morality of this district. During the first year I have married four Kroomen, which is a most unusual thing with them, and these have all been from the number attending the services. We reaped the first-fruits of this effort on Sunday, 23d September. We had public baptisms of infants and adults at Pademba-Road Church, when one Krooman, having been some time under instruction, was baptized, and also a child of one of their chief men, who had given him to us to bring up in what he calls "white man's religion." This I attribute to the influence which our late fellow-helper, Mr. Milward, exercised over them; for it was in the house of this chief that he was accustomed to meet and teach as many Kroomen as it could possibly contain, till death put an end to his labours.

The religious services in the Colony have from its first days been performed in the English language, as the variety of native languages has induced the inhabitants to adopt English as their ordinary medium of communication. But regarding Sierra Leone as a basis for the Yoruba Mission, and for other Missions in the interior of Africa, it becomes important to keep up in Sierra Leone some of the leading Missionary languages of Africa, in the hope that suitable native teachers may be prepared, in the educational establishments of Sierra Leone, for employment in their fatherland. With this view a service in Yoruba is kept up in Kissy by Isaac Spencer, a catechist. It takes place immediately after the morning service, and is well attended. The average number is from 100 to 150. "The Yoruba people seem to take a great delight in this service, as the most ignorant can understand the word of God in their own language."

The native minister of Murray-town thus describes the effect of a sermon in the Yoruba language to the people of that tribe in his congregation—

Mr. Spencer, the Yoruba catechist, came over from Kissy, and gave a most touching address from Heb. ix. 27—"It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment." The people were very attentive. The words came home. It is now five months since, yet the address is as fresh in their memories as if it had been delivered yesterday.

The following narrative occurs in the journal of the Rev. George Nicol—

On Trinity Sunday the Rev. Mr. Taylor, according to arrangement, came up to Regent, and conducted an entire service, and administered the Holy Communion in Ibo. It was proposed several weeks before that there should be a large gathering of as many Ibos as could be conveniently called together for the purpose of hearing in their own language the wonderful works of God. The majority of my people at Regent, be it observed, are of the Ibo tribe. The proposal was warmly seconded by the leading men of my congregation, and on Trinity Sunday many Ibos from the surrounding villages, and even Freetown, had congregated in the parish, and the spacious church was full to overflowing. The morning service was conducted in English. Mr. Taylor read the prayers, and I preached from Isa. xlv. 22. I alluded to the importance of the occasion which had especially called us together. The Sacrament was, for the first time in the history of this colony, to be administered in their own language. God had indeed done great things for us, whereof we ought to be glad. Many devoted Missionaries, as Johnson and Butscher—many influential Ibos, as Langley, Wilhelm, and Jenkins—desired and longed to see the day, but died without the sight. Nearly 400 communicants presented themselves before the Holy Table. Mr. Taylor, in a very impressive manner, delivered the bread and cup in Ibo, and I followed in English. It was a solemn season, and was made a blessing to many a soul. The afternoon service was conducted entirely in Ibo. Many were melted to tears; and at the close of the service one and another said to me, “We are without excuse: we have heard the word of God read and preached in our own language. Johnson told us we should see this day.” On Monday we had a large Ibo Missionary Meeting, when Mr. Taylor interested his hearers by giving them a detailed account of the Lord’s work at Onitsha. I have great pleasure in stating that Regent church has two Christian teachers labouring in heathen lands—John Smart at Onitsha, and Henry Green at Ibadan, in the Yoruba country. We thank God for this.

Education.

The Fourah-Bay Institution is still in abeyance. Three theological pupils are under the charge of Mr. Jones; but the Committee wait till the organization of the native church has further advanced, before they decide upon the plan on which it will be desirable to re-open it.

The Grammar School has remained for another year under the sole charge of the native tutor, Mr. Quaker. The following extracts from his half-yearly Reports will show the spirit in which he carries on the Institution—

March 31, 1860—During the past six months our pupils increased from sixty to the unprecedented number of eighty. However, from some uncontrollable circumstances, such as the death of parents, return to Europe, &c., we have also sustained the loss of twelve during the same period; leaving, in consequence, a total of sixty-eight pupils at present on the list ; of whom, including six liberated boys, forty-one are boarders.

In order to lead the elder pupils to take a more decided step in the path of religion, a weekly prayer-meeting for an hour has been established, conducted by themselves alternately. The conductor gives an address. Judging from its present state, should the meeting be continued, I believe, under the divine blessing, it will be productive of much good.

Our Juvenile Missionary Meeting has not been altogether neglected ; nearly two pounds have been raised, as an additional sum to the 28*l.* long set apart for the erection of Peyton chapel, at Abbeokuta.

Sept. 30—It is very gratifying to state that the school has kept up its number of pupils : the daily attendance of the pupils is good, and the general progress in their studies as satisfactory as one could reasonably expect, considering my present state of health.

To the great Owner of the work I would therefore render my humble thanks. During the six months, eleven pupils have left the school, five of whom were sent out in the capacity of schoolmasters, and one dismissed for dishonesty. During the same period eleven have been admitted : consequently our present number is sixty-eight, as in the last Report.

The Female Institution was placed, upon the return of Miss Sass to Europe for the recovery of her health, under the charge of Miss Koenig, a valuable assistant to Mrs. Clemens, Miss Bywater continuing her aid. The school contains thirty-three pupils, some of whom come from Lagos, and others from the Timneh country : so that, like the Grammar school, its influence is extending beyond the sphere of the colony. The conduct of pupils during the last year has been, on the whole, satisfactory. They study the usual branches of the education given in middle-class schools of this country, and the quarterly payments of the pupils defray all the expenses of the school beyond the salaries of the European teachers.

The Liberated-African School at Kissy receives and educates the slave children who are brought into the colony and liberated : the Government paying the expenses of their food and clothing. The establishment is under the care of Messrs. Bockstatt and Knödler, who have met with much to discourage them in their work ; yet the Lord has also cheered them by tokens of his blessing. One source of anxiety has been the insubordination and thievish propensities of some of the pupils, and their resort to the magistrates for protection against the correction administered for their faults. The conductors of the school have, however, been fully supported by the authorities, the Governor personally admonishing the boys to obedience. This has had a salutary effect: the school has since been in good working order, and many of the pupils are trying to redeem their character. The Report for March 31, 1860, says—

In consequence of the war which was carried on in the neighbouring countries, and by which many slaves were made, the number of our boys was considerably increased. There were lately 218 boys in the school, but as there was not sufficient room for so many, we had to send thirty of them to Gloucester. The boys attend the school more regularly this year than they could do last year. They are now divided into four classes, of which every fourth day one class has to perform manual labour, while the three other classes are at school. Their manual labour consists at present chiefly in brickmaking, in which they are instructed by Mr. Oberley, who was sent here from Magbeli.

Some of the boys are very fond of their books, and most of them show a good will to please us. But what more especially gives us hope, and encourages us in the work, is, that there are also some boys who seem to ask us, "What must we do to be saved?"

The Charlotte Liberated-African School receives the liberated girls and infants. Mrs. Clemens still nobly devotes herself to this large establishment, which contains 144 children. Her only assistant has been a Swiss female servant who understands farming. The progress of the children in learning has been satisfactory, and the general state of the school is encouraging. The occasional accession of thirty or forty heathen children, just liberated from slavery, checks for a time the Christian progress of the whole school. "But," writes Mr. Clemens, "the application of the word of God in the daily family devotions and in Bible classes, I always find the most effective means to subdue and soften the wildest subjects just brought in from the most degraded heathen state, while it brings with it a blessing to the elder children, who thereby warn and exhort the rest out of my large class of girls under regular instruction for baptism. I trust I can soon recommend some as ready for the holy rite. Many have repeatedly come to beg for it with tears. Oh, may they be taught from above, and be made a blessing unto others. When I review all that our gracious God has done, and continues to do daily on this 'his plantation,' I am constrained to bless and praise his goodness, and to take courage. The Industrial employments have been very successful. The greater part of the provisions for the establishment are raised on the farm. "All the children, without exception, have, according to their age and strength, their regular part in domestic work—gardening and washing before and after school. I have no servant except a messenger. To work from time to time in our farm is the children's greatest pleasure; and whilst so employed they fill mountain and valley with their hearty singing, of which they seem never tired. The cattle, notwithstanding the occasional slaughterings for feast-days, are increasing, so that we have now seven cows, twenty goats, and six pigs."

Visit of Prince Alfred to Sierra Leone.

On the 10th of October 1860, H.R.H. Prince Alfred landed at Freetown for a few hours. Among other addresses, one was presented from twenty-three gentlemen representing the liberated Africans of the colony and their descendants, which deserves to be recorded as a pleasing evidence of the gratitude of the native colonists towards the British nation.

May it please your Royal Highness,—We come before you to express our deep sense of the high honour conferred upon us by this visit of your Royal Highness to our shores, to profess thus publicly our hearty devotion and loyalty to Her Most Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria, and to declare our thankful acknowledgments for the many privileges and great blessings we have received at the hands of the Government and people of Great Britain.

Your Royal Highness sees before you the representatives of more than a hundred different tribes of the down-trodden children of Africa, once destined, through the avarice of man, to a life of hopeless servitude; but now, by the good providence of our God, and the noble and benevolent exertions of the British Government and people, we stand redeemed,—regenerated by the mighty spirit of liberty.

In the name, then, of the liberated-African population of this colony, we would confidently assure your Royal Highness of our unfeigned attachment to your august mother, our gracious Queen, of our earnest prayers for the prosperity of the Royal Family, and of our unceasing gratitude to the people of Great Britain. Within the vast dominions of England your Royal Highness will look in vain for causes similar to those which "grapple, with hooks of steel," our impregnable loyalty to the throne and constitution of Great Britain.

We would not sadden this auspicious occasion by reciting a catalogue of the deep wrongs which the hydra slavery has inflicted upon our county; yet we cannot refrain from pointing your Royal Highness to the thousands of free men who hail with acclamations of delight your advent among us. Think of them hunted, beaten, branded, degraded below the beasts of the field by a slavery ending but with death. Compare that picture with this which presents itself to the contemplation of your Royal Highness to-day. Behold a population whose very bearing proclaims their freedom to the world, surrounded with all the elements of an advancing civilization, enjoying a widely-spreading Christianity, dwelling beneath their own humble roofs, under their own vine and fig-tree, conscious that not all the powers of earth can take from them their lately-found, but highly-prized liberty.

Our hearts beat high with hope that the impressions which the mind of your Royal Highness shall have received during your present visit, will convince you that England has not laboured for the amelioration of our race in vain. She has scattered untold happiness over thousands of families; saved hundreds who in their despair would have met the fate of the suicide or the murderer; planted the standard of a pure and holy religion on our coast; gathered us with a mother's care beneath her protecting wings; and now the loud trump of fame proclaims her glory and honour throughout the vast interior of Africa.

May the precious blood, the vast treasure lavished on this continent by Great Britain, serve to stimulate her to sustained and vigorous action in the glorious cause of freedom. May she never sheathe her righteous sword until the slave-trade—that foul blot on the civilization of the nineteenth century—be purged from out the world; till civil and religious liberty reign triumphant from pole to pole!

We bid your Royal Highness thrice happy welcome to our shores. Long may you live to adorn the glorious profession you have adopted, to be the pride of the British nation, and a blessing to your illustrious parents. That Heaven may rain down every gift which promotes temporal prosperity, or secures immortal felicity, on you and every member of your august family, will be for ever our earnest prayer.

God save the Queen—long to reign over us in peace and prosperity; in the enjoyment of an overflowing measure of loyal devotion from all her subjects; long to defend our holy and unspotted faith, to expand that benevolence for which she is characterized, and to prepare the way for that universal brotherhood which we believe will one day overshadow the whole earth.

To this address the Prince then replied—

GENTLEMEN,—I have received your address on behalf of the liberated Africans and their descendants here with great pleasure, and thank you for your many expressions of devotion and loyalty towards the Queen, and for your prayers for the prosperity of the Royal Family.

Your sentiments of gratitude towards the people of Great Britain shall be made known to Her Majesty by me, and I am sure that no one will rejoice more than the Queen in receiving this assurance from yourselves of your own happiness. That it may long remain undisturbed is my earnest wish, and that the people of Africa may continue to derive the blessings of Christianity and freedom is the hope of the British nation. I thank you for the welcome which you have given me, and for the kind wishes which you have expressed for my welfare.

Trials of the Yoruba Mission.

THE last year in this Mission has been a trying period. In the early part of 1860, Abbeokuta was threatened by a Dahomian invasion, and the thoughts of the people were occupied in preparing for self-defence. No sooner had this apprehension subsided, by the roads becoming impassable for an army, than a still more calamitous event occurred: civil war broke out between Ibadan and Abbeokuta. Ibadan having sent an army against Ijaye to support the authority of the Yoruba king, Abbeokuta thought itself compelled to assist Ijaye by its army. Thus the three most important stations of the Society became involved in the horrors of internecine war. All trade was stopped; many farms ruined; vast numbers have perished by the sword and by famine; and the progress of the Gospel of peace has been greatly impeded. The distress at Ijaye, which has been the seat of war, has been most lamentable. Children have been sold into slavery because there was no food for their support. A considerable number have been saved from this miserable fate by the charity of the Europeans and Christians, who have raised a subscription in Abbeokuta and Lagos for supporting them in those towns. There is, however, one source of consolation, in the fact that the Missionaries themselves have been respected, and their presence has mitigated severities which would otherwise have far exceeded their present limit, and either preserved their more immediate dependants from the dangers incident to their position, or prevailed to secure their release when taken captive.

The Committee are thankful to be able to report some increase in the native church at Lagos and Abbeokuta, notwithstanding these adverse circumstances.

LAGOS.

The station at Lagos has continued under the charge of Mr. Maser, assisted by two native clergymen, the Rev. T. B. Macaulay and the Rev. W. Morgan.

The Rev. G. Bühler returned to Africa in November last. He gives this general view of the progress which had been made in Lagos since he had charge of it a few years ago—

Nov. 29, 1860—Many of our friends and church-people came to salute us, expressing their joy and happiness to see me back again in good health, with Mrs. Bühler. I was much cheered by seeing so many new faces among the converts. A considerable number of candidates for baptism, and the number of Europeans who attended Divine service on Sunday, is a clear proof that the agents of the Society have not been idle during the last year. The Lord has mercifully crowned their efforts with considerable success.

Lagos has, in its outward appearance, improved. More Europeans are here than last year, and, amongst them, very respectable men. Nice clean houses, warehouses with iron roofs, and better roads, have attracted my attention.

Mr. Maser states in his annual letter—

It is with thankfulness of heart that I perceive, from the returns of the past year, that the number of our people is increasing. We have a larger number of candidates for baptism than ever before, they being now sixty: the number of adult baptisms last year was twenty-seven.

The native minister, the Rev. William Morgan, has been much encouraged at his station in Lagos by the liberality of one of his congregation, who is not baptized on account of his having a plurality of wives, but yet he has spent more than 40% in repairing the church.

The Rev. T. B. Macaulay has charge of the Breadfruit Chapel, in which a congregation of 400 assemble for divine worship.

Education.

The Grammar school is under the instruction and superintendence of Mr. Macaulay, who received a part of his education at the Society's College at Islington. It contained, at the end of the year, twenty-six pupils, each paying one guinea a quarter, so that the school is self-supporting. The subjects of instruction are, the Holy Scriptures, English grammar and composition, geography, arithmetic, the elements of algebra, the first book of Euclid, Latin and Greek. The Institution is peculiarly interesting, inasmuch as these young men are to be the future native merchants, and probably the magistrates, of the rising seaport of Lagos. The Report of the Institution at Midsummer 1860 contains the following remark—

I trust I can say with truth that I have always endeavoured to exercise a spiritual influence over the pupils, impressing upon them the paramount importance of making a decided Christian profession, and of leading a virtuous and godly life; assuring them that all our attainments are nothing worth unless sanctified by the Spirit and Word of God. I trust I shall always have the advantage of the prayers of my old friends in England on my behalf.

Badagry.

Mr. Samuel Pearse, a native catechist, has been in charge of this station, which is occasionally visited by Mr. Maser. A few baptisms have taken place, and at the close of the year Mr. Pearse hopes that things are wearing an improved aspect. Two occurrences have given encouragement. The Europeans and native merchants of the place have entered into a written agreement to abstain from all trade on the Lord's-day, under a heavy fine of 250 dollars, to be levied by the chiefs for their own benefit. The agreement was registered and stamped at the British Consulate at Lagos, to give it validity. After this observance of the Lord's-day had been secured, a request was made to Mr. Pearse to hold one service on that day in English, for the benefit of several Europeans and the Sierra-

Leone people. The attendance at this service amounted to one hundred. Two Yoruba services are also held on the Sunday, and one in the week. Mr. Pearse writes—

Upon the whole, I am thankful, in the midst of discouragements, to find that the Lord has enabled us to stand. Although we have been disappointed in the Popoes, yet there seems to be open before us another field of labour, namely, the emigrants from Brazil particularly, and other tribes residing here.

It is interesting to observe how the events in the church at home have an influence upon the progress of truth, even to the most remote and obscure limits of the church abroad. The following notice occurs in the journal of Mr. Pearse, a native catechist labouring amongst the native tribes at a trading post on the coast of Africa—

June 27, 1860—Conversing with S—, an aged subject and a chief drummer of the King of Lagos, who expressed some doubt about the Christian religion, whether all that we affirm and urge the people to believe and receive are facts superior to the frauds used in heathenism. I merely read to him from the “Record” for May 2, 1860, a note* which was read in the course of the Anniversary Meeting of the 1st May last, and left him to compare the spirit of that note with what is daily seen in heathenism. He paused awhile, widely opening his mouth, greatly amazed, repeated the amount of the sum contributed by that friend, observed that he asked not to make mention of his name, and took notice of the text with which a part of that sum should be accompanied. He said, “This exceeds all I have heard: the spirit shown in all our worship is to receive and accumulate, and not to give way: there must be some inducement, some mighty truth, of which little is known among us. I shall know what to do before long. Ah! Egberun oke, owo funfun (i.e. 1000*l.* white-hard money): therefore God bless the Oyiubo so wonderfully.”

* The note was from an old and well-known friend of the Society, who wished his name not to be mentioned. He says—“I have seen the correspondence which took place some time since relative to the contributing to the fund to be formed with particular reference to sending the Gospel to Japan. It does not seem that the prospect of that collection is at present very encouraging, and I do not wish longer to delay my contribution. I therefore enclose a cheque for 1000*l.*; 750*l.* of it to be entered with this text—‘The night cometh when no man can work;’ expressing my desire, that if any effort is shortly to be made with regard to Japan, some portion of this donation may be appropriated to this cause.” The friend died suddenly within three weeks of the date of his note.

This out-station, which comprises seventy native Christians, of whom thirty-one are communicants, is under the pastoral care of the native minister, the Rev. J. White, who reports a regular attendance upon the means of grace, and a favourable feeling towards Christianity on the part of some of the leading men of the town, both heathen and Mohammedan. But during the last year there has been no marked progress in the native church.

An impediment to the reception of the Gospel exists at this place, which is not commonly experienced in the Yoruba Mission, from the opposition of the women, who are more bigoted than the men to their country's idolatry, and who often withhold their husbands from publicly professing the truth which they have embraced in their hearts.

Ikorodu.

This out-station, Ikorodu, has been involved in the war between Ibadan and Abbeokuta, and has therefore been only occasionally occupied by a native teacher during the last year.

ABBEOKUTA.

The Rev. Messrs. Townsend and Gollmer, and the native minister, the Rev. Thomas King, with the assistance of Mr. Roper, an European catechist, have carried on the work at the four districts into which the town is divided. The Rev. Messrs. Bühler and Wood, and the European catechists, Messrs. Faulkner and Wilcoxon, joined the station at the close of the year. An important addition has also been made to the Missionary staff, by the accession, at the beginning of the present year, of a medical Missionary, Dr. A. A. Harrison, M.B. of Trinity College, Cambridge, who was for a short time in South Africa. He will make Abbeokuta his head-quarters, and will occasionally visit the other stations.

Mr. Townsend states that the number of native Christians in Abbeokuta amounted, at the close of the year, to 1487, of whom 639 were connected with his own station, Ake. In his annual letter he writes—

I have to report that the work of this station has been carried on as usual, with the aid of our native helpers. There has been a gradual increase of scholars in the day-school, and of attendance at public worship, oftentimes our new school is full to the doors. We have two native and one English service every Sabbath, and one native service in the week, besides class-meetings and a weekly prayer-meeting. Through the kindness of an English merchant, we have been enabled to introduce instrumental music into our church service.

In the week commencing Monday, January 7th, we held in Abbeokuta, a series of prayer-meetings. As no place of public worship here could contain the people we expected, we recommended some of the native Christians to hold other meetings for prayer in other parts of Abbeokuta. Prayers were offered up both in English and Yoruba. The meetings were much enjoyed: it was a time of refreshing to us all. We were joined by the members of the other Christian sects in Abbeokuta. Resulting from these meetings, a prayer-meeting is held now every Monday afternoon in the church, conducted by each Missionary in turn, to ask the speedy restoration of peace to this country, and the preservation of the Christian churches endangered by the war. I may observe, as a proof of the progress being made in this country, that the chiefs now often communicate with each other in writing, by employing some one to write for them. I have been called upon to read several such letters from the chiefs in the camp at Ijaye to their superiors at home. They are generally written in English.

Mr. Gollmer reports respecting his district many encouraging evidences of the silent progress of the power of the Gospel at work among the people, especially in their endeavours to bring their friends and relatives to the same blessed hope which they have themselves embraced. One such instance is peculiarly interesting: he writes—

May 6—During the last few months several mothers have been drawn to the church by their believing daughters. This morning in the Sunday school I had the pleasure of meeting two more, who were thus brought in. One of them, after thirty-six years of separation and slavery in the Jebu country, was redeemed by her daughter, who now leads her to the Redeemer of souls. As some of these mothers are too old to learn to read, we place them in one class, with a child to teach them the Lord's prayer, the Ten Commandments, the Creed, &c., which they will soon know by heart. What a mercy that these old persons have been brought into the fold at the eleventh hour, and that the Lord does not reject them!

Dec. 2: Lord's-day—During our morning service I had the pleasure to receive twenty-one adults into Christ's church by baptism. A few of them had been candidates for some years, but, conforming to our church discipline, they were received. All others joined our church, as new converts, the last and present year. They have all learnt the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, and the Creed, and most of them can read a little. The grey-headed grandmother, fathers, mothers young men and maidens, were all alike anxious to "be signed" for the Lord. May they be faithful even to the end! After the baptism I preached, from John iii. 5, 6, to an attentive congregation. During the afternoon or evening service I baptized eight children and infants.

Mr. Gollmer notices in his journal the obligation of the Missionaries to their zealous friend Miss Barber of Brighton, who devotes the profits of a juvenile periodical to Missionary purposes, under the title of "The Coral Fund."

I must here acknowledge the great pecuniary aid we have received from our kind friends of the Coral Fund, who have not only assisted us in the redemption of some young people, but paid the ransom money for several children, and greatly aid us in our work by kindly providing the necessities of life for these and many other children, who, by this means, are instructed, and, I trust, trained for the Lord. There are now upwards of sixty children in the care of the Missionaries, who are thus maintained, some for years, by the Coral Fund; and many times we should be at a loss how to redeem a poor child, or how to provide for it, but for this blessed helpmaid, the Coral Fund; and I must add also, that we can say, "they love our nation, for they have built us a synagogue." Several churches have been built in our Mission by means of the Coral Fund. I believe few of our friends at home are aware of the silent growth of the Coral Rock, and the important aid it affords in fostering Mission schools. May our dear friends be cheered onward in their work of faith and labour of love and may the Lord bless them, and all who thus and otherwise help us, abundantly!

Mr. Gollmer concludes his report of the Missions, September 30th, 1860, with this reflection—

In conclusion, I am thankful to be able to state that I have been blessed with health so as to be able to attend to most duties myself. Our services, classes of instruction, Sunday and day schools, have been kept regularly, and were well attended, and the Lord has blessed our humble labours, visibly by an increase of twelve converts, and invisibly by maturing and perfecting his people. We are still in the midst of great convulsions through the war; but we have the precious peace which passeth all understanding, and for this and every other mercy and blessing we desire to give all praise and glory to the Lord.

The native minister, Mr. King, gives the following account of an admission of converts, in his district, into the Christian church, by baptism—

May 27, 1860: Whitsunday—To-day was indeed another soul-feasting occasion among us. The admission of forty-seven persons into the visible church of Christ by the ordinance of baptism—thirty-six being adults, and eleven children—constitutes this day, in some measure, a modern Pentecost to us. The beam of holy joy was manifestly read on the countenances of all our communicants present. Special instructions, as usual, had been imparted to them. May the friends of Africa, through whose instrumentality and prayers the Gospel is thus progressively achieving its wonders among us, be encouraged to redouble their fervency on our behalf for the larger outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon us from on high, both for the addition of new converts, as well as for the confirming those already brought into the fold of Christ by faith! Four of the newly-baptized are much advanced in years, one of whom is a babalawo (priest) of about sixty or seventy, by the name of Akirombi, of the township of Ijaye, and a headman in his compound.

Mr. William Allen, a native catechist, records in his journal the conduct of the Christians in Abbeokuta during the apprehensions of a Dahomian invasion—

Feb. 19—I went out, but could not speak to the people as I ought, the whole town being in a state of excitement: the Dahomians were expected to attack the town the next day. The language of every one was, "The Lord will help us to conquer them." In the evening a man informed us that the enemies had reached very near the Egba farms. Immediately the sound of the town bell was heard summoning every person to be in arms and march to the walls of the town: all the war-chiefs were then going towards the walls in order to prevent a sudden attack. The converts of all the churches in Abbeokuta assembled, together with all the merchants, both black and white. We commended ourselves in prayer to the Almighty for protection, and, after prayers, the Rev. Mr. Townsend made an address to the converts, telling them that victory belongs to the Lord. The people were advised to remain in the compound till break of day, before they might go to the walls.

Feb. 25—As the people had pitched their tents by the town walls, and to-day being the Lord's-day, I went to the camp to hold service: the converts could not come to the church, for they were all on the watch guard. The people were very glad to see me. We had a full service. Many of the heathen joined us in the prayers. At the end of every prayer in the Litany the people all answered together "Amen." The tents were to us a chapel. I addressed them from Matt. xxi. 22. The whole of the discourse was well listened to by all within sound of my voice. I was very much satisfied in my mind by having such an opportunity of speaking the word of God in the hearing of many heathen. Many who used to despise the word of God in the time of peace were now humbled, and could say nothing. The converts shewed themselves that they were enlightened by the word of God. They put no confidence in charms as do the heathen. The heathen equipped themselves with charms from the waist to the neck, but the converts had on their plain dress of country trowsers, English-made shirts, and jackets or coats. For their trust was on the Almighty. My prayers at this scene was that the Lord might make his name to be glorious among the heathen.

Mr. Roper makes the following observations upon the beneficial influence upon the heathen in Abbeokuta of the alarms of warfare, and invasion—

Aug. 1, 1860—I have no doubt but that the Gospel is making a silent progress, which is not readily seen. The people watch the conduct of our church-people; and, as is natural, a consistent life is just what it was in St. Paul's time, "a living epistle, known and read of all men." The chiefs also, I believe, think much about the Gospel. They say little, but they are thinking and watching. One said to Mr. Allen—and as he spoke he wept—"I dare not say what I think." They had been speaking of a defeat sustained by our people—I mean the Abbeokutans—in the previous week. He said they had attended to all that the priests had told them, offered all sacrifices, used all charms; that they had, in fact, done all, and then went out to fight, certain of victory. What was the result? They were defeated, with great loss, and that through the treachery of one of their own party. This spoke volumes to them. Shortly after, another headman, who was in this fight, declared, at a public meeting, of the king, chiefs, and people, "The priests are liars; the whole system of sacrifices and charms is a deceit and a lie: we tried it all, and have been defeated, after being assured of victory: therefore I say it is all a lie." What can this be? Is God about to take Satan in his own net? These things give us comfort as I am sure they will give you comfort. May they stimulate us all to labour, and to pray more and more until the desired end is gained!

The Seminary for giving a superior education to a few selected youths has been resumed by Mr. Bühler upon his return to the station.

Oshielle.

The out-station of Oshielle, which is under the pastoral charge of the native minister, the Rev. T. Moore, supported wholly by Miss Barber's Coral-fund, has been in constant alarm during the year of invasion by the Ibadan marauding parties; but to the end of the year it was mercifully preserved from attack. Mr. Moore writes—

We have not discontinued our usual duty of preaching Jesus Christ to all around us, as often as we can. During the year, six adults and nine children have been received by me into the church of Christ by baptism. The number of Christians is 120; communicants 44. It is also cheering to mention that the converts, with little exception, continue to prize the new religion very highly. I may with safety say they are walking worthy of their holy profession in the sight of their heathen idolatrous countrymen.

Other out-stations at Ibara, Biolorunpellu, Awaye, and other villages have been suspended, or greatly hindered by the state of warfare.

ISHAGA.

Ishaga has continued during the last year under the charge of the European catechist, Mr. J. Smith. The unsettled state of the country having prevented him from making Missionary tours, his time has been given to the town; and he has been enabled to visit nearly every household with the message of salvation, as well as to keep up the regular services on the Lord's-day. The congregation consists of about sixty. There are small day schools, and most of the congregation attend the Sunday school. Mr. Smith writes, in his annual letter—

I am happy in being able to state that the attendance is pretty good and regular, considering how the people are employed and scattered during the week, some being so far away in their farms that they cannot attend every week, but make it a practice to attend on alternate weeks, or sometimes two weeks together, as circumstances admit: such as are near, or in the town, attend very regularly to the Sunday services, and also to the week-day meetings. We have a list containing the names of all members and candidates for communion and baptism, which are called over every Saturday evening at the Scripture class. In looking over the list, I find some have not been once absent during the year; others have been absent less or more, as their vocation allowed or hindered.

As regards the real love, zeal, and sincerity of many, we cannot doubt: but some there are, as in all congregations, concerning whom we have our fears and misgivings, but would still hope and pray they may grow in grace and in the knowledge and love of God.

Our Sunday school is held at the same hours in the day as in England. All, old and young, attend, and all seem to take a pleasure in it; and it is rather interesting to see, not elderly persons teaching a class of young persons or children, as at home, but young persons, day-school children, teaching a class of old people.

During the fear of the Dahomian invasion in the spring of the year, the presence of the European Missionary afforded a moral support to the native authorities. Mr. Smith wrote in reference to this occasion—

Feb. 28, 1860.—I did not remove any of my things, for fear of causing greater alarm in the town: much I felt depended upon the part I acted. All eyes were toward me night and day, watching my every movement; and had I shown signs of leaving, many more than did would have deserted the town, and our little flock would have been dispersed and scattered. Some of them were so alarmed that they could not rest in their own houses contented, but came with their loads into our yard, as if they were more safe here. Had I left it might have proved disastrous to this infant church, and I must have forfeited the confidence of the people. My messengers, whom I sent to Imeko, were well received and entertained by the king: he looked upon it as a great favour from the white man, thus sending a message to him in the time of trouble and danger, and the more so, they being the first messengers from a distance who had ventured to come further than Isala, a town a considerable distance from Imeko. While there, they had the mind to pass on to Idanyi, and see what devastation the Dahomians had made, but the king thought it unadvisable, and counselled them not to go.

IBADAN.

The Rev. D. Hinderer and Mr. Jefferies have remained at this station throughout the year, though subjected to much suffering and privation from the state of warfare by which Ibadan has been isolated from all the other stations of the Mission. Even the communication of letters and of pecuniary remittances was, for a great part of the year, interrupted. Mr. Hinderer has been able, in some instances, to procure the release of those Christian converts of Abbeokuta who were taken captive by the Ibadan or Oyo army, and thus happily to maintain a position of neutrality while enjoying the protection of the Ibadan chiefs. In a letter (June 11th) he thus describes the progress of the work of the Mission—

In the midst of all the turmoil of war around us, I am thankful to add, the Lord does not leave us wholly destitute of tokens of his favour. On Sunday, August 26th, I had the happiness of admitting nine adults by baptism into the visible church of Christ, and, a few Sundays previous to it, six children of various ages. Considering the vast mass of heathenism around us, this is but as a drop in the ocean; but the Missionary, who has to contend daily with a heathen darkness that may be felt, and to witness the gigantic power of the kingdom of Satan, and the thousand cares and fetters employed by the wicked one to keep his own, can rejoice even in one that escapes his thralldom, and is received into the glorious liberty of the children of God.

Mr. Hinderer is able also to report the success of his efforts to awaken the converts to a sense of their duty to contribute to the support of the Mission.

On March 16th, a large and troublesome piece of work was finished, which had lasted several weeks, by the men of my congregation—the rebuilding of our church roof. The church wanted a new thatch, and though the men of my congregation are few for such a work, yet I thought it right to call upon them to do it, instead of the Society. But one of the leading men among them objected, and could see no reason why they should do it. This called for an explanation on my part of the nature of active Christianity, on Christian charity in general, and Missionary work in particular,—both which are the duty and privilege of a Christian, and which, among new converts, are to begin with work of this kind, with repairing and building their own places of worship, and supporting their own poor, &c.; and I am happy to add, it required not another word on my part: with cheerfulness they not only re-thatched, but rebuilt the whole church roof, for it was found to be wholly eaten by the white ants, so that not a rafter was found to be good. As to the poor and sick, they have since not only contributed as usual from their monthly collections for that purpose, but have more individually helped them: some fetching wood to make fires, the universal remedy in all sicknesses in this country, even to a little-finger ache; others bringing medicine, or money for the same, and food for the patient. Even our schoolchildren have lately begun, at the suggestion of their schoolmaster, to put by a weekly contribution of five cowries each—they wanted to give ten—as a sick-fund among themselves for children.

Letters received from Mr. Hinderer to the close of the year report the continuance of all the evils connected with the war.

He fears that many months will elapse before he can again communicate information, as all the roads were about to be closed. "But our trust," he adds, "is in the Lord of Hosts, and our constant prayer that He may bring all to an issue for his glory. I need not add, Pray for us." The last half-year has not been entirely without encouragement. But Mr. Hinderer longs for such a revival as has been witnessed in South India. "If there is a Mission," he writes, "that wants it more than any other, it is the Yoruba Mission of the present day. I have begun to read the accounts of North Timnevelly to our native agents at our special prayer-meetings every Monday, and hope it may be the means of stirring us up more earnestly and continually to pray for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon us and our work."

IJAYE.

This town has been the point of attack in the present unhappy civil war amongst the Yoruban tribes; Ibadan and Oyo combining for its destruction, and Abbeokuta sending an army for its support. The subsidy of its friends has proved as disastrous, through the consumption of all its food, as the hostility of its enemies. At the close of the year Ijaye was suffering from famine, and its population was rapidly decreasing. In several battles in its neighbourhood the wounded of both parties had recourse to Mr. Mann, who possesses a considerable knowledge and skill in surgery. The following are extracts from his communications—

We feel sure that your sympathy and compassion will be extended towards this poor, benighted, and now starving town. I feel much inclined to say nothing of ourselves, and to say much of those amongst whom I stand as the watchman on his tower. From the watch-tower of the Gospel I must look down on the scenes of slaughter, on the hunger and misery, on the haughtiness and downfall of the one party, and the cruel joys of the other. The Lord is breaking the heathen with a rod of iron. He has sent his messengers into the country—the sword, and captivity, and hunger; for the people of the land have refused to kiss the Son.

The Egbas profess to make Ijaye pay for their assistance. Now this pay consists in an unripe harvest. The prospect of a rich harvest, which, when ripe, would still feed town and camp, is gone. The hunger which must follow is the sure agent for death and the kidnappers. Hundreds of Ijaye children the Egbas carry away. Hundreds of old men and women have died, or are in the last stage. Thus these saviours resemble the staff of broken reeds, and bring unspeakable misery upon this town.

The Committee are well aware that in this place any political interference, of whatever kind or shape—as advice or friendly assistance—is out of question. No doubt Are carries this system of exclusion too far, to his own hurt. Yet I have not been thoroughly an idle spectator. Besides repeated admonitions to seek peace, I had another mission entrusted to me. On the first day of a bloody meeting a wounded man showed me his wound. I did what was in my power. After the first came a second, a third, and soon, even whilst the battle raged, and till late in the night, the wounded waited in the piazza, which resembled a camp hospital. Such scenes were repeated with every battle-day. I got the advantage of preparing before for surgical practice and experience, and was able to meet the demands of about forty to sixty wounded in one day. The following days were much taken up by re-dressing, consulting, &c. Sometimes it proved too much, and I was obliged to rest for a day or two. The Egbas availed themselves of the opportunity for their wounded. Some were lodged for a time on the premises: three of them died here from tetanus, &c. I am happy to say my strength has kept pace with the demand. Another painful duty was laid upon me with the approach of hunger, to buy in good time the necessary provisions, and their preservation—two things we commonly think very little of—and this at a time when I was obliged to part, as far as possible, with adult servants, in order to spare my store of food and cowries for our children, as the roads on which supplies can reach us are more or less shut, or at least dangerous. With care I managed to keep my position, and even to have soup for poor famished creatures.

My congregation is much reduced. Of the communicants, but three remain of the whole of those who worshipped with us, some ten to thirteen others sought for subsistence at Abbeokuta. But in spite of the small number, we assemble as usual, from ten to thirteen, and some children. The times are bad, and of a sifting character. There is chaff, but there is also wheat, perhaps more than I was ready to acknowledge.

I feel obliged to state, that personally we have had, up to this period, nothing to suffer. Such may yet come. In food we are missing the animal supply which the country yielded, as sheep and goats are killed for want of corn, &c. We are prepared to stay at this place as long as we can feed our children. The prices are high—some ten, some eighteen times the usual amount. The worst is before us; that is, people do not sell at all, but keep what is left. While we are ready to suffer with those around us, we pray the Lord may in mercy look upon the thousands who are cruelly wronged for the sake of a few wicked men. Our prayer is that the Lord may come effectually, with his Holy Spirit—not in judgment alone, but in mercy.

In a later letter Mr. Mann writes—

I need not go into details of my labours among the wounded. I have extracted about eighty balls, and on the whole have dressed 400 wounded persons, many daily for three weeks. An entrance has thus been opened into houses I could never enter before. Many have thus heard the word of God. Though battles took place often on Sundays, the services were never quite given up. If the men were on the battle-field, some children and women were present in the morning; and in the evening I had a service with the wounded.

OYO.

This station has been for the present suspended in consequence of the war. Mr. Meakin has been obliged through ill health to return to England; and the state of the country will not allow of any communication between Abbeokuta and Oyo.

Translations of the Holy Scriptures.

A further portion of the New Testament in the Yoruba language—the Epistles to the Corinthians, Galatians and Ephesians—translated by the Society's native clergyman, the Rev. T. King, has been received and transmitted to the British and Foreign Bible Society, which has kindly undertaken the printing of this, as of the previous translations. Messrs. Crowther and King hope to complete the entire version of the New Testament in the course of the ensuing spring, thus presenting this permanent and inestimable treasure to their brethren of the Yoruba church, only thirteen years after the first reduction of their language to writing. Of the Old Testament, the books of Genesis, Exodus, the Psalms, Proverbs, and Daniel, are already published, and the translation of the rest of the Bible will be proceeded with as speedily as circumstances will allow.

NIGER MISSION.(Commenced 1857.)

THE Committee regret that they are able to give no report of the Niger Mission during the last year. The murderous attack upon the "Sunbeam" when descending the river in 1859, as described in the last year's Annual Report, has interrupted all communications between the part where the Missions are placed beyond the Delta and the coast. Her Majesty's Government agreed to send one of the consuls upon the coast, to ascend the river under the escort of a gun-boat, and to negotiate with the chiefs for a free navigation of the river for legitimate purposes. The native Missionaries, the Rev. Messrs. Crowther and Taylor, and two European catechists, Messrs. Fladt and Ashcroft, left Lagos in July to take advantage of that opportunity for ascending the river. The arrangement of the Government, however, failed. The Missionary party remained for three months at the mouth of the river, till the falling of the waters rendered an ascent no longer possible for that season. Mr. Crowther and Mr. Fladt then returned to Lagos, and Mr. Taylor to Sierra Leone. Mr. Ashcroft remained with the trading vessels for three months longer at the mouth of the river, but was obliged then to return to England on account of severe illness. Thus the hopes of the Committee have been deferred for another season, and the native teachers in the upper parts of the Niger have been left in a destitute condition as to supplies from home. The Committee can only commend them to the care of a merciful God, for whose name's sake they went forth to their benighted countrymen. The Committee cannot express their disappointment in more appropriate terms than those in which Mr. Crowther closes his narrative of the events—"In all our trials and disappointments, may we be led to see the hand of Him who is too wise to err, in the direction of this important movement. We are short-sighted creatures, but all future events are open to the eyes of Him with whom we have to do. May we be supported in all our situations by your prayers, which cannot but prevail with God, being offered up in the faith of the fulfilment of the promise made to the Son, that the heathen shall be given to Him for his inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for his possession."

Before Mr. Crowther left the mouth of the river he selected the most healthy and dry spot, called Akassa, in that neighbourhood, for a Mission station, and obtained the consent of the natives for its establishment. A trading factory will also be built near the same spot. Such a settlement would afford great assistance to all the stations in the river when the navigation shall be fully opened. Mr. Crowther and his party were detained for a short time in the Bonny river, at a part which has never been under Missionary influence, and he makes these important remarks upon the state of the inhabitants—

Trade has been carried on with Bonny now nearly half a century, either in slaves or legitimate produce; but up to the present date the most wealthy of them are not further advanced in civilization than those in the interior who have never seen a white man, and with whom they never exchanged an article of merchandize in food or produce. From their chiefs to their attendants, the inhabitants of Bonny are cannibals. Cannibalism is openly practised in the sight of the European traders on the river. White men, who happen to go near them, when human flesh is prepared to be feasted upon, are looked upon as intruders, and the menaces of the natives towards them on these occasions show their savage state in the highest degree;—so much so, that when it is known that cannibalism is taking place in the town, every one has learned to keep out of the way.

A few days back some of my canoe-men landed in Bonny town: they came into the market-place, where there was singing and dancing, when unexpectedly they met the bodies of two prisoners who had just been slaughtered and cut in pieces, placed on a platform made over a fire, to have them prepared for food. Being horror-stricken, they ran back; but the unconscious cannibals hailed them in triumph to come back and see what they were doing to the bodies of their enemies. This is an answer, if one be wanting, to those who would inquire whether trade alone, without the Gospel, is sufficient to civilize a nation.

The latest intelligence from the Niger is contained in the following extract from a letter from Mr. Leib, at Abbeokuta, written at the beginning of the present year—

We have learned, by a letter from Mr. Ashcroft, that a gun-boat, H.M.S. "Bloodhound," made her appearance at the mouth of the Nun, and that an ascent was made with this man-of-war and the "Sunbeam" as far as to the village of Angiama, where the natives fired at the ships in 1858. Treaties of peace were made with the natives. At all events, the first step is taken for the opening of the river to lawful commerce, and it cannot fail to be of some value this year. The news of the treaties of peace will reach most probably the other hostile villages, and so we trust to have a successful ascent this year without discharging one gun.

EAST-AFRICA MISSION.

Rev. John Rebmann (†), 1846.

THE various attempts of this Society to establish a Mission upon the east coast of Africa afford some of the most interesting pages of modern Missionary history. The enterprising Dr. Krapf first discovered the opening for Christian enterprise in the year 1844, on the coast opposite the island of Mombas. Two zealous Missionaries were immediately sent out to strengthen his hands. Soon the whole scientific world in Europe were astonished by the report of the Missionaries, that in their travels in the interior, they had met with snow mountains. At a later period a great internal sea was announced, upon the authority of caravans which had come from the interior. Public attention was by these reports directed to that part of the coast. Expeditions were prepared by the Government for exploring the country. In the fulness of hope that a new and vast region had been discovered into which the kingdom of Christ might be soon introduced, the Society set apart four additional Missionary labourers, and laid out their plans for taking up several stations in the interior. But all these hopes and preparations, which, though founded upon the Gospel of Christ, had in them, it may be, too much of human power and enterprise. As of old the Lord said unto Gideon, "The people that are with thee are too many for me to give the Midianites into their hands, lest Israel vaunt themselves against me, saying mine own hand hath saved me;" so in this case all the preparations of the Society came to nothing. Sickness and death thinned the number of Missionaries, till only one was left in East-Africa; and he was driven to the Island of Mombas by a sudden incursion of a hostile tribe, the Masai; which laid the Mission in ruins, and dispersed the few Wanika, amongst whom the Missionaries had laboured. For two years the Mission seemed at an end. But the faithful, though solitary Missionary, Rebmann, remained at Mombas, within sight of the ruins of the Mission on the mainland, preparing translations of the word of God in the Suaheli language, in the assurance that the Lord would yet open, at his own time and in his own way, the opportunity of communicating that treasure to the benighted inhabitants of the mainland. The pledges of such a return were also left behind. The mortal remains of the heroic Mrs. Krapf, who died at Mombas, had been buried, at her own request, upon the sea-shore of the mainland. A zealous young Missionary, Pfefferle, who died in 1851, lay buried in the Mission premises; and near him the mortal remains of the first convert, the cripple, Mringe. The only other convert, Abe Gunga, had fled with the Missionaries to Mombas, and there was no living witness for the truth on the coast. After two years had expired, Mr. Rebmann was invited to visit once more the ruined Mission. The welcome which he received convinced him that there was now a call from above to return and to re-occupy the station. In the absence of the Missionary, a spontaneous movement had exhibited itself, and four new converts presented themselves for further instruction in the Christian faith. At the same time, the Providence of God seems to be preparing, in many ways, auxiliaries to the progress of the Gospel. The change in the sovereign authority upon the coast, by the death of the Imaum of Muscat, has been already effectual in overawing the predatory Arab tribes of the coast. The prosecution of geographical discovery is gradually unveiling the interior; and Dr. Krapf, who disconnected himself from the Missions of the Society by his family circumstances, is about to undertake a Mission of two years, in order to establish Mission stations of the English Free Wesleyan church upon the east coast, at points to the north and south of the Society's Mission. All these circumstances must, under the divine blessing, afford support to the Mission in its great enterprise of letting in the light of the Gospel upon the interior tribes of East Africa.

Mr. Rebmann's operations during the last year are thus described in his late communications—went up together for a short visit to our station (on the 7th of June last), the joyous declaration of all the people we met with on the road was, "You have done well to come back to us." And now, after we have been in the midst of them for upwards of four months, it is only the genuine expression of our own feelings to say, "The Lord has made all things well in guiding our steps back again to a people whose dark and long night is now far spent, and on whom the first rays of the rising sun have already fallen." Not that new and great victories have already been gained, or new converts been added to the little band formerly mentioned, but rather that this little band has continued faithful, and kept its ground, fighting against heathenism, which still so closely surrounds it; and that of one of their number we are in one sense enabled to say he has been faithful unto death. Mua Muamba, mentioned in my letter of April 17, 1858, as having accompanied Abe Gunja, in his second visit to Zanzibar, died rather suddenly on the 30th of January last. As if he had had a presentiment of an early death (he was only middle-aged), he had long ago given injunctions to his wife and family that there should be no heathen ceremonies, either at or after his burial; and that, instead of their sitting together in idleness for a whole week, as the old custom requires, they should take up their hoes and cultivate the ground. On the evening of the 30th of January I went, in order to take him some medicine, and arrived at his hut just at sunset, when to my great surprise and grief, I found that he had just expired. His head was still placed on the lap of his wife, who, with tears in her eyes, related to me the pleasing fact, that, in the morning, he had, according to his custom, still knelt down by the side of his miserable bedstead for prayer, and that, as she added, in perfect resignation: it was not the will of God that he should suffer long.

The general state of mind among our Rabbai people has been considerably changed for the better. It is, however, to be borne in mind, that, among the Wanika at a distance from our station, a very different state of feeling will still be found to exist. The confession that heathenism is at once a falsehood and a plague, from which they can only be delivered by "entering the book," is now generally and freely made; and it is far more frequent to hear people say, "We shall all lay hold of the book," than it is to listen to any defence of their ancient rites and customs; and there are even such as argue against them, while, as yet, the strength and courage fail them for daring to be singular. Social influence, among a heathen people, whose relatives are at once their protectors, their persecutors, and sometimes even their executioners, will indeed be overwhelming as long as a nation has not been "shaken," and in a measure grown weary of the multiplicity of its superstitions; and until—though it may be almost unconsciously to themselves—a secret wish, a yearning after something better, has taken possession of their minds. And it is this general result—the preventing or preceding grace of God—which may be bestowed even in judgments, that we have at present to appreciate, as much as his converting grace in individuals, the one resembling the preparation of the ground, and the other the growth of the tree which stands upon it.

Feeling confident that the East-Africa Mission must now indeed have “a permanent settlement,” I have rebuilt the Mission-house with walls of stones instead of unburnt bricks, and while repairing what was left, I also took good care for the enlargement of the smaller rooms; for I remembered that I had asked the Committee for a fellow-labourer, and I felt it my duty to think of preparing a “lodging” for him.

During the time that my employment thus was with clay, and stones, and bricks, we were reading, for our evening devotions, the history of the Israelites in Egypt; and it was no small comfort to me to think that God had allowed his chosen people to be put to the brickmaking for some hundreds of years; and that this was no lost time for them, because then the foundation was laid for the education they alone, out of all the nations of the earth, were favoured to receive from God himself. I felt, that in East Africa too a foundation was now to be laid for the education which the church of Christ is bound to give to all members of the human family which are still neglected—a foundation which, from the absence of all civilization, requires from the Missionary, not only mental, but also manual work; so that a Missionary who is not able and willing to give himself first to the work of building himself a proper dwelling-house, will not be the right one for this part of the world.

The first baptism in East-Africa.

Sept. 15.—The communication I have now to make, though little as to variety, is in fact the crown of Missionary intelligence, it being the baptism, not only of Abe Gunja himself, but also of his son, Niondo. Having got through the most necessary part of repair and building at our station, and having been warned, by the unexpected death of Mua Muamba, of the uncertainty of life, I felt, after we had again returned from Mombas to Kisuludini on the 8th of May last, that I could no longer defer the baptism of one, who, as far as his own personal preparation was concerned, might have been baptized years ago. I therefore fixed on the day of Pentecost, which was near, and had then the great privilege of receiving both father and son into the ark of the church of Christ. Our faith and hope as a future Christian church in Eastern Africa are expressed and represented in the names by which they were baptized, viz. Abraham and Isaac. As to the latter, a youth of about fifteen or sixteen years of age, I could have wished for more previous instruction, but was prevented from imparting it by their living at a distance from the station. The fact, however, that for about a year, the boy had begun to tread in the footsteps of his father, and had learnt to read, of his own accord, both the Gospel or

St. Luke and his catechism, was too significant for not admitting him at once, with his father, to the holy ordinance by which our Saviour has commanded us to make disciples of all nations.

