STATIONS, MISSIONARIES, AND OTHER LABOURERS, MAY 1865.

* * By MISSIONARY, is to be understood one in Holy Orders; and by CATECHIST, one who engages in such religious care and instruction of the people as may be consistent with his character as a Layman. The letter (m) means Married.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Females; such as, cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing Female Adults.

A STATION is the place at which a Missionary or European Catechist is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers sent from Europe show the date of their first leaving Europe.

The asterisk (*) denotes that the Missionary is on his way out. The mark (†) that he is on his way home.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXV. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued: The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made, by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence, of his qualifications; and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member shall declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next Meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least Three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXVI. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVII. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a Special Meeting of the Committee; and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot, to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings; a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretaries.

XXIX. Each candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist. If admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary.*

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. That all questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between any Colonial Bishop and any Committee of the Society, shall be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

XXXIII. That the object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as, in any other respect, to alter the principles and practice of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations, and explained in Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Report.

The proposed reference shall be made, through His Grace the Primate, by the Committee, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the Committee may deem advisable; and the Committee will be bound so to refer all questions, falling within the scope of the Rule so understood as aforesaid, which the Colonial Bishop shall require them to refer.

While all decisions of the Bench of Bishops on questions so referred will be considered by the Committee as binding on them and their agents or representatives, the Colonial Bishops or other Ecclesiastical Authorities, unless concurring in the reference, cannot properly be considered as so bound.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The following passage, from Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Annual Report illustrates the practice of the Society in reference to this Rule:—

"The Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] our Missionaries: these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same Colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church."

APPENDIX II. TO THE THIRTY-NINTH REPORT.

REFERRED TO IN THE NOTE TO LAW XXIX.

REMARKS ON THE CONSTITUTION AND PRACTICE OF THE CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY, WITH REFERENCE TO ITS ECCLESIASTICAL RELATIONS.

It is the object of the following Remarks to show, that the constitution and practice of the Church Missionary Society are in strict conformity with Ecclesiastical principles, as they are recognised in the constitution and practice of the Church of England.

Throughout the system of the Church of England there is a recognised co-operation of temporal and spiritual functions in MATTERS ECCLESIASTICAL; that is, the Laity and Clergy have not only their separate and distinct provinces, but, in many important respects, they unite their agency for the accomplishing of Ecclesiastical acts.

For instance, in supplying a vacant Church, a Lay-Patron selects and presents "his Clerk"—as the Clergyman is technically called—to the Bishop; who thereupon invests him with authority to minister in that Church. So, also, there are certain Lay-officers appointed to every Church—the Church-wardens or Sidesmen—whose duty it is, not only to guard, in conjunction with the Minister, the temporalities of the Church, but also to watch over the due performance of Divine Service, the morals of the parishioners, and the conduct of the Minister; and to report, from time to time, on each of these matters, to the Ecclesiastical Authorities. The duty of these officers is implied in the old appellation, "Sidesmen," or "Synodsmen"—men summoned to attend and give information at Synods and Visitations.

The distinction and co-operation of lay and spiritual functions in the Church of England might be further illustrated in the case of Ecclesiastical Courts, and various relations which arise out of the principle, that the Sovereign is the Supreme Ruler of the Church.

Keeping the foregoing distinction in view, the Church Missionary Society may be regarded as an Institution for discharging the temporal and lay offices necessary for the preaching of the Gospel among the Heathen. It is strictly a Lay Institution: it exercises, as a Society, no spiritual functions whatsoever.

Such being the constitution of the Society in theory—are its proceedings conducted in conformity with this theory, and with the Ecclesiastical principles of the Church of England?

In order to review these proceedings, they may be conveniently arranged under the FOUR following Heads:

I. THE COLLECTION OF THE HOME REVENUE, and THE DISBURSEMENT OF IT ABROAD.

These acts are altogether within the province of Laymen.

II. THE SELECTING AND EDUCATING CANDIDATES FOR MISSIONARY EMPLOYMENT.

In this department there is no necessary encroachments upon spiritual functions. The Colleges in our Universities are Lay-Corporations, and may, in many cases, be administered and presided over by Laymen.

Yet it may be urged, that in this department there is an approach to the peculiar province of Clergymen; because spiritual persons seem the more proper judges of a Candidate's fitness for Missionary employment: and it is generally admitted, that a Bishop may exercise a control over the education and training of Candidates to be advanced by himself to Holy Orders. Now, in both these particulars the Church Missionary Society has carefully guarded its proceedings. The examination of Missionary Candidates is referred to a Clerical Sub-Committee; and the General Committee consult and act upon the report of this Clerical trial and judgment. In respect of the other point, the education and training of Candidates for Holy Orders, the Church Missionary College at Islington has the sanction and approbation of the Bishop of London; who, in this country, admits to Holy Orders all the Society's Candidate: and his Lordship has repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the results of the system of instruction, as they have been manifested in his examinations for Holy Orders.

III. The Third general head of the Society's proceedings is, THE SENDING FORTH, TO PARTICULAR STATIONS, THE MISSIONARIES THUS ORDAINED, OR OTHER CLERGYMEN WHO HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY ORDAINED.

Now, here an objection against the Society has been founded on the use of the term "sending forth:"—it sounds like an exercise of Ecclesiastical power. But, Ecclesiastically speaking, the Bishop of London "sends forth" every Missionary ordained by him. The Law of the land has sanctioned the Two Archbishops, and the Bishop of London, in ordaining persons to officiate abroad. The Secretary of the Church Missionary Society requests, by Letter, the Bishop of London to ordain, in conformity with the provisions of the Act of Parliament, such and such persons, whom the Society is willing to support in some Foreign Station. The Bishop, by the imposition of hands, gives them authority to preach the Gospel, with a view to their Foreign location.—In the case of persons already in Holy Orders, who may join the Society, they may be said to go forth by their own voluntary act; but their Letters of Orders, given by a Bishop of our Church, are their mission and commission, Ecclesiastically speaking.

Hence, to call the acts of the Church Missionary Society—in selecting the station, paying the passage-money, and agreeing to provide the Missionary's salary—to call these acts a SENDING FORTH of Preachers, in an Ecclesiastical sense, is to confound names with things, and to lose sight of all true Church principles.

IV. The Fourth general head under which the proceedings of the Church Missionary Society may be arranged, is, THE SUPERINTENDENCE OF MISSIONARIES IN THEIR LABOURS AMONG THE HEATHEN.

Here a distinction must be made between the case of those Foreign Stations which lie within the jurisdiction of a Colonial Bishop, and other stations, which are not so situated, and may therefore be termed Extra-diocesan.

In the first case, the Church Missionary Society has expressly determined, that all its ordained Missionaries shall be submitted for licence to the Bishop of the diocese in which they may be stationed; and that no Missionary shall exercise his spiritual functions in such diocese without a licence. The Society has further recognised the uncontrolled discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence, and the propriety of specifying in such licence a particular district as the field of labour; so that a Missionary cannot be removed from one district to another without the sanction of the Bishop.

These principles were stated in a Letter from the Society to the Bishop of Calcutta, signed by the Right Honourable the President—December 17, 1835—in a manner so satisfactory to the Bishop, that he embodied them in the four following Rules, expressed for the most part in the words of the Society's Letter: which were, at the Bishop's request, entered upon the minutes of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, as the recognised Rules of their practice:—

"1. The Bishop expresses—by granting or withholding his licence, in which the sphere of the Missionary's labour is mentioned—his approbation, or otherwise, of that location.

"2. The Bishop superintends the Missionaries afterward, as the other Clergy, in the discharge of their Ecclesiastical duties.

"3. The Bishop receives from those—the Committee and Secretary—who still stand in the relation of Lay-Patrons to the Missionary, such communications respecting his Ecclesiastical duties as may enable the Bishop to discharge that paternal superintendence to the best advantage.—The Archdeacon of Calcutta or Bombay acting under the Bishop's immediate directions when he happens to be absent.

"4. If the Bishop* or Archdeacon fills, at the request of the Society, the offices of Patron, President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, &c., he receives, further, all such confidential information, on all topics, as the Bishops officially neither could wish nor properly ask [to receive]."

The Bishop also wrote to the Parent Society in the following terms:—"You seem to me to lay down the principle most correctly..... This is to me perfectly satisfactory; as I shall instantly inform the Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom I report all the proceedings of the diocese."—9th June 1836.

It will be perceived, that the Missionaries, thus licensed, stand toward the Bishop in the relation rather of Stipendiary Curates, than of Beneficed Clergymen. For a Bishop in England cannot refuse a license or institution to a benefice, without assigning a reason which will bear investigation before a Court of Common Law; nor can he deprive a Clergyman of his benefice without a judicial process. But no law has provided any such check in the case of Missionaries: the Bishop has the power of withholding a licence, or of withdrawing it, at his sole discretion, without assigning any cause, as in the case of Stipendiary Curates in this country.

If it be asked, What are the checks and safeguards against the undue exercise of this discretionary power of the Bishop?—it may be replied, in the words of the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Parent Society, April 12, 1837:—

"We are not to take for granted, [that discretionary power will be abused; but, on the contrary, to provide, by a cheerful and friendly spirit and conduct, against the likelihood of such an occurrence. If the event of arbitrary conduct should arise, or be supposed to arise, the remedies are—public opinion—an appeal to the Archbishop—and the Society's refusing to make other appointments and locations than those unreasonably objected to. Nothing is the least likely—and probability is the guide of life—to arise to impede or cramp the Committee; since they unquestionably and avowedly possess, The choice of men—The appointment of spheres of labour—The temporal power, including pecuniary support."

But though the Bishop's licence is at once the pledge and proof that the Society's Missionaries are under Episcopal superintendence and jurisdiction, and that the spiritual oversight rests altogether with the Bishop; yet the Society may seem, to some persons, to keep up a kind of spiritual jurisdiction and oversight, by requiring accounts from the Missionaries of all their proceedings, and by giving them directions, from time to time, which may bear upon their spiritual duties. But it must be remembered, that the Society stands toward its Missionaries in the relation of Trustees of the fund out of which their salaries are paid. In the case of a Beneficed Clergyman in this country, the Minister is the guardian and possessor of the temporalities of the benefice, because the benefice is an endowment; and the Patron has no further connexion with the Minister whom he has once presented to the Bishop. In our case, the office of Patron is, in a sense, perpetuated by the payment of the salary, and the possession of all the temporalities of the Mission.

This matter has been well explained by the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, May 26, 1837:—"The Missionary Committees," says his Lordship, "have a far greater latitude in India than any Lay-Patrons at home. Upon presenting his Clerk to the Bishop, the Patron at home is functus officio. The Clergyman is removed, on being once instituted and licensed, totally and for ever from the Patron, and is transferred to the superintendency of the Bishop. The Patron has nothing whatever more to do with him. But in India, the Committee is (1) the continued paymaster of the Missionary after he is duly licensed;—for institution and induction there are none. (2) They correspond with him. (3) They supply him with Catechists. (4) They report his chief proceedings home. (5) They propose removals and changes of Station to the Bishop. (6) They exercise, unavoidably, an influence which does not belong to the mere Lay-Patron; and are aiding, in a variety of ways, to the comfortable and honourable discharge of the Missionary's most exalted and most spiritual duties."

It remains to consider the case of those Stations which are Extra-diocesan; i.e. where there is no Colonial Bishop of the Church of England having jurisdiction over them.

In these cases, the Society has endeavoured to procure for such Stations the benefits of the Episcopal office from the nearest Bishop of the Church of England. Application was made by the Committee both to the late and to the present Bishop of Madras to extend, as far as circumstances would admit these benefits to the Mission of Travancore; which as an independent state, not forming part of the British Dominions, was not included in the diocese of Madras. A similar application was made on behalf of the New-Zealand Mission, to the Bishop of Australia; who at once acceded to the request, and kindly promised to visit New Zealand as soon as his other duties would permit; stating, in a Letter to the Society's representatives at Sydney, "It is highly satisfactory to me, that our friends at home are taking a view of these things which proves them to belong, not only to a MISSIONARY, but also to a CHURCH Society." (See Annual Report, 1838.)

Such is a General View of the Constitution and Proceedings of the Church Missionary Society.

It is not intended to assert, that errors are no sometimes committed in the application of these principles to matters of detail. It must be remembered that Missionary operations are, alas! new and anomalous in the system of the Church of England; and that it is not always easy to draw a definite line between the two provinces which belong respectively to the Bishop and the Committee. It has been observed by the Bishop of Calcutta—Letter, May 26, 1837:—"The boundaries of the power of Committees, as they approach to those of the Bishop, can be ascertained, in many points, only by time and observation." Perplexities have consequently occurred; and, unhappily, misunderstandings have sometimes arisen between the Representatives of the Society abroad and Ecclesiastical Authorities. But these are the principles by which the Home Committee have endeavoured to guide the proceedings of the Society: and they confidently respond to a sentiment expressed by the Bishop of Calcutta—"The principles of our new relations are now fully recognised: the details will soon find their level."—Letter, 9th June 1836.

In reviewing the Ecclesiastical relations of the Church Missionary Society, there are two or three points which it seems very important to notice.

1. Missionary operations, as they are conducted by the Church Missionary Society, though apparently anomalous in the system of the Church of England, are yet in strict conformity with its constitution and principles: they are analogous to many other instances of voluntary exertion for the extension of true religion within the Church, in which Ecclesiastical authority and Lay co-operation unite for the accomplishment of the same end: so that these operations may be regarded as the acts of the Church of England, putting forth its energy for the Conversion of the Heathen World. For it has been shown, that the Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth our Missionaries—that these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church. Even in the few cases in which Lutheran Clergymen are employed, this rule is observed; and all the congregations which are gathered into the fold of Christ are trained up as Members of the Church established in this land.

And here it may be observed, that nothing less than the sanction of a duly-assembled Convocation can more fully identify the acts of any Missionary Society, within the Church of England, with the Church.* Without such sanction, all associations of Churchmen must stand in the same position. Still further, not to notice the present abeyance of Convocations, it may be asserted, that even if the Church were to assemble in her provincial Convocations, and to decree and to regulate Missionary operations, such proceedings could not essentially add to, or alter, those important particulars which, under present circumstances, entitle the operations of the Church Missionary Society to be regarded as Missionary operations of the United Church of England and Ireland.

2. It must be ever borne in mind, that Missionary operations are, in their very nature, temporary and preparative;—that they are to be gradually but eventually superseded by a different order of things, when the Heathen Nations shall have become Christianized. In some cases, as in the West Indies, this change is further advanced than in others. Now, it must be expected, that in proportion as this change advances, difficulties and perplexities will arise in our Ecclesiastical relations, peculiar to this TRANSITION STATE—from Missionary operations, to that happy consummation when there shall be an endowed and established system of Christian Instruction, and a territorial division of Ministerial labour.

* The American Episcopal Church has, in Convention, thus identified itself with a Missionary Society.

February, 1839.

This consummation the Church Missionary Society has ever kept in view, and devoutly desired; and, as far as possible, has prepared for its approach. In an interview with the Bishop of Barbadoes—April 1835—this point was expressly alluded to; and it was stated by the Committee to his Lordship, "that whenever a district should be brought into the state of an organised Christian community, it should assume entirely the Parochial form, and cease to be occupied as a Missionary Station.—The Bishop entirely acquiesced in this view; and only expressed his anxiety that it should not be so acted upon as prematurely to deprive a district of the Missionary's services."—(Extracts from Committee's Minutes.)

3. Lastly, it must be evident, from a review of the whole subject, that our Ecclesiastical relations depend, in many important respects, upon a mutual confidence and good understanding between the Committee and its representatives, and the Ecclesiastical Authorities both at home and abroad. This must be the case, to argue upon no higher grounds, while those relations are governed by Ecclesiastical laws and canons made without reference to Missionary operations, for an Established Church in a Christian country; and where so much is also necessarily left to the discretion of both parties. If we look to our Home operations, the Committee places confidence in the Bishop of London, that he will continue to ordain the Missionary Candidates introduced to his Lordship by the Society, according to the provisions of the Act: and the Lord Bishop of London relies upon the Committee's using every means to select, train, and duly qualify proper Candidates to be thus introduced to him.

So, also, in its Foreign operations, the Society places confidence in the Colonial Bishops—as it has been already shown, in a quotation from the Letter of Bishop Wilson—that they will not exercise an unreasonable or arbitrary discretion, in withholding or withdrawing licences from our Missionaries, or in refusing ordination to our Candidates. And the Bishops, by granting licences and ordination to the Missionaries of a voluntary Society, whose income is liable to fluctuations, and whose agents are constantly changing, manifestly place confidence in the Committees, that they will use every endeavour to keep up the Missions once established; and that they will not, on their part, act in an unreasonable or arbitrary manner, or withdraw the salary from a licensed Missionary, without reason sufficient to prove to the licensing Bishop the necessity of the proceedings.

It seems impossible to supersede this conventional understanding—as it may be termed—till Missions are supported by endowments, or till a code of Missionary canons be established by competent authority.

This mutual confidence and good understanding now exists, it may be thankfully asserted, between the Committee of the Society and the Ecclesiastical Authorities of every Colonial Diocese in which Missionaries are labouring. And may He, who is the God, not of confusion, but of peace, and "the great Shepherd and Bishop of Souls," unite together the hearts and hands of those who are labouring in this Holy Cause—"that all and every of these may, IN THEIR SEVERAL CALLINGS, serve truly and painfully, to the glory of His name!"

AT the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, May the 2nd, 1865, being the Sixty-sixth Anniversary—

The Right Hon. the EARL OF CHICHESTER, President, in the Chair,

PREBENDARY OF HEREFORD,

On the Motion of the LORD ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY, V.P., seconded by the REV. CANON M'NEILE, D.D., Incumbent of St. Paul's, near Liverpool, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be received, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Right Rev. Bishop Anderson, V.P., for his Sermon before the Society last evening; to His Grace the Vice-Patron; to the Right Hon. the President and the Vice-Presidents; and to all those friends who, during the past year, have exerted themselves in its behalf; and that the following Gentlemen be appointed the Committee for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies—[See List, p. iv]

On the Motion of the LORD BISHOP OF LONDON, V.P., seconded by the REV. CHARLES EDWARD OAKLEY, M.A., Rector of St. Paul's, Covent Garden, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting, having respect to the claims of the heathen world, to the just expectations of the Missionaries, and to the command of the Saviour, acknowledges the solemn obligation of endeavouring to raise the Society's income to the measure of the healthy growth of its work abroad, before it suffers that work to be cut down to the measure of a scanty liberality.

On the Motion of the REV. DAVID FENN, M.A., Missionary from North Tinnevely, seconded by the REV. C. J. GOODHART, M.A., Minister of Park Chapel, Chelsea, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting, reviewing the vast extent and variety of the Missionary work carried on by human instrumentality, recognises the need of constant prayer to the great Head of the church to pour out his Holy Spirit, by which that instrumentality may be animated, guided, sanctified, and prospered.

At a Second Meeting, held in Exeter Hall, on the Evening of the same Day—

The RIGHT REV. BISHOP ANDERSON, in the Chair,

Addresses were delivered by the Rev. J. S. Burdon, Missionary from Pekin, the Rev. James Wilson, Missionary from Bombay, and the Rev. John B. Whiting, M.A., Vicar of Broomfield, Essex, Association Secretary.

“O THE DEPTH OF THE RICHES BOTH OF THE WISDOM AND KNOWLEDGE OF GOD !   HOW UNSEARCHABLE ARE HIS JUDGMENTS, AND HIS WAYS PAST FINDING OUT !”

THESE words give utterance to the Apostle's feelings on the review of the great argument, which, under the teaching and guidance of the Spirit, he had unfolded, and in the contemplation of that bright and animating prospect which God had disclosed to his wondering gaze. He breaks out into adoring admiration of the wisdom of the scheme, which the mind of God alone could have devised, but which man's limited intelligence can discern to be infinitely glorious to the Most High, and of the divine knowledge which foreordained and planned the whole, and revealed each step in due time, and at the most fitting moment. There is a depth of the riches of wisdom on the one hand : a depth of the riches of knowledge on the other.

Nor is it difficult to account for the Apostle's emotion. If his spirit was stirred in him at Athens, would not his soul be deeply moved in writing the first Epistle to what was then the metropolis of the world, the centre of civilization ? And its influence was not to be limited to that city alone. The letter lives and works : it is imprinted on many more memories than any epistle of orator or philosopher ; it is translated into many more tongues than any production of poet or historian ; it is still blessed in turning many to righteousness.

It was written, you will remember, from Corinth, midway between Jerusalem and Rome. Looking eastward from the spot, St. Paul could not cast off the affection which bound him to his kinsfolk. "My heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved. . . . I have great heaviness and continual sorrow in my heart. . . . I could wish that myself were accursed from Christ for my brethren, my kinsmen according to the flesh." Such were the expressions of his overburdened spirit, when his thoughts rested on Jerusalem. To Athens he might probably often betake himself, as at the time within an easy distance: there he could still encounter the Epicurean and the Stoic, and, while telling them that "God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth," he would delight to lead them on to his one great theme, and preach unto them "Jesus and the Resurrection." Eagerly, however, in hope of fresh triumphs, would he continually turn westward, and trust that life might yet be spared and opportunity offered for declaring his Master's message in the imperial city. His longing desire would be to impart to those in it some spiritual gift, even as his principle of action was to "strive to preach the Gospel where Christ was not named, lest he should build upon another man's foundation."

Before passing to them in bodily presence, he forwards his Epistle, testifying in it his willingness to do yet more when the time might arrive. "I am ready," he says, "to preach the Gospel to you that are at Rome also." Thus did he embrace the Jew, the Greek, and the Roman—a messenger and an Apostle to each—with a heart that could not cease to beat tenderly towards his brethren; a mind that could enter into the field of subtle discussion with the ablest philosophers of Greece; and a boldness that would not shrink from declaring the Gospel in the streets of Rome or even in Cæsar's palace.

We can imagine the Apostle, while such thoughts passed with quick rapidity through his mind, lifted up by the Spirit to heavenly things, some of which it was not possible* for man to utter—his eye, perhaps, closed, while he gave forth words of higher wisdom than his own—dictating while Tertius wrote, and placing them thus on record as an everlasting possession for all future ages. And we stand surely on a high vantage ground: eighteen centuries would yield their additional amount of proof in favour of the wisdom of God: they would give a largely increased power of tracing Jehovah's ways.

The subject may not be altogether unsuitable, brethren and fathers, for this solemn and important occasion, if we seek to glance, though it be but hastily, at the riches of the divine wisdom and knowledge, and then endeavour to contemplate the judgments and ways of the Almighty, the development of the plan of grace in the successive ages of the world, and more especially in these latter days of blessed spread of God's truth. We are well aware that many commentators, and, among them, some of the ablest expositors of the early Church,† have imagined that the Apostle refers in the passage to three Divine attributes, the goodness (πλοῦτος), as well as the wisdom and knowledge of God; but we think it much more in harmony with the Apostle's general style, more closely parallel to his declaration,‡ that in the Saviour are "hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge," to limit it to the two attributes, of which the expression "riches" would affirm, as so frequently elsewhere, the overflowing abundance.

May the enlightening influence of the Spirit be graciously vouchsafed to all, to hearer and preacher, carrying you far beyond our imperfect words to that deeper insight into the high and heavenly theme, which language is in itself unable fully to reveal.

I. First, then, in treating of the riches of the wisdom and knowledge of God, it may, perhaps, be the clearest and most satisfactory method, to endeavour to seize the most critical moments of Divine interposition—the seasons of man's deepest distress, the periods of God's largest mercy.

(1) Take, for example, man as naturally inviting our attention, at the hour when sin makes him an exile from Paradise and banishes him from the divine presence. Or rather take him a little later, when the fruit of the curse is seen in its full development in the first death. Standing by that freshly-opened grave, and contemplating at once the simplicity of the narrative of the event, and the light which the volume of God, as a whole, casts upon it, what is the impression left upon the mind?

Is there not a deep conviction of a system—a divine plan reaching through all time, and spanning the duration of the earth? A promise passes with man from Paradise, so that he does not go thence a cheerless and hopeless outcast. There is an offering, and that one of blood—a firstling of the flock: there is faith on the part of the worshipper drawing near to the footstool of God. There is the righteous Abel, marked out as such by the lips of the blessed Saviour, placed at the head of the faithful in the roll of the worthies of the elder dispensation, and brought forward as an example of one suffering under trial and persecution by the beloved Apostle, who closes the sacred canon. Couple with these references the description given of the Redeemer, as the Lamb slain before the foundation of the world, and is there not bright evidence of that God, who had planned redemption ere ever man fell? Could salvation at that period be of man's devising? who could then truly "know the mind of the Lord, or who could be His counsellor?"

Is it not a mighty thing to know that faith preceded the first death? is there not here unity in the principle and ground of acceptance of the first saint who died, and of the last who shall be gathered into the fold of the Redeemer? Is there not thus, at the moment of man's fall, and lighting up the darkness of the earliest tomb, an infinite fertility of resource, providing for the sinner's pardon through faith and grace, and a divine foreknowledge which comprehends the end and the beginning at a single glance?

The record is given in the minutest detail in four sacred narratives. If they are messengers of glad tidings to the world, the four Evangelists seem to guide us to a death, and a tomb, and one rising from the grave. They all converge to this point, and there they leave us, as if they had then done their work and told their tale. Sacrifice, too, and type, and prophecy, all tend in the same direction; they carry forward their tribute, and lay it down at the foot of the cross. And around that cross there is concentrated unspeakable glory. There is an intensity of prayer in the garden, an agony of sorrow weighing down the Redeemer's soul, inexplicable if only individual suffering, but, if a world's load of sin, and the wrath of God consequent thereon, we wonder not at the sweat of blood. There is a loveliness of patient suffering, as we listen to the accents from the cross; there is an awfulness of mysterious love, as we pass under the shadow of that cloud, and think of the hiding of God's face from His beloved Son because of man's transgression—and there is a power of personal application in that blood, if we can hear the Redeemer saying thence, "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all ye ends of the earth."

Shall man, then, venture to depreciate that blood? shall he question the eternal truth, that "without shedding of blood there is no remission"? shall he speak lightly of the divine wrath which fell on the righteous and innocent victim, when He trod the winepress alone? Take away the sacrifice and ransom, and where is the sinner's hope? But let it stand in letters of light, a message for Jew and Gentile, that God "caused to meet on Him the iniquity of us all;" that "He was made sin for us though He knew no sin, that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him;" and there is not a sweeter declaration in all the languages of earth than this, "The blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin." He comes, then, not to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance; to seek and to save that which is lost. The scheme is mostly of God; it is “from Him, and through Him, and to Him;” and it reaches down to the necessity of man, pardoning, renewing, and clothing him, and presenting him at last before God’s presence with exceeding joy.

And we see the riches of the divine wisdom and knowledge especially in these provisions of the plan:—

i. In the retrospective efficacy of the offering. No system of man’s invention has ever, as far as we know, ventured to touch the past, but the sacrifice, which God provides, reaches backward to the moment of the fall: it is “for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament,” as well as for our own personal acceptance.

ii. In the undoubting confidence of the Saviour that His death and suffering would work with mighty power in the world. “If lifted up, I will draw all men unto me. . . . If a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it bringeth forth much fruit.” Where, is the philosopher or human teacher that has ever claimed by anticipation such influence—that his death should prove the life of the world?

iii. In sacred ordinances, designed, from the very period of institution, to embrace all time. “Go ye and teach all nations, baptizing them;” and baptism and the Christian name are surely overspreading the surface of the globe, while, in the memorial of the blood of the new covenant, believers show forth Christ’s death, and will continue to do so, until He shall come.

(3) View, however, next, the fulfilment of the great promise of the Redeemer’s life—the pledge of His acceptance in the courts above. After the heavens have received Him, shall they again open to send forth another like precious gift? So had the Redeemer promised—a Comforter, to abide permanently with His people, a guide into all truth, a conqueror of sin, an overthrower of Satan’s power. And what did man want, if not a new creation, a correction of the bias of the will, of the current of the affections, a light to shine on the cross, on the page of inspiration, and on the holiness of God? Does not Scripture claim for the Spirit such a quicken energy, sufficient to raise man's grovelling desires from earth to heaven? And, [we ask, has no such change been effected? apart from the Spirit, is there not something in the history of the last eighteen centuries, for which we want an adequate cause? How is it that philosophy utterly failed in motive, and that Christianity displays a power in life, an elevation of practical holiness in character, and a comfort, before unknown, in the hour of death?