As to the four remaining candidates, I can only say, that, during this half-year, they have been most regular in coming to the station every Lord's-day, and are willing to be baptized as soon as I shall think them sufficiently prepared. All of them being still younger in years than Abraham, I required them first to make more progress in reading: a small beginning they had made even before we returned to them from Zanzibar.

My own time is still principally occupied in building; but in the midst of it I have many opportunities of preaching to the heathen, by whom the place is frequented. And here it is that a Missionary has to watch over his own spirit, lest outward business engross his mind so much as to make him neglect his paramount duty of preaching the Gospel. The temptation of going on with the work of his hands, when he ought to look round and deliver his testimony, is sometimes not a small one; and here also the denial of one's self is to be exercised.

Sept. 20—In a letter received on the 14th inst. from the English consul at Zanzibar, he tells me of the safe arrival of Captains Speke and Grant, and also communicates to me the melancholy intelligence of the young traveller, Dr. A. Roscher, from Hamburg, having been killed on the river Rufuma, and that his two murderers have already been executed at Zanzibar. It would appear that his death had not been preconcerted by any principal man or chieftain. On the contrary, the consul mentions two chiefs, Kinkomanga and Makawa, "who," he says, "behaved so kindly to poor Roscher, that he is going to send them presents and letters by the Baron von der Decken, a colonel in the Hanoverian army, who starts for the Nyassa in a few days." This sad event will, I believe, not retard, but rather hasten on the further exploration of East Africa. The time for its being drawn into contact with the Christian world seems to have fully arrived, and another large field for Missionary labour is being added to the Lord's vineyard.

CONSTANTINOPLE.

Rev. Charles Gottlieb Pfander, D.D. (m.), to Persia 1825; to India 1839; to Constantinople 1858.

Rev. Robert Henry Weakley (m), 1860.

DR. Pfander was joined in the month of September by a fellow-labourer, Mr. Weakley, who had made some progress in the Turkish language before leaving England. Dr. Pfander takes the following review of his labours, and of the state of Missionary prospects, at the close of the year—

In taking a review of my labours of last year I feel deeply thankful that I have been allowed to accomplish the translation of the Nizam ul Huq into Turkish. This and the Miftah, now in the press, are the two books most needed for the Turks and for our work among them. And it was a matter of no small encouragement to see how God in his providence, when I was in the greatest difficulty about a proper assistant, brought to me, as it were quite accidentally, the very man I wanted—a young Turk accustomed to translations, and in the habit of writing for a Turkish newspaper, and who at the same time was of such views and in such a state of mind as led him to take a real interest in the work. And what made it appear still more remarkable is the fact, that no sooner was the revision finished than he was appointed by Government to to an important office. Had the appointment for which he was long waiting taken place sooner, he would have been obliged to give up the revision, and one equally qualified I should not have been able to secure. The movement at the beginning of last year among the Mohammedans, in connection with the labours of Mr. Williams, of the American Mission, and which excited so much attention, has subsided, but still the work is progressing quietly and hopefully. The Government seem, however, to watch more closely both the labours of the Americans and our own; and from signs which only lately have transpired, there seems to be some ground to fear that they may attempt to oppose the progress. This, however, together with the fact that some of their learned men are about to enter into a controversy against the Missionaries and their publications, must be considered as a good sign. It proves that they feel that the distribution of the Scriptures and the spread of truth is telling against them. For a struggle, and it may be for a severe one, we must be prepared, but of the issue we have not to fear.

Dr. Pfander has further explained his views in a letter to a zealous friend of the Turkish Mission, who is willing to give a munificent donation towards establishing a permanent Mission in Constantinople—

I quite agree with you that the time of God's gracious visitation of the Mohammedans is drawing nearer and nearer, that it seems to be at hand already. I know that there were Christians who thought, that because the Mohammedans were the enemies of the Gospel from the very beginning, no gracious visitation was to be expected for them, and that there was therefore but little hope of success for Missions among them. I always opposed this view, and advocated, that as the opposition of the Mohammedans had been not so much against the Gospel as against the corrupted Christianity of the East, the pure Gospel was, and must yet be, preached to them also. I hope, however, that there are now none, or but few, who still adhere to such views, seeing how remarkably God has humbled the Moslem pride, and is opening up the way for the Gospel among them. In the East, England has broken their power; in the west and north, Russia and the late Crimean war, with its subsequent events, have laid open Turkey's weakness and helplessness, even before the eyes of the Mohammedan population. Turkey, though yet far from being a changed or Europeanized nation, has still ceased to be the old Mohammedan power. She is overwhelmed by the daily increasing European influence, and has no other alternative before her but either to assimilate herself altogether to European political principles and social forms, i. e. become ultimately Christian, or to go to pieces, and be divided amongst the European powers.

For Missionary work already so much is gained that converts from Mohammedanism are left undisturbed, and Christian services can be held in Turkish in Constantinople by the Missionaries, schools are opened, and the Bible and Christian books are freely distributed. Only we cannot preach in the streets as yet, nor openly speak or teach against the Koran. But such liberty cannot yet be expected: we must for the present be thankful for the former.

SYRA.

Mission first commenced 1830.

Rev. Frederick A. Hildner (m) 1829.

The large school for Greek girls at Syra, under the superintendence of Mr. Hildner, still prospers in the number of the pupils, and in the general countenance and patronage of the authorities and inhabitants of the island. Mr. Hildner also holds services each Sunday in English and German. The Bible is read by all the scholars, and is the foundation of all the instruction: and the spirit of the school is wholly Protestant. Nevertheless, as the pupils pass from the teaching of the school to the pastoral care of the Greek church, the Committee do not regard this branch of their operations as sufficiently Missionary. They therefore bear no part of the expenses of the school: and only continue to Mr. Hildner his usual salary as a Missionary of the Society, as his length of labour in Greece would unfit him for a removal to any other Mission: and as they continually receive testimony, from many quarters, to the advantageous influence which the Syra school exercises over female education in Greece, and to the beneficial example among the Greeks of Mr. Hildner's consistent Christian conduct and example.

SMYRNA.

Rev. J. T. Wolters (m), to Persia, 1832; to Syra, 1837; to Smyrna, 1842.
Rev. T. F. Wolters, 1860.

The last Annual Report spoke of this Mission as having at length afforded some encouragement to the zealous and faithful Missionary, who had patiently witnessed for the truth for nearly twenty years, with scarcely any visible results. But this prospect was, in the mysterious providence of God, soon clouded. In the spring of 1860, the small company of native converts in Smyrna were confounded and cast down by the sudden apostacy of a well-known native teacher belonging to a sister Society, who had been baptized some years ago at Constantinople as a converted Turk, and afterwards received instruction in Malta college. He now renounced publicly his Christian profession, and returned to Islamism. He carried with him in his apostacy an agent of this Society, who had been born a Greek, then embraced Mohammedanism, afterwards returned to Christianity, and was regarded as a sincere penitent, and employed in the Mission by Mr. Wolters.

After these trials came another—the state of excitement into which the Moslem mind was thrown by the events in Syria. The danger of fanatical outbreak, even in Smyrna, greatly impeded all aggressive Missionary efforts. A persecution was also raised against a Turkish Dervish, who had become an inquirer, and who, being a superior scholar, had been employed by Mr. Wolters as a translator: he was seized by the Turkish authorities and conveyed to Constantinople, and has not been allowed to return to Smyrna.

From these and other causes the little band of fourteen adult converts has been reduced to ten: and the Mission again wears a discouraging aspect.

The two native assistants, Messrs. Dalessio and Monte Santo, have diligently pursued their work; the services in Turkish and Greek have been kept up, together with an English service during the greater part of the year; the bookshop has been kept open, but a reduced number of the copies of the Scriptures and of religious books has been sold. Mr. Wolters was greatly rejoiced at the close of the year by being joined by his son as an ordained Missionary of the Society. It is hoped that this accession of help, and the more quiet state of the country, may revive, under God's blessing, the spirit of the Mission, and enlarge its operations.

The Committee are always thankful to receive, from time to time, the testimony of independent witnesses to the character of their Missionaries and of their work. Such a testimony they have the pleasure to record from the Rev. A. M. W. Christopher, formerly in India at the head of the Martinière College of Calcutta, now Rector of St. Aldate, Oxford, who visited the Levant in the early part of last year.

When at Smyrna, I visited Mr. Wolters at Bonjah. What a happiness it is to visit Missionaries of the cross in their work! I felt this in India, but feel it more now. How good God has been in giving you such men! A man without the sustained energy which a real union with Christ brings to the soul would have subsided into idleness in Mr. Wolters' position, and surrounded as he was for many years by discouragements; whereas one patient faithful Missionary has executed or superintended the translations of thirty-six treatises and tracts into Greek, Armenian, and Turkish. He feels that the Turks are wonderfully accessible compared with what they were a few years ago. Whilst I was with Mr. Wolters, on April 9th, three men came in to converse with him.

You will have heard from Mr. Wolters his strong testimony in favour of Mr. Dalessio, who, after a night of suffering from his chronic disease—spasmodic asthma—rises in the morning, though weak and exhausted, to attend to his duties with unabated assiduity. As Mr. Wolters says, "his happiest days and hours are those in which he finds opportunities of speaking of the way of salvation to some Turk, Jew, or nominal Christian." He is the first-fruit of the Mission of the Church Missionary Society in Smyrna. He became a member of the Church of England in 1829, and, to use Mr. Wolters' words, ever since then he has led a steady Christian life, and been an instrument of promoting Christian knowledge amongst the inhabitants of this large and populous city.

PALESTINE.

European Mission Establishment :

- Rev. William Krusê (m), to Egypt 1825 ; to Palestine 1852.
- Rev. F. Augustus Klein (m) 1851.
- Rev. John Zeller (m) 1855.
- Dr. Charles Sandreczki (m), first joined the Society at Syra 1838 ; to Palestine 1851.
- Mr. James Huber (m), to West Africa 1850 ; to Palestine 1853.

The Palestine Mission has been again reduced, both in the number of its stations and of its Missionaries. The Committee having decided upon relinquishing the out-station of Bethlehem, it was taken up by the Berlin Jerusalem Society, and the European catechist, Mr. Miller, who had resided there, transferred his services to the same Society.

The year has also been one of constant alarm, lest the disturbances in Syria should break out in Palestine, and the minds of the inhabitants have been in an excited and unsettled state. Under these circumstances, the Missionaries have been unable to take their usual tours, and no marked events have occurred in any of the stations of the Society.

JERUSALEM.

Dr. Sandreczki and Mr. Klein have resided at Jerusalem during the year under review. Dr. Sandreczki holds Bible classes at Jerusalem, and visits Ramleh and other villages. He also receives at his house occasional inquirers, both Turks, Greeks, and Romanists. Mr. Klein gives this report of his labours during the last year—

The word of God has been preached regularly on Sundays in our little chapel, and the attendance has been very satisfactory. I often have opportunities to see how our people value and enjoy the blessings and privileges bestowed upon them by means of these services. The attendance of strangers is not as encouraging as I could wish; but still there are always a few that come, and some regularly. Several new members have joined our congregation during the course of last year. It cannot be denied that our little Arab Protestant church, with its regular preaching of the Gospel of salvation, and its evangelical services, is a witness to the various communities of this city. But some shut their ears, others hear and approve, but still remain in darkness: others, again, are convinced of the truth, and declare their readiness openly to confess it, if we will guarantee to them the same temporal assistance, chiefly house-rent, which they now enjoy from their own community.

On the 1st of June I set out on a tour with Mr. Müller, which lasted nine days. We visited a portion of the Nablous district, where they had scarcely ever seen the face of a Frank. We had many good opportunities of bringing the glad tidings of salvation to poor sinners among the Moslems and Christians. The result of this tour confirms my former experience that the work among the Moslems requires, in a special degree, a spirit of love, wisdom, zeal, and cheerfulness—much holy boldness in confessing and making known the “foolishness” of the doctrine of the cross, in the midst of bitter enemies and scoffers: it requires also the spirit of meekness and patience, and, above all, faith, which hopes against hope, and believes without seeing. Missionary tours among the Moslems, even under present distressing circumstances, are feasible, though the results are not encouraging. When liberty of religion is once established, we shall have a more ready hearing, and the conversion of a few of the influential Mohammedans of the country would be a sure means of bringing many to inquire into the truth of Christianity. In order to make these occasional visits more useful, and the impression on the minds of the people more lasting, we ought to have appropriate tracts for distribution. Such should be widely circulated, to rouse, as much as possible, the Moslems to inquire into the subject of Christianity.

Ramleh.

Mr. Gröhler has continued to reside in this village, and to superintend the few Protestants, numbering only fifteen: there is a school of thirty six children, and the Scriptures are distributed in the neighbourhood. But very little spiritual life is apparent among the people. Only one individual has joined the Protestants during the last year. The labourer is greatly discouraged by the apathy, and often opposition, to the truth, which prevail in all classes. Mr. Klein, however, gives a more favourable view of the station in his annual letter—

The first excitement is over. The inquirers from the Greek church, who formerly came in pretty large numbers, have satisfied their curiosity; but the members of the small congregation have remained steadfast, and their conversation, notwithstanding their many imperfections and failings, proves the sincerity of their profession. Mr. Gröhler has laboured with his usual zeal and energy in the congregation and in the school. He has succeeded in selling a good number of Bibles and Testaments at Ramleh and at Jaffa.

NAZARETH.

Messrs. Zeller and Huber have laboured at this station. The aspect of affairs at this place is of a more encouraging character. Mr. Zeller reports, at the close of the year—

The attendance at our services here has become so large, that our schoolroom does not afford the necessary accommodation for the hearers, and it is very desirable that the room should be improved. At our out-stations the number of those who leave the Greek church increases. At Kana about eighteen adults attend the meetings which Mr. Huber has held nearly every Sunday, and many of the Christians at Yafa are in constant intercourse with me, and attend our services here.

Mr. Zeller thus describes the state of the country round Nazareth, in his annual letter at the close of the year—

A much wider sphere of usefulness has opened for the Missionaries, notwithstanding the French occupation of Syria. The bonds of ecclesiastical tyranny have become greatly loosened since the late catastrophe, the utter worthlessness of the corrupt priesthood has been exposed, and the confidence of the people in their spiritual guides has been greatly weakened. Protestant Missionaries are now everywhere welcome, if not to the priests, yet to the people, and their words are acceptable to the latter. There have been many new opportunities for Missionaries to become acquainted with the people, and to bring to them the tidings of salvation.

The circumstances at my station here are in many respects similar to those in Mount Lebanon. Though we have not had the sudden destruction of life and property as there, yet we had to go through the same ordeal of danger and panic, an account of which has perhaps never reached the Committee. The consequences of it, and the consequences of the events in Mount Lebanon and Damascus, have been most severely felt by the population here. The country round Nazareth has been overflowed with fugitives and destitutes from the North, and every one had in some measure to bear the burden of this great calamity: commerce came to a standstill at Nazareth, respectable merchants became bankrupt, the price of provisions increased to more than double, and the scarcity of the same became so oppressive, that a great many are obliged at present to live only upon acorns, and wild herbs seasoned with a little oil.

JAFFA.

Mr. Krusé, whose impaired health, after thirty-five years' labour, does not permit of his undertaking much active duty, remains at this station, holding Arabic services every Sunday. He has daily visitors from the city and neighbourhood applying to him for medical advice, in which he possesses much knowledge and skill: he endeavours to improve such opportunities of spiritual instruction, but his report is discouraging: he writes—

One would naturally expect, that out of so many patients who daily receive medicine gratis, and to whom I speak faithfully, there must be some who would think about their spiritual state, and seek for some more enduring substance; but no, their only care is for their temporal necessities. One of the numberless patients, a Copt from Egypt, who has received very much assistance from me, has indeed joined us during the last two years, but he appears as dead as ever; and I believe that if he could derive any temporal advantage from the Greek church he would not remain with us.

During this last year Mr. Grühler, from Ramleh, has visited Jaffa every fortnight. (Mr. Grühler is a very competent Arabic speaker and preacher.) He goes like a Colporteur, with Bibles and Testaments and Psalters, from shop to shop, and wherever he is civilly received he enters into religious conversation. We had hoped that the zeal of this young man would have aroused some: but he often returns almost disheartened, when the people tell him they must attend to their business. Last time he was here they had a holiday, and he thought that a favourable opportunity, but they told him, "We are going to enjoy ourselves." However, he invited some young men to come in the evening to the school-room: they came, he read the Scriptures to them, but when he returned he seemed oppressed: he could only say, "These people have no mind at all for religion."

EGYPT.

The increasing illness and infirmities of the Rev. J. R. T. Lieder have obliged him to retire from all active duties, and Cairo will therefore cease to be a station of the Society.

General Remarks.

DURING the year 1860 one Missionary has been added to the Western-India Mission, the Rev. T. K. Weatherhead, M.A. Mr. Weatherhead having had some experience in the ministry at home, was appointed to assist the Secretary of the Corresponding Committee, the Rev. J. S. S. Robertson, whose declining health will, it is feared, oblige him soon to leave India. The Rev. Mr. Matchett and Mr. Goodall have been compelled, by the failure of health, to leave Sindh and return to Europe, and Mr. Price, of Nasik, has also returned to England on a visit.

The contributions of friends in Western India have rather declined during the last year, in consequence of fewer collections at churches. They have amounted to 1151*l*.

The statistics of the Mission exhibit, however, a gratifying increase in the number of converts. Two years ago they amounted to 374, last year to 468, this year to 526. Another station, Aurungabad, has been added to the Mission, and there is some increase in the number of children at the Society's schools. In Nasik, however, and Junir, the schools have been broken up by "caste" prejudices, and they have not yet been re-established. The local Report also states—"In the Junir districts it would appear that some of the native officials connected with the public service have raised a strenuous opposition to the efforts made by Missionaries in behalf of schools."

BOMBAY.

The native Christians in Bombay are a very fluctuating body, many of them being servants, and removing with their masters; others only making a temporary stay in the city. Divine service is held for their instruction on Sunday morning in the hall of the Robert-Money Institution, and the native minister, the Rev. J. Wilson, has taken the pastoral charge of them. The state of the congregation is not satisfactory to the Missionaries. Mr. Isenberg was resident in Bombay for the first ten months of the year. He then removed to Nasik, to take charge of that station upon Mr. Price's departure for Europe, and Mr. Schwarz took his place at Bombay.

Hindustanee Mission.

The Rev. J. G. Deimler was directed by the Committee to devote his attention to the Mohammedan population of Bombay, and to such inhabitants of East Africa as might visit the post. He has therefore acquired the Hindustanee and Persian languages, and writes, in his annual letter—

† I have been glad to obtain the assistance of Mr. Wilson, of our Society, for the carrying on of Hindustanee preaching every Thursday evening before the American Mission chapel, a most convenient place for the attraction of Mussulmans, which place on that evening was kindly left to us by the American Missionaries, because unoccupied by themselves for Mahratti preaching. We generally had a good attendance: sometimes there was great indifference, at other times a good deal of attention; sometimes perfect quietness, and even assent to our statements, at other times much of discussion, cavilling, and opposition. On the whole, though we have not seen any fruit, yet we have been greatly encouraged to continue preaching Jesus Christ, the Son of God, and the Saviour of the world, crucified and glorified, even to Mohammedans. Some, who have vehemently opposed us at first, have been most quiet at other times: some would even promise to call on us, but none have made hitherto their appearance.

As there is no Hindustanee preaching besides carried on in the streets of Bombay, and as we can scarcely overrate the importance of street-preaching for reaching and influencing the masses, it is most desirable that we should have regular preaching, if possible, every evening. Besides preaching, I call on people at their shops, endeavouring to introduce the subject of religion. Thus I become acquainted with a number of persons, a few of whom like to speak on the topic of religion.

The Mussulmans of Bombay represent indeed a great field for extensive Missionary labour, and I am just about to feel my way amongst them. The greater part of them speak Hindustanee, amongst whom our Mission may be considered as having fully commenced. Then there are the Guzurati-speaking Mohammedans, and again a good number of Persians and Arabs, some rather wealthy merchants; and, last, there are the many Suahelis from the coast of East Africa. For each of these races it would be well to have a catechist, so that five catechists might immediately be very usefully employed. For the present, a good supply of Arabic and Persian books and tracts, including some Scriptures, would be very acceptable. But we must look up to the Lord, who alone can give the increase, and supply us with men fit and prepared to preach Jesus Christ, the wisdom and power of God.

Mr. Deimler has had under his instruction several lads from the East Coast of Africa, who were liberated from a slaver, and he entertains a hope that he may yet be able to benefit his former field of labour, and to assist his brother Missionary, Mr. Rebmann, by the preparation in Bombay of suitable labourers for the African Mission.

The Rev. J. Wilson, native minister, makes these general remarks upon the state of the heathen in Bombay—

The men of the old school still adhere to the faith of their ancestors, but they will soon pass away, and the generation following, one feels confident in saying from the state of things in Bombay, will seek for something better and more substantial to rest upon than that which their forefathers have handed down to them. This remark is equally applicable to the Parsees, who are very rapidly Europeanizing themselves, and will, with their manners, adopt their religion, we trust. They are an independent race, proud with regard to their distinctions, and very much given, at present, to keeping themselves aloof from all Missionary influence. The Mohammedans in Bombay, I must say, are very ignorant, which makes them the more bigoted. In our school there are scarcely two dozen Mohammedan lads studying English, and that amongst so many as three hundred pupils of other denominations. The state of the Mohammedan population in Bombay is very sad and deplorable. Besides the Hindus, the Parsees, and the Mohammedans, there is another class of natives in Bombay who deserve attention, as they are daily growing more and more influential: these are the Banians. They are principally employed in trade. Their great act of worship consists in venerating their maharajah, who is regarded by them as a descendant of one of the Hindu incarnations. This personage is worshipped by the Banians. The present Maharajah in Bombay had fallen into disrepute lately, and his immoral and licentious conduct was severely criticised by almost all the native papers. The Banians speak the Guzerati language. All Missionary efforts in Bombay have been directed towards the Mahratti-speaking population.

In addition to his other labours, Mr. Wilson has adopted the following method of reaching the native mind—

Private classes have been opened by me in week-days for office-going young men who are desirous of prosecuting their studies in English. They come to me in the mornings, on Tuesdays and Fridays, at seven o'clock. I have derived much encouragement and pleasure from these classes. They are, I trust, calculated to do good among the educated natives, to whom we with difficulty have access, as they are employed in offices all day long.

The Robert-Money School

The Rev. R. Galbraith has been very successful in improving the discipline and efficiency of this school, especially in the department of scriptural instruction. His operations are still impeded by the want of a higher class of masters. He is also most anxious to obtain the assistance of a second ordained Missionary of high educational talents, to assist him in the duties of his arduous charge. The number of scholars has risen from about 300 at the beginning of last year to 400 at its close. A great improvement has also taken place in the regularity of attendance; so that, for the last half-year, a very small proportion were absent each day. Mr. Galbraith writes—

Besides improvement in regularity of attendance, there has, I think, been some improvement in the general teaching of the classes, each of which I examine at least once a month, and this has been beneficial.

But to speak more particularly with regard to the spiritual instruction. The first four classes learn the Scriptures in English, and by degrees I have been able to lead all the boys to buy Bibles for themselves, so that now they do so as a matter of course. At first I began by myself contributing towards the price of the Bibles, and inducing many of them to pay the rest of the price, that they might have the book as their own.

While looking at the Christian instruction in the school, I most regret the state of the Roman Catholics, their ignorance in Scripture, and the difficulty of teaching them. They come here to learn English, and consequently, as soon as they know English at all tolerably, the majority of them go away, and that in very great ignorance of the Scriptures; for they thus go away as soon as we are able to teach them the Scriptures in English. They have indeed got Bibles, and got the habit of reading them in school, and this habit may, in some cases, continue, and thus do them good afterwards, though I cannot say much for the actual amount of Christian truth which they learn here. Nor can I expect them to learn much more, except I could teach them in Portuguese, and I do not see any prospect at present of my being ever able to do so, as I know nothing of it, and know not how I could make time to learn it: and yet it would indeed be a happy thing if the 120 Roman Catholics who are in the school, and attend most regularly, were well instructed in the Scriptures. Above all other schools, ours is likely to benefit them. Coming to us—to a school established not for them, but in the hope of leading men from heathenism to Christianity—many of their sympathies are with us. They come here, I think, rather with feelings of agreement with us against heathenism, than with feelings of opposition to us as Protestants: consequently, we could not be in a more outwardly advantageous position for doing them good. We have a class of thirty Mohammedans just formed, who now read the New Testament in Hindustanee, with Mr. Wilson.

While speaking of scriptural instruction, I may mention that the Hindus continue to be addressed at the close of each day in Mahratti for about ten minutes; and this, I hope, is of use. Would that I myself were able to speak to them two or three times a week, fluently, clearly, and lovingly, in their own tongue, of the wonderful blessings of Christianity.

The Hindu boys, although remaining only a short time, do necessarily learn something of Christianity: they hear its sound daily, both in their respective classes and when assembled together in the hall. They see it in some degree in the living witness of the Christians who are in the school. The Roman Catholics, too, receive Christian instruction. The Potestants, of course, do so too, and, I hope, are daily seeking to live more godly, righteous, and sober lives. And in all this work, though I do not see much of the highest fruit, yet I feel that the school must be doing good, and, if not leading men visibly to Christ, yet at least that it is preparing the way for their reception of Christianity.

Mr. Galbraith points out the great drawback to the efficiency of the school in the fact, that the children remain so short a time in the school—the majority not more than twelve months, and then remove for the most part to the Government schools. This, he fears, can only be remedied by the introduction of a higher standard of instruction, which would require a greatly-increased staff of tutors and a larger expenditure.

The Vernacular Schools remain as in former years. The five schools under Miss White keep up an attendance of 143 Mahratti girls and 30 boys. These schools, and the intercourse of Miss White with the parents, have so conciliated the goodwill of the classes who receive the benefit, that a great change has become manifest in their behaviour towards the conductors of the schools. Miss White reports—

I wish here to state that Mohammedan women, who before used to avoid having any religious conversation, now call in numbers, and earnestly beg of me to explain to them the New Testament. I have had them in such numbers as twenty or thirty at a time, and these respectable merchants' wives.

It is with deep gratification I have to inform you that the young women taught in your Society's schools, though they have left in consequence of their age, still, when I am in the bazaar schools, they come from their houses, and form a class, read the Scripture, and have it explained to them. Old women, who before made a jest of educating females, have said to me that they see the benefit of instruction, and only wish they had it; and have also said, that when they had trouble and sorrow, they have asked the young women who could read, to read to them, which gave them great comfort.

Mrs. Jerrom continues to conduct an Orphanage, containing from twenty to thirty children, which is an increase upon the numbers of last year. The Orphanage contains an interesting class of African girls taken from a captured slaver, of whom Mr. Isenberg writes—

The last batch of African liberated girls which Mrs. Jerrom received into her Institution in May consists of sixteen girls, all of whom are Gallas, and natives of Gurague, except one, who is a negress. With most of those fifteen I am very happy to say that I can converse, because they understand Amharic. I had yesterday a long conversation with them, when I read part of my Amharic primer to them, and made remarks and questions upon it, and taught them the Lord's Prayer, and read the Ten Commandments. Four of these—together with the negress—who are children, I baptized on the 2nd inst. All of these children are very promising: they seem so sensible of the kindness they receive, and with which they are treated by Mrs. Jerrom.

NASIK.

This station has been under the charge of Mr. Price, who resides in the Christian village of Sharanpur, a short distance from the town. Mr. Frost, though making Nasik his headquarters, devotes himself to the work of itineration among the heathen. Mr. Davidson, and the native minister, Appaji Bapaji, have also laboured at this station.

At the close of the year Mr. Price being about to visit Europe, Mr. Isenberg took his place at Nasik. This experienced Missionary has furnished the Committee with a graphic and valuable review of the labours of his younger brother Missionary, of which the following are extracts—

The success which has attended the long-continued patient labours of the Lord's servants here is most cheering: 107 baptisms—namely, forty-eight adults, and fifty-nine children, including nineteen Africans—have taken place during the last year; thirteen persons are under instruction as candidates for baptism; fifty-seven candidates for confirmation. The town of Nasik is regularly and frequently visited, with the preaching of the Gospel in several localities of it, by our native brethren. Our out-stations are at Gangapur, where Mr. Sorabji Kharsedji is going to live in a few days, and where a school on a small scale is kept by a Scripture-reader and his wife, and where there are a number of inquirers and candidates for baptism: at Wadala, where an assistant catechist and his wife live in a school, built by Mr. Price for them, holding service with the few newly-converted natives, and preaching to the heathen: at Patedi, where another Scripture-reader and wife live, and keep a school, and seek to benefit the small number of newly-converted, and a larger number of unconverted heathen: these, and a number of other villages around us, where there are native converts and inquirers scattered among the masses of the heathen, are regularly visited and worked by our catechists.

The Christian village is a settlement containing thirty little houses or cottages, occupied at present by forty-one families—125 persons, viz. eighty adults and forty-five children, not including parties in direct employment by the Mission. All are Christians, and earn their bread by their labour, chiefly in the Industrial Institution. A set of rules has been laid down, by which the affairs of the settlement are regulated, and to which every settler has to subscribe; and a panchayat (council), over which the resident Missionary presides, and of which the native minister, now settled at Sharanpur, and the catechists, as well as the European superintendent of the Industrial Institution, are standing members, three of the settlers, elected by their brother settlers themselves, being annual members. This body watches over the due observance of the rules, deliberates upon secular matters of importance for the community, and settles disputes between contending parties.

The village also contains, besides the Industrial Institution, the Orphanage, with twenty-six boys and twenty-five girls, and the African Asylum for liberated-African boys, brought into Bombay harbour from time to time. Twenty-nine boys were made over to the care of Mr. Price in the early part of the year.

In this field of multifarious labour, we rejoice in the good hand of our God being upon us. In his strength my dear brother Price was enabled to lay a good foundation; and, in the same strength, I hope to build upon that foundation while here. It is my comfort to know that that strength is perfected in human weakness and through opposing difficulties. With my native brethren here, in whom I rejoice to acknowledge a nice little band of fellow-labourers, I am united in earnest prayer and humble exertion to lay hold on that strength, waiting upon our God until He is gracious unto us. While the blessing of God increases, the spirit of prayer is felt increasingly working in our hearts; and I think I am not mistaken in viewing this as an earnest of further and more glorious blessings than those hitherto witnessed. We have gladly responded to both the calls for united prayer which issued severally from Calcutta and from Loodiana in the course of last year, and have devoted the first fortnight of this new year to daily meetings at six P.M. in our little church, for that purpose, which meetings have been well attended. We have found our beautiful Litany, so apt to introduce specifically the objects nearest to our hearts, of very great use.

Itineration among the Heathen.

The Rev. A. Frost has continued his system of thorough and persevering itineration, within a prescribed district, for the whole season in which it was possible to remain in tents. The results of his labour are not at present visible, but there are clear indications that his work is not in vain, and his own spirit is sustained in patient hope and lively faith. The Bishop of Bombay, after visiting Nasik, writes—

Mr. Frost goes on perseveringly with his admirable method of itinerant preaching. The very sight of his map, with its clusters of villages, in all of which he has told at least once the message of love, is cheering to the eye and heart. The population throughout the district are growing familiar with the name and work of the Lord Jesus. The seed is sown, only may the gracious rain come down!

The following are extracts from the annual report of Mr. Frost—

I pitch my tent in some suitable place, and preach morning and evening, visiting every town and hamlet within a circle of four or five miles. Should any desire be expressed to hear further, gladly would I repeat my visits till the desire ceased, and, if it continue, joyfully would I remain in such a place, or, as circumstances indicated, place a Christian teacher amongst them. This desire has but rarely been shown: when it has, I have, after repeated visits, been requested to visit them no more at present, this request being accompanied by a promise to invite me to them when they wished to hear more.

On other occasions the spirit of inquiry, at first promising, has been suddenly checked by the arrival of a Brahmin visitor, who has poisoned the minds of the people, or intimidated them.

The opinions expressed in my last annual letter on the desirableness of the native and foreign preacher being associated together, remain the same, yet there are some advantages which the European gains by being unaided. He is thereby brought into more close and continuous intercourse with the people, and his acquaintance with the language is increased: at the same time there are occasions when objections are raised and arguments urged, which can never be so effectually answered as by an intelligent native. Still, as I have always shunned, as much as I could, controversial intercourse with the people, I the less regret a deficiency in this respect, as I do not think, and have never thought, real good likely to result from such discussions. Indeed, among the many who have cavilled or proposed difficulties, I do not remember one instance in which there has appeared a humble spirit of inquiry.

The truth as it is in Jesus, I desire grace seriously and affectionately to state and urge this on the acceptance of the people; and it is with a heavy heart that I now ever draw aside to controversy. I feel happy only in the simple delivery of the Gospel message, touching only on those parts of heathenism which all should know to be sinful and offensive to the Most High, and absolutely incompatible with the embracing the offers of salvation.

Most earnestly do I hope and pray that the Lord will raise up and send forth many after His own heart to strengthen the various branches of our Society's operations: much do I value each branch of labour, for my seven years' residence in India has not led me to undervalue any. My work during the two years in which I had the charge of the Money Institution, my yearly residence in Nasik during the rains, near the Christian church at Sharanpur, and the few seasons I have been enabled to itinerate,—these have furnished me with an experience of the peculiar hopes and trials connected with the different departments of our Missionary work, and I have thus been led truly to sympathize with my brethren, whose hearts have been drawn to undertake different duties. For my own part I was led to desire the work of an itinerating preacher, not for any higher importance I attach to it, but because my heart delights in it, and I believe that, in some respects, I may be more fitted to undertake it with happiness to myself. I have never wearied in it, for which I thank the God of all mercy; and though at times the work may have to be carried on in weariness and painfulness, yet my heart rejoices in it, and glad shall I be if the Lord do strengthen me, that I may end my days in it.

JUNIR.

The Rev. Messrs. Schwarz and Hofer have resided at this station during the last year. For a portion of the year their labours are devoted to the town and neighbouring villages, and for the rest of the year they itinerate in the surrounding country. As yet these faithful and zealous labourers have met with very small encouragement. Mr. Schwarz reports—

Another year of Missionary labour has gone by, and, though in great weakness and with sinful lips, yet a great amount of the truth of God has been brought before the people: the exceeding great love of God through Christ the crucified Saviour has, with earnest hearts, been declared unto them; but still the ice has not commenced melting away from the hearts of the people. Expressions like this, "Why do you come any more among us? we are tired of hearing," show plainly that our preaching is not appreciated. We have much reason earnestly to pray that the Lord may take away the reproach with which the people reproach his own cause, when they say that not a single soul will come out of Junir and become a Christian.

Mr. Hofer also reports—

There are as yet no converts at this station, excepting our own servants, who all come from other places: one from Bombay, where she was baptized about two years ago, and two from Madras: one is a Roman Catholic, but has expressed a wish to me to be received into the Protestant church.

One young man was baptized in the past year by the Rev. C. F. Schwarz, who came from a village several miles distant. Mr. Schwarz met with him on a tour, and brought him home, and took him into his service, where he has remained, and walks orderly, as far as we can observe.

I have been repeatedly encouraged to begin a school again at Junir, and succeeded in establishing one in October, which is attended by about thirty or forty boys, who are pretty regular in their attendance, and seem to make progress. A short time after, I established one in a village six miles from here. It is not a large village, but it forms a centre from which others of greater size may be easily reached. Besides, the people seemed willing to hear of Christianity, and to send their children to school, and even offered to pay half the salary of a master: I therefore engaged one, and the result at first was encouraging. I had great hopes of that village, but, on our last visit, we found that the number of children had much decreased, and, on inquiry, we found that the native tax-assessor and the mamlutdar from Junir had been to the place and influenced the people against us, advising them to have nothing to do with the Missionaries, but to apply for a Government school; so we fear that we shall not be able to continue our school there.

With regard to the attitude of the people towards the Gospel, I cannot say any thing to inspire great hopes: they are dead in sin, and wish for nothing better. May God soon open their eyes to see their sinful state, and their need of a Saviour, and may He give us grace to be faithful!

MALLIGAUM.

The Rev. C. C. Mengé and the Rev. E. Rogers have laboured at this station during the last year. Like their brethren at Junir, the hot and rainy season is employed in bazaar preaching, and in visiting the neighbourhood of the town. During the cooler season the Missionaries itinerate in the province of Kandesh. The following are extracts from Mr. Mengé's Annual Report for the year 1860—

Having been engaged in Missionary labours for more than twenty years among the Mahratti population in the Deccan and in Kandesh, I can truly say, that at no previous period have I felt so much the need of united labours and prayers in the Mission field as just now, when so many hearts of the Lord's people are drawn together in prospect of the wonderful things which are about to take place, both among Christian and heathen nations. We have therefore felt it a pleasant duty and a high privilege to join with our fellow-labourers and Christian brethren at Malligaum in daily united prayers and supplications for one week, to ask Almighty God for a large outpouring of his Holy Spirit upon ourselves and the heathen around us. We have come in from the district for the purpose of attending these holy gatherings of God's children, and taking with us a blessing upon the work of our hands into the surrounding villages.

You will be glad to hear that the number of our native Christians has greatly increased during the year under review. When we arrived here last year there were, with the exception of the assistant catechist's family, only three or four native Christians connected with the Poor Asylum, besides a family in an adjacent village, and Santosh and his son at Wudneir. There are now thirty-eight native Christians, including eighteen children, who are living in my compound, and receive daily instruction in the Christian religion, besides those who are living with Mr. Rogers and Shunkur Nana. Most of these people are from the Ahmednuggur district, and had been working on the railroad not far from Malligaum. Sickness obliged them to come into Malligaum. They are all heathen, with the exception of Sukkaram and his family, who had been baptized by our American brethren, although they were more or less acquainted with Christians, and had given up idolatry. When Sukkaram had recovered his health, I felt that he and his wife might be usefully employed in teaching their countrymen and women the truth as it is in Jesus, and I am thankful to say that I have not been disappointed in them. While they continued to improve themselves daily in reading and writing, they, at the same time, have been diligent and faithful in preaching and teaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ to their heathen neighbours. The fruit of their labours, and of our daily instruction in the word of God, is, that I have been permitted to baptize eleven persons during the past year, and that there are left, besides children, eight adults who are candidates for baptism, and may be admitted to that holy rite in the course of this year. Of most of those adults who have been baptized I have an humble hope that they are sincere, though weak and liable to stumble and fall. It is, therefore, of great importance that they should not be left to themselves, but regularly fed with the pure milk of the word of life.

All the Christians who are living in my compound are supporting themselves by the labour of their hands, with the exception of Sukkaram and his wife, who make themselves useful in the Mission. A Christian gentleman, who has a small bungalow at a place not far from the railroad, and still within, or just on, the borders of my Missionary district, generously offered to make it over to our Mission as a free gift unto the Lord. One great advantage which our Mission would derive from the possession of this would be, that their Missionary might remain in the district for a longer time, and not only teach the inhabitants of the neighbouring villages, but also the numerous workmen employed on the railroad.

Mr. Rogers reports—

At Malligaum my time has been given partly to preaching, partly to the superintendence of the schools. In ministering to the native-Christian congregation, Mr. Mengé and I have taken the Sunday services alternately. The Christian congregation has increased considerably. This has been partly by baptized persons who have come from other stations, principally from the Nuggur districts, and partly by the baptism of their friends and relatives, who had been previously under instruction.

At the suggestion of Shunkur Balawant, we commenced some time ago a monthly Missionary meeting. I was afraid the smallness of our number would prevent its being sustained with any degree of interest; but I am thankful to say that it has not only been kept up, but has gradually increased in interest. A collection is always made, to which the poor contribute most willingly.

For preaching to the heathen in Malligaum, I took, at the commencement of the Mission, a shop near the bazaar. In this place Mr. Mengé and myself, with our assistants, have preached regularly every bazaar day. We never fail to get a large congregation, many of our hearers being villagers who have come to the bazaar. Preaching has also been regularly carried on at other times for the benefit of the Malligaum people.

We have at present six schools in connexion with our Mission at Malligaum, viz. English school, number of boys attending, 42; Mahratti school, 58; Mahratti school at Dhabadi (a village three miles from Malligaum), 55; girls' school, 19; Christian school for boys and girls, 18; Mahratti school at Samaksher (a village adjoining Malligaum), 5: total, 197.

In the report of last year mention was made of a remarkable man, Bhulsa Boa, who, though himself not a Christian, taught Christianity to others. One of his disciples, Santosh, and his son, had been baptized by the Missionaries. The following notices of this person occur in the reports of this year. Mr. Mengé writes—

I think you will like to hear something of Bhulsa Boa, and of Santosh and his son. As regards Bhulsa Boa, the intelligent guru of Wadneir, of whom I wrote to you in my last annual letter, I can only say that he continues much the same that he was last year. He is still teaching his disciples the truth of the Bible, but will not make an entire surrender of himself unto the Lord Jesus. He studiously avoids me, and I have not yet had an opportunity of seeing him again since I last wrote to you.

Mr. Rogers writes respecting the same individual—

At Jalgaum I met Bhulsa Boa, the former friend and fellow-guru of Santosh. He told me that he had determined on leaving Wadnier, in consequence of the persecution to which he had been subjected since Santosh's baptism. He was teaching the Mahars at Jalgaum to read. Among his pupils I observed two or three adults. He uses our Christian books, and teaches something of Christianity. The whole truth he certainly does not teach, nor does he appear to be prepared to embrace Christianity himself. To do so would be to sacrifice his all, and this he is not prepared to do. Still he is a man for whom we should earnestly pray.

I had thought that the people of the lower castes were more favourably inclined towards Christianity than others; but I find the same pride of caste and the same enmity to the truth among the lowest as the highest. The most bitter feelings of animosity were manifested by many of the Mahars towards Santosh when he first joined us. We noticed this in many villages where he was known. Before his conversion he was respected even by persons of the higher castes, and I am glad to find that he is now regaining his former influence.

Mr. Rogers also reports respecting Santosh—

He had been an earnest inquirer for some years previous to his baptism in the summer of 1859. Before his baptism he had read and studied the first part of the Old Testament, and nearly the whole of the New Testament, very attentively, consequently he has a very good knowledge of the most important facts and doctrines of the Bible. He has acquired considerable influence over his former disciples, and he speaks to the caste people with more affectionate earnestness than any native I ever heard. Being an old man he is not equal, however, to much hard work.

AURUNGABAD.

A spirit of inquiry of a very promising kind has lately sprung up at Aurungabad, in the territory of the Nizam, at the distance of 120 miles from Nasik. Several of the inquirers received at Sharanpur belonged to families residing at Aurungabad, and thus some knowledge of Christianity was spread in that neighbourhood. A catechist also, lately employed at Nasik, went to reside at Aurungabad upon his own resources. After some months, the Missionaries of Nasik were invited to visit the inquirers at Aurungabad.

Mr. Davidson proceeded to the place in November, and wrote from thence a Report, of which the following are extracts—

The inquirers about here are far more hopeful than I was at first led to suppose. I have had so many bitter disappointments during the last two or three years with respect to persons who seemed very hopeful, that I find it was beginning to produce in my mind a sort of involuntary distrust of native inquirers generally; but a further acquaintance with these inquirers has convinced me, that at least eighteen of them are under the influence of the Holy Spirit's working. There is no mistaking the fact that God has begun to work mightily in these parts. There are near Aurungabad (scattered in villages within a radius of twelve miles) close upon a hundred people desirous to embrace Christianity, but the majority of them are in so much darkness and ignorance, that it will be a long time before it would be right to administer baptism to them. All these eighteen are ready to endure persecution, and give up their little all for Christ. I fear they will soon be called upon to do so, for the Nizam's officials (all bigoted Brahmins and Mussulmans) are watching the present movement very malignantly, and most likely these poor people will soon be forced from their fields and homes, as there is scarcely the shadow of justice in the Nizam's dominion. I have made them distinctly understand that the English Government is powerless to protect them, as they are not British subjects, and also that they will receive no pecuniary assistance from me; but they say that if driven to it, they will work on the road for their living.

On Christmas-day Mr. Davidson admitted twenty-four to baptism, fourteen being adults, and ten children. At the close of his Report, he writes—

There is a special call to the Church Missionary Society to occupy this field, for the present movement may be regarded as the direct result of the labours of the Church Missionary Society's agents, Mr. Farrar, Mr. Dickson, Mr. Isenberg, Appaji, Ramji, and, to a very great extent, of the present Mission establishment at Sharanpur. Converts from there have visited their friends and relatives here, made known the glad tidings, and been the means of raising a wide-spread interest on the subject. The inquirers here turn naturally to us. They regard themselves as the spiritual children of the Church Missionary Society.

The present time is a peculiarly favourable juncture for the establishment of a Mission here, as Aurungabad is now made a first-class Bombay station.

SINDH MISSION.

(Commenced 1850.)European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Abraham Matchett, 1852—at home.

Rev. Andrew Burn, B.A., (m) 1852.

Rev. James Sheldon, 1854.

General Review of the Mission.

The staff of labourers in this Mission has been materially diminished during the last year. The native minister, the Rev. M. S. Seal, left Sindh on a visit to his friends in Calcutta, and was induced to transfer his services to that Mission. In the month of September Mr. Matchett was compelled, by the entire failure of his health, to leave India for a visit to Europe, and the station of Sukkur was suspended. Mr. Goodall has been also obliged to leave India from the failure of his health. Mr. Sheldon remains at Kurrachi, and Mr. Burn at Hyderabad.

The Bishop of Bombay visited Sindh in the month of July, and in a letter, from which an extract has already been given, writes—

One impression—patient continuance in well-doing—seemed to me to apply to each of the stations I have visited in my recent tour. At Sukkur I found Mr. Matchett: he thought he saw some few promising signs among the people. But he has one native Christian only with him. Since I saw him his health has broken from the intense heat. It was a beautiful self-devotion in him to beg permission to go to Sukkur, but now he must fall back upon the original plan of residing in Hyderabad, and visiting Upper Sindh in the cold season. With Mr. Burn at Hyderabad I had much happy converse. His work there is indeed the work of faith. It cannot be in vain. At Kurrachi things are advancing. I examined the school with satisfaction. Mr. Sheldon gains ground. The public meeting for the Mission was well attended, and I could see that there was a good feeling towards the cause. One thing struck me forcibly at the four stations—the decided and most salutary influence of the Missionaries on the European communities.

KURRACHI.

Mr. Sheldon reports of his labours at Kurrachi—

Much to my regret, I have no report of a Missionary tour to present. Constant and important duties in connexion with the press and Mission demanded my presence in Kurrachi.

The native congregation is of a mixed character: some attend the Hindustanee service, and some the English. Both these services are held in the new schoolroom on Sundays. The stated number of native Christians attending the former is small, but is always augmented by the attendance of inquirers and others. Occasionally I have counted twenty or more present. The English service has been well attended since the opening of the schoolroom, the congregation often numbering from thirty-five to forty. The object of this service is to benefit the Indo-British families who reside in the native town, as well as to provide means of grace for native Christians, of whom we have a small number, who prefer the English to the Hindustanee. It is thus made auxiliary to the native services, but is always kept subordinate to them, while the preparation for it and my English Bible classes is never allowed to interfere with my primary duties.

The English School has been improving in its tone during the last six months. The number of pupils attending it have increased from forty to seventy-eight at the close of the last year: of this number twenty-two are Christians. One token for good is the very encouraging increase in the attendance of Sindhees. These boys are most intelligent, and pursue their studies with great diligence. In one of our examinations two Sindhee boys were at the head, respectively, of the first and second classes: another Sindhee holds our only scholarship of three rupees a month. The school is, therefore, a most encouraging branch of our Mission. The departure of Mr. Goodall has thrown the whole of its duties upon me. Happily, one of my native inquirers, who has been my pupil during the last two years, has helped me in the emergency. He consents to act as my assistant during my pleasure: I have therefore engaged him.

The book-shop in the bazaar is still kept open for the sale of Scriptures and tracts. I see no reason to regret having secured this shop. Its central position in the bazaar affords us an excellent place for preaching and the distribution of our books. The reader is present every day to converse with visitors, and though he is often, in my absence, subjected to bitter taunts and abuse, patiently maintains his post. On preaching evenings, two or three times a week, I have, with the exception of the last month, been always present. In this work I cannot with truth confess to many encouragements. Large crowds have often assembled, some to listen, some to cavil, and occasionally respectable people have been present; but generally the poorest labourers, or bazaar idlers, have formed our audiences. My labours amongst the young men have been far more encouraging. To a wide circle of our respectable youths I am well known, and over them I believe I have influence. I am often visited by them, and have ready access to their reading-room, and to some of their homes. There is an ever-increasing desire amongst them to know more of our English literature and our Christian religion. Their love of English seems to leave no room for any thought or study of their own vernaculars, which, I grieve to say, are sadly neglected.

Our lithographic press has been kept at work during the year, with the exception of about six weeks, when the press-writer left Kurrachi through fear of the cholera. The following books have been lithographed—

One edition of St. John, Sindhee, Arabic character, 300 copies; ditto, Gurmukhi character, 300; one edition of Genesis, Sindhee, Arabic character, 300; one edition of tract by Abdulah, Hindustanee, 300; tracts, catechisms, vocabularies, &c., 1000: total, 2200.

I trust you will see, from the above, that some progress has been made since the date of my last letter. Notwithstanding many obstacles—the thinning of ranks by removals, the hindrances consequent upon the unusual prevalence of sickness, and my inability to secure the services of native helpers—the work has gone on. My own hopes for the future are brighter than ever they have been. God, I believe, has great things in store for Kurrachi. I may be deemed sanguine, but such is my firm conviction. It may be, God is trying our faith a little longer, that it may be seen how entirely the work of conversion is his own. May we wait in simple faith more and more upon the faithful Promiser! His word cannot fail. In his own good time He will visit us, and then shall we see that our labour has not been in vain in the Lord.

HYDRABAD.

Mr. Burn has occupied the station of Hyderabad during the last year. His report contains the following summary of his labours—

As the time comes round for a review of the work of the Mission for the past year, I feel concerned to have to dwell upon the future prospects rather than the present fruits. I know all the Committee are concerned for is to know that we are sowing the seed and using the means. I must tell you our engagements, and leave you to judge.

Before the hot weather had set in, Abdullah and I made a Missionary tour to the south, staying out during March and returning in June. We are happily situated in that respect at Hyderabad, that after the north is closed to us for itinerating from the heat, the south is still open, by reason of the sea breezes, a month or two longer.

From June to September we were engaged in bazaar preaching, and were attended by numerous and interested audiences. Translation was also carried on at the same time. A complete translation of the whole of Genesis was prepared, a new translation of Acts, and a fresh revision of one previously made of Luke. The first has been printed at Kurrachi; the second is now in hand; and the last in course of transcription, with that view.

We have been keeping the “week of prayer” since our arrival, gathering day by day, with our two or three native brothers and visitors, to join in the petitions to be offered by conest. It has been a great encouragement to re-commence our work here under such happy auspices.

CALCUTTA.

THE Rev. Messrs. Sandys, Long, and Vaughan have conducted the Missionary operations in Calcutta and its neighbourhood, the Rev. R. P. Greaves having removed to Santipore, to take charge of the Training Institution during Mr. Stern's visit to Europe. The Rev. G. G. Cuthbert left Calcutta at the end of the year, on a tour through the Missions in South India, Ceylon, and Western India, previously to his return to Europe for a visit, after fifteen years' zealous and able discharge of the duties of Secretary of the Calcutta and North-India Corresponding Committee. The Rev. E. C. Stuart has removed to Calcutta from Jubbulpore, to occupy the post of Mr. Cuthbert during his absence.

No events of special interest have been recorded during the past year in connexion with the labours of Messrs. Sandys and Long. Mr. Vaughan reports of the Native Christians in Mirzapore—

I have, during the last year, had more close and intimate communion with them than I ever had before. I have held in my house, weekly, two meetings for reading the Scriptures and prayer. Of course only the men have attended. My general impression of their Christianity has been favourable. They have—some of them at least—opened themselves out to me, revealed the inner workings of their own souls, and it has been often a comfort to me to ascertain clear and undoubted marks of earnest piety amongst them. I am inclined to think that we cannot do better than encourage this kind of social and familiar intercourse between ourselves and our people. We cannot otherwise understand them thoroughly.

Mr. Vaughan remarks, also, that the past year has yielded more encouragement to his labours among the heathen than any previous year. He has been blessed by several very interesting and promising conversions both in his general intercourse with the heathen, and also in a Lepers' Asylum in which he has ministered. Seven of the afflicted inmates have been already baptized. He notices how specially grateful to their ears are the tidings of that better land "where there shall be no more pain; where the inhabitants shall no more say I am sick; where there shall be no more sorrow, no more death, because the former things have passed away."*

Mr. Vaughan notices the rapid spread of infidel and deistical notions amongst those who have received an European education. He thinks that, in a very few years, the mass of the population of Calcutta will be infidel. He takes, however, some encouragement from the fact, that many such characters appear to be dissatisfied with a mere negative religion. "They confess and bewail their sins. But when you ask how can sin be pardoned—how can a man be just with God?—they are puzzled to answer. The Christian has his atonement, so has the Hindu, but they have nothing, nothing but a dim guess, a slender hope that God in mercy may forgive. I know, from repeated conversations with them, that they feel this their most vulnerable point. I have seen them, over and over again, at a loss what to say."

BURDWAN.

The Rev. B. Geidt and the Rev. A. P. Neele have continued in charge of this station. Mr. Geidt reports—

As regards our Mission work at Burdwan, it is going on steadily, and, we trust, not without good results. There are some who give evidence that they are the children of God. Some of my vernacular school-teachers take their turn with the catechists in preaching the Gospel around our Mission, so that two of my men, who are generally absent three or four weeks at a time, have been itinerating the whole year round, besides the two Colporteurs engaged under me to circulate the word of God in the district. A number of children, mostly heathen, and two adults—a man and a woman—have been baptized last year.

Mr. Geidt thus reports upon his itinerating labours at the close of the year—

"I have been itinerating with two of my catechists since the end of November last year, and hope (D.V.) to remain in the field a few weeks longer. Brother Vaughan joined me a month ago. The cold season being the time Europeans can iterate, I think we should make the best use of it, and it is in this way only that people in the interior can be reached. We observe on every Mission tour, that those who have heard us occasionally are more favourably disposed and more reasonable than others who have not. I wish we could iterate the whole year. It is a blessed work to make known a crucified Saviour to poor alienated and perishing sinners; showing them the only way of reconciliation with God, and directing their thoughts towards heaven.

KISHNAGURH.

The Mission in the Kishnagurh district is divided into eight stations: seven European Missionaries labour in them: three are under the superintendence of Mr. Schurr, two under Mr. Lincké, and two under Messrs. Blumhardt and Hasell respectively. The eighth station is Santipore, at which the Training Institution for schoolmasters is placed. Mr. Dyson assists Mr. Blumhardt at the Sudder station of Kishnagurh; Mr. Bomwetsch has partially relinquished his connexion with the Santi-pore Training Institution to undertake, itinerating preaching; Mr. Greaves, of the Calcutta Mission, having, during the last year, acted as Superintendant of the Training Institution.

The reports of the several stations are of the same mixed character as in former years. The nominal Christians, who were admitted too hastily into the Christian church by baptism nearly twenty years ago, continue to be a hindrance and reproach to the Mission. Mr. Dyson writes—

Numbers of reprobate Christians are scattered through the districts, who have shaken off all pastoral acknowledgment and discipline, and openly express their regret at having embraced the "Sahib's" religion, which has certainly disappointed them in their expectations of temporal gain. It is only very recently that an old catechist, one of the principal agents in Mr. Deerr's time in bringing many over to embrace the Gospel, then in introducing the Popish priest to the station; then an applicant to our Society for a pension; and then again instrumental in bringing back the priest; has now, at the end of all, formally renounced Christianity, and has taken to wearing the Brahminical thread again.

Mr. Lincké, the senior Missionary, in his annual letter, still gives a dark picture of the indifference and inconsistencies of the masses of nominal Christians. He concludes his statements with the touching remark—

As in a large company of entire strangers one single friend or acquaintance proves a solace, and is most welcome, so those few, few though they be, in whom the work of grace is evident, prove a great comfort. And may we not look upon them as an earnest for more, and as an evidence that God's Spirit has not forsaken us altogether in our work? Yes, I would look upon them as an encouragement to unabated exertions, and to pray more fervently that the little one may become a thousand, in which prayer I am sure all our Christian friends in England and elsewhere do most heartily join.

The external circumstances of the Mission are not, however, of such a discouraging character as these faithful reports of the Missionaries might seem to depict, while the educational establishments at the Sudder station and at Santipore are sources of much hope for the future.

This Mission was visited in July last by the Secretary of the Corresponding Committee, the Rev. G. G. Cuthbert, whose report of his tour through the Mission is as follows—

Saturday, the 7th of July, was occupied in the examination of the English school under charge of Mr. Dyson, which is certainly in excellent order, and very well taught, with the exception of the Euclid and Algebra of the first class.

On Sunday I preached to the English congregation, including Indigo Commissioners, and attended the Bengalee service, which was well frequented and performed.

On Monday morning, at daylight, we were ready to start for Chupra, and spent the day at that interesting station, which Mr. and Mrs. Hasell have brought into most beautiful order, not only as to the schools, but also the grounds, buildings, &c. The day was taken up with examining the boys', girls', and infants' schools, all of which are in admirable order, and very well taught indeed, especially the girls and infants, whose answering in geography and Scripture would astonish many teachers in Europe. In the evening, at Mr. Hasell's request, I addressed the native congregation assembled in the church, he acting as interpreter. The occasion was interesting, but would take too long to describe. At day-dawn again, on Tuesday morning, we were off to Kapasdanga, where again the day was fully occupied with the large and well-conducted schools—all large, except the boys' school, which consists mostly of little boys.

Wednesday I had proposed to go to Jogindo, the most distant of the stations, where there is no resident Missionary, Mr. Schurr superintending it. But bearers are not to be had; and though I had quite resolved on going if it had been practicable, it was, on the whole, as well, perhaps, I could not, for I wanted rest, and it would have been a very fatiguing expedition.

I went with Mr. Schurr to examine one of his outlying village schools for Hindu boys, and found it very respectable indeed in all respects.

Thursday, the 12th, off with Mr. Schurr early, to Ruttenpore, five miles. All at Ruttenpore (which is under Mr. Schurr's superintendence, a catechist, Nagis, being in immediate charge) seems in good working order. We examined the schools, which are not so large as they used to be, but are very fairly taught; and the buildings, at least the two Mission houses, which are in good order.

At Bollobpore all the schools are, I must say, improved. Miss Lincké has been of much use in improving the order and management of the girls' and infants' schools; and both girls and boys answered better than I had ever known them to do.

All the buildings here are in most beautiful order, having been just done up. The Romish invasion makes no noise at all now: the little settlement, indeed, still continues, and may yet do mischief; but one of the chief movers has of late begun to urge the people to come to church, &c. In the evening I had the people in the church, and addressed them through Mr. Lincké. I asked them (as I had done at Chupra) what was I to tell our friends in England as to the state of things in our Christian flocks here?

The answer from two or three of the better sort was nearly the same in both places, and was, on the whole, pleasing, viz. that there is some fruit visible, though all is far from what it should be: that it is to be hoped things will mend, and that there may be more good existing than appears outwardly.

Friday, the 13th, started very early with Mr. and Miss Lincké for Solo, visiting on the way a small village school, which is but a poor thing, an apology for a school.

But at Solo itself the school is most decidedly improved since my last visit, when I found great fault with it. It is now very good. The little bungalow has been rebuilt in a neat manner.

I could not get bearers here to go on with me to Chupra, so had to use Mr. Schurr's horse, which he had lent me. This made a ride of sixteen miles in the day, much more than I am now used to, and I arrived late in the evening, much tired, at Chupra, and on the same afternoon, the 14th, we pushed on to Kishnagurh, arriving again in the evening.

On Sunday, the 15th, I preached again to a small congregation, but somewhat larger than that of the previous Sunday.

Future hopes of the Mission.

Mr. Dyson thus describes the general preparedness of the people of the district for new Christian life, and points out the direction in which it may be expected that the blessing will be vouchsafed.

If there were to spring up a revival among our churches—if only the Spirit of God were to descend and quicken the faith and zeal of our teachers and readers, and in consequence, a general assault were made by these native Christians upon the surrounding heathenism—I am sure there would be vast accessions to our numbers and spiritual strength. But then I do not see that this is likely to be accomplished by the Europeans. The Missionaries may direct and control the movement, but, to be effectual, I think it must be spontaneous. Our religion, our zeal, are not, to any great extent, appreciable by the people. If the church in Kishnagurh is to extend its limits, it must be, as it appears to me, by a revival of love and zeal among our native preachers and teachers. Now I am not altogether in despair of witnessing this most desirable result. I quite think our teachers are becoming more conscious of their responsibility, more awake to their duties, and more desirous of promoting, in some degree, Christ's kingdom, both among themselves, and the heathen around them. As far as my experience goes, I should not augur any promising result from religious and revival prayer-meetings organized and conducted by the Missionaries themselves among their teachers. They are all employés, and the Bengalee character is very soft and plastic. Such a meeting would be the reflection of the Missionary's mind, and would go on as long as he supplied the impetus. Hence it is, that I regard with unmixed satisfaction the quiet, unostentatious, gradually progressive method in which our teachers conduct their meetings. They have now existed, independently of us, for two years. This year there has been a step in advance. Subscriptions are collected for Missionary purposes and charitable objects. I do not wish to say much on this subject, through fear of spoiling the good by over much publicity. I cannot but look upon these private, orderly, independent assemblies, as a germ of future growth and extension, the nucleus of the church that is to be.

Education—Santipore Training Institution.

Owing to the change of Principals, the Annual Report of the Santipore Training Institution has not been yet received, but the Rev. J. Long thus speaks of the examination which took place at Midsummer 1860—

The Santipore Normal School examination is over, and justifies fully the views with which that Institution was founded. One of the ex-pupils in my employ yesterday gave two lessons before me; one to heathen boys on a parable, and another to Christian boys on comets. It is quite delightful to see how they wield the vernacular and interest their pupils. I believe this is the class of men for the masses: men taught through English require very high salaries, and it is difficult to retain them.

The Kishnagurh English School.

Mr. Dyson, who has charge of the English School at the Sudder station, reports of it—

The school has kept hitherto its high character among the inhabitants of the place, and many come from long distances to attend. The building is filled to overflowing. About eight or nine months since I raised the fees to eight annas a pupil, and I did not lose one in consequence. This enabled me, without drawing more from the Society, to retain my present staff of teachers, and raise their salaries all round. I still find great satisfaction in the Bible lessons given in the school. All the school, in separate sections, is taught Old-Testament history orally; the Gospels are taught in the classes, in the vernacular, in all except the first two; and certain selected Scripture texts, from a Bengalee tract, are learnt as night lessons at home. The Secretary paid us his annual visit in June, and, after examining the boys, expressed his satisfaction. About the same time Mr. Temple, a Punjab civilian, who had come to Kishnagurh as a member of the Indigo Commission, kindly came and examined the school. He expressed his surprise and extreme satisfaction at the knowledge of the Bible which the boys, almost all of high caste, displayed. There is no doubt whatever that such schools, though they do not bear immediate fruit in the conversion to Christianity of the pupils while residing in the school, are still the means of doing much good, of diffusing abroad a knowledge of the Gospel, and so preparing the way for its future reception.

The establishment of the Calcutta University has exercised a potent influence upon all the educational institutions of the country. The University examinations, either entrance or final, are the standard to which all schools propose to themselves to attain. All schools of any character must arrange their scheme of instruction with a view to the University scheme, or forfeit all chance of being popular or being well attended. Moreover, as the University plan is devised and drawn up by the most competent men, this universal recognition of the Government standard is advantageous both to teachers and scholars. Some definite aim is proposed to us, and the pressure from without of public opinion is urging us on.

The Indigo Question.

An event connected with the Kishnagurh district, though of a political character, has so important a bearing upon the Mission, that it cannot be omitted from the Society's Annual Report. For several years past great dissatisfaction has arisen amongst the agricultural labourers of the district against the indigo planters, which, during the last year, broke out into open threats of violence. The Government interfered, both to put down the tumults and to investigate the causes of complaint. The Missionaries had incurred in many quarters severe animadversions for the part they had taken from the first, in protesting against acts of oppression, and in pleading the cause of ryots or cultivators.

The Committee have much pleasure, therefore, in extracting the following passage in reference to the conduct of the Missionaries, from the Report of the Indigo Commissioners—

We come now to the last point of our inquiry under the first great head, viz. the conduct of the Missionaries under the crisis of the past season. A great deal of indignation has been evinced at Reverend gentlemen, whose errand is to proclaim peace and goodwill, taking on themselves the character of political agitators. Certainly, if to express dislike of what they deem oppression, when forced to their notice, and to stand up for the rights of those who have had no tongue to plead for them, be to carry on agitation, the Missionaries of the Church Missionary Society have done this. But, in so doing, they had no private interests to advance, and no political object to gain, except the contentment and well-being of the agricultural population; objects which, if political, any man, however sacred his calling, may fairly exert himself to forward.

That ryots should ask these gentlemen for advice or even assistance, is, in our opinion, perfectly natural. They, the Missionaries, are thoroughly conversant with the languages; they mix freely with the people; they hold converse with them on their highest interests; and they are not distracted, like other Europeans are seen to be, by the accumulation of business, by the speculations of commerce, or by the pursuit of trade. It would have been ungenerous and even unmanly for Mr. Blumhardt and his colleagues to turn a deaf ear to the complaint of such ryots, especially when these very complaints appeared to them to form some hindrance to the attainment of the avowed objects of the Missionary calling.

We have, too, the distinct denial of these Reverend gentlemen, that they have, by words or deeds, added any fuel to the excitement. On the contrary, they have advised the ryots to obey the laws, to commit no illegalities, to sow indigo this year, and, if oppressed, to appeal to the higher authorities.

What more Christian or straightforward course could have been taken by men in their situation, it is not easy to conceive. Indeed, the assertion that the refusal of the ryots to sow indigo has been produced by the preaching of Missionaries, is one entirely without foundation of truth.

In a "Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal on the Report of the Indigo Commissioners," dated Dec. 17, 1860, this subject is thus adverted to—

The Commission entirely exonerate the Missionaries of the charge of having taken upon themselves the character of political agitators: they show that these excellent men, circumstanced as they were, would have been inexcusable had they turned a deaf ear to the well-founded complaints of the people, in close and kindly intercourse with whom they were living, and some of whom belong to their own flocks; and the Commission find that the assertion, that the refusal to sow indigo was owing to the preaching of the Missionaries, is one which is entirely without foundation of truth.

I must not pass this last point without respectfully expressing my admiration of the conduct of the Missionary body throughout these trying events.

The Missionaries report—

The result of the Indigo investigation has made a most favourable impression both upon Hindus and Mussulmans in these parts of the country, in regard to the Missionaries. They—considering the Missionaries as the chief instruments by whom the favourable result has been brought about—cannot speak highly enough in their praise, and are, in a manner, ready and willing to listen to their preaching and teaching. It is a great pity we cannot take full advantage of their good impressions by itinerant preaching, and so secure the moment whilst their minds are thus favourably disposed. The chief reason of our inability to do so is the want of evangelists, men “mighty in the Scriptures,” and filled with the Holy Ghost.

BHAGULPORE.

This station has been under the charge of the Rev. Messrs. Droese and Erhardt. Their annual Reports have not been received.

Santhal Mission.

The Rev. T. E. Hallett has had charge of the Santhal branch of this Mission. He reports at the close of the year—

I proceed to report on the work amongst the Santhals during the past twelve months, which has comprised preaching from village to village, educational efforts, and the translation of portions of the Scriptures into Santhal for circulation amongst the people, and the use of our Santhal schools.

In the northern half of the Damin, and along the western Terai, about 180 villages and hamlets have had the “tidings of great joy” proclaimed in them, the Missionary, without exception, being welcomed and attentively listened to. This was more especially the case in the neighbourhood of the Mission schools, the people there appearing to have already picked up some knowledge of our message, probably from the children, and to be more prepared to free their minds for the time from the materialism of what they should “eat and drink, and wherewithal be clothed,” in order to endeavour to comprehend the possibility of a future existence. Several of the larger villages were visited several times, often at the special request of the people, and ever with increasing interest. The Santhals strike me as being of a peculiarly teachable disposition; but, under God, to exercise any permanent influence upon them, it will be necessary for the Missionaries—for there must be more than one—to reside in the midst of them. I would recommend the plan—which God has so signally blessed—adopted by the Chota Nagpore Mission, of two ordained Missionaries, with three or four lay agents, establishing themselves in some central position, from which they can work out and take up outposts in favourable localities, from whence again their influence would be felt. The expense would be trifling, and less than the cost of the Bhagulpore Mission as at present constituted; as, when once settled in the Damin, the necessities of life could be obtained at much cheaper rates than prevail in the plains; and, if convenient, the system of the Basle Missions could be adopted, of having Mission farms, cultivated by the boys of the central school, under the direction of one of the lay agents. The Mission would then be brought into most beneficial contact with the daily life and occupation of this wild and uncivilized people, and exert an influence for good on their temporal as well as spiritual concerns. The Committee must remember, in dealing with this nation, that the rules laid down for Missions amongst the Hindus and Mussulmans of India do not apply to the Santhals; that, in fact, this Mission is nearly allied in all its circumstances to the South-African Mission; and that the course pursued there would be most applicable to the Santhals. In January I visited the temporary hamlets scattered along the railway works, and was glad to find the Santhal characteristics of truthfulness and good faith so highly appreciated by the railway officials. So long as the Santhal is treated justly and kindly, he will give a fair day's work for a fair day's pay, which the Bengalee will not; but should his sense of justice be outraged, or any attempt made to tamper with his women, they desert the works en masse, and cannot be persuaded to return. I found amongst those working on the railway several who could read, having taught themselves; and to these I distributed some elementary Christian pamphlets, which I trust may, by God's blessing, direct them to the only means whereby they can be saved.

Our educational efforts during the past year have, on the whole, a satisfactory aspect. With much to discourage, there is still much to thank God for in increased attendance, and a growing demand among the people for opportunities of instruction. The schools in connexion with the Mission are now eighteen in number—sixteen boys' and two girls' schools—the total number under instruction being 604. The girls in the two schools established in February and June 1860 read with the boys; and as I have not as yet been able to send out Christian mistresses, we were not in a position to comply with the Santhals' desire for their girls to learn needlework.

The most encouraging point in this beginning of Female Education amongst the Santhals is, that the movement was entirely of their own origination. The Santhal woman is far superior to the Hindu or Mussulman female; and if this movement is carefully fostered and encouraged, it cannot fail, with the blessing of the Almighty, to exercise a powerful Christian and moral influence on the nation at large, more especially on the rising generation.

The attendance in the boys' schools has been irregular, not averaging more than 414 boys, but this will always be the case among a people situated as the Santhals are. Their chief wealth consists in cattle, and boys can herd them as well as men. I find it frequently the case in families sending two boys to school, that these two take it in turn to attend school and tend the cattle. This is not entirely unattended with good, as our schoolboys, when out in the jungle, sometimes take their books with them, and teach other boys who do not attend the school.

One school—Sandermore—was closed at the beginning of the year, as the attendance had fallen off to eleven boys; and five new schools have been opened—at Dhumnie, Sahibgunge, Luckmeer, Diarah, and Burhait.

The Burhait school-buildings, &c., were made over to the Mission in September, and in October I sent Hunook Joora, and Ramo, one of our Santhal masters, to open a school there. I have just received a report from Hunook, in which he tells me that he has succeeded in registering seventy boys, but that he has not as yet opened the school, as the harvest is coming on, and the boys are wanted in the fields. The progress made by the boys is generally fair, but we are sadly inconvenienced by the want of good Christian elementary school-books. To remedy this, in a measure, I have, with the aid of Kamoo, a Santhal, trained in the training class, and Hunook, my Christian superintending master, compiled and translated into Santhali—reduced into the Deva Nagri, or Sanskrit character—a short summary of Bible history, from the creation to the birth of Christ, and the Ten Commandments and the Lord's Prayer, on a separate sheet. This latter is also for circulation among the different villages, the managers having agreed to post up one copy in every village. The type will be large and clear, so that those that run may read.

Our great want, however, is masters, and these we must train ourselves; and I thank God that he has enabled me to close the year with a training class of thirty boys. On receiving charge of the work in December 1859, we had five boys in this class, and I found, on going amongst the people, that they received our endeavours to train masters in Bhagulpore with grave suspicion, the prevailing impression being that the boys were to be taken off to England. Happily I was enabled to remove this impression, and returned with twenty-five of the best and most advanced boys out of our schools. In May cholera and small-pox raged in the station, and one of the boys died in my bungalow. I immediately sent all the survivors off to their villages, desiring them to return again in June. This, contrary to my expectation, they did, shewing thereby great confidence in us. Since then the boys have lived with me in my bungalow, and immediately under my eye, giving great satisfaction by the steadiness and propriety of their conduct, and evincing an earnest desire to advance in their studies, generally reading up till twelve at night, getting up the lessons for next day. They have also been of great assistance to me in revising and rendering as idiomatic as possible the translations referred to above, which were read over with them every evening, and discussed and corrected as necessary. The religious instruction thus communicated was also a great advantage to them. Their attendance on Divine worship has also, I am happy to say, been very regular.

Since June there has been hardly a day in which one or more Santhal manjis have not been staying in my bungalow on a visit to the boys (in fact, they have got to look upon my house as the Santhal Serai). They come in to see their children and make purchases, and, after staying one day, generally return to the hills. This has created a kind of bond between them and the Mission, and by actually seeing the manner in which their children are cared for, and the employment, as masters, of some of those previously trained here, the suspicious feeling above alluded to has been entirely removed, and it is now looked upon as an advantage to have a boy admitted into our training class; and we have been thus enabled to select those boys who appear most likely to reward our care and teaching, and to reject those who appear sickly or dense.

I have thought it best to give those parents who come in to see their children, their food for the day they stopped, as that also tends to create a kindly feeling towards the Mission, and is usual in India. On leaving, as a general rule they invited me to visit them in their villages, and evinced a truly refreshing earnestness in pressing their request. My heart yearns towards this simple people, and my earnest and constant prayer is that the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ may see fit to gather them into his fold. I feel convinced that they will do honour to the name of Christian whenever it may please the great Dispenser of all things to bless the means used to lead them out of darkness into the glorious light of his Gospel.

In conclusion, I would point out to the Committee how unfit Bhagulpore is for the Santhal Missionary to be stationed in. In October 1860, at the invitation of the manji of Nowdyah, and being desirous to see how the schools were progressing, I started for the Damin. I found the country between Bhagulpore and the hills a swamp, and having with difficulty reached Nowdyah, was forced to give up the idea of going further. Between Bhagulpore and that village my palkee had at great risk to be carried on men's heads across no less than eight flooded rivers, besides numerous nullahs. On an average, seven out of every ten miles was through submerged paddy fields, the water often being four feet deep. I was attacked by fever at Nowdyah, from the effects of which I am still suffering, and was forced to return. This is a sample of what the country is for five months in the year; and as the Santhal Missionary must itinerate for some years to come, a position should be taken up within easy reach of the hills. Rajmahal is a better position than Bhagulpore, as the hills are but ten miles from that station. My health compelling me to leave India for a time, I would entreat the Committee not to let the work among my people drop. It is a most hopeful field. Oh, may the Lord of the harvest send forth labourers!

ALLAHABAD.

This important city may be now reckoned as one of the stations of the Society, and a centre, it may be hoped, of light to the surrounding heathen, not only by the evangelistic labours of the Missionary, but by the exhibition of a self-supporting and zealous native-Christian community. For two years the native deacon, the Rev. David Mohun, has been labouring amongst the native Christians who removed from Agra when the printing press, to which many of them belonged, was transferred to Allahabad. A house is in course of erection for an European Missionary, and the Rev. Brocklesby Davis will shortly take possession of it. The following interesting report is given by the native minister of his labours during the last year—

My work during the past year has been somewhat increased, the native Christians numbering 380 souls. In my first letter, I mentioned that they were dispersed, but now I am happy to inform you that we have been able to build for them some temporary huts, and have collected them together, and thus I am enabled to visit them almost daily. We have also managed to build a temporary school-house in the village, where the children of these native Christians receive instruction. This also serves for daily and weekly services, the salaries of the teachers being paid, partly by the native Christians themselves, and partly by some kind gentlemen of the station.

With regard to the native Christians, I am glad to say they are all doing well, and it seems that a real change has taken place in some of them. I can say without hesitation, the Lord has many children among them. Hitherto they had learned to take, now they have commenced to give. You will be happy to hear they subscribe for the Pastorate Fund, for the School Fund, for the Poor Fund, and for the cleaning of their village, a thing which I believe was never done before. They also subscribe for the poor beggars who collect every Sunday in their village. They are made to sit on the grass, when a portion of the Bible is read and explained to them, and then some rice or grain is distributed to each of them. This is all done by themselves. Very few quarrels take place among them now. We have appointed twelve men out of them who act as a "jury:" their business is to see that no quarrel takes place in the village; and should there be any, they decide small cases themselves, but difficult matters are brought to me, and we generally settle the matter to the satisfaction of both parties.

They have also commenced a prayer-meeting among themselves, and have daily prayers in our schoolroom, all conducted by themselves. I am very much pleased with some of these Christians. It is my earnest prayer that the Lord, who has commenced the good work among them, may also bring it to perfection.

BENARES.

The Benares Mission during the last year has been in comparative strength. Six Missionaries, able to minister in the vernacular, of whom the senior is in his thirty-first year of labour—large educational institutions, and a long-established Christian congregation, with a body of well-trained native catechists—such an evangelistic force it might have been expected could not but make each year a visible impression upon the mass of heathenism which surrounds it. Yet the confession of each of the labourers employed in the Benares Mission is of a discouraging tone.

Mr. Smith is able to report but one baptism as the result of the continued preaching to the heathen. He makes, however, the following remarks upon the inadequacy of the means employed—

Catechists Triloke, Thakur, and Samuel, have each furnished me with reports of their several districts in the city. But oh, how sad it is to reflect that we have only their three, so to speak, spiritual thannas (police stations), while there are seven worldly (or Government) ones. We surely ought to have at least as many, and one Missionary in charge of each, with his staff of catechists and readers; and even then each Missionary would have in his district a population of some 40,000 or 50,000 souls, to say nothing of the dense population in the towns and villages around. People sometimes wonder that there has been so little effected at Benares, (and truly it is little enough), and yet think great things have been done in the partial conversion (for instance) of the savages of New Zealand, with a population not one-third that of the city of Benares, and with I don't know how many Missionaries at work. Of course, we rejoice in all that God has graciously done in New Zealand, and in all other places. All I mean is, that we should think before we speak, with regard to places where apparently little fruit has been produced.

Mr. Fuchs, whose experience in Benares extends over thirteen years, writes, in his Annual Report—

Resuming the preaching in the city, I was struck in the beginning with finding every thing exactly as it was before the mutiny, while I certainly expected a marked change of the people, both for better and worse. On the one hand, I had expected greater and more open hostility towards the truth of the Gospel, and on the other hand a more favourable disposition to receive the same in the love of it. These effects may have been really wrought in the minds of the people, but are not yet apparent. As long as the present state of things lasts, we must derive encouragement from the fact that many people are willing to hear the Gospel, and we must be thankful for the opportunities we have of making known the counsel of God without let or hindrance, and strengthen our hearts by laying firm hold on the promises of God, according to which we shall prevail if we faint not.

Native-Christian Church.

The statistics of the Mission show 253 native Christians in Sigra and the city, 80 at the Chunar Branch, and 20 at Ghurwa: total, 353. Mr. Hubbard has had charge of the native-Christian congregation at Sigra, and his report is this—

During the year, twelve adults and twenty-three infants have been admitted by baptism into the church. The conduct of the people, on the whole, has been outwardly moral; but I would gladly see more signs of life in them, manifested by an increased attendance upon the means of grace, by a readiness for any good work, and by a desire to promote each others' spiritual welfare.

The Calcutta Report for 1859 accounted for the smallness of the numbers which now form the Benares congregation, after so many years of labour, by the fact of the increased facilities for native Christians obtaining various employments and situations since the year of rebellion, when their loyalty stood so signal a trial, and their consequent removal to other parts; adding the following important remarks upon such Missionary villages as that of Sigra, near Benares—

The gradual decay of Christian villages within Mission compounds is not a subject of regret, where, as in this instance, it is caused by the Christians obtaining a more independent position in new lines of employment now opening to them. The Mission compound system was an expedient forced upon us at a time when the profession of Christianity cut a man off from the ordinary sources of a livelihood. It was necessary to find employment for converts in such trades as could be fostered by the patronage of the Missionary and other Christian friends. There was protection also in living together and under the wing of the Missionary. The system which thus grew up was the result of circumstances over which we had no control. It was regarded as a temporary measure to meet the special exigencies of the case. It was never looked upon as the normal type of native-Christian life, nor indeed as a permanent institution at all. Many and obvious disadvantages were inseparable from the system. The Missionaries most engaged in it felt these the most keenly. They will be the first to hail the day when the edifice shall have attained such dimensions that the scaffolding may be removed; they are now glad to take it down bit by bit, as the work progresses. Already, owing to the gradual giving way of the prejudice of the people, and the general progress of the country, native Christians are able in most places to stand their ground, and to hold their own without adventitious support or patronage. The decline of the exclusive village system, as symptomatic of this change, is, then, to be noticed with thankfulness.

Special instances of encouragement.

Two cases of conversion are mentioned in the reports of the Missionaries, which are of a peculiar interest. Mr. Smith reports—

After nearly a year's probation, I baptized, in September, Ramaiya Baba, his wife, and three fine children. He has been for many years a noted Mahapurush, or sort of demi-god, in this neighbourhood, and in some parts of the Mirzapore district, and had a vast number of followers, who fancied that he had the power of working miracles. He was originally a Brahmin, born in a village not far from Gharwa, which belongs to this Mission, and was in charge of Mr. Leupolt. Some years ago Ramaiya fell in with Mr. Woods, who was managing the Gharwa estate under Mr. Leupolt. He was then introduced to Mr. Leupolt, also had interviews with Mr. Mather, Missionary of the London Missionary Society at Mirzapore. Afterwards I saw him several times in the city of Benares, but in those days he was an awfully wild character, going about holding a woman with one hand and a bottle of spirits in the other, singing the Rámáyan and compositions of his own (for he is a poet), and followed by crowds of people, who, from the great austerities he had previously gone through, &c., believed he might do what he liked without blame attaching to him, being raised above what, to the vulgar, is sin and holiness. In short, that he was the "great power of God," or rather an incarnation of God, and they worshipped him accordingly. And, excepting that he is a man of originality of character, and was very candid and straightforward even then, and unselfish, giving away almost every thing he received, it is surprising what a reverence every one, high and low, who came in contact with him, conceived for him. And even in those days, from the few conversations I had with him, I could not help feeling, more from his manner and looks than any thing else, that there was something at work in his mind, that he was uneasy and dissatisfied, and wanted something that he had not yet obtained. But for three or four years I lost sight of him, and had forgotten all about him, when, one day last October, I was spending the day in the city, and Thakur, one of our catechists, suddenly came to me, and said that Ramaiya Baba wished for an interview. It was a few moments before I could recollect who Ramaiya Baba was, though the name sounded familiar. Well, he came in, and how altered!—no longer the half-intoxicated, wild-looking man that he formerly was, but sad and sorrowful; and with downcast countenance, and with voice scarcely audible, he said that he had come to be instructed in the way of salvation; that he had tried all the ways of the Hindus, and found no satisfaction, and his only hope was that he might find rest and peace in Christianity.

It is not necessary to go into the details of what followed, and perhaps already I have dwelt too long on the case. He was sincere from the first. He was one of those who "will to do the will" of God, and therefore he soon knew of the doctrine that it was "of God." In becoming a Christian, besides all the honour from men which he has lost, and the obloquy which he has incurred, he has made considerable sacrifices of a pecuniary nature in the large presents and offerings he was constantly receiving, as well as the allowance of a rupee a day which the Rajah of Benares made him, who had taken a great fancy to him. He hopes that his influence still continues over a large number of his followers, and that many who were his disciples in error will now follow him in the way of truth. May it be so!

The rajah lately sent for him two or three times; but he having ascertained that the rajah only wanted to try and persuade him, now that he had become a Christian himself, not to use his influence to make others Christians too, refused to go.

Another conversion, reported by Mr. Fuchs, shows how long the seed of Christian instruction may remain apparently without life, and yet be quickened at last through the providence of God—

I will briefly mention the baptism of a prisoner in the Benares jail. He is a Bengalee Brahmin, and attended in his boyhood the Mission school of Agurpara, Calcutta, but the word of God which he there was instructed in made at the time no impression on his heart: only in prison, in his great distress, and finding no comfort, nor having any faith in his own religion, he began to think of the way of salvation as pointed out in the New Testament; and when, at his earnest request, he was permitted to be further instructed and prepared for baptism, he showed all the time unmistakeable signs of a sincere inquirer, this became also manifest in his life and good conduct, to which the jailer and other native officials, Hindus and Mussulmans, have borne testimony.

A house of Nana Sahib turned into a preaching house.

Mr. Däuble records a remarkable fact in connexion with his work in the city—

Since I took an active part in the city preaching it has been my endeavour to find a place in the very heart of the city, where I could spend the whole day, and devote myself wholly to those who would like to converse on religion.

After many difficulties, I succeeded at last in getting such a house in the very densest part of the city. Its name is the “Kat ki hawēli”—“the house of wood,” and belonged formerly to the famous Nana Sahib, but was confiscated and sold by Government to a native. It is above two miles from Sigra, not far from the Ganges, five stories high, and from the roof of it the holy city, densely built, is under the eye of the spectator. One story contains a boys’ school, another, a reader, a third, a room for visitors, and a fourth, a private room. In the upper story, I am quite above the dust and thick air of the narrow streets, and to many visitors I have been allowed to address the words of salvation. When there are no visitors, I proceed from that centre in all directions, down to the peaceful river side, into every corner of the lanes where there is room for people to stand.

Education.

Jay Narain's Institution has been under the charge of Mr. Champion, with the assistance of Mr. Lockwood. At the close of the year Mr. Hubbard undertook the superintendence. The number of scholars has remained the same as last year, amounting to 435, including the branch school at Kashipura. The local Report states—

The Institution has had to labour under many disadvantages, among which may be mentioned the want of a permanently-appointed Principal, an encumbered state of the funds, and an insufficient and irregular supply of European assistance. Yet the Committee trust that the state of the college now will bear a comparison with that of last year; that the studies have been steadily and earnestly pursued, and the discipline maintained in its integrity. While they would have wished to have reported much more progress, yet they thank God for the results that have been attained. Mr. Smith has continued his fortnightly address to the entire school. He has gone through the greater part of the Old Testament in an expository way, giving an outline of the Sacred Writings, particulars of their writers, &c., and applying the prominent lessons taught to the hearts of his young hearers. Babu Timothy Luther, the head master, has continued his charge of the school department with the same advantage to the Institution as formerly, and has also taken the higher vernacular college classes in the Holy Scriptures.

The Orphan Institutions, The Infants' School, and Mr. Smith's Girls' School have been maintained as in former years.

Translations.

The work of preparing for the converts a Christian literature is not neglected, as the following extracts from Mr. Smith's Reports will testify—

I have written two or three Hindu prayers for inquirers, to which Pundit Nehemiah has added two or three. With these we propose to join an admirable prayer by Mr. J. Muir, from his Mat-Pariksha.

I have written two or three tracts during the year. Timothy Babu has received a tract of Hindee prayers, and I have written a new one of Urdu prayers. One or two of these tracts are already in the press, and all will, I trust, ere long be printed through the kind aid of the Tract Society. I have been enabled to open a shop in the city for the sale of our books and tracts, and also to employ for some time a colporteur. Nearly eight rupees have been realized by sales, and there are eight rupees more, I understand, of which the account has not yet been given in to me. This has been accomplished within the period of ten or eleven months. It affords evidence, that at very low prices our books may be sold, and, when sold, doubtless every one will be taken care of and read. The giving system afforded us no such comfortable assurance. I propose to urge the Committee of the Bible and Tract Societies to insist, as a rule, upon their books being sold, though it be at very low prices, the price being printed on the cover of each.

Pundit Nehemiah having completed his work on the six Darshans, which has been printed by the Calcutta Tract Society, is now engaged in a similar work on the Veds and Purans. It has come to our knowledge that he has been the means, under God, of the conversion of at least two or three persons. A Missionary in the west of India lately informed us that his best man now employed as a catechist ascribed his conversion to the instrumentality of Nehemiah. This should encourage our brother and all of us indeed.

Chunar Branch Mission.

The care of the native-Christian congregation and the school at this place rests with the native pastor, the Rev. D. Solomon, who devotes himself with much perseverance to the duties of the pastorate. Mr. Hubbard reports—

I have visited this station six or seven times in the course of the year, and have great pleasure in testifying to the zeal and diligence displayed by the native pastor in his care of the school and the congregation.

JUBBULPORE.

The Rev. E. C. Stuart and Mr. W. Rebsch were united in their labours at this station at the commencement of the year 1860. But Mr. Rebsch was removed to Bhagulpore to take charge of the English school at that station, and Mr. Stuart removed to Calcutta to undertake the Secretaryship of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee upon Mr. Cuthbert's departure for England. Mr. Champion was therefore transferred from Benares to Jubbulpore. In consequence of these changes no Report has been received of this Mission during the last year.

GORRUCKPORE.

The charge of this station devolved upon the Rev. C. Reuther upon the departure of the Rev. H. Stern, in July, for England; but no Report has as yet been received from the station.

AGRA.

The strength of this Mission, which numbered five Missionaries at the close of 1859, has been since reduced by the withdrawal of the Rev. Fynes-Clinton, upon his acceptance of a chaplainship, and by the failure of the health of the Rev. W. Wright, which necessitates his return to Europe. It is one of the trials of Missionary work, that often, as at Agra, while the work is enlarging, the European agency is suddenly diminished through various providential circumstances. Such occurrences call for the exercise of much faith and patience, for the supply of which the supporters of Missions have need to beseech the Lord continually.

The various branches of the Mission have been carried on by the Rev. F. E. Schneider, who has charge of the native congregation; by the Rev. H. W. Shackell and Rev. W. Wright, who have had charge of the College; and the Rev. T. J. Gaster, who is chiefly engaged in preaching to the heathen, each of the other Missionaries taking part in this latter work as far as their time and strength will allow.

The Annual Report of the Mission for 1860 states—

We have been cheered by an unusually large number of converts, more than double the number of adults having been baptized than has been the case in any previous year. This we would desire to consider as an additional reason for thankfulness, prayer, and efforts during the coming year.

The Native Christians.

Mr. Schneider reports—

During the year, sixty-five persons have been baptized in St. John's Church, namely, twenty-one men, ten women, and thirty-four children. The whole number of native Christians is about 250. I am rather reluctant to express an opinion on the spiritual state of the congregation. There is no doubt that there is a number of true Christians, who have not only the name, but also the light and life of Christ, and who adorn their profession by their walk and conversation; but there are also others who have only the form of godliness, and a good number are careless, indifferent, and cold to religion. It was a cause of praise to see many come forward with their offerings of gratitude when they had received their compensation money. I know also that in many families the word of God is attentively read, and family worship is regularly held.

Mr. Shackell mentions several cases of disappointment in the behaviour of the native converts, that he may not “hide the evil and only relate the good;” but adds—

On the whole, the conduct of the native Christians with whom I have had to do has been very satisfactory, and the good has far preponderated over the evil. I am thankful to say that I have baptized during the year twenty adult converts, with eight children connected with them. Of these, three were Brahmins, four were Mohammedans, five were women, and seven were Mehtars. I mentioned in my last annual letter that one of my servants, of the Mehtar, or lowest class, had been baptized in September 1859, and had brought me a friend of his of the same caste, who was baptized in the following month. This caste is so much despised by all the others, that if they should, by accident, touch any of them, they are obliged to bathe to remove the pollution. Under the native kings they were only allowed to go out at particular times; and when they went out they were obliged to wear a peacock’s feather in their cap, for the sake of distinction, and to warn every one against touching them. Yet they appear to me, as far as I have had opportunities of observing—and I am not alone in this opinion—to surpass several of the higher castes in honesty, straightforwardness, and docility. The two men above mentioned, but especially the latter, began at once to exert themselves to induce their neighbours also to embrace Christianity. The latter of the two—Rudder by name—collected his neighbours’ children to school in his own premises, having at first to pay them for coming. On my return from my winter’s itinerating, I took up the work they had begun for me, by appointing a teacher to the school, and holding a little service on Wednesday evenings in Rudder’s house for all who chose to come. The former plan was not very successful, as the teacher had not Rudder’s influence; so I at last persuaded Rudder to leave his own work, which he was at first unwilling to do, as it was remunerative, and a kind of heir-loom in his family, and to give himself up altogether to teaching and preaching. He finally did this in September, appointing a substitute to do his former work. And now, preaching always once, and usually twice a day, amongst his own caste, and that of the Chunan, also a very low caste, the spirit of inquiry is spreading in other localities. Our Wednesday evening congregation gradually increased, and became more interesting. There was some opposition at first, and none were inclined to come forward, but in June the third convert was baptized, a brother of the first; in September a fourth; and since that the work has gone on, by God’s help, steadily. There are now ten men baptized, and several more are coming forward, and being taught. Many of the baptized have gone of their own accord to other parts of the city, to speak about religion to those of their caste who are still heathen. They meet for prayer every night. We are just building them a place to serve as a school on week-days and a church on the Sundays. The plan has been very kindly taken up by the Europeans in the station, and the whole amount (70*l.*) required subscribed at once. One gentleman bought the land for us at an expense of 25*l.*; another offered to take either the whole expense, or any part of it I liked, upon himself. The native Christians in the Kuttra have also contributed, and the Mehtars themselves are to help. As yet I am thankful to say those who have been baptized have gone on extremely satisfactorily.

Preaching to the Heathen.

Mr. Shackell writes—

I have, as usual, been on three preaching journeys among the villages during the year, and have preached in the city as much as the College and other engagements would permit, but never so much as I could wish for—never more than four or five times a week. The village of Simrao near Jaylame, has alternately raised and depressed our hopes. On a late visit, I found two families—one, that of Lachmann, the Durzi, the other of a Rajpoot, Boop Singh—in all, with children, twelve individuals, nearly ready to become Christians. They broke caste by eating from the catechist's hands in my presence. The catechist Paul seemed to have gained the goodwill of the villagers, save one Pundit. There appeared to be a universal wish that he should remain, and I was very glad to consent to this.

Education.

Mr. Shackell reports of The College—

The number of boys has increased, showing 325 on the books in September 1860, against 279 twelve months previously. I am sorry that I cannot mention any case of conversion in connexion with the College, and have little more to state about it beyond the continuance of routine work.

Mr. Wright reports—

The pupils of the English class under my immediate charge not unfrequently propound and answer among themselves questions on the portions of Scripture we read, in a way exceedingly gratifying, as it shows that they are interested and thoughtful.

There are also five Vernacular Schools for boys and two for girls at the station, containing between 200 and 300 children.

Mr. Gaster opened an adult school for Sikhs, which was continued for a part of the year under review. The peculiar interest which attaches to the people for whose benefit it was designed, will be increased by the following extract from the Annual Report of the Missionary—

On September 6, 1859, I opened a school for as many of the Sikh police as chose to attend it, and placed a pious native Christian, John Khan, at the head of it. The average number of attendants was four, and of these, two were taught Hindee: one of them learned to read very well, and has since acquired the power of reading his own language, a dialect of Hindee, and has assured me of his desire to become a Christian. He asks for no assistance whatever, but the trial of being the first to make an open profession of Christianity is very great. By this man's influence several others have become very favourably inclined to Christianity. I hold a short service with them on Monday mornings, and have good reasons to expect important results in God's own time. The school is now no more: the ruined bungalow in which it is held is now repaired and inhabited, and no other suitable spot at present offers itself; yet I am constantly urged by the Sikhs to recommence a school for them.

Indirect Missionary labours.

Mr. Gaster, in addition to his usual Missionary duties, undertook to supply the duties of chaplain to the British troops, numbering 1000 in the cantonments, in consequence of the sudden death of the chaplain. His labours were blessed to excite a remarkable interest amongst the men in the things belonging to their salvation. Nearly 200 attended a weekly prayer-meeting during a considerable part of the year.

Mr. Gaster has also adopted a plan which elsewhere has proved very useful as an auxiliary to the Mission. He writes—

At the close of September last I was enabled, by the assistance of several friends, to open a shop for the sale of Christian books in one of the principal bazaars in Agra. This shop forms an excellent spot for preaching, in fact, an invaluable centre for my work in the city. Its results must be detailed, by God's permission, next year.

The out-station of Runkutta.

The branch station at Runkutta, which was for a time relinquished because the labourers were needed elsewhere, has been again re-occupied. The two readers, Jeremy and Huseinee, returned in July 1860, and opened the school again, which numbers twenty-four boys, and promises well. They visit the neighbouring villages, and meet nearly everywhere with an encouraging reception.

There is a branch school connected with the College at Muttra. Mr. Shackell writes—

I went to Muttra at the end of the year, and was present when the prizes were delivered. The boys had made remarkable progress, considering the time, the school not having been established two months. But I fear no very great end will be answered by it, unless a Missionary be also placed there. Moreover, there are twenty-two native Christians there of our congregation, in all seven families, and of these, ten are communicants, many of them very able men, mostly in Government situations, one of them being the kotwal, or head police-officer of the city, but they are without any means of grace, and therefore much exposed to temptation. Add the importance of Muttra, as perhaps, next to Benares, the chief seat of Hindu idolatry, and these are arguments in favour of its occupation by the Society. All the Agra Missionaries are agreed on this point.

Mr. Wright also refers to the same subject—

I am happy to say that endeavours are now being made to re-open the Church Missionary school formerly established by Mr. French in Muttra, which was broken up by the mutiny. It will be considered as an affiliated branch of the Agra Church Missionary College, and be conducted, if possible, on the plan laid down by its originators. It is very desirable that the Church Missionary Society should be represented in so celebrated and populous a city as Muttra; and the opportune liberality of a kind friend has encouraged us to make this effort.

MEERUT.

The Rev. A. Medland and the Rev. J. B. Archer have laboured at this station during the year 1860. Mr. Archer has necessarily devoted his whole time, being his first year, to the acquisition of the language.

Mr. Medland reports of the station—

On reviewing the operations of the Meerut Branch for the past year, whilst some things have occurred which have tended rather to damp our expectations and afford grounds for discouragement, yet, on the other hand, the steady prosecution and improvement of the existing branches of the Mission, the number of newly-baptized converts, and the extension of the work generally, afford abundant reasons for thankfulness. The number of baptisms has exceeded those of any previous year, amounting in all to fifty-two, of whom thirty-three were adults. Of these, eighteen adults and ten children were baptized on Sunday the 15th June, forming the largest number baptized at any one time since the establishment of the Mission.

In the early part of the year sickness prevailed to a great extent in the Mission, particularly at the out-stations. In Kunker Khera a whole family of newly-baptized converts, with but one exception, were carried off by death in the course of two or three weeks. The father of the family was a very exemplary Christian, and did what he could to recommend his new faith to others.

Education.

The city school, now numbering 160 boys, has been well sustained during the year. The numbers have been increased, and the attendance has been more equable and regular than heretofore. The school owes much to the persevering efforts of the head master, Joseph. In the school in the Mission compound a slight improvement has been effected in the numbers and the attainments of the scholars. But, as was remarked in the last Report, the situation of the school, and the want of more efficient teachers, are very serious obstacles to its present success. The girls' school has been carried on as in years past, but without any encouraging symptoms either of increased numbers or advance in efficiency.

Out-Station.

Dehra Dhoon. — This colony has been continued and slightly increased during the year. The expulsion of two families on account of misconduct has been rendered necessary. Two or three of the expelled subsequently brought serious charges against the native pastor, which induced the Bishop of Calcutta to institute a commission of inquiry. The commission sat for two days in open Cutchery at Dehra, and resulted in the honourable acquittal of the pastor of the charges brought against him. During the month of October the Bishop of Calcutta held a confirmation in the church at Dehra, when seventy-two native candidates were confirmed. The school numbers twenty-two boys and seventeen girls.

Mulliana.—Of this once promising out-station, Mr. Medland is not able to report favourably. There has been a slight increase of converts, but the spirit of discontent and opposition to the Missionary has manifested itself; and as the Baptist Missionaries of Delhi have visited the village repeatedly, and baptized many of the inquirers who were under probation by Mr. Medland, and have also re-baptized several of those who had been baptized by Mr. Medland, an unhappy dissension has taken place in the company of the recent and simple converts.

Kunker Khera.—Whilst the proceedings at Mulliana have been a cause of anxiety and discouragement, the continuance and great extension of the work in this village afford ground for encouragement and thankfulness. The Christians of this village, of their own accord, invited a large party of the surrounding native Christians, to the number of 150, to meet together for mutual encouragement and friendly intercourse.

In the month of March, seven families, relatives of the Christians, came from a distant village to reside here, and place themselves under Christian instruction. After about three months' residence and instruction, baptism was administered to them, they having previously commended themselves by their apparent sincerity and good conduct. A small church has been erected for Divine worship in the village.

Publa.—The old Pundit, mentioned in the last Report, has continued to reside in this village, and has visited and read the Scriptures in the surrounding villages. But none of the people concerning whom favourable expectations were raised, have as yet embraced Christianity.

LUCKNOW.

The Rev. Messrs. Mengé, Ball, and Storrs, have continued to labour diligently at this station, but the Annual Report has not been received.

KOTGHUR.

During the year 1860, this station has had a resident European schoolmaster and catechist, Mr. Somnitz, formerly an assistant of Dr. Prochnow: the Missionaries of other stations have occasionally visited it; but no Report has been furnished of this station.

III. THE PUNJAB.

The Punjab Mission comprises four principal Stations—Umritsur (commenced 1852); Kangra (1854); Peshawur (1855); Mooltan (1856).