In the Spirit's agency, too, what a depth of wisdom and knowledge!

i. It is not local, revealed to one spot, and acting from a single centre. It can be felt wherever man is found; it can reach all, however scattered and parted, and bind them together in one communion and fellowship. There are the droppings of the shower at present, the preludes of that brighter day, when the promise shall be fully realized, "I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh."

ii. The Spirit, too, would enter into direct conflict with the hosts of evil. As the Spirit of grace, He would wage warfare with the spirit that "worketh in the children of disobedience," with Satan, who has introduced into a fair world sin and death, and all our woe, and whose deadliest power is still seen in the "dark places of the earth, which are full of the habitations of cruelty." He would cast forth the strong man armed, and enter in and take possession of the soul, and make it His temple.

iii. Moreover, He would plant the seed of eternal life in the heart, the commencement of the kingdom that shall never be moved. As God first breathed into man that breath of spiritual life, which Adam soon forfeited and lost, so would the Spirit infuse that new life into the soul, that birth from above, of which the effect is seen in the fruits of holiness here, but of which the full expansion will only be in the mansions of the blessed. The Spirit thus links man to man on earth, and links believers to that heavenly home, to which all are fast travelling.

(4) And this would bring us to look upon the world since the dawn of the Christian dispensation, and to inquire, Is there no reason in the ages that have rolled along to adore the depth of the divine wisdom and knowledge? And here we find that, as the sphere widens, the proof becomes stronger, the evidence of the one only wise God more obvious and convincing.

How is it that one book has been found sufficient to guide, and comfort, and purify — one book for those of every country and hue; that the volume is found precious in its very fragments, in its shortest promises; that it speaks with power in every translation, though at times confessedly imperfect?

Again, how is it that one way of salvation seems alike adapted for all? Man's systems have been very many, God's system one; and yet it falls in with every condition of life, with every nationality, so that in it "there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, barbarian, Scythian, bond, nor free; but Christ is all, and in all."

How is it that the experience of the divine life is similar over the world; that man, under the Spirit's transforming energy, is moulded as clay by the seal? Thus the recital of the agony touches and melts the heart of the Greenlander, the North-American Indian, and the Patagonian. When God speaks peace to the heathen, it is by the same process in the soul, whether it is among the negroes of Africa, the Brahmins of India, or the Chinese intrenched in the antiquity of hereditary superstition. If the ambassador of the cross passes to the remotest regions, and plants his foot almost within the Arctic Circle on the confines of the two continents, he has nothing more powerful and affecting than the tale of the Prodigal's return to a Father's love. "The verse has been translated into the Loucheux or Kutchin language," writes the most distant Missionary in our late Diocese*—the verse, "I will arise and go to my Father," and the power of a single verse, or a single parable, who can tell?

Have we not then, brethren, from these varied trains of argument, simple and solid proof that revelation comes from one who knows what is in man—proof of substantial strength in each single view, but how great its cumulative power, when we find that man and the message exactly fit each other, and that, wherever man has yet been met with over this sin-stained world. Ought not believers to echo back the Apostle's words with a far louder emphasis now than then—"O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God!"

This subject, however, would be incomplete without adverting,

II. Secondly, to the remaining division of our text, The judgments and the ways of God.

On the judgments we dwell not. They are still, it must be allowed, unsearchable, yet they have their use in the economy of a gracious God. They are left apparently to humble the pride of man's intellect, and to make us feel that at best we only see through a glass darkly. They would serve to prove that all must give up something in embracing Christianity; that, as the man of pleasure must give up his sinful indulgence, and the man of the world his absorbing selfishness, so must the man of intellect the overweening pride of mental superiority. He must learn the lesson, "Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom," and sit at the feet of Jesus, and hear His words, and confess that in revelation "there is a length, and breadth, and depth, and height, that pass human knowledge." He must be content to cry with the Apostle, and with many of highest intellectual power since,* "O the depth!"

How little, to take only an instance or two, can man's boasted powers discover regarding the angels that fell, for whom there is no Saviour, no means of escape?

How little regarding the origin of evil, in the permitted powers of Satan,—mysteries that will never be solved by the finite intelligence on this side of an eternal world?

And what mind is there that has not at times been exercised and perplexed by the thought of the many millions still in darkness and the shadow of death?

These and other kindred subjects remain, and will perhaps for ever remain, incapable of solution by us here below, forcing from us the acknowledgment of the Psalmist,* “Thy judgments are a great deep.” They are “the secret things which belong to the Lord our God,” while “that which is revealed is for us and for our children for ever.”

But the ways of God, however dark in anticipation, are often bright and clear in the retrospect. The experience of the past becomes the guide and directory of the future. And such an occasion as the present would surely call upon us to review those ways—to take counsel from the past, and amend what is defective—to thank God, and take courage where success has been granted, and avail ourselves of any providential openings, which may graciously be presented to us.

Now we do not intend here to notice those ways, as seen in the remoter ages of the past.

They might be seen in Abraham, called alone, and separated and blessed, the head and parent of a countless posterity, the father of the faithful (the law entering only by the way to bring man to a deeper sense of his extreme need). And we may feel him in some degree linked more closely with ourselves, when we consider that his Moriah, from which he rejoiced to see the day of the Son of Man, and our Mount of Vision, from which we look back on the Redeemer’s cross, are nearly equidistant. “I called him alone,” such is God’s own declaration—an individual to manifest through all time the wonder-working ways of God, of whose blessing we ourselves partake, and in whose more extended blessing the families of the earth are yet destined more largely to share.

They might be seen, too, in the Jews, the most confined, yet the most widely scattered people on the earth. In the day of their glory, with the beautiful minuteness of their ritual, we behold them “serving unto the example and shadow of heavenly things,” and now with the word and the testimony, the lively oracles of God in their keeping, they are the witnesses against themselves to the unchanging truth of God. “This people have I formed for myself,” such again is God’s stamp and seal—a people bearing testimony through all time, and in every viscissitude, to the ways of the Most High.

They might be seen in the marvellously significant interval which parts the Old Testament from the New, in which there is no prophet, no direct communication from above. Inspiration silent, philosophy lifting up her voice, but she can give no clear knowledge of eternity, no revelation of a Saviour to wash out the stains of sin. Yet homage even then was paid to God's people and His word. The latter was translated into that tongue of greatest flexibility, ready to be spread among the nations of the earth; and the former were visited by every mighty power in succession—by the Persian and the Greek, by Alexander and Ptolemy, by Cæsar and Pompey. "Israel* was still in the highway of the world, and, though trampled by each in turn," yet each proud invader is found recognising the mysterious power of Israel's God.† Here, then, is a period, in which we cannot fail to discern the ways of God—designed apparently to teach as its grand lesson, that "the world by wisdom knew not God."

Our object is rather to trace the ways of God since the advent of the Saviour—the method and manner of His action in the spread of the truth, in the uprearing of the Christian Church.

(1) The planting of the early Churches seems recorded as pattern and example for all after times. If, as we read, whatever happened to the children of Israel happened unto them for ensamples, then the history of the foundation of the Church at Ephesus, or in Galatia, at Corinth, Jerusalem, or Rome, is surely written for our admonition. How eagerly do any, who labour in new fields, turn to the first two European Churches, those of Philippi and Thessalonica—their early struggles and their simple, confiding faith. More life-like pictures, more comforting and sustaining records, they cannot elsewhere find than what is presented in that one chapter (xvi.)* of the Acts and those three Epistles. There is the place of prayer by the river side; there is Lydia, whose heart the Lord opened, her baptism and that of her household; there is the one question of the awakened soul, "What must I do to be saved?" and the simplest of creeds, "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." Then the pastoral Epistles are as supplementary documents; and the exquisite charges of the aged Apostle to his sons in the faith give graphic outlines of the trials, the consolations, and the rewards of the true servant of God. And, added to these, come the messages to the Churches—to Sardis, Philadelphia, and Smyrna, and the other four—messages that are reproduced with power in succeeding ages, that speak with the more stirring and awakening effect from the removal of many of the candlesticks. And the inspired record of the Early Churches closes with the exhortation, the echo of which is left upon the memory, "He that hath an ear, let him hear" from age to age "what the Spirit saith unto the Churches."

(2) Again, The pathway of Providence prepares for the triumphs of Grace.

It was so in the preparation for the advent of the Redeemer. When He came in the fulness of time, the Roman empire, with its wide-spread dominion and the highways penetrating to its remotest corners, were ready for carrying abroad the message of salvation. And ever since the tide of conquest has been subservient very often in spreading onwards the glad tidings. At other times there has been the overruling of evil for good, so that of the Church, as of the Apostle, it has been true that the things which have happened unto it "have fallen out rather unto the furtherance of the Gospel." Apparent disaster has issued in the opening of new doors for the proclamation of the truth, as in the case of the Indian mutiny, and the introduction of the Gospel into the heart of China. Indeed, we know not if anywhere the subject of providential dealing can be studied to greater effect than in the details of Missionary labour. Can fiction furnish any thing of more thrilling interest than the rescue from the slave-ship, the restoration, after years of separation, to a mother's embrace, the consecration of the Christian Bishop?

(3) Observe, too, that an awakened interest in the Bible has ever been the accompaniment of revival in the Church of God. We notice this in the days of Hezekiah and Josiah of old—a renewed attention to the Word produced a reformation and turning to the Lord. It was the spread of the truth which built up the Church in Apostolic times. The heralds went forth with the living voice, but it was the written Word which fed and nourished the converts and established them in the faith. It was the re-opening of the testimony, when it had long been sealed up, which brought about the glories of the Reformation. And it is the sending forth of the Bible in the tongues of the nations of the earth which marks so highly and honourably the present century.

And, as the Missionary gathers his strength and support, his spiritual weapons from the blessed volume, so is he ever contributing in measure towards it. He clothes it in a new form, and thus through the Spirit enlarges its sphere of operation. How bright the roll of those who have thus in their day and generation given, in a new tongue, those words which will continue to act on immortal souls until Christ shall come! In each additional land, too, the Bible we are persuaded finds some fulfilment—it has purposes in each to answer—parts within it which may be brought out with fresh power in new conditions of life. And we have often thought that a more interesting addition to Biblical literature can scarcely be imagined than what might be furnished from the stores of Missionary research and travel. There would be the illustrations from habits and modes of life and thought; there would be answers to prayer in the experience of the individual life; there would be providential deliverance in the hour of imminent peril; there would be running parallels to the history of the Acts in the infant Churches scattered over the world. The Bible thus illustrated and interpreted by the living records of the Church might, we think, prove a work of permanent and surpassing interest.

(4) Has not also increased anxiety for the heathen been productive of great blessings to the Church of Christ at home?

The century opened with the prayerful and energetic endeavour of a few, men of faith and full of the Holy Ghost, to send the Gospel to dying souls abroad. The middle of the century has been marked by an outburst of zeal for dying souls at home. The uprising of many thousand Churches—the renovation of many more decayed and crumbling edifices—attest the universal desire which would say, Let us arise and build. The Churches of the living God are multiplied abroad, and, blessed be God, their number increases mightily at home.

Simultaneous work is thus the mark of the age. The temple grows, as we are led to expect, “by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part.” It is like the motion of the wheel within the wheel in the prophet’s vision, and the Spirit of life was in the wheels. We send out the priceless blessings of salvation abroad, and we find that “there is that scattereth and yet increaseth”—a larger blessing springs up around our dwellings and at our very doors. We enrich India with the Gospel, and the Indian mind is already beginning to work out problems in evidence* which may be blessed to some among ourselves; at all events, it is being brought to bear upon the question of evidence so as to place it in the best light to tell on the Eastern and Asiatic inquirer.

(5) In the spread of the Gospel, it is worthy of remark how nations have been called to act for God.

The exact moment of time is recorded when the light first crossed from Asia into Europe, when the man of Macedonia appeared in vision, and said, Come over, and help us; and ever since Europe has had some witnesses for the truth. At the time of the Reformation, on the continent of Europe, * See “The Educated Classes of Calcutta,” by the Rev. J. Barton, M.A.

Germany and Switzerland shone out boldly and brightly, nor has their glory passed away. Their contributions to the Missionary cause would still be seen in the College of Basle, and the number of men furnished from Germany to the Moravian Missions and our own for very many years.

But even more prominent than the continent of Europe, has been our own Island. And it is not a little remarkable that the dawn of Britain should have been coeval with that of Christianity. How little is known of her before the birth of Christ, her star first beginning to appear about that time, as if God's providence would mark her out as an instrument for some special purpose! Commerce at an after date formed settlements in India, which conquest has recently brought under the direct dominion of the British Crown: adventure and the discovery of the precious metals people Australia: political and religious difficulties originally planted the United States, to which the tide of emigration has in later years carried a mighty population. In all and each of these "a little one becomes a thousand, and a small one a strong nation." And there is power for God—an influence that is, or will be, exerted in each on his behalf. India, we feel persuaded, will be the mighty instrument for the evangelization of Asia; Australia for that of the islands of the South; nor can I refrain from stating my firm conviction—to which, from the knowledge of the land and the friendships formed in it, I feel bound to give expression to-night—that America, when peace is restored to her borders, will prove the greatest helper and ally in the extension of the Redeemer's kingdom. Her Missionaries are generally men of zeal, ability, and tact; they labour side by side with our own in China and India, in Turkey and Africa. Oh that the internal convulsions which at present rend the land, and for which our hearts are now wrung with grief, may soon pass away, and that we may be closely united together in endeavours for the promotion of God's glory, and the welfare of immortal souls!

(6) Looking more closely at the process of the dissemination of the truth, we notice that Centres of light are generally found studding and covering the face of the world, from which the Gospel radiates and is circulated over surrounding neighbourhoods. Antioch was such a centre of old, and Ephesus, Alexandria, and Rome. Where are any such at the present time? for we imagine they will never be found wanting.

Of the existence of such centres, no better example can be found than our own recent home. How remote the Red River itself from any civilized habitation! At times we might have been tempted to think the success smaller than we had anticipated, comparing it with the more rapid advance of more favoured spots; but then would come the animating and comforting remembrance that here was the oasis, the centre of a mighty continent with its clear beacon light of Gospel truth.

Are we called upon to name others? Would not Mauritius, from its commanding position, its union of races, its intercourse with so many lands, be such a centre? Peking too, we trust and pray, in the heart of China, may ere long become another. Of India, from its vastness, we dare not speak; its centres would be too many, and would require a deep personal knowledge to exhibit them aright. It has been done, too, elsewhere, by one well qualified for the task.* I would only name one spot as one of peculiar interest to my own mind, and that is Peshawur, the gate of Northern India, with its own five rivers of the Punjab, with the Indus and the Ganges rolling far below, and communicating at the same time with the valleys of Central Asia behind. Oh, what a position, if the light were rooted there, for diffusion over the whole of Asia!

The associations of the past would lead me to specify but two others. As a centre on the shores of the Pacific, no spot of deeper interest can be imagined than Fort Simpson, or the adjoining station of Metlahkatlah, for influence on the Indians of the coast of British Columbia and the Island of Vancouver.† And, though at this time isolated and very remote, yet, on the principle that the advanced outpost of one period becomes a centre in the next, Fort Youcon may in this way become a focus, a base of operation in carrying forward the Gospel to the Esquimaux along the Arctic Sea.

Such centres ought to be objects of enlarged Christian effort on the part of every Society and Committee; they ought to be subjects of special and earnest prayer with every lover of the Saviour.

(7) For God's service, then, and the fulfilment of His gracious purposes, the necessary instruments are raised up, spiritually-minded men to carry on spiritual work. They may be classified as the special, the duly prepared, and the native.

The special are those called by God's grace and Spirit, sent forth almost at once into the vineyard, obeying more immediately the mandate, and crying, "Here am I, send me." That there have been such men, and in our own day, few can deny. God would take the honour to Himself, and show that He can qualify; that it is not necessarily by long intellectual training, but by unction from above—by a deep acquaintance with the word and the heart, and a burning zeal for souls. It requires much discrimination and discernment of character to select such agents, but, when found, they are invaluable. Such were Johnson of Sierra Leone, and Carey, and Marsden—such are Cochran and Horden, and Duncan.

The work, however, would require also the duly and fully prepared—those who have gone through a long and laborious course of training, whether at our Universities or at the Church Missionary College. These would be the men who can cope with the subtleties of the Brahmin—who become the translators of the Word of God, the reducers of unwritten languages to shape and form, as Koelle in Africa, and Hunter with ourselves. They are the founders of educational establishments—the men who act with telling power on the native mind, and, as God enables them, are at the same time wise in winning souls. Such was Martyn, who laboured for the coming dawn; and Ragland, who inaugurated a new era in Missions, planning and devising the system of itine-ration ; such was Fox, of attractive and engaging simplicity ; and such is French, eager at this time to plant a college in the extreme north of India, so that Calcutta and Lahore, the north and south, may unite together, and the tide of a sanctified and religious education sweep over the whole land.

Are there not, moreover, other instruments, after the European has with toil and labour, and it may be with stammering lips, done his part ? The security and dependence of a Church for ultimate permanence must be from the soil. Blessed be God, whenever the work has been carried on in faith and prayer, a Native Ministry soon arises. It is so already in India and China, in Africa and North-west America. What moments of rejoicing before the angels in Heaven the first Native Ordination* in each land ; what seasons of thanksgiving for the Church on earth, when many Natives are ordained at one time, as thirteen by the Bishop of Madras,† and (to omit similar instances in the case of the Bishops of Calcutta and Sierra Leone) four on one occasion of deep and holy joy by ourselves !‡ Already in some places there is the second generation of the Native Ministry, as in Ceylon and India, and in our own late Diocese, though there, alas ! for only too short a time. Already, too, the eloquence of the Native Church would rival that of those of higher attainments and greater educational advantages, even as their very names would often revive the memory of revered ministers of the Church at home. I now only mention the names of Hensman and of Budd.§

(8) Last of all, we ought never to forget that God dealeth with Churches as with individuals in the way of gracious chastisement. “As many as I love I rebuke and chasten.” These are the words of God, especially to a Church—the burden of the message to Laodicea of old.

§ Hensman of Ceylon ; H. Budd, sen. and jun., of Rupert's Land. H. Budd, jun., died September 7, 1864.

And there is this hallowing effect in familiarity with Missionary detail, that, when all shines brightly over our own heads, we are continually called upon to remember the suffering Churches. It enlarges the heart to have its sympathies drawn out. We ask you, then, to-night to remember the captives in Abyssinia, not to forget in supplication the Native Christians in New Zealand, and still to pray that the threatened danger may be warded off from the infant Churches in Yoruba and Western Africa. Satan seems especially jealous of a youthful Church, and, wherever the light advances on his confines, there he endeavours to cast a blight. It has been so in the fondly-cherished Mission in New Zealand; it was so in the awful and bloody scenes in Northern India; it has been so very signally in Africa; though the anticipated danger has been so providentially arrested.

Nor has our own distant land been without its experience of affliction. There it has not been the withering curse of war: it is the loss of the youthful labourer—the death of those cut off in the midst of usefulness. To the stroke when sent we must bow with patient resignation, and say, “It is the Lord, let Him do what seemeth Him good;” but it was with a heavy heart that I heard only last week, that he, who was bearing the standard of the Cross in the most-advanced position, is sinking apparently in rapid decline.* You can estimate the poignant grief with which I read these words from his nearest fellow-labourer†—“Dark clouds, I fear, hang over our most flourishing Mission, the Youcon. Not, thank God, as regards the work: that is still more prosperous than any thing I have here; but in him whose health I fear is failing, if not already gone. It is a sore trial for us, but it is the Master’s will. I am distressed more than I can tell, not only on his account, but for the work’s sake. Oh that we had some one to step in at once! A less expensive, or a more interesting Mission, there is not in the diocese. There are at least one thousand families under instruction, and a more teachable set of Indians are not in the country. Oh plead for us, my Lord; plead with God for men, and plead with men for God, that they may come to gather in the harvest here. The time is short, the enemy is active, the Master will soon be here, and then blessed will those servants be who are found working and watching."

I add not to these words, and would not willingly weaken their force: I only say, Shall the minister fall in the forefront of the battle, in the remotest outpost, and shall no one come forward to take up the standard of the Lord as it drops from his hands, and occupy the ground?

Our Appeal, then, is to the Churches of our land, of which so many representatives are assembled together to-night. And the words will be carried to many more, whom our voice does not reach on the present occasion. Oh that they might be borne to every parish, and find in each a willing and ready response! If in each some Missionary agency were planted, and eagerly at work, we should then anticipate a brighter dawn; we might then hope that God's command would soon go forth, "Arise, shine, for thy light is come." But I must not forget that I address others also: there are some from China, and India, and Africa, and Rupert's Land: the Missionary Church is here. Our appeal is therefore to our beloved Church, as "sowing beside all waters," "sending out her branches unto the sea, and her boughs unto the river"—the Church at home, the nursing mother, and her many daughters abroad, covering the earth "from the rising of the sun to the going down of the same." The strength of the cause would rest mainly with the Parochial Clergy, on the means, and still more on the men whom they might furnish: it would depend, too, on the contributions which may flow in from spheres of labour abroad, and on the springing up of a Native Pastorate in those regions.

The question, then, as it appears to me, to be addressed to all, would be the solemn and searching words of the prophet, "O thou that art named the house of Jacob, is the Spirit of the Lord straitened?" How is it that we remain stationary, when the Spirit invites to so many new fields: are there opened and opening doors, and no opened hearts? Inheritors of Israel's name, possessors of Israel's blessing, is the Spirit of the Lord restrained? Has Britain risen to the height, the full measure of what she will do for the Lord? With all the wealth and luxury, the rare and singular prosperity of our land, are we not willing with redoubled prayer to cast a double, or even a threefold offering into the treasury of the Lord? Is not ours a day of largest privilege and most wide-spread opportunity? Has not God blessed us far beyond our gifts? Shall we not open heart and hand, that we may receive more fully from above?

It may indeed be said that the Society was cradled in a dark and troublous period—that its earliest exertions were in years when the most daring infidelity was propagated abroad, and when the nation was passing through a long and perilous war. And this must at once be admitted. To our own mind, however, there is something more appalling in the thought of the relinquishment of light once enjoyed. Are not many drifting back to that, from which our forefathers escaped through fires and martyrdom, and by a baptism of blood—building again the very things which we profess to have destroyed? And can this be done with impunity? is it not sure to bring down the sore and righteous judgment of the Almighty?

In the other direction there is that unwillingness to receive all that is distinctive in revelation, the vicariousness of the sacrifice of Christ, the efficacy of His blood, and the necessity of the Spirit to renew the soul or to indite the Word. Another Gospel is framed with words attractive to the ear, an admiration of the good, the beautiful, and the true, but without the balm of Gilead, the medicine for the wounded conscience. And between these two widely-diverging systems, and the variety of conflicting opinions, too many are lost in strange bewilderment, unable to find anchorage or rest for the sole of their foot. Of how many, who gave fair promise at the outset of life, have we to take up the mournful and saddening words, "Concerning faith they have made shipwreck." There are many more than we might at first imagine, who are tossed up and down on the shoreless ocean of doubt, and crying out in the agony of a perplexed spirit, "What is truth?"

For such we know not a better antidote than acquaintance with the simplicity of that Gospel which is still the power of God unto salvation—familiarity with the work and objects of the noble Society for which I plead. Amid the fluctuations of a changing age, it remains unchanged. Such as it was in the opening year of the century, such it is to-day. Such as it was when Scott, and Simeon, and Cecil, and Bid-dulph, and Venn preached the first five Anniversary Sermons, such it continues in its essential principles. One honoured name links the present period with that bright band, and I would very confidently venture the opinion, that never since apostolic times has a survey of such extended work been presented to the Christian Church, as in the Retrospect and Prospect submitted by him to a large body of the clergy at the commencement of this year.*

Finally, our Appeal is to you, brethren beloved, in a Day of unmerited and unexampled Success.

Ungrateful, surely, must be the heart which does not often cherish the question, "What hath God wrought?" Compare the position of Missionary labour with what it was at the close of the war only fifty years ago, and how great the change! Compare it with the inaction, the entire apathy on the subject, at the opening of the century, when those venerated men of God commenced the work, and is it not as life from the dead?

But take a more limited period. It is scarcely sixteen years since two were sent forth from the Cathedral Church of Canterbury to the extreme east and west—a beloved brother to the land, the interior of which had from time immemorial been walled up against the entrance of the Evangelist, while my course lay through the icebergs to the western wilderness, which climate seemed to have sealed, save against the foot of the adventurer. And what is now the result? At the heart and capital of that ancient kingdom, embracing a third of the population of the world, the banner of the Cross is unfurled; while at the furthest point of the north-west, the Loucheux and the Esquimaux are listening to the tidings of the Saviour. Our spheres of labour have nearly met: the Gospel has nearly girdled and encircled the globe: over a continent, unknown to the great Apostle of the Gentiles, European and Native labourers have passed hand in hand almost to the eastern boundary of Asia.

In bidding farewell to the work, I would bear my humble yet hearty testimony to the power of the grace of God. I do not believe that there is Indian work more favourably developed than on the Red River; a Mission more largely blessed than that at Moose; nor do I think that there is a field of greater promise to a holy and sanctified ambition than that of Fort Youcon at the present moment. For the whole land my voice shall ever be lifted up, and by prayer ascend to God; and happy shall I be, if, withdrawn myself from the scene of labour, I can be instrumental in stirring up others to fresh energy—in rolling away the reproach that we remain still and stationary, and advance not in this mighty cause.

There remains yet much land to be possessed. Each year would the Redeemer say to us, "Lift up your eyes and look upon the fields," and our reply must be, "Lord, they are very many and very white"—many more than believers were permitted to behold at any former period. Think, then, of those fields—their number, their vastness, and their necessity, as you give to-night, or as you purpose, in God's strength, to set apart a larger portion of your treasure each year, as long as God may spare you to labour for Him here below.

My three special grounds of comfort in giving up my charge would be—The foundation of a Native Ministry, The completion of the Indian Bible, and, I may add, Indian Prayer Book, and The attainment of the remotest possible point in the extreme North-West. These, however, are only steps to future and higher achievements, and in committing the oversight, in the fullest confidence, to other hands, there would be in each department a higher point yet to be arrived at. The Bible has been translated into two languages; two more—the Chipewyan and the Loucheux—are yet to be overtaken; there has been the commencement of a Native Ministry, eight ordained; but God has already called one to his heavenly home, and another seems likely soon to follow. Seek, then, would I say to him who may take up the work, to fill up the vacant places, and to extend the boundary of the Native Church—“enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of thy habitation: spare not, lengthen thy cords and strengthen thy stakes, for thou shalt reach forth to the right hand and to the left.” And if that distant point has been gained, and a thousand families are willing and waiting to hear the truth, be yours the privilege, which I had coveted for myself, to plant your foot there, and send thence the Gospel to the poor Esquimaux along the Arctic Sea. May their cry from the Youcon to Labrador, asking for the bread of life and the messengers of salvation, be heard and answered.

And from how many other spots is there something of a similar cry? How wonderful the confession of the native mind in India,* “Without faith life is without an aim, death without hope; and there can be neither individual happiness, nor national greatness. If England will not hear our cry, and, indeed, anticipate it, then will the shriek go up to our Father in heaven, ‘Father, Father, give us faith!’” Brethren, if offered with sincere and longing desire, the cry will not arise to God in vain; it will have power in heaven: let it plead effectually with your hearts.

There may be others, too, whose cry we fear, in some quarters, still ariseth before God—some without the joyful sound, who, as they look dreamily and wistfully beyond the grave and above the heavens, would say, “No man as yet careth for my soul." Let them not be forgotten by you to-night.

Rather, however, would I plead with you from past success, from what we have ourselves seen of the grace of God. I would take you to the Indian tent, cheered with the accents of prayer; to the Indian congregation, with its melody of praise, its number of devout communicants; to the Indian death-bed, full of hope of a blessed immortality. I would set before you but one such scene, which occurred only a few months ago.