 Rev. George Yeates, B.A. (m), 1859.
 Rev. Robert Braithwaite Batty, M.A. (m), 1860.
 Rev. John Mortlock Brown, B.A. 1860.
 Lieut.-Col. Martin, 1855 : at home.

Increase of Missionaries.

The Committee are happy to announce the addition of four Missionaries to the staff employed in the Punjab Mission. But as one of the senior Missionaries, Mr. Fitzpatrick, has been obliged to return home, and Dr. Trumpp's health prevents his return to India, the strength of the Mission is as yet hardly increased.

UMRITSUR.

Messrs. Keene, Strawbridge, and Bruce, have laboured at this station throughout the year. Messrs. Batty and Brown joined them in the autumn. The work in the city has been chiefly that of preaching in places of public resort; and each of the Missionaries has gone out on preaching tours, in different directions.

Mr. Bruce gives an interesting case of an inquirer whom he met in one of his itinerating tours—

Dec. 19th, 1860—Left for Jussur. On our way to the river Ravee, which we had to cross about a mile from this town, a rich native of Dehra, who has been a constant visitor in my tent, and whom I have known for the last year, came running after us, and accompanied us to the bank. He said he was now in his father's power, but had dedicated his only son as a gift to Jesus. This man has openly, before many of his brethren, confessed the falsehood of his superstition. On one occasion he brought me a gift of, I should say, nearly one hundred rupees. No one else was present when he offered it, and urged me much to accept it, which, however, I thought better not to do. On our way to Jussur, we preached to a most hostile and insolent crowd of Mussulmans in a large village called Dody.

Education.

On the departure of Mr. Leighton, the charge of the city school devolved upon Mr. Strawbridge, who writes—

Though I feel I am not the person to have charge of such a school, yet I cannot but be thankful for the progress the boys have made during the year, and the growing importance of the school, both as to the numbers and respectability of the scholars.

There are two out-stations connected with Umritsur, namely, Jundialu, at the distance of ten miles, and Narrowal, at the distance of thirty miles. At each place there is a school and a resident catechist, and they are visited by Mr. Bruce from time to time. He thus reports his visit to Narrowal at the close of the year—

We have spent ten days at Narrowal. I found dear old Paulos, who is suffering from slight indisposition, much weaker than last year. His sight also seems failing. The people no longer regard the Gospel as some new thing, but are careless, and, in many instances, hostile to it. But there are many hopeful cases, I think, of inquirers, and the school of our fifty boys is getting on well. The knowledge of the first and second classes in Scripture quite surprised me. Paulos' family are undergoing a species of persecution much felt by natives of this country. The betrothal of their children, which takes place at an early age, is the first object of Indian parents. On Paulos becoming a Christian, the betrothals, not only of his own children, but of his brother's also, were broken off, although the brother remained a Mussulman. One of his brothers, whose son is now a fine lad of nineteen or twenty, feels this most deeply, and often most bitterly reproaches Paulos for bringing so dreadful an affliction on him. Had I not seen the real grief of this man, I could not imagine it possible that any one could feel such a matter so deeply. His injured honour is the point that hurts him most. Still I have great hopes that I may one day see him also in the fold of Christ. He is a most intelligent man, and has spent hours with me drinking in the truths of the Gospel, and openly acknowledged Mohammedanism false and Christianity true; but still the world and fleshly pride draw their cords around him, and he reproaches his Maker for the grievous dishonour, as he says, done him.

A new and interesting feature in Missionary operations is presented in the proceedings of the Punjab Mission for the past year. A commanding officer of one of H.M. regiments in the Punjab, having determined to make a tour of six months in Cashmere, took in his suit one of the catechists of the Society. Sulanian, who at every place distributed tracts and preached the Gospel. While the officer made an excursion among the mountains, the catechist remained alone at Islamabad for a month, and preached daily in places of public resort, without any hindrance.

KANGRA.

Mr. Merk has continued his labours at this station for another year without interruption from ill health or other causes. But he is still unable to report any cases of baptism, or of promising inquirers. The congregation has continued to diminish as the old members remove, and no accessions are made. They number now only ten adults and five children.

Mr. Merk has spent four months in itinerating throughout the district, but has met with no encouragement beyond attentive audiences.

The boys' and girls' schools contain fifty-seven children. An European schoolmaster has been stationed at Kangra, in the hope that this branch may be more effectually prosecuted.

PESHAWUR.

This station has been again subjected to the decrease of its European agency by the departure of Lieutenant-Colonel Martin, through the failure of health, and the removal of Mr. Clark to Attock, to minister to the inquirers of the 24th Punjab Native Infantry, so that the duties of the city rested upon Mr. M'Carthy and Mr. Tuting. Mr. M'Carthy continues in charge of the school. Mr. Tuting, having studied Pushtoo, devotes his labours to the Affghans and the Hindee speaking population. The number of converts at Peshawur is only three or four. A service is held on Sundays for the Europeans.

Mr. Clark gives this general sketch of the work at Peshawur, and the importance of extending it, appealing for an increase of men to that Mission—

Peshawur is crowded with an ever-increasing population. It is the head-quarters of Mohammedanism in this part of Asia. It is the residence of the most learned men Mohammedanism can boast of in the neighbourhood for many hundred miles round. It is the commercial capital, visited by thousands of mountaineers and strangers from every hill and valley. There are large villages and cities round it, waiting only for the Missionary to visit them. The station and neighbourhood have become, we may say, healthy for several years. It is the best place to acquire both Pushtoo and Persian. There is no hindrance whatever, and every encouragement. The work of education has been begun, and is a success; and it now requires extension both in the city and the villages. The work of preaching is now being carried on, but it requires increasing fifty-fold. The work of translation and publication is in progress, and although the latter is still in its infancy, there is no reason, except the lack of men, why it should remain so.

In my last annual letter, having just returned from a Missionary tour to Dera Ismael Khan, Bunnoo, and Kohat, I had occasion to observe the number of Pushtoo-speaking and other inhabitants in those districts, and the absence of all difficulty in preaching the Gospel to them, and the kind and zealous aid imparted to us in our efforts by the English residents. Could not our Society take up the work amongst them also, and thus increase those efforts amongst the Affghans generally, who seem to be left almost entirely without them? There could be hardly any thing which would better second and support our efforts at Peshawur than Missionary labours conducted at Dera Ismael Khan or Bunnoo, places bearing on another side of Affghanistan, and exactly intermediate between Peshawur and Mooltan. Another dialect of the Pushtoo would then become subservient to Missionary work, which would then bear on Candahar as much as that in Peshawur bears on Cabul. The chain of frontier Missions (all of them belonging to our Society) would be then complete, stretching from Kurrachi to Peshawur, through Hyderabad, Shikerpore, Mooltan, and Dera Ismael Khan, all of them pressing onwards in one long line to the lands beyond. Will not our Committee take this matter into their kind, serious, and prayerful consideration?

Preaching in the City.

Mr. Clark writes—

For the first three months of the past year, Mrs. Clark and myself resided in the midst of the city of Peshawur. We were the only Europeans there, and the only ones, I believe, who had resided there since the formation of the cantonments. We were removed entirely from Europeans, and thrown more into contact with natives than I had ever before been in India. We met with no hindrance or difficulty. We were known to be set apart to the work of propagating Christianity. Yet even for a lady there was no obstacle in the way. Visitors were daily received, and Mrs. Clark had access to many zenanas. Were our numbers greater, this successful attempt of living amongst the people might be repeated.

Mr. Tutíng describes in his report the eager disputations into which he is drawn with Mohammedans, and their fierce rejection of the Saviour; yet he is not altogether without encouragement. He writes—

In the midst of this discouragement, however, there is reason for thankfulness that the Gospel can be preached in such a city as Peshawur, and to a people like the Affghans, without fear. If the hearts of many of them have not been softened by the Spirit of God, the tempers of not a few have undergone a visible change. In passing through the city, and even when maintaining the old and valued truths, I often get a friendly salutation or a quiet hearing from men who not long ago were the fiercest in dispute. I can just now call to mind at least half a dozen such, and this in the midst of a people concerning whom officers in that station have asked me, "Don't you carry a pistol with you when you go to preach?"

Education.

Mr. M'Carthy writes, July 10, 1860—

The school still chiefly occupies my thoughts and time, and taxes nearly all my strength. It is still, though slowly, growing, and has now an attendance-roll of about 200 names. We have pupils of all ages, from forty to ten, and of all descriptions, from the great-bearded Mohammedan duffedar down to the little meek-looking Hindu child. All are obliged to learn the Scriptures, and all have the Gospel preached to them daily. We have a large gallery at one end of our noble schoolroom; and at the opening and closing of the school every day this gallery is filled from top to bottom with men and boys—Hindu and Mussulman—all listening, some with undisguised interest, others because the discipline of the school obliges them to listen to the sound, which has come to them from a far country, of Christ and his great salvation.

Christian movement in the Twenty-fourth Regiment of Punjab Native Infantry.

In the last Report a description was given of a movement towards Christianity in the 24th Punjab Native Infantry, and of the sudden stop put to the movement by the arrival of a Government order, which was supposed to interdict the officers of the regiment from countenancing the Christian inquiries of their men. The statement of the Society of the facts of this case, together with other reports of the same events, led the Bishop of Calcutta to bring the subject under the consideration of the Supreme Government, which resulted in the issue of a despatch to the Home Government, explaining the misunderstandings which had arisen respecting the previous Government order, and strongly repudiating the alleged intention of interfering with the private action of its officers in countenancing the movement. This despatch had the happy effect, under God, of dispelling from the minds of the men of the regiment the apprehension that the Government was opposed to their embracing Christianity; and, at the same time, it gave confidence to the European officers to pursue the Christian course of giving a proper support and countenance to the movement. The spirit of inquiry, after a suspension of months, was immediately renewed, and the Rev. Robert Clark was appointed to watch over the work. As it appeared likely that the regiment would be detained for some time at Khariabad, near Attock, where important engineering works are in progress, and other Muzzabee Sikhs were likely to resort to the place, it was determined to build a small church for the use of the converts and inquirers, and to erect a bungalow for the residence of a Missionary. Funds for both purposes were liberally supplied on the spot; and at the close of the year Mr. Clark gives the following account of the work—

My last annual letter was dated from Peshawur: this one is written at Khariabad. At the beginning of last year I was labouring amongst Affghans, Mohammedans speaking the Pushtoo language: this year finds me in the midst of a Sikh regiment, speaking Gurmukkee, followers of Nanak and Govind. I am well aware that a rolling-stone gathers no moss, and that but little influence can be gained amongst more than one class of people. It has, however, fallen to my lot to be constantly in the midst of change, continually to be moving, constantly to be a pioneer preparing the way for others, and then leaving the work to them. My temporary removal from Peshawur here was not my own seeking. It was considered the path of duty by every friend of Missionary work whom we have been able to consult, and also by our Calcutta Committee. The chapel has been completed at the expense of 1700 rupees. It is used as a school during the week. Our congregation on the Sunday services varies in number from forty to eighty persons, and the school has an average of thirty scholars. The number of Christians now connected with the regiment is fifty (including women and children), of whom sixteen are soldiers, and the regular communicants altogether are about fifteen. I am greatly helped in my work by Daoud. A reader, by name Jowahia Messeeh, baptized at Peshawur, has just left us, with an earnest desire to visit the villages in the neighbourhood of his home at Sealkote, and there to make known the Gospel, without receiving remuneration from any Society; and he has gone away with a remarkable testimony, both from Christians and Sikhs, to his purity and simplicity of life and disinterestedness of purpose. The master of the school is also a Christian. The native converts in the regiment, as a class, are as yet both ignorant and very weak. They require milk rather than strong meat. There are some of them, however, who manifest signs of a genuine, more than intellectual faith; and although they lack much grace, there is, I believe, a real progress going on amongst them. The feeling in the regiment is still favourable. There is no apparent opposition of any kind. All the native officers, without exception, attend our services, many of them regularly, and there is much that is hopeful in some of them, and also in several of the men. Mrs. Clark is visited by women in the regiment, and has begun a Bible class among them; and the nucleus of a girls' school has also been formed. She has also four orphan children under her care. The work must now be let to go on, in the sure trust that the heaven will spread, and that faith and love will be increased. There are 600 men, together with their families, amongst whom we have opportunities of preaching the Gospel. It is probable that the number of Muzzabee Sikhs now here will, in a very few months, be more than doubled. We ask for the prayers of our Christian friends, that our labours amongst them may be blessed.

MOOLTAN.

The Rev. T. H. Fitzpatrick has been compelled by the failure of his health to withdraw for a time from India. The station is now occupied by the Rev. G. Yeates. Mr. Fitzpatrick has furnished the following report of the Mission since his return home—

Our Mooltan Mission has at length attained a sure foundation. Its earlier struggles have been mentioned in former letters; and you remember Mr. Ball's removal when he was beginning to know the Hindustanee, and that his departure was followed at intervals by that of all the three native assistants; and then, in 1858, I removed to Peshawur, and, having no one to leave behind, was obliged to break up the school, only a few months previously opened. Well, thank God, some of these trials have passed away, and there is reason to think the Mission well established, and, if well sustained from home, likely, with God's blessing, to become a worthy offspring of its parent, Umritsur.

The school was passing through the trial of competition with a recently-opened one by Government, and was gaining in general esteem. The first convert, baptized in October 1859, was becoming a most useful teacher, and two other Mohammedans had been baptized. Since my return, I have heard of two more baptisms, one an officer, a native of Nepaul, who was some years ago in the Loodiana Missionary school, and there received his first impressions of the truth of Christianity. He has been, through God's blessing, kept under the influence of those impressions, and was encouraged to avow them to his commanding-officer, Capt. Godby, Fourth Punjab Cavalry, in whose family he has been for a long time wont to worship God. Before I left Mooltan he wrote to me for a Hindoo Testament, and other books, that he might teach his wife, and I am glad to hear that she too has become a Christian. We have now in two distinguished corps of the Punjab force native captains who have embraced the Gospel, after mature consideration, and become witnesses for Christ among their men and nation, and no one who knows these cases can possibly impugn them.

The Bishop of Bombay, in a letter dated Poona, August 22nd, 1860, thus reports his recent visit to the Society's Mission at Mooltan—

At Mooltan I was truly glad to make the acquaintance of your excellent Missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, both working with quiet energy and holy perseverance, although with, as yet, only one convert to reward their toil. I went with him into the native city, and sat with him in the open verandah, in which his school is held, and admired the chastened cheerfulness with which he won the attention of his pupils, many of whom were the children of people well-to-do in the place, and some exceedingly intelligent, bright-looking lads. They answered questions in sacred history, geography, &c., and were examined by the Deputy Commissioner. I said a few words to them, feeling it a privilege to open my lips for Christ in the heart of that dark place. I was glad, on my way down the Indus, to receive Mr. and Mrs. Yeates for a few hours, on their way up to Mooltan. May the Lord spare them long and prosper them!

Mr. Yeates' chief attention is necessarily devoted to the acquisition of the language, and he is not yet able to carry on the preaching to the heathen. He bears testimony to the Christian consistency of the converts, and reports that the school continues to prosper, containing sixty-eight pupils, "several being young men of great promise." Mr. Yeates had been greatly encouraged by the visit of a native officer, a Rajpoot, of a regiment stationed near Mooltan, who had been educated in the Loodiana Mission school, and afterwards entered the service of Runjeet Singh, but, upon his death, joined the British army. He always retained a sense of the Christian religion as the only true one; but it was not till after many years that he determined to make an open profession of the faith. He was baptized by the chaplain of the station, and returned to his regiment.

Mr. Fitzpatrick gives, in his annual letter, the following review of the work with which he has been identified for eight years—

Looking at our Punjab Missions generally, I am thankful for their present cheering condition. Umritsur has continued a fruitful field, which the Lord has blessed. Peshawur has been gathering in, one by one, some manly followers of the Redeemer. Kangra has an interesting congregation, known by the report of individuals who have gone forth to several places. The Muzzabee regiment has made Attock and Khairabad out-stations of Peshawur, and there are two or three smaller spheres of evangelical effort connected with the centre and origin of all these Missions. We have indeed good reason to be thankful for the success which has attended the efforts of our Society, but these efforts must be sustained by an accession of new Missionaries, year after year, for some of those now able to speak the languages will be returning home for a season, and their places ought not to be left vacant.

In conclusion, let me point with satisfaction to the independent efforts of some of our native Christians. I have, in years gone by, sent some of them out long distances to preach the Gospel, and have known them do so with wisdom and power. And now we have not only the two native officers at Hote Murdan and Dera Ghazi Khan declaring the truth to those who visit them, but we have had this last year Paulos at Narowal, Sulamian in Cashmeer and Jowahia Messeeh in the neighbourhood of Sealkote, doing the work of evangelists, without any European Missionary standing at their side, and putting them into the shade, or inviting them to rest upon their support. Much, I am persuaded, may be done by a judicious superintendence, if the way of usefulness be pointed out, and then left open to the Christians; but on the other hand, harm of the most serious nature, generally, perhaps invariably, follows the constant interference of the European Missionary. Native churches cannot be made by us, but will grow up, and become strong and vigorous, if left to spontaneous development through the power of God's word and Spirit in the hearts of believers.

MADRAS AND SOUTH-INDIA MISSION.

(European Missionaries first arrived 1814.)

THE Committtee are thankful to report that they have been able to strengthen the Missionary body in South India, by the addition of five ordained Missionaries, whilst only one ordained Missionary has been withdrawn through the failure of health. Three European lay-agents have also withdrawn; but as one of them has entered the College at Islington as a candidate for holy orders, the strength of the South-India Mission has been materially increased during the last year.

Death of the Bishop of Madras.

The Committee have to record with deep and affectionate respect the loss of the Right Rev. Thomas Dealtry, Lord Bishop of Madras, who for twenty-five years, first as Chaplain, then as Archdeacon of Calcutta, and subsequently as Bishop of Madras, proved himself a wise and zealous patron of the Missions of this Society, and the uncompromising maintainer of Protestant and evangelical principles. The following minute was adopted by the Committee upon the announcement of the Bishop's death—

The Committee have heard with deep regret the tidings of the death of the Bishop of Madras, V.P., in whom they have lost a constant and cordial friend,—first, when Archdeacon of Calcutta, and afterwards as the steady patron of their Missions in South India, whether as Chairman of their Madras Corresponding Committee, or as the fatherly adviser of his clerical brethren, and generous contributor to all objects connected with the rising native churches. Bishop Dealtry's periodical visitations to the various districts of his diocese exhibited his minute acquaintance with every detail affecting the progress of the kingdom of Christ there, and proved seasons of refreshing both to old and young. More than twenty native catechists received ordination, and many thousand native catechumens confirmation, at his lordship's hands. His catholicity of spirit also was remarkably evinced by his ready co-operation with Missionaries of other denominations, whom he always welcomed to his house and friendship. The Committee learn, with praise to the Giver of all grace, that Bishop Dealtry died in "full assurance of interest in his Master's finished work," and trust that it may please God to raise up a successor of like spirit and principles with those of him whose loss they mourn.

A recent letter of the senior Missionary in Travancore, expresses the opinion of the Missionary body as to the efficiency with which Bishop Dealtry, when in health, was able to grasp the work of his diocese. "The bishop has laboured faithfully, efficiently, and successfully: he has assisted with his money; he maintains a wise and regular, not a narrow-minded and meddling supervision; he rules with a catholic spirit, neither obtruding any specific private notions, nor striving to draw his clergy to particular views or practices; he has ordained our native clergy, confirmed our laity, attended our native festivals, performed a thousand acts of sympathizing kindness, and accelerated by his labours the progress of our Mission."

Statistics of the South-India Mission.

The Committee have to announce, at the close of another year, a large increase of converts from heathenism. Besides many hundred new inquirers, the names on the list of the Missionaries exhibit an increase, during the year 1860, of 2892 souls, being nearly as large a number as the aggregate of the three previous years. In other words, the labours of the Missionaries have this year a threefold blessing. The whole number of the converts under the care of the Society in South India now amount to 40,132, of whom 28,048 are baptized, and 6394 are communicants. To the God of all grace be the glory ascribed!

The liberality of the native Christians is also on the increase. The sums contributed by them to various pious and charitable purposes during the year amounted to 11,905 rupees (1190%), which exceeds the amount of the previous year by 2552 rupees (255%). A large proportion of the contributions is devoted to the building, repairing and endowment of places of worship. During the year thirty-three new chapels or prayer-houses have been erected by the people.

The Mission in the city of Madras has been subjected to the checks and discouragements attending frequent changes in the Missionary force. In the opening of the year 1860 the charge of the whole Mission, which formerly was under the care of four Missionaries, rested upon the Rev. Thomas Foulkes. Afterwards, the Rev. J. Gritton relieved Mr. Foulkes of a portion of the work; and later in the year the Rev. J. Bilderbeck arrived to resume his share in the Mission; but before the autumn both Mr. Foulkes and Mr. Gritton were, from various circumstances, removed from Madras, and the whole charge of the Mission rested upon Mr. Bilderbeck. Such are the uncertainties inseparable from Mission work in India while under the direction of foreigners; and yet the success of our measures depends, under God, upon a patient perseverance in the employment of well-considered measures.

Mr. Foulkes, in his report, June 1860, writes—

It is a matter of some surprise to me to find that the congregations have not suffered more than they have done through the imperfect pastoral care that they received; and I trust we may accept this as an indication that there has been, during this time of necessity, a higher and much more effectual superintendence over these little flocks than our mere human instrumentality. It is a matter of gratification and thankfulness to me to see that the total number of persons connected with us has increased by fifty-three since I entered upon this charge twelve months ago, thirty-eight of these being additions during the last six months.

Education.

The Harris School for Mohammedan youths has kept up its numbers throughout the year, and the average attendance has greatly improved; but the Annual Report has not yet been received.

Mr. Foulkes devoted much ability and care to the improvement of the schools in connexion with the Society in Madras, of which there are nine boys' schools, and five girls' schools, containing between 600 and 700 children. Mr. Foulkes pleads for a special attention to schools on the ground of the large proportion of children who die before the age of seventeen; so that half the population of the world passes into eternity before they exceed the age of school-teaching. "How shall the Gospel," he asks, "reach these interesting young souls in heathen countries, who are already on the threshold of eternity, unless they hear it in our Mission schools?" He makes the calculation that there are at least 30,000 children in Madras of an age for schools, accessible to Missionary efforts; whereas not more than 5000 are found in the Missionary schools of the seven Protestant Societies at work in Madras,

General View of the Tinnevelly Mission.

The annual review of the Tinnevelly Mission must necessarily differ in its character from that of less advanced Missions. The report of a Christian community numbering 30,000 souls, can present only broad facts and general statements. It cannot present a report of those individual cases of conversion, or of those Missionary incidents, which attract the Christian sympathy of supporters at home, and engage their prayers, on behalf of an infant Mission. The progress of the Tinnevelly Mission is to be judged of by the characteristics it exhibits of a permanent, indigenous, and self-extending Christianity. Taking this comprehensive view of the Mission, the reports of the Missionaries for the last year, present two prominent features so full of a glorious hope of future progress, that the Committee have imposed upon themselves a double caution in recording the facts. These features are, first, an increased spirit of inquiry amongst the heathen in the older districts of the Mission, issuing in a large increase of converts, amounting in number to more than 2600; and, secondly, a revival movement amongst native-Christians in the north-western extremity of the itinerating Mission. These two features of the work during the year 1860 will be described in extracts from the Annual Reports of the Missionaries.

Mr. Schaffter, the senior Missionary of the district, looking back upon the experience of thirty-three years, thus reviews the events of the last year—

I have not seen the Mission since I came to India enjoying such a degree of peace and freedom from outward opposition as I have in this station during the last year and a half. Generally speaking, people come over to Christianity without experiencing the least opposition. This happy state of things must not be attributed to the Mission being less aggressive now than in former days, nor in its success being less; for, during the last two or three years, accessions to Christianity from heathenism have been much more considerable, and much larger, than in former times, but it must rather be attributed to an impression, becoming more and more general in the minds of the heathen in these parts, that Christianity in itself is a good thing, and that it is destined to prevail at last, and that there is, therefore, no good in opposing it; and where this impression does not prevail, still the adversary thinks that the time for opposition is not favourable. We endeavour also to improve every opportunity for showing kindness to the opposite party, and scrupulously to avoid all that might irritate them, and this, I am certain, goes a great way in promoting peace and goodwill. Since the last riot in Tinnevelly was put down, there is also a general impression that Government will not allow Christianity to be thoroughly oppressed; and this also has the effect of deterring enemies from attempting much against it. But hatred still exists: of this we have abundant evidence, and especially in the minds of people of high caste. All, however, of high caste are not imbued with that bitter spirit against Christianity, and all improvements, which is remarked in others; and a proof of this is, that, during the current year, several of them have placed themselves under Christian instruction, which forms, as it were, a new epoch in this Mission, for in former times very few above the caste of Shanars ventured to take the step. One of the new comers is a rich Merasdar, or a headman of a village; another is a Vellaler and a poet, and a most amiable and, to all appearance, a most sincere youth. For two years he has been reading the New Testament, which gradually produced a deep impression, which he could not resist, and therefore avowed himself a disciple of Jesus. By conversations I have had with him, I have been led to the belief that there is a work of grace in him.

A short time ago, I had an especial meeting with the catechists, for the very purpose of ascertaining the causes which bring so many people over to us ; they are as follows—

1st. The prevalence of Christianity in these parts over heathenism, where, we may say, it has now got the upper hand, so that the odium of joining it is, in a measure, done away.

2d. The good order and knowledge which prevail in our congregations, compared with the state of things in the heathen villages, have also a powerful effect in engaging people on our side.

3d. The knowledge of Christianity has been widely-spread in these parts by preaching, tracts, &c. : those who are able to appreciate that knowledge, and compare it with the follies of heathenism, get disgusted with the last, and sometimes embrace the truth.

4th. Acts of kindness, shown by the Christians to their heathen neighbours during the visit of cholera and other troubles, do much to recommend Christianity, and have much effect in producing kindly feelings among the heathen towards us. We try to be kind indeed. The opinion too generally received and acted upon by Europeans, that kindness in outward things has very little effect in mollifying the hearts of the Hindus, and preparing them for the reception of Christianity, is a very great mistake, and one which has already done much evil.

5th. Superstition has sometimes the effect of bringing people over to us. When a heathen is much harassed by misfortune, death of relatives, &c., he is apt to fancy that Christianity may shelter him against these evils, and he embraces it; though we continually tell them, that it is not designed to protect us from death, but to prepare us for it. The fearful mortality occasioned by the last feast of Trichendur has been the means of bringing many people over to us.

Mr. Schaffter also records a fact which must never be lost sight of in accounting for the success of the Mission, namely, that there had previously been a great increase of prayer among the converts. Besides the week of prayer at the commencement of the year, a prayer for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit was printed and distributed to every family where they could read.

The Rev. J. Thomas, who has had an experience of twenty-four years in India, writes in his annual letter—

The statistical returns show an increase of 781 persons during the past year ; and there are others on probation whose names have not been included in the returns. The total number of Christians now in the three districts amounts to 11,169, residing in 136 different villages. The attention of the people generally, at the public services, and to the preaching of the Gospel, has shown this year a marked improvement in their state ; so much so, that I have frequently thought, that although the same signs of a revival which have appeared in the northern parts of Tinnevelly have not been witnessed in the south, yet that the Holy Spirit's influences had fallen upon the hearts of our people as gentle dew from heaven. God grant that it may be so, and that the constant prayers which have been offered up at our weekly and monthly prayer-meetings may be answered in an abundant outpouring of Divine influences upon all flesh; so that not only religion may be deepened in the hearts of those who have already professed it, but that, together with them, the heathen around may see the salvation of our God. I am not able to speak from personal observation of the marvellous things which have taken place in the north. The distance, the difficulty of travelling, the multitudinous affairs of these districts to be attended to, and a very indifferent state of health, rendered it impossible for me to visit those localities, where the manifestations have been most striking. I have, however, kept my catechists and people fully informed of what has been going on, and urged them to unite with me in prayer that God may be pleased to vouchsafe to us the blessed manifestations of his power, grace, and love.

The Rev. J. T. Tucker, another Missionary of long experience in India, writes (Oct. 1860)—

Although we have not been favoured with any apparent special outpouring of the Spirit of God, yet I perceive a great increase of apparent real devotion among Christians, and a shaking in the minds of the heathen, in many directions. If it please God to spare us a few years longer to work as we are now going on in this Mission, I calculate we shall have an immense increase of converts; so that the time must come when the whole neighbourhood will be Christian in profession. Every corner of my large church is now filled with people at the noonday service on the Sunday. I feel it indeed a great privilege to be allowed to preach to such a number of souls on the all-important subject of eternity. Oh may the Lord pour down his Spirit abundantly on these poor people. Among the new converts there are upwards of 100 in the village to the south of the bungalow. Others who joined us in the beginning of the year are going on very satisfactorily; and I am just starting on a trip to baptize many of them. We have been working upon the heathen for some years, and now the strong hearts of many appear cracking under the repeated blows of the Gospel hammer. I have an immense amount of work upon my hands at present.

At the close of the year Mr. Tucker adds the following statement—

In sitting down to write you my annual letter, I wish, in the first place, to ascribe my humble thanks to God for the great success which He has been pleased to give to the Missionary work in the Panneivilei district during the past year.

Our converts being so weak, full of infirmities of all kinds, and so long accustomed from their childhood to many evil habits, they cannot throw away all their heathenism in a day. We have, therefore, not only to seek after new people among the heathen, but we have also to watch over every new convert we receive, and endeavour to teach him or her all things whatsoever our Lord commanded. It is, then, a cause of much thankfulness to God that He has been pleased to bless our efforts to instruct the converts in his ways, and to give them strength and grace to remain faithful to their profession of faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. We have, through God's mercy, been permitted to retain possession of ground previously conquered in the name of Immanuel, and thence to sally forth among the slaves of Satan, to proclaim liberty to captives in the name of our Jesus.

The satisfactory state of the older congregations may be gathered from the fact, that in thirty villages out of forty there has been a greater or smaller increase of Christians, and this effected, under God, by the zeal and teaching of the older Christians. This has been remarkably the case in the hamlets round, and in the neighbourhood of Paneivilei. In seven of these hamlets, in 1859, there were more than four hundred heathen, besides Christians: now, with the exception of four families, all are professedly disciples of Christ, and appear determined to remain so.

The great cause of rejoicing to my heart is that so many as 607 persons, who were worshippers of idols on January 1st, 1860, are now (Oct. 1860) disciples of Christ, and are so apparently sincere in their profession of Christian faith, that I have admitted them into my list of native Christians. Moreover, besides the above 607 received into our report, there are 500 more who have recently renounced idolatry, but as yet have not been long enough under instruction to be trusted. The total number, therefore, during the past year, of new converts, amounts to about 1100 people, a much greater number than I have ever before been permitted to receive in one year. I believe it is owing to the teaching and the preaching of the Gospel by myself and catechists among the heathen for some years past. I confidently look forward (trusting to God's blessing) to a still greater increase during the coming year, should it please God to spare our lives.

Of course I cannot look upon these 1100 new people as all true Christians: on the contrary, I fear that there are but few among them that are true children of God: yet the facts that they have destroyed their idols, which they once worshipped; that they willingly attend the means of grace where the Gospel is preached; and live, so far as man can see, a consistent life, is a source to my own mind of much joy and thanksgiving to the God of all grace. God's word most assuredly will not return void. Several instances of apparent true conversion have taken place among the new converts and among the older Christians.

The Rev. T. Spratt, Superintendent of the Vernacular Training Institution for Schoolmasters, writes—

It is a fact, and one for which, I think, an account may be given, that a more earnest, serious, and religious spirit has been awakened among the students during the last year; and I have no doubt that this is one of the less direct results of the extraordinary movement that has taken place in North Tinnevelly and other parts of the province. For my own part, I am of the number of those who take the less favourable view of the doings in North Tinnevelly and Nullur. Still I believe, that out of much that is evil, the Lord has brought, and is continuing to bring, much good. There cannot be a question but that there has been, in some of our agents and people, a development of certain features of the Christian character that have heretofore been of infrequent occurrence. Many are becoming more alive to the spiritual nature of religion, and are coming to manifest a conviction of sin, and a hearty sorrow on account of it, such as has been but little known amongst them. It was, I know, a fact over which my late brother mourned, and for the cause of which he sought and prayed, that in his experience among the people he had not known a case of one coming to him under deep conviction of sin; and this has been, I believe, the general experience. Now, however, it seems that a sense of sin is being begotten and deepened, and that some do cry out in the sorrow of their hearts because of felt sin. How much ought we to pray that the number of such might be largely increased!

The attention of all our students in Palamcotta was eagerly fixed on the revival movements from the first. Those at the Training Institution received letters from their friends on the subject. I observed them on the playground standing together in little knots, discussing the question. As I passed they would occasionally address a question to me, chiefly, however, in reference to the pretended miraculous powers. They were evidently sceptical as regards the miracles and power to speak with tongues, but they felt there was something strange and unaccountable. It made them thoughtful. I was by no means desirous of suppressing this spirit of inquiry, and hoped that, having their thoughts directed to the subject, it might not be unattended with good results. I had confidence in them that their superior knowledge, and the state of discipline and order to which they were accustomed, would prevent their yielding to any of the irregularities of which we have heard. Of course I was not without some little anxiety: all, however, proceeded in the same orderly manner as usual, and for some time it seemed as if they had pretty well forgotten the thing, except that there was a marked improvement in their demeanour at the daily prayers. There was a seriousness and thoughtfulness on many faces that I have not been wont to see.

Though an account of the revival movement in Tinnevelly might have been placed in the report of the itinerating district, yet, as its influence has extended throughout the whole district, it will most appropriately follow the statement which has been already given.

The revival began amongst a few school children, who became affected with an earnest desire for the pardon of their sins, and who sought and found peace in prayer and in turning over the pages of their Bibles, with an intelligence, fervour, and decision which astonished their European instructors. The movement rapidly extended among the adults of the neighbourhood. Several native teachers who had been hitherto supine, worldly-minded, and even secretly living inconsistently with their Christian profession, became at once deeply penitent, and earnest and powerful preachers among their relatives and neighbours. The effect of this movement upon European Missionaries of several years' standing, and who were well acquainted with the native character, as well as upon the older and more experienced native catechists and ministers, may be best described in one of their own expressions. "Amidst the scenes which we are now witnessing, our prevailing feeling is a fear lest our presence should check or divert the work of God's Holy Spirit." In all the reports of this remarkable awakening, the Committee recognise the counterpart of the reports received from Ireland and other parts of the United Kingdom where revivals have occurred. They are thankful to report that their Missionaries in Tinnevelly appear to them to have acted with much Christian wisdom and spiritual discernment. The movement soon began to show symptoms of a questionable and even deceptive character. Bodily contortions and pretended miracles exhibited themselves among the earliest subjects of the revival; but the sounder part of the awakened converts soon detected the delusions. The questionable and objectionable elements were no sooner detected, than they were altogether separated from the Mission of the Society, and those parties have since run into further extravagances. The occurrence of these extravagances has checked the work, and great suspicion has been excited in the minds of Christians, at a distance from the scene, respecting the character of the movement. Nevertheless, the Missionaries, cognizant of the work from the beginning, concur in stating that the sounder results bear the unquestionable impress of a Divine and permanent work. More than 150 subjects of the revival, partly from the heathen and partly from lapsed Christians, have infused a new spirit of prayer and of independent action among the native Christians of the district through which the revival influence has extended. Throughout these critical events the Parent Committee has had reason to thank God for the aid of a Corresponding Committee in Madras, to preside over their South-India Mission, amongst whom on this, as on many previous occasions, the spirit of power and of love and of a sound mind has been especially manifested. At a meeting of that Corresponding Committee, when the late venerated Bishop of Madras was present, a resolution was passed which embodies all that the Parent Committee desire to say further on this subject. The resolution is in these words—"Resolved, that the Secretary convey to the Missionaries, the expression of the Corresponding Committee's sympathy in their anxieties connected with the present revival work in their district. They feel that, in dealing with such a movement, there is need of great grace, and of much discernment of mind, so to suppress needless animal excitement as not to discourage the workings of a purely spiritual character. A spirit of large expectation, tempered, but not overlaid, by a sound mind, is the one which needs cultivation under the existing circumstances of this movement."

Among several instances cited by Mr. Meadows in proof of the decision and independence of character which is exhibited by those who have been brought under revival influences, the following are too remarkable to be omitted—

Pudhur, a hamlet about three-quarters of a mile from Vageikulam, and Kuruvikulam, about two miles from it, present this most encouraging feature, viz. that one of the Christians themselves, without receiving any salary, undertakes to instruct the converts, to conduct service, &c. I saw the people of Pudhur about a month ago, and preached to them in their own village. I was struck with their proper behaviour, their progress, and the neatness of their women—a thing so unusual, among Pallar heathen at least. They all know the Ten Commandments, some know the Creed and the Lord's Prayer, and a few verses of Scripture. Their teacher himself did not know all the usual lessons, but he possesses the advantage of being able to read, and teaches the rest to the extent of his own knowledge. At Kuruvikulam, Saththianadhen, a member of the congregation acts as teacher. He is most efficient, equal, as Mr. Vedhanayagam expresses it, to a catechist receiving ten rupees a month salary. His friend, Gnanapragasam, has built a place for the people to assemble, near his own house, and at his own charges. He has shown, too, his Christian sympathy, by paying Ramai's subscription for the oil required for the reading class at Vageikulam. These two are not the only instances, in our district, of congregations helping themselves, and not depending upon catechists for instruction, or the Society for money.

The Native Ministry.

The Committee watch, with anxious but hopeful solicitude, the gradual introduction of a native ministry into the church of Tinnevelly. Hitherto the testimony of the Missionaries to their efficiency has been very favourable, and such as to encourage a still further development of the native pastorate, and a more complete organization of the native church.

The following important testimony is borne by the Rev. W. Clark, who has the charge of the Nullur district—

The district, I doubt not, will be greatly benefited by the accession of a native clergyman, Mr. S., who was transferred to it by the Committee about four months ago. He has taken charge of the eastern division, which he constantly visits and inspects. Under his management I expect to see it advance. His long experience and his acquaintance with the working of congregations in the eastern district will be of great service to him. I am happy to say that he unites with me heartily in the work, and cheerfully carries out my plans. I am very glad indeed to have his assistance, and hope I shall long retain it. It is with pleasure also that I can bear testimony to the zeal and diligence of another native clergyman, associated with me, who has been greatly stimulated by the "Revival," as indeed we have all been, and is striving, according to the grace given him, to establish, improve, and increase the congregations under his charge. As you are aware, he has the general management of the western division of the district, as Mr. S. has of the east.

In thus dividing the district between them, I believe I do right, as well as carry out the wishes of the Committee, in committing the responsibility and care of the congregations and schools, in a great measure, to them. I wish them to act independently, as far as circumstances will allow, and to feel that the state of the congregations under their charge depends mainly on them. It is due, I think, to their experience and age to allow them this independence of action, and I think that to do so will be beneficial to the native church. Under these circumstances, I have also decided on obtaining from each a report of the division under his charge, to be added to my own half-yearly report. This division of the district has enabled me to effect another arrangement, which I think will be of great service to the native church, inasmuch as it will be the means, not only of stimulating the people to increased liberality, in which, in this district, they have been very deficient, but also of teaching them to manage public funds, and to direct and manage their own church affairs. You are aware that in some of the other districts meetings are held, and collections made among the congregations generally, as well as at the principal stations. I have adopted this plan, with certain additions. Each division is to have a separate Society, or Sangam, as it is called, under my general supervision, but under the management of the native clergymen, and a Committee composed of an equal number of catechists and members of the congregations. These Sangams are to take under their care all secular business, except the payment, &c., of the Mission agents. They are to conduct all the affairs of the Church-Building Fund, Endowment Fund, Poor Fund, building and repairs of schools, Bible, Book, and Tract Societies, &c. The native clergymen, with the assistance of the catechists, will also undertake the management of the Durmasangam, the building and repairs of catechists' houses, &c. They are, in short, to relieve me of every thing but the instruction, direction, and payment of the Mission agents, the general supervision of the district, and preaching to the heathen. I shall of course always make myself acquainted with the proceedings of the Sangams, and take charge of the funds collected, as well as occasionally preside at their meetings, but all detail in the management of these matters I shall leave to the native clergy and the Committees, and give myself to prayer and the ministry of the word. I hope that in establishing these Sangams, I have taken a right step towards preparing the native church in this district for independence. The people will gradually learn to act for themselves, and depend on their own exertions and resources, and especially be led to see that it is their duty to provide for the support of their own clergy.

An incidental notice in a communication by Mr. Tucker bears an important testimony to the efficiency of the native minister appointed with him in the labours of his district—

Madatthapetty, a hamlet in the Seevalapaig Gramam, is another place where the Gospel has taken a strong hold for the first time this last year. The Rev. A. Isaac has, in God's providence and grace, been the instrument of leading more than a hundred souls in this place to destroy their idols, and zealously profess themselves anxious to serve the true God.

The following general remarks bearing upon this subject, though referring to native agency generally, occur in the annual letter of the Rev. T. Spratt, in connexion with his Report of the Training Institute—

Until we beget in our Christian people some degree of intellectual independence, we shall never see them undertaking independent responsibility as regards the Christian church established amongst them. It is my settled conviction that the time is more than come when we should begin to take from under the people that system of props and supports by which they have been so long upheld, to the crippling of their own energies. They need not only to have pressed home on their attention their duties to themselves, and to that Gospel which has been introduced amongst them, but the time is come when they should be gently and yet firmly and judiciously led to undertake positive and defined responsibilities—when they should be made to undertake part of the burden of maintaining Christianity among them. And I think there are facts enough before us to show, that in proportion as we have thrown the people back upon themselves, in such proportions have they awoke to their duties, and manfully met them. The yearly contributions by native Christians to various charitable objects are very respectable and very creditable. It is a fact worthy of note, that at the last anniversary of the Native Missionary Association, there was a balance in hand of 2000 rupees, and this is only one Society. What I think we ought to aim at now is, to give a form and direction to native contributions, which would serve to keep ever present before their minds, that we are eagerly looking forward to the time when they shall be able to take on themselves the support of their own church. Doubtless, the time is not near when the Christians of this province can be left to themselves; but if we never make a beginning we shall never reach the consummation. A beginning is being made, and our first attempts are encouraging. I rejoice in the knowledge that a large majority of those engaged in the work in Tinnevelly, not only adopt as a principle, that native Christians must be taught to rely more upon themselves, but are watching for every opportunity of judiciously carrying out the principle.

Death of the Native Minister, the Rev. Paul Daniel.

The native church in Tinnevelly has sustained during this year a great loss in the death of one of its most promising native ministers, the Rev. Paul Daniel, whom God was pleased to call to Himself on the 23d of last November, by a severe attack of cholera. He was ordained deacon early in 1856, and subsequently laboured with the greatest acceptance and success at Satthankulam, under the supervision of the Rev. J. Thomas, of Mengnanapuram. Mr. Thomas thus writes of his death and character—

It has pleased God to remove his servant Paul from among us. He expired on Friday evening at six o'clock, after much suffering. How mysterious are the ways of the Lord! He doeth all things after the counsel of His own blessed will—all for the best; but He giveth not account of any of His matters. I cannot tell you how much I feel the loss of my dear friend. His affection, his simplicity, honesty and straightforwardness, his amazing pulpit abilities, and profound humility withal, endeared him to me beyond all I can describe. The last sermon I heard from him was, without exception, the greatest sermon I ever heard—"Enduring the cross and despising the shame." Never did I hear Christ so exalted by human tongue: the effect was perfectly overwhelming. His sun went down at noon: many more years of usefulness might have been expected. He stood alone among our native Christians.

The native Christians in connexion with the Tinnevely Mission contributed during the year 1860 no less a sum than 10,471 rupees (1047*l.*) towards various religious and charitable purposes, chiefly for the building, repairing, and endowing of churches, but a large portion also to the support of native catechists labouring in the darker parts of the province. This amount is in excess of that of last year by 2260 (226*l.*) The "Madras Missionary Record" makes the following remarks upon this subject—

We cannot but consider the increasing liberality of the native Christians of Tinnevely as one of the most hopeful evidences of the growing life of the native church.

To those who have any acquaintance with the generally parsimonious character of the masses of this people, and who remember the unsuccessful efforts that were made a few years back to inculcate a more charitable spirit, this change will be viewed with unmixed gratitude. Monetary donations indeed can never be looked upon wholly as a test of spiritual life, but, accompanied as this has been this year by unmistakable evidences of a deeper revival of religion, we have twofold grounds for thankfulness and encouragement. We do not think we can better stir up the friends of Missions in connexion with the Church of England in this Presidency than by referring to the Rev. J. T. Tucker's account of the late Annual Missionary meeting held in the district of Paneivilei; the fact that a sum of upwards of 900 rupees was collected on such an occasion, and under such circumstances—a sum nearly double any collection made in our own Presidency churches of late years for Missionary objects—is indeed one worthy both of consideration and emulation.

In connexion with this topic of native contributions, another district must be referred to. Dohnavur is under the charge of the Rev. J. Pickford. From peculiar circumstances, this district was in a very disorganized state when he took it in 1859; but he has been enabled, by the blessing of God, to restore it to a more satisfactory condition. The returns show a gradual increase in the number of converts and of communicants, and a spirit of earnest prayer for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit has been awakened among the people. As one indication of progress, he mentions the increase of liberality in the cause of Missions—this district to the Native Church Missionary Society was 54 rupees; in 1859 this increased to 91 rupees; and in 1860 it reached the sum of 141 rupees 4 annas and 7 pies. This, I should observe, is a pure native effort. The whole is collected by means of our small collecting pots. We have more than 300 of these pots in circulation, and on breaking them open at our half-yearly meetings, nearly the whole of the sum collected is found to consist of pie, a coin of the value of half a farthing.

Tinnevelly Educational Establishments.

The superior educational establishments at Palamcotta for supplying native teachers for the Christian church in Tinnevelly, consist of—

First, a Preparandi Institution for giving a sound biblical and theological training to those young men of mature Christian character who are designed for the offices of catechists or native pastors. This is under the charge of the Rev. Edward Sargent, and contains between forty and fifty students.

Secondly, The Vernacular Training Institution for schoolmasters, with its Model and Practising Schools, under the charge of the Rev. T. Spratt, containing about eighty pupils, designed for schoolmasters.

Thirdly, The Sarah Tucker Institution, for training female teachers, which is in course of erection, a class being already in training by Miss Richards, under the general superintendence of the Rev. T. Spratt.

Fourthly, The Native English School for heathen and Mohammedan boys of the higher classes of society, who desire a good education in the English language, under Mr. W. Cruickshanks.

As the last year's Report contained a very full account of these establishments, it will not be necessary to give further details on the present occasion. They have been maintained in their efficiency during the year 1860. The English school alone is liable to fluctuation. Thus, the Midsummer examination was not so satisfactory as on former occasions, owing to there being no advanced scholars. "In consequence of the conversions of youths of the higher castes in Palamcotta and Tinnevelly, many of the more promising students have been removed by their friends before qualifying themselves for the upper classes."

The following remarks of the Rev. T. Spratt in connexion with the Training Institution for schoolmasters, will be duly appreciated by those who have studied the subject of education in the true sense of the term—

It is only during the last year that we have been able to make thorough use of our playground, which is a most important instrument of education, and specially for native youths. During the erection of the dormitory, the playground was so encumbered with building materials that we could make no use of it. All I could do for the young men was to engage a Christian sepoy to come and drill them. Now, however, we have a well-furnished playground, and every evening the students may be seen practising various gymnastic exercises, and entering into a game of cricket with hearty goodwill. I make a point of spending an hour every day on the playground. The beneficial effects which these games have had on the students is obvious to every visitor. The students have shaken off much of their habitual listlessness, and are beginning to exhibit an energy and manliness not very common among the native boys. There was a time when it was positively painful to see them enjoying a holiday. They would either sit down to idle gossip, or saunter lazily through the rooms of the Institution, or lie down to sleep. Now when a holiday is granted, the immediate request is to be allowed the use of the cricketing apparatus, and all the other appurtenances of the playground: instead of seeing them dragging themselves lazily over the premises, our ears are greeted by the sounds of boisterous merriment and hearty enjoyment of their games. The joyous and happy aspect of all connected with the Institution has been noticed to me by many of our friends, and this is, I think, one of the best signs of a healthy condition.

The village schools throughout Tinnevelly amount to about 330, containing 8438 pupils. Two-thirds of the whole number are boys, owing to the difficulty at present of inducing heathen girls to attend Christian schools. The proportions are as follows—

|                     |   |   |   |   |      |
|---------------------|---|---|---|---|------|
| Christian boys      | . | . | . | . | 2863 |
| Non-Christian boys  | . | . | . | . | 2746 |
| Christian girls     | . | . | . | . | 2585 |
| Non-Christian girls | . | . | . | . | 244  |

Retrospective and comparative views of the Tinnevelly Mission.

It will be interesting to put upon record the following retrospect of the Rev. J. Thomas of the state of the Tinnevelly Mission when he first arrived in India—

It is now twenty-four years since I first landed in India, twenty-one of which have been spent in Tinnevelly, and the greater part of this period I have had the care of Mengnanapuram district, and subsequently those of Asirvadhapuram and Satthankulam. Upon the review of this period I see infinite cause for gratitude, praise, and thanksgiving to the God of all grace for what it hath pleased Him to accomplish in these parts. When I first took charge, in 1898, Christianity might truly be said to be in an incipient state. The places of worship generally were mere hovels; the congregations small in number, with little or no order; and the services of the church conducted without much regard to the Prayer-book; and many of the catechists were not competent men for the work entrusted to them, but were rather guardians of the congregations, to protect them against the persecutions of the heathen around. The schools were not numerous, and many of the schoolmasters were professed heathen; nor had we a single girl attending our village schools, and it was a rare thing indeed to meet with an educated and intelligent Christian woman. But very few of the people could read, and the extent of their religious knowledge consisted in learning by rote a compendium of Christian doctrine, drawn up by Mr. Rhenius. The greater part were unbaptized, and the communicants necessarily small. Now, however, not only have we a spacious and beautiful Gothic church at the central station at Mengnanapuram, capable of holding about 2000 people, but in every village where there is even but a small congregation, excepting those, indeed, which have very recently come over, there are commodious, well-ventilated, and suitable buildings erected, neat in appearance, and all that could be wished under existing circumstances. Now the congregations are numerous, the churches are well attended, the people improved in cleanliness and order, and the services of the church are performed, where there is a catechist, with propriety and intelligence, so as to prove edifying to our people. Many bring with them their hymn-books and Bibles, so that in most places we are permitted to see what reminds us of a well-ordered congregation in England. Without scarcely an exception, all the Christian children are made at present to attend our village schools, until they have acquired a facility in reading the Holy Scriptures, together with some acquaintance with arithmetic, writing, and geography.