An aged servant of God, far beyond the threescore years and ten, was drawing near to his end. The partner of his life, very nearly bordering on the same age, and his son, one of our ablest and most effective native preachers, were by his side. They partook together, in the humble Indian cottage, of the memorials of their Saviour's dying love. They did so for the last time, and the old man soon after expired; and his son, alluding to his peaceful death, very feelingly and touchingly proposes the question—"What would my Father have been, but for the Church Missionary Society?" Brethren, how many may say throughout the world to-day, "What would my Father have been but for the Church Missionary Society?" How many may say through eternity, when they come from the east and the west, and sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven, "What should I have been but for the grace of God, brought home to my soul through the Church Missionary Society?"

Assist, brethren, such blessed labour, the cause of the Saviour, the cause of immortal souls. Aid it with your prayers, aid it with your means, while time and opportunity are presented, and the day of grace lasts; and then, instead of contemplating as we do to-night, darkly, and dimly, and feebly, the ways of God on earth, you will very soon behold all in the light over which no cloud shall ever pass, and join in singing, "the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, Great and marvellous are thy works, Lord God Almighty, just and true are thy ways, thou King of saints."

THE Committee are thankful to announce a large increase of the ordinary income of the Society, chiefly, however, due to the amount of legacies, which have exceeded the average amount by 10,000*l*. But the expenditure of the year has nevertheless exceeded the income by nearly 4000*l*.

SPECIAL FUND FOR INDIA.

Hitherto the income and expenditure of the Special Fund for India have been kept separate from the ordinary income and expenditure; but as the Special Indian expenditure has this year exceeded the balance in hand of the Special Indian Fund, as well as the contributions of the year to that fund, the separation of accounts can be no longer maintained, but the whole of the Indian expenditure must be charged against the ordinary income.

To meet this excess of expenditure above the income of the year, as well as the deficit of the year 1863-64, the Committee have appropriated the whole of the Special Fund for India, and the sum of 3919*l.* from the Special Fund for China. This appropriation gives a balance in hand of about 6000*l.* The experience of the last few years having, however, shown the need of increasing the working Capital Fund, in order to cover the deficiency of receipts during the early part of each year, and the amount of legacies this year having been unusually large, the Committee have felt compelled to carry the balance to the Capital account, so that the current year has commenced without a balance in hand. The following statement will exhibit this adjustment of accounts.

The Local Funds raised in the Missions, and expended there upon the operations of the Society, but independently of the General Fund, are not included in the foregoing statement. They amount to about 20,000*l.*; making a grand total from all sources, including special contributions for India, of 167,176*l.*

Critical position of the Finances.

The large excess of expenditure over the income is mainly owing to the increase of the Indian Missions since the mutiny of 1857. At that eventful period the Special India Fund was raised as a Christian recompense of good for evil, and as a thank-offering to God for the deliverance of India. It was designed for, and has been devoted to, the extension of the Indian Missions, and has amounted, from the first, to 72,624*l*. Its expenditure has been spread over seven years; and as it has now been wholly exhausted, the Society is left with an augmented expenditure far exceeding its ordinary income, and without any Special Fund to fall back upon. The income of the Society has indeed been advancing during the last seven years, but the expenditure has been increased in a far greater ratio, through the rise in India and elsewhere of the prices of the necessaries of life. The rise of prices has necessitated an increased scale of expenditure throughout the Missionary operations, and especially a large increase in the amount spent in salaries, though the number of native agents has been reduced, and that of European agents has not been increased. At the last Anniversary this critical position of the finances of the Society was foreseen and pointed out as inevitable, unless the ordinary income should be augmented by 10,000*l*. But the contributions from Associations, which form the chief and more permanent source of income, only show an increase of 500*l*. The benefactions show an increase of 2000*l*. above the average.

The Committee frankly put their case before their supporters. They cannot send out fresh Missionaries, so as to keep up the present staff, without a large augmentation of income: they cannot extend the Missions without a still further increase of means. The Committee are confident that this increase may be obtained without pressing too heavily upon present contributors, if A FRESH CANVASS be instituted in old districts, as well as in new districts. The Committee are deeply sensible of their obligations to the numerous body of self-denying Collectors, as well as to the Secretaries and Treasurers of Associations, for their past labours, while they venture to point their attention to the fact, that a new and well-organized canvass has always been productive of a large increase of their resources. In more than one Association measures for a re-canvass of districts have already been taken by laymen, forming themselves into a Committee, with the concurrence of their local clergy, for this purpose. The Committee earnestly commend this subject to the immediate attention of their friends throughout the country.

• PATRONAGE.

The following friends of the Society have also been added to the list of Honorary Life Governors, having rendered very essential services to the Society:—

The Ven. Archdeacon Hone.

THE ISLINGTON INSTITUTION.

The following are extracts from the Principal's Annual Report:—

For several years past a steady increase has been reported in the number of students. Whilst, during a period of thirty years, the average residents in the College did not exceed twenty-two, the past seven years have witnessed so large an addition to our ranks that the number has more than doubled. The actual number now in residence is forty-eight, and the average for the whole year amounts to forty-seven. The offers and admissions of candidates have, however, been much fewer than heretofore. Instead of twenty or twenty-five, the average for some years past, only twelve have been admitted; and of these, two had already been employed in a lay capacity in the Mission field, leaving ten only as the actual offering of the home Church for the great work of evangelizing the heathen world. When it is remembered that the candidates for ordination in the Church of England amount probably to not fewer than 500 annually, it must be felt that one in fifty is a very inadequate contribution for the urgent wants of a whole world. Should this deficiency continue, it must tell in the course of a few years with injurious effect upon the maintenance and extension of the Missions of the Society. It would seem desirable, if this very inadequate supply of candidates continues, that means should be adopted for awakening the attention of the Church throughout the country to the subject, and inviting special prayer, as on former occasions, to the Lord of the harvest, that He would send forth more labourers into His harvest. The Institution has been in existence since Jan. 1825. From the period of the Reformation until the establishment of this College no similar Institution had existed in connexion with the Church of England, or any other Protestant body, in this country. The number of Missionaries who have gone forth from the Institution to the several Missions of the Society in all parts of the world amounts altogether to about 350. The history of these Missions is, to a great extent, the history of those once connected with this Institution. Very many have finished their course, some after a comparatively short period of service; more than twenty in West Africa alone. But nearly one-half—upwards of 160—remain unto this day, counting it their joy and happiness, after the example of the great Missionary Apostle, to “preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ.”

MISSIONARIES' CHILDREN'S HOME.

The number of children in the “Home” on the 21st of

NUMBER OF LABOURERS.

Ten ordained and one unordained European Missionaries have been sent forth during the year, and one European has been ordained in the Mission. Two labourers—one clergyman and one layman—have been removed by death; and eleven labourers—seven clergymen, two laymen, and two female teachers—have dissolved connexion with the Society on account of health and other causes. Hence the number of European labourers in full connexion remains the same as last year, viz.—

THE fourth year has been completed of the independency of the native church in Sierra Leone. It does not fall within the province of this Committee to record the pastoral statistics or the labours of the native pastors. They are responsible to their diocesan. But this Society will never cease to watch with affectionate interest the progress of a native church, which, for nearly half a century, was its own special charge, and to render such assistance, during the critical period of transition, as the case may require. ●

The native church supports nine native pastors, the Society making only a temporary supplemental grant, to enable the native church to put its churches and parsonage houses into proper repair. The Society retains for the present three churches in the colony, until the pastorate fund shall be adequate to receive them. It will eventually retain only one Mission church, and the superior educational institutions, in its own hands.

The vernacular schools are maintained chiefly by the fees of the children, and by an endowment fund raised by the people before they undertook the native pastorate.

Native
liberality.

The Committee notice with unfeigned thanksgiving the growing Missionary spirit in the native church, and that they are able to record the enlarged liberality of the contributions for Missionary purposes. While the native church was in a state of dependency upon the Society, and the Society paid its pastors, its Missionary contributions to the Society hardly exceeded 100% a year. Now that it has become self-supporting, and pays its own pastors 600% or 700% a year, these contributions have increased, till they reached last year the sum of 264% ; and this is additional to liberal contributions to the Bible Society, and to several local benevolent objects. The spirit in which these large Missionary contributions are raised is well expressed in one of the Resolutions of the Sierra Leone Association in these words:—

This Meeting would invite every section of Christ's church in Sierra Leone to united, faithful, and devout prayer to God for the outpouring of His Spirit upon His church in West Africa, for a greater exhibition than ever of vital godliness, regarding a life of purity and holiness amongst professed Christians as absolutely essential to a permanent attachment to the Redeemer's cause.

Here is the very spirit of the Macedonian churches, "first giving their own selves to the Lord," and then, "abounding liberality." (2 Cor. viii. 5.)

The arrival of Bishop Crowther in Sierra Leone, after his consecration in England, was an event of the deepest interest, and seemed to have the immediate effect of kindling an enlarged Missionary zeal in the native church. It was a remarkable coincidence, that just before the Bishop's arrival the Fourah-Bay Institution had been re-opened, after a suspension of several years, as he had been himself the first pupil, twenty-seven years before, at its foundation. The Bishop, in addressing the Missionary students and native pastors, traced his present position up to his act of self-devotion in leaving Sierra Leone and going forth as a humble labourer in the first Niger expedition, in spite of the misgivings of his friends, and the ridicule of his worldly acquaintances. He also thus touchingly alluded to the sacrifice of life in the European Missionaries who had preached the Gospel to his countrymen.

The following report of his address will be read with much interest:—

This onward progress seems to be an indication from God, beckoning to us to come forward, put our shoulders to the wheel, and ease our European brethren of the great work which they have so nobly sustained alone, from their predecessors, for fifty years. Many of these brethren have sealed the testimony of their zeal with their lives. Their graves at the burial-grounds are existing monuments of their faithful obedience to their Master's command—"Go and teach all nations." Whether called to their rest, or whether beaten back from the fields of their labour through ill health, and forced to retire, or whether still labouring among us, it is our bounden duty, and in gratitude, to remember and esteem them highly in love for their works' sake, of which we are the fruits. And let us exhibit a Missionary spirit ourselves, and encourage it among our congregations. If, as Timothy knew Paul, we have known their manner of life, purpose, doctrine, and their zeal, we should endeavour, as imitators of Missionary Enterprisers, to preach the Gospel in the regions beyond the colony.

Thus to extend our line of usefulness we must seriously impress on our Christian countrymen the necessity of exhibiting a spirit of liberality, after the example of the mother church whose spirit we should imbibe,—not only to support their own pastors and school teachers, keeping in good repair their churches and other buildings made over into their hands, but also to contribute, according to the means God has blessed them with, to send the Gospel into countries beyond them which are yet destitute of the blessings of its light.

But, above all, we must be followers of Christ, the great Shepherd of his flock, and the example of his Apostles, in the habit of prayer for help from above. This is the weapon which prevails most in the work of the ministry. When we feel our weakness and insufficiency for the work to which God has called us, we must constantly go to the throne of grace to ask divine aid, and to be better fitted. When we feel our incompetency to change a sinner's heart we shall be driven to apply to the Fountain Head for a quickening Spirit from above, which He has promised to all who ask Him. Then we shall be encouraged to go on in this our might. Has he not sent us?

II. Churches still in charge of the Church Missionary Society.

The churches of Pademba Road, Kissey Road, and Wilberforce, are still in charge of the Society until the Pastorate Fund is able to take them up; but each is served by a native curate, who is thus being trained up for an independent cure when such shall be opened for them; and in the mean time the Missionaries attached to these churches are able to devote a large portion of their time to direct Missionary work in the recent additions of territory to the colony. In the Pademba Road district there have long been two localities which have been occupied by the remaining heathen population of Sierra Leone, namely, Brookfields and Krootown: in each of these a small chapel has been erected, from whence direct Missionary labours radiate. The Kroomen upon the coast have hitherto profited less than any other class of heathen by Missionary efforts. They are seamen, and have a strong feeling of clanship, and leave their wives and families in their own country while they seek employment in other parts of the coast. Of late years the American Mission at Cape Palmas has had some success in the Kroo country, and this fact encouraged the Missionaries at Sierra Leone to place a Missionary station in Krootown within the colony. The first-fruits of this effort have been already gathered in by the baptism of Kroomen. The Missionary in charge of Pademba Road writes—

I can testify to the fact of there being a very considerable difference in the state of Krootown now and three years ago, when I used to pass through it. The change is so marked that casual observers may see it. And though we cannot speak of many actual conversions, it is yet very evident that Christian principles and practices are silently yet surely taking the place of heathenish customs, and lying vanities, and immoral doings.

Education.

Social progress.

While the Society desires, in all its Missions, to place the converts upon a self-supporting and independent system, they feel it to be equally important to retain for a time in their own care the higher educational establishments, and to supply them with European teachers; that the infant churches may have the full benefit of the advanced Christian literature and the theological learning of the mother church, and that, as far as human agency can attempt it, soundness and purity of doctrine may be sustained. In the case of Sierra Leone, however, it has been able to commit a grammar school to a native Principal, who has fully met the requirements of his position. The fees paid by the pupils, whether as day scholars or boarders, cover the whole cost of the establishment, and the school has been for the last few years accumulating a capital which will be available for scholarships and prizes. The Society only pays the usual cost of a few pupils, the sons of native Missionaries or other parties who have special claims for such a boon. This school provides an English education equal to a fair standard of grammar schools in England, comprising the elements of Latin and Greek. The number of pupils at the annual examination in September 1864 was 103, of whom 37 were boarders. The support given to this institution by the community is a sufficient proof of the value which they set upon an English education. The zealous Principal, the Rev. James Quaker, keeps up a zealous Missionary spirit among the pupils; at the same time he does not neglect the encouragement of social and national enterprise. One of the exercises at the annual examination of the grammar school, at which the Governor of the colony and Bishop were present, and a large number of the parents and friends of the pupils, was a public discussion among the senior pupils upon the two following questions—"Who are more culpable for the non-extinction of the slave-trade in Africa, foreigners, or the Africans themselves?" "Who is more beneficial to the community, the great merchant, or the great farmer?"

Re-opening of the Fourah-Bay Institution.

The Fourah-Bay Institution for the theological training of candidates for holy orders, after a suspension of five years, was re-opened in March 1864, with six students. The Committee is anxiously seeking a suitable Principal: in the mean time the Rev. James Hamilton is the superintendent, with the assistance of the Rev. Charles Reichardt and a native minister.

The Female Institution.

A large and commodious building has been erected, chiefly through the liberality of a zealous friend of the Society, as a memorial of a beloved deceased daughter. The Committee are not able as yet to announce the actual removal of the pupils into the new building, but the preparations for the removal are progressing. In the prospect of entering the new institution Miss Sass writes:—

prayer.

Oh, may the Lord Himself be in our midst! may He direct, guide, and bless us! I feel most deeply the importance and responsibility of this institution, and the amount of wisdom, grace, love, and courage required to carry out the Parent Committee's wishes respecting it, and often think, Who is sufficient for all this? But the Lord giveth strength to His people. He can confirm the feeble knees, and strengthen the hands and hearts that are ready to fail, and the weaker the instrument used in effecting His work, the more it is His own, and to Him shall be all the glory. Pray for us.

III. Unevangelized territories lately annexed to Sierra Leone.

Going to
yond.

The Committee regard it as a signal providence that the native church in Sierra Leone had been placed upon an independent footing before a large acquisition of unevangelized territory took place in the Quiah and Sherbro countries. These acquisitions will be very valuable to the colony in a social point of view, as they afford what the colony has long needed, fertile tracts of land for agricultural purposes and the growth of cotton; but in a Missionary point of view they are also important acquisitions, as affording a field for the European Missionaries released from pastoral charges, and as calling forth the Missionary energies of the native church.

The Mission in the Quiah Country is under the charge of the Rev. C. Knödler, who has acquired the Timneh language. He has erected a temporary church at Ma Dunke, which was opened on the 5th of May 1864, and a school is held in it. He writes at the close of the year:—

I have made frequent journeys into various parts of British Quiah and the Timneh country, but found it generally very difficult to collect any considerable number of people together. The Timnehs live the greater part of the year in their rice farms, where also the services of the children are required, and there remain in the villages only a few infirm men and women and little children. But in places where the farms are not too distant the people return in the evening, and it is then that I have the best opportunity of speaking to them the word of life. Often when I visit places for the first time the people run away from me and hide themselves, because they mistake me for a bailiff or some other officer; but they return as soon as they are acquainted with the real object of my mission, and on future visits I am always gladly welcomed and heard, if the people are at home.

I am becoming more and more convinced that it is, especially in this country, the best plan to preach simply the Gospel from place to place to those who will listen to it. School instruction I consider to be of less importance. This will naturally follow when the word of God has taken root in the country and in the hearts of the people.

The Sherbro Territory has only as yet been occupied by a native schoolmaster and catechist, at Bendo, with occasional visits from the Missionaries at Sierra Leone. As the teacher uses at present the English language, the Mission can hardly be said as yet to be commenced: so many, however, of the Sierra-Leone traders are settled in the Sherbro country, that 150 attendants are reported to be at the English Service on the Sunday, and twenty-one children attend the English school.

The Bullom Shore is only partly under the British Government, and partly under native Mohammedan kings and chiefs. It was, in former years, occupied by the Society's Missionaries, but abandoned when the number of European Missionaries was reduced, and there were no native pastors to occupy their places. Three years ago it was re-occupied by a native catechist, under the superintendence of an European Missionary.

The native catechist, Mr. Boston, after labouring with zeal and perseverance for three years, was admitted to deacons' orders, by the Bishop of Sierra Leone, on Trinity Sunday, 1864. He has commenced preaching in Timneh, which is the vernacular language. He resides at Yongro. A native catechist, Mr. Marke, has been placed at Rogbanny. Many difficulties and discouragements beset the work in this district, yet some progress is made. At Midsummer 1864, Mr. Boston writes:—

Efficiency
of Native
Teachers.

The number of communicants in my class at present is twenty-four: three, having removed to Rogbanny, are transferred to Mr. Marke; ten candidates for the Lord's Supper, and fifteen inquirers, making forty-nine persons in all, who receive religious instruction at three different classes, met weekly. Mr. Marke has formed a class too at Rogbanny, composed of communicants, numbering nine candidates for the Lord's Supper and six candidates for baptism, fifteen on the whole. That the Lord may add much more to these numbers, and increase us all in faith and holiness, is my heartfelt request.

YORUBA MISSION.

THIS Mission has, during the last year, been deprived of the valuable assistance of A. A. Harrison, Esq., M.B. of Cambridge, who joined the Mission as a medical man in 1861. He was on his return home in consequence of his health, and died at sea, June 12, 1864. The Rev. H. Townsend bears the following just tribute to his worth:—

We have just learned that Dr. Harrison died two days after leaving Lagos. We are very sorry. I am sorry, personally, in being deprived of a friend; and the Mission suffers in the loss of one who devoted all his time and talents to it very quietly and very effectively. He was silently working with the natives: his medical practice was increasing, and the natives and Europeans appreciated it much more of late than at first. He taught daily: first he gave Greek lessons, then spent an hour in school teaching arithmetic, and then had a class of boys in his own house. Of late he undertook to teach a class of natives English after dark. He taught a class in the Sunday school regularly, Mrs. Harrison had a good number of boarders, Ijaye children chiefly. The Doctor was the editor of the Iwe Irohin from his first arrival until his illness. He is deeply regretted everywhere.

LAGOS.

The population of the island of Lagos is estimated at 30,000 souls. The Christians form as yet but a small proportion of the people. The Society has three churches—the Mission church, under the charge of the Rev. J. A. Lamb; the Bread-Fruit chapel, under the charge of the Rev. L. Nicholson; and a chapel near the king's palace, under the native minister, the Rev. W. Morgan.

Mr. Lamb acts as the efficient Secretary of the Mission. There is as yet no colonial chaplain: he therefore holds two English services in the Mission church, at which there is a good attendance of English-speaking natives.

The Mission church was the scene of a very interesting event in August last, when a native African bishop, Bishop Crowther, with the assistance of two English and one native minister, held an ordination service, and admitted to priests' orders, under commission of the Bishop of Sierra Leone, the Rev. Mr. M'Kenzie, a coloured clergyman from the West Indies, acting chaplain of Cape-Coast Castle.

The native congregation assembling at the Mission Church contains eighty communicants. The weekly contributions for the Native Pastorate Fund amounted last year to the sum of 22*l.* 2*s.* 2*d.* And on a late occasion, when the roof needed repairs, an appeal to the Europeans and natives throughout the town produced more than 100*l.* Native liberality.

Mr. Nicholson writes respecting his labours in the Bread-Fruit chapel—

During the year seventeen adults have been baptized, fifteen on New-Year's Day and two on Whit-Sunday. Many more might have been baptized if I would only make the door of entrance into the visible church wider. Some, who had been years under Christian instruction, and who knew in their heads the way of salvation, but who, living in sin, chiefly in adultery, showed they had never received the truth in their hearts, I refused to baptize.

Since my last report the Bread-Fruit church has been enlarged, and continues to be well attended. The congregation in the morning is the largest. There is often, even now, not room enough to contain all who come. The average attendance is from 370 to 400, though at times the numbers, inside and out, exceed 500. The Sunday services are full of encouragements, as the Lord does not leave us without proof that His word is powerful to the conviction and conversion of sinners. In addition to the Yoruba services morning and afternoon, I judged it advisable to have an English service in the evening, as there are very many Sierra-Leone people who speak English, and who, on Sunday nights, are scattered as sheep without a shepherd. Missionary progress.

Last year the weekly contributions were only 10*l.* 10*s.* This year, that is, from January to September, the weekly contributions have amounted to 35*l.* 3*s.*; so that by the end of this year we shall, I hope, have collected nearly 50*l*. I think it is good policy to teach the people to give: they value their religious privileges more when they pay for them; and besides, the Missionary must always have in view the establishment of the native church; and one great way in which he helps that forward is by teaching the people to give liberally and willingly. Besides what has been collected weekly, my people have also subscribed 17*l*. towards defraying the expenses of enlarging the church.

The attendance at the day-school is larger than ever it was before: the average attendance is now 130. Last year the amount of school pence was 3*l*. 10*s*. 4*d*.; this year, from January to September, it amounts to 11*l*. 18*s*. 6*d*. I can see great improvements in the school: the masters also do their work with more method and zeal than formerly.

The Sunday School continues to be well attended: the numbers are about 150: the greater part are adults. The communicants amount to 179; and there are 90 candidates for the Lord's Supper, as well as 43 candidates for baptism.

BADAGRY.

Badagry, together with all the country south of the lagoon, having been annexed to British territory, the Rev. Joseph Smith, upon his return to Africa, was stationed in that town. But the determined rejection of the Gospel by the Popo tribe still continues, which proved so discouraging when the place was first occupied as a Missionary station. Mr. Pearse, the native catechist, had collected a small congregation of Yorubans, and thus speaks of the benefit of British authority in the town:—

of British authority.

All the members of the communicants' class can read the holy Scripture, some in English and Yoruba, and others only in Yoruba. The candidates for baptism were learning to read in Yoruba: the Lord's Prayer, the creed, the ten commandments, and Dr. Watts's first catechism in Yoruba, have been got up by some of them. Others, indeed, are careless and indifferent, and do not avail themselves of the privilege of Sunday schools. The day school was progressing satisfactorily through the diligence of the master. There were twenty-seven scholars on the whole. The Popoes remain in unbelief as before. The cession of Badagry is very mortifying to many of their superstitious and cruel practices. The execution of witches is for ever done away with. Thieves are sent to the chain-gang at Lagos, without consulting their pleasure. The result is, that many of that lazy set, who used to spend the whole day in drinking and sleeping in the palm-wine shops, and at night go about to steal, have mostly disappeared from town; and others, who are more confident as to the protection of themselves and property, are now busily engaged in making palm-oil, and in cutting down bushes against the rainy season, for cultivations.

OKEODAN.

As soon as Okeodan was received under British protection, it was thought desirable that an European Missionary should be stationed there; and the Rev. A. Mann accordingly commenced the Mission, and took up his residence in the place. Okeodan, however, being a border-town on the confines of Dahomey, has been in continual apprehension of an attack from that savage despot, and the population has been in an unsettled and fluctuating condition. Uncertainty, also, as to its political relations with Great Britain, as only a protected territory, has been added to the causes of dissatisfaction; so that Mr. Mann has little encouragement to prolong his stay there, and will shortly remove to some more promising field of labour, probably in Lagos.

The Out-station of Ota.

The Rev. James White received priests' orders from the Bishop of Sierra Leone on Trinity Sunday 1864, and returned soon afterwards to resume the charge of Ota. He was warmly welcomed back by his people, as they had been for some time without a resident minister. He reports favourably of the spiritual state of the congregation at the close of the year.

ABEOKUTA.

Dahomian Invasions and Defeats.

The Report of last year recorded the signal mercy of God in delivering Abeokuta from the bloodthirsty rage of the king of Dahomey, when, in 1863, he encamped against the town for eight days, and retired to his own country without striking a blow. This year the same over-ruling Providence gave the town as remarkable a deliverance from the same savage enemy, though he was permitted to assault the town with an army of 10,000 warriors, including several thousand of his Amazons. The onslaught was sudden, fierce, and determined; but the defenders of the walls met it with equal courage and determination, and one hour's desperate fighting

saved Abeokuta, and overwhelmed Dahomey with confusion and destruction. This was March 16th, 1864.*

Only one of the Missionaries present on this occasion, Mr. Townsend, had witnessed the defeat of the Dahomian army in 1851, when a similar attack was made; and his contrast between the two occasions may serve to illustrate the social progress of the town under the civilizing influences of Christian Missions during the interval—

Social progress.

The behaviour of the inhabitants in 1851 and now was very different: then ten thousand persons ran away: they passed our house in one unbroken stream of people passing out towards Oshielle; now none whatever did so: then our compound was occupied, crowded by frightened women; now we were left with scarcely any one but children. After the fight they ascribed much of their success to the white people. In the afternoon of Tuesday, as we passed through the streets, people everywhere ascribed praise to God for their deliverance. The chiefs sent their messengers to thank us, stating that our fidelity to them, and the falsehood of those who had maligned us, had been clearly shown.

Mr. Bühler's testimony is to the same point—

Indirect Missionary influence.

The women were in great excitement, or, I should rather say, in indignation against their enemy: great numbers went about encouraging the warriors whilst marching along; others made ready provisions and water for the fighting men; others were passing my house, saying to-day they would call upon God (Olorun) to help them; whilst not a few of the warriors, when passing me, said, "White man, sit down quietly: to-day we will show you that we can protect our white men; to-day you will see what we can do." Others I overheard saying, "Olorun dide," i.e. "Oh God, arise!" I saw thousands pass my house towards the seat of war, but I did not see any one betray the slightest fear.

Mr. Bühler closes his account with the following excellent remarks:—

Praise, and honour, and glory be to our gracious God, who has delivered our lives from destruction, and has answered us with mercy and loving-kindness! But I cannot conclude without expressing, in my own name and in the name of thousands of Christians and heathen, our deepest gratitude towards all those who have offered up their constant, earnest prayers at home on our behalf. May the Lord grant unto all everlasting blessings! It is remarkable that so many of the heathen, and especially the chiefs, in their public meetings, have publicly acknowledged that they owe this great victory to the prayers of the Christians. We told them last year how prayers were offered up at home day and night for this town, and now they acknowledge it openly. There is no boasting heard among the people, but a comparatively quiet and happy rejoicing. The Bashorun said, in a public meeting, to the people, They had seen how much their white men had kept to them, and how much they had the welfare of the town at heart; and then added, "Let nobody say one word any more against them."

* The loss of the Egbas appears to have been about forty killed and one hundred wounded; that of the Dahomians between one and two thousand killed and wounded, and three thousand prisoners.

Value of intercessory prayer.

Oh that it might please the Lord to turn their hearts towards Him, that they might acknowledge Him, in word and deed, to be the Lord. The war with Ibadan is a great trouble to them: they wish for peace to pursue trade and agriculture. As the Governor of Lagos is expected the beginning of next month, possibly something may be done towards restoring peace. Oh that it may please the Lord to hear the many prayers which are offered up for this land. Surely the Lord will do it in his own good time. It is a great comfort to us to know that we, and our flocks, and this country, are daily remembered at home before the throne of grace. We are still much in need of the prayers of God's people. Such a long war necessarily demoralizes the people; but our trust is in the Lord our God.

The Committee are grieved to report that the deplorable war between Abeokuta and Ibadan still continues. Each party claims a just ground of offence. The sad result is, that the Missionary brethren at Ibadan are shut up from communication with the rest of the Mission, with very scanty material supplies, and without the assistance of native teachers, and of frequent refreshing intercourse, which they might otherwise enjoy in the more advanced congregations of Abeokuta and Lagos.

The misunderstandings also between the British Government at Lagos and the chiefs of Abeokuta have not yet been brought to a satisfactory adjustment, so that the road from Abeokuta to Lagos is still closed against trade.*

* During a few days the road was opened to allow of the bringing down of an accumulated stock of cotton: the following calculation of its value was inserted in the Yoruba bi-monthly newspaper—

"The quantity of cotton that has passed the Aro gate since the opening of the road is 3574 bales: each bale is estimated to contain 130 lbs. of cotton, at which rate the entire amount will be 464,620 lbs. The price paid for it may be reckoned at 6d. per pound, that is, the sum received by the natives for their cotton amounts to 11,615l. The amount of duty paid on passing

All these complications would seem, humanly speaking, much to the disadvantage of the cause of Christ. Yet there are some indications of brighter prospects arising out of the present calamities. Abeokuta has, during the last two years, been preserved from the intrusion of ungodly European traders, and has therefore been more fully under Missionary influence. The gallantry also shown by the Christian soldiers in the defence of the walls of Abeokuta—for the chief attack of the Dahomians was directed against the part placed under their defence—have won for them and for their Christian commander a position they might not otherwise have attained. Thus it may be humbly hoped that at this season, when the extension of the Mission is unhappily checked, Christianity is striking its roots deeper into the earth, in preparation for more abundant fruit-bearing when peace shall happily be restored.

The Rev. G. F. Bühler writes from Abeokuta, June 29th—

plary Native Christian.

I am full of hope that there will be a large opening for the Gospel, especially also in the Ijebu country, which was shut up hitherto entirely. Our Christians in the camp are highly esteemed by the Ijebus: the Christian captain (Balogun) stands very high in the estimation of all. He shares dangers and fatigue with his soldiers, unlike the other war-chiefs; and having learned from Mr. Mann, in Ijaye, to extract balls and perform the duties of a petty doctor, his help is everywhere sought and found. He is an excellent Christian, of the Ake congregation. The heathen chiefs and people told him that he had received some medicine from the white man so that no ball could hit him. To which he replied, "Yes, come; I will give you of that medicine:" and showed them the word of God, and read to them portions of the Bible. "This," he said, "is my medicine and my food daily." It is a matter of great thankfulness to God that He has given our people such a sincere, and pious, and disinterested leader. Perhaps the Lord has reserved him for still greater things. I need scarcely say that our constant and earnest prayers are for peace and the coming of the Redeemer's kingdom.

the gate is 486*l.*, or about 3½ per cent. on its first cost. The carriage from Abeokuta to Lagos, together with the labour of pressing, amounts to about 328*l.* The total sum, therefore, received by the native population on account of cotton is 12,359*l.* The whole of this sum is the price of labour (except the sum paid for duty). Land costs nothing: the cost of raising cotton is the value of the labour bestowed on it. The stock of cotton in the hands of the natives is by no means exhausted, and we are now on the eve of gathering in another crop: there is a prospect that the yield will be good.

"The sum of 12,359*l.* would be over the value of 1000 slaves caught in war: 2000 Dahomians would be scarcely worth that amount."

The Rev. J. B. Wood closes his annual letter on the same point—

It is now more than four years since the war, which cannot yet be said to have come to a close, commenced. It must have a great influence eventually for good or evil: upon this subject opinions may differ, and do differ. Like every affliction, it is for the present bad to bear, but the result may be sufficient to compensate for all. It may yet be seen that these wars and rumours of wars have been the very best means of calling the attention of the people of this land to subjects of the highest importance to its future well-being, of awakening a spirit of inquiry, of removing prejudices, and of exploding old exclusive modes of thought, and opening a highway for the light of the Gospel of peace. I say not this merely because I imagine it: I think it a fair and true deduction from what I see and hear around me. It must be confessed, however, that the present aspect of affairs is none of the most assuring. Peace is not restored, and when it will be, none can say.

AKE.

The strength of the Mission in Abeokuta has been much reduced by the death of Dr. Harrison, the departure to England of Messrs. Leib and Faulkner, and the continued illness of Mr. Bühler. The different stations have however been carried on as in former years; and though the minds of the people are much distracted by political affairs, some progress is visible in the increase of converts and in their establishment in the faith and practice of the Gospel. Under the political circumstances of the country, Abeokuta has become the resort of individuals of various tribes, who are thus brought under the sound of the Gospel. Mr. Townsend writes that on one occasion "14 adults were baptized at Ake: of this number, 2 were of Lagos, 3 of Ijaye, 1 of Egbado, 1 from the interior, and 7 were natives of Abeokuta."

Mr. Wood thus describes the state of his district, Ikija, at the close of 1864—

The attendance on the means of grace has been, on the whole, good, but it might have been better. The state of the congregation is encouraging. The average attendance at the Lord's Supper has been greater than the year preceding the one just closed. The class of communicants has increased by eleven: some of its members are a comfort to me: they are deepening in knowledge and growing in grace; but some are far below what they ought to be, and might be. Fifteen adults and ten children have been received into the church by holy baptism. The number of candidates for baptism is thirteen, one of whom was a Mohammedan. The amount raised in 1864 for local purposes is 24*l.* 16*s.* 11*d.* Of this sum, 5*l.* will go toward the Native Pastorate Fund, and the remainder towards defraying the expenses of the salary of a Scripture reader, supported by this church, and for church repairs, &c.

I have met my Scripture readers three times a week during the year, except when away from home, for reading the word of God and prayer. We have gone through the Epistles to the Romans and Hebrews. By this means they have grown in knowledge, I trust, and been better grounded in the faith, as well as otherwise benefited. They have their failings, like other men, but, upon the whole, I cannot but regard them as good, zealous men, who work for and desire the glory of God.

On the 11th of September I opened a temporary church in Ilaro, in which two services have been conducted every Sunday since—one by myself, except when unavoidably prevented, and one by my native helpers. This place is, upon the whole, very promising: the congregation consists of about twelve or fifteen adults usually, and twice that number of children. The situation is one of the best. I hope that, in two months or ten weeks, a permanent place will be opened, built with funds very kindly supplied by the Rev. H. Walsh, of Bishopstowe, and to be called the “Bishopstowe Church.”

Owu has the smallest congregation of the four districts into which the town of Abeokuta is divided. In the early part of the year it was under the European catechist, Mr. V. Faulkner. Upon his return to Europe on sick certificate, April 1864, the Rev. J. A. Maser undertook the charge of the station, residing at Ake. The number of adult Christians is about 150, and of communicants 53. Mr. Maser has diligently commenced house to house visitation; and, though often received with coldness and opposition, he patiently perseveres in his attempts to address the Gospel message personally to all the people.

Igbein station has been under the charge of Mr. Bühler, together with the seminary for native teachers. The failure of his health has prevented the transmission of his usual annual report.

The Rev. H. Moore is the native pastor of the out-station of Oshielle. In his annual letter he thus writes:—

Blessed be God in that all the troubles experienced in this country by means of the wars have been, in some instances, rendered subservient to the glory of the Christian God, and that Christianity is gaining more and more the affection of the people in this country. Those who were bitter enemies to their relatives who embraced the Christian religion before, as if they had joined a bad society, are now re-united with them, and eagerly seek their friendship, having seen that Christianity is not a bad religion, as they ignorantly believed in times past. The reason why people did not join the Christian religion in great numbers before was because they hated it; but they do not have the same hatred for it now. If so, it may be naturally expected that they will be joining it in great numbers; but, alas! that is far from being the case, because of the evil propensity of man's heart, by means of which even many learned and civilized men have endeavoured to turn the truth of God into a lie.

Public sentiment in favour of Christianity.

In Mr. Moore's journal a notice occurs respecting his pastoral visitations which illustrates his ministerial fidelity as a witness for the truth as it is in Jesus.

July 22, 1864.—On my way home from Eleiyele last time, reflecting on what I had said to the people there, I found that I had not touched upon the text, Jesus Christ; that my long discourse with them was principally directed to instruct them in those truths which related to the being and perfection, the authority, laws, and worship of the one living and true God; therefore it struck my heart that I should revisit the place again within a few days, to tell the inhabitants of the great thing Jesus Christ had done for us: but the daily rain here since then prevented me from putting this, my darling wish, into execution, till to-day, when I found the weather to be fair: then I started for the place, to ease my mind of its burden on the most important subject. A little less than two hours' gentle ride enabled me to find myself once again at Eleiyele. Riding rendered it unnecessary for me to complain of the disagreeable mud and streams which one has here and there to meet with on the way. Having arrived at Eleiyele I had to wait for some time before the people returned from their morning labour in the field; and the subject of the care, regard, and love of God for our fallen race was laid before all those who were willing to listen, which He manifested by giving us His only-begotten Son to unite us to Himself—we who have been estranged from Him by evil inclinations, like lost sheep; and they listened to my discourse on the subject with good attention and astonishment. And I endeavoured, as much as I could, to make them acquainted with the knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ, whom truly to know is eternal life, and to die in ignorance of whom is eternal death. Many of them were much affected with what they had heard. May it be to them a savour of life unto life, and not the savour of death unto death. On my way to Eleiyele I became acquainted with several other hamlets, some of which, though not famous as yet, are more populous than Eleiyele, especially one by the name of Owe, which, though I have never heard of it before, yet I found it to be much larger than Eleiyele. In all the hamlets the Gospel may be preached freely, without any opposition.

The other two out-stations of Abeokuta, Obommosho and Oyo, have been cut off from all communication by the war; but the catechists stationed there are reported to be in health, and diligent in their work.

IBADAN.

The uncertainty of letters sent from Ibadan reaching their destination upon the coast, as well as the unsettled state of the town, has prevented the Committee from receiving formal reports of the labours of the Missionaries. Besides the severe trials to which Mr. and Mrs. Hinderer have been exposed for the last three years from the want of necessary supplies of food and clothing, they have, during the last year, had the addition of bitter disappointments, when they trusted that peace had been made, but war again broke out. They, with their companion, Mr. Roper, have great need of the sympathy and prayers of their friends; and with these prayers thanksgivings may well be mingled, for the signal grace of God in upholding the faith and patience of his sorely-tried servants. The following extract from a letter dated Ibadan, May 10, 1864, will describe their position. It only reached England many months after it was written.

On the 23rd of March we sent letters to you by way of Iberikodo, by which town there has been much trade carried on lately between Yoruba and Egba. If those letters reached you, you will have been glad to know how the Lord has graciously kept us hitherto. We are now again making an attempt at sending a few lines by way of Korodu, by some one who came across the country from the Niger, and who has a hope to get, by a secret road, to Lagos, viâ Jebu Remo. We are still, through God's mercy, enjoying pretty good health, and have maintenance for some time to come, partly from what we got last year viâ Oyo, partly from the dollars the Governor of Lagos so kindly sent us by way of the River Niger, but chiefly now, by being able to sell, though with much loss, a large quantity of fine corals, which I bought at Lagos three years ago, and which I could not change into cowries hitherto. In other respects we are still in the same position as when we wrote last, excepting our usual routine of instructing and preaching to our comparatively small Christian community, hindered in a multitude of ways doing our Missionary work as we ought and wished. I have lately been so lucky as to find another blank copy-book, one which I had used to register baptisms and burials before I got the proper register. I am using it now for translating the prophet Isaiah, thinking it might be more profitable than writing journals and the like on it. I have selected the prophet Isaiah to translate at a venture, not knowing what may have been translated by Mr. Crowther or any one else; and having no means to ascertain it, I thought that if translations were being made of portions of the Old Testament, they would naturally be of the historical books, as being the key to the prophets. But should the prophet Isaiah be translated already, the work is still of use, to myself at least, both as a spiritual and mental exercise.

tion of Scriptures.

We long very much for news from home, as well as from Lagos and Abeokuta.—Yet why should we complain? The Lord is very good and merciful to us; and one time, I suppose, we shall get a road again. How happy that time will be; and how sympathizing we should be with all prisoners and captives, if even our light captivity is such a cross!

NIGER MISSION.

Visitation of Bishop Crowther.

THE last Report recorded the consecration of the Rev. Samuel Crowther to the office of a bishop. The Committee now report with devout praise and thanksgiving the visitation of that native bishop to the Niger Mission. The bishop proceeded from Sierra Leone and Lagos. From thence, within a few days, he was received on board H.M. ship "Investigator," which was about to ascend the Niger under Commander Knowles, with supplies for Dr. Baikie at the Confluence.

By this opportunity the bishop was enabled to spend seven weeks in visiting the stations, and to lay out many plans for the future extension of the Mission, and then to return to Sierra Leone for a fresh supply of native teachers, with whom he will be ready again to ascend the river this year to strengthen and enlarge the native church, already firmly rooted, through the good providence of God, on the banks of the Niger.

Efficiency
of Native
Teachers.

At Gbebe the work of conversion had been quietly but surely advancing, through the agency of the humble Scripture readers stationed there; so that the bishop confirmed 21 candidates, 16 of whom were natives of the place, and 5 Sierra-Leone settlers. On a subsequent Sunday he administered the Lord's Supper to a company of 25 converts, and afterwards baptized 10 adults and 7 children of converts. A few of the converts were from among the Mohammedans, but the greater part are from the heathen tribes of the Igbiras and Bunus.

Missionary
progress.

At Onitsha the bishop found the native minister, the Rev. J. C. Taylor, zealously maintaining his ground amidst much opposition from Mohammedans, and all the evils of a barbarous government. Nevertheless the native church had increased to 135 converts, with 48 communicants. A day school of 50 children was established, and a Sunday school of 70, chiefly adults. The advantages of Christian education were beginning to attract the respect of the people, and a fair commencement was made of an industrial institution; so that the Mission may be regarded as established upon a firm basis.

On the strength of these promising commencements, Bishop Crowther determined to establish a third station between the Confluence and Onitsha, which might connect the two together, and so occupy that part of the Niger with a chain of stations capable of giving support and encouragement to each other. The place selected was Idda, an important town on a commanding position upon the high bank on the east of the river, and extending its influence north-eastward to the banks of the Tshadda. Here was the first opportunity for testing the value of the new position of a native bishop. Samuel Crowther had once attended the court of the king of Idda in the humble capacity of interpreter to Captain Trotter, the Royal Commissioner. Some years afterwards he had again visited the king as an ordained Missionary, asking permission to establish a school and the preaching of the Gospel in the town: but now he stood before this African monarch in the confidence of one who held a commission to direct and press forward the extension of Christ's kingdom in the presence of kings, and “not to be ashamed.” In this confidence he determined to precede the Royal Commissioner, and prepare the king of Idda for his arrival. He went, therefore, alone to the royal city; and with great wisdom and simplicity, showing all respect to national customs as one of themselves, yet rising to his higher and independent position, he simply stated three objects of his visit; first, to obtain land for a Christian place of worship and school, which he was now in a capacity to occupy without further delay; secondly, to claim for the representative of the Queen of England an admission to the king, for the purpose of negotiating a treaty, without the tedious delays and ceremonies which, on two former occasions, had prevented the interviews; thirdly, “that the king should take into consideration the ruinous state of a large portion of his town, and act as a king ought to do, by calling together the elders of his country, and consulting to put an end to the quarrel between his and his predecessor’s family, and recal them to rebuild their houses, for the sake of the friends who now interpose, but, above all, for God’s sake, who might never forgive us if He were to keep His anger for ever.” The result of this interview was, that land was publicly given for a Christian Mission, the British Commissioner was admitted to see the king on the day of his arrival, and a treaty with Great Britain was signed, and the highest official of the palace was sent within a few days to negotiate a reconciliation with the banished members of the royal family.

Influence
Bishop.

The next step of the bishop was to select one of the native teachers in the Niger as the future Missionary for Idda, and to ordain him to the office of a deacon at Onitsha, with the assistance of the native minister at that station. The Committee cordially echo the sentiments expressed by Bishop Crowther on this occasion:—

At the ordination there was nothing grand, but a peculiar solemnity pervaded the whole service. The place of ordination, the congregation among whom it took place, the candidate for ordination, the assisting priest, and the officiating bishop, presented such a novel scene, as if a new thing was taking place in Africa. Can this be real? Is this the way Christianity spread to remote countries in the first centuries of its promulgation? Is the nineteenth century the time when “many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased”—when “the wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them, and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose?” If so, let the Church of Christ buckle on her harness; for this is the time of her action. “Enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of thine habitations: spare not: lengthen thy cords and strengthen thy stakes. For thou shall break forth

on the right hand and on the left; and thy seed shall inherit the Gentiles, and make the desolate cities to be inhabited." Her efforts are becoming more permanent in Missions among the heathen; her zealous Missionaries may have long entered into rest, or been beaten back to retire, through broken health, from the Missionary fields of labour in heathen lands, yet their fruits remain: the labours of early Missionaries in the West-Africa Mission are becoming reproductive on the banks of the Niger. If the Lord give the word, great shall be the company of the preachers. Let us, then, watch the leadings of His providence, and be on the alert when He beckons us to move forward.

aids to a Mission.

Upon Bishop Crowther's return to the coast he visited the chiefs of Bonny River, who have frequently applied to the Missionary Societies to send them a Missionary. The bishop called them together, and represented to them, that as they prospered in trade with the Europeans they were able to support a Missionary, and if they really desired his presence they must guarantee his salary. These heathen chiefs agreed to the terms, and guaranteed 150*l.* a year to the native teacher whom the bishop should select and send to them.

Onitsha.

The journals of the Rev. J. C. Taylor of his labours at Onitsha are full of interesting information respecting the manners and customs of the people, and their willingness to receive Christian instruction, of the gradual influence of Christianity over the public mind, and of the occasional outbreaks of the spirit of persecution. He has been greatly tried by the frequent occurrence of human sacrifices, against which he has no power to contend, except by an earnest appeal to the natural conscience, which has often a visible effect, though it cannot avert the king's sentence, under which these murders are perpetrated. The following notice occurs in Mr. Taylor's journal for Christmas-day 1863:—

ism.

Christmas-day—Preached from Matt. i. 18 to 200 natives present, to whom I unfolded the nature of the anniversary of our Saviour's nativity, and the blessings which followed from it. Whilst we rejoice in the return of this season throughout the Christian world, we cannot so fully share in it in heathen lands. To-day the funeral obsequies of Ede were kept with great pomp; the deafening sounds of musketry, and the audible tone of the tomtom, eating and drinking, wild music and dancing, mingling with heathen revellings; and, to cast a gloom upon the whole, a woman was killed by his surviving sons as a great honour to their deceased father, to be his servant in the future world. Having heard that they would sacrifice a human being, I took an early opportunity of giving his sons wholesome advice. They slighted my advice that they should sacrifice a bullock instead. At last arrived the fatal hour to offer the evening sacrifice of a human victim. One and another was conscience-stricken. The poor wretched creature being fast bound to the ground, the muzzle of the gun was placed on her chest, discharged with all its contents, and gave instantaneous death. Those who could not bear the sight hurried away from the atrocious deed. Thus one was hurried away from time to eternity. This is now the eighth victim within a brief period that has passed through seas of blood to eternity. Those whom I have not heard nor seen I cannot say much of, but suffice to say, that it is a common occurrence in this country. Such is the way we have spent our Christmas in heathen lands, and such is paganism.

The following notice will exhibit the little company of believers, though surrounded by such horrid scenes, in communion with their fellow-Christians all over the world:—

Jan. 4—10, 1864—General prayer-meeting this week. What a blessed thing to be associated with the body of Christ's church all over the world! We felt it a hallowed season of peculiar interest. A blessed week! A week of weeks! It does my soul good to be united in fervent prayer to Almighty God, our indulgent Father in Christ Jesus. We have but one chapel in this place, and it was well attended; so much so, that there was a cessation of work amongst my simple converts. Oh, could the Christians in civilized lands have witnessed the sight, and heard the expressions of joy, and gratitude, and deep-toned piety that proceeded from the lips of the native converts, and their earnestness in pouring out their supplications to God, they would feel how well warranted is the hope, that the Lord has blessed our labours, and beckons us to press forward with increased diligence in His cause. The Lord's-day closed the general prayer-meeting. I preached from Jer. xxvi. 13. Went out street-preaching at Obori, and addressed 100 natives. The heat was so intense that I was obliged to seek shelter under a beautiful palm-tree, which served as a desk for me. The people listened with profound attention, the subject was so touching: it was selected from Zech. i. 5. May God bless His word spoken for the good of souls! May they, at no distant period, verify the description of the Psalmist, "The righteous shall flourish like the palm-tree!"

The infant church at Onitsha is also receiving from time to time fresh accessions of well instructed converts from heathenism. Mr. Taylor writes:—

of Christ, being seven men and five women. I preached on that occasion from Deut. xxx. 19. It was most surprising to hear the candidates answer the four questions set forth in the baptismal service so audibly. I humbly hope that it may not be the lip service, but trust that it has been the echo of each heart, for "with the heart man believeth unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." I did not perceive in them any timidity at all: on the contrary, firmness and presence of mind.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Charles Gottlieb Pfander, D.D. (m), to Persia, 1825; to India, 1839; to Constantinople, 1858.

Rev. Sigismund Wilhelm Koelle, Ph. D. (m), to West Africa, 1847; to Palestine, 1856; to Constantinople, 1862.

Rev. Robert Henry Weakley (m), 1860.

THE three Missionaries, Drs. Pfander and Koelle, and Mr. Weakley, and Mr. O'Flaherty, have remained at Constantinople throughout the year. Their united report of the events of the year contains the following statement—

Soon after the new year a special interest in divine truth seemed to spring up, manifesting itself in more frequent visits to our Mission rooms, and inquiries after Dr. Pfander's books. On the Sunday after Easter the most promising of our inquirers, Ishmael Effendi, was admitted to holy baptism by Dr. Pfander, our rooms being crowded by about 50 Christians and 10 or 20 Moslems. The service proceeded without the least disturbance. The state of the two other inquirers mentioned last Conference has not become more promising.

About the same time a remarkable movement took place among the native Christians, especially those belonging to the Greek church. Many came to the Mission rooms for religious discussion, or to attend the Turkish Sunday service and a weekly Bible class. They often asked to have a Protestant service in Greek opened for them. We being not altogether free from a suspicion that the whole movement might have been got up by enemies, in order to endanger our work among the Turks, and yet fain to hope that many might be sincere inquirers after saving truth, resolved to write to Mr. Wolters, sen., to come over from Smyrna, on account of his great experience amongst the Greeks, and perfect acquaintance with their language. He remained with us for a fortnight, and had attentive listeners for hours together whenever he came to the Mission rooms. He left with the impression that there may have been amongst them some honest inquirers, but that the majority only came from curiosity, especially in consequence of rumours, for some time previously circulating in Constantinople, that thousands of Turks were about to embrace Protestantism. During all this time no disturbance whatever occurred, nor was any particular hostility shown, or insults offered to the Missionaries.

Movement
among the Turks.

This movement had not yet fully subsided, when the Turkish Government, by violent measures, endeavoured to put a stop to it, and to our work among the Moslems. It was on Monday afternoon, July 18, only a few minutes after Dr. Koelle and his father-in-law, Archdeacon Philpot, who was just here on a visit, had quitted our Mission rooms, that a police-officer sealed them up, and placed armed guards before them to prevent any one from entering. The same was done to the Bible house and to the Mission rooms of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, whilst nine converts, baptized and unbaptized, were cast into prison, amongst them Abdi Effendi, who had been connected with us nearly a year as native agent, but, being pressed by his Mohammedan neighbours, had, just a few weeks previously, given up his connexion with us, because we could not entertain his proposal to remove him to another part of Constantinople with an increase of salary.

tolerance.

Representation being at once made to the English embassy of this violation of guaranteed rights, the rooms were opened again a week later; but Dr. Pfander's books, and every thing else that had been seized, were not restored, nor were the prisoners liberated.

The Committee memorialized H. M. Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Earl Russell, who thereupon made an energetic remonstrance to the Porte, affirming that the acts of the Turkish police "were inconsistent with the religious toleration which Lord Stratford De Redcliffe laboured so earnestly to obtain;" and "that the Society had received a grievous wrong." The matter became the subject of a diplomatic discussion, which has been published in Parliamentary Papers. The Porte, notwithstanding its evident desire to restrict Missionary action to the utmost, has yet honourably acknowledged the principle of religious toleration. And the Committee cannot but thank God, upon the review of these proceedings, for the evidence which they afford that a spirit of inquiry into Christian truth has sprung up among the Turks to an extent which has alarmed the Turkish authorities, and has led to the aggressive measures complained of by the Missionaries. The circulation of the Bible, and various Missionary labours, including Dr. Pfander's works, have contributed to this end. The Committee believe that the Divine blessing has rested upon these labours; and they decide to carry on the Mission in dependence upon Divine grace, and in the conviction that all obstacles will be removed as far as there is occasion to remove them.

The Committee rejoice also to find that there is a general impression upon the minds of the most experienced Missionaries, both American and English, that the stir which has been made will issue in the furtherance of the Gospel. It will evidently prove a sifting time; and if it ensure a deeper work of grace in the hearts of converts before they declare themselves Christians, and throw the Missionaries more simply upon the grace and guidance of the Holy Spirit in all their operations, the temporary check to the Mission will be eventually a gain to the cause of Christ. ### Greece.

SYRA.

(Mission commenced, 1830, while Greece was a part of the Turkish Empire.)

The Rev. Mr. Hildner continues his useful labours in the large female school, comprising 233 scholars. He has also a Greek service on the Sunday, at which many of his former pupils attend, and an English service for the English and American residents in Syra, numbering 100 souls. The education in the school is thoroughly scriptural, and Mr. Hildner is able to circulate by sale, annually, a large amount of the Scriptures in different languages, and of scriptural tracts and school-books. The school was visited in June 1864 by the King of Greece, and Mr. Hildner receives the highest testimonies from the authorities of the island to the value of his labours. The school was first established by Mr. Hildner thirty-five years ago, when Greece was part of a Mohammedan empire, and the Mission will cease with the personal labours of Mr. Hildner.

Asia Minor.

European Mission Establishment :

Rev. J. T. Wolters (m), to Persia, 1832 ; to Syra, 1837 ; to Smyrna, 1842.
Rev. T. F. Wolters, 1860.

The Missionaries have remained at this station throughout the year, with the exception of a few months, during which Mr. Wolters, jun., paid a visit to England. The Mission has been deprived of the services of the catechist, Mr. Dalessio, who died in Christian peace, August 1864, after twenty years of faithful labour in connexion with the Society.

Mr. Wolters thus reviews the events of the year, in his annual letter, at its close.

The year 1864 has been remarkable in the history of Evangelical Missions in Turkey, and especially of that of the Church Missionary Society, whose prominent object it is to make known the blessed Gospel to the Turks. During the first six months we were cheered by the hope that a door had been opened before us in Constantinople, by which we might gradually enter more boldly on the path of duty to proclaim the glad tidings of salvation to the followers of the false prophet of Arabia. Some of them had already been received into the Christian church by baptism, while others seemed to be inquiring into the truth, and listening with apparent interest to the claims of the Gospel set before them by the Lord's servants. A considerable number of the Greeks also seemed to be roused, and with eagerness listened to the truth as it is Jesus, set before them in answer to their inquiries by the Evangelical Missionary. Of all this I had been an eyewitness at Constantinople, and enjoyed the privilege of bearing, though for a short time only, a humble share in the labours of our brethren.

Here at Smyrna, also, we were looking forward with hope. Brother Weakley and my son had returned from their journey in the interior with much more encouragement than the first time, in October 1863. They had found more opportunities than on their first journey of circulating copies of the word of God, and directing the attention of the people with whom they came into contact to its blessed truths. In the month of May our Mission had been strengthened by the arrival from Constantinople of Ishmael Effendi, who, with much zeal, entered upon his duties as a catechist. All this had caused us to look forward with hope, when on a sudden the work, first here at Smyrna, and subsequently at Constantinople, was put a stop to by the arbitrary and unjustifiable interference of the Turkish Government.

But what was the impression I received when these tidings reached our ears? It was this—The work in which we are engaged is the Lord's, "whose we are, and whom we serve," and He will take care of His own work. He will not suffer it to be destroyed by His enemies, but will cause these difficulties to turn out rather to the furtherance of the Gospel than otherwise. We must look to Him, and Him alone, more than we have hitherto done. We must not be discouraged and faithless, but believing.