Our present race of teachers is vastly superior to those whom I found when I first joined the Mission. Very many of them have been regularly educated for the work from their youth, and at the boarding-school and institutions, and all have been carefully instructed at the weekly meetings held at this place for that purpose. The majority are intelligent men, possessing a very respectable amount of theological and collateral knowledge, with a power, in most instances, of preaching the Gospel in a manner acceptable and edifying to the people. From among them two were ordained by the Bishop of Madras last year, who are, I am thankful to say, giving every satisfaction in the discharge of their duties. Our schoolmasters also are a far more efficient body of men; nor is there, I am happy to say, a single heathen employed in that capacity now. The number of children is very large, there being in the schools under my care at present 2506, of whom 1387 are boys and 1119 girls. The advantages they enjoy have produced a most striking improvement in our young people. At present the number who cannot read are comparatively few, and a renewed and strenuous effort has been made that not one Christian child shall grow up without possessing the inestimable advantage of being able to read God's holy word.

The Rev. G. G. Cuthbert, the valuable Secretary of the North-India Corresponding Committee, has lately visited Tinnevely. No one has seen more than himself of the working of Missions in North-India, so that his testimony is peculiarly important.

I had heard much and often of Tinnevely and its Missions; but yet I think I can say that in many respects the half was not told me. I suppose one never thoroughly realizes any scene or any work until one sees it. So it certainly has been with me, at all events, as regards the Tinnevely Mission. I had not realized its extent, nor its maturity, comparatively speaking, nor the advanced state of completeness to which its machinery had been brought. Nor, on the other hand, had I realized some of its less satisfactory features, nor been so fully aware that, essentially, its character is similar to that of our Mission in Kishnagurh, though in several circumstances much in advance of it.

The wisdom and care manifested in the treatment of those who have come over, whether in larger or smaller numbers; the judicious distribution of catechists among them; the patience and pains wherewith the catechists have been taught, directed, and encouraged for and in their work; the advance made in some of the stations in school work amongst the girls as well as the boys,—must all be spoken of most highly. And so must also the energy, the skill, the perseverance, shown by many of the brethren—especially at the first and also for so many years since—in reclaiming so much, not only of the moral wilderness, and converting it into a garden of the Lord, but also of the natural desert around them, laying out their stations, erecting the various buildings, and gradually forming for themselves and their successors a pleasing civilized Christian home, in which they may feel willing and happy to abide as long as their work may require and the Lord may permit.

III. ITINERATING MISSION, NORTH TINNEVELLY.

European Mission Establishment :

Rev. David Fenn, M.A., 1852.

Rev. Robert Rust Meadows, B.A. (m), 1852.

Rev. Reginald Chambers Macdonald, B.A., 1859.

In the early part of the year 1860, the Rev. W. Gray continued to superintend and to take part in the work of the whole district, with the assistance of the three native clergymen who had each a third part of the district assigned to him, as his peculiar field of labour, Mr. Fenn devoting himself to itinerant labours. In October, Mr. Meadows returned from England, and Mr. Gray removed to Madras. Messrs. Fenn and Macdonald devote their whole attention as itinerators to the heathen populations of this extended field of labour; while the charge of the congregations, including about 1570 souls, scattered over an area of 1200 square miles, together with the superintendence of the district agency, schools, &c. devolves upon Mr. Meadows. Besides the three native clergymen associated with him, there are twenty-five catechists and readers, ten schoolmasters, and five schoolmistresses, engaged in the district. There is also a band of seven native labourers associated with the itinerators. These are sent out and wholly maintained by the congregations in South Tinnevelly.

The three native ministers have furnished very full journals of their labours. The chief interest in the events of the year have been already anticipated in the account of the revival movement.

General Progress of the Mission.

There has been an increase of converts in this Mission during the last year, though it may appear small compared with the results in Tinnevelly. There are now 6747 converts in connexion with the Mission, of whom 1379 are communicants. Progress has also been made in the erection of places of public worship, the number of which has risen from thirty-seven to forty-six. There is also some increase in the number of native agents.

An important occurrence is also to be recorded during the past year, which must have a favourable influence upon the progress of Christianity in Travancore. The lower, or working classes, such as the Chogans, are a degraded race, debarred from the civil rights of citizens, unable to enter a court of justice, or to hold property in their own name, obliged to avoid the presence of the superior classes on the high road, or to submit to personal castigation. Yet it has been from these lower classes that the chief proportion of converts have sprung: their Christian profession has not hitherto protected them from such degradation and insult, but rather exposed them to severer persecution from the heathen. The Syrian Christians, having always had the status of a superior class, were exposed to no such trials; but the Protestant converts were subject to all the degradation and insults attached to heathen caste distinctions.

Mr. Peet has exerted himself to relieve the Protestant Christian converts from these indignities. The success of his endeavours is thus described in his annual letter—

I have to report, to the glory of our heavenly Father, that, after more than twenty years struggling, during which I obtained a tacit admission of some of my people's rights, I have, through the aid of the present Resident, and Mudara Row, the Dewan, lately obtained a legal status for my people, similar to that of the Moham-medans; that is, as fellow-subjects they have now the equal public right of walking in the public road, of appearing in a court of justice, of deliverance from the infamous system of compulsory labour, and can hold property in their Christian names.

Reports of the different Districts.

The Rev. Joseph Peet reports of the Mavelicara district, that the Mission has gone on "steadily, healthily, and increasing in number:" the number of adult heathen baptized during the year was 108.

All the church members hold monthly prayer-meetings. The whole Mission is divided according to neighbourhoods. On each occasion the Scripture is read or expounded, as the case may be: our Litany and prayers are used, and then a collection is made; each person at the beginning of the year having stated the amount he proposes to give regularly, though at times an additional sum is contributed. The whole amount contributed at these prayer-meetings during 1860 was more than 200 rupees.

Mr. Hawksworth has charge of the Cottayam, Olesha, and part of the Tiruwella districts. He reports—

The general progress of the Mission during the past year has been quiet yet real. The steady, consistent conduct of the congregation at the head station, and also at Olesha, as well as the three congregations of slave converts in Cottayam district, is noticeable. The accessions from heathenism have been of the lower class, that of slaves; but the Syrian body around has not been unaffected for good.

At Tiruwella Mr. Koshi, at his last visit, baptized thirty-four, and administered the Sacrament to upwards of seventy communicants, men of high standing amongst the Syrians kneeling side by side with converts from among the lowest of the low—a sight unequalled in any of our other churches in Travancore. In this respect the Tiruwella church stands pre-eminent.

The Rev. Henry Andrews is in charge of the Pallam district, which had somewhat lapsed into a cold and careless condition. He thus describes the measures he adopted for infusing a new life into the congregations—

The instruction of the readers at once presented itself as of vital consequence; as, if good and active, they not only help, but, through their instructions, they actually multiply the Missionary. This was a work of patience, but, under God's especial mercy, the weekly instruction has been blessed in a remarkable measure, and its fruits have been an exceeding great blessing to the congregations. Of the five readers, four have shown themselves to be superior men; of these, two I consider to be equal in practical learning, knowledge of Scriptures, composition of sermons, capacity to teach, &c. &c., to most of our native clergy. Our course of instruction has been chiefly confined to the New Testament. Almost all of the Epistles have been carefully analyzed; and principles for Missionary action, and for congregational guidance, most carefully noted and treasured up. It has been the careful carrying out of these principles among the congregations, and the reference of every difficulty to them for discussion, that has made such a difference in our midst. As a consequence of the improvement in the readers, all the congregations show signs, in various degrees, of similar progress. There is more of unity, of liberality, of real Protestant spiritual feeling. In Pallam the church attendance has increased greatly. The converts, who were once such a source of trouble and anxiety, are giving exceeding comfort and great cause for praise.

Almost, if not quite all of the backsliders during several preceding years have returned, and now the zeal and carefulness, and almost jealousy, of these poor people in congregational matters, are something to be noted. Besides the restoration of the Pallam congregation, inquirers (the great mark of life in a Mission) have, to our exceeding joy, sprung up. They are chiefly slaves in the neighbourhood,—whom I found for many months the most callous of men, who resisted every appeal, and were indifferent alike to heaven or hell—I long thought them to be hopeless. At length a few began to meet in my school verandah, the numbers increased, and, when they amounted to about thirty, I put up a shed in the compound, and at the end of the year more than fifty were under regular instruction, really thirsting for the living waters.

Mr. Andrews having been a medical practitioner before his becoming a Missionary, has made his scientific knowledge and skill subservient to his great spiritual work. He thus describes the result—

Another work which must tell for good, sooner or later, though no present fruits of conversion have as yet been manifested, is what I may term my verandah work; I mean the conversations held here with the many who come for medicine, &c. Almost daily, and sometimes during the greater part of the day, I am engaged in conversation with such parties. Pallam is so situated that boats can approach close to the bungalow from all the points of the compass; and parties of from three to six persons frequently, Nairs, and not seldom Brahmins, bringing up some sick friend or relative, afford peculiar opportunities for discussion. The sickness of the poor body always furnishes a forcible illustration of the consequences of sin, and the need of a Saviour. Parties so coming I find are very much subdued in manner, and ready to listen to a kind word for the soul's good. Even when some unpleasant truth rouses their worse feelings, they are always ready to admit that it was spoken in love.

In this way I meet a class of people, who, humanly speaking, are not accessible by any other way. Some of them—the Nair women—I can safely say, could not have been spoken to under any other circumstances. The Nairs, both men and women, have formed a majority of the bungalow visitants. Their former shyness or pride, or whatever else it was, seems quite to have vanished, and from their great general intelligence, I seem to get closer to their minds than to many others.

The native minister, Mr. Koshi, reports the accession to the congregation of Olesha of a large body of independent, sincere, and right-minded Syrians, numbering thirty-four. He writes respecting this occurrence—Allusion was made in my last annual letter to the joint-labours of the Syrian youths for diffusing the light of God's word, and for establishing prayer-meetings, &c. In accordance with their wishes I attended these meetings only occasionally at the beginning, lest people should suspect and avoid them as a Protestant movement. By degrees, however, their suspicions vanished; and as their minds got more and more enlightened, their occasional attendance at our church became more stated and frequent, till at last they have all become, one after another, decided members of our church. Some have also brought their families, while others are prevented from doing so only from want of sufficient independence in the households to which they belong. A great deal might be said in proof of the sincerity of these dear people, such as their pious endeavours to instruct their wives and children, their quiet reasonings with their neighbours, and their frequent applications to me to learn the proper method of arguing with the natives.

Since these people joined us, I observe with deep gratitude the wholesome effects of their good example, in one form or other, appearing in the schoolmasters and other older members of the congregation, and even in some who had formerly backslided and now returned. I must not omit to mention one remarkable result of our dawning prosperity, shown in the liberal spirit with which the people have contributed to the rebuilding of the church. Besides the sums collected from other local sources, the amount raised at the spot, 165 rupees, compared with our means and our limited number at present, evinces a liberality rarely met with among native Christians.

Work among the Slaves.

Slavery still exists in the kingdom of Travancore under its independent sovereignty; but happily the owners of slaves have not the power to restrain them from receiving Christian instruction, though they can afflict them with persecution. The Missionaries have of late years laboured with much success to win this degraded class to the freedom of the Gospel. Mr. Andrews thus reports his labours on behalf of one of the lowest classes of the slaves—

Towards the extreme east of this Mission, among the almost impenetrable jungle, a wonderful work is going on among the poor slaves. Bitter persecution accompanied and tried it fully, but it has stood the long and sharp trial, and now some few are being prepared for baptism. The Nairs there rule as princes, away from all interference, and have fought hard to extinguish this "strange thing." A volume would be required to describe the rise, progress, and peculiarities of this deeply interesting work among a class never before touched. They live on wild roots, and wear leaves, or skins of beasts; but now, those learning (about twenty), are already greatly improved in these outward circumstances. I shall never forget my first preaching to some half-hundred of these men of the jungle. Their joy, their wonder, their various peculiarities, their deep ignorance, all much moved me; but God spoke, and there was light, wondrous light, and now many are clothed and in their right mind, in the best sense of the expression.

The Rev. G. Matthan, native minister in charge of Mallapalli district, writes—

Three out of my five congregations consist of converts from the degraded and oppressed class of slaves. Christianity, which was of late gradually spreading amongst them, has made a more rapid progress during the past year. In this interval, forty-two souls from this class were received into the fold of Christ by baptism. It is worthy of observation that this increase is attributable more to the zeal and diligence of the slaves themselves than to the endeavours on our part. They in general show a praiseworthy anxiety to communicate the inestimable treasure they have freely got to others of their own class, and thus afford an evidence of the sincerity of their profession, the purity of their motives, and the love they have for their fellow-creatures. In this respect they form a remarkable contrast to the Anglo-Syrians, who, either retaining the old habits formed in the Jacobite church of apathy for the spiritual welfare of the heathen around, or dispirited by frequent disappointments in their benevolent efforts, do not, as a body, manifest any zeal for the propagation of the Gospel, and use hardly any efforts to communicate the knowledge of the truth to those with whom they have intercourse.

During the past year another class also of slaves were brought for the first time under the influence of the Gospel. They are known by the name of Eastern Pulayas, while the class which had already embraced Christianity are denominated Western Pulayas. They are equally enslaved and oppressed as the other, and are considered more degraded and polluting. They are, therefore, literally the lowest of the low in this country. Contact with them is as polluting to a Western Pulaya or a Paraya as theirs would be to a Nair or a Brahmin. But strange to say that the Gospel was first made known to them by one of the Western Pulayas, a man named Xavier. This person being compelled to run away from his master at Ohampakkuru, and having taken refuge here, was led to place himself under Christian instruction, and was at last baptized by me towards the year 1859. Deeply feeling the importance of the truths he had himself received, he was anxious to impart a knowledge of them to the Eastern Pulay as in his native jungle, whom he could now regard as his brethren in the Lord. For this purpose he made frequent journeys to their abodes by night, for he was afraid he would be beaten to death by his master if he was seen by him; and the glad tidings of salvation which he declared were eagerly received by the Eastern Pulayas as water to a thirsty soul. After some time he brought some of them here, and applied to me to provide them with the means of Christian instruction.

A violent persecution afterwards arose on the part of the masters of these slaves: an appeal to the authorities procured some redress; and towards the close of the year the converted slaves had resumed their work under their former masters. Mr. Matthan adds respecting them—

The last time I saw them they were in better spirits. They spoke of Mr. Andrews' late visit to their station, and of his other doings there as being calculated to embolden more of their class to come and place themselves under Christian instruction. Their friend Xavier frequently visits them, and encourages them to hope and perseverance.

Mundakayam district—Hill Araans.

The Rev. H. Baker, jun., who was the father of this branch of the Mission, being compelled to visit England, the care of the district was consigned to Mr. Oxley, an European catechist, and to the Rev. Jacob Chandy, a native minister. The Mission has gone on as in former years, with a small but gradual increase. Mr. Baker introduced into the congregations from the first a system of self-reliance, by constituting elders and requiring each congregation to keep their school-houses and chapels in repair, and to make contributions to a general Mission fund. This system has given a stability to the congregation, and makes the change of superintendence less hurtful than in those Missions where too much depends upon the personal action of the Missionary. Mr. Chandy reports, that the influence of the Christian Araans appears to operate upon the heathen Araans, and that the people of a caste which considers itself superior to the Araans, "begin to murmur at the intelligence and respectability arising among Christian Araans." Mr. Chandy, after visiting the different villages, bears testimony, that in all the villages there are some who are considerably advanced in spiritual knowledge.

Education.

The Nicholson Cambridge Institution, for preparing native teachers through vernacular instruction, has made very encouraging progress during the last year, both in the erection of the necessary buildings, and in the preparation of a class of students. The building is approaching its completion, and will be admirably adapted for its purpose. The number of pupils at the close of the year was twenty : the course of instruction for the year has comprised, Old-Testament Scripture history, the Gospels and Acts, ancient history, as far as Cyrus, the first five chapters of Indian history, church history in the first two centuries, geography, topical and physical, dates, and meaning of Scripture names of the Old and New Testament. Of the behaviour of the pupils, Mr. Hawksworth reports as follows—

The students, I am thankful to say, have not only made satisfactory progress in the branches of learning most suited to qualify them for Mission agency, but their uniform quiet, consistent conduct, combined with a readiness on the part of the more advanced to converse with the heathen on Christian truth, and preach the Gospel to the lowest classes, as also their care to understand and remember the subject-matter and arrangement of every sermon they hear (as proved by their well-written notes read every Monday morning), encourage me to hope that a real preparation for actual usefulness has been begun. One of the students has been appointed on trial as Bible colporteur at Cochin.

The Rev. Messrs. Beüttler and Chandy examined the Institution at the close of the year, and reported—

We examined the pupils in Bible history, geography, and grammar. They were most at home in the former, just as it should be in an establishment where the youths are trained exclusively for Mission work. They not only answered all historical and chronological questions well, but seemed to enter into the spirit of the subject-matter. In geography and grammar also they answered readily. Considering that a great part of their instruction must be oral, from the paucity of suitable schoolbooks, their attainments are very satisfactory. Great attention seems to have been paid to their spiritual instruction, and the tone pervading the Institution is very pleasing. We would pray, “Send now prosperity, O Lord, we beseech thee !”

The Rev. R. Collins reports of the Cottayam College—

There are now 140 boys attending the college, ninety-three of whom are boarders, and the rest day-boys from Cottayam. Thus we have thirteen boarders more than our number, which is eighty. I have been compelled to refuse several applications from very respectable people for the present. One of the difficulties connected with the college I find to be a lack of a sufficient number of openings for the older boys in the Missions.

I am happy to say that four of my boys still continue teaching the slaves on Sunday mornings at Romarum and Vellur. Two other boys are also to go every Sunday to Pallam, to engage in the same work, so that we shall now help to keep up three services among the slaves each Sunday. Christianity seems to be gaining ground, under God's blessing, among the lower castes, while we are still at a loss for means to influence their masters.

The Press.

Mr. Hawksworth has the superintendence of the press, and writes at the close of the year—

The press has issued 2500 copies of our highly-prized Book of Common Prayer, 1000 copies of Commentary on St. Matthew's Gospel, 3000 copies of a very useful second Reading-book, also 5000 of a more elementary Reading-book, and 1500 of a translation of the late Miss Tucker's interesting work on the Gospel in New Zealand, entitled the "Southern Cross and the Southern Crown." Copies of the last-named work, under the title of the "Gospel Triumph among Cannibals," were presented to the Rajahs of Travancore and Cochin, and to their respective prime ministers, and were very kindly acknowledged. The Travancore Government, under its new rajah and his enlightened dewan, encouraged by our present excellent Resident, is seeking to inculcate correct views, by offering prizes for the best translation of a little work on political economy, in which the Bible is quoted as the guide to true wisdom, morality, and bliss; and for the best essay on the importance of parents inculcating on their children the duty of truthfulness. For this last, 75 rupees, and for the first, 150 rupees, are offered. Surely we have the dawning of a better day.

COCHIN.

The Rev. T. Whitehouse, British chaplain at Cochin, who first urged upon the Society the appointment of a native pastor for the Protestant converts at Cochin, and has most affectionately and zealously aided his labours, was removed to another sphere of duty in the early part of the year, and the whole responsibility of the native congregation rested upon the Rev. George Curian, who also administers the Lord's Supper, baptisms and funerals in the English congregation, till another European clergyman arrives.

The native congregation contained, at the close of the year, 343 members. Mr. Curian reports of them—

We have not had much increase in the past year, since many have left this for different localities, and several have been removed by death, so that the small accession which we have had from heathenism and Romanism only suffices to keep up the numbers of the previous year. Their attendance on the means of grace is very satisfactory and encouraging. Scriptures and family prayers are daily read in most families. There is a feeble movement perceptible for the conversion of their neighbours. Our people now understand pretty well their duty, that because they have received freely they are to give freely. Although they cannot afford much, yet they, as a whole, try to give a little out of the little they have, and we have inculcated on them that they all must give something towards religious and charitable objects. They contribute something monthly (besides the occasional fees for marriages, and the churchings of women, which are appropriated to the Pastorate Endowment Fund) for defraying the expenses of the sacramental elements, the furniture and repairs of the church, and the pay of the watchman.

TRICHUR AND KUNNUNKULLAM.

The stations of Trichur and Kunnunkullam are under the charge of Messrs. Beüttler and Wilkinson. Mr. Beüttler has been much interrupted in his Mission by the failure of his health. Mr. Wilkinson, who resides at Trichur, speaks of the importance of that station as a centre of great influence, from its political position, and from the manly independence of the people. It is one, however, in which the Mission has to encounter two great antagonists, namely, a Sanskrit college of high reputation throughout the country, and a strong body of Romanists. The Protestant congregation, however, maintains its ground. It numbers 390 souls, and is gradually increasing. Mr. Wilkinson has admitted to baptism during the year ten adults from heathenism, and has received eleven from Romanism. He has endeavoured to encourage the people in self-government, by appointing four of the leading members of the congregation to act as headmen for preserving order amongst the rest, and he has opened schools in three of the neighbouring villages. The people in some instances exert themselves to advance the Gospel, and have even offered to provide board and lodging for a native teacher to instruct them more fully in the holy Scriptures. The Mission wears, on the whole, an encouraging aspect.

V. TELUGU MISSION.

The Mission comprises 3 stations, viz. 1. Masulipatam, 1841; 2. Ellore, 1854; 3. Bezvara, 1858.

Rev. Walter Edmonds (m), 1860.

Rev. William Ellington (m), 1860.

Mr. Francis Goodall, 1856, Trained Schoolmaster.

The Rev. R. T. Noble, with the assistance of Mr. Goodall and teachers engaged in India, superintends the large English school at Masulipatam, and the Rev. J. E. Sharkey takes charge of the native Christians, and of the general Missionary operations in the city and neighbourhood. At Ellore the Rev. Messrs. Alexander and Tanner are stationed. At Bezvara, the Rev. T. Y. Darling. The Rev. Messrs. Edmonds and Ellington, who were designated to the new Mission among the Kois of the Godavery, reside in the Telugu country, and are engaged in studying the languages.

MASULIPATAM.

During the last week of the year 1860 the Bishop of Madras visited Masulipatam, and held a confirmation at which thirty-eight converts of the Masulipatam and Ellore congregations were confirmed. The bishop also visited the schools and examined the classes, and expressed very great satisfaction at the results.

Education.

In the last year's Report the testimony of the Government inspector of schools was recorded, to the fact that the Native-English Boys' school, under Mr. Noble, is far a-head of all the educational institutions of the district. This year affords a more gratifying fact in the conversion of four pupils, being promising Brahmin youths of about seventeen years of age. Their conversion created a great commotion in the town of Masulipatam, and the numbers on the roll of the school were at once reduced from 200 to 80. The numbers will doubtless rise again, though some interruption will take place in the progress of the school. But as the fruit of conversion is the prime object of a Missionary school, the Committee thank God for the encouragement He has thus granted to the institution.

ELLORE.

Mr. Alexander has charge of the general duties of the district, and Mr. Tanner superintends a small English school. The station is still in its infancy, comprising only thirty-seven native Christians. Mr. Tanner has made a decided stand against all countenance of caste distinctions in the school, which led to the desertion of nearly all the boys upon the introduction of a Pariah pupil: but it was hoped that they would gradually return, and that, the principle being maintained, further difficulties would be avoided.

BEZWARA.

This station has been, during the last year, under the charge of the Rev. T. Y. Darling, assisted by an English schoolmaster and native catechist. The Christian congregation at Bezvara shows a slight increase upon the returns of the previous year. The progress of the people in Christian attainments has been satisfactory. Preaching to the heathen in Bezvara and in the neighbouring villages has been regularly kept up throughout the year; and the larger heathen festivals within reach of the station have been visited by the Missionaries of this and the other Telugu stations. Mr. Darling writes—

At Mungalagiri Mr. Sharkey, Mr. Alexander, and myself, were engaged for several days in speaking and selling tracts to immense crowds of deluded people, who gave us wonderful attention. Indeed, at all the places thus visited, notwithstanding the great excitement which prevailed, we were well received, and many were the opportunities afforded us of lifting up Christ, trusting in his own promise to draw all men unto Him.

A Native English school, containing about fifty boys, and a girls' school, of thirty girls, are kept up with some encouragement.

In the last Report mention was made of an application for Christian instruction by a company of men from a village twenty-five miles from Bezvara, who met the Missionary while preaching on the confines of a crowded festival. It was stated that Mr. Darling had visited their village, and had baptized nine adults and seven children. This village, Ragapur, has been visited from time to time during the last year. The converts have remained steady in their Christian profession, and have increased. Mr. Alexander visited Ragapur, with Mr. Darling, at the beginning of 1860, and after spending ten days at the place, bore this testimony to the reality of the work—

We visited many villages (in the neighbourhood), and in all we had a gratifying reception from the Pariahs, and in many instances from the caste people too. We found how beneficial it was to have “living epistles” in the Ragapur people, who are well known all over the country, and are honourably noted for their integrity and good conduct. I believe that if God confirms the work at Ragapur, and the Christians stand fast in the Lord, there will be a general reformation among the Pariahs similar to that in Palnaud. "Two of the men have proved unsatisfactory : all the others are of a very different stamp, and Venkiah especially is a man full of wisdom and devotion, and many of the heathen look up to him for advice in difficult circumstances."

THE KOI MISSION.

The Committee announced in their last Report, that, urged by representations of some of the engineering officers engaged in the extensive public works on the Godavery river, they had determined to open a Mission to the tribes lining its banks, with the more especial object of reaching ultimately the aboriginal races inhabiting the adjacent Hill district.

The Rev. F. N. Alexander, with a view to the opening of the new Mission, made a preparatory examination of parts of the country in which operations are to be carried on. Mr. Alexander's journal gives, in addition to much information on the Koi people, a graphic description of some of the difficulties with which the engineers have to contend, in opening out this magnificent country to commercial enterprise.

Owing to an attack of jungle fever, caught during the latter part of his explorations in the Koi country, Mr. Alexander was obliged to go to sea for a few months. But he proposed on his return to re-visit the country, that the work might be definitely commenced, and to erect a temporary bungalow at Dumbagudem. Messrs. Edmonds and Ellington, who have been designated to this Mission, will join it as soon as they have passed their examination in the vernacular language.

The Committee regret that they can report no relaxation on the part of the Supreme Government of India of their exclusion of the Bible from the Government system of education. Your Committee presented a petition to the House of Lords in support of the Resolution of the Duke of Marlborough, moved by His Grace on the 2d July, for the admission of a voluntary Bible class into Government schools. More than 2000 petitions were presented from all Protestant sections of the Christian church in Great Britain in support of the duke's motion. Nevertheless the Resolution was met by the previous question.

The Committee, in their petition to the House of Lords, took their stand upon the principle laid down by Parliament in the Act 53d George III., chap. 155, sec. 43, which declares that it is "the duty of this country to promote the interest and happiness of the native inhabitants of the British dominions in India, and such measures ought to be adopted as may tend to the introduction among them of useful knowledge, and of religious and moral improvement." They urged it as necessarily involved in this Parliamentary obligation, resting upon Her Majesty's Government, that the Bible should be introduced into the system of education in all Government schools and colleges, as the only standard for moral truth for all mankind, and the source of those Christian principles upon which Her Majesty's Government is conducted. They further stated their conviction of the danger to the welfare of India of educating the masses of India upon a system which excludes the word of God; inasmuch as such an education undermines their native religions, and dissolves the social links by which native society has hitherto held together; while it is powerless to supply any other means by which India can be socially regenerated, or cemented to the Crown of Great Britain.

The Committee do not attribute to her Majesty's Government indifference or opposition to the progress of Christianity. They believe that the adherence to this policy arises from the fiction of a neutrality—which has been proved to be impolitic and impossible as well as unchristian; and they will not cease most respectfully to submit to Her Majesty's Government whether it is consistent with sound policy to maintain its present position?—a position of antagonism to the great current of Christian feeling in this country: of antagonism to a great Christian movement in India: and of antagonism also to the judgment and action of some of the most successful administrators of the Indian service.

I. COLOMBO AND COTTA DISTRICT.*COLOMBO.

THE Committee are unable to give any report of the Colombo Mission, owing to the sudden death of the Rev. Henry Whitley, who was in sole charge of it, on the 10th November, 1860. As minister of the Mission church at Colombo, Mr. Whitley admirably fulfilled the object of the Society in the erection of that church, by making it a centre of union for the Christians of both races, services being held in it in the English, Singalese, and Tamil languages; and also by encouraging a Missionary spirit in the European residents, so that large sums were collected by the congregation of the church in behalf of the operations of the Society. In addition to his labours as minister of the church, Mr. Whitley carried on direct Missionary work both among the Singalese and Tamils of Colombo, and organized a system of colportage, of which he was the life and soul, for disseminating the Scriptures and Christian literature throughout the community. In the midst of these zealous and valuable labours he was suddenly cut off by the accidental fall of a wall* in the Mission compound, which buried him in its ruins. While the Committee mourn the great loss which the Mission has sustained, they would bow with humble submission to that Divine will, without which "not a sparrow falleth to the ground."

* A biographical notice of the Rev. H. Whitley, with an account of his Christian labours in Ceylon, may be found in the "Church Missionary Intelligencer" for March 1861.

COTTA.

The following review of the Mission at this station is given in the Ceylon "Church Missionary Record" (April 1861)—

At Cotta the advance during the last six or seven years has been in many respects marked and cheering. This district includes thirty or more villages, stretching south-east from Colombo. At the commencement of the period just named, we had in this locality twenty-three congregations; we have now thirty-eight. The average number of attendants for each congregation is about the same now as it was then—about sixty, one-half of whom are adults. The number of communicants has increased from 90 to 230. There were then about forty-seven schools: there are now not less than sixty-seven. There was then scarcely any thing raised from the native Christians of the district in the way of pecuniary contributions for the support and extension of Christianity: the sum supplied by them this year for this purpose was nearly 50*l*. There were then no voluntary Sunday-school teachers; there are now twelve or fifteen. Another new feature that may be mentioned is the establishment, in the greater portion of the district of weekly prayer-meetings, where the catechist joins in supplication at the throne of grace with the more pious members of his congregation. For these things we ought to thank God and take courage; while our own prayers should still be unceasing for a mightier and deeper work of his Spirit in the hearts of our people.

The district has been divided, as in the last Report, into three separate portions, under the Rev. I. Wood, the Rev. C. C. Fenn, and the native minister, the Rev. C. Jayesinhe. Mr. Wood reports of his district, which contains 2214 native Christians, that the services have been regularly kept up in the villages by himself and eight catechists, adding—"Among the catechists there is much more of unity and goodwill than formerly, and they appear to take deeper interest in their work. I have met them regularly on Saturday mornings for prayer at my house at half-past ten o'clock, at which time we have been joined by the other Mission families in the compound."

Education—Cotta Institution.

The Cotta Institution has maintained its numbers during the last year. The assistant, Mr. Sorrell, has returned to England, and another assistant, Mr. Coles, a trained school-master from Highbury College, has been sent out to assist Mr. Fenn. At the close of Mr. Fenn's Report last year he expressed a hope that a more evident blessing was about to rest upon the labours of the Mission than had hitherto been experienced. It has pleased God, however, still to defer this hope. The Report of 1860 contains the record of special trials and disappointments. Three pupils have been expelled for misconduct; and of three former pupils, who had given great promise of efficiency as schoolmasters, one has unexpectedly relinquished the work for more lucrative secular employment, and two have sadly departed from their Christian profession. On the other hand, Mr. Fenn has been encouraged by four of the students seeking and being admitted to baptism, by the large number who act as voluntary Sunday-school teachers, and by the prayer-meetings which are kept up by the students among themselves.

Mr. Fenn notices that the Cotta Institution has been affiliated during the last year to the Madras University; adding—“It is not anticipated that many will remain here as students in order to matriculate and graduate at the University, but the advantage will probably be that the native assistant-masters will continue their own studies on a regular plan. This, it is hoped, will greatly increase their efficiency. Some advantage may also be derived from the prestige to which the connexion may give rise.”

Mr. Fenn alludes in his Annual Report to the cheering accounts from other lands of “revival” blessings, and, in a truly Christian spirit, adds—

There is not much of special interest to record in the operations during the last year of this district. May it please God to grant a large measure of His Spirit on the work and the workmen during the ensuing twelve months. And if He see good, may there be a large measure of success. While humbled under the disappointments met with in that part of the vineyard that has been committed to the Missionary himself, his heart is cheered with tidings of the refreshing showers that have descended, and the cheering fruits that have followed in so many other parts of the world. And he has reason to be thankful if he himself has been enabled to go on instructing his fellow-men in the truths of the Gospel, or encouraging and assisting others that are engaged in the same work.

II. BADDAGAMA.

This district has still been deprived of an European Missionary, and has been wholly dependent upon the native minister, Mr. Goonesekera, whose age will not allow of the full amount of work required by the extent of the district. The congregations, however, have been kept up, and though some of the schools have fallen off, others have increased. Mr. Parsons having returned to Ceylon, will resume his charge of the district as soon as the exigencies of the Colombo Mission will allow of his proceeding to Baddagama. Mr. Goonesekera reports a remarkable "revival" of Buddhism on the sea-coast and in some of the villages, and the combined efforts of its votaries to counteract Christian teaching. He writes—

The Buddhists have formed petty courts in different villages, to hear cases of immorality, disaffection to Buddhism, any inclination to Christianity, and to award punishment. They raise subscriptions, and help the poor of their own sect; and, whether lawfully or unlawfully, wreak vengeance on such as disobey their rules. Thus the court established at Balapity Modera has led the Buddhists to believe that it is sinful to send their children to Christian schools. The boys' school at that place has been so much affected by it, that scarcely more than six or seven attend, and the girls' school is likewise threatened with destruction, as soon as a suitable mistress can be obtained by the Buddhists—(to open an opposition school). Such opposition cannot but be productive of much good in arousing the attention of a people whose apathy has hitherto been the grand obstacle to the progress of vital Christianity.

Mr. Goonesekera notices in his report another testimony to the advance of Christian influence among the Buddhists. The Buddhist priest in his neighbourhood persuades people to come to him for the registering of their children's baptisms and for marriages, by using the term "Christening" for the registry of the birth of a child, and by repeating by heart portions of the Christian marriage service when he marries people.

III. KANDY.

Mr. Oakley remarks, in his Report for the last year that it is a quarter of a century since he began his labours in Ceylon, where he has continued ever since, without once visiting England. He reviews the wonderful change which he has witnessed in the wealth and material prosperity of Kandy, and in the social position of the inhabitants—"Formerly, there were only three or four coffee estates in the island: now there are upwards of 400 of considerable dimensions, besides a very large number of small native plantations." In the moral condition of the inhabitants of the town there has also been a very marked change, and visible improvement. But in respect of the spiritual results of his labours as a Missionary, Mr. Oakley is constrained to take a less encouraging retrospect.

Twenty-five years since there were in the town and immediate neighbourhood of Kandy upwards of eighty nominal Christian families living together without Christian marriage, and at least 150 of their children without Christian baptism. There are, I am thankful to say, comparatively few families living in this state now. Formerly, it was no uncommon thing for nominal Christians to have recourse to heathen and devil ceremonies in every time of trouble and sickness. It was then a very common, an every-day practice. I am thankful to say we seldom hear of it in Kandy now. Light and knowledge have spread, and much of the ignorance and darkness in which the people were formerly enveloped have vanished. But there is still much to grieve over. True religion, the religion of the heart and affections, seems to have made comparatively little progress yet. A few have been enabled to continue steadfast to the end. Here and there we have witnessed a good confession, and beheld a dying Christian depart in confidence and peace. But we have often been grieved at witnessing one after another turning back to the world, or to pleasure, or to sin, and walking apparently no more in that narrow way which they appeared at one time to have chosen.

The number of serious communicants at this station has not much increased of late years. Some of our former communicants have discontinued their attendance even at church; and though they do not appear to have turned back to idolatry, yet they have become so utterly careless and irreligious that we cannot help feeling that they are in a state quite as alarming as that of the heathen.

A few of our educated young men—those who have made some considerable progress in the knowledge of English, have lately met with some infidel publications, and some very promising young men have thus turned away from the truth, and have fallen into the snares of the devil.

On looking over my baptismal register, I see the names of 104 persons (forty-one males and seventy-three females) who have, as adults, been admitted into the Christian church by baptism since I joined this Mission. Of these, I regret to say I recognise but few, very few, who appear to have remembered their baptismal vows and acted up to their promises. Several have fallen away altogether, so that their last end has appeared to all men to be worse than the first. Many have gone on well for a time, and have then become lukewarm, careless, irreligious. Some had evidently become candidates for Christian baptism, in order that they might obtain Christian marriage, and have afterwards absented themselves from a place of Christian worship, and become altogether worldly like their neighbours. Some are still walking steadfastly, and will, we trust, by the grace and power of God, be kept steadfast in the faith; and a few have passed through the valley of the shadow of death, resting on the power and promises of Jesus, and are now, we trust, rejoicing before the throne of God. This hope—the hope that a few have been benefited by our labours among them—more than compensates for all the troubles and disappointments and discouragements which we may have met with during a whole life.

Mr. Oakley remarks of the last year, that the congregations have remained about the same as the preceding. There have been eleven adult baptisms, but the statistics of the Mission show no increase. He writes—

In the early part of the year our congregations and schools were very satisfactory ; but during the last few months this part of the country has been so unhealthy that our day schools have been almost empty : we shall, I fear, be obliged to close some of them for the present. Our congregations also are much thinner, from the same cause. Some families have left the town and gone to the villages, and of those who remain many are afraid to walk through the streets. Cholera, of a most malignant kind, still prevails, though it has hitherto been almost entirely confined to the natives.

Mr. Oakley reports that the local contributions for his branch of the operations of the Society have amounted to 135%, and that a Kandy Native Pastorate Endowment Fund commenced in the year 1856, now amounts to 100%, wholly contributed by the natives. To this the Committee have added another 100% out of the Jubilee Fund for native church endowments, so that 200% is now in hand for this object.

Education—Kandy Collegiate School.

The Collegiate School has been under the care of the Rev. John I. Jones. Mr. Jones, however, having been laid aside through illness for the greater part of the year, Mr. Barton was removed from Cotta to assist Mr. Jones. Through their united exertions the number of scholars has been kept up to fifty. The fees have been lowered for the younger boys, but the school still defrays all expenses except the salaries of the Europeans. The course of instruction provides a sound and comparatively extensive education, united with scriptural knowledge, and a constant appeal to the principles of Christianity. Mr. Jones will, at the close of the year, be relieved of the duties of the school by the arrival of a new Principal, the Rev. R. B. Tonge, and will be at liberty for a work on which his heart has long been set—itinerating in the Kandian provinces. Mr. Jones trusts he can discover the evidences of a religious influence throughout the school. Two have, during the year, been admitted to baptism, both of them Kandians, one the son of a Devil priest. Mr. Jones writes, in his annual letter—

The progress of the students during the year has been, under the circumstances, considerable, and it is gratifying that the school should be thus in a satisfactory condition, when I am handing over to my successor a work which I was, through God's mercy, permitted to commence. I trust I shall ever feel a lively interest in it, and be enabled continually to pray for its success. Mr. Barton has been of great service to us: without his help and vigorous perseverance the school must have gone down. I have learnt not only to regard him as a helper, but as a valued brother in our great work.

Mr. Higgins is wholly employed in itinerating throughout the greater part of the Kandian districts, in which he is enabled to preach to about 6000 Kandians. He has also the superintendence of two settled congregations within the district, containing about forty converts in all, namely, at Kornegalle and Tittaiwala. At the former, it is hoped that a native pastor may very shortly be located. Mr. Higgins thus concludes the Annual Report of his labours—

In looking back upon the work carried on in the itinerating travels of the Mission during the past year, the conviction in my mind is deepened, that a knowledge of the chief truths in the Gospel, is working its way gradually, but surely, among the Kandian people. In all the districts where the people have been frequently visited, we find that many of them have gained some tolerably clear and definite ideas respecting the Christian religion, concerning which they formerly knew nothing whatever; and from their conversations, questions, and even objections, it is evident that the subject is beginning to take some hold upon their minds, and to cast some rays of light upon their former darkness. These, it is true, are but “small things,” but they are indications which show that our labour is not in vain, and, with our increased and continual efforts, we may look forward by degrees to far more striking results. I trust soon to be joined in the itinerating work by Mr. Jones, and also hope that we may be able to obtain one or two more efficient catechists. With such an increase of strength our work may be greatly extended, and the people brought more frequently under the sound of the Gospel, and we may then hopefully anticipate more decided proofs of the success of our work. But whether our numerical strength in the itinerating branch of the Mission be increased or not, we must ever bear in mind that the work in which we are engaged is especially a work of faith. We can only cast in the seed: it is the Holy Spirit alone who can make it effectual, and He can work by many or by few. With such an impression upon my own mind, I would desire to present this Report to my brethren here, and to the Parent Committee and friends of the Church Missionary Society at home, in the earnest hope that our itinerating work may often be remembered by them in prayer, and that they will entreat the Lord to pour out His blessing upon it, that so the preaching of His Gospel may be made effectual, and

His own name and grace be glorified by turning many of the Kandian people from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God.

The following interesting details, though somewhat subsequent to the close of 1860, the year comprised in this Report, are yet so closely connected with the foregoing statements, and afford so encouraging a proof of success that they are here introduced from a letter of Mr. Higgins, of the date of Feb. 1861—

It is with much pleasure that I write to inform you that the first confirmation in connexion with the itinerating branch of this Mission was held in the town of Kornegalle, on Sunday, the 17th inst. The bishop wrote and kindly offered to visit both Kornegalle and Kaigalle (the chief town in the district of Four Korles), and to hold confirmations if I had any candidates to present. Our work in the latter place (Kaigalle), is not yet sufficiently advanced and settled to allow of my bringing forward candidates there, but I gladly accepted his lordship's offer to visit Kornegalle, and Sunday, Feb. 17th, was accordingly fixed for the day of confirmation. Twenty-five candidates from my two congregations came forward, four of whom were Kandians, two low-country Singhalese, and the rest Burghers. Eighteen of the number were sufficiently advanced in knowledge to be presented to the bishop; and all of them except one, who was taken ill and unable to attend, were confirmed. One of the candidates confirmed was a Kandian lady, wife of the cutcherry Modliar of Kornegalle. She was a Buddhist when I first began visiting the place in 1853, but soon after came forward for Christian instruction, and has since been instructed, baptized, married, and now confirmed, entirely in connexion with this branch of our Mission. Although her knowledge is not extensive, she showed great diligence while under instruction. Her conduct since baptism has been consistent, and she is, I believe, sincere in her profession. Another candidate confirmed was a Kandian gentleman, baptized as an adult, and who connected himself with the congregation at Kornegalle from the commencement, and has ever since proved my most valuable helper. His conduct has always been consistent, and he is, I believe, truly pious, and exhibits a strength and manliness of Christian character not often seen in natives. His wife would have been confirmed with him, but she was taken ill, and unable to attend. Of the rest of the candidates I am thankful to say that they showed great diligence during their preparation for the rite, and seemed to enter upon their new responsibilities in a serious spirit, which gives ground for much hope and encouragement. You may very well conceive that this first confirmation connected with my own part of the Missionary work, and in a place in which I have been permitted to see congregations gradually formed, and steadily increase and advance to their present encouraging state, is a source of deep thankfulness; and I look forward with great hope to see them still continue steadfast under the pastoral care of Mr. A. Levera, who was ordained on Sunday last as their native minister. I earnestly pray that our itinerating work in other places may be blessed, and that I may be still permitted to see more little flocks gathered together to the fold of Christ, and eventually placed under other native pastors, from places now as neglected and destitute of the means of grace as Kornegalle once was. I cannot help looking upon the gradual advance of the work there as a proof and assurance that our itinerating labours will, through God's grace and blessing, be found in the end to fulfil our best and dearest hopes respecting it.

The church at Kornegalle is a real substantial building, and is now sufficiently advanced to be used for services. The confirmation was held in it. It will have cost, when completed, 250*l.*, the whole of which has been raised by the exertions of the native Burghers and European inhabitants themselves, without the slightest assistance from any public funds. E. L. Mitford, Esq., the acting Government agent, has been the chief mover in getting the church erected, and has contributed most liberally to the fund.

The Tamil Cooly Mission.

The Annual Report of this Mission is very encouraging. Owing to the diminution of the number of coolies in the plantations, those to whom it is estimated that the Gospel has been preached are fewer than the previous year, being 50,000, instead of 65,000. But the number of Christians is considerably increased, chiefly through fresh arrivals, numbering this year 777 against 585 of last year. Mr. Hobbs takes this review of the Mission during the last year—

I commence with that which is most pleasing, namely, a view of some of the mercies which the God of all grace has been pleased to vouchsafe to the Mission. The six catechists with whom we commenced the year have continued in the Mission to its close, and are still with us. They have been invaluable agents, impelled, I truly believe, by the best of all motives, the love of Christ, and desire for the salvation of their countrymen. I do not remember that a word of reproof has been required during the whole year, nor any effort to stimulate them to exertion: on the contrary, it has been necessary to enjoin rest when I have perceived that it was required. Their Christian zeal has been exercised with Christian wisdom also. I cannot feel too thankful for the grace which has been granted to them. This I regard as one of God's great mercies to the Cooly Mission generally, and to me in particular.

Again, funds for the support of the catechists of the Cooly Mission have been so liberally supplied by the planters and other inhabitants of the island, that if my incessant and strenuous efforts to obtain more catechists had been successful, the Mission would have been supplied with the means of supporting them. We require at least twice as many catechists as we have, and I have no doubt that they would all be amply provided for by local resources if we could get them. This is another cause of thankfulness to Him whose is the silver and the gold, and who has the hearts of all men at His disposal. The continuance of a kind reception of the catechists and their message by the Tamil overseers and the coolies, affords another ground of praise and thankfulness more than we can express.

But that which occurs to my own mind as the greatest of all the good gifts which have descended from above upon this Mission to the coolies during the past year, is the spread of the truth by means of the Tamil Christians themselves; I mean Christian conductors, not in the employ of the Mission, and who neither have nor seek any secular advantage, either from their profession or their exertions. It is true that Christians might always diffuse the knowledge of Christ much more than any of us do. The salt of the earth ought to permeate the mass, and the leaven to work until the whole lump be leavened. But in this world, and even in the Christian church, things are not always as they ought to be. When we do observe Christians to be consistent, it is a great cause for praise to God; and this, I think, we have observed in connexion with this Mission during the past year more than in any preceding year. An example or two may be interesting.

1. In the neighbourhood of the town of Kandy a number of very small coffee gardens have lately been planted, which can scarcely be dignified with the name of estates, which belong generally to Singhalese gentlemen, who employ Tamil labourers, varying in number from ten or twelve to thirty. In one of these miniature estates the catechists, in their visits, found an old Christian from Nagercoil, who, though unable to read, was well instructed in Christian truth. The catechists encouraged the old man to instruct the rest of the people in the lines in Christian doctrine. He did not need much encouragement, but was forward of his own mind. The other people in the lines listened to him, and first two or three, and afterwards two or three others, expressed their conviction of the truth and a desire for baptism. I went and examined some, and others came to me to be examined. I was much gratified and satisfied with my inquiries. The result is, that they have all become Christians, and have all been baptized, except two or three, who are now candidates for baptism.

2. In the T. G. estate of the K. district as many as seven persons have been baptized during the year, who had been chiefly instructed by the Christians residing on that estate.

3. In the G. estate of the H. district a man came to me requesting to be baptized. I was much gratified with his knowledge, and asked him how he had attained it, and he replied that he had gained it chiefly from the Tamil Christians in his neighbourhood. As I had not heard of any Tamil Christians on that estate, I inquired of the catechists how this could be, and found that there were not any Tamil Christians on that estate, but that the candidate had gone, from time to time, to an estate in the neighbourhood, about three or four miles off, where there were some Christians, and had received from them the instruction he sought.

IV. JAFFNA DISTRICT.

The duties of this district are divided between the Rev. R. Pargiter, who takes Chundicully and Copay, and the Rev. C. C. M'Arthur, who has charge of Nellore.

CHUNDICULLY AND COPAY.

Mr. Pargiter reports—

The Sabbath services both at Chundicully and Copay have been maintained with regularity, and, I hope, with a considerable degree of interest. Services have been held also in two of the most thickly-populated villages at Chundicully every Sunday afternoon, and weekly-evening meetings wherever we could assemble the people together. The plan I have adopted of locating the catechists in these villages, and confiding to their oversight and direction the school and services in them, has hitherto worked satisfactorily; and though no very evident results are at present visible, yet their continued influence in the village and school must be productive of good, while it throws a responsibility upon them which, I think, is both healthful in its character and beneficial in its results. We have hitherto trusted them too little, hence their inability to work alone. Generally speaking, I am happy to report favourably of our agents.

The English Seminary at Chundicully has occupied as much of my time as I could possibly devote to it. It must be evident, however, to the Committee, that one man is totally inadequate to maintain a school of this character in an efficient state, with the duties and labours of two stations on his hands. The school has averaged 140 pupils; and from the list of studies pursued, and from the Inspector's Report (appended to this), it will be perceived that it is scarcely, if any, inferior to other schools over which two Europeans are placed, and whose time and strength are entirely given to instruction.

The Tamil Institution at Copay has been reduced in its numbers. Several of the youths who had been in for some time manifested such a desire for English, that I thought it best to dismiss them. We have only ten in the Institution at the present time. Their conduct has been satisfactory; and I had the pleasure of admitting five of them to the rite of Christian baptism a few weeks ago, after having the most satisfactory evidence of their sincerity—that is, as far as outward conduct and feeling are concerned. Hensman takes a most important part in the spiritual welfare of this Institution; indeed, without him, it would not be what it is.

NELLORE.

Mr. M'Arthur reports of this station—

The Sunday services and the Sunday schools have been kept up without interruption; we have also a catechetical class on Sunday evenings with some of our elder boys, and I trust that ere long they will come boldly forward, and enlist themselves wholly on the side of truth. Two of the boys have given up every vestige of heathenism, and will shortly, I trust, be baptized. On Fridays I have a class with the catechists and teachers. We are now reading "Pearson on the Creed." Every morning about sunrise I meet my catechists in the vestry for reading the word of God, and prayer, before entering upon the duties of the day. I find this most refreshing to my own soul, and it keeps up a mutual feeling of Christian fellowship, and gives a higher tone to our endeavours during the day. If I were asked to what I attribute the change of feeling among the people, and the growing earnestness of the agents, I think I would point to this early prayer-meeting. And here I would record my high estimation of all my agents, but more especially the catechists and the female boarding-schoolmaster. On Tuesday afternoons Mrs. M'Arthur has a prayer-meeting in the vestry with the Christian females, principally the wives of the catechists and teachers. We have a prayer-meeting once a week in the houses of the Christians in different parts of the station, when almost all the Christians attend, and manifest a great interest. This meeting is a new feature in our work. It was commenced and carried on by the Christians themselves for some time before I heard of it. This of itself shows that the Lord has not forsaken us at Nellore.

It is with much pleasure that I have to record the growing readiness of the people to help us in our work. On the last feast of our ingathering we realized more than nine pounds by the sale of articles brought to the church as first-fruits, and with that sum we bought good Venetian windows for the church. I have also much pleasure in being able to report that we realized more than twenty-five pounds during the year from school fees, a larger sum than had been realized previously; and, what is more pleasing still, more than half of this sum was paid for female education, and we are in a fair way of doubling that sum this year.