I am happy to say that opportunities have not been wanting during the year of speaking the words of life to individuals who have visited us, and of regularly preaching the Gospel both in Greek and in English. The Greek service has been regularly continued, and though the congregation is not very numerous, yet there is always a moderate number who listen to the word read and preached, and strangers standing at the open door are seldom missing. A great deal of sympathy was shown by the persons who attend the Greek service on the occasion of Mr. Dalessio's death.

It is an encouraging fact, that during the year 1864—which may be called the year of our troubles—we have been able to sell at our book store, and by our Colporteur, a greater number of Holy Scriptures, either whole or in part, than in any previous year, viz. 436 copies. Generally speaking, the people appear to be more desirous of receiving the Scriptures than formerly. We hope and pray that this desire for the word of God may be lasting, and at the same time greatly increase. Also a number (180) of Christian books and tracts have been circulated among the people.

Mr. Wolters, jun., takes a similar view of the events of the year, adding:—

Something seemed to be necessary to arouse the Turks out of their apathy, and to stir up a spirit of inquiry among them.

Every succeeding year makes us more acquainted with the ways and habits of the people, and suggests means by which they may be reached more readily. I look forward with hope for the spring, when we intend (D.V.) making a more lengthened tour.

Messrs. Weakley and Wolters, jun. made a tour in the month of March to the eastward of Smyrna. Having experienced in their former tours the difficulty of gaining access to the Turks, they determined to act upon a principle which they thus explain :—

Our plan was to go professedly and openly as vendors of the sacred Scriptures, at the same time making it clearly understood that there was no motive of gain in the work, but that it was simply a work for the glory of God and the benefit of man, the small price demanded being merely a pledge that the holy books should not be misused or destroyed. In this way we hoped to make our work sufficiently plain, without incurring the preliminary difficulty of being considered as mere enemies of Islam and of the Eastern churches. And besides and above this, we felt that, if possible, it was much better to induce men to read for themselves the word of God, which carries its own evidence with it, than to begin at once a war of words with ignorant persons. There is also reason to think, that where this has been done, in ever so small a degree, a foothold for future and more direct Missionary effort has been gained. Power of God's Word.

In this way the Missionaries travelled through the ancient Philadelphia to Denizlee, from whence an hour or two brought them to the ruins of Laodicea, Colosse, and Hierapolis. They returned by the plains of the Meander. The plan succeeded beyond their expectation. In every place they were received with interest and kindness, and had the opportunity of distributing to the Mussulmans many copies of the Sermon on the Mount. They also sold to Mussulmans 25 copies, and to Christians 32 copies, of the Scriptures.

JERUSALEM.

The labourers of the Society stationed at Jerusalem, the Rev. F. A. Klein and Dr. Sandreczki, have continued there throughout the year; and Mr. Grühler, an European catechist, has resided at Ramleh.

The increasing movement in the Moslem population towards more liberal views than they have hitherto entertained, and the occasional conversions which have occurred, have led the Committee to direct the attention of Mr. Klein specially to the Mohammedan controversy, with a view to the translation or composition of such works as may be required. His knowledge of the Arabic peculiarly qualifies him for this work. He will continue to reside at Jerusalem, and to preach in Arabic; but arrangements are being made to release him from the pastoral care of the Arabic congregations at Jerusalem and Ramallah.

The spiritual state of the Protestant Christians in Palestine is of a low standard, and the reports therefore of those who labour amongst them afford but few instances of sufficient interest to be recorded. The bishop estimates that there are about 500 in connexion with the Church of England. The greater part are in Jerusalem and Nazareth: the rest are scattered among smaller out-stations, at which the bishop employs Scripture readers or schoolmasters.

NAZARETH.

The Rev. John Zeller and Mr. Huber have continued their labours at Nazareth and its neighbourhood for another year. The number of native Protestants under their pastoral care is 145, distributed in six different towns, including Nazareth and Acca. The communicants are 45. There are 2 boys' schools containing 70 children, and a girls' school containing 25. The year has been one of great trial in many respects. The opposition to Protestant Missions by the Turkish authorities is manifested to a degree never before experienced. For instance, Mr. Zeller has secured ground for building a church in Nazareth, for which he has applied for a firmán through the regular official channel. The grant of the firmán for places of worship is guaranteed by treaty, and, in former years, would have been given as a matter of course. But for the last two years it has been refused, without any cause being assigned: and even though H. M. Secretary of State applied for the firmán through the British ambassador at Constantinople, he has failed to procure it. On a late occasion, also, much wanton mischief was done to the Mission property in Nazareth by some of the Greek neighbours, for which, at any previous time, immediate redress would have been obtained from the Turkish Government, but now it was denied to the Protestants. Several other instances of oppression and of personal violence have occurred in the neighbourhood of Nazareth, which are universally attributed to the opposition of the Porte, and the decline of the British authority at Constantinople, which is unable to obtain the observance of the treaty-conditions at the time of the Crimean war for full toleration of Protestants, and their equality in civil rights with all other Christian denominations in the Turkish empire.

Mr. Zeller reports that the catechist, Seraphin Bontaji, has translated "Baxter's Saints' Rest," from an abridged French edition printed at New York, into Arabic. He adds, "His translation is very good; and I think the book, if printed, would be nearly as great a jewel in our Arabic literature as 'Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.'"

During the year 1864 Mr. Zeller made a Missionary tour to Jebel Ajloon, on the east side of Jordan, a mountainous country, principally in the hands of two rival clans of Bedouins. He had interesting conversations with some intelligent Sheikhs on the subject of Christianity; but at a village named Sorf the violence of the people rose to such a height, that the Missionary party were compelled to return home, and to pay a considerable sum for their safety. It is clear to Mr. Zeller that at present no Missionary excursions can be made to the east of Jordan, until the country becomes better governed. In August Mr. Zeller visited Yerka, a Druse village in the hills to the north of Acca: he was accompanied by the catechist, Seraphin Bontaji. They "went to the house of the Sheikh, Said Monaddy, who received them with great hospitality and evident joy. He is a man of rare intelligence, and perfect in his manners. His house is a model of an oriental household, with its remnants of patriarchal customs and virtues." During two days they had many interesting religious conversations with the Sheikh and a learned Imâm of one of the neighbouring mosques, who was invited to meet them.

BOMBAY.

The native-Christian congregation in Bombay numbers 83 persons, of whom 29 are communicants. It is under the charge of the East-Indian pastor, the Rev. James Wilson, who reports—

It is not unusual to hear censures heaped upon native Christians in general, as if they were mere nominal Christians, and had embraced the religion of the Europeans from sinister motives. I know all the members of my congregation, and several other families belonging to other denominations of Christians in Bombay, and I must say that their household arrangements and behaviour would put many a family born and brought up in a Christian land to shame. There are exceptions, of course. Many will be found in all congregations who cause grief and anxiety to their spiritual teachers; but on account of these certainly the entire body of native Christians ought not to be censured.

Reality of Native
Christianity.

Two adults—one man and one woman—and six children, have been, by baptism, received into the church. A few have come over to us from Rome.

The sum realized in connexion with the Bombay Pastorate Fund since May last amounts to rupees 100.4 annas, or, on an average, to rupees 12½ per month. On the 21st of December 1864 a confirmation for natives was held in the cathedral. It was an occasion of special gratitude to God, as it was the first of its kind in the Bombay Presidency.

Mr. Wilson also regularly preaches to the heathen both in Marathi and in Hindustani, as far as his duties at the Money School and his pastoral work will allow.

Hindustani Mission.

The Hindustani Mission to the Mussulmans of Bombay and Junir is conducted by Mr. Deimler, who reports:—

In the spirit of faith I review my labours of the past year, the field for which has been, as in the two preceding years, Bombay and Junir; the first five months and the last month of the year being devoted to Bombay, and the intermediate six months to Junir.

An educated convert.

talented
preacher.

Preaching in Hindustani has been carried on in the streets and bazaars of Bombay and Junir every week-day as regularly as health, weather, or other unavoidable engagements permitted. At these opportunities I have had the advantage some time longed for, of being assisted by a catechist. Wazir Ali, my catechist, a young Mussulman convert from Aurungabad, in the Nizam's territory, was introduced to Mr. Schwartz at Aurungabad by a Christian man, whose delight it is to recommend the Gospel of Christ to others, and he soon resolved to satisfy the cravings of his soul by embracing the Christian religion. Mr. Schwartz instructed him for a couple of months whilst on his Missionary tour about Aurungabad. On account of the hatred of the Mussulmans at that place, it was considered advisable that he should be baptized in Bombay. I, with my Missionary brethren here, finding him a meek, pious, well-established Christian, and a man of some acquirements and talents, desirous of carrying the Gospel of peace to his former co-religionists, took him at once as an assistant. He has since been living with us, and has endeared himself to us by his steady and sincere character, his childlike, obedient, and gentle disposition—so very rare in a Mussulman—and by his endeavour to improve himself, not less than by the assistance he gave me in writing Hindustani, and in preaching to the Mussulmans, for which latter work he has peculiar talents, recommending sensibly and impressively, out of a warm heart, the way of salvation through a crucified and glorified Redeemer, without being irritated by the cavils of his opponents. We, on our part, endeavoured to prepare him more fully for his work, by instructing him in the Bible, and by teaching him English, which language he greatly desired to learn. By his usefulness and ability he has rendered great assistance to me in my work amongst the Mohammedans,

The Begum of Bhopal.

Moham-

I found, during nearly two months—at the end of the last and the commencement of the new year—a very interesting field of labour amongst the followers of the Begum of Bhopal. You will find an interesting account of the state of Bhopal in the "Indian Gazetteer." The Begum of Bhopal, with her suite and some hundreds of followers, was staying here near my residence, on her way to Mecca. The Begum has thrown off her seclusion, and administers herself, with energy and wisdom, the affairs of her state. She is a staunch ally of our Government, and is, as a Mussulman, free from bigotry, and has some regard for Christians. The majority of her followers were, like her, Mohammedans, some Hindus, a few Roman Catholics, and a couple of Armenians. A man of note amongst the Roman Catholics, was Meseeh Sahib, of French extraction, whose grandfather came from the Isle of Bourbon, whose father was a kind of Wazir, and whose widowed mother is a Jagirdar, a lady of honour to the Begum. I found my way amongst these interesting people by distributing tracts, books, and copies of the Scriptures, which were eagerly sought for by the Christians, Mohammedans, and Hindus, the majority, perhaps, of whom could read. On the first of my visits to the large compound in which they were residing, I presented Dr Pfander's works to the Nawab, a near relative of the Begum, who very courteously and thankfully accepted them. Afterwards I met him several times, when he always very politely received me. I was told that he had the Tariq-ul-hayat read to him. With the Christians I held much intercourse, in which I endeavoured to bring home to them the grand truths of Christianity, and a conduct consistent with the Christian faith. They were intelligent, unprejudiced, always happy to see me, and to gather around the padre. They were especially eager to get Bibles in Hindustani, of which I could give them only a few copies of the Old Testament, these being out of print; but I gave them a large supply of the New Testament, a friend of mine supplying me with many copies. They also asked for copies of Dr. Pfander's work, to be better able to refute the Mohammedans. The Christians, as well as the Mohammedans and Hindus, called very frequently on me. The Christians, upon my invitation, promised to come to my house on Christmas-day, for divine service, but afterwards, changing their minds, they went to the Roman-Catholic church. The Mussulmans gladly received, and asked for, the Mizan-ul-haqq, and were less prejudiced and more polite than any Mussulmans I ever saw in Western India or East Africa. One of them, an engineer, who spoke English, requested me to buy for him Sale's Korán, that he might be able to compare, with greater facility, the Mohammedan with the Christian religion. To him, and to another Mussulman, at their own request, I gave my address, that they might be able to write to me. These two men invited me to come to Bhopal. They said that they would be my friends: the Mussulmans there would more willingly hear my message than those at Bombay, whom they considered bad people. Also Meseeh Sahib, with the Christians, said that it would give him great pleasure if I would come to Bhopal, and stay in his house. They also said that there is a (Roman-Catholic) padre at Bhopal—I believe an Italian—who has been there about a year, who always says Mass, but does not yet know the Hindustani language. Some of the Hindus asked for the New Testament in Hindi. I went freely in and out amongst these people as the "padre," and they were happy to show me their respect, and perhaps some little service. In fact, I never met any natives who were so polite, so easy of access, and to whom I could administer with such acceptance and pleasure, as these. I am sorry that Mrs. Deimler was not here; she might have called on the Begum; but I trust some book will find its way to her, and do good to her soul.

What a difference between these people and those of the Guikwar of Baroda, whose camp, with 5000 followers, I once visited during his residence at Bombay. I found nowhere a hearing.

Close to the Rajah's pavilion there was an old Mussulman fakeer, occupying his own little snug tent, and pluming himself in his fine shawl, a very holy man, not deigning to give me an answer, and sneering at having a tract shown to him. And there was a patilwan (hero, wrestler), who, bidding me sit down, unloosened his shawl, to exhibit proudly before me his fatness and strength, and, looking at a tract, returned it as a thing useless to him. With a sad heart I returned from that camp.

Reverting to the people of Bhopal, and calling to mind their friendly intercourse and their invitation, do you not think that this may be a Macedonian voice bidding me to make a call there? I may be enabled to do so when the railway from Bombay, in the direction of Bhopal, is finished, and to see whether the everlasting Gospel will have access there, and Christ be glorified.

Since that time the Begum of Bhopal has returned to India from her pilgrimage to Mecca, and stayed, during the rainy season, at Poona, where she was duly taken notice of and honoured by the Governor, which did not fail to make her friendly inclined to Christians, in contradistinction to the Arabs, with whom she was much displeased. I should consider it a high privilege to see a way open by which I could carry the Gospel of Christ to the native state of Bhopal.

The true spirit in which Missionary work must be carried on is thus exhibited in the concluding remarks of Mr. Deimler :—

Missionary
spirit.

It is saddening to labour and to preach all the year round, and yet not be able to speak at the end of it of any conversions as the tangible result of God's promised blessing upon our labour. Though sincere conversions would indeed strengthen our faith and enlarge our zeal for the promotion of Christ's kingdom, yet it is evident that the strength of the faith of God's servants, whilst they had to carry on their ministry under the most adverse circumstances, without any visible results of their labour, consisted in this peculiarity, that they continued patiently in waiting upon their ministry, being faithful in small things, hoping against hope, and leaving the issue in the hands of a covenant Jehovah, upon which God often crowned their faith, by permitting them to see his salvation amongst the people. Thus I would, in this instance, exercise my patience and faith in reporting again on some perhaps insignificant occurrences, which at times presented the hope of bearing in their issues the aim of Missionary labour, namely, conversion to God, of which one instance, as that of Wazir Ali, compensates for all patience in the ministry of the Gospel.

The Robert-Money School.

braith, has increased in its numbers during the last year from 349 to 380. It has had the great advantage during the latter part of the year of a second European Teacher, Mr. T. Carss, who has brought to the work both the Marathi and Portuguese languages, the latter being the vernacular of 150 of the Roman-Catholic pupils. But, at the same time, the Institution has had to contend with great difficulties, on account of the extravagant rise of prices and salaries in Bombay, nearly all the experienced native teachers left the Institution under the allurements of more lucrative employment. Their places have been very inadequately supplied by younger men, whose unsettledness is a great drawback to the prosperity of the school.

The situation of the Robert-Money School, though admirably prominent and commanding, has become very noisy, from the increase of traffic in the roads which surround it on three sides. Measures are in progress for the sale of the present building, if another site can be obtained in a situation equally suitable for the purposes of the school. Mr. Galbraith reports :—

I still continue my Bible class on Sunday mornings, amidst many difficulties and discouragements. The numbers fluctuate very much : sometimes two come, sometimes twelve. I have learnt a lesson of perseverance from this class, that is to say, I have learned that it is well to be in the room during the time appointed for the lesson, even though none be present. One Sabbath evening I went to my room at the usual time, but no one had come. I remained in meditation and prayer, till at last, when the time was nearly up, one lad made his appearance. I said nothing, but commenced reading with him a portion of the word of God. I do not know whether it was that the news of my solitary position excited the sympathy of my class, or whether it was in answer to prayer to God, but the next Sunday I had the largest attendance I have ever had. The young men seem pleased to read the Bible, and have a very respectable acquaintance with its contents. When pressed to embrace the faith, many of them do not, as formerly, plead their difficulties, but rather defend themselves by bringing forward arguments, manufactured by men wise in their own conceit, or by the more recent troublers of Israel.

Perseverance under discouragements.

There are eight vernacular schools under Mr. Wilson's superintendence, containing 403 pupils. The schools under the charge of Miss White are six, numbering 155 girls and 69 boys. Miss White writes :—

I have had much intercourse with the natives around during the past year, especially with the men and women who used to come to my school-house, who attentively listen to the truths of Christianity.

The Governor, Sir Bartle Frere, visited my schools, with many others. He examined the children himself in Marathi, and gave them books. My prayer is, that the Lord may bless your Society's every effort in this great work, so that many souls may be brought to know and love the Saviour.

NASIK.

Mr. Price resides at the Christian village of Sharunpur, near Nasik: he thus refers to the labours of the late Mr. Isenberg:—

The work has been carried on during our absence by our esteemed brother Isenberg, assisted by his devoted wife. Both they and we hoped they might have continued here as our fellow-labourers, and Brother Isenberg had already entered upon his plans of evangelistic work in the villages around; but God in His wisdom—and no doubt also in His love—has ordered it otherwise. A serious illness has obliged our brother to go to Bombay, and we fear there is little prospect of his ever being able to enter again into these active labours in which he has so unsparingly spent the best of his days. The Lord—the good Master—will not forsake His faithful servant in the day of trial and weakness. Very thankful am I that my dear people have so long enjoyed the benefit of his faithful admonitions and holy example, the effects of which I trust will be lasting.

The Native Church.

Mr. Price reports of the native converts:—

The state of the congregation is much the same as in former years. There have been few cases calling for discipline. There is, I trust, an improvement generally in the conduct of the native Christians. As to their morality, no doubt they are wonderfully changed for the better from what they were, and from what the heathen still are: at the same time, the more positive manifestations of spiritual life are still wanting.

The Orphanage, at Sharanpur, contains 47 boys and girls.

The Vernacular School connected with the Orphanage, and which is also available for children of native Christians at Sharanpur, has an average attendance of between 60 and 70 boys. Mr. Carapit Johannes, who has had the benefit of a regular training at the Cheltenham College in England, returned with us, and took charge of this school at the commencement of the year. Under his careful and diligent conduct, the improvement which has taken place, both in the general arrangement of the school, and the individual progress of the boys, is most gratifying. We are thankful to be at length able to do away with the anomaly of employing a heathen

Puntoji to instruct our Christian boys, and the more so as we can do this with such manifest advantage to the school itself.

A pleasing feature in connexion with this school is the commencement of a Teachers' Training Class. All our stations are crying out for well-qualified native-Christian Teachers. Nothing is more urgently needed to the completeness and efficiency of our Missionary agency. Every Missionary has had to deplore the want; and some, especially Brother Rogers at Malligaum, have done their best under difficult circumstances, to meet it as far as their own stations were concerned. Notwithstanding these earnest, yet isolated efforts, the demand is as urgent as ever, for a continuous supply of well-qualified Christian vernacular teachers. We, therefore, regard with much interest and hope the formation of a training class, in connexion with our school at Sharanpur. With the means of selecting from a large number of Christian boys, and of placing them under the tuition and training of an experienced and competent master, we possess peculiar advantages for accomplishing this work. The Lord helping us, we hope, ere long, to have our own village schools well supplied, and also to be able to meet the demands of our brethren at other stations.

The African Asylum, for receiving liberated Africans, is maintained at the cost of Government, but is entirely under the management of the Missionaries. It contains 68 children. Mr. Price reports:—

With one or two exceptions, the conduct of these lads has been very fair. There are among them a few steady, thoughtful boys, whose influence we bring to bear as much as possible on the rest. We have been glad to have among them for some time three youths, whom Mr. Deimler has carefully instructed with a view to their future employment in the Mission in East Africa. They have been here to learn trades, which may add to their usefulness, and their influence upon our younger boys has, no doubt, been beneficial. We believe them to be serious young men, who love Christ, and have therefore every hope that they will render good service in the cause of the Gospel when they return to their own country. Two of these have found suitable wives in the Girls' Asylum, and will be married previous to their departure for East Africa. We cannot conceive a more happy result to the efforts both of Government and ourselves, on their behalf, than that these poor children should return to the land which gave them birth, and from which they were ruthlessly torn by the cruel man-stealer, laden with the blessings of the Gospel of peace. What a striking and beautiful comment on the Psalmist's words—"The fierceness of man shall turn to thy praise!"—Ps. lxxvi. 10.

The Industrial Institution, for providing employment for converts and inquirers, has passed through many severe trials, but Mr. Price still entertains hopes that it will fulfil the purposes for which it was established. The funds of the Society bear no part of the expense: special contributions have hitherto supported it, in the hope of its soon becoming self-supporting. Mr. Price writes respecting it:—

Difficulties of Industrial Institutions.

Past experience, too, has shown me that the plan of carrying on the work by a paid manager, under the superintendence of the resident Missionary—however necessary at the commencement of the undertaking—has yet serious disadvantages, and should be discontinued as soon as possible.

To remedy this state of things, it is proposed to make over the Institution to a competent person, to be worked by him in his own name, and for his own profit, only stipulating for the due carrying out of the Missionary objects for which the Institution was originated, viz. the training of native-Christian boys to various trades, and the employment, under certain circumstances, of inquirers and native-Christian boys. These objects secured, the necessity for any further interference on my part with the transactions of the Institution ceases.

In the last Report it was stated that the experiment was made of stationing two native brethren, the Rev. Appaji Bappaji, and the catechist, Ruttonji, at Yeolah, apart from the European Missionaries. The former of these labourers has continued perseveringly to labour throughout the year. He has transmitted a series of his journals, carried on from month to month. He receives visitors, and converses with them on the subject of Christianity. He goes into the town, and, as he finds opportunity, enters into conversation with those who gather about, and not unfrequently the conversation changes into preaching, the bystanders listening attentively. But the subject is entirely new to the people of Yeolah, and it is only very gradually that they are beginning to receive correct views of the true nature of Christianity. Some have come so frequently that they may be termed inquirers; but although, in more than one instance, declaring their conviction of the truth of Christianity, none of them have had the courage to come forward openly as candidates for baptism.

Besides these town labours, the villages in a circle round Yeolah are visited. Mr. Appaji has sketched a rough chart of sixteen villages which are thus dealt with, and where the people are thus beginning to know something of the Missionary and the message which he brings.

MALLIGAUM.

Two experienced and devoted Missionaries labour at Malligaum, and throughout Kandeish, but hitherto their encouragement has been very small. Mr. Rogers writes at the close of the year :—

There are two congregations of Christians in connexion with this Mission, one at Malligaum, the other at Wadneir a village twelve miles distant. The congregation at Wadneir, consists of two families only, but many persons not yet baptized assemble with them whenever we have divine service there. This little congregation has lost one of its most consistent members by death. In the Malligaum congregation some changes have taken place: six persons have left the station. There have been eight baptisms, including the four baptized at Wadneir.

The attendance at the Malligaum school has increased considerably, so that, notwithstanding the suspension of the Dabhadi school, the number of children under instruction is only thirteen less than last year.

During the year I have made three tours in the Khandeish Collectorate. Krishnajeel has always accompanied me. In the North-Eastern districts we found the people assemble most willingly to hear the Word of God; and that not from mere curiosity, for in many places where we preached, the Gospel message was no "new thing" to the majority of our hearers. Krishnajeel has also itinerated alone in these districts, and found the people quite as willing to come together to hear as when I was with him. He has sold, principally in these parts, a large number of tracts, some Bibles and Testaments, and many single portions of the sacred Scriptures. In former years, when preaching in large towns, we were not unfrequently insulted at the time of leaving by some of the ruder sort of those assembled. It is a pleasing change to see many come forward ready to pay a small sum for a portion of Scripture or a religious tract: a friendly feeling is established, and often a remark on the subject of a tract that has been purchased leads to profitable conversation.

Public
favour of
tianity.

In the western districts of the Collectorate there are but few people able to read, and consequently there is little demand for books. Near the Ghauts we visited many hamlets inhabited by Bheels: most of these poor people are very ignorant, some of them extremely so. Now that they are partly reclaimed from their former habits it seems a great pity that something is not done there to enlighten and educate them.

Mr. Mengé reports of his department of the work :—

On Fridays I used to go regularly to the bazaar at Malligaum, where we have hired a place for preaching, and where we sometimes address large crowds, amounting often to between seventy and eighty. On these occasions, also, Mr. Rogers, and one or two catechists, were generally present. We addressed the crowd by turns, and generally preached two hours. In this way we had an opportunity of preaching the Gospel to many of the agricultural population, who cannot read, and who often came to the bazaar at Malligaum from villages distant twenty miles and more. Thus a good deal of the knowledge of Christ is imparted to poor ignorant Coombies, who are so much in the power of unprincipled and rapacious Brahmins. Although not one of our hearers in the Malligaum bazaar has yet come out from his people and joined the despised Christians of this country, yet one good thing has resulted from this regular bazaar preaching, whenever we go to a neighbouring village the people know us, and receive us as their friends. On the remaining days of the week, with the exception of Saturday, I used to go generally alone into a neighbouring village, collected a number of villagers and read and explained to them a portion of the Marathi New Testament. On these occasions I was usually received in a friendly manner, and the people quietly and respectfully listened to the preaching of the Gospel.

Mr. Mengé took a Missionary tour in the months of February and March 1864. He thus expresses his feelings at the close of his annual letter:—

We naturally yearn for a larger increase in the number of native Christians in this province, and for this purpose we continue to pray and to work. Hitherto God has tried our faith and patience in not permitting us to baptize many Hindus and Mohammedans in this province, but we believe that we can discern from the signs of the times that the day is now at hand when he that soweth and he that reapeth shall rejoice together, to the praise and glory of God.

JUNIR.

The Rev. C. F. Schwartz having been compelled by the failure of his health to leave India for a time, the station of Junir was left in charge of two native ministers, the Rev. Messrs. Daji Pandurang and James Bunter. The ministrations in the town and in the surrounding villages have been kept up, and the English school of about 100 children has been superintended by Mr. Pandurang. In the month of September, Mr. Bunter was removed to Sharanpur. No signs of progress appear in the reports of the labourers. The following is Mr. Deimler's report of his labours among the Mussulmans, at Junir, during the five months of his residence there:—

At Junir I was glad to bring before the Mussulmans, in Wazir Ali, a living example of Christianity from amongst their own sect, and hoped that this would contribute to rouse them from their lethargy to a more lively inquiry after the Christian religion, and that he would specially prove to be a blessing to the Begs, mentioned in former reports; nor was I deceived in my expectations, though they were not fully realized.

The Hindustani school has not been so well attended as in former years, the number of scholars scarcely exceeding 40. The three reading-books in Hindustani, published by the Christian Vernacular Education Society, are a great boon for schools, and would be more so if they were as well adapted for Mussulmans as they are for Hindus, for whom they were originally designed, the Hindustani edition being only a translation from the English. These books, together with the New Testament and the Bible stories, have come into daily use in the school, so that a vast amount of useful and biblical knowledge has been infused into the minds of the scholars. I observed that if the teacher has no disinclination to teach the New Testament and Christian books, Mussulman boys, who have a respect for their teacher, nourish no dislike to read these books, and, by their constant usage, any aversion that may exist is soon overcome.

SINDH MISSION.

KURRACHI.

The Native Church.

Our native services have been to me the most encouraging part of our work. They have been held on Sundays in the boys' school-room, and during the week in the large room at the Mission house. The attendance has been larger than during any preceding year. Sometimes the Church has been fairly filled. The members of the native congregation have been most attentive, and now join in the responses with real interest. I have no hesitation in saying that some of the members of this congregation are as well informed in the practical doctrines of Christianity as any Clergyman could wish his people to be. Both Mohammedans and Hindus occasionally attend the services. In the afternoon we hold a short native service at four, the English service at half-past five. Four adult converts have been baptized—three men and one woman—the latter was a Hindu, who, after the baptism, was married to a Christian: of the men, two were Mohammedans and one a Jew.

I cannot feel thankful enough for the consistency and zeal of all our native helpers. They have all endeavoured to maintain a right spirit amongst themselves, and, according to their several abilities, have striven to influence others. Merwanjee, long faithful to his school work, is about to leave us, in order to pass through the Society's College in Calcutta. God, we trust, has a great work for him to do, and we hope the same guiding hand which has led him hitherto will be with him, and lead him to consecrate his talents, and all that he has, to the service of his Lord.

Preaching to the Heathen.

Mohammedan preaching in opposition to Christian preaching.

Missionary painstaking.

In the bazaar the preaching has been a source of great encouragement to us. During the whole year the people have been addressed every day except Sundays. In order, as far as practicable, to bring the sound of the Gospel within the hearing of all, we have selected five preaching-places in the bazaars and near the gates of the old town. One book-shop, which is in the centre of the chief bazaar, is the most important post of all, and of the preaching here we can speak with most interest. Another preaching-place is in the middle of the Kutchee population, where, also, we are generally listened to with respectful attention. In the Mohammedan quarter, as might be expected, we have been either fiercely opposed or carefully avoided, just as it suits the temper of the Mullahs, who, after some months of vehement declamation and angry menacing, have now instructed their followers to stand aloof and avoid all intercourse with us. There is, however, one novel feature in our controversy with the Mohammedans. Seeing our constancy in preaching, they think to oppose us with our own weapons, and have set up a preacher of their own, who, leaving the sacred precincts of the mosque, stands in the open bazaar and defends the cause of Mohammed. It is, therefore, not an uncommon sight to see, within hearing distance, two crowds, one surrounding the Christian advocate, and the other the Moulvie. One pleasing feature in our bazaar preaching is, that, with rare exceptions, we have good audiences. The people used to get wearied with it, but the returns of the Scripture reader show that the average attendance has been over fifty. We attribute this unflagging interest to the preparation of the bazaar sermons. Every week the Scripture readers prepare with me the weekly sermon, which we endeavour to make brief and pointed. By this useful plan we all are enabled to give a connected statement, before questions are put and objections raised. It is just possible the interest of the people will begin to flag, but we do rejoice and feel most thankful that, during so long a period, the Word of God has been so uninterruptedly proclaimed.

Amongst our inquirers are some Jews, and the movement amongst them is remarkable. Unsought for, they have come to our services, and seem to be influenced for good. In Kurrachee about seventy of the sons and daughters of Israel dwell. One of them has openly embraced the Christian religion. If we can secure a reader to give his time wholly to the families here, and to converse with the Jews passing down from Bagdad and the North-west, with God's blessing some of these wanderers of Israel may be gathered.*

Education.

The English school comprises about 100 boys. Mr. Sheldon reports of the last examination :—

The examination in Scripture in all the classes was most satisfactory, and it is with great pleasure that I can testify to the seriousness and intelligence shown by the senior boys in their study of God's word. The most hopeful of all our pupils are our monitors. These are boys who, having passed through the school course, have been induced, for a small remuneration, to stay in the school as pupil-teachers. They are generally young men whose minds have been prepared to receive the truth, and who almost invariably leave us deeply impressed with the doctrines and claims of the Christian religion.

In the beginning of the year we opened a girls' school. It was the first attempt of the kind ever made in Kurrachee amongst the natives, but its novelty has no attraction. With extreme difficulty the school has been kept together. Sometimes as many as seventeen girls have been present; at other times only one has been induced to come. The mothers and elder sisters of the girls are our greatest opposers, but their fathers and brothers are favourably disposed to the movement; so we hope their influence, together with perseverance and tact on my part, will eventually prevail. One good result of the girls' school has been the admission of Mrs. Sheldon and the schoolmistress into the houses of the girls. In two respectable families the instruction of the women is now gladly allowed. We are therefore hopeful of this branch of our Mission, and trust that all our difficulties in the beginning will result in lasting blessings to many families. Some of these women are reading, in their own language the New Testament, and one of them has asked for a book of Christian prayers. It is the beginning of a great work, and we pray that God will give us wisdom to carry it on with faithfulness and in love.

Female education a sign of progress.

Hopeful prospects for the future.

With regard to the prospects of the Mission we are now full of hope. The nucleus of a native Church has been formed, and there is an excellent spirit in its midst, which shows itself in its efforts to do good and to get good. We have instances of regular subscriptions to the Mission by inquirers and of voluntary contributions on the part of our native Christians. Through intercourse with all classes, as well as by preaching, we hope the Christian religion is becoming better known. Our school system we are gradually extending. The boys' school is most useful, not only as affording an education based on Christian principles, but also as securing to us, through our scholars, a means of reaching the better classes. With an European schoolmaster, and our increased staff of Missionaries, we may be able to add a College division, which will very greatly increase the good influence of the school.

Our Kurrachee friends still continue their liberal support, and many of them take a deep interest in the several branches of our school-work, as well as the Mission work generally. The girls' school is wholly supported by the ladies of the station. It ought, however, to be stated that the present high rates in the bazaars have rendered it necessary to increase the wages of every native agent. Our local subscriptions, though, in amount, larger than during former years, are, in actual value, more than 20 per cent. less. I trust the Home Committee will seriously consider this most alarming change in the value of money.

HYDRABAD.

The Rev. Andrew Burn has been the only Missionary at this station during the year 1864. He was joined at the close by a new Missionary from England. The operations of the Mission are confined to an Anglo-vernacular school and bazaar preaching. There is no native-Christian congregation, and a single Missionary cannot carry on itineration. The station has been much tried by disappointment in several of the Mission Agents, especially the head schoolmasters, so that the management of the school has chiefly fallen upon Mr. Burn. The number of scholars is 140. The Bishop of Bombay, in a late visitation, examined the school, and expressed himself pleased with the order and the amount of scriptural instruction given to the boys. "A report of the school," writes Mr. Burn, "would be imperfect without a mention of the kind and valuable help received from Captain Haig, settlement officer. With the onerous duties of his office to discharge, and living on the other side of the water, he has yet devoted one morning in the week to come over and teach in the school; and in all matters affecting the welfare of the Mission we have received from him the sympathy, interest, and counsel of a brother Missionary. Captain Barton, too, commanding the artillery here, has given kind help and occasional visits and examinations of the school."

Mr. Burn has also employed his leisure time in translations of the Scriptures into the vernacular.

THE last report received from the Calcutta Corresponding Committee was made up to June 1864. The statistical returns for December 1864 have not yet been received. There are, however, some valuable statistical returns in the last Calcutta report, which show that the number of native Christians under the charge of the Society in North-India amounted at that date to 8276, of whom 1410 were communicants. The report adds :—

It will be observed, that of the 8276 Christians not fewer than 3851 are of the Kishnagurh district. The conversions there, it will be remembered, were of the same promiscuous sort as in the Tinnevelly Churches in South India. The Gospel had made some progress by slow and silent operation amongst a heterodox Hindu sect, when suddenly a large multitude of persons were thrown upon the hands of the Missionaries for instruction, eager to be made Christians. Their motives were mixed. It was a time of famine and dire calamity. The Missionaries were labouring to relieve all whom they could reach, to the extent of their means. There was already the nucleus of a Church in the converts above alluded to. From them a religious awakening spread amongst a people on whom God's sore judgments were heavy. By a reference to former reports it will be seen that the Missionaries on the spot wrote of these numerous baptisms in a tone of great moderation. Frequently, as was natural, they have yielded to present feelings of despondency or disappointment, and have drawn a picture in too solemn colours. The truth is that the action of multitudinism in social or religious movements is not to be despised. How largely does the Christianity of Europe derive its origin from this same source! To use the language of the Apocalypse, the earth has helped the woman: and again and again have outward circumstances, with a great admixture of evil, been so overruled as permanently to extend the Church's borders. In these cases, indeed, the danger perhaps lies not in making too much of such conversions after the first excitement is over, but rather the other way, in a reaction of disappointment and despair. Here, if anywhere, the Apostle's injunction applies, not to be weary in well-doing, for in due time shall we reap if we faint not. A review of the results of Churches and schools amongst the poverty-stricken and oppressed ryots of Kishnagurh will not be discouraging to those who can, from personal knowledge, compare the present with the past; and a sober estimate of the genuine influence of Gospel truth in any large body of professing Christians will dispose us, instead of cavilling at acknowledged imperfections and shortcomings amongst the Kishnagurh converts, rather to thank God and take courage. It is only right to add, lest the above remarks should be misconstrued into an argument for making converts en masse, that the Missionaries have never sought such conversions; they have been forced upon them by events not of their origination. And certainly the views of Missionaries of the present day seem to be chiefly directed to pervading the country at large with a knowledge of the truth, and so preparing the way for some great change arising amongst the people themselves, rather than to the premature formation of Churches of an exotic type, fostered by external influences.

About 1000 of the remaining number of the converts are found in Calcutta and its neighbourhood. The next considerable number is in the Meerut Mission, where they have increased since the mutiny from 300 to 700, chiefly by adult conversions. The remaining numbers are, at Agra 650, at Benares 440, at Allahabad 374, at Gorruckpore 316, at Burdwan 352: these congregations have for the most part grown up out of orphan refuges. It is a noticeable fact that such congregations are generally stationary, and exercise little perceptible aggressive influence upon the surrounding heathen. The report also shows that the sum of 11,869*l.* was contributed by friends in North-India to the operations of the Society, chiefly for local objects during the year 1863.

With respect to Education the report remarks:—

Between 4000*l.* and 5000*l.* have been expended during the past year, at ten principal stations, upon general education. This branch of the Society's work is growing every year. It is essentially a work of preparation, and its result is to be seen, not in conversions, but in that gradual, though steadily advancing movement of the national mind awakening out of the sleep of centuries—which the rough contact with European energy, and the less obtrusive influence of Western ideas, are both equally active in stimulating.

The total number of pupils in the Society's schools in North-India, as given in the returns for 1863, was 7399. Of these there were 4288 receiving an English education in Anglo-vernacular schools, educating, as a general rule, up to the standard of the entrance examination of the Calcutta University. 1903 boys and 1208 girls were being taught in vernacular schools. A considerable portion of these are the children of the native Christians of Kishnagurh and foundlings in orphan schools. Comparatively little is done by the Society's Missionaries for the establishment of village vernacular schools amongst the heathen. There are various reasons for this. The most obvious and cogent is the eager desire for English education on the part of the people: the Missionaries naturally supply what is most in demand. Again, there is a practical difficulty in the want of native-Christian teachers for vernacular schools. And even were this want supplied, there is the further difficulty, often insurmountable, of Christians being placed alone in heathen villages. Also there are very few localities where Christians could successfully conduct vernacular schools without the help of heathen teachers, men of local influence, who will serve to collect the pupils. Their influence, of course, is not restricted to this purely pedagogic office and the plan is in many ways so liable to abuse, that frequently the Missionaries will have nothing to do with such schools, and rather expend their resources on the central Anglo-vernacular schools, where non-Christian teachers can be more under control, and where the whole tendency of the education is liberalizing.

The report adds this general remark upon the want of additional labourers :—

men.

From the journals and reports it will be seen how an open door is set before us for the work of preaching, throughout the length and breadth of the land, the message of God's reconciling love. The testimonies from various quarters to the readiness of the people to hear the Missionary's message are most conclusive; and it is heard with an intelligence, and an understanding of his errand, very different from what appears in the reports of twenty years back. Our great want is of men, thoroughly qualified by Christian energy, experience of the country, knowledge of the language, and association with the people, to carry the Gospel to their doors. The grievous losses which the Society's Missions in North-India have sustained of late years in the removal of many of the younger Missionaries through death and failure of health, have seriously crippled the work, and cut off the supply of men fully equipped for this laborious but most necessary employment of the evangelist.

In answer to this appeal, the Committee have only been able to send out three new Missionaries, one medical Missionary, and one training master, whilst one older Missionary has been withdrawn from North India by the failure of his health.

CALCUTTA.

During the year the Rev. T. Sandys has removed from Calcutta to reside at Agurpara. The Rev. S. Dyson has removed from Kishnagurh to Calcutta, to open a superior school for the education of Christian children. Measures have also been taken for an important extension of the Society's Mission in Calcutta, by opening a College for the instruction of students at the Calcutta University preparing for their degrees, and of young men preparing for their admission. With this view the Rev. R. P. Greaves has returned to Calcutta, and the Rev. J. Barton will reside there as Principal of the College, and will also take part in the Secretariat of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee. The College was opened in January 1865, with very encouraging prospects. One hundred and fifty students have been received out of a larger number of applicants. The whole number receive daily scriptural instruction. But the report of this College belongs to the year succeeding that now under review. The following extract only is therefore given from a letter of Mr. Greaves:—

This Institution, begun with a sincere desire to promote the glory and further the cause of our blessed Saviour, will, I doubt not, have the fervent prayers of our friends at home. Nothing is further from the intentions of all connected with it than that it should be merely an educational establishment. We desire that it should be, as far as possible, leavened with the word and spirit of Christ, and that the influence we may hope to gain over the pupils should be, so far as God vouchsafes His blessing, a sanctifying and saving one. A considerable portion of the Biblical instruction has fallen to my own lot, and I have already been encouraged with the attention manifested by many of the boys to the Scripture lessons. If God be pleased to spare in health and strength our Missionary brethren, who have undertaken to assist in the work of the College, we certainly shall have every advantage, as regards outward means, for imparting efficient Christian instruction to a large number of Hindu youths. May He crown the effort with His heavenly blessing, and cause it to be said hereafter, in reference to many a student of the College, "This and that man were born there!"

The Rev. J. Vaughan gives the following comprehensive view of the Mission in Calcutta:—

The past year was begun with a weekly offertory. This was only intended as a tentative measure, to be followed by something more lasting and definite. This continued for six months. During that period 66 rupees were contributed. At the end of June a Church meeting was called. The duty of giving in a liberal and systematic way was affectionately and earnestly pressed upon the people. The idea appeared to meet with approval. A native Committee was formed, and a Pastorate and Church Fund resolved upon. It was determined that the members of the congregation would each, according to his conscience and ability, subscribe a monthly sum to these funds. The result has been such as to lead us to thank God and take courage. The receipts of the last half-year have considerably more than doubled the receipts of the first half. The total amount contributed by the native Christians during the year has been 379 rupees.

liberality.

It was the wish of the subscribers that the contributions to the "Church fund," should, for the past year, be expended in direct Missionary operations. Accordingly, from time to time the two railways, converging in a point near our compound, and running through populous towns and villages to the N.E. and S.E. of Calcutta, have been made use of for preaching excursions. Two of the native brethren have gone forth with the message of salvation to places far removed from Gospel influences. In all, seventeen of these journeys have been made. In every sense the idea is a happy one. Not only are the good tidings in this way widely diffused, but the native preachers going forth from time to time, into new scenes and amongst strange people, get, as it were, new stimulus for their home duties: not the least pleasing is, that the Society is relieved of the charges, and that our native Church is asserting its Missionary character, at the same time that it is aiming after its own independence. Fifty-three rupees have been expended on the preaching tours: the remaining 326 rupees are deposited in the hands of the Corresponding Committee, as a "Native Pastorate Fund," at five per cent. interest. I may seem to be dwelling too much on a question of rupees; but any one conversant with the past history of our Missions will not regard this as a mere money matter. It involves and implies very much more. It is a pulsation of life which breathes hope for the future. It shows that our Christians are not unimpressible, and that, when convinced of their obligations and duties, they are ready to undertake them. The good which is in them finds scope and developement, and the evil is either rectified, or, to a great extent, lessened. Already a spirit of straightforward manliness and moral strength begins to show itself amongst our Christians. Many of them would feel degraded by occupying the dependent position which marked them years ago. Many would now blush to receive aid which formerly they claimed as their right. The late terrible visitation (of the cyclone) served, in a striking manner, to bring out to light this improved tone. On the fearful day of the cyclone every native house in the compound was stripped of its roof, and otherwise injured; besides which a large quantity of household property was destroyed. The whole body of the Christians had to take refuge in the church. I rather expected at such a crisis to be besieged with numerous appeals for aid, especially since it was known that a collection had been set on foot towards the relief of the sufferers. To my surprise, the morning after the storm the whole village presented a busy scene: every man went to work in a manly way to repair, as far as he could, his own losses, and what could not be repaired all seemed prepared to sacrifice in a quiet, resigned spirit. Scarcely a single application for help was preferred, and in one or two cases proffered aid was respectfully declined, on the ground that there might be others in greater need. It must not be supposed that our Calcutta Christians are particularly "well to do" in the world. I believe that the average income of our people is not more than twelve or fourteen rupees a month for each family.

Independent action now appears in ways which cheer me. A week-day service has been set up without my direction. Also a night school has been begun in the same spirit. Then, again, two or three of the teachers, without reference to the Missionary, go about at their leisure preaching to the heathen.

About three mornings in the week are employed by me in going to the houses of the wealthy and educated. I have only been Mission to working in this sphere for a very short time, and can point to no upper positive instances of good. I can only say that I have been received classes. almost everywhere with courtesy and kindness, and the message has been listened to with attention and respect: this is ground for thankfulness.

The year has not been without direct fruit in the way of conversions. In all, twelve adult baptisms have taken place.

The work still goes on amongst the poor lepers. The Christians, several of them, are evidently growing in grace and in meetness for heaven. Two or three have passed away during the year: they had hope in their deaths. Quite a little band of redeemed are now in glory who found Jesus in the wards of the asylum.

During the summer of 1864 a new branch of Missionary effort was commenced by the Bishop of Calcutta and five of his clergy, including two of the Missionaries of this Society, by a series of public lectures on Revelation, Christianity, and the Bible, given in a part of St. Paul's Cathedral, Calcutta, not appropriated to divine services. A considerable number of the higher classes of educated natives attended. The bishop commenced the lectures by one on the need of a supernatural revelation, and was followed by Professor Banerjea, the archdeacon, and three Missionaries. The friends of Bishop Daniel Wilson will remember with interest that, in his original scheme of a Metropolitan church, this plan of addresses to the non-Christian inhabitants of Calcutta occupied a prominent position.

The Bengal Missionaries, in conference, thus speak of the importance of such public lectures on the evidences of Christianity.

We would recommend an experiment to be made which we think very likely to help the extension of our Missionary operations. It is well known that there are now, in almost every large town, many pupils of Government and other schools who are more or less acquainted with the great controversy between the Christian faith on the one hand, and heathenism and infidelity on the other, and who yet have no direct appeals to them on the side of truth, while they are surrounded on every hand by those who will fortify them in error. The readiness with which such are found to attend controversial lectures in Calcutta suggests the idea, that if one or two of our number, instead of itinerating in the villages, were occasionally to visit such towns, prepared to give a lecture upon some fundamental religious truth, a good effect might, with God's blessing, be produced, and, in particular, the minds of such young men might, in this way, be prepared to meet the specious arguments by which native deistical Societies are endeavouring to propagate their tenets throughout the country.

THAKURPUKUR.

The out-station of Thakurpukur has been under the care of Mr. Vaughan, who thus describes the work :—

Signs of progress have marked the work in this station. The boarding school was closed last year. A variety of other things of a kindred nature have been cut off. Unnecessary expenditure has been largely reduced. Very little now remains of the former dependent features of the Mission. The money which has been saved has been employed in extending actual Mission work. Aided by a Government grant, I have opened, at a village three miles distant, a heathen girls' school: about fifty children, the daughters chiefly of respectable Hindus, are now taught in it. Their progress is most encouraging, and the whole effort has been an undoubted success. In another out-station, I have opened another school, which is attended chiefly by Christian children, who could not come to the school at Thakurpukur. The teacher spends three days at that place, and the remaining three days of the week he devotes as an itinerating schoolmaster, visiting the isolated Christian families scattered over the country, and imparting instruction as he best can to the poor children, who have no other chance of learning.

Within the last six weeks another school has been opened in a very populous neighbourhood. The school is most promising.

BURDWAN.

During the early part of 1864, Burdwan was under the care of the Rev. H. Stern and the Rev. R. P. Greaves. At the close of the year it was transferred to the care of its former Missionary, the Rev. A. P. Neele, who returned from Europe in recruited health, Mr. Linké has also been removed to this station from Kishnagurh. The number of Christians is about 250; but Mr. Greaves writes :—

Evil influence of Native infidelity. I would that it were in my power to tell you of any cases of earnest inquiry or spiritual concern among the people at Burdwan. Very great apathy, however, appears to prevail. The Rajah, who is possessed of enormous wealth, has a great influence (of a material kind at least) over the people. Unhappily he is a man of no religious principle, who supports Hinduism while he laughs at it, and hates Christianity while pretending to respect it. It will easily be understood that such a man will be surrounded with numerous retainers, much like himself in character, and worshipping no god but mammon. There are, however, in Burdwan, not a few who have reached that particular point to which it is comparatively easy to bring men, but beyond which only God's grace can carry them. Intellectually they acknowledge a conviction of the truth of the Gospel; morally they profess an admiration of its precepts, but being still spiritually dead, and strangers to a sense of guilt before God, they see no use in exposing themselves to trouble and inconvenience by taking on them the name of Christ.

KISHNAGURH DISTRICT.

The report of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee on the general character of the native Christians of the Kishnagurh district, has been already given in the opening remarks on the North-India Mission. Mr. Schurr, since his return, has endeavoured to make more extensive use of the village headmen in maintaining discipline, and promoting the temporal and eternal welfare of the people. They have been of service also in persuading the native Christians to a regular attendance upon the means of grace. Another plan which Mr. Schurr has introduced, is the placing of native catechists in four large market-towns in the district, who devote themselves to evangelistic labours amongst their heathen countrymen. As the plan had only been tried for a part of the year, it is too early to expect results.

Mr. Schurr writes respecting the Christians:—

They are on the whole, I believe, improving, though as a body they are not what they ought to be: however, I can confidently say they are not worse than the average Christians at home. A few of them are earnest and consistent, proving a leaven among the mass.

Mr. Schurr reports the death of the catechist of Kapasdanga, who was one of the few. “Sodanondo was a man of common sense and sincerity: the Word of God had always great weight with him. He became a reader in 1857. He did not care for money, and acted throughout honestly and disinterestedly, always the same humble, willing, prayerful, earnest man. His prayers were full of holy zeal for the spiritual welfare of his brethren; his addresses full of unction. He had not been educated as a preacher, but his sermons were far better than those of men who had enjoyed greater advantages. His end was full of peace.”

Education.

Mr. Gmelin, an experienced training-master, has laboured in Kishnagurh to improve and extend the schools of the district.

At the Sudder station he has a model school and training class. The class consists of fifteen pupils. Mr. Gmelin also inspects the schools of the district, twenty-two in number; laying down a regular course of instruction, and examining each school twice a-year. A third branch of his labour has been the holding of conferences with the schoolmasters in the Society's employment, twice a-year, at which they give in written papers upon appointed subjects, and receive lectures upon the duties of their calling: there have been generally thirty-six teachers present at these conferences. The result of these measures has been a very visible activity and zeal among the teachers, as well as progress in the lessons of the children, and in the regularity of their attendance.

BHAGULPORE AND THE SANTHAL MISSION.

The changes which have taken place in these Missions during the last year have again deprived the Committee of the annual reports. The Rev. Messrs. Droese and Puxley returned to India in the course of last summer, in restored health, and the Rev. W. T. Storrs resigned to them the charge of the Mission, and is on his way home under sick certificate.

ALLAHABAD.

The Rev. Brocklesby Davis has continued at this station during the last year. Allahabad, as the seat of Government of the North-west Provinces, attracts many natives to the place, some of whom have heard and received the Gospel, and have removed to other districts. Eight adults have been admitted to baptism during the year, two of whom were afterwards employed, the one as a catechist, the other as a Bible Colporteur. The latter, a Mahratta Brahmin, has since removed to Indore to occupy a similar post.

Native Church.

The large native flock at Allahabad, under their native pastor, the Rev. D. Mohun, have maintained their Christian profession. Since they removed from Secundra at the time of the mutiny, in connexion with the Government printing press, they have been somewhat scattered in their habitations, waiting until the Government press is established before they form themselves into a Christian village, and erect the native church, the funds for which are already in hand.

The following notices of this native flock occur in the published report of the visitation of the Bishop of Calcutta in August 1864—

Aug. 21, 1864.—Sunday morning, at three o'clock, the Bishop attended the Urdu service, where the Rev. David Mohun read morning prayers and the Litany, after which the Bishop confirmed fifteen native Christians. The singing at this service, conducted by Mrs. Davis, was remarkably good. Mr. Davis read the preface to the Confirmation Service.

Tuesday, the Bishop went early to the Christian village, now containing nearly 400 baptized persons, where the Rev. David Mohun has excellent schools for boys, girls, and infants. His most useful labours have now been recognised by Government, and a Grant-in-aid enables him to appoint a master, to confine himself to general superintendence, and to devote more time to his pastoral work. All three schools seem to be well taught, and in thoroughly good order.

Mr. Davis has an Anglo-vernacular school, for which he receives a Grant-in-aid, and an infants' school in the city. Mrs. Davis has also a school for heathen and Mohammedan girls, numbering twenty-five on the books: the scholars have made good progress in reading and in the knowledge of the New Testament. They also excel in needlework.

Mr. Davis has made two Missionary tours into the surrounding districts during the school vacations, and has also placed a Scripture reader in the town of Phoolpore, about thirty miles from Allahabad, and containing from 10,000 to 12,000 inhabitants. "Briscoe," Mr. Davis writes, "though a young man, gives promise of becoming a helpful fellow-labourer. He has collected a small school, without neglecting his more proper work of finding openings of usefulness among the adults."

JUBBULPORE.

The Rev. E. Champion has continued his labours at this station. He was joined at the close of the year by the Rev. John Stuart, whose time has been chiefly devoted to the acquisition of the language. A small native flock has been collected.

A baptism which took place on Christmas-day 1864 deserves special mention, as being that of a Mohammedan convert of considerable influence, and holding an important post in the educational department of Government. A few such instances would, under the Divine blessing, exercise an incalculable influence upon the progress of Christian truth in India. Mr. Champion thus describes the interesting course of inquiry by which the convert was led into the fold of Christ. After stating that he was a man of sound education and irreproachable character, and highly respected by his superiors and by all who know him, Mr. Champion adds:—

Conversion of an educated Mohammedan. He appeared to have been for many years of a thoughtful disposition, and anxious as regards his soul. In this state his mind was directed to the consideration of Christianity, and he read (only to find fault at first) Dr. Pander's works. Still truth seemed to have gained upon him; and when Nehemiah was here, about three years ago, they became acquainted, and he has often told me that one-half of the difficulties which possessed his mind was cleared away by their intercourse. Up to this time he had not seen our Bible, and, at Nehemiah's suggestion, he came to me and procured that and other books. In this way our intercourse began. He was a most indefatigable and thoughtful reader, and often visited me, and propounded difficulties or asked for explanations, which showed he read with great care, and possessed great powers of mind. I answered his difficulties to the best of my ability, and always found what I said was received with impartiality and serious attention. He soon confessed himself much struck with the morality of the Bible, which, he said, surpassed any thing he had ever met with, and at length declared that Christianity was far better than either Hinduism or Mohammedanism; still some doubts remained regarding the inspiration and authenticity of the Bible. Nor was this exercise of the mind merely an intellectual one. He plainly said it was peace to a troubled mind which he sought. As he came to me from week to week I wondered at the great change I saw going on within him, and could entertain no doubt as to the final result. His last request to me, as I was going to the Benares Conference, was, that I would ask the Missionaries to pray for him. In this, and other ways, the Christianity which had already imbued his mind displayed itself. He had given up attendance on the Mohammedan prayers long since, and was so open in the expression of his predilection for Christianity, that the Mohammedans declared he was an Isai, and his relatives threatened to take away his wife. This was the state of things when Nehemiah came, whose kind and sympathetic instruction cleared away his remaining doubts, and decided him to be baptized at once.

Education.

Mr. Champion reports, respecting the schools at this station:—

The schools have occupied a large share of my time and attention during the season when itineration is impossible. I believe that, for the reasons I am about to give, the present state and future prospects of our schools are exceedingly hopeful.

The advance of Jubbulpore is very rapid in all respects, and will be still more so as the railways are opened from Allahabad to Bombay, and, in connexion with the two termini, large numbers of employés are located here. This will increase the number and intelligence of our scholars, and will give a powerful impetus to the study of English.