The Boarding School for Females continues to give us much satisfaction; but at present our numbers are not so large, in consequence of the fever which prevails throughout the whole district.

The normal class, which we commenced about two years ago, has more than realized our expectations, and seven of the girls are now engaged in teaching—some in the boarding school, and others in the day schools. In female education, I take much interest, and and hope shortly to make it co-extensive with that of the boys, as far as my own district is concerned.

The statistical returns of the Nellore Mission show a gratifying increase during the last three years; the number of natives under Christian instruction for the three years, 1858, 1859, 1860, having been 52, 75, and 111, respectively, and the number of communicants having risen in a like proportion, viz. 28, 34, and 50. The children under education have increased in a far higher proportion, the numbers being 42, 185, and 600.

MAURITIUS MISSION.

Rev. Stephen Hobbs (m), to South India, 1839; to Mauritius, 1856.

Rev. Paul Anson (m), to Bengal, 1845; to Mauritius, 1857.

General Remarks.

THE Mauritius Mission is devoted to the evangelization of the coolies from India, who migrate from the continent for a limited time, the great majority afterwards return home: some remain as residents in the island. The Mission was established upon the principle, that while the Society maintained one or two European Missionaries, local friends would provide the funds for native teachers and for schools. The Committee regret to state that the local fund is yet only 100*l.* a-year, which is quite inadequate for the support of as many native catechists as might be employed with advantage under the two Missionaries. The efficiency of the European Missionaries is greatly crippled for lack of an adequate supply of native labourers, and the work can never become permanent among the resident coolies without native teachers settled as pastors wherever a native congregation can be collected.

The Mission is divided into two departments, Mr. Hobbs superintending the Tamil-speaking people, and Mr. Ansorgé those who speak Bengalee and Hindustanee.

TAMIL DEPARTMENT.

The Rev. S. Hobbs gives this account of his labours in his annual letter (Jan. 1, 1861)—

My station at Crêve Cœur, continues to justify my expectations as a most eligible centre of working. There are few rural localities in the island where we should be in such ready communication with so many Tamil people, a great number of whom now know us very well, and our aims and objects. Upwards of twenty children attend school with the greatest regularity, which I consider more in proportion than five times the number would be at any populous station in India. Most of them come on Sundays to the service. I have not been able to prevail upon my adult heathen neighbours to attend in any numbers, but often there are two or three present in addition to the Christians and others connected with the station.

I have not, on the whole, extended my "incursions" upon the sugar establishments in the same proportion as in the two former years. I am now looking forward with pleasure to the termination of my building engagements, and trust, by the help of God's grace, to make good improvement of the leisure. In my itinerating work during the year I have found as much encouragement as before—the same kind and courteous treatment on the part of the planters, the same willingness to listen generally on the part of the Indians, but very rare appearances of any thing like a solid impression of the necessity of that repentance towards God, and faith towards our Lord Jesus Christ, which make up the sum of my testimony. My baptisms during the year have been six adults and three children: total, nine. The social character of the Indians in general is, I hope, improving.

BENGALEE AND HINDUSTANEE DEPARTMENT.

Mr. Ansorgé writes respecting his department—

My congregation has increased, under God's blessing, in the number of its members. Deducting all those that died during the past year, the number of my Christians is 201: in this are included the orphans that were baptized. I have had the joy to admit into Christ's church, by holy baptism, thirty adults, fifty Indian, and twenty-four African children; altogether, 104. The number of my communicants is twenty-three. I have regularly conducted morning and afternoon Divine services on Sundays, at the emigration dépôt, the morning service in the Bengalee, the afternoon service in the Hindee language. The average attendance has been, in the mornings from thirty-six to forty Christians; in the afternoons, twenty-five Christians. Besides the Christians there are always a number of Hindus and Mohammedans attending, their numbers varying from twenty to eighty. On festival days the number of Christians attending has been very encouraging to me. Two weekly prayer-meetings are regularly conducted in town by the catechists, attendance varying from fifteen to twenty. Though there are several of my Christians who forget the promises they made on their baptism, and grieve me by their conduct and by their irregular attendance on the means of grace, notwithstanding repeated visits either by myself or by the catechists, I am glad to say that the state of the Christians in general is pleasing. There are several of my new converts, who try with all their power to win others for Christ. Another encouraging fact is, that in several families morning and evening prayers are regularly kept up. With much pleasure I can state, also, that many of my Christians have liberally subscribed for the building of the church, some of them one month's wages—2*l.* or 3*l.* Some have paid already, others are paying every month a little. Besides this, they give to the poor fund, and every Sunday, after service, the box for the poor fund is put near the door, and almost every one gives a penny or more.

Preaching to the heathen has been carried on as usual. I have preached the Gospel in the jails at Port Louis and in other places, where I have had the opportunity to speak to many: I have sometimes from 80 to 100 prisoners around me. I have visited also the hospital in Port Louis as often as possible, and so has also the catechist frequently and regularly gone to the jail and the hospital. I have also visited the Indians in the camps in my neighbourhood, as well as those in other districts, and have been much encouraged in these excursions. It is remarkable how well the Missionary in general is received by the Indians. When going to any camp I am very soon surrounded by twenty or more Indians, who then generally listen with great attention to the glad tidings. I have been much pleased to meet in many camps with some Indians who are supplied with a copy of one of the Gospels. With thankfulness I must also acknowledge the great kindness and hospitality which is shown towards me on my excursions by Roman Catholic and Protestant proprietors. I have spent also, several times, some days in Port Louis preaching, with the catechist, the Gospel in or near the emigration dépôt, the hospital, and other places, and had some reading of God's word and prayers in the evenings with the Christians assembling at the catechist's dwelling.

Mr. Ansorgé writes respecting this branch of his labours—

Since my last annual letter the Committee have sanctioned my staying at the asylum, for which I am truly thankful, to the Lord. Though this is a Government institution, yet I am quite at liberty to teach the children any thing I should think proper in a Mission school. The number of orphans was last year ninety, this year it is 214. We received a very interesting addition of children in October last: 132 African orphans from the slaver "Manuella," prize to H.M.S. "Brisk" were sent to us: 800 slaves had been on board. The children were all in a most miserable state of health. We have lost fifty-four notwithstanding the doctor's attendance and Mrs. Ansorgé's greatest care. The whole number who had died amounted in February to seventy. The religious instruction, as well as Christian influence in general, have been, under God's mercy, effectual in raising a spirit of inquiry among a number of children. A spiritual movement began among them: first two, and then more boys came forward, expressing their wish to be baptized; and after some months' instruction I had the joy to baptize thirty-eight children in one Sunday in the church at Pamplémousses. His Excellency the governor, and Mrs. Stevenson, stood sponsors. It was certainly a happy harvest day. On that very day, also, fifteen adults were admitted into Christ's church.

General Remarks.

The aggressive operations of the Society in China during the last year have been confined to one of its three stations. At Fuh-chau and Shanghae, owing to the removal of older Missions, the stations have been occupied, rather than sustained, by Missionaries learning the language.

The Insurgents.

The Rev. W. A. Russell makes the following remarks upon the insurgents of China—

The insurgent movement in China, in its origin and progress, and in its present development, is doubtless a most remarkable one, if viewed only in a political aspect; but it is of far deeper interest to the Christian church. Should it, as a political movement, be eventually successful, issuing in the Taeping party subverting the Tartar dynasty, and gaining the ascendancy over the whole of China, which, if left to themselves without foreign intervention, is altogether probable,—then the future prospects of the spread of the Gospel in this empire must be seriously affected by it: whether favourably or unfavourably can only be prejudged by the character of the religious element which now pervades it. The present religious aspect of the movement is undoubtedly the only guide which we have for forming a reasonable opinion of its future destiny as an instrument of good or evil to the millions of this land. But it is on this very point of the religious character of the movement we have to confess we are still, as we have been from the beginning, altogether at a loss to obtain sufficient and well-authenticated information. This movement, in its wonderful progress hitherto, has swept over several provinces of the empire, and from this it might be supposed that we who are residents here must have the means of getting all the information we require. But such is not the case. The facilities which exist between those parts of the country under the rule of the insurgents and those still in the hands of the imperialists are very few indeed, altogether different from what would be the case under a similar state of things in any European country; consequently the information we receive being from native sources is exceedingly vague and scanty, even if reliable—quite insufficient to ground upon it any reasonable conclusion. A few foreigners from Shanghae, Missionaries and others, have lately visited the leaders of the movement, both at Soo Chow and Nankin; yet here again the length of their stay amongst them was very brief, and the probability very great that the most favourable view of their religious condition was designedly presented to them, with the hope of gaining the recognition and support of foreigners. For this, on political grounds at least, the insurgents are exceedingly anxious; so that even the information which foreigners have been thus enabled to collect for us, were it all on one side, which is far otherwise, still leaves us in much perplexity what opinion to form of this movement. From its commencement to the present moment, my own mind has been in a constant state of oscillation, hope and fear alternately preponderating, the latter, however, being generally in the ascendant. That God will in the end overrule it to His own glory I have no doubt, and this is my chief comfort in the present contemplation of it.

The Elgin Treaty.

On the subject of the treaty concluded by Lord Elgin with the Emperor of China, Mr. Russell makes the following observations—

By the treaty now ratified and coming into operation, the whole of China is opened up to the preaching of the Gospel, as far as this can be accomplished, without the need of any further international arrangement. For this we feel thankful to the Great Disposer of events, regarding it as one instrument in his hands for accomplishing his gracious purposes of mercy towards this people, so far as He has been pleased to overrule the wrong and angry passions of man to this end. But while we recognise in it the hand of God, and bless Him for what He has accomplished for China by means of it, we recognise in it at the same time the hand of man, of cruel, covetous, godless man, and cannot help from our inmost souls deploring the issue we have been brought to. By the very instrument by which China is declared to have thrown open her gates to the free and unrestricted preaching of the Gospel, and the voluntary reception of it on the part of her people,—by the same instrument it is equally declared, though somewhat more covertly, that she has been forced by Christian England, at the very point of the bayonet, to throw open her gates to the free and unrestricted introduction of opium, and to the reception of it on the part of her people. Before the ratification of the Elgin treaty, when the Missionary of the cross went about preaching the glad tidings of salvation through a crucified and risen Saviour, and was upbraided by a Chinese audience with bringing them life in one hand and death in another—the Gospel and opium—he was enabled to deny altogether his own complicity with it, and partially the complicity of his country. But how different is the case now! In all honesty, he is now forced to admit that Christian England, her rulers and people generally, have really forced open the gates of Peking, and burned down the imperial palace, in order to secure legal access to all parts of China, as well for the merchant with his opium as for the Missionary with the precious Gospel of his Saviour. The inconsistency is but too transparent; the thought of it is most awful. Where shall we find relief, except in Him who is wont to educe the greatest good out of the direst evil? Oh that this may be so as regards this poor helpless country; and that the real servants of God in the church at home may be stirred up by a deep sense of the wrong—the irremediable wrong—which their country, if not themselves, has thus inflicted upon four hundred millions of their fellow-men! Oh that it may stir them up to such a godly clearing of themselves in this matter, such a holy indignation at the perpetrators of the wrong, such a vehement desire and fervent zeal, as shall lead them to make what atonement and recompense they can for the past! Already do we hear of active preparation on the part of our opium-vending countrymen here to avail themselves of the Elgin treaty, to bring their deadly merchandize to every accessible point on the Chinese coasts, and probably to send their agents inward to all the great marts of the empire. Shall we not be permitted to hear of a similar activity on the part of the dispensers of the Bread of Life amongst our Christian countrymen at home, if not to precede, at least to accompany, step by step, in their career of mercy and love, these cruel harbingers of disease and death? For the honour of England, the good of China, and the love of Christ, God grant that it may be so!

FUH-CHAU.

The Rev. George Smith has been alone at this station, and his whole attention necessarily devoted to the study of the language. During a visit of Mr. Collins from Shanghai, who understands the practice of medicine, many natives resorted to the Mission house for medical advice, and the Missionaries improved the occasion by distributing tracts, and addressing to the people, as far as they were able, the Gospel message. One or two became from that time inquirers, and others have come forward as candidates for baptism. Mr. Smith writes (Dec. 22, 1860)—

I hope that a brighter day is about to dawn upon us. There are three men whom I look upon as really honest inquirers: one of them, though living at the distance of four miles, is very frequently with me.

The lower part of the Mission house is fitted up as a preaching-room, and is opened several evenings in the week as well as on Sunday. A few attend regularly, and often many strangers are present, and enter into discussion with the Missionary. At the close of the year Mr. Smith is able to report five hopeful inquirers, some of whom he expected shortly to baptize. Mr. Smith pleads earnestly for the continuance of the Mission at Fuh-chau.

NINGPO.

The station at Ningpo has been largely blessed during the past year, in the preservation of the Mission, amidst great dangers from the unsettled state of the country, and in the extension of the Mission by the occupation of new outposts. At the close of the year, Mr. and Mrs. Gough were compelled to return to Europe on account of the failure of health; and it pleased God to afflict the China Mission by the removal of Mrs. Gough to her eternal reward a few days after her arrival in England. She has left behind her a bright example of the success with which a Missionary's wife, by acquiring the vernacular, may aid the work of female instruction.

Another loss which the Ningpo Mission has sustained, is the removal of a lady, Miss Aldersey, from that station, who for many years herself supported and taught a female boarding school, independently of any Missionary Society,

Mr. Russell thus commemorates the signal providence of God in the preservation of the Mission during the season of great commotion, and of peril to life and property—

The history of the past year, as regards ourselves and our work at this station, has been characterized, as it appears to me, in a more remarkable manner than even in former years, with one striking feature, to which I will first briefly refer in this annual letter to the Committee: it is the exceeding goodness of our God, manifested in the wonderful protection He has graciously vouchsafed to us during a season of unusual exposure and danger. The signal manner in which our lives and properties have been preserved during the past year, in the midst of abounding anarchy and confusion, and our opportunities for labouring in the work of the Lord, continued uninterrupted,—appears to me very remarkable; this, too, without the least protection from our own people, not even the presence of a small gun-boat, except very occasionally, and still less from the native authorities, who for several months during the summer and autumn have been quite unable to oppose any check whatever to a body of reckless desperadoes; principally Cantonese pirates, driven in from the coasts by our cruisers outside. These wretched fellows, for several months together, in the face of the sun and in the very precincts of the authorities, have been perpetrating the most fearful enormities, kidnapping respectable tradesmen and others who were likely to be possessed of any money, and keeping them in close and painful confinement until a large ransom, according to their means, was forthcoming; carrying off women, also, for still viler purposes. But notwithstanding all the confusion and lawlessness which prevailed, the very foundations of society being uprooted, no foreign Missionary nor native convert at this station has received the smallest bodily injury, or incurred the least loss of property, from this or any other source.

The Native Church.

The native church at Ningpo and at the out-stations has been increased in the number of baptized members from 105 to 140, and the communicants from 66 to 84. This progress is encouraging, but the internal state of the congregation is still more so. Mr. Russell writes at the close of the year—

The services of the church have been conducted during the year as previously, with the exception of our having substituted for the old translation of our Prayer-book, a revised, and, as we trust, an improved edition; and also of having introduced singing at our more formal seasons of meeting. This latter has been rendered practicable for us through the kindness of Agnes Gutzlaff, a blind Cantonese girl, who had been rescued when a child from beggary and shame in the streets of Canton by the first Mrs. Gutzlaff, sent to England while still very young, well educated there in one of its blind institutions, and subsequently, at about the age of twenty, sent back to China to labour amongst her own people, with the grace of God in her heart, a well-stored mind, and other valuable accomplishments. When she came to Ningpo, Miss Aldersey consented to take her into her establishment as an assistant in her school. On Miss Aldersey's removal to Australia, she transferred Agnes to the care of Mrs. Russell, to superintend a blind industrial school, in a small house on my premises, built by Miss Aldersey for this purpose. Agnes daily devotes a considerable amount of her time to the imparting of Christian truth to eleven poor blind persons in this institution, who are engaged in making straw rope and foot-mats, while receiving instruction from her. In addition, she conducts a singing class for those members of our church who have an ear and taste for it, with a few of our school-boys; so that by this means, we have been enabled during the latter part of the year to have the praises of God sung as well as spoken in the native church.

Of the native teachers Mr. Russell writes—

We have now in connexion with us twelve native assistants, eight acting as catechists and readers, and four as schoolmasters. Six of them are permanently located at Ningpo or at our out-stations, and six alternate with each other in visiting these stations and the districts of country contiguous to them. Of their faithfulness and general efficiency I receive very gratifying proofs from time to time, not only from the journals they themselves prepare for me, but also by many incidental matters, which tend abundantly to corroborate their own statements. They are a most valuable and indispensable agency for carrying on the work of evangelization.

During the past year we have been enabled to add three additional out-stations to that of Sanpoh. This territorial enlargement of our field of labour will necessarily require a large reinforcement of both native and foreign instrumentality. The needful addition to our native agency we hopefully look forward to from amongst the members of the native church. As to the required foreign aid, past experience makes us sceptical; and yet the one is equally as essential as the other: in order to full efficiency there must be a well-regulated combination of both. The native agent has constitutional, national, and linguistic qualifications, which can never be superseded by any acquirements on the part of his foreign brother; and again, the foreigner has practical and directive qualifications for the same work, gathered from the history and experience of the church in the past, combined with matured Christian character, which can be as little superseded by any thing the native brother can attain to, at least in the first stages of our work. Indeed, it seems a wise appointment of the Almighty in order to unite both in closer bonds of union, and make each feel mutually and necessarily dependent on each other. We will, then, continue to pray, however weak be the faith which inspires our prayer as respects the church at home, that the great Lord of the harvest will in some way send forth the needed labourers into this great harvest-field, a field now at least co-extensive with the faith, the prayers, and the energies of the whole Christian church.

Opium Smokers.

The following remarkable circumstances are recorded by the graphic pen of the late Mrs. Gough—

My dear husband has been occupied in an unexpected way. You are aware that a sum of money was received from India, through Mr. Isenberg, to be appropriated for the benefit of the opium-smokers of China, and Bishop Smith wrote to my husband, enclosing Mr. Isenberg's letter respecting it. The bishop's letter reached us during the second week in January, when all our Missionary community were meeting daily for prayer, in concert with the Christian world at large, in consequence of the invitation from Loodiana. It was a most refreshing season here, and, we trust, has not been without its important practical results. Amongst these I may mention the fitting-up of a Bethel-ship, in which it is proposed to hold service on the Sabbath for the sailors and others who may be disposed to attend. Mr. Moule has taken an active and efficient part in this effort, in concert with delegates from each of the other Missions; and it is hoped that the boat will be ready for use very shortly.

At the very time when the means were thus furnished, and the prayerful desire excited to benefit the opium-smokers, an unprecedented movement took place amongst that class in a district about 180 miles from Ningpo. One or more having been cured of the habit in Dr. Parker's hospital, they took back the report of the benefit they had received, and others came in consequence. One afternoon, whilst my husband was out preaching, I was surprised to see a party of six men enter the gate, bearing the appearance of travellers, and carrying bedding and other luggage. They were brought here by one of the native Christians, unknown to Mr. Taylor, who has supplied Dr. Parker's place at the hospital since he left for England, to see if my husband could do any thing to help them, as there was no room for them in the hospital. Not liking to turn the men away, my husband, on his return, gave them leave to pass the night in the school building behind our house, and their meal was supplied from our kitchen. The next day my husband consulted with the brethren of our Mission about their remaining where they were until a native house could be found, where they might be lodged, and medical treatment procured. That evening Mr. Taylor came and administered the necessary medicines, giving my husband directions how to proceed. They together searched the men thoroughly, taking away three opium-pipes and a quantity of the drug which they had secreted, as well as nearly all their money, to be kept for them until their release. It was in this way that our work commenced; and whilst at times my husband feels almost overwhelmed with the difficulties and responsibilities, he yet feels the hand of God has been so clearly manifested, that he dare not give it up unless some one can be found ready to carry it on. One of his greatest difficulties has arisen from the circumstance, that very soon after he received the first party of six, in consequence of the failure of his health, Mr. Taylor has been obliged to suspend his labours at the hospital, and many have come here. Amongst the number are two lepers, who have taken opium to lull pain, and require medical treatment before any permanent cure of opium-smoking can be effected. Our friend, Dr. M<sup>c</sup>Cartie, is already so much pressed with foreign practice, that he felt unable to undertake any thing, with the exception of one party of ten, who were received by a member of his own Mission. Finding that unless he carried it on, large numbers must return home disappointed, my husband has continued to receive as many as he could up to this time; and during the three months which have elapsed since February 17th, when the first six arrived, he has admitted 133 opium-patients. Many of these have waited above ten days before they could get in, and some have gone back, having spent all their money, except what they required to carry them home. Those from a distance usually come in parties of eight or ten; and frequently our entrance has been filled for the greater part of the day with eager and noisy applicants, smoking tobacco, until our upper story has been like one large chimney. As it has been found by practical experience that nothing can be done effectually in this matter without the constant personal superintendence of a foreigner on the spot, the schoolhouse has continued to be the prison of these people; and we have removed the day-scholars partly into our own house and partly to a room over one of the Mission chapels. There are three native Christians in charge, and they have access to our house at all times of the day or night when my husband's presence is required. Each patient who is admitted pays, on entering, the amount required to supply him with food for twenty-one days. He likewise deposits one thousand copper cash, or one dollar, with my husband, which is returned to him when he leaves, or forfeited if he goes out before the time specified, or breaks other important rules. Some two or three have had to be expelled, and one or two have insisted on leaving before their time was up. Two men were found by my husband in an opium-den not far from here. In general the Ningpo people are the most difficult to manage, although we have one pleasing exception in the case of a young man who perfectly cured himself, has sought out an old opium-smoking friend, and came to beg for his reception, paying down the rice-money and deposit, as well as providing him with bedding. Besides the abovenamed, seven or eight have been dismissed on account of diseases which required medical treatment; and at the present time we have two in our house as guests who are quite cured, and will soon return home; but one of them manifests an interest in the truth, and has asked for admission to the church. Should he prove a sincere convert, we may hope that he will be a blessing in his distant home, and diffuse the light he has received. With regard to the numbers really cured of opium-smoking, time only will show. Some we know have returned to their old practice immediately on leaving, and many have been the artful contrivances they have used to try and obtain the drug whilst here. Although doors are barred, and nothing is allowed to be brought in to them until it has been examined by one of those in charge, baskets have been let down at night through the windows; and when they were defeated in this plan, by close wooden bars, my husband discovered that they had broken these sufficiently to answer their purpose, and replaced the pieces as if entire. Of some we hear satisfactory accounts; and more than one has written to tell us that they are completely cured, and cannot bear even the odour of opium.

The greater proportion of those who are here leave perfectly free from the necessity of resuming the practice, inasmuch as the craving, described as so fearful a sensation, is removed by the medicines given. The preparation of these is no small part of our work; and in this I am able to render my husband some assistance.

Each morning my husband holds a service, at which all are required to be present, and takes other opportunities, as he is able of seeking their spiritual good personally, as well as by supplying the readers among them with books. Some of all classes have come to us—Chinese scholars, gentlemen's sons, respectable tradesmen, and common labourers. We have had three Buddhist priests, a native doctor, and the adopted brother of one of the mandarins at Ningpo, who, with his secretary, came to be cured. We have seen them both since, on several occasions, and have reason to believe that they are really reformed. Whilst his brother was here, this mandarin sent us a live goat and a large jar of Chinese wine; and although my husband makes it a point to refuse the presents which have been in several cases pressed upon him by the patients, this one, coming from a Chinese officer, could not well be declined, and so the goat feeds upon our grass plot, much to the amusement of our little girl. Just now there are twenty-four under treatment, and the largest number we have had at one time has been thirty-nine. It is not improbable that the approach of the hot season will lessen the applicants from a distance, as well as the fact of several having returned unable to get in. It has been very trying to refuse some of these cases: in not a few instances sons are sent here by their parents, and dare not return home uncured. One boy who is now here, and cured, on being told previous to his admission that he could not be received at that time, went away, and, sitting down on the middle of the parade ground before our house, roared like a child.

Another young man, now here, commenced smoking opium at the age of ten years, being taught to do so by his father. The causes which lead to the practice of opium-smoking are various: in some cases, as I before mentioned, it is taken to ease pain; in many more, the habit is acquired through the influence of friends, merely as a social gratification. A barber who is here says that he contracted the habit by his customers bringing their opium pipes into his shop, and offering him the luxury. The amount of opium consumed by some of these persons in one day is fearful.

The native Christians who are in charge have no easy post, for amongst so depraved a class there are some very desperate characters, and violent quarrels are not an uncommon occurrence. There have been one or more prize-fights here, and on one occasion one of the three in charge was beaten by the men; and as to rest, they have little of that day or night. Some time since my husband was called across during the night, and found a party of sleepless patients engaged in a kind of theatrical performances with recitations. False keys have been used; and once last week, when my husband went round about midnight to see that all was quiet, he discovered that they had contrived to slip the bolt of the doors communicating with our own premises, in such a way as to render it impossible for any one to come over here during the night to call my husband. No wine is allowed to be used while they are here; but, until the practice was stopped, they regularly purchased a midnight supper, which was brought to the gate by the venders; and I recollect the last work of my husband, one Sabbath night, was to turn out one of these portable cookshops and nail up the door. The contest with such a class of persons as these, and under such circumstances, has shown us much of the true character of the Chinese, and the systematic lying and deceit practised by this people is almost beyond belief, and shows us how truly Satan reigns in this heathen land.

Education.

There are at Ningpo, connected with the Mission, three boys' day schools, with sixty-eight scholars, a boys' boarding school of eight scholars, chiefly orphans, a girls' day school of twenty-four scholars, and a girls' boarding school, containing three girls. The girls' day school was raised and supported by Mrs. Gough, whose last interesting report of its progress was in these words—

Our schools continue to claim my special attention. The girls' day school at the South Gate is progressing hopefully, and there are twenty-six pupils in regular attendance. Owing to the child of my teacher having the small-pox, I was unable to visit it for some weeks, and when I went again I found several of the children had three, four, or five chapters of the Bible learned by heart, and they have repeated them to me as I have time to listen, not missing a single word. Their teacher is an excellent young woman, and a great help to me. The boys' day school, held in our house, includes three of our orphan boys amongst its pupils: the other two elder ones are apprenticed to a native trade, but still live in our house.

Upon Mrs. Gough's departure from China, the school was transferred to the care of Mr. and Mrs. Moule. Mr. Moule reports at the close of the year—

The school is taught as heretofore, diligently, anxiously, and, I believe, prayerfully, by the young widow Eo-Luteh (Ruth Eo): her state of health of late has made us fear for the permanency of her connexion with the school: she is stronger now, and I trust it may please God to spare to us one whose hearty services would not easily be compensated for. The number of girls at present in the school is more than twenty; the proficiency of the older ones in repetition of Scripture, and elementary knowledge of the Gospel history and doctrine, is encouraging. They are visited and examined by my wife twice a week.

Out-stations.

During the summer of 1860,—a season of much peril and anxiety as to political relations, and of general anarchy and lawlessness, the Missionaries have not only been preserved by God's good providence, but have been permitted greatly to extend their operations. Besides the out-station in the district of Sanpoh, described in former Reports, situated in the city Kwun-Haewe, which is distant from Ningpo thirty miles by land, and forty miles by water, they have succeeded in securing three other important outposts, Tsong-gyiao, Z-kyi, and Yu-yiao.

Tsong-gyiao is a village about three miles from Ningpo, with a contiguous population of about 10,000 souls. It was transferred to the Society by Miss Aldersey, on her leaving China, she having commenced this out-station about a year ago, with the help of three native catechists. The principal, a young man of great promise, and candidate for holy orders, died recently, after a brief illness. "The Sunday before his death," adds Mr. Russell, "he came to attend our monthly communion, bringing with him three candidates for baptism, whose knowledge of essential truth showed the carefulness with which they had been instructed, and whose demeanour altogether seemed to show that they were also being taught by the Great Teacher."

Z-kyi is a Hin (third class) city, fifteen miles from Ningpo, on the land route to Sanpoh, with a population of about 60,000 inhabitants. Its wealth and commerce give it special importance. "Here," says Mr. Russell, "we have located one catechist, Lin Das-teh, with his Christian wife and child, assisted by another native helper, where they are now engaged in freely distributing Christian books amongst the people, and openly preaching to them the way of life."

Yu-yiao, a city of the same class as Z-kyi, is about the same distance from Ningpo, by the water route to Sanpoh, and on the main route from Ningpo to Hang-chow. Bao Sin-sang, with his family, and a native helper, is established there, in a very eligible position within the walls of the city. His accounts of the large number of persons who daily visit him to hear the Gospel, and of the very interesting Sunday services he has been enabled to hold, are full of encouragement and promise. The widely-expanding field of labour might be extended far more widely still in all directions throughout the twenty-six millions of the province of Che-kiang were a sufficient supply of men forthcoming.

The following account of a Missionary visit to Sanpoh is given by Mr. Russell in a letter, May 21—

On Sunday, May 13th, at an early hour, our people commenced assembling for the services of the day. Our first service at eight

A.M. was a mere family one, made a little more formal than usual, which I conducted by reading a chapter, giving an exposition upon it, and concluding with prayer. After this, the members who had already arrived, and a few strangers, with our catechist, Sing Eng-teh, engaged in very earnest and profitable conversation together on various religious topics, frequently referring to Scripture for the proof of the views they propounded, in which our catechist especially showed an acquaintance with the holy book, which was very gratifying.

Our formal daily service commenced at half-past ten P.M., when all the members had arrived, some from a distance of over five miles, with several inquiring friends and others, induced to be present from curiosity. Our congregation amounted altogether to about a hundred persons, who all conducted themselves with great decorum. Sing Eng-teh preached on the occasion a very admirable sermon, largely illustrated by striking incidents from the Saviour's life, which was listened to with very marked attention. After the service, conversation amongst themselves was again resumed, bearing throughout on religious subjects, which never flagged from want of interest or speakers until three or four in the afternoon.

And here I would digress, to remark, that these religious conversations amongst the native Christians and others which I have adverted to, have often struck me as one of the most interesting and peculiar features of our work in the Sanpoh region, and one which promises, with the Divine blessing, to be attended with a large amount of good. A machinery is thus set going, by which truth is largely distributed from one to another, in a form at once attractive and intelligible, and compared with which, as to apparent efficiency, the most able address seems quite inoperative. When checked and guided by the presence of an able and faithful catechist, as I have often known them to be at our Mission house in Sanpoh, they do seem to be invaluable for the diffusion of Christian doctrine amongst a rude and illiterate people, who could not easily be subjected to more formal teaching.

On the second Sunday of our stay at Sanpoh I had the privilege of baptizing four new members—two adult males and two adult females—and of administering the Lord's Supper to twenty-six communicants. The services were more numerously attended than on the previous Sunday: our little chapel, or prayer-room, as it might more properly be called, was quite crowded, and every thing went on in a decorous and orderly manner, for which I felt very thankful.

Translations.

Mr. Moule has successfully carried through the press a revised edition of the Common-Prayer Book in the colloquial dialect and in the Roman character. He thus describes the work—

Since Easter Monday, April 9th, 1860, when the work of revision commenced, throughout the summer and early autumn, I have found little leisure for any thing but this and the business of correcting the press. I trust the occupation was of some benefit to myself in tending to a closer study of vernacular phraseology; and that the result of the undertaking, unfinished and defective as it still remains, has not been without use in promoting a devotional spirit in the public worship of God. The portion of the work now published contains the Morning and Evening Services, the Litany, and the Communion Office, besides a short preface in explanation of the general intention and use of the Liturgy, and in enforcement of the paramount importance of the spirit, as compared with the letter, of devotion. The printing of the work was very kindly undertaken for us by the American Presbyterian Press. Besides this edition, which is printed in the Roman character, Mr. Russell is superintending an edition, identical in phraseology, but in the Chinese character, which will be printed in the native manner of wooden stereotypes. The existence, side by side, of the two editions, will, it is hoped, not only supply the wants of all our Christians, but will also have a tendency to spread more widely an acquaintance with the western system of writing, and assist, at the same time, the foreign Missionary in his attempts to master the Chinese character.

SHANGHAE.

At the close of the year 1859, Mr. Burdon and Mr. Collins were resident at this station. In October, Mr. Burdon removed to Ningpo, both to assist the brethren at that station upon the departure of Mr. Gough, and to be prepared to move forward to Hang-chow, should that important city become open to the Missionary. Mrs. Collins being compelled to leave China on account of health, the boarding school was placed under the charge of Miss Fay, formerly connected with the American Episcopal Mission in Shanghae, whose experience and ability in teaching Chinese children in their own tongue are very highly spoken of.

Mr. Burdon, upon leaving Shanghae, thus speaks of his work at that station—

During my stay here I have devoted my mornings to the study of the language, and afternoons to teaching a class of elder boys in the school some of the evidences of Christianity, and preaching in the city. In my work among the people, I have not been without encouragement. The audiences in the chapel have varied much, both in numbers and amount of interest evinced; but, on the whole, I may say I never carried on the work of preaching to the adult heathen with as much pleasure as during the greater part of this year. Two at least of the five who were admitted into communion with us lately were brought in by means of our afternoon exercises in the city chapel.

Mr. Collins describes the very unsettled state of the population at Shanghai during the last year, in consequence of the preparation for war of the English and French forces at that port, and in consequence also of the advance of the insurgents to the city. So great was the alarm of the inhabitants, that he states that there was a general flight of the people of the city, so that out of a population of 240,000, not 10,000 remained. As soon, however, as the allied troops had repulsed the insurgents, not only did the inhabitants return, but the city became more crowded than ever, from the conviction that, under the protection of foreigners, the city was the safest place in the province. Such a period of excitement has proved disadvantageous to all Missionary efforts.

Mr. Collins states, that at the close of the year the number of baptized converts was thirteen, of whom seven were communicants. He writes—

Many untoward circumstances have combined to hinder our work, but yet we have not been left without encouragement. Before Mr. Burdon left this station for Ningpo he had the privilege of admitting five members into the church.

The walk and conversation of our members during the past year have been satisfactory, so far as we may speak of a negative satisfaction.

Our catechist, mentioned in the last year's Report as about to commence the work of a Scripture reader, has pursued his labours with zeal in Shanghai, and in a district of the surrounding country, containing several large villages of from 2000 to 10,000 inhabitants. I think it has, in some degree, been to him a labour of love. Mr. Burdon and I have at different times during the year accompanied him into this outlying district: the attention with which large numbers listened was gladdening to our hearts, but as yet no fruit has appeared.

The Committee conclude their review of the China Mission with a forcible appeal of Mr. Russell for the increase of evangelical efforts for China. He writes—

During my stay at Sanpoh I was also much gratified by the large number of visitors, of all classes, who called upon us, usually in companies of ten or twenty persons. To these Mrs. Russell and I, assisted by the catechist, endeavoured to convey the precious truths of the Gospel, as Divine strength and grace enabled us; and may we not hope and believe, in some cases at least, with effect?

In our afternoon walks in the neighbourhood it was also pleasing to observe the friendly disposition of the people towards us, and to hear them frequently invite us to stop and preach to them. But though we were enabled occasionally to do this, physical weakness more frequently prevented us from attempting it.

As the swarms of this uncared-for people presented themselves before me from day to day, ready to hear, if not to embrace, the saving truths of Christianity, how did my inmost soul yearn over them, and how did such thoughts as the following again and again force themselves upon me—"Can the church of Christ be really in earnest about the conversion of the world? Are her members really desirous of fulfilling the command of her great Head, to 'go into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature?' If so, why is it that it is not done? Is it that the way is not open? No. In India, China, and Japan, in Africa, America, and the islands of the sea, north, south, east, and west, the Lord has opened highways for the proclamation of His precious and saving truth. Why, then, is it not done? Is it that the church of God in the world still lacks money, men, or other needful appliances, for carrying out this object? No. The people of God in Great Britain, America, and other Christian lands, have such an overflowing supply of all these at present lying utterly waste, wrapped up in a napkin, or buried in the ground, as would be fully adequate, under the Divine blessing, to carry the standard of the cross, with all the attendant blessings of Christianity, to the remotest corners of the earth, if only faithfully and conscientiously employed."

NEW-ZEALAND MISSION.

The War in New Zealand.

THE mention of New Zealand will call up, in the first instance, thoughts of the unhappy war now raging in that colony. Taranaki, the scene of warfare, is remote from the Missions of the Society, but Wiremu Kingi, the chief actor in these unhappy transactions, formerly lived with a part of his tribe in the district of Archdeacon Hadfield, and was one of his converts ; and the powerful and numerous tribe of Waikatos, some of whom have been drawn into the dispute, have long had Missionaries resident among them at three stations, lying between Auckland and Taranaki ; and the Missionaries of those stations have been in immediate contact with the fighting parties. The Committee have published full accounts of New-Zealand affairs from month to month in the periodicals of the Society, as well as in separate pamphlets ; they will, therefore, only state on the present occasion a few of the leading and most important features of this lamentable outbreak bearing upon Missionary prospects.

The proximate causes of the outbreak are undoubtedly to be traced to the new constitution given to the colony a few years ago, by which the management of its affairs was confided to a colonial Parliament and Legislature of settlers, but from which the native chiefs and native population were virtually excluded. The native institutions of law and government have gradually ceased since the sovereignty of the Queen was established. But no adequate laws or police have been substituted in their stead ; and hence the Queen's sovereignty over the native districts has been uncertain and equivocal. No court existed for adjudicating disputes respecting native lands ; and a tribe, in defending their lands by force of arms, was pursuing a course too long permitted to exist in the native districts. Hence the outbreak at Taranaki is to be distinguished from the rebellion of subjects against constituted authorities. Too much stress has been laid by some parties upon the election of a native king. But the truth is, that though the name of "king" was unhappily adopted, the leading idea in the native mind was that of a Native Governor for the native race, as there was an English Governor for the settlers. Conclusive evidence of this fact is furnished by a report of a Committee of the House of Re-representatives in New Zealand, appointed to investigate the "king movement," which came unanimously to the conclusion—"Such a movement need not have been the subject of alarm. One of its principal aims undoubtedly was to assert the distinct nationality of the Maori race; and another, to establish, by their own efforts, some organization on which to base a system of law and order. These objects are not necessarily inconsistent with the recognition of the Queen's supreme authority, or antagonistic to the European race, or to the progress of colonization." To the same effect are the remarks of Archdeacon Maunsell, published in the "Southern Cross," November 2, 1860—"This business demands very deep attention from our legislators. They will see the high mettle of the people amongst whom we live, and the strong spirit of nationality that is growing amongst them, and will, I hope, be induced to devise measures to avert similar manifestations in future. A race like this can only be governed by imparting to them as large a share as possible both in legislation and in the administration of justice. Let this intelligent and sensitive people see that the colonists do not (like those of St. Domingo formerly) seek to monopolize all legislative and executive functions, that, in a word, we wish to treat them as we wish to be treated ourselves, and I believe that the settlers will be very great gainers by any sacrifice they may make. In this crisis the assessors have rendered an invaluable service. Our deepest source of regret now is, that these runangas, and the Maori king movement itself, have been left to drift away as chance may take them. They present an admirable machinery for the governing of the people by their ownselves, and yet have been utterly neglected, if not discouraged, by the Government."

The Committee introduce also an extract from a late letter of the Rev. W. Leonard Williams, from the Eastern district, which is the furthest removed from the scene of warfare, as showing the very complicated political circumstances which have unhappily resulted in a conflict between the races—"The attempt is being made by the natives here to repress irregularities in morals. Theoretically, all are British subjects; but, in these matters, the colonial Government has left the natives of this and similar districts almost entirely to themselves. We had a resident magistrate here, it is true, for a few years, but he was summarily withdrawn by the governor without any arrangement being made to supply his place in the slightest degree. The consequence of this non-interfering policy in Maori districts has been, that the people have not the slightest appreciation of the benefits of living under a regular Government. The professions of the Government, as exhibited in the treaty of Waitangi are good enough, but in practice, the British Government only comes into contact with the natives, either as a land-jobber, driving hard bargains for land, or as the imposer of restrictive regulations on the sale, to them, of certain articles which the white population are at liberty to purchase at pleasure without any restriction. To this system of practically keeping up a wide distinction between the two races by restrictive measures affecting only the Maori population, and of leaving them entirely to themselves in disputes between themselves (or, as the phrase is, 'in purely native matters') may be traced most, if not all of the present difficulties of the colony as regards the Maori race. Hence, the so-called unavoidable necessity for a collision between the races which has been so much talked of of late; as though there were no other way of making the influence of British authority felt but by force of arms. One very strong objection to the Duke of Newcastle's late Bill is this point of defining native districts in which Maori law should be administered. It took for granted that the Maoris had laws of their own, or at least some settled principles of action in their disputes one with another, which they never yet have had up to the present time. For the government of the colony, therefore, to leave them to themselves in such cases, is simply to invite each man to take the law into his own hands whenever he may consider himself aggrieved. Can it be wondered at that the natives should consider such conduct on the part of the Government to indicate that the white man cares nothing for the Maori, except in so far as he contributes to his own aggrandisement? The natives are apathetic towards the Government, because the treatment they have experienced has not been such as to induce any other feeling; and this apathy is stigmatized as disloyalty and disaffection. For the natives of this district I can say confidently that they have no hostile feeling whatever towards the English. Though we are far away from the active operation of British law, every white man's person and property is as safe here as in any other part of the colony. Faults, of course, they have, many and great, and I have no wish or intention to disguise them; but unless we, as a nation, do our duty towards them, and fulfil all our professions, I do not see that we have any right to complain that they are not forward to recognise their duties, as British subjects, arising out of privileges which they have not been made to appreciate or even understand. If the Government would make it their first object that the Maori population of these islands should have their privileges as British subjects brought home to them, there would be no occasion to have recourse to an armed force to ensure the performance of civil duties."

The proclamation of martial law, dated January 27, 1860, by the Government, and the consequent collision a few weeks afterwards between the troops and William King, have undoubtedly had a very deteriorating effect upon the moral condition of the native race. The late chief-justice of New Zealand, Sir W. Martin, in a pamphlet published by him in New Zealand against the proceedings of Government, says—

"The inevitable result of the course pursued in this matter was to weaken indefinitely any influence for good which was at work amongst the natives, and to strengthen indefinitely every influence for evil. An immense impetus in the wrong direction was given to the schemes of Maori agitators—an impetus which they could not have acquired in any other way. . . . There is reason to believe that the "king movement" has gained more strength, more adherents, since the beginning of the year, than in the whole previous period."

"Of all the evil consequences of the doings at the Waitara, the most formidable is this, the estrangement of the most thoughtful of the native people, the destruction or grievous diminution of their confidence in the Government."

As a concluding remark, the Committee unhesitatingly affirm that this disastrous war in New Zealand cannot be fairly alleged as disproving the Christianity of the native converts. On the other hand, the triumph of Christian principles has been manifest amongst the natives as a body during these late unhappy events. Throughout the length and breadth of the country they sympathize with William King; they regard the attempt to possess the disputed land as the violation of the solemn treaty of Waitangi, on which the sovereignty of the Queen depends, and as an insult to every chief in New Zealand. Yet only a few hundred headstrong natives, not one-twentieth part of the fighting men of New Zealand, have as yet taken up arms against the British troops, while over the whole island the rest of the population are lifting up their voices to implore the contending parties to lay aside their arms and to submit the disputed land to the arbitration of law. They have learnt, also, clearly to distinguish between an act of political aggression and the Christianity of England. In a late assembly of chiefs, at the invitation of the Governor, from all parts of the island, to consult upon the Taranaki affair and other New-Zealand questions, "it was," writes one who was present, "the almost unanimous testimony of the chiefs that the introduction of the Gospel had been the introduction of peace in New Zealand." "The Gospel came first," exclaimed a leading chief: "we embraced it, and found it good, without any mixture of evil, for it was from God. Afterwards came the Queen's sovereignty. That was also good, but it brought with it some evil, for it came from man."

The Committee have been permitted to transmit to Her Majesty's Secretary of State the representations which they have received from their Missionaries on the spot. They have been able, they trust, to prove that your Missionaries, without exception, have acted the part of men faithful alike to the sovereignty of the British Crown and to the principles of justice and humanity. They have urged, also, the interposition of the Government at home to adjudicate upon the great question at issue, as well as to provide a system of native law and justice for the future.

The latest intelligence from the Secretary of the Mission, Mr. Burrows, is dated January 3, 1861—

"At present the great majority of our Maori population are quietly pursuing their accustomed avocations; but from north to south of the island there is a restlessness and a spirit of dissatisfaction towards Government manifestly at work. The sympathies of nine-tenths of the Maori race is with their countrymen in arms, and the longer the struggle is prolonged the more difficult will become the work of making peace."

The reports from the various Mission stations throughout the island are all more or less of an encouraging kind. The very mails which brought to England the lamentable accounts of bloodshed at Taranaki, brought also the cheering intelligence of the ordination of native pastors, both by the Bishop of New Zealand and by the Bishop of Waiapu, and the unexampled zeal of the natives to make endowments of land, and to raise the annual stipends for the support of their ministers. And even since the outbreak the attendance upon the ordinances of grace had been generally satisfactory, and in some instances it has improved; while the more earnest Christian natives are having recourse to the only sure remedy for their distracted country—united prayer. "At St. Stephen's school (writes Archdeacon Kissling, Oct. 4) we have a prayer-meeting once a week, at which Christians of both sexes attend, and take part in the prayers." Mr. Grace, from the station in the centre of the island, and isolated from all European settlers, writes (Oct. 23)—"We hold a weekly prayer-meeting, to pray God to send a spirit of peace amongst us." Mr. Ashwell, in the midst of the fighting tribes, writes (Oct. 23)—"Our only hope is in the gracious influences of God the Holy Spirit, who alone can rule the unruly and sinful affections of man. We assemble every day at ten A.M. to pray with my native teachers for the blessing of peace, and the gifts of the Holy Spirit." And at a still later date (Dec. 3) he adds—"I am happy to say, that, amidst all the excitement of the present war, there is much to cheer and encourage us. Never was there a time when the Newhae natives were more attentive. Our churches are much better attended than they were a short time ago; our teachers' meetings and Monday monthly prayer-meetings are also well attended, and a nice Christian spirit prevails. Earnest prayer is made for peace, and the outpouring of the influence of God the Holy Ghost. A few weeks ago, in my journey with the fight, I baptized nine adults, who have been candidates for more than twelve months, and have remained faithful during the great excitement which has prevailed for the last eight months: on the other hand, some of the Ngatihaua, who fell at Taranaki, were baptized, and some of them were monitors. When at Ngaruwahie yesterday fortnight, soon after the news of the defeat at Taranaki, and the loss of their friends, had arrived, they were very attentive whilst I spoke to them from 1 Peter iv. 17—'For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God, and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the Gospel of God?'"

The various stations in the Northern District are occupied by the same Missionaries as in the last year's Report.

At the northern stations of Kaitaia, Paihia, and the Bay of Islands, the work has been pursued in peace, being little affected by the war at Taranaki. There has been progress in the spiritual state of the natives; but the great want which is now felt is that of a native pastorate. Three divinity students are at Auckland from Kaitaia, and it is hoped that they may soon return ordained to pastoral charges in the district, in which for twenty-six years the Rev. Mr. Matthews and Mr. Puckey have laboured as Missionaries.

The journal of Mr. Puckey gives a striking instance of divine grace in the case of a slave, doubly redeemed, and "enduring unto the end."

I visited poor Veritas again: found him drawing nigh to his latter end. I asked him if he felt he should be saved. He said "Yes; because Christ died for me." I told him Christ alone was the sinner's hope, and exhorted him to pour out his whole heart in confession to God, for "the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth from all sin." I had much conversation with him. He died on Thursday evening. There was much hope in his death. He had been a slave, and a very wicked one. About twenty-nine years ago, before New Zealand became a British colony, while I was residing at Paihia, his master led him to me, and said, "Purchase this slave." I told him I was no slave-dealer, and could not do so. He replied, "I have brought him to you to save his life. He is such a thief and liar that I cannot refrain from him any longer. I shall now lead him round the point and chop off his head." Of course, I redeemed him. I offered him a few articles of not more value than seven shillings, which were gladly received. His master disappeared, and I have never seen him since. I spoke affectionately to Ibikutu; told him his life was safe, and that henceforward he was a free man; to leave off his evil propensities, and I would instruct him. The Rev. R. Taylor afterwards baptized him, and called him Veritas, for, from formerly being a great liar, he was now become a follower of Christ.

The Rev. R. Davis sends an annual Report of the Waimate district, in which he gives the following sober view of the state of the people—

Since my last yearly letter, we have had much to mourn over, and we have had also some reasons to rejoice. We observe many fluctuations in our native congregations. Sometimes they appear attentive and vigorous in duty, at other times supine and indifferent. This appears to be the general state of the bulk of the people which form our congregations: there are, however, a few in each that mourn over this state of things.

Our congregations, in number and state, are much as they were last year. Those who fell away remain in a state of separation, and continue to add sin to sin. Drunkenness, I believe, was the cause of their fall, and that deadly sin has not decreased among them.

Our chief source of mourning has been on account of the general ignorance of many of our communicants. They are not ignorant of the nature and power of sin; nor are they ignorant that Christ alone is the Saviour of sinners; nor do they appear to rely on any other source for salvation. But they are ignorant of the great benefits which flow to believers through the atonement of Christ: they are too ignorant of the nature and extent of the present blessings which are so freely bestowed by the ever-blessed God upon every persevering member of His adopted family. Oh that the Church of Christ in England may be led to make this state of our natives a subject of earnest and persevering prayer! for until the Spirit shall be poured out upon us from on high our poor people must remain ignorant of the heights and depths of the love of God, and of the present blessings of Christianity. We have but seldom a flagrant act of wickedness to mourn over, and when they occur, they generally arise from drunkenness, or from the unfaithfulness of the women.

Our reason for thankfulness has been the almost general moral consistency of our communicants, and the lively inquiries of some after a knowledge of Divine truth. In our late visits to Tepuna and Matami, some pertinent questions of an interesting character were put to me by various persons as to the meaning of various passages of Scripture. The congregation of Tepuna is well attended to by Mr. J. W. King and his sisters: they have also two valuable Maori teachers among them, men who search the Scriptures, and make them their rule of life. One is an elderly man of no great capacity of mind, but truly pious; the other is a younger man, of a more large and enlightened mind, and who is seeking diligently a knowledge of the Scriptures. In his researches he uses the references of the English Bible, and they appear to have been a great assistance to him. This man is of note by birth, but he is very deaf, or he would have been proposed to the Institution to be prepared for holy orders.

Archdeacon Kissling has charge of the very important Institution at Auckland for training up a native ministry for the diocese of Bishop Selwyn. The Institution has pursued its useful course throughout all the recent troubles. Three pupils have been admitted during the year to holy orders. The Archdeacon writes, in a letter, June 28, 1860—

There is a bright spot on our horizon which cheers my heart.