The state of education, also, in our schools affords a good foundation of a future superstructure of superior character. We have two boys about to go up with fair hopes of success for the entrance examination of the Calcutta University. Again we have highly-qualified and earnest helpers in our Christian head masters, who are my right hand in the working of the schools. These young men have been brought up in Dr. Duff's institution, have been well taught and are highly educated. They are, in thought, education, and habits, native-Christian gentlemen.

Mr. Champion writes :—

I travelled in company with either one or three native-preachers at least 900 miles, and we preached in 160 villages, five towns and one mela. In addition to this, two of the above-mentioned preachers, who formed, on two occasions, a detached party, visited eighty villages, two towns, and one mela, thus making a total of 250 villages and towns in which the Gospel of salvation was proclaimed in the period under review. Of these villages, about 150 had never before been visited by a Missionary or Christian teacher.

Prospects with

The Gonds.—Of my old friends, the Gonds, I have seen a good deal this year. My opinion of the simplicity and truthfulness of their character remains unaltered, and I am as confident as ever of the ultimate success of a work among them if it were commenced in earnest. But hope deferred maketh the heart sad, and it is with deep regret that I find ties of various kinds thickening around me at Jubulpore, and keeping me away from this my chosen work.

I have given a good deal of attention to the question as to which would be the best locality for the head-quarters of a Mission to the Gonds, and have travelled over a large tract of country with the object of arriving at a just conclusion on this point. The result is, that I am now in more doubt than ever regarding it. Perhaps the true solution to the difficulty is found in the fact that the Gonds are scattered over a widely extended tract, and that, therefore, the occupation of several stations would be necessary to act upon them effectively. God willing, I hope to see much of these people next season, and may, perhaps, be able to speak more confidently from fuller information. One thing, however, is certain, that there is a wide diversity among the Gonds of different districts, and that, in commencing work, we should begin with those who are furthest removed from Hindu influences. Some have adopted the rosary-idolatrous mark and caste distinctions of the Hindus, and some worship their idols, and even oppose us with thorough Hindu arguments. These are, of course, not the best subjects to begin upon. Moreover, the presence of the sharp, cunning Hindu exercises a depressing and evil influence upon the open, simple-hearted Gond. He feels his inferiority, and does not appear to listen or think while the Hindus are present to do so for him.

Competent judges are of opinion that the language of the Gonds is impoverished and almost defunct, and declare it would be impossible to re-invigorate it. All that I have been able to learn leads me to the same conclusion. As there are no books in the language, missing words are irrecoverable and would have to be supplied from the Hindi. As such lost words appear to be numerous, the result would be a heterogeneous ill-assorted mass, neither Hindi nor Gondi. Still I imagine that the acquisition of the Gonds Farsi to commence work with, and impart elementary religious instruction, would be of incalculable service, even if the Hindi (already so extensively spoken by the Gonds) should be used for after instruction, and for books. The German Missionaries of Chota Nagpore, I believe, dealt in this way with the aboriginal language of the Coles.

BENARES.

The Rev. Messrs. Smith, Leupolt, Fuchs, Erhardt, Hubbard and Hooper, Messrs. Treusch and Weber, and Miss Hooper, have laboured at this station during the last year. Messrs. Smith and Leupolt devote their time to general Mission work. All the other Missionaries are engaged in the College and training institutions which have been established in this city.

The local Report thus notices the visit of Sir John Lawrence to the Mission in October :—

The Committee record with much pleasure, that, on the 29th of October, this Mission was honoured by a visit from his Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General. He saw the Church, visited the normal school, saw the orphan and infant schoolchildren, and then went to Jay Narain's College and free school. The Missionary families and the native Christians were much delighted with the visit, and feel grateful to his Excellency. Such an event had not occurred before in the Mission.

The number of native Christians has remained nearly stationary during the last year. The chief congregation is at the Missionary village of Sigra, on the outside of the town, where there are 324 Christians. This congregation has been for many years under the pastoral charge of Mr. Leupolt. It has, in the early part of the year, been transferred to a native pastor, the Rev. Dari Solomon. Upon this transfer, Mr. Leupolt makes the following important remarks :—

I thank God I am no longer the pastor of our congregation. In the course of the year I deeply felt I could not do justice to the duties devolving upon a pastor, and therefore resigned my pastorship. The Rev. D. Solomon, of Chunar, was, in consequence thereof, called over, with the consent of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee. He came and took charge of the congregation, and I am free as far as pastoral pastor in-

duties are concerned ; but I still advise and help dear Solomon. I am perfectly certain that no native congregation will truly prosper without a right-minded native pastor. Upwards of thirty years I have striven to be identified by our people as one of them, but I have only partially succeeded. This is not owing to any want of love or confidence of our people. They have occasionally made me acquainted with some of their private affairs, which they possibly might not have been willing to confide even to a native pastor ; but there is still, beside the father, the friend, the brother, the teacher, the Sahib. Our Christians love us—stand by us. They know they are beloved, and they confide in us. When once, in the mutiny, I myself believed that we should be overwhelmed, and I asked our people to save themselves and leave Sigra, leave me, the unanimous reply of men and women was—“ Ask what you like of us, but not to leave you. Where you are we will be, and where you die we will die.” But they need, as a pastor, one of themselves.

Education.

“ The Training Institution ” for preparing native agents, both schoolmasters and catechists, is under the charge of Mr. Treusch. Mr. Weber has charge of the model and practising school, and of the students of the institution during the time they are employed in the model school. The following is the annual report, of Mr. Treusch :—

native trained

Reviewing the events of the past year, we have great cause for thankfulness to our gracious God for the help and blessing granted to us in our work, though we have also had our little share of troubles, reminding us that there is nothing perfect in this world. During the year the number of students increased to twenty-five : one had to leave from ill-health ; one, I regret to say, ran away ; and two others were dismissed. There are, therefore, at present, twenty-one in my charge, or seven more than last year. They gave me much satisfaction, some of them working very hard, and continue to do so with pleasure.

During the year our plan of lessons has been somewhat changed, and we have come a step nearer the chief object of the institution, which is, teaching our pupils the art of teaching ; and therefore we made it a rule that the students of the first and second classes must teach one hour daily : accordingly, they practice teaching, under Mr. Weber's superintendence, in the model school. Besides this, I give to these two classes lessons in the art of teaching (Pædagogik) two hours a week. In these two classes the Patwari books are also read. All the instructions are given in the vernacular.

The female department of the training institution has been under the charge of Miss Hooper, till her marriage with an officer of the artillery, Lieut. Low. He was attached to the Bhotan expedition soon after his marriage. Mrs. Low remains at Benares, and has kindly continued her assistance at the school. Mrs. Low reports of the institution :—

This year has been one of encouragement. Anxieties there have been, and ever will be, in connexion with training schools for women, all over the world, and especially in a country like India. However, in this instance the undertaking has been attended with marked success. In the month of March some students were sent from the Orphan Institution at Agra, and, with the exception of one who has been obliged to leave from ill-health, they are making fair progress. We have also received intimation from other Mission stations that pupils are being prepared to pass the entrance examination here, and it is hoped they will soon avail themselves of this opportunity for further education. Another encouraging feature during the past year has been, that native-Christian parents, living at greater or less distances, have placed their daughters in the training institution, with a view to their improvement.

trained

The number of the students has been twenty during this year. Among them are two widows. As these, from their circumstances, are able to study at a later age than is usual among the women of this country, there is reason to hope that there will be that solid advance difficult of attainment in ordinary cases.

The subjects of study have been the same as those I mentioned last year, except in the first class. In December 1863, seven of the girls sat for the examination in the first year's course. Of these, four passed, and, in consequence, began studying general history, and the analysis of the Old Testament, and they also received lessons in school management. They have, by this time, become, in some degree, acquainted with both the principles and practice of proper methods of teaching ; but yet, much remains to be done before we can look upon them as formed efficient teachers.

In a subsequent communication, Mrs. Low writes :—

I have found many encouragements in my work at the training school, and think that, though there is a want of ability and perseverance about the native character, yet, with proper European superintendence, the women of this country may be made good teachers. It is partly owing to the age at which they mostly complete their studies, so much earlier than English women do, that they appear to have less fixedness of purpose. I sometimes teach a subject to younger children in their presence, and explain to them afterwards the methods I have used, with the advantages attending them ; yet I find I cannot be sure that they would continue the same methods for months together without supervision. But the race is decidedly one capable of great improvement. Connected, indeed, with the fault I have described is also pliability of character, which presents many favourable opportunities to those who instruct them. Improvement is soon manifest after they come into the normal school, and they show much interest in the right principles of education. I have seen enough to make me think that the hope may very reasonably be entertained, that strength of mind, and other valuable qualities, will gradually follow, and they will be able to act independently.

Jay Narain's Institution consists of a College department containing sixty-two students, and an Anglo-vernacular school with a branch containing 311 boys. During the year 1864, the Rev. J. Erhardt was the acting-Principal in the absence of the Rev. H. D. Hubbard, who returned at the close of the year. The Rev. W. Hooper instructs the students who have passed the entrance Examination of Calcutta University, or are preparing for it, and also the Sanskrit classes. Mr. Erhardt reports favourably of the state of the school, especially of its moral tone, and of the general influence of Christian truth, even upon those who do not openly make a confession of their faith.

Mr. Hooper reports, respecting his department :—

Hindoo youths desiring to understand Christian truth.

During the year my work at Jay Narain's has been chiefly with the first and second English classes of the College, i.e. those reading for the intermediate, and those reading for the entrance Examination. I have had the whole of their Bible instruction and the greater part of their English, i.e. their instruction in the English language. I am happy to say that it has been always with very great pleasure that I have sat down to teach them. Nothing whatever unpleasant has occurred: all the boys whom I have taught, have, by their conduct, and by far the greater part of them have, by their progress also, very much pleased and satisfied. What we have read has not all been easy: the Gospel of St. John in their Scripture reading, and many parts of the English course appointed by the University, have presented many difficulties; but I have been much gratified by the diligence and resolution with which most of the boys have applied themselves to surmount the difficulties. Some of them especially have manifested a desire to understand the sublime mysteries of the Gospel of St. John which has been very encouraging, inasmuch as it has given a hope that the Spirit of God may fasten upon their hearts that which they are so intent upon understanding, and lead them, in time, to fulfil in their own persons the purpose of the writing of that precious Gospel, viz. "that they might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that, believing, they might have life through his name."

The Orphan Institution, and Mrs. Smith's valuable Female Day School in the city, have been kept up during the year with the usual measure of success.

Messrs. Smith, Leupolt, Fuchs, and Hooper, devote part of their time to preaching in the city and to Missionary tours; Mr. Smith is wholly occupied in this work. He writes in his annual report:—

I settled down for my work at Benares again in the middle of March. I have gone six and sometimes seven times a week amongst the people, besides my two services with the Christians in the city, one on Sunday, and one on Thursday evening. Our morning work has generally been more in the way of conversation and discussion than direct preaching, while our afternoon and evening work has been of the latter description. Goodly numbers assemble to hear, and not unfrequently are very quiet and attentive. Indeed, frequently individuals have appeared to hang on our lips, and to take in every word with avidity, and have expressed impatience at the slightest interruption offered to us. A number of Punjabi Nanak Panthis, as they are popularly termed, have listened repeatedly with the greatest pleasure to the Gospel.

heathen
willing to

On Thursday evenings, with our few catechists and schoolmasters, I have commenced the exposition of the Epistle to the Romans, having before gone over with them the four Gospels and the Acts,

Our Mission here has become in a great measure an educational one. I am the only regular preaching Missionary at present, with three or four native assistants. We want apostles, and are making schoolmasters, though it is hoped that some from amongst them may become preachers.

Mr. Hooper thus alludes to the Deism which is gaining ground among the educated classes; and which, in his judgment, is more hopeful than Hinduism—

The Brahma Somaj, or Society of Deists at Calcutta, are just going to set up a branch one here; and I long for Hubbard's coming out, so as to be a little freer from College work (entirely free I should not wish to be, else how should inquirers come to me from College?), and devote some time to visiting these Babus regularly. Last month I delivered a lecture on Philosophy before the native literary club here. I am still not quite certain whether I did right in spending (necessarily) so much time on it; but it seems to have been liked, and at least to have strengthened the belief in their minds that we Padres are not indifferent to their intellectual and general good.

The congregation at Gharwa, an out-station, has not increased in numbers, but progress has been made. Mr. Leupolt writes at the close of the year—

The Gospel is at present more effectually preached than ever it was. A trained catechist from our institution, and Japhet, both born preachers, are stationed there. They are joined in their work by Solomon, a colporteur. They are nearly always on the wing, itinerating in the neighbourhood twenty and thirty miles round. They have great hopes that the Lord has touched the hearts of some of the people who hear the Word.

Chunar is now under the charge of a native catechist since the removal of the native pastor to Sigra: it is visited occasionally by the Missionaries from Benares.

Anglo-vernacular schools are kept up at Juanpore and Zufferabad: that at Juanpore contains 160 boys, under a Christian head master. Mr. Hooper undertakes the superintendence of these schools, visiting them monthly, and, on such occasions, preaching to the heathen, and holding occasionally English services for the residents, in the absence of a chaplain for the station.

AZIMGURH.

The chief feature in the Azimgurh station is the Anglo-vernacular school, which has been raised out of the ruins into which it was reduced by the mutiny through the exertions of the Rev. A. Lockwood, who has laboured alone at this station for the last five or six years. The native Christians are few in number, and are mostly employed in the Mission. Preaching has also been regularly carried on in the bazaar; and during the cool season Mr. Lockwood made a Missionary tour to Mhow, where he spent ten days in preaching and conversing with the people, taking in his way other important towns. In his annual report he gives this account of his schools—

The school was opened Jan. 19, 1863, by the Archdeacon of Calcutta, with 95 boys: we have now 240. I wish it to be a Mission school in the strictest sense, employing only Christian teachers for religious and general instruction, and two munshees and two pundits for teaching the vernaculars. I have at present three Christian teachers;—the head master, whom I believe to be thoroughly efficient and painstaking in his work; the second master, who has so far proved that he has ability, and takes a real interest in his boys; and the third master, of whom I may say the same. The head master received his education partly in Government and partly in Mission schools; the second master was educated in one of the Society's schools in Kishnagurh, from which he was baptized: both are converts from Hinduism, and natives of Bengal. The third master is the son of a native Christian, and received his education in the Sogra Orphanage and the normal Institution connected with the Benares Mission. He came to us in July of last year, and promises well. If the Institution could always turn out men of the same Christian character, it would prove a blessing indeed. It is being efficiently conducted, I believe, by Messrs. Treusch and Weber.

The girls' school was established about twelve months ago. At first Mrs. Lockwood found a good deal of difficulty in inducing girls to come, but the numbers have gradually increased. There are now 32, and the school is efficiently conducted by the wives of two native teachers.

In the absence of any chaplain at the station of Azimgurh, Mr. Lockwood has given a full English service in the church of the station on each Sunday, as well as a service to the British troops in the cantonments. At the visitation of the Bishop of Calcutta, his lordship recorded the following honourable testimony to the successful labours of Mr. Lockwood in the Church Register:—

“On Monday we examined the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd classes of the Mission school in the city; and we think that, considering the short period of its existence, the progress which the boys have made is very creditable. The building seems admirably adapted to its object. Mr. Lockwood deserves the warm sympathy and encouragement of all faithful Christians in the work which he has undertaken here. It is a most important one, for he may take into his hands the whole education of the city, besides his more directly evangelistic and pastoral labours. I regret that he is so much crippled for want of funds; but still the erection of the school, and the good beginning which it has made, are great points gained; and I trust that the interest which was shown in it when the Archdeacon opened it two years ago will be continued and increased. Mean time, I earnestly commend it to the blessing of God, without which no human aid can lead to good results.”

Testimony
of the Bishop of Calcutta.

The Rev. C. B. Leupolt spent a few days at Azimgurh at the close of the year, and thus describes the work of his brother Missionary—

Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood are absent itinerating; the schools are closed; but how Azimgurh has changed! In 1861, when I came here, the Mission premises were still nothing but blackened ruins. Since then, through the indefatigable exertions of brother Lockwood, a new, large, and beautifully-finished school-house has arisen out of the ashes near the spot where the old one stood. It cost upwards of 15,000 rupees, and this sum has been raised by Mr. Lockwood with little or any help from the Society. A beautiful little bungalow has also been erected for a resident Missionary. The school has been re-opened, and has attained the old efficiency which it had under Timothy Luther, but its tone of education has been raised. Bazaar preaching, too, is carried on; and it is only a pity that the Society cannot place more means at the disposal of Mr. Lockwood, so as to enable him to employ three or four instead of one catechist. Mrs. Lockwood has opened a girls' school, and has, I believe, thirty girls attending. Every trace of the mutiny has been wiped away from this Mission but poor Juanpore still mourns.

Progress of

GORRUCKPORE.

The Gorruckpore Mission, with its two branches of the work in the city and the Christian agricultural village of Basharatpore in its neighbourhood, has continued under the charge of the Rev. H. Stern. The following are extracts from his annual report:—

It is a matter for thankfulness to the Lord of Missions to be able to say that we have not remained stationary, and consequently retrograded. On the contrary, we have, though it be but little progressed. The opening of the year saw one member added to the Church, and so did the close of the year, when a whole family was received into Christ's Church by baptism. The former concerns a young Mussulman, of about twenty years, of most respectable parentage (being a Syud), and a native of the independent province of Rangoon. During the cold season he accompanied me on a Missionary tour, during which he was very useful, and showed great aptitude for recommending the Gospel to others, both by his speech and by his manners. The family which was admitted into the Church at the close of the year is from Nepal, and comprises a man and his wife and one child. They are from a place not far from Katmandoo, the capital of Nepal. These Nepalese are generally most satisfactory men, and contrast most favourably when compared with Hindus of the same class. The Nepalese are more truthful, more teachable, more hard-working, and, what is a great thing, more thankful, and certainly make more faithful and simple-minded Christians.

The Basharatpore agricultural settlement continues to be in a satisfactory condition, and would be still more so but for the partial failure of the crops for two seasons past, on account of the scarcity of rain.

The appointment of a native pastor to this church would seem to be the next requisite. The schools in connexion with this Mission, six in number, have been carried on throughout the year without interruption, and I am thankful to say some progress has been made.

The number of children in all the schools in connexion with this Mission, including boys and girls, both at Gorruckpore and Basharatpore, was, at the close of the year, 459 on the rolls, and 338 in average daily attendance.

Bazaar preaching was carried on chiefly by the native assistants. In the cold season a Missionary tour into the district was accomplished, and the Gospel preached in many places where it had never been heard before. It is, however, a matter of regret, that, owing to many and multifarious duties, the Missionary, single-handed as he is, is unable to devote most of his time to direct preaching, in which work he is assisted by only two inexperienced readers.

The Rev. C. B. Leupolt, after visiting Gorruckpore in June 1864, thus expresses the feelings which were associated with it as the scene of his labours.

Eight years have expired since I was last at Gorruckpore, and twenty-three since I went first there. The first time I went to Gorruckpore was in January 1841. Mr. Wybrow had died the month previous, and I went to Gorruckpore to take charge of the Mission there. The last time I visited that station was in 1856, on account of the late Mr. Kreiss. On Easter day we had service in the morning, and the Lord's Supper in the station church. From thence we went to Basharatpore. A number of European friends were present. The church was filled, upward of 250 native Christians attending. Their faces beamed with joy. The service was opened with a beautiful hymn sung by the children in parts; I then read prayers, and, after another hymn, addressed the congregation. What a sight to see so many Christians together! The enemy thought to annihilate us, to root out the very name of Christ from Hindustan: but here we were! The enemy was permitted to destroy the church in part, but the Lord has enabled His servants to rebuild it, enlarge it and beautify it; and there it stands as a monument that the Lord is with us. But where are the enemies? They fell on the stone, and were broken, and then the stone fell on them, and ground them to powder. We felt very happy, for the Lord had put a song of praise into our mouth. What changes have taken place at Gorruckpore since I first knew it! The church rebuilt and beautified; the congregation doubled; the old village gone, and a new one erected on the most healthy spot of the farm; the jungle cleared all around the place. The Lord has been indeed with his servants.

On returning to Gorruckpore from the farm, a kind of homesick feeling stole over me. The founder of the Mission was at home; I was going to say, and at rest, but it is as likely that he is very active. Dear good Wybrow gone home, the old venerable Sheikh too. The rebels have obliterated the exact spots where the remains of these brethren sleep along with those of our little Mary. Many of the native Christians also are no more in the land of the living, and I also was here at death's door in 1841. One, however, remains unchangeable, the Lord, and He is still with His servants.

LUCKNOW.

The Rev. Messrs. Mengé, Reuther, and T. Storrs, have continued their labours through another year at Lucknow.

The native Church.

Mr. Storrs has charge of the native Church, which numbers more than 100 converts. The communicants are 23. There have been 5 adult baptisms during the year, and the native Christians have subscribed 161 rupees to a church fund.

Education.

There is an Anglo-vernacular school of 70 boys, and an orphanage containing 37 children. Mrs. Mengé has also a girls' orphanage of 32 children.

Mr. Reuther reports, that during the year he and Mrs. Reuther “have been busily engaged in opening girls' schools in different quarters of Lucknow. Friends in England and residents at Lucknow have helped, and Government has given a grant-in-aid. There are, at the close of the year, 4 schools, with 84 native-female pupils. The success is greater than was expected, but the Lord's blessing has prospered the attempt.”

Preaching to the Mussulmans.

The chief feature of the Oude Mission is the systematic and extensive preaching of the Gospel to the non-Christian population, to which two experienced Missionaries devote their whole time.

Hopeful
signs among
medan.

Mr. Mengé reports, in his annual letter—“I am thankful to say that the Gospel has been more read and studied this year by many natives, chiefly Mohammedans, than ever before. I have carried on many discussions with numbers of them in a friendly way.” In the cold season Mr. Mengé visited Kakori and Mulliabad, and the villages in those neighbourhoods, and itinerated for a month in the direction of Seetapoor, with much encouragement. Mr. Mengé also gives the following interesting account of the friendly relations which exist between the Missionaries and some of the inhabitants of Lucknow.

There are a few well-educated natives in Lucknow who feel, I trust, not merely convinced of the truth of Christianity, as far as the intellect is concerned, but who are also persuaded that Jesus Christ is the Saviour of the world, but who are not yet able to confess the truth before their friends, relatives and acquaintances. May God in mercy give them grace soon to overcome every obstacle in their way, and to acknowledge the Saviour before all ! The glorious Gospel and the Old-Testament Scriptures as well, are, I am thankful to say, now read by an increasing number, especially among learned Mohammedans, who are willing, without showing any bitter feelings to enter into discussions with us on religious subjects. When our revered Bishop was with us, he took the greatest interest in every thing going on in the Mission, and he and Mr. Cowie accompanied us to the house of a learned native in the city, where several molwis and other well read Mohammedans were assembled, who particularly wished to see the Bishop. As it was Christmas, I read Luke ii. 8—15, Isaiah ix. 6 and 7, and dwelt on the incarnation of our Lord and Saviour, and why He alone can save us from the power and consequences of sin. Mr. Reuther likewise spoke for a short time, and the Bishop gave those present good advice. Many others would have been present, but for the Oude exhibition, which had been opened the day before. The Oude exhibition, although it has been commented on as a glorious success in several newspapers—and I fully agree with what has been said about it—yet has not been viewed by any writer here from a Christian point of view. I look upon it as an earnest of what the Lord will yet do for the natives of Oude, viz. He will cause them to cherish kindly feelings towards their rulers, and to give increasing attention to the truths of Christianity ; for such assemblies will enable the Missionaries to mix with the principal natives of Oude generally, and to bring before them those portions of the Gospel which so clearly speak of peace on earth and goodwill towards men, wherever Jesus Christ is believed in as the Saviour of the world. It was my privilege to exchange friendly greetings with many of the principal Rajahs, Nawabs, Mahajuns, &c. of Oude, to make new acquaintances, and to renew old ones and to speak to hundreds, I trust, a word in season. Many of those whom I asked to visit me have done so, and have taken with them to their homes tracts and portions of the sacred Scriptures. May the good seed sown then, and during the whole of the past year, produce much and good fruit to the praise and glory of our Triune Jehovah !

Mr. Reuther, who is also engaged in this work, bears similar testimony as to its promising aspect.

Hopeful
signs
among
medans.

At Lucknow we had only a few adult baptisms during the year; nevertheless, there are clear signs that our labours are not in vain. A great deal of religious interest has been stirred up among the learned Mohammedans of our great city. At present they read our Scriptures diligently, with a view of proving from them that Mohammed was a true prophet, and that the Korán is the word of God. Many friendly discussions have taken place between them and us. Their hopes of proving Islam to be correct are becoming weaker from day to day, and I fully believe that the day is not far distant when the Gospel light shall prove too strong for them, and when they will confess that Christ is Lord to the glory of the Father. They begin to perceive that the nature of the Gospel is like that of heaven. For whatever country of our globe it has been hitherto sent, it has never gone out from there again till all had become Christians. Hence they are not startled when they are told that there will come a day when there shall be neither mosque nor heathen temple any more in this great land. They usually assent to it, and some wish that the time had come. Some time ago our learned Mohammedans got up a public preaching party in the streets of Lucknow, which they carried on with vigour for several months. They did, indeed, never come near us, but they gave a great deal of annoyance to the American Missionaries in whose quarter they stood up for Islam. They used to deliver their addresses near the place, and at the time when the Missionaries were expected, they drew away their audiences, and the Missionary was laughed at when he was left alone. The movement was quite novel, for Mohammedanism does not profess to have preaching in streets. They have it only in mosques and in places of prayer. But they felt the power and influence the preaching of the Missionaries has among the masses of the people, hence they, too, adopted it in defence of their own religion. They were, however, not aware that the Missionaries have on their side the Word of God, which is quick and powerful, and able to influence the people for good, whilst they had only human reasons to advance. Hence this movement, too, has failed, and I believe it is by this time entirely stopped.

Mr. Reuther, besides preaching in the city, employed the cold season in itinerating 150 miles, "from village to village, inviting Hindus and Mohammedans to come to the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sins of the world. Our audiences have been everywhere good. The Mission field looks hopeful. Mrs. Reuther has visited several zenanas in the district, and has met with a friendly, even cordial reception. The conversation on the part of the native ladies generally begins with questions about Europe and European manners. These are soon followed by inquiries about our religion, which affords an opportunity to explain the way of salvation."

AGRA.

The Mission at Agra comprises, first, the pastoral charge of a native-Christian congregation which has been nearly half a century in existence, but of which the increase has been so slow that it does not number more than 250 souls. The second branch is a large Orphan establishment at Secundra, with its Christian village, comprising about fifty adults and 332 children. A third branch is a collegiate establishment, St. John's College, and various vernacular schools. The fourth branch of operations is the preaching to the heathen. Six European Missionaries have been engaged in the Mission; but, at the close of the year, they report, "The operations of the Mission have been carried steadily on in their usual course, without any striking event to which one might point as an external mark of success. But the gradual preparation of the Hindu mind for a purer faith is no less obvious in this, than in other Missions. On this preparation we feel that we have reasons to ground our hope, under God, for the future." This statement, it is hoped, will call forth the prayers of the friends of Missions at home, that the Lord may hasten the season of fruit, and, in the mean time, may sustain the faith and patience of His servants through a night of toil.

Education

St. John's College contains about 280 pupils, of whom four are Undergraduates, having passed the first or second examination of the university of Calcutta. The Rev. C. E. Vines, B.A., is the Principal, and writes, "It is our wish to set before our pupils the beauty of holiness and truth, as exhibited in the religion of Christ; and we consider that, as Christian educationalists, we must make this an integral part of our instruction. We carry on our work in faith that God will complete it by bestowing the Spirit of life."

The Secundra Orphan Institution.

The orphanage is under the care of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Däuble. The number of children is 284, thirty-six having been admitted during the year. While the children are young they are easily managed; but the management of so large an establishment is a heavy responsibility, and as the children grow up there is difficulty in supplying them with employ-

industrial employment. The most hopeful are sent to the training institution at Benares: eleven have been already sent. There is also a printing press established in the village, by the native Christians themselves, which provides employment for many. A bookbinder has also been engaged, and measures are in progress for introducing carpentry. Mr. Däuble has wisely encouraged the native Christians, though few in number, to make a humble effort to sustain a Mission of their own. A school has been opened through their means at Runkutta, which, before the mutiny, had been an out-station of the Mission, but since abandoned. And a native reader has been supported at Bhurtpoor, and he will be helped by the occasional visits of other Christians from Secundra.