Our schools, the best index to native feelings and native movements, have not suffered from the excitement of war, except that at Otawhao. The Institute at Kohanga, under Archdeacon Maunsell, the schools of Taupiri and Hopohopo, under Mr. and Mrs. Ashwell, and here at St. Stephen's, in which we have now ten native candidates for holy orders, with their families, amounting to upwards of thirty individuals, are in full and active operation. These are matters of encouragement and thanksgiving amidst all our trials and misrepresentations.

At the close of the year Archdeacon Kissling was suddenly laid aside by severe illness, brought on by the anxieties connected with the prominent position in which he was placed in his endeavours to maintain the just rights of the native race, and to allay the bitterness of feeling on the part of their opponents. Several friends came forward to supply his lack of service by keeping up the Theological Institution. The Committee most gratefully acknowledge amongst that number the aid of Sir William Martin, late chief justice of New Zealand, and once a fellow and lecturer of St. John's College, Cambridge.

Archdeacon Maunsell reports of his district of Waikato Heads, in a letter, Nov. 19, 1860—

Though we are on the borders of the war party, we still enjoy security and peace, my people being all friendly to the Government. Our school operations and all our other labours have been uninterrupted, and the people seem as constant and steady as ever in their attendance on the means of grace. Some of them are worthy Christian characters, but, as regards the bulk, we earnestly long to see an outpouring of the blessed Spirit. I confess I feel often sorrowful at the small number that seem to come forward from among the young men as candidates for the Lord's work: still I would labour and pray. I often think of Isaiah xlix. 4. One of our young men, Joshua, was ordained lately, and is labouring in connexion with Mr. Kissling: another is with him now as a candidate for orders. I have now four monitors in the Institution. We have also some very worthy young women in our Institution. Good old Mary, who has been a matron for eleven years, and now nearly blind, is still very useful. Another, a pupil of Mrs. Maunsell's, Mary Newton, is quite a right hand in the school; another of Mrs. Maunsell's scholars, Mary Anne, was married some time back to an European gentleman, who gave our school a donation of 10*l.*, saying at the same time that we had given him a good wife. She has proved to be so, and has gained the respect and admiration of surrounding settlers' wives. At the native place we have been favoured with some worthy Phœbes and Dorcases. Mrs. Maunsell has regular weekly meetings with them, and has a club formed amongst them for helping the sick and supplying them all with clothes in winter time. She was delighted to learn last week, while in conversation with one of them, that, since this war, five or six of them have made it a practice to have prayer-meetings amongst themselves weekly.

This church has collected 146*l.* in 1859-60, up to April 12th—in less than a year and four months—for the following objects, viz. Endowment of ministers, children at school, relief of the sick, and the Bible Society. Besides the above, other moneys have been collected by the people in a distant village for their chapel, they having paid for 4000 feet of timber and shingles. In this year they are going to make another collection, for the purpose of seating our church and for the endowment of the ministry. The people at another out-station, lately gave 2000 acres of very valuable land as an endowment for a native ministry.

Archdeacon Maunsell sent the foregoing statement to the editor of a local newspaper for insertion, adding—

You can perhaps testify that, a few years ago, not a shilling could be got from the aborigines on the score of Christian liberality.

You will please also to remember that the people contributing these sums live, for the most part, on a poor soil, and that the majority of them have no direct communication with Auckland.

Counter facts, I am well aware, can be brought forward, especially from certain districts; and throughout the whole island there are perhaps certain points in which the advancing tide of civilization is not perceptible. All this I am certain is what a man of experience would look for in a work so difficult and complex. Still I am also certain that an intelligent observer will admit that there is a great leaven at work, and that it is highly probable that the next fifteen or twenty years will see a great improvement in the external condition of this people.

Mr. B. Y. Ashwell writes from his station, Taupiri, in his annual letter at the close of 1860—

In March last Heta Tarawhiti, my faithful fellow-labourer for twelve years, was admitted to deacons' orders by the Bishop of New Zealand, who afterwards accompanied him with Mrs. Selwyn to the Taupiri station. We were much encouraged by the presence of our bishop.

It will be seen by the statistics, that amidst all the trouble and anxiety at this season, the work of God has advanced. My congregations have increased. All lower, and the greater part of middle Waikato, have resisted the entreaties of the war party to join them, although one of the greatest chiefs of Ngatomahata

(a brother of Potatau) is a relative of William King. Baptisms have been numerous, and the Lord's Supper well attended; but, but above all, my native teachers, with three exceptions, have remained stedfast during this trying period. One of the three was killed at the last battle. Our school has been somewhat affected by the war, inducing a spirit of independence and insubordination to the parents in the young persons, one of whom went to Taranaki, and was killed, which had a most salutary effect upon the whole school, many of whom I hope well of. The schools at the native villages continue stedfast, with a slight diminution of their number. Our average number through the year, in the institution at the station, is ninety.

I am thankful to say, that now the excitement has passed over, a better feeling prevails. Laws have been made by the chiefs, that the Taranaki war should not interfere in bringing offenders to justice, and that robberies, theft, and murder, should be visited on the offender, and not on an innocent party. The European settlers, who had, through fear, left the Waikato river, are now invited to return, with an assurance of protection from the chiefs, and the goods stolen during the excitement will be paid for: this, with the softened feeling of the natives is, I trust, a prelude to peace.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

Six stations have been occupied in this district in the following chronological order—1. Tauranga, 1835; 2. Maketu, 1835; 3. Rotorua, 1835; 4. Tauranga, 1840; 5. East Cape, 1842; 6. Wairoa, 1844.

 Rev. Seymour M. Spencer (m), 1841.
 Rev. W. Leonard Williams, B.A. (m), 1853.
 Mr. Carl S. Volkner, engaged in New Zealand.
 Rev. E. B. Clarke, 1860.

The chief changes in the district since the Report of last year, is the addition of Mr. Clarke, the removal of Mr. Chapman to Tauranga, and the removal of Mr. Hamlin, under medical advice, from Wairoa, his place having been supplied by native teachers.

The Bishop of Waiapu gives the following encouraging account of his visit to the north-eastern part of the district, in March 1860—

When we reached Waiapu we seemed to breathe another atmosphere. The natives of that locality are certainly in a better state than most others. Their substantial wooden churches, and the orderly habits of the people when attending Divine service, seem to indicate a better appreciation of the value of religion. At Whareponga, which is the sphere of labour formerly occupied by Raniera Kawhia, who has spent one year in our school at Turanga, and two years with Archdeacon Kissling, the natives have been looking for his return as their minister, and have done a good deal towards raising the sum I have required as endowment. He had returned from Auckland a few weeks before we got there, and a strong effort had been made to induce him to go and live at Rangitakia, but the people of Whareponga would not give him up. It had been previously arranged that he should be admitted to deacons' orders at this time, and this was partly the reason why I requested Mr. Burrows to accompany me. This interesting event took place on the 7th of last month. Morning prayers were read at 6.30 before breakfast, and the remainder of the service at 9.30, beginning with the ordination of Raniera; after which the Lord's Supper was administered to 165 natives. There were several who had come from villages through which we had passed, and the entire congregation was about 450 persons. May God grant an abundant outpouring of his Spirit upon our native brother, and upon all the people, and may this lead to the commencement of a more vigorous and general work among them! The Rev. Rota Waitoa was with us also, and he has since followed us to Turanga, and on Sunday last, the 4th, he was admitted to priests' orders, and is now remaining with me for a month, for the purpose of reading. The natives now begin to see that there is a reality in this part of the work, and there is no difficulty in bringing together, for instruction in our schools, those young men whom it is really desirable to have with us. Our central school continues to increase in numbers, and we have now with us more than 120 of all ages.

At a later period of the year the Bishop reports of his own station, Turanga, at which he is assisted by his son, the Rev. W. Leonard Williams—

At Turanga there has been a remarkable change for the better. A large proportion of the natives had long been careless and lukewarm. There was an outward conformity to religion, but little of real life; and the young people, growing up with bad examples before them, had been carried away by temptation, and drunkenness, with all its attendant vices, was becoming common. Fathers lamented the wayward habits of their children, but the evil went on increasing. A few that were under the influence of right principles tried to stay the evil, but to no purpose, and the English traders did all they could to encourage the evil, because their gains were increased by this means. At length an effective movement was made by a young chief, who had himself been an inveterate drinker. The first intimation I received was, that certain regulations had been laid down, to which all his people had agreed, imposing a fine upon any person who drank spirits, whether to intoxication or not. This was an opportunity not to be lost, and a general meeting was proposed, at which the good and the bad all attended. The business was not concluded the first day, and when I joined the people the next morning, one of the leaders said to me, "We have been talking the whole night with our relatives, and they promise to give up their bad practices." The result was, that they all agreed to abide by one common regulation, and that the evil should be at once removed. It was determined also that the traders who are living upon native land should not be allowed to land spirits, even to sell to their own countrymen. It appeared still to be doubtful to what all this would grow, but by God's blessing, the right turn was taken, and they at once became attendants on our religious services, almost without exception. Our congregations were at once increased by the presence of those who had long been strangers. The Sunday school includes in it all who have been at service, and the Bible class on the morning of the following day is frequented as it used to be in old times. There is, moreover, a large class of young persons who come forward as candidates for confirmation. This is a most important feature, because here are persons who never have been under proper instruction. They have been baptized as infants, but their parents and sponsors have neglected to secure for them that instruction which had been promised; nor did there seem to be a prospect of reaching them. But they come now of their own free will and seek for instruction. So far as I am able to judge, there seems to be a reality in their walk, a change of manner, and an appearance of sincerity, which leads me to think that it is no capricious movement on their part, but really a work of God, a striving of the Holy Spirit with them, to bring them back to the right path. A golden opportunity is afforded which has long been looked for. It is for us to seize it, and to work while it is called day. May God grant that this impression may be a lasting one, and that much fruit may be produced to his glory.

The natives of Te Wairoa district have felt the want of the services of the Rev. J. Hamlin during the whole year. He went to Auckland at the latter end of December last, and had hoped soon to have resumed again his Missionary duties; but the state of his health makes it uncertain whether he will ever again be able to encounter the labour which such a station requires. In the mean time, the native teachers have done the best they could. The Rev. W. L. Williams and I have both visited the district at different periods; and I was thankful to find that there has been no falling back, but rather a re-action for good. In the meantime, there is a valuable native, Tamihana Huata, whom I hope to admit to deacon's orders in a few weeks, and then to place in charge of the district. He has been in connexion with us six years, and is a man of good report. Being well known to the Rev. Raniera Kawhia, he has been invited by the natives of East Cape to take charge of an important district there, they at the same time promising to provide for his support. As soon as this was communicated to his own people of Te Wairoa, they at once came forward to claim him, and also guaranteed the income which is required.

The Rev. W. L. Williams gives a general view of the improved state of the whole of the Eastern district—

As to this district in general, we have witnessed much that is encouraging during the past year. The people are beginning to see the necessity of exerting themselves to make some provisions for their ministers. In the Warapa district, at the East Cape, they have recognized their duty in this respect for some time past, and the money collected there for this object amounts already to upwards of 500*l*. At Wairoa, too, in Hawke's Bay, they are making a beginning, so that we may hope in time to have a good staff of Maori ministers all sufficiently provided for as to worldly subsistence.

Another feature of improvement, confined as yet, as far as I know, to the Waiapu district, is the desire evinced for primary schools to be established among them for the education of their children. I have just returned from a trip in that district, and five different places were shown me as sites for such schools at different points in the district. At two of these places there were crops in the ground for the benefit of the scholars. There has been already a school for a short time at one of these places, and though it is at present discontinued, it will be commenced again in a short time, probably at the commencement of the new year.

In this immediate neighbourhood, improvement has manifested itself, among other things, in the people turning their attention to church building, and so doing something towards wiping off the reproach which has clung to them for years past, that they have not had a decent building for the performance of Divine service. The church which was commenced as far back as 1850 (an engraving of which, made from a description of what it was to be, was published in the "Church Missionary Intelligencer" in 1851), is now only approaching completion, the elaborately carved posts having stood exposed to the sun and rain for nine years, whereby the carving has been much injured.

Throughout the whole district there is a better attendance at church and at school, both on Sundays and week days. The Bible classes (in this neighbourhood especially), are beginning to be frequented by numbers who have for a long time given them up altogether. Those who have not yet been baptized are offering themselves again as candidates for baptism, and express themselves as desirous for instruction. The number of communicants has not yet materially increased; but if the present state of things continues, we may expect that, by God's blessing, a greater interest in this sacrament will, before long, be shown by numbers who have hitherto neglected it.

In all this, we cannot but joyfully recognise the hand of God and the operation of his Spirit.

Mr. Williams gives the following Report of the Turanga Theological Seminary and its associated schools—

This year has not been without signal blessings, for which I trust we shall ever show ourselves thankful to the great Giver of all good. Our schools have prospered, notwithstanding several adverse circumstances. We have had an unusual amount of sickness throughout the country, and our school here has suffered severely. Five of our pupils have been removed during the year by the hand of death. We lost almost the whole of our potato crop last summer, and had to buy a large quantity of wheat in consequence; but still our numbers show a considerable increase over last year. Our highest number was in July last, when the average of daily residence and attendance for the month was 121. The average for the whole year will, of course, be something less than that. The progress of the pupils, too, has been such as to give us great encouragement, not only in their intellectual attainments, but also in their general character and conduct. One of our old pupils, Raniera Kawhia, was admitted to deacons' orders early in the year, and we are looking forward to the ordination of another, Tamihana Huata, early in the ensuing year. These, we hope, if it please God, may soon be followed by others, who may take their places in the different Maori settlements as soon as some permanent provision is made for them. There are three of our pupils now at St. Stephen's, Auckland, where they have the advantage of being entirely separated for a time from their Maori friends, and the opportunity of breaking through some of their old habits, which they have contracted from their childhood in their own villages.

The Rev. T. Chapman, who is associated with Archdeacon Brown in the charge of the Tauranga station, reports at the close of the year—

Among the events of the present year, within the limits of our own district, the beginning of an institution at Tauranga must not be forgotten. Long has this been the very desire of my heart. The locality is most admirable, the site superior to any thing I have yet seen in New Zealand—healthful, large, an isthmus having an inlet of the sea running up on both sides, separate from all outward and common evil tendencies, yet near enough to the natives around for conveniently visiting them ; a spot where, as far as can well be, the self-supporting system may have its full play, where food may be abundantly raised, and cattle reared and comfortably provided for. These are helps ; and I pray that, however small may be the beginnings of this institution, it may grow up, yielding fruit in abundance.

New Zealand, as a colony, was, previously to the Taranaki war, in a most prosperous state, and immigrants were arriving by almost every vessel. Wool, gold, gum, timber, copper, oil, &c., were her exports, cattle of all kinds greatly increasing, and agriculture among the natives becoming general, though mainly confined to wheat. These are indications of a rising colony, while, from all sources, her annual revenue is not less than 400,000*l*. Still, except in some few locations, the natives are little raised. Were their minds cultivated, and their habits improved, there is no reason why every New Zealander should not be, in a few years, an independent, respectable member of society. Take them, as we generally find them in their every-day state, and there is an utter absence of comfort and respectability. Take them as husbands and wives, parents and children, and we discover little in their homes that adorns the religion they profess. In them it is not so much the presence of positive evil, as it is the absence of good. They have put away the grosser evils of heathenism—the seeds of Christianity have hardly risen above the debris of ages of deeply-rooted debasing usages and habits.

WESTERN DISTRICT.

The district was first occupied by Archdeacon Hadfield in 1839. It now comprises five stations: 1. Wanganui, 1840; 2. Otaki, 1842; 3. Heretaunga, 1844; 4. Papawai (Palliser Bay), 1856; 5. Pipiriki, on the Wanganui river, 1856.

 Rev. John Wycliffe Gedge, B.A. (m), 1860.
 Mr. James Booth (m), 1852, Schoolmaster.

This district has been strengthened in its staff of Missionaries by the addition of the Rev. J. W. Gedge, with a special view to the theological seminary at Otaki; and of the Rev. B. K. Taylor, as an assistant to his father at Wanganui.

Archdeacon Hadfield has been necessarily involved in much controversy respecting the Taranaki affair, from his known influence over William King, and his perfect knowledge of the circumstances out of which the dispute arose. He thought it his painful duty at an early period to publish his conviction of the injustice of the course pursued by the local government. By this bold but conscientious conduct he brought upon him the severe rebuke of the authorities, and an accusation of suppressing information which ought to have been transmitted to the Government, was laid by the Governor before the Bishop of Wellington. The Bishop vindicated Archdeacon Hadfield from this charge. The documents were all printed in the local newspapers. All the statements of the Archdeacon have been corroborated by the able pen of Sir William Martin, late chief justice of New Zealand; and not one of them has been impugned by any writer of authority in the colony. The Committee have deeply sympathized with their Missionary in the very painful part which he has been called to act; but they believe that if his warnings had been heeded, much bloodshed would have been saved. The result is still uncertain, but in the hands of God.

In consequence of the circumstances which have occupied his anxious attention, the Archdeacon has not been able to forward his usual journals and reports; but in his latest letters he writes—

My people are quiet and peaceable. I have been able to work more than usual during the last year, and I have found the natives uniformly attentive. By God's grace, I shall persevere as long as my way is clear, and "a door is open."

I have never before been so assured of the effect of religion upon the natives as when I have heard them say what they would have done under similar circumstances in former times, but confess that they cannot do it now; that they are prepared to die rather than shed blood, unless they are attacked and driven into a corner.

The Rev. Richard Taylor gives the following review of the state of the natives, and of his labours at the close of the year 1860—

Had it not been made a pretext for an outbreak by other tribes who rushed madly into the fray, the quarrel with William King would long since have been settled. The beginning of the war was little creditable to the British name, but it only commenced a little sooner than it otherwise would have done: both races were ripe for the quarrel, and had it not then begun, the bad feeling which animated them would have caused a wider separation than that which is now felt since actual hostilities have taken place, and I am happy to state that already symptoms are appearing of a better spirit. The European no longer despises the native; the skill and courage he has shown in this war have elicited the admiration of his foes, and the native sees how inexhaustible are the resources of the European, and how hopeless it is for him to drive him away. As John Williams wisely told them in one of his letters, that for every European they killed ten fresh ones came, and for every hundred they have a thousand more, whilst they had none to replace those they lost.

In the beginning of the war my faith assured me that the Lord would never permit this people which had embraced the Gospel to be cut off, or the work which he had owned to be in vain, and now I feel persuaded that the same controlling power will eventually cause the present evils to work for the permanent good of the two races, and more firmly to cement their future destinies together.

It is observable that whilst in former times there has never been so strong and widely-extended a league amongst the different tribes of New Zealand, hitherto the combined force which the native has been able to bring into the field has not exceeded, and probably has never reached, one thousand; but the Gospel summons has repeatedly brought far greater number together. In 1846 fully four thousand natives met to celebrate the Saviour's birth at Putiki, and 800 of that number knelt around the Lord's table to commemorate His love.

General review of the Mission.

There has been no material change in the circumstances of this Mission during the last year. There has been the addition of one student from Islington, Mr. Smith, who resided, on his first arrival, at St. John's Collegiate School, and was ordained by the Bishop, and left in charge of the church while the Bishop visited the stations of the Society at Moose Fort, James Bay. One of the Missionaries from Moose Fort, Mr. Fleming, has been compelled to return home through an attack of severe illness, occasioned by his exposure on a perilous journey in his district. The Rev. L. S. Tugwell, has also been sent to strengthen the hands of the single Missionary at the station on the Pacific.

---

I. RED RIVER DISTRICT.

ST. ANDREW'S.

Archdeacon Hunter has charge of the large church and congregation of St. Andrew's, and acts as Secretary of the Mission. His congregation comprises many to whom the Cree language is more familiar than the English, and for whose sake, therefore, he keeps up a service in Cree. As in the other Missions of the Society, the week of prayer at the beginning of the year was observed at the Red-River, and the church was filled with a congregation of nearly 1000 persons.

THE INDIAN SETTLEMENT.

This native village is under the charge of the Rev. A. Cowley, assisted by a native minister, the Rev. Henry Cockran, whose salary is provided by collections in Saint Andrew's, and by friends in Scotland, independently of the funds of the Society. The social prosperity of the settlement is very encouraging. The number of inhabitants at the close of 1859 was 600; at the close of 1860 it amounted to 700, partly through the excess of births above deaths, and partly by the accession of new converts. The ground is fertile, and a trade in timber is carried on with other parts of the Red-River Settlement, so that all the people find sufficient remunerative employment. Mr. Cowley, in his annual letter, reports—

Our new church is already crowded. The morning service is conducted in three prevailing languages of the settlement, namely, English, Saulteaux, and Cree. Great decorum prevails throughout the congregation. Many, especially among the young people, make the responses in English, many in Cree, and a few in Saulteaux; and all listen to the word preached with the most praiseworthy attention. The number of communicants is relatively large. As a whole, I trust it may be said of the people that they walk religiously in good works. A few have given us pain, but there is an overwhelming majority in whom we can most cordially rejoice. I am inclined to believe that family prayer is the rule, not the exception, of the people. Where the men are backward or incompetent, the women pray.

Fort Alexander is an important station. A goodly number of Indians trade in the Company's establishment. The land is productive: wheat matures, but there is little pasturage. The river and lake afford excellent fisheries for sturgeon and white fish; and human life can be comfortably sustained with the ordinary amount of necessary labour and economy. The Indians, though Saulteaux, are chiefly, I think, well disposed. Our labours among them have been scattered over a period of five years, with more or less of energy and faithfulness, yet but little direct fruit has appeared.

In another letter Mr. Cowley states that this out-station is so rich in natural resources that it is likely to become very populous, and ought to have an English Missionary to establish it upon a firm foundation.

LA PRAIRIE.

This station has been formed by the experience, zeal, and influence of Archdeacon Cockran. It was visited by the Bishop, who writes respecting it (March 24, 1860)—

I enjoyed much my long-talked-of visit to the good Archdeacon and Mrs. Cockran, where I held a confirmation on Sunday, March 4th. They have now a good and regular congregation, and I was much struck by the devotional manner of the people during service, and their excellent music. The number presented for confirmation was thirty-three: out of these, twenty-six were from the settlers, seven from the Indians. There is still a good deal of want among the people, from three successive failures of the crops there; but with a good harvest this year, should God graciously so grant, they would then be established and comfortable. The settlers now extend over thirteen miles on the side of the present church, and, about half way, another church is planned, and the wood hauled. The Archdeacon, with his usual activity, hopes to get it finished before winter: he has given 100*l.* towards it, to which, as the Committee may have noticed in my charge, I have given a similar sum from the Rupert's-Land Diocesan Fund. Four miles in the other direction above the church is an Indian settlement, where the Archdeacon preaches every Sunday, and where, after a time, an Indian or native minister will be necessary. I have promised the Indians some help in the way of seed, and trust they may more and more be able to settle down around the spot. I baptized five, but they were chiefly young persons, the children of those already connected with us. With a leading Indian, Pechito, I had two very long conversations, and think he will soon give himself up, as he has already his children. Indeed, he said that he was willing to be baptized, but annexed to it so singular a condition, that I could scarcely comply. It was, that I should take him to England for the purpose, and there baptize him in the largest church, by doing which he would become a great man, and I would also become very great from baptizing him. He would like it then to be certified on the door of the church that "in it Pechito was baptized." Such is human vanity. He is, however, a shrewd Indian, and, I think, is gradually imbibing more of the Gospel. I find him more tractable and teachable than four years ago, if this foolish idea had not entered his mind.

WESTBOURNE.

This settlement is still in progress of formation. The number of Indians amounts to thirty-five, with the prospect of a gradual increase. A small chapel and school have been erected, and Indians from a distance have visited the place, and have received Christian instruction.

ISLINGTON.

The out-station of Islington is under the charge of the native minister, the Rev. Robert M'Donald. The great scarcity of the means of support is a drawback upon the progress of the Indians. The number at the station is thirty-six; but the Indians at Lac Seul, and at other places, are occasionally visited, and a few resort to the station for Christian instruction from a distance, so that the church has on one occasion had a congregation of forty-five persons.

Fort Pelly is under the charge of the Rev. James Settee, another native minister, but no late report has been received of its progress.

II. MANITOBA DISTRICT.

This district is under the charge of the Rev. W. Stagg. The station bears the name of Fairford. The Bishop reports that it was subjected to one of those trials which beset the early stage of a Mission before the people are established in the faith, and which sorely distress the Missionary, and call for sympathy and prayers on his behalf. He writes March 24, 1860—

There has been a kind of panic at Fairford among the Indians. A wandering Indian visited the station, and, by propagating downright and shameless falsehoods, succeeded in turning away some from the faith. He even succeeded with the chief Papamas, in whom we all had the greatest confidence. Among the stories, sought to be propagated, was the tale that Pigwys had renounced Christianity, which was the purest invention. I look upon it as a temporary temptation of the great adversary, and have little doubt that, when the truth is known, and they find out how grossly they have been deceived, they will humble themselves, and again turn to the Lord. It has given Mr. Stagg great sorrow, and prevented him from meeting me, as he had hoped, at La Prairie, a fortnight ago.

The chief Pigwys, on hearing of this false report, wrote the following letter to the people of Fairford—

Chief's House, Red River, March 5, 1860.

The Chief Pigwys to the Indians of Fairford, health :

MY FRIENDS,—I am indeed very sorry that any thing should have been said to you that I had not said. My friends, do you not remember that when I got into the boat I turned round to you and took off my cap, and told you to be strong and embrace Christianity—to be sure to take hold of God's instruction, and never let it go? I have taken it, will hold it, and will never let it go. Health to you, my friends, health to all who pray. Be strong in prayer. Don't be afraid. Don't fear any thing. God's mark is upon you; why then should you fear? He will protect you.

Health, my friends,

Mr. Stagg gives the following review of his station in his annual letter at the close of 1860—

As regards our converts, if I were to write from the impulse of the moment, I should sometimes appear quite in despair, at other times full of hope; but in taking a fair retrospect, I feel I must write encouragingly. My people have been as regular as usual in attending the means of grace, and have acted consistently in abstaining from labour on the Sabbath day; and in bringing forward their children for Christian baptism. They remain near us for the most part of the year, never travelling far from the station; and it is very pleasing to notice their growing attachment for a civilized life. If they have been exposed to temptation, and for the most part stood firm, I feel that it is very encouraging. Some have given us pain, but others have convinced us that the root of the matter is in them. We have not made any great inroad upon heathenism. The enemy is still near us, and it seems sometimes as much as we can do to keep our ground. However, one by one are gathered in. We had one delightful Sabbath, when six adults were admitted to the church by baptism. I also baptized one at Duck Bay. I trust God will yet permit us to see more of the fruit of our labours. But there seems to be much against us at this time. The natives are very unsettled, as changes are expected in the government of the country. Satan is not idle at such a time; and he will not only endeavour to secure what he still holds, but he will also try to regain some of the ground he has lost.

Our schools are tolerably well attended, and we often feel encouraged with the progress of the children; but it is one of our chief difficulties to get our people to exercise that parental authority necessary to secure a regular attendance at school. The children too often have their own way, and are allowed to run about as they please, and I have sometimes to go out in search of them.

I have never seen my people so anxious to build and settle. Two large houses have been built this summer, besides smaller ones. Even some of the heathen begged me to assist them in building houses, promising, if I would do so, they would send their children to school. We give what help we can, but we cannot go beyond our means. We are thankful to your Committee for their kindness, and we do feel much encouraged by the kind assistance given by many other dear Christian friends, some not known to us personally.

III. CUMBERLAND DISTRICT.

This district has been under the charge of the Rev. E. A. Watkins, who in addition to the duties of the station, makes Missionary tours into the surrounding country. His journal reports the following visit to Cumberland House—

March 14—Early this morning I reached home, after paying another visit to Cumberland House, for which place I started on the 2d instant. Four days have been occupied in travelling, and the remaining nine in accomplishing the object of my trip. Each day I have kept school, which has generally been attended by all the children of the establishment, in number seventeen; but on no occasion have I had less than fourteen. On the two Sundays which I spent at the Fort I instructed them for a much shorter time than on other days, as the duties more especially connected with my ministerial office required my principal attention. In addition to the Sunday school, I had two services, one in English, and the other in Cree, both of which were well attended, the number varying from twenty to twenty-seven adults, besides several children of various ages. I felt much pleasure in again having the opportunity of preaching Christ and Him crucified to these people, though I am thankful to say that, since my visit to them last December, their spiritual privileges have been greater than previously to that time, as the chief trader has consented to conduct public worship every Sunday morning. When not engaged with the school children I spent a good deal of time in preparing boards, and writing on them in printing characters some reading lessons, spelling lessons, and numbers, so as to assist in the work of conveying instruction, as there were but few books. Unfortunately I did not meet with any Indians at the Post, except those employed by the Company; but I was glad to visit the families of the servants in their cottages. They received me very willingly, and, I may say, cordially. One of the young men promised to teach the children of the school every Sunday, both morning and afternoon. I feel much indebted to him for his offer thus to devote his time to a work which calls for much self-denial.

At the close of the year Mr. Watkins writes in his annual letter —

My spirit has been refreshed two or three times during the year by cases of anxious inquiry after salvation, and I have been able to admit a few fresh persons into the number of our communicants. I have also had the privilege of making some little inroads on the surrounding heathenism by the baptism of four adults during the course of the year. Thus the work of the Lord seems to be progressing, and though its advance is not rapid, yet it is sufficiently marked to enable us to thank God and take courage.

Early in June I paid a visit to the Grand Rapids at the mouth of the Saskachewan, where I remained sixteen days tenting with the heathen Indians, engaged day by day in purely Missionary work amongst them. I met with no decided opposition, though there was with many of the people an evident reluctance to listen to my remarks. One or two persons, however, paid very marked attention, and I trust the Lord may open their hearts to receive the truth for the salvation of their souls. As far as I can ascertain, this is the first time any Missionary has sojourned for a few days amongst the wretched Indians, who are in the habit of making this spot their summer resting-place. In the month of September I again visited Moose Lake, where I found a considerable body of Indians assembled. I spent five days sitting with them in their tents, endeavouring to bring the truths of the Gospel to bear upon their consciences. Some openly confessed that they did not wish to change their religion; others heard me somewhat reluctantly; but two or three listened attentively, and I would hope and pray that their souls might be instructed by the Holy Spirit, and that they might be led to Jesus their Saviour. My last Missionary journey was in the month of December, when I again visited Cumberland House. I saw several of the Christian Indians, and administered the Lord's Supper to them. My stay was much shorter than usual, as a schoolmaster is stationed there this winter, who, besides his particular duties as connected with the children, conducts one English and two Indian services weekly.

NEPOWEWIN.

This out-station has been under the care of the native minister, the Rev. Henry Budd, who reports, Aug. 8, 1860—

Since the beginning of the year I have entered into the church by baptism, another family of Indians. There are others yet who will have to be admitted soon. Thus they are coming in by families, though they do not come by hundreds. The few converts go on well, and regularly attend the means of grace. Their number increases steadily.

Our school is still very encouraging. The children are generally willing to learn, and the Indians do not hinder their children from coming to the school. We want a teacher very much. The Indians cannot remain at the place because they have no means of living. They have, therefore, to go back to the woods and hunt for their living. It is only by going out with them, and following them to the camps that we can have any large numbers of them to preach to. Those of them who remain in our neighbourhood are only few in number compared with those who are away. I long to go out after them, and remain in their camps, teaching them and their children. But this I cannot do till some one comes and keeps the school going, with the work already accomplished.

At the close of the year, Mr. Budd adds, in his annual letter—

We are often encouraged in meeting with individuals “whose hearts the Lord hath opened.” We have lately had a band of Crees come in (whom, judging from appearance, I had expected they would be among the last to forsake the superstitions of their forefathers) to be instructed in that very word which they have so long held in contempt. They have travelled some hundreds of miles since we saw them last, about three months ago, and they have found their way to us. This band of Indians come daily to our evening prayers, and attend very regularly. We are trying to teach them in the knowledge of salvation through a crucified Saviour; and, Sabbath by Sabbath, we are preaching to them of the riches of redeeming love. They make a considerable addition to our congregation, and I should hope to baptize them, and all their children with them, soon after they have been sufficiently instructed in the design and requirements of the sacred rite. We have just sixty now in our books baptized, and those preparing for baptism will make nearly the same number in all, young and old.

IV. ENGLISH-RIVER DISTRICT.

The Rev. R. Hunt, in his annual letter at the close of 1860, reviews the results of the labours of the Missionaries in the English-River district since its commencement, Aug. 1852; from which it appears that the whole number of baptisms has been, 284 Crees, and 112 Chipewyans—total, 396. The proportion of the whole number who reside in the neighbourhood of the station, to which the name of Stanley has been given, is small, consisting only of those who can be induced to erect cottages and to cultivate the ground. The greater number go out in hunting parties, forming "camps," for many months together, and only returning occasionally to the Company's Fort to bring their furs, and visiting the station to join the ordinances of grace, and to receive instruction in the school. The following are extracts from Mr. Hunt's letter—

The Indians in connexion with the Company's Fort and the Mission station are, for the most part, in as comfortable physical circumstances as a non-agricultural clime and soil can afford them. Their general religious character and habits, considering their roving life, abundantly repay the labour and expense that disinterested Christian love has bestowed upon them. The births very greatly exceed the number of deaths.

There is a boarding and day school of thirty regular, and forty occasional attendants—total, seventy; and an evening adult school of thirty-four, whose attendance is necessarily irregular. There are daily early morning and evening prayer and services in the school-room; and a church is approaching completion, which, according to the Bishop's description, "will be much the prettiest church yet raised in Rupert's land."

It is impossible to follow each band and solitary individual in their wide wildernesses, or to collect them together for any length of time at many central localities, unless many more than the present number of well-educated agents can be sent out to master the numerous languages of the Indians, and to translate the Holy Scriptures into them, and to superintend their distribution by a seven-fold number of itinerant agents. The Scriptures must be printed in such simple characters as the Indians themselves may quickly decipher with a little assistance from the distributor.

Here, as in many other Missions of the Society, the Church of Rome is actively engaged in counteracting our labours. "Numbers (writes Mr. Hunt) of Roman-Catholic priests, and Brothers and Sisters of Charity, are elbowing us on every side, and trying, successfully in some few instances, to defame the labours of the Society, and induce our people to be re-baptized by them into the Church of Rome." In consequence of these aggressions, Mr. Hunt has been compelled to enter into a public controversy with one of the priests for the vindication of the scriptural statement of Divine truth. The Committee are happy to add, that the Rev. T. T. Smith will (D.V.) join Mr. Hunt in the course of the present summer as a fellow-labourer, with an especial view to his studying the Chipewyan language, and also to enable Mr. Hunt to visit England after his long and complete isolation, labours, and privations in his present station.

V. MACKENZIE-RIVER DISTRICT.

At the commencement of the year 1860, the Rev. W. W.

Kirkby was occupying the most northern outposts of the Rupert's-Land Mission at Fort Simpson on the Mackenzie River. He had reached that station in the summer of 1859, upon Archdeacon Hunter's return to the Red River: after ten months, his wife and family joined him. His position as a solitary Protestant Missionary in a district comprising 1000 square miles, over which the Indians, who are the objects of his care, rove on their fishing and hunting excursions, is rendered the more trying from the extensive and unwearied efforts of Rome to occupy the same field, and to prejudice the Indians against the religion of the Bible. An extract from the journal of Archdeacon Hunter at the Red River (July 30, 1860), will serve to place these circumstances in a strong light—

A boat left the Lower Fort this afternoon with the newly-arrived Roman-Catholic bishop for the north, accompanied by several priests, nuns, and brothers, on their way to Isle-à-la-Crosse, Athabasca, and Mackenzie River. Here we see the zeal and untiring perseverance of the church of Rome. We can only send out one solitary Missionary, the Rev. W. W. Kirkby, for the whole of the Mackenzie-River district, while the church of Rome sends her bishops, priests, nuns, and brothers. We at least require two active and zealous men for the north, to occupy the most prominent stations, before the church of Rome fills them up.

Speaking of Fort Liard, in the Mackenzie-River Mission, Mr. Kirkby writes, Nov. 30, 1859—"The priest sent a whole cargo of crucifixes, beads, &c., there this fall; but the whole of the Indians refused to take them. The chief told Francis Hoole, who was the vendor of them, that he had spoken to a minister already (meaning yourself), and that he had promised to send a teacher to them, and therefore he did not want these things: at least, he would wait to see what the teacher said when he came. How well that you went there; and what a pity if we lose the place so open for us. If we could only secure Fort Liard and Fort Rae, the district would yet be ours; for from these points, with this (Fort Simpson), we could see all the Indians. Use every effort, therefore, to get these two places filled as soon as possible."

A few extracts from the last journal received from Mr. Kirkby will show the readiness of the Indians to listen to the tidings of salvation—

March 25: Lord's-day—From the arrival of visitors and packet-men my little room was well filled this morning; and as Mr. M'Farlane is to go down to build the Fort to be established among the Esquimaux, we thought it best to baptize At-tong-an-eh, and the Loucheux boy from Peel's River, this morning, that he might be able to report the same to their friends. The girl was named Maria Ross, and the boy William Flett; and my earnest prayer is, that they may be truly regenerate by God's Holy Spirit, and then will they prove a real blessing to their respective tribes. Maria is the first Esquimaux that has been taken from these quarters, and the boy is the first Loucheux, I believe, that has ever been thus dedicated to the Lord. Oh that they may prove as first-fruits of an abundant harvest that shall yet be gathered into the heavenly garner from their respective tribes!

In the course of one of Mr. Kirkby's Missionary excursions he writes—

June 4—Just as we arrived at the coal-beds a large party of Nahannic Indians from the Rocky Mountains came down the river in small canoes, each one manufactured from a single piece of pine bark. They were thirty in all, and we instantly returned to the Fort with them. They had their wives and families with them, which the Bear-Lake Indians had not. They are not bad-looking, and were all of them dressed in clothes manufactured from the hide of the mountain goat. The men had their faces painted with stripes of vermilion. They are the first Indians I have seen in the district who use paint in any way. They finished their trade by four o'clock, and at six they all attended Divine service with the other Indians, when they heard, for the first time in their lives, the glorious news of salvation.

July 2—We wished, and very much tried to reach the Big Island yesterday evening, but were unable. We therefore encamped a few miles below it, and arrived here this morning about four o'clock. A great number of Indians were present. I asked Mr. Reid for the use of the Fort, and permission for them to attend, which were readily granted. Afterwards I went to the Indians, to invite any who felt disposed to attend, and, no less to my astonishment than delight, in less than ten minutes the room was perfectly full. I addressed them for about an hour, through the Fort interpreter, and concluded with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer in the native tongue. In a while afterwards I was called to breakfast, and before that was finished the interpreter came in to say that the room was again filled with Indians, and that they had sent him to ask me to come to speak to them. I went immediately, and had a second service, and, at the close of that, some of them asked me to visit their tents, to see some sick relatives who were there; and when I embarked upwards of fifty accompanied me to the boat, and assured me, that if I would promise to address them again on my way down, they would endeavour to be at the Fort at that time. Thankful was I for an opportunity of assuring them that it would be my greatest delight to make known unto them the wonders of redeeming love as often as I could.

VI. YORK FACTORY.

In consequence of Mr. Mason's detention in England for the completion of the whole Bible in the Cree language, and in the Syllabic characters, which he is carrying through the press at the expense of the British and Foreign Bible Society, the Rev. J. P. Gardiner continues to occupy his post at York Factory. He has a small settled congregation of Europeans and Indians connected with the settlement, whose instruction afford him employment during the season when travelling is impossible. Numerous companies of Indians also visit the Fort for trade; and there are the out-stations of Fort Churchill on the north, and Berens River on the south, which are occasionally visited by the Missionaries from York.

The following extracts from Mr. Gardiner's journal afford a graphic description of his visit to Fort Churchill, and his intercourse with the Chipewyans, and the Esquimaux in those parts—

June 30, 1860—Two Chipewyan Indians arrived from Churchill this morning with a packet. In a short time they called on me; and one of them, who spoke a little Cree, said, after the usual salutation, "We were very much disappointed at not seeing you in the spring. You wrote and told us you were coming, and we waited, and looked long, very long, for you, and were very sorry not to see you." I told them I could not go because I could not get any one to go with me who knew the way. They then asked me if I was coming to Churchill this summer to remain with them; and when I told them that as Mr. Mason was not returning to the country this year, I must remain at York another winter, they appeared very sorry, and said, "I suppose we are never to hear the word of God. The white men have promised us a minister for many years, always saying there is one coming soon; but we have not seen him yet. We are dying fast, and do not know where we are going, and no one will come to tell us what will become of us after death." I cannot express what I felt for these poor men. Never in my life have I seen woe depicted more strongly upon the countenance of a fellow-creature than what I saw upon the faces of these men while speaking the above. I told them that I intended visiting Fort Churchill this summer by the schooner, and hoped I should see some of the Indians then. They said, "There are more than thirty men, about half-way between here and Churchill, waiting for the schooner, to see if you are coming by it, and they will be very sorry when they hear you are not going to stay there."

These two men were with me the greater part of the day; and, with John Dunning, formerly of Churchill, who can speak a little Chipewyan, as interpreter, I was enabled to tell them much about the Gospel plan of salvation.

While talking this evening about the Indians, the thought struck me that it would be a good opportunity to visit them at once, by walking to Churchill with these men, through the swamps and across the rivers, and return by the schooner. By going now I shall have two, and perhaps three weeks with them ; but if I wait for the schooner it will only allow me a few days. Looking at the matter in this light, and talking it over with Mrs. Gardiner, I resolved to go. I sent for the Indians, and told them of my determination ; and I am sure it would have done any one's heart good to have seen the faces of these men : the joy they felt they were unable to express ; but they said in broken English, " Thank you, thank you, thank you."

I have accomplished the difficult journey of about 200 miles better, on the whole, than I expected when leaving home. It has certainly been hard work. I thought my journey to Berens River, in the spring of 1858, difficult, but snow-shoe walking is a pleasure compared to wading through swamps and rivers, as I have the last nine days. During the whole time my principal food has been biscuit and butter, and I have drunk nothing but tea or water the whole way. I have much cause for gratitude to my heavenly Father for health and strength ; for though so much exposed and so often wet, I have taken no cold, and I can truly say my soul has been eminently blessed on the way. I have enjoyed sweet communion with God, and my mind has dwelt much on heavenly and divine things.

Mr. Gardiner's intercourse with the Chipewyans at this station was not very encouraging. They appeared to be distracted through the efforts amongst them of the church of Rome, and through the difficulties they encountered in obtaining subsistence. His last intercourse with them is thus described—

In the afternoon I assembled the Chipewyans : there were a great many of them, and it was very inconvenient, as the room was hardly half large enough to contain them comfortably. They sat on the floor as close to each other as they possibly could, and then the next room was nearly full. I spoke to them nearly three hours. They said, " While you speak, your words do us good, but we fear we shall not remember them long after we leave."

The Esquimaux appear, both from the testimony of Mr. Gardiner and of other Missionaries, to be a more intelligent and promising race. Mr. Gardiner's first interview with a party of them is thus described—

After dinner I walked to the Esquimaux tents, a distance of about four miles, accompanied by my host, Mr. Dunning, and Ooligbuck, my Esquimaux interpreter. We found them all busy at work making their canoes. I told them the purpose for which I had come, and asked them if they were willing to listen to me while I told them a little about the God who made them. They laughed (which is their custom when spoken to), and said yes, but still went on with their work. In a few minutes they went into one of the tents, and there I spoke to above forty of these interesting people of the message of mercy. They were very attentive, and when I left off speaking they talked a good deal among themselves of what I had said. They answered most of the questions I asked them very quickly. They grasp an idea much quicker than the Chipewyans. They appear to have no religious ideas at all. I asked one of them, who appeared to be more intelligent than the rest, where he thought he should go to after death. He pointed upwards, and said, "There," but could not give me any reason for such a supposition. Only one of those present had seen a minister before, and heard the story of God's love to man. Oh that the Spirit of God might bless this first message of mercy to their souls! When we were leaving, one of them presented me with a pair of Esquimaux winter shoes.

Before Mr. Gardiner returned to York he had the happiness of baptizing his native interpreter.]

July 22: Lord's day—At the close of the service I married Ooligbuck, after I had baptized him, his wife, and two children. This is the first of the Esquimaux here who has professed to receive Christianity. May many of his countrymen be led by the teachings of the Holy Spirit to the knowledge of the truth. Some of the Esquimaux were present, and witnessed his baptism and marriage, so I spoke to them on the subject for about an hour.

VII. JAMES-BAY DISTRICT.

At the period of the last Report two Missionaries were labouring at this station, the Rev. Messrs. Horden and Fleming. Mr. Fleming's health, however, gave way during the spring of 1860; and upon the Bishop's visit to the station it was found necessary that he should immediately return to England. The Bishop admitted the native catechist, Mr. W. Vincent, to deacons' orders. In a letter written by the Bishop on his return from Moose Fort, he says—

It was very delightful to find the high degree of respect in which these two ministers were held by all at Moose. The terms of affection and regard for them were universal. Mr. Horden has the same energy, the same versatility, the same administrative power, turning to the best account all around him, and suffering none to remain idle. And Mr. Fleming has, in his short ministry, gained the love of all, and thus has increased the sympathy which is felt for him under the deep affliction with which God has visited him.

Mr. Horden thus recounts his labours during the year in his annual letter at its close—preparing candidates for confirmation, and Mr. Vincent for ordination. For confirmation I had above thirty candidates, the greater part of whom were to be examined in English, in which language they read and write very well, and of the whole one only was unable to read: this shows much advance in knowledge, and is, I trust, but an earnest of what may yet be attained. All appeared impressed with the responsibility of the act of dedicating themselves anew to God. In preparing Mr. Vincent I experienced deep pleasure, for he has been my fellow-labourer for several years, and he has shown himself well qualified for imparting instruction to his countrymen.

It was on July 5th that our good bishop made his appearance amongst us, and it was with great joy we greeted his arrival, for no man can be more beloved by a people than his lordship is by the residents of Moose. He was very busily engaged while here: he made several calls at our schools, and he examined the pupils: he examined all the candidates for confirmation, visited all my people at their respective homes, and made all the necessary arrangements for the future management of this Mission.

Mr. Horden has sent home translations of Watts's Bible and Gospel History into Saulteaux, and of the same work into the East Main, or Moose Fort dialect of Cree; together with Watts's First Catechism in the latter language. They are being printed in the Syllabic characters by the Rev. William Mason.

ALBANY.

The Rev. W. Vincent, after his ordination, removed to Albany, where his first work was to build himself a log-house. He immediately, however, commenced three services on each Sunday, one in English, and two in Indian; together with evening classes during three evenings in the week. Mr. Vincent writes—

My sphere of labour extends for 550 miles into the interior. Next spring, God willing, I purpose to visit Martin's Falls, a distance of 300 miles from Albany: the spring following, I hope to proceed to Osnaburgh. The Indians of these two parts are all of the Saulteaux tribe: their desire to embrace Christianity is increasing, and I look forward with pleasure to proclaim to them, in their own language, the unsearchable riches of Christ.

VIII. FORT SIMPSON—SHORES OF THE PACIFIC.

The Committee are happy to report that they have been able to send a fellow-labourer to assist Mr. Duncan in his very important and successful labours amongst the Indians of British Columbia, the Rev. L. S. Tugwell having arrived there in August 1860.

The early part of the year was spent by Mr. Duncan in ministering to the Indians in the neighbourhood of Fort Simpson, and in visiting those at a distance. His journal contains many touching incidents, showing both the willingness of the Indians to receive instruction, and the urgent need which exists to give them that instruction; lest the progress of European settlers, in their search for gold, introduce the various destructive evils, which have ever attended the contact of the civilized and the uncivilized races, where there has been no corrective influence of the preaching of a pure Gospel.

In the early part of the year Mr. Duncan received letters from the Governor and Bishop of British Columbia, inviting him to visit Victoria, Vancouver's Island, with the view of taking measures for the instruction of the Indians in that vicinity. Mr. Duncan gives the following account of his visit to Victoria, and its results—

I had long deplored, before God and my friends, the ruin which I could see had set in upon these tribes since the rush of whites to Victoria, and the discovery of gold up the Fraser's River. Every fresh account I heard of Victoria showed me that the condition of the Indians there was becoming worse and worse; and I felt convinced, that unless something was done, our work up here could not be expected to prosper. While I alone was trying to do them good here, a thousand bad men were tempting, corrupting, and brutalizing them at Victoria. Consequently, as an opportunity was afforded to me in May last, I started for Victoria, and arrived there on the 28th, having had a free passage granted me by the Hudson's-Bay Company.

On my arrival, I found about 3000 Indians congregated there from various quarters, and living in the most deplorable state. Both males and females were giving themselves up to drunkenness and riot.

Neither the Bishop nor Capt. Prevost were at Victoria when I arrived. The Bishop was making a tour of Fraser's River, and was not expected back for two months. But as the Bishop had only got as far as New Westminster, seventeen miles up the river, I determined to go after him. I started on the night of the 29th, and arrived by steamer on the morning of the next day. As I was walking up the road to Colonel Moody's house, where the Bishop was staying, who should I meet but Captain Prevost. He also was residing at Colonel Moody's. When I tell you that I had not seen Captain Prevost since my leaving Victoria, in 1857, for Fort Simpson, and that I had heard the "Satellite" was expected to leave for England in a week or two, you may imagine what happiness it was to me to meet him once more. We knelt in prayer together, and blessed God for the mercies we had each received since we parted, and implored his grace and aid for future duties.

The Bishop also gave me a warm greeting, and we set on to talk over business at once, as he was to start up the river in the steamer that night. We agreed that it was absolutely necessary, for any Missionary prosperity up north, to start some work among the Indians at Victoria. The Bishop was quite prepared to carry on a work, if it were only begun. Who was to begin it? Any one going to do so, not knowing the Indian tongue, could not be expected to be of much use for some time. As I was the only person who could communicate with them in their own tongue, and being well known to the Indians, the work evidently fell upon me. I therefore promised the Bishop to do what I could for a little time, if some of my scholars could be brought to Victoria, and paid for while I carried on their education.

I started two Sunday services for the Tsimsheens: one in the morning I held as a kind of Sunday school, when about forty attended. In the afternoon I went into the camp, and assembled the Indians on a rock above their camp: about 200 to 250 attended.

On the 18th June the governor returned to Victoria. On the 21st I waited upon him, to talk over Indian affairs. I had prepared a plan, in fourteen propositions, for the bettering the condition of the Indians, to be laid before him. Almost the first thing he said was that he wished to have my assistance in getting the Indians away from Victoria, for they were unmanageable. I then told him the outline of the plan I had prepared; and without speaking a word more about driving them away, he declared his intention to carry out my scheme. He then wished me to ride out at once to the Indian camp with him. We went; and, through me, he made a speech to two crowds, and told the chiefs to meet him at the Government House on the following day. They came; and he laid before them the parts of the plan of organization which he was about to introduce among them. I interpreted. The Indians received the message with seeming goodwill. Since that, in addition to my Sunday duties, I have been assisting the Governor to carry out the scheme; and I truly hope that, by another summer, we shall find it fairly started.

My duties have kept me with the Indians from morn till night. They so appreciate my exertions for their temporal affairs, that many have come to receive religious instruction who would otherwise have stayed away.

The Indians are continually coming to me with their troubles, and seem very glad of my assistance. I also succeeded in getting several into good places as servants. I have reason to be very thankful to God for his directing me here, and guiding and prospering my way. Had I not have come, most probably the Indians would have been driven away from Victoria, and that might have led to a quarrel, and then a war; and we should have had a repetition of the misery and trouble the Americans have experienced with the Indians in their western territories.

A school-house has been built. We had a public Missionary meeting on June 10th, which was well attended, Captain Prevost in the chair: 65*l.* was collected, and the governor made it up to 100*l.* We have also built a master's house. When the Bishop returned, he found nearly both complete, to his no small delight. He at once subscribed 30*l.*

On Sunday, the 12th of August, we held an Indian service in the school-house. The new Missionary, Mr. Tugwell, was present. We sang a hymn in the Tsimshcean tongue first, then one in English. Then the Bishop offered up prayer; after which he addressed the Indians. I interpreted. They sang again. Then I addressed them.

After the arrival of Mr. Tugwell at Victoria, Mr. Duncan returned with him to Fort Simpson. An interview which Mr. Duncan had with a captain of one of the men-of-war, cruising upon that coast for the protection of the British subjects, will illustrate a truth which the history of Missions in every other country confirms, namely, that the influence of the Gospel upon the most savage races is the best precursor of civilization and of legitimate commerce—

Aug. 19—This evening we arrived at Fort Rupert, and found H.M.S. "Plumper" in the harbour. Went on board, and was warmly greeted by Captain Richards, who astonished me by saying that he had just been writing about me to the admiral. I read his despatch. It stated that he had had some trouble with the Indians of that place, and at a large gathering they had asked him why Mr. Duncan was not sent to teach them, and then insisted upon the injustice of my being sent over their heads to the Tsimshcean Indians. During my conversation with Captain Richards, he said the business he had just had with the Indians convinced him that it was not our ships of war that were wanted up this coast, but Missionaries. The Indian's ignorance of our power, and strong confidence in his own, in addition to his natural savage temper, render him unfit to be dealt with at present by stern and unyielding men-of-war, unless his destruction be contemplated, which of course is not. "Then," asked the captain, "why do not more men come out, since your Mission has been so successful; or, if Missionary Societies cannot afford them, why do not the Government send out fifty, and place them up the coast at once? Surely it would not be difficult to find fifty good men in England willing to engage in such a work. And their expenses would almost be nothing compared with the cost which the country must sustain to subdue the Indians by arms." Such are the earnest sentiments of one of Her Majesty's naval captains while among the Indians.

Mr. Tugwell, upon his arrival, was much impressed with the progress which, through God's blessing, had been made in the Mission. "How I wish," he writes, "the friends of Missions in England could see Mr. Duncan's congregation on the Sunday. They would indeed 'thank God, and take courage. I have never seen an English congregation more orderly and attentive. With but few exceptions, both the children and adults come clean and neatly dressed. The children sing several hymns very sweetly—a morning and evening hymn, composed by Mr. Duncan, a hymn to our Saviour, and another, beginning, 'Jesus is my Saviour,' 'Here we suffer grief and pain,' &c., and some others in English, also one in Tsimshéan, composed by Mr. Duncan. I long to be able to speak to them in their own tongue. It is most painful to see the poor Indians around one, and to be unable to speak to them of that precious name whereby alone they can be saved. The Indians all up the coast are crying out for teachers—'Come over, and help us.' Now seems to be the propitious moment: soon hundreds, yea, thousands, of the poor Indians will have perished."

Mr. Duncan, in a letter dated October 25th, has suggested the desirableness of opening a Mission station at Metlahkah, the old home of the Indians, about fifteen miles from Fort Simpson. He estimates that there are in British Columbia (between the parallels of  $49^{\circ}$  and  $54^{\circ} 40'$  north latitude) four distinct tribes of Indians, speaking different languages, and each numbering about 10,000 souls.

The first of these great branches of the Indian family are met with at Victoria and on the Fraser River. Among these, the Columbian Mission is supporting two Missionaries. The second branch is located about a hundred miles north of Victoria, and round Fort Rupert at the north end of Vancouver's Island. Among these no Missionary has been established. The third division of Indians is settled at Fort Simpson, Nass River, Skeener River, and on the islands of the coast. These are the Tsimshéans, to whom the steps of Messrs. Duncan and Tugwell have been directed. Besides these, there are, fourthly, the Indians on Queen Charlotte's Island, among whom there is no Missionary.

Mr. Duncan is most anxious that another Missionary should be sent to the Tsimshéans, that he may be set at liberty to break up new ground at Fort Rupert, or on Queen Charlotte's Island. He thinks the present moment must be seized upon, for European vices are making great inroads, and creating terrible havoc, both physically and morally, among the people. Now, he says, is the time or never.

CONCLUSION.

THE Committee select one feature in their review of the proceedings of the past year, full of encouragement and instruction, for their concluding remarks—a feature not unrecognised in former Annual Reports, but remarkably developed during the last few years, throughout the whole Mission field. This feature is, the spontaneous action of natives both in seeking and spreading the truth. Sometimes the reading of God’s blessed word by an intelligent heathen or Mohammedan, as in the case of the Agra and Benares converts and the Sikh soldier, so quickens his soul, that he seeks out the distant Missionary to be instructed more perfectly in the way of truth. Sometimes, as in South India, the personal labours of the Missionary are multiplied through the voluntary evangelistic efforts of the more zealous converts. Sometimes, as in Aurungabad in Western India, and in the neighbourhood of Meerut in Northern India, and at Bezvara in Southern India, and among the coolies in Ceylon,—the progress of the truth is apparently independent of the foreign Missionary, and resembles the spontaneous growth in the vegetable world, when the question arises, Who sowed seed in this spot?

This is the same feature which has been exhibited in magnificent proportions, among the native converts of Madagascar, and among the Karens of Burmah.

This feature has become so marked and important at the present day as to excite in the minds of your Committee the inquiry whether we are not entering upon a new era of Missions; whether we may not apply the Divine illustration,—“When the fig-tree putteth forth her leaves, ye know that the summer is at hand.”

This feature in Missions among the heathen becomes more significant when viewed in connexion with the revival movement in many parts of Christendom, and now extended to North Tinnevely and Jamaica. Amidst many open questions connected with the subject of revivals, all must allow that it has at least taught the Christian church the force of a spontaneous movement amongst a Christian people. It has shown that the bringing in of sinners to the fold of Christ, when once taken up in earnest by the people themselves, places the minister in a new position. The work enlarges far beyond the sphere of his individual influence. He has no longer to go out and tell them that were bidden that all things are ready, or to go into the highways and hedges and compel them to come in, but guests press around him for seats at the marriage supper.

These two remarkable features, concurrent at the present day at home and abroad, bear, as your Committee believe, the stamp of a Divine dispensation,—of the first-fruits of a general outpouring of the Holy Spirit.

Your Committee therefore venture, when resigning their functions, to encourage their successors about to be appointed, to a humble but hopeful waiting upon the Lord for the lighting down of his arm; and to be ready to follow up the work of his Holy Spirit, awakening the consciences of men, by sending forth a prompt and needful supply of suitable European agency—to guide, counsel, and encourage, but not to supersede the spontaneous action of native inquirers and converts.

Here the Committee ground their appeal to the Christian public for continued and for greatly increased liberality, that there may be no lack of resources for entering in at each providential opening, as the Lord gradually unfolds before us nis grand design for establishing the kingdom of Christ throughout the whole earth.

Here, also, the Committee ground their appeal to Christian young men and to the younger clergy. This spontaneous action to which they have referred must become one day the independent action of a National Church. It needs, therefore, and will need for many years, to be leavened with wisdom and experience supplied from elder churches. Let the mother church impart to her daughters all the benefits which she derives from education, from exegetical skill, from her literature of practical Christianity, and from her various institutions for order and for edification: all these appliances will be needed to build up a native church upon solid foundations, and to enable it to attain to that vigorous manhood when it may take its position as an independent church, and act the part admirably expressed by the framers of our own national Liturgy in these memorable words—"We think it convenient that every country should use such ceremonies as they shall think best to the setting forth of God's honour and glory, and to the reducing of the people to a most perfect and godly living, without error or superstition." This adaptation of Christian institutions by a native Church to its national wants is the full development and crowning act of the principle of spontaneous action, which is the element of hope in the commencement of Missionary operations.

This is the enterprise which the Committee propose to Missionary candidates, thus to aid the infant churches of Africa and the East, in their struggles towards maturity;—an enterprise inviting the consecration of the best talents, and the most fervent zeal, of all who seek the glory of Christ in the full establishment of his universal dominion.

APPENDIX I.

THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA AND THE CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT
IN THE 24TH REGIMENT OF THE PUNJAB NATIVE INFANTRY.

THE circumstances of a Christian movement among the Muzzabee Sikhs who formed the 24th Regiment Punjab Native Infantry were described in an Occasional Paper, issued by the Church Missionary Society in the early part of the year 1860. (Occasional Papers on India, No. VIII.)

It was therein stated that the men, having met with Christian books among the spoils of Delhi, had spontaneously applied to their officers for further information upon the subject of Christianity; that some of their officers had assisted the inquiries of their men, and had invited the Missionaries of the Society to visit the regiment; that a Christian school had been established in the regimental lines; and that four of the men had been baptized.

It was further stated that the whole movement was suddenly arrested in consequence of the interference of the Governor-General in Council; that the officers withdrew from all active assistance to the inquiries of the men; that the school was broken up; that the Missionaries were deprived of the facilities which they had enjoyed, and that the spirit of inquiry was checked; that these lamentable results were in consequence of an Order which the commanding-officer of the regiment understood as prohibiting officers from pursuing the course they had hitherto taken, and which caused the men to fear that they should incur the displeasure of the Government by embracing Christianity.

The Committee, before they published these facts, sought further information from several Civil and Military officers cognizant of the case, and used every means in their power to obtain a copy of the Order which had arrested the movement. One of the Vice-Presidents of the Society, at their suggestion, intimated to the Secretary of State for India his intention to move in Parliament for the production of the Order, but was informed that it had not reached the Home Government. The Committee therefore felt compelled to direct public attention to the case, by stating the actual effect of the Order on the testimony of two eye witnesses, being Missionaries of different Societies, who had visited the regiment both before and after the Order had been received.

The publication of the case has happily resulted in the restoration of liberty of action to the Christian officers in respect of Christian intercourse with their men. The Governor-General, having had his attention directed, by the Bishop of Calcutta, to the publication of the Society, instituted an inquiry, and then drew up an explanatory despatch to Her Majesty's Secretary for India (See p. 230), which repudiates the interpretation which had been put upon the previous Order, and allows that it "seems probable that it (the commanding-officer's communication of the Order) was misunderstood by the officers, and in consequence misrepresented to the Missionaries."

This despatch was made public in India at the same time that it was sent to England. It at once removed the restraint which had rested upon the officers and the men of the 24th Punjab Native Infantry. The spirit of inquiry, which had been arrested for fourteen months, in consequence of the first communication from Government, revived upon the publication of the second. The Missionaries found a new state of things upon their visits to the regiment. Inquirers came forward; several baptisms have taken place, and a church for the use of the converts is in course of erection.

The Committee are so well satisfied with the result of their remonstrance, that they would be willing to bear the censure of having brought forward a practical grievance which turns out to have arisen from the misinterpretation of an official document. But the despatch of the Governor-General in Council appears to cast upon the Society more serious charges. After giving the substance of the Society's statements, together with certain additional statements, gathered by inquiries of the Bishop of Calcutta ; and, grouping together all these statements, the despatch says—

"15. It is hardly necessary that we should point out how very large a proportion of misrepresentation is contained in the statements which have thus obtained currency. So far, indeed, as they refer to any orders issued by the Government, the whole story is entirely and absolutely without foundation, and even the verbal order which is stated to have been given by the commanding-officer of the 24th Regiment, affords no grounds whatever for such statements, as that the officers are prohibited from conversing with Christian natives, or from visiting them when sick, that Missionaries are not permitted to hold a service in a native Christian house in the lines, and that Christian soldiers have lower privileges than Mohammedan and Hindoo soldiers.

"16. Major Hovenden, who was the officer in command of the 24th Punjab Regiment last year, no longer holds that position ; and looking to the time which has elapsed, and to the circumstance that his communication to his officers was a verbal one, it would probably be difficult now to obtain any satisfactory assurance as to what the intention of his order really was. That it was misunderstood by the officers, and in consequence misrepresented to the Missionaries, seems probable ; but admitting this to have been the case, it cannot be held to justify the very specific statement which the latter have not hesitated to build upon it, one of them, it will have been observed, actually pledging himself to the very words of an Order which never had existence, either as coming from Government or from any other source."

To the charge of misrepresentation, thus alleged indiscriminately against the Society and against various other parties, no answer can be given but that the Committee are not aware of any misrepresentation on their part.

The more serious part of the charge, however, is that of giving currency to a "story entirely and absolutely without foundation." Upon a cursory reading of the paragraphs, it would appear as if the Government had never issued any Order whatever upon the Christian movement in the 24th Punjab Native Infantry. Yet other paragraphs of the same despatch speak of "a Government Order of May 1859." The Committee will give a copy of that document, which was transmitted to the commanding-officers of regiments in the Peshawur district, that every reader may judge how far the Society's statements are borne out by the facts of the case—

"No. 1130.

"MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

To the Officiating Adjutant-General of the Army.

"SIR,—1. I am desired to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, No. 281, of the 11th inst., submitting a copy of one from Captain Hovenden, commanding 24th Regiment Punjab Infantry, reporting that a strong tendency to embrace the Christian religion has manifested itself among some of the men of the corps.

"2. A perusal of this communication has led His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, to think that it will be advisable to warn officers commanding troops at Peshawur against using their authority in any way for the furtherance of conversion.—I am, &c.,

"K. J. H. BIRCH, Maj.-Gen.,

Secretary to Government of India.

Council Chambers,

Fort William, 23rd May 1859."

This document was forwarded officially, through the Adjutant-General's office, to Major Hovenden. Major Hovenden communicated what he conceived to be the purport of it verbally to the officers under his command ; namely, that they were to abstain from taking any part in satisfying the religious inquiries of their men. Here, therefore, is the foundation of "the whole story."

The Order, if read apart from the circumstances under which it was issued, may not indeed seem to convey any stringent prohibition; but it must be taken in connexion with those circumstances which are thus described in the despatch of the Governor-General in Council—

“2. The commanding-officer reported that four men had been baptized, and that a considerable number were in the habit of visiting the clergymen of the station. He added that he had thought it right to ascertain whether any ill-feeling had arisen in the regiment in consequence of this movement, and that his inquiries had satisfied him that the men who took no part in the movement were profoundly indifferent to it, and that he had thought it better, therefore, not to interfere in the matter.”

The commanding-officer would naturally expect to receive some reply to the question of “interference” raised in his report. He receives “No. 1130, Military Department,” without one word or hint of satisfaction at the events reported, or at the conduct pursued by the officers. It is obvious that he regarded it as an official warning against the conduct which the officers had been pursuing; and, so regarding it, the vagueness of the expression, “using authority in any way for the furtherance of conversion,” naturally suggested a total abstinence from encouraging the movement, as the only safe course. The Committee have reason to know that officers of the highest standing have declared that the inference of the commanding-officer was the interpretation which most military officers would put upon the Order, under the circumstances of the case.

This simple statement of facts exonerates the Society from having put forth a groundless charge against Government.

When, therefore, the Governor-General in Council, as it has been seen, writes—“So far as they (the statements of the Church Missionary Society and of other parties) refer to any orders issued by the Government, the whole story is entirely and absolutely without foundation:” and, again, “One of them” (the Missionaries) “pledging himself to the very words of an Order which never had existence, either as coming from Government, or from any other source:” these expressions can only be intended to convey an unusually strong affirmation that the interpretation put upon the Order by the military officers concerned in the case, as well as by many others, namely, as fettering their Christian action, was entirely and absolutely without foundation, and had no existence in the intention and opinion of Government.

The Committee of the Church Missionary Society are only too happy to receive this assurance, and to learn that it was not intended to discourage officers from Christian intercourse with their men. They would venture, however, to suggest—with all deference to the high authorities on whose despatch they have been compelled to remark—that upon so delicate a point of Christian duty as that of Christian intercourse between an officer of Government and his heathen dependants, it is impossible for Government to draw the line by any Order which will not be liable to such unforeseen consequences as have unhappily occurred in the present case. The Christian principles which inspire the breast of an officer with an interest in the religious state of his men will be the best safeguard against all undue exercise of authority or influence.

The Committee forbear to enlarge upon the subject of Christian intercourse between persons in official positions and their heathen dependants, because they are able to present a memorandum upon the very point at issue, by an officer of the Indian army of forty years’ experience in some of the highest official situations, which expresses all that the Committee could desire to state, with a weight and authority far beyond their own.

Memorandum by an Officer in the Indian Army on the conduct of European Officers towards Native Soldiers in respect of religious questions.

No Order has ever been promulgated that I am aware of, under the Madras Presidency, regulating the conduct of officers in relation either to Native Christians, in or out of the ranks, or to the Sepoys generally, upon questions of a religious character.

Nor do I remember a single instance in the army in which any such Order has appeared to be required.

The Sepoys are perfectly familiar with the subject of Christianity; and they are perfectly aware, not only that their Christian officers may not, but also that on principle they would not, use any sort of undue influence in order to induce them to become Christians.

In the early time of our Sepoy service it was the universal custom for the European officers to subscribe towards the celebration of the three principal native festivals—the Mohurram, the Dussera, and the Hooke—as well as to attend in person, on the principal day of each, to do honour to the occasion. I have known a commanding-officer even enforce this attendance as a public duty. But for the last thirty years, or longer, officers have refused, on Christian grounds, either to subscribe or to attend.

I have never known the men to take such refusal amiss. They have at once admitted the religious objection.

Indeed, with the Wahabees, the most bigoted class of our Mohammedans, the objection has distinctly tended to gain their respect.

And I may add here, what I know to be the fact, that, speaking of them as a body, officers, who openly avow their Christian principles, and maintain a consistent Christian life, are more respected by both Mohammedans and Hindoos, and have more of their confidence, than the great majority of those who, thinking to conciliate their men, are ready to take part with all alike.

Again, there have been, in at least the half of our native corps, and for the last thirty years or longer, Christian schools supported by the officers, for the instruction of our Christian children—that is to say, the children of our furriers, trumpeters, musicians, and so forth, who are mostly East Indians, or occasionally Europeans.

These schools have been maintained as well in our cavalry regiments, composed almost exclusively of Mohammedans, as in other corps comprising all classes.

Each native regiment has its Mohammedan and its Hindoo school, supported by Government. For the Christian children alone none has been allowed.

This subject was brought to the notice of Government a few years since, but without success; the Governor-General and the Commander-in-Chief in India both holding the opinion that the establishment of Christian schools in native regiments would be viewed by the men with serious suspicion and alarm, and that it must not, therefore, be attempted.

Our men, however, both Mohammedan and Hindoo, have always fully recognised the justice and propriety of the establishment of such (Christian) schools; and not only have they never evinced the slightest objection to them on religious grounds, but they have freely resorted to them for the better education of their own children, for whom they have sought admission as a matter of indulgence.

And, further, it has been a common practice with our men, whenever the opportunity has offered, to send their children to Missionary schools.

These particulars have been noticed, because, as I consider, they have a direct practical bearing upon the question at issue.

They serve to show that Christianity is a subject with which our native troops have long been familiar; and they should help to show, also, that it is a subject which stands in need of no legislative arrangement.

The Governor-General, in Mr. Cust's case, declared it to be impossible for the Government to lay down any rules precisely defining the limits of unofficial life. I am disposed to go somewhat beyond this, for I believe that, practically, no such limits exist. I mean, that let the position occupied by the officer be what it may, it must in this country (India), of simple necessity, be always inseparable from what we recognise as his purely unofficial proceedings.

It is not possible therefore, I think, for the Government to devise any manner of regulation which shall effect what they appear to propose.

It is for the people themselves—not for the Government—to distinguish between the two things; and this, as far as my observation has extended, the people have rarely, if ever, failed to do aright.

I believe that there is but one sense in which the Natives in general consider a Christian officer to be misusing his official position for religious purposes, and that is, when, in the administration of his office, he acts partially, and unduly favours those who evince a disposition to adopt his views. So long as, in the discharge of his official duty, the officer deals justly and equally with all, no native, left to his own mind, ever thinks of objecting to the most open maintenance of either Christian principles or Christian practice.

It is not the purely voluntary conversation with their officers on religious topics, nor the purely voluntary acceptance of religious books or tracts, that ever gives cause of alarm or dissatisfaction to our men. They know, and they know practically too, that they are entirely free in the matter—free to come or stay away—to accept or decline—and they learn to know too in this way, what they can never come to know in any other, that neither their officers, nor their officers' books, have any concealed process, any mysterious power by which to make men Christians against their will.

It is when they see—and none see more quickly—that there is concealment, that their suspicions are most readily aroused. They see that there is something kept back. What it is, or how much it is, they know not; the imagination is set at work; fears are awakened; and then there is no story of the hidden project too grossly absurd for their belief.

Far wiser then, in my judgment, even on the ground of mere policy, not to interfere with the matter, and not to attempt to regulate by any formal order of Government, the manner and extent of intercourse which officers may have on religious questions with their men. Far, indeed, from obviating suspicion or alarm, any such interposition on the part of Government would, I am satisfied, rather give occasion for them. It would inevitably lead the men to look thenceforward upon any approach to the subject, no longer without any sort of doubt, as heretofore, but as something dangerous.

The matter has regulated itself very satisfactorily for the time past, and it may reasonably be expected to do the same for the time to come.

Leave officers to be guided, as hitherto, by their own common sense. It is but very rarely indeed that zeal in this direction overpasses discretion. Whenever it does so, let the offender bear the consequences. There need not be the slightest fear that it will pass unnoticed or unchecked.

I have spoken only for my own part of India, and for my own people. I believe, however, that what I have said will be found generally applicable to Bombay. And I believe that the principle which I advocate, had it been in force in Bengal, might at least have greatly modified the character of the mutiny of 1857.

Let me add a few words on the matter in its bearings upon our officers.

I take it for granted that the Government of India will issue no order which it is not determined to enforce. And yet I think I may safely affirm for the majority of my brother officers, professing to be religious men, that no order of Government will prevent their fulfilling what in this respect they believe to be their duty before God.

They will not, for example, consent to keep silence when their fellow-men, Mohammedans or Hindoos, offer them the occasion of speaking, nor to withhold the Christian Scriptures or other books when men evince a willingness to have them. The order of Government, consequently, which might prohibit such proceedings, will be disobeyed.

What course would the Government then be prepared to take? I know what course it ought to take. Having issued the order, it ought to compel obedience.

But I say it would be cruel and unjust to issue such an order, and most injurious to the interests of Government itself. Our security with the Natives of India, in regard to the great question of religion, lies not in the concealing or withholding of our views as a professedly Christian people, but in the frank and honest avowal of them, coupled always with frank and honest dealing.

There is not a single individual in India who does not know that every Feringee is a Christian; and there is not one, not under European influence, who is not also perfectly willing that we should openly profess our Christian faith, just as openly as every native of the land, for himself. Rather, I should say, the Natives expect it, and neither respect nor trust us when we fail to do it. In this, as in all other things, "honesty is the best policy." "Them that honour me I will honour," is a word that has never yet failed.

Much more might be said upon this question, but I purposely abstain, knowing the necessity of being brief.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

No. 61 of 1860.

TO THE RT. HONOURABLE SIR CHARLES WOOD, Bart., G.C.B., Secretary of State for India.

Home Department,
the 18th June 1860.

SIR,

In our Military Despatch, No. 77, dated the 15th of June 1859 (para. 71), we submitted a correspondence with the Commander-in-Chief on the subject of a letter received from the officer commanding the 24th Punjab Infantry, stating that a strong tendency to embrace Christianity had manifested itself among some of the men of his regiment.

2. The commanding-officer reported that four men had been baptized, and that a considerable number were in the habit of visiting the clergymen of the station. He added that he had thought it right to ascertain whether any ill-feeling had arisen in the regiment in consequence of this movement, and that his inquiries had satisfied him that the men who took no part in the movement were profoundly indifferent to it, and that he had thought it better, therefore, not to interfere in the matter.

3. In reply to this communication, the Commander-in-Chief was informed that it seemed to the Governor-General in Council advisable to warn the officers commanding troops at Peshawur against using their authority in any way for the furtherance of conversion.

4. No further correspondence on the subject took place.

5. When the Governor-General was at Simla last April, he was surprised to learn from the Bishop of Calcutta that the Government was commonly believed by the Missionaries to have issued an order prohibiting all communication on religious subjects between officers of the Punjab regiments and the men who might embrace Christianity, and subsequently the Bishop communicated to His Excellency, in writing, the tenor of the statements which had been promulgated on the point. They are as follows—

1st. That no officer may speak on the subject of Christianity to any native Christian in his corps, nor visit him when he is sick, nor urge Christian motives as reasons for performing well his earthly duties as a soldier and servant of Government.

2nd. That no officer may be present when the church service is read by a Clergyman to Native Christians.

3rd. That no Clergyman may hold any service for native Christians in the lines in which the soldiers live, though it be a native-Christian's house, with closed doors.

4th. That no building may be set apart for Christian worship in the lines, though mosques and heathen temples may.

5th. That soldiers on becoming Christians have not equal privileges with Mohammedans and Hindoos, and therefore Christianity is not tolerated.

6th. That all these restrictions have been received from the highest authority.

6. On receiving this information, the Governor-General considered it necessary to inquire what steps had been taken by the military authorities, on the receipt of the Government order of May 1859, referred to in the 3rd Para. of this letter, and with this object His Excellency instructed his Military Secretary to write to the officer commanding the Peshawur Division. Sir Sydney Cotton's reply has been received since His Excellency's return to Calcutta, and from the official report by Brigadier Galloway which it encloses (a copy of which accompanies this despatch), it will be seen that General Birch's letter of May 1859, to the Adjutant-General of the Army, was circulated to all officers commanding native regiments within the Peshawur district, and that on its reaching the officer commanding the 24th Punjab Infantry, he communicated the instructions which it contained to the European officers of the regiment verbally, and at the same time gave them an order, also verbally, not to attend any religious meetings with the men. Sir Sydney Cotton has explained that this order, being verbal, was not brought before him as Regimental orders invariably are, and that he hears of it now for the first time from Brigadier Galloway's letter.

7. If the case had ended here, we might perhaps have been content to leave it to the Bishop of Calcutta, in whose sound sense and moderate views we have full reliance, to correct the singular misapprehension of the Government order which had become current among the Missionaries in the Punjab, confining ourselves to pointing out, through the proper channel, that the officer commanding the 24th Punjab Regiment exceeded the instructions which he received in desiring his officers not to attend religious meetings with the men.

8. But simultaneously with the receipt of the explanation furnished by the officer commanding at Peshawur, our attention has been drawn to a paper stated to have been published by the Church Missionary Society in London, which has led us to think it advisable that we should place the circumstances of this case clearly on record, in order that Her Majesty's Government may be aware of the exact foundation for the statements which have been put forward.

9. The paper to which we refer is dated Church Missionary House, March 1860. It has appeared in this country in the June number of a Calcutta periodical called the Christian Intelligencer, and in the Lahore Chronicle of the second of June. And has likewise been reproduced in the Calcutta

Hurkaru Newspaper of the 15th June. The publications in the Calcutta periodicals and the Lahore paper must have been independent of each other.

10. The following are the chief assertions contained in this paper on the subject of the conversions in the 24th Punjab Infantry.

11. The paper commences by saying that it relates to the recent interference on the part of the Supreme Government with officers of the 24th Punjab Regiment in respect of a religious inquiry among their Sepoys. It then gives an account of what had taken place in the regiment, saying that the men had made spontaneous inquiries to which the officers frankly replied as far as they could, referring the men to Christian Missionaries; that a few baptisms had taken place; that the inquirers made a little congregation; and that the officers admitted them to their own Sunday service; and it then proceeds to state that "at this period the Government steps in and arrests the movement," adding "as soon as the report of these events reached the Viceroy in Council an order was immediately issued which shut the lips of Christian officers from conversing with their men upon religious subjects!"

12. The paper next supports these statements by the evidence of written communications from two Missionaries—the Rev. R. Clark and the Rev. Isidore Loëwenthal. The first-mentioned gentleman speaks of the order of Government as one cautioning the officers against taking any part whatever in the spread of Christianity in the regiment, as an Order forbidding officers to converse with the native Christians about Christianity, or to hold a service for them, or to worship God with them; as an Order moreover not only affecting the officers, but leaving it in doubt whether a Missionary may enter the lines of a regiment, or, if he may, whether he may hold a service in a native-Christian's house; and accordingly the Rev. gentleman states, that in consequence of the order it was thought better when he visited the regiment "that our services should be held away from the lines in one of the officers' quarters."

13. The Rev. Mr. Loëwenthal is even more specific in his statements. He says that a "circular order was addressed to all Punjab officers, warning them against the offence they were committing against Government, by influencing their subordinates in favour of Christianity, and prohibiting in so many words their even reading prayers with the men, or giving them any instructions in Christianity whatever, even if the men desired it of their own accord."

14. We are not aware whether this paper has been made public in England, but we find that the general assertion which it contains is referred to in the last Report of the Church Missionary Society. In the reported proceedings of the Society's Annual Meeting, published in the Record of May 2nd, the following passage appears as a portion of the Society's Annual Report read to the Meeting—

"Punjab * * * One of the most interesting and encouraging occurrences to which the Missionaries refer was their call to give Christian instruction to a body of inquirers in the 24th Punjab N. I. Regiment. When the regiment removed from the neighbourhood of the Mission the Christian officers met their new Christian brethren in social worship, and encouraged the inquirers in their study of the Scriptures. There was some prospect that the whole regiment would have joined the movement, for these men were a class of Sikhs who had become disconnected with Hindooism and the Sikh religion, and were outcasts from all prevailing religions in India, and they were encouraged by the welcome they were receiving from Christian men; but at this point the Government of India stepped in and issued an order to every Punjab regiment, for every officer to hold himself aloof from Christian intercourse with his men."

15. It is hardly necessary that we should point out how very large a proportion of misrepresentation is contained in the statements which have thus obtained currency. So far indeed as they refer to any orders issued by the Government, the whole story is entirely and absolutely without foundation, and even the verbal order which is stated to have been given by the commanding-officer of the 24th Regiment affords no ground whatever for such statements, as that the officers are prohibited from conversing with Christian natives or from visiting them when sick; that Missionaries are not permitted to hold a service in a native-Christian house in the lines; and that Christian soldiers have lower privileges than Mohammedan and Hindoo soldiers.

16. Major Hovenden, who was the officer in command of the 24th Punjab Regiment last year, no longer holds that position; and looking to the time which has elapsed, and to the circumstance that his communication to his officers was a verbal one, it would probably be difficult now to obtain any satisfactory assurance as to what the intention of his order really was. That it was misunderstood by the officers, and in consequence misrepresented to the Missionaries, seems probable; but admitting this to have been the case, it cannot be held to justify the very specific statement which the latter have not hesitated to build up upon it, one of them, it will have been observed, actually pledging himself to the very words of an order which never had any existence, either as coming from Government or from any other source.

17. From the last communication in this matter which has been received by the Governor-General from the Bishop of Calcutta, we are happy to learn that it was His Lordship's intention to communicate with the Rev. Mr. Clark, in order to disabuse his mind of a belief in the existence of prohibitions for which, as the Bishop remarks, even Major Hovenden's addition to the Government order gives no foundation, and likewise to point out to the Rev. gentleman the great harm which is done by believing and circulating such tales without inquiry.

18. It is possible that the general circumstances elicited in this case may make it advisable that Government should issue an order referring to the broad and obvious distinction between the case of officers communicating with their men for the purpose of converting them; in other words, using the influence of their position for the furtherance of conversion, and the case of officers conversing with and joining in worship with those who are already converted. The objections to the former course we consider to be clear and strong, and we are glad to know that in this view we have the concurrence of the Bishop. But before we determine upon the issue of any fresh order in a matter in regard to which the intentions of Government are so readily misunderstood and misrepresented, we shall await the receipt of information which has been called for from Madras, as to the rules obtaining in the army of that Presidency (in which the Christian element has long existed) with respect to intercourse for religious purposes between the officers and their men.

APPENDIX II.

INSTRUCTIONS OF THE COMMITTEE TO MISSIONARIES, IN RELATION TO POLITICAL AFFAIRS, DELIVERED
SEPTEMBER 28TH, 1860.

DEARLY BELOVED IN THE LORD,

WE are met together to take leave of a large body of Missionaries going to distant and widely-differing fields of labour—to West Africa, India, Ceylon, China, and the Mediterranean.

The Committee have so frequently addressed their Missionaries upon the main principles and chief motives of Missionary work, that they feel justified in omitting these upon the present occasion, in order to touch upon a topic of great practical importance, which the present aspect of the Missionary field brings into prominent notice—namely, the proper conduct of a Missionary in respect of social and political questions which may seem to be connected with the progress of his spiritual work,

The one object of the Church Missionary Society is to provide for the preaching of the Gospel of Christ to those who have not yet received it; and to train up the Christian converts in the doctrine and discipline of the Church of England.

But the blessings of the Gospel when received tend to elevate the social position of the converts, and to instruct them in the true principles of justice and humanity and so to quicken in their minds the sense of the wrongs they may suffer through oppression and misgovernment. A knowledge also of Christian duty, while it secures obedience to the sovereign powers, limits that obedience to things lawful in the sight of God as defined in his word; and so far often interferes with the institutions of heathen and Mohammedan Governments.

The relation, also, in which the Missionary stands to his converts, necessarily connects him with their temporal welfare. Going among the people with a message of love upon his lips, and with the spirit of love in his heart, he soon wins their confidence beyond all other persons of his race. He becomes their best friend—their faithful adviser. His message embraces their temporal as well as their spiritual interests, for “godliness” hath the “promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.” They have, therefore, a claim upon him for advice, and assistance against injustice and wrong.

The Missionary has moreover a message to declare, on proper occasions, to those in authority, on their responsibility to God, by whose ordinance they exercise the right of government.

However earnestly, therefore, the faithful Missionary may strive to confine himself to his one great work, the ministry of the Gospel of salvation, he is liable to be involved in many questions of a social and political kind. And he cannot always escape the reproach cast upon his divine Master and upon his apostles, of being the enemy of Cæsar, or of turning the world upside down.

The difficulty which a Christian Missionary always finds in shaping his course in such matters, with “the wisdom of the serpent, and the harmlessness of the dove,” is much increased in seasons of national, political, or social excitement. And the fields of labour to which you are designated are so circumstanced. In India, society yet heaves under the recent terrible catastrophe, and questions have been lately raised, in respect of the civil rights of Christian converts, of the system of ryotry in the cultivation of indigo, of the Christian action of Government, and of its officers,—in which the Missionary may be more or less necessarily involved. In the sphere of our Missions in Africa and in China, civil wars rage, and in the former country, our Missionaries are severally living under Governments at open war with each other. In Asia Minor, and throughout the Turkish Empire, social and political affairs are in a state of terrible effervescence.

Into such fields of labour you are going forth as the messengers of the Prince of Peace—to preach “glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good-will towards men.” How blessed the commission! yet how arduous and perilous its right execution!

The Committee would therefore desire to furnish you, by the Divine blessing, with advice for the guidance of your conduct, and, with an affectionate assurance of their sympathy, to encourage and cheer you in your future difficulties.

I. The general rule in such cases has been laid down in the printed “Regulations explanatory of the relation between the Church Missionary Society and the Missionaries connected with it,” in these words—“Every Missionary is strictly charged to abstain from interfering in the political affairs of the country or place in which he may be situated.”

The terms of this rule are necessarily broad and somewhat indefinite—political affairs is a wide term. There are worldly politicians who would desire to include in their exclusive province national education, the State support of idolatry, the social institution, as it is called, of slavery, the treatment of the aborigines, the private religious action of Government officers. As soon as a minister of religion touches these questions an outcry is apt to be raised, as if he were meddling with politics.

But such subjects as these are not simply “political affairs.” They are of a mixed character.

The great principles of justice, humanity, and Christian duty lie at the root of these questions. Those principles are, as matters of investigation and of public exposition, the special province of the minister of religion. It is for the minister of religion to propound these principles, and to suggest their proper application. Such mixed questions, therefore, cannot by any just interpretation be included in those “political affairs,” from interfering with which the Missionary is to abstain. A Missionary is bound to remonstrate if he believes the great principles of justice, humanity, and Christian duty to be violated; and the politician is bound on his part to vindicate his adherence to those principles, in the course which he thinks it right to pursue. In all such questions, therefore, it were the wisdom of the governing powers to listen to the suggestions of the Missionary body, and to secure their co-operation: if the authorities, on the other hand, decline or oppose their suggestions, the Missionary is driven to an appeal to public opinion as a last resource, and the Government may be sooner or later compelled to yield that which Christian principle demands: and too often after loss of time and opportunity, and after controversial dissension equally disadvantageous to all the parties concerned.

A few specific cases which have occurred in the history of this Society will serve to illustrate the foregoing statement.

(1) The earliest political question in which the Society was involved was that of slavery—first, the abolition of the slave-trade; afterwards, the abolition of slavery. This Society nobly and prominently denounced the sin and evil of Slavery, while it was yet maintained as a social institution, and protected by numerous acts of the legislature. Other Missionary Societies having labourers before ourselves in slave colonies, bore the brunt of the contest upon the spot. Their Missionaries were denounced as political agitators, till at last the Missionary Smith was cast into a jail, and tried as a rebel. This act called forth the indignation of the British Parliament, and the authority of the Imperial Government was interposed to vindicate the rights of justice and humanity in the person of the injured Missionary. Through such conflicts the good cause at length triumphed, and slavery was abolished.

(2) Another great political question in which Missionaries were involved was the liberty of preaching the Gospel to the natives of India. Here again the first brunt of actual conflict was borne by the Missionaries of another Society—the illustrious Carey, Ward, and Marshman. Their memoirs, lately published, exhibit an instructive example of the delicacy and difficulty of such questions as we are handling, and how gradually the right and liberty were conceded, for which the Missionary and his friends contended.

(3) So also by the Missionary and his friends the question of Government connection with idolatry in India was first raised, and was mainly supported by the evidence of the Missionary. Here also the advocates of a Christian policy were frequently denounced as disturbers of Government. Even the eminent Christian Bishop, Dr. Corrie, received an official rebuke for pressing this question upon the attention of Government. The cause of Christian duty was, however, supported by the voice of the nation, and at length the very principles, which had been at first opposed as the theory of fanatics, were embodied in a formal despatch of His Majesty's Government.

(4) So, also, in Travancore the Missionaries have thought themselves compelled, on several occasions, to stand up for the civil rights of the converts, and their efforts have been blessed with success. Even when the Government of Madras censured the Missionaries for appearing in Courts of Justice as the friends of the oppressed Christian, the Home Government reversed the censure, and vindicated the conduct of the Missionary, as being the natural and proper guardian of the just civil rights of the convert.

(5) On a late occasion, a Missionary of this Society furnished this Committee with a statement of the effects which he had witnessed of an order of the Supreme Government of India, in respect of the private action of Christian officers towards Christian inquirers of the 24th Punjab Native Infantry. The Committee thought it right publicly to remonstrate against this proceeding. The Government, in consequence of this remonstrance, issued a despatch explanatory of that order, which has happily removed the difficulties which a misunderstanding of the order had created; and the Committee rejoice now to add that the good work in the regiment, arrested for fifteen months by that misunderstanding, has been renewed, and the baptism of several soldiers of the regiment has since taken place.

(6) At this present time a social question is agitated between the indigo planter of Bengal and the ryot cultivator. When, a few years ago, the case of the ryot was advocated by the Missionary, the Missionary was denounced as a meddler in matters beyond his province. At length, however, the Supreme Government has instituted a Court of Inquiry, and has placed a Missionary, as a fair representative of the ryot, among the Commissioners, and has subpoenaed other Missionaries to give evidence on oath of the cases of alleged oppression which have come under their notice; thus vindicating the right of the Missionary to assist in the adjustment of this question. The result of the inquiry is not yet known, and therefore the Committee abstain from further remark upon this particular case.

These six instances will sufficiently illustrate our position, that there are many questions of a mixed character, which, though partly political, fall within the province of the Missionary, and in the adjustment of which the authorities may advantageously avail themselves of the co-operation of the Missionary body. These questions, it is impossible to deny, are becoming daily more and more prominent and important. For it is a characteristic of the age that the religious element enters into every great question—even in the Congress of European nations.

II. The Committee now proceed to offer you a few practical directions in respect of such questions as have been described.

1. The Committee affectionately, but earnestly, warn each Missionary, especially every young Missionary, not to take up supposed grievances too hastily, but to wait and consult with other Christian men till they have ascertained the reality and importance of any alleged social or civil wrong. Remember that these "mixed" questions form the exceptions to the general rule of strict abstinence from interfering in political affairs. This rule must be applied to all such matters as do not palpably involve the great principles of justice, humanity, or Christian duty. The Committee say palpably, because the ingenuity of some minds will see a connexion which is not generally recognised. All political measures might be thus excepted from the prohibition, and the rule become a nullity. But common sense has established a distinction, and it will be well for the Missionary to err on the side of abstinence from doubtful questions, rather than to interfere in matters which will not be allowed by sober judges to belong to his province.

2. When, however, the Missionary is unavoidably involved, in the line of his duty, in questions having a political aspect, let him guard against a political spirit—that is, against the spirit in which the politicians of this world strive together. He must stand clear of all party strife. The apostolic injunction is—"The servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient, in meekness instructing them that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth." In conformity with this rule, the Missionary should never assume a position of hostility to the ruling powers, or have recourse to public censure, or the lash of newspaper invectives. Let him rather address the authorities in respectful and confiding terms, as those upon whom God has laid the responsibility of upholding the great principles of Christian duty. If such addresses be unheeded, let a temperate statement of the case be transmitted to the Missionary Directors at home, with such particulars as will bear the closest sifting, and as the Missionary is prepared to avow before the public.

3. Avoid, even in the most pressing cases, being drawn into the vortex of mere political discussions, for it will prove a painful interruption to your happier duties. Much precious time is necessarily lost in those discussions, which might have been spent in winning to Christ souls, who should have been your crown of rejoicing in the day of the Lord. Even your conferences with your brethren on such topics will be far less profitable to the soul, than if the time had been wholly devoted to spiritual things. And you will be liable to be drawn into still less profitable connexion with the men of the world, who will court the aid of a spiritual man for the sake of a secular object, though they sneer at his religion. All these, and many other considerations, make the true Missionary shrink from political discussions, make him walk very warily while engaged in them, and make him most thankful to escape from their entanglements.

4. When compelled by a sense of duty to take an active part in exceptional cases, be the more careful to observe the standing rule of the Society, in its legitimate scope and intention, in all other political relations. These will embrace the ordinary course of Government, in respect of which you must exhibit in your own conduct, as well as inculcate upon all others, the spirit of the apostolic injunction, "Tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour." You must especially strive to stand aloof from all questions of political leadership—of political partisanship: whether officers of Government be favourable or unfavourable to Missionary work, whether they patronise or oppose, let the Missionary avoid all appearance of political intrigue. The cordial and courteous recognition of the official position of an opponent will be the best means of disarming his opposition. A candid construction of his measures will conciliate, while a severe criticism will raise needless animosity.

III. The Missionaries who labour under Christian rulers, in the dependencies of Great Britain, will be enabled, under ordinary circumstances, to carry on their work without concerning themselves with the course of the Government. But the case is more difficult with those who labour amidst uncivilized nations and Governments. The injunction to abstain from all interference with political affairs is obviously not applicable when the native Government is mixed up with national superstitions and social institutions, which violate all justice and humanity; when the magistrate's sword is in the hands of every petty chief, or self-constituted oppressor; when human sacrifices form a part of the political constitution.

In such a situation, the first Missionaries found themselves in the Susu Mission of Africa and in New Zealand. Yet while the rule stood, some conscientious men hesitated to instruct the natives in political maxims, or to protest against their existing atrocities. For the relief of their consciences, the following note was added to the rule by the Committee, and was printed for many years in the "Explanatory Regulations"—

"It is not intended, however, by this Regulation, to preclude Missionaries who may be stationed in New Zealand, or in other regions which are uncivilized, and which do not enjoy the protection of a fixed Government, from bringing the natives acquainted with such Christian and civil institutions, as in process of time their situations may require; or from using their influence in such countries to preserve or restore peace, in conformity with the spirit of a minister of the Gospel."

In the spirit of this explanation, the Society at home and the Missionaries in New Zealand took a leading part in the discussion of the great national question of the colonization of those islands. When the first Governor, Captain Hobson, was sent out to negotiate with the chiefs for the transfer of the sovereignty to the Queen of Great Britain, he obtained the assistance of the Missionaries of this, and of the Wesleyan Society, to bring about that event. No one took a more prominent part than the Senior Missionary of the Church Missionary Society. The services of the Missionaries were publicly acknowledged by the Governor and the Home Government; and on a special occasion, the Governor thus addressed the Legislative Council on its being opened, December 14th, 1841—

"Whatever difference of opinion may be entertained as to the value and extent of the labours of the Missionary body, there can be no doubt that they have rendered important services to this country; or that, but for them, a British Colony would not at this moment be established in New Zealand."

The voice of the Missionary, which was thus mainly instrumental in bringing the New-Zealand chiefs to accept the treaty of Waitangi, is now rightly lifted up on the behalf of the chiefs against, as they believe, an attempted violation of its letter and spirit.

On a late review of the printed form of the "Explanatory Regulations," the note was omitted, because New Zealand had become a British Colony, and the Missions of the Society in Western Africa were then under British Government, and it was thought that the good sense of Christian Missionaries would sufficiently qualify the rule in exceptional cases. But the state of the Yoruba Mission recalls one part of the appended note to our attention. In the present day, a civil war has broken out between three of the towns in which Missionaries reside. Ijaye and Ibadan have made war against each other, and Abbeokuta has unhappily joined in the conflict. The several Missionaries in these towns have been thus placed in most difficult positions. The Committee are not prepared to judge of the conduct of each Missionary, or of his conduct in all respects. But the Committee have seen quite enough to induce them to urge upon you, who are going to the Yoruba Mission, with affectionate importunity, the old injunction of "using your influence to preserve or restore peace in conformity with the spirit of a minister of the Gospel."

IV. The Committee will conclude with a few words of general encouragement and advice suggested by the circumstances which have called forth these instructions.

1. Remember that seasons of special political conflict, or social excitement, have always been seasons of special promise and hope to the church of Christ. The King of Zion has an iron sceptre to break down all opposition to an advancing Gospel. Political convulsions are the executions of his judgment. At the very time when He thus wields that iron sceptre, He enjoins upon his church to proclaim the message—"Kiss the Son, lest He be angry." "When the judgments of the Lord are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness." We have seen this most manifestly in the improved prospects of our Indian Missions since the mutiny. And every observer of God's dealings with the world will supply abundant illustrations. It is refreshing to think how often the work of mercy and grace is silently advancing amidst the crash of human affairs. Let the man of faith repose upon this thought. In the darkest hours the eye and ear of flesh may discern nothing but the flash of lightning, and hear only the roll of thunder; but let the ear of faith catch the sound of the still small voice, and let the man of faith then ply in patience, prayer, and faith his special mission.

2. Let the Committee remind you, also, that such critical times as they allude to, are also to the Christian times of special trial and temptation, and he needs then to place a double guard upon his temper and spirit, lest he be carried away by the stream into an exhibition of worldly tempers, lest his good should be evil spoken of, through his hasty language or exaggerated statements. There will be perils on all sides: the Missionary may be often in personal danger. Such a time is an occasion for showing his faith in a special providence—that he does not fear with the fear of men of the world—that he can stay himself upon his God. There may be dangers to his reputation; especially when the Missionary stands up as the friend of the aborigines, in opposition to the oppression of unprincipled European settlers. Those of us who are old enough to remember the agitation of the Slavery question, can remember the torrents of calumny and of coarse abuse, with which the white man attempted to overwhelm Wilberforce, Macaulay, Stephen, and all other champions of the negro race. We can remember, also, the calm and loving composure with which it was borne, as a part of the costs which had been counted.

3. The Committee do not attempt to give you more than very brief hints on these topics. They have confidence in the reflections which will arise in your minds; but, above all, they commend you to the grace and guidance of an ever present Saviour, who has promised to send you the almighty aid of the Holy Comforter; who will manifest Himself to his servants who suffer for his name's sake at the present day, as He did to his Apostle Paul. When, "the night following" the tumult in the Council at Jerusalem, "the chief captain feared lest Paul should have been pulled in pieces,"—"the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good cheer, Paul: for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome."

* * * This mark * denotes that the Sermon was preached at St. Ann's, Blackfriars; this †, that it was preached at St. Bride's, Fleet Street; the Twenty-third was preached at Christ Church, Newgate Street; the Thirty-first at St. Sepulchre's; the Thirty-second at St. Clement Danes; and the Thirty-third at St. Andrew's, Holborn.

The Collections at the Sixteenth and subsequent Anniversaries include the sums contributed at the Annual Meetings.

NOTICE TO THE TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

THE Committee of the Church Missionary Society request the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations to transmit the proceeds of their respective Associations, together with the Contribution Lists and Accounts, as soon after the close of their Financial Year as possible. The Lists and Accounts should be written legibly, to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report. The Local Officers being appointed by the Associations, their names, as well as the date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, should be specified. Where the Account or the List is a printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

The Committee would also point out, for more universal adoption, the convenience of a practice already very generally observed by Associations, of making remittances on account whenever any considerable proportion of the year's receipts is in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This practice, they have reason to believe, would be acceptable to many of their Contributors, and would tend to equalize in a greater degree the income and expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial Year.

The Society's General Accounts are closed on the 31st of March, and all Moneys and Lists belonging to the year must be received at the Society's House by that date, in order to the Lists being inserted in their proper place in the Report.

The appending to the Annual Report of the Lists and Accounts of the Associations is a general acknowledgment to the Local Contributors that their Contributions have been received by the Parent Society; and the Committee are desirous of preventing the dissatisfaction which they are aware is occasioned by the omission of the Lists in the Report in consequence of the Money or the List having been received too late for insertion.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, it is manifest that the Accounts of the Branches must be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the period for forwarding the Accounts of the Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches should be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

To prevent mistakes, it is requested that Branch Associations will in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society.

The Committee return their cordial thanks to the Treasurers of Associations, and to those friends who kindly fill the office of Secretary—an office which, they are well aware, draws largely on the time and attention of those who occupy it, but on the efficient discharge of the duties of which the prosperity of an Association chiefly depends.

N.B. Benefactors of Ten Pounds and upward, whose Names have appeared in former Lists of the Associations, will now find them in the List of "Benefactions of former Years."