Preaching to the Heathen.

Messrs. Schneider, Shackell, and Steller take part in preaching, and in itinerant tours. Mr. Schneider writes:—"Upon the whole I can speak favourably of the bazaar preaching this year. We met frequently with large and attentive assemblies, and not seldom had interesting conversations and discussions on religious subjects." Mr. Shackell gives a report of the out-stations.

Muttra.

At Muttra our catechist, Madho Ram, has been in charge of the congregation during the year, and has gone on very nicely. The Sweeper converts there are much attached to him. Latterly he has held a meeting for them every night, alternately at each of their houses. This has been well-attended, all being generally present, with the exception of one who comes less regularly. They have, on the whole, gone on well. Three adult baptisms have taken place during the year. The congregation commenced a Church Fund this year, and have subscribed between seventy and eighty rupees, of which half has been placed to an endowment fund for a native pastor, the other half being employed in the part payment of Saffri, the schoolmaster's, salary. Next year they have determined to take the latter (eight rupees a month) entirely upon themselves.

Hathras.

At Hathras we have had two agents resident during the year, one as catechist, the other as teacher of a school in a neighbouring village.

Allyghur.

At Allyghur, Mr. Steller has been resident since April. The catechist who was living in the city before Mr. Steller came, has resigned. Yet his convert, a Mohammedan policeman, seems a genuine character, and has stood fast, and improved. He has been much persecuted by his brethren of the police, and would often have left, had it not been for our advice. At last he could stand it no longer, and Mr. Steller offered to train him for preaching. He is accordingly now employed as a probationary reader. Two other men, one sent from Secundra, the other a teacher near Allyghur some time previously, are also working with Mr. Steller. The native-Christian body has been somewhat increased. The teachers at the out-stations at Simrao and Iku have been employed by the Bible Society during the year, as colporteurs in the Muttra district, under my superintendence. They have sold, during this year, 600 New Testaments, and 1200 single gospels.

MEERUT.

The Rev. J. Hoernle has remained in charge of this station throughout the year 1864. He was joined at the end of April by Mr. Wright, a training master from England, and subsequently by one of his sons, Mr. J. Hoernle, as a catechist. The station was deprived, however, of Mr. W. Sandys, a native of Birmah, who had managed the Anglo-vernacular school, as its head master, for three years, with great success, by his removal to the Punjab.

Gradual increase of the Mission.

Since the mutiny there has been a gradual accession to the Christian Church from the rural population, so that the number of native converts in the city and neighbourhood has risen from less than 300 in 1859, to more than 700 at the present time, with 300 communicants. There are seven schools, with an aggregate of 300 scholars, and seven out-stations, the nearest being three, the furthest about 130 miles distant from Meerut. In the review of the year Mr. Hoernle writes:—

Rapid progress of the Mission.

Many of our ardent expectations, in the beginning of the year, have not been realized: several hopeful plants have been blighted by the temptations of the devil, the world, and the flesh; while hidden seeds of the word have unexpectedly sprung up, and that, in one instance at least, amidst persecution and other adverse circumstances.

Visitation of the Bishop of Calcutta.

The annual report thus notices a visit of the Bishop of Calcutta, in November 1864:—

Indepen-

A season of much refreshment was the Lord Bishop of Calcutta's visitation in November for all members of our Mission. We desire to acknowledge this with gratitude to the Lord. His lordship visited the nearest out-stations and other branches of the work; addressed words of encouragement to European and native labourers, and confirmed seventy-three persons in St. Paul's Mission Church. Most of them were converts since the mutiny. It was altogether a solemn occasion which will long be remembered by the congregation. The Litany was read by our native pastor, the Rev. J. Jacob; the harmonium played by a native youth, the son of our catechist at Ikla; and the hymns were sung by a band of native-Christian children. The whole of the service, including the Bishop's address to the candidates, was conducted in Hindustanee. We endorse with thanksgiving to God the following remarks in an article published in the local newspaper on the subject of the Bishop's visit—"The sight was very gratifying, and testified to the reality of the unobtrusive work which the Church Missionary Society is carrying on here."

For the same reason we refer to the Bishop's Ordination service held the following Sunday in the station church, when nine candidates were admitted to the office of priest, and one to that of deacon. Six of these, viz. three European Missionaries and three native pastors are connected with the great Society of which our Mission is a branch. Two of the pastors are members of this Mission, who, thus strengthened in the full discharge of their ministerial duties, have returned to their remote outposts with our best wishes and prayers for the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

The native Christians in the City.

The native Christians who form the congregation of St. Paul's Mission chapel in cantonments number 202, of whom the very large proportion of ninety-three are communicants, and their liberality is equally commendable. The report states:—

liberality.

The monthly Missionary prayer-meeting in Hindustanee, introduced last year, has been continued, and, upon the whole, well attended. The collections amounted to Rs. 37.7.0. The whole income of the Church, from donations, monthly subscriptions, and other sources, amounted to Rs. 390.3.3. Of this sum, Rs. 258.11.0 was expended on account of the Church; 32.2.0 paid to the Local Mission Fund; Rs. 15 sent to the N. I. Bible, and Rs. 10 to the N. I. Tract Society at Allahabad, and Rs. 11.9.0 to the Calcutta Native-Christian Cyclone Fund. A balance of Rs. 27.12.6 was transferred to our Church Endowment Fund for the eventual support of a pastor. In the course of the year 8 adults and 11 children were baptized. This is so far satisfactory; but may we and our congregations never forget that a day will come when Christ's people will no longer be counted, but weighed (1 Sam. ii. 3; Dan. v. 27). May we then not be found wanting.

Kanker Khera, and Maliyana

These two out-stations being near to the city and to each other, and similarly circumstanced, may be reviewed together. Their secular and spiritual condition is still causing much anxiety. At Maliyana it is the instability of four or five families who, having been the first in entering the visible fold of the Church, are in great danger of becoming the last, as regards the exercise of a Christian walk and conversation. In fact, the leading members among them are on the point of relapsing into heathenism. This is the lamentable result of converts mixing impure motives together with their professions of belief in the Christian faith. As soon as they perceive that their worldly expectations are not realized, they go back. This seems to have been the case with these people, as has only now come to light. Disappointment of hopes.

At Kanker Khera the cause of anxiety is the continued inability of a number of families to obtain proper means of livelihood. The Zemindars will not, and perhaps cannot, give them culturable land in the vicinity of the village; the plot of ground which they used to till at Paholi is so far distant, and connected with such unfavourable circumstances, as to render it entirely unremunerative. The whole attempt proved a failure.

Ikla.

This community now numbers 56 souls, of whom 32 are communicants. Its members, with the exception of one or two young and inexperienced families, are industrious land cultivators and steady Christians. The increase to their number has not been great; but we trust we may say they have grown in stability, as regards their secular and spiritual condition. They have been visited several times by the Missionary and other members of the Mission. A visit to this out-post, an oasis, as it were, in the desert, is always a refreshing occasion, not because every thing there is as verdant and fertile as it ought to be; but because it has the elements of becoming so, by the blessing of God and the faithful labours of our catechist, Jeremy, in whose charge those Christians are, and who loves and treats them as sons, whilst they feel attached to him as a parent. This mutual confidence helps them over many difficulties which might otherwise present a more formidable phase. Their attendance on the means of grace has been satisfactory. Efficiency of Native Teachers.

Our previous statement of the progress of this out-station was written in lively hopes that, before the expiration of another year, it would have a Mission of its own by a European Missionary being permanently appointed to it. The opportunities and advantages which this district offers for Missionary operation are indeed many and various, and have often been pointed out; but want of means and labourers has hitherto prevented our Society from entering more actively upon this open field. We still hope on, meanwhile collecting and preparing material for the future building of God's temple in this part of His vineyard. A convenient piece of ground, opposite the new church, has been obtained from Government for sites of houses and premises, whenever they may be required. The catechist has faithfully laboured throughout the year in preaching the Gospel, has disseminated the knowledge of the way of salvation by Christ in city and villages, and has visited several large melas for the same purpose. We have afforded him such help as we could, by visiting the place, looking after his work, and giving advice, and our humble exertions have not been in vain.

We are much indebted to Mr. R. G. Currie and Dr. Hadow for their kind offices of collecting local subscriptions, and superintending the catechist's work during the intervals of the Missionary's visits. Through their exertion the monthly income has been sufficient to cover the current expenses.

The name of this station in the Dehra Doon has been changed to that of Annfield, as four villages, of which Martindale is one, are comprised in the native pastorate, being all within an easy distance of the church and parsonage. The whole number of Christians is 202, of whom ninety-four are communicants. Mr. Hoernle reports:—

During the last year we have not been able to pay another visit to this interesting colony; but in November, as a set-off against this deficiency, we had the pleasure of seeing the aged pastor here. He came to attend the Bishop's ordination as a candidate for admission to the office of priest. During the time he had to stay for this purpose we much enjoyed our intercourse with him, and he gave us many interesting particulars of the state and progress of the colony, and the valuable assistance he receives from his kind patrons, Major and Mrs. Rind, who continue to take a warm interest in the well-being of the native Christians on their estate. His statements are corroborated by letters and accounts direct from the place, which testify to the colony being altogether in a thriving condition.

The building of the new church, referred to in last year's Report, has begun; but, owing to various circumstances, its progress seems to have hitherto been slow. We should like to see it soon ready. The colony is not only firmly established, but steadily growing in numbers and stability: their pastor, moreover, is now in full orders: a suitable place of worship is therefore urgently required. To judge from the designs, the new building, when ready, will not only answer all purposes, but prove to be an ornament in that remote region of the Doon, inviting both European and native settlers to the worship of the living God, through His Son, the Saviour of the world. May His blessing further rest upon this flock, its aged pastor and kind patrons!

Bareilly.

The Christian settlement formed at Bareilly by the zealous chaplain, the Rev. W. G. Cowie, has, during the last year, been placed under the native pastor, the Rev. J. Jacob removed, for this purpose, from Maliyana. He has furnished to Mr. Hoernle a report of the station, of which the following are extracts:—

My congregation comprises 106 souls, of whom 35 are communicants. Divine service has been held in our new, but as yet unfinished, church, twice on Sunday and once on Wednesday. We have, besides, an interesting Sunday school, and two prayer-meetings on Wednesday and Friday, when a portion of the Scriptures is read and explained. Daily morning prayers were regularly performed in the church. May the good seed thus sown in their hearts take deep root, and bear much fruit to the praise and glory of God. I have baptized one adult and three children. Eighteen candidates were confirmed by the Bishop of Calcutta in December.

Native
Pastorate.

Our school, I am glad to say, is succeeding well, as far as I can judge. The children have made very good progress in the short time of seven months. The number of boys and girls is thirty-eight on the books, all Christians.

Notwithstanding this extensive and onerous Mission, Mr. Hoernle has diligently kept up and taken part in the preaching to the heathen in the city, in tours, and at the principal melas.

FYZABAD.

The Rev. W. Ball still remains at the new station of Fyzabad, bearing witness, in his daily preaching and conversations, to the truth, but without a single native Christian, or even a native helper, to reward and cheer his labours. He has tried the selling of Christian tracts, and finds it succeed at melas, where he has been "astonished at the readiness of the people to give a small price for the books." In a letter (September 30, 1864) Mr. Ball writes:

I have lately become acquainted with a branch of the Brahmo

Movement
of the
mind.

Somaj, a sect of Theists, of whom you have heard. One cannot but feel an interest in them. I greatly fear they receive but little encouragement from Christians, who I know often treat them as home infidels, whereas they ought to make a great distinction between a man who has fallen from Christianity into Deism, and one who has nobly fought his way out of the trammels of Hinduism. The latter ought to be taken by the hand as a fellow-seeker after God. They have a meeting in this place, and have formally invited me to attend it. A few of them are indeed "almost Christians." Some of their books are very beautiful, and they confess they are indebted to Christianity for most of their articles of faith. I look upon it as one of the most important movements that has yet occurred in India. The "Friend of India" of July 21, gives a good article on this subject.

KOTEGURH.

The Rev. W. Rebsch has charge of the Kotegurh station, for the maintenance of which a special bequest was made to the Society. A few converts have been gathered from the scattered inhabitants of the mountains; and as the station is on a high road to Thibet, there are frequent opportunities of preaching to travellers and pilgrims. Mr. Rebsch thus describes another interesting branch of his labours:—

Since October we have three young men from Thibet, from the Chinese border: they learned Hindi here during the winter, and are most interesting lads of rich people: they will return to their native snow hills next month, fearing it will be too hot here for them. At present I read with them Barth's Bible history, and a catechism in Hindi, which they still know only imperfectly. Every morning and evening they attend our services, also on Sundays. Their home is fifteen days' journey from Kotegurh. I expect more such young men from those quarters. From Busahir and Kulloo I have received urgent requests for teachers from the people; but as we have some twenty villages within a few hours' reach of Kotegurh, I think it wiser to confine ourselves to these first, and persuade people to send their children to us.

Changes in the Punjab Mission.

The Committee have been enabled, during the last year, to send out three new Missionaries and one Medical Missionary to the Punjab, to make up, in some degree, the losses which the Mission has sustained in the death and removal of experienced and valuable men. Mr. Fitzpatrick, who returned to India in 1863, was compelled to return home within a year of his arrival in India.

UMRITSUR.

The Rev. Messrs. Keene, Brown, and Wathen have resided at Umritsur; and the Rev. Robert Clarke, after his return from Cashmere.

The native church at Umritsur, containing about 150 souls, has been under the charge of Mr. Keene. There have been during the year six adult baptisms, besides the baptisms of several children. At the visitation of the Bishop of Calcutta forty-three members of the Church were confirmed. This confirmation included the soldiers of the 32nd Muzabi Sikh regiment, formerly at Khariobad, but now stationed at Ferozepore, near Umritsur. The Bishop, speaking generally of the Mission, writes: "Since I was here in 1860 the work has been greatly strengthened, and its organization improved. I have felt much encouraged from this visit to Umritsur, and I earnestly commend the work which is going on here to God's blessing in Jesus Christ our Lord."

The large Anglo-Vernacular School in the city, together with three other schools, contain 450 boys and young men. They are under the charge of Mr. Wathen. Two of the pupils have matriculated at the Calcutta University. Mr. Wathen devotes himself with untiring zeal to the work of education. He testifies that several of his scholars "are Christians in heart, although not as yet baptized."

The city Girls' School, founded in memory of Lady Lawrence, contains between sixty and seventy girls. Three of the women connected with this institution have been baptized in the course of the year. Mrs. Keene zealously superintends the establishment, and writes: "Perhaps there is no department of the Mission work at Umritsur in which such a lively interest is felt, and manifested by all the members of the Mission, as well as by all visitors, as in this school. The great proficiency the upper classes have made in reading the Bible, the knowledge manifested by some of them of its contents, and the untiring energy and force of character of Susan, the native-Christian school-mistress, combined to make the school an object of much attraction."

Out-station of Narrowal.—The out-station of Narrowal is under the charge of Mr. Brown. There is a small Christian congregation, and an efficient school of 120 boys under the charge of a native Christian from Bengal. Branch schools have been opened in two or three of the villages of the neighbourhood.

Preaching to the Heathen.—Each of the Missionaries have borne part in the preaching to the heathen in the city, and have been zealously assisted by the native minister, the Rev. Daoud Singh, and other native catechists and scripture readers.

Missionary tours have also been taken in different directions, especially by Mr. Brown who has no station duties, and has carried on a systematic and prolonged itineration throughout the district to the north of Umritsur. He has met with much encouragement in the willingness of the people to listen to his message, and their desire, in several of the villages, to have a resident catechist.

KANGRA.

The Rev. J. N. Merk remains alone at the station of Kangra. He writes, in his annual letter at the close of the year:—

In the course of the cold weather I have travelled over some of the eastern and western parts of the district, and preached the Gospel in many bazaars and towns. The Coolies also, working on the tea plantations in the Kangra valley, have received their share of attention, and everywhere the planters have been most willing that we should preach to their labourers. At early dawn, when the muster-roll is read over, and from 200 to 300 Coolies are assembled, we have an excellent opportunity of addressing them, and bringing the knowledge of the Gospel among the otherwise scattered population of these hills.

Our boys' and girls' schools have been carried on as usual, and progress has been made by the pupils in their studies. The teachers have endeavoured honestly to discharge their duties. There has been an increase of scholars in the girls' school, but the attendance in the boys' school has remained stationary.

Last cold weather the foundations of the church were laid. Towards the end of April the superstructure was commenced, and on the 4th December the first services were held in the church.

MOOLTAN.

The Rev. G. Yeates has carried on the Mission at Mooltan. A younger Missionary, Mr. Patterson, was united with him for a time, till the failure of the health of Mr. Cooper at Dera Ishmael Khan induced the Calcutta Corresponding Committee to remove Mr. Patterson to that station. A school and preaching in the bazaar form the chief occupation of the Missionary at Mooltan. There appears, as yet, no movement towards Christian truth. There are only two or three native Christians who have come from other places.

DERAJÂT.

The Rev. R. Bruce has conducted the Mission in the Derajât, residing for a part of the time in Dera Ishmael Khan, where there is a school, and, during the hot season, at Bunnoo, where he has easy access to the Kandharies. His colleague, Mr. Cooper, was unable to give much assistance, through the weakness of his health. At the close of the year he was joined by Mr. Patterson. Mr. Bruce has succeeded in gaining the confidence of many of the Povandahs, who invited him to accompany them into Khorasan; but the Commissioners thought the proposal objectionable. No late accounts have arrived from this isolated station.

PESHAWUR.

The Rev. T. R. Wade, in his annual letter, reports the events of the year in the Peshawur Mission:—

The past year, in many respects, has been a most trying one for this Mission: for a great part of the time our Missionary has been labouring here single-handed and alone. The Rev. R. Clark having returned from Cashmere, was compelled, on account of sickness in his family, to leave Peshawur sooner than he otherwise would have done. He left on March 15th; and thus the Mission was deprived of the valuable services of one who had not only laboured here from its commencement, and thus was well known by, and had acquired a great influence amongst, the people, but he was one of the few who knew Pushtoo, and was thus able to speak to the Pathans in their own tongue.

sion.

During the early part of the year the Rev. Isidore Loewenthal, of the American Board of Missions, used often to come down and preach in the city in Pushtoo; but on the morning of the 27th of April he was shot by his chowkedar, and thus, in this Mission to the Affghans, there was not left a Missionary who could speak the Affghan language. At the close of May, Mr. Handcock, who had arrived in February, became so ill, that he was ordered by the doctor to leave the valley for the hot season, as the only means of his recovery. He accordingly left at the beginning of June, and returned again at the end of September: this was as soon as his medical adviser allowed him to do so. We have also to record with sincere regret the death of the late Commissioner of the Punjab, Major James, C.B. He was ever a warm friend and supporter of this Mission, and the President of its local Committee.

But it has not been a year full only of sorrows and trials. Many a bright bow has shone forth amidst the dark clouds to comfort and cheer us. We have been visited by a number of Pathans from the district, and some of them have been willing to pay money in order to obtain the Scriptures in their own language, while to others, who were poor, we have given a Gospel or other small books free. In March last, when Mohammed Rufik Khan was here on political business, as Wakil from Cabul, he visited us twice, and received most kindly a copy of the Holy Scriptures—the Old Testament in Persian, and the New Testament in Pushtoo—to take back to Amir Shere Ali Khan, his master. He also himself, together with the doctor who accompanied him, received the New Testament in Pushtoo, and promised to read it carefully.

Our little native congregation, too, has been gradually increasing. During the past year there have been seven adults baptized, and just half of them have been Pathans; so that now there are in connexion with this Mission—including women and children—nearly fifty native Christians. We have two services every Sunday in Urdu: that in the morning is held in the city schoolroom, and that in the evening in our house in the Gurkhatir, as many of the Christians live in or near this place. Every evening those who are able to do so meet with us for reading the Scriptures and family prayer. The numbers on such occasions vary from ten to twenty, and sometimes even more, as the Christians are not only allowed but encouraged to bring with them their heathen friends and relatives. The special prayer-meetings last week were well attended, and prayer was offered up in four different languages.

Last summer two of our Pathan Christians expressed a wish to go on a Missionary journey to Kafiristan. The late Mr. Loewenthal, when consulted about it, said that the risk of life was so great that they ought not to be allowed to go. However, after consulting other friends, permission was granted, and they left Peshawur on the morning of the 7th September, and were absent little more than three months. Had they been recognised in Cabul as Affghan Christians they would probably have been slain; and even when in Kafiristan they were not altogether free from danger, for on one occasion they saw twenty-eight Mohammedans butchered in cold blood after being invited to a friendly feast. A few days ago two Kafiristanis paid us a visit at Peshawur: one of them knew nothing but the Kafiristani language, but the other, who also knew Pushtoo, acted as the interpreter. They are a very degraded but interesting people, and we trust God will soon open a way for the introduction of Christianity and civilization into their country.

Native
Missionary
zeal.

At the beginning of April last a bookshop was opened in the city, and since that time about fifty rupees (5*l.*) worth of books have been sold each month. Most of them have been educational works, yet some Bibles and other religious works have also been sold; and as the person in charge is a native Christian, he has an opportunity of speaking to those who come to purchase books about religion. Three inquirers have been sent to us in this way, and of them two have been baptized.

Although the past year has been a trying one for our schools also, yet it is encouraging to find that the average attendance at our city school has been greater than any previous year since its establishment. Our European head master, Mr. William Briggs, has been very seriously ill for nearly five months, and the Missionary Superintendent felt it his duty to give as much time to its superintendence.

The Rev. W. Handcock reports some further instances of encouragement in the work at Peshawur:—

A further cause for gratitude is the conversion and baptism of a Jewish merchant named Abraham, whose wife and family reside in Jerusalem. He had come eastward for purposes of trade, and, in the providence of God, was led to Peshawur. He is a man of considerable natural ability, so that, during his travels in Asia, he has acquired, more or less perfectly, no less than seven languages, including Chinese, Urdu, and Persian. Through the medium of the latter languages and Hebrew, my brother Missionary, Mr. Wade, was able to hold intercourse with him. He came time after time for conversation, and evidently became somewhat shaken in his rejection of Christ as the Messiah, although he would not confess it. But it was in the purposes of the Almighty that this lost sheep of the house of Israel should be brought into the fold of

able con-
Jew.

Christ. The circumstance that seems to have been the turning-point in his life is most remarkable. One night he was taken very ill, and it then became his prayer that if Christ was the true Messiah he might be immediately restored to health, and this he should take as the sign given him by God. He had no sooner offered the prayer than his sickness left him. This he looked upon as the direct interposition of God, and from that moment the veil seemed to be taken away, and he recognised in the Saviour him "of whom Moses in the law and the prophets did write." Since that time he has been most earnest in the study of the New Testament, and in setting forth Christ both in private and in public. Frequently he goes into the bazaars, gathers a crowd around him, and, in the Persian language, declares what Christ has done for his own soul, and what He will do for those who believe on Him.

Persecution a means of advancing the Truth.

The glad news of salvation by Christ has been proclaimed in different parts of the city. But in no place has it been more frequently set forth than from the steps of the chapel under the great peepul tree. In front of this chapel, which was built by Colonel Martin, sometimes, in one assembly, you would recognise amongst the Affghans, people from Cabul, Persia, Bokhara, and Cashmere. Crowds of listeners can always be obtained, though they are not, as a rule, so orderly as one could wish; for the Affghan Mohammedans are so bigoted, that no sooner do they hear a doubt thrown out as to the truth of the Korán, than they become excited, cry down the preacher, and break up the assembly. Notwithstanding all this, however, three out of the seven who have this year been baptized were more or less listeners to the preaching in the bazaars before they became inquirers. Indeed, the very opposition made by the Mohammedans seems to have been the turning-point in leading one of the number to inquire into the truth of Christianity. This man is a Syud, and somewhat advanced in years, and is likely to prove of great use to the Mission, seeing that he is well read in Arabic and Persian. The circumstance, however, which seems more particularly to have arrested this man's attention, was the harsh treatment which a Mohammedan friend of his received. This friend went one day within the porch of our chapel, the weather being inclement, and knelt down to pray according to the Mohammedan custom. The Mohammedans who were passing at the time, on seeing this, came up and abused him for praying in what they considered to be a polluted place. On the Syud hearing of the treatment his friend had received, he rightly considered it an evidence of bigotry. From that time he wished to know more about Christianity. He therefore read the New Testament and the Mizan ul Huqq. It pleased God to enlighten him, and he became a Christian. Thus the Psalmist's words were fulfilled, "The wrath of man shall praise thee."

Itinerating.

Mr. Hancoek also reports his Missionary tours:—

Two journeys have been made with the object of making known the name of Christ amongst the Affghan tribes. One was in the month of September. The civil magistrate, Lieutenant Sandeman, was extremely kind in entertaining the Missionary, and in affording him protection during his itinerancy amongst the wild and fanatical people of Eusufsaie. In looking back upon this journey, one cannot but see evidences in many places of a desire to hear the word of God. No doubt we had often to contend with those who were unwilling to hear the Gospel, with pride and bigotry, and the angry look, but generally we were kindly received and willingly listened to; and on no occasion did any one refuse to accept a tract, or a copy of the Gospels. Whatever dark points the Affghans may have in their character as a thievish and bloodthirsty people, there is much, even in their present state, to recommend them. Indeed, no one could go amongst this energetic, brave, and hospitable people, without pitying their delusion by the false prophet, and without breathing a prayer to God for their conversion.

Nowshera.

Nowshera is the only permanent out-station in connexion with the Peshawur Mission. It is about thirty miles distant, in the direction of the river Indus. Here a new and commodious school has recently been opened for the purpose of teaching the young something of the Gospel of Christ. The numbers who attended are yet very small, only numbering about thirty. When the confidence of the Affghans of this place, who are extremely bigoted, has been gained, we may hope for an accession to the few who are now attending.

CASHMERE.

The Rev. R. Clark and Mrs. Clark removed into Cashmere in April 1864, in the hope that they might be permitted to reside there permanently; but they soon experienced a great difficulty in procuring a suitable residence in the city of Sirinaghur. The authorities encouraged the mob to molest the Missionary, and spies were sent to discover every Cashmerian who attended the Missionary. The opportunities of Missionary exertion were therefore greatly restricted, and, as winter approached, Mr. Clark was compelled to remove to Umritsur.

MADRAS AND SOUTH-INDIA MISSION.(European Missionaries first arrived in 1814.)*

- I. Madras, commenced, 1814; II. Travancore and Cochin, 1816;
 III. Tinnebelly, 1817; IV. Telugu Mission, 1841.

THE South-India Mission has been slightly strengthened during the last year, one Missionary, the Rev. A. H. Arden, and Mr. T. Kimber, a training-master, have joined the Mission. One experienced Missionary, the Rev. J. Gritton, has returned to his labours in India, while the Rev. D. Fenn has returned home to recruit his health.

Statistics of the South-India Mission.

The number of converts in South India under the instruction of the Society at the close of 1864 was 44,042, against 43,396 at the close of 1863. During the last three years there has been very little increase in the number of converts, which includes those who are preparing for baptism, as well as those who have received baptism. The numbers of the baptized and of the communicants have gone on steadily increasing each year. The number of the baptized is 32,422, of whom 18,963 are adults, and 7790 are communicants.

The contributions of the native Christians to religious and benevolent purposes have been gradually and steadily augmented, having amounted in the three last years to 1470%, 1612%, and 1779% respectively. This year also an additional sum of 400% has been raised in Tinnevelly for the support of native church agency. In six years the contributions have been nearly doubled.

The subject of the self-support of Mission native Churches has been urged upon the Committees of Missionary Societies with much force during the last year, in a printed address from John Murdoch, Esq., agent of the Christian Vernacular Education Society for India. The following are extracts from this address :—

Vital importance of the principles of self-support.

The self-support of the Churches gathered from among the heathen is of vital consequence. At present the resources of Missionary Societies are absorbed, to a large extent, by the maintenance of religious ordinances and schools among the converts ; so that new stations cannot be occupied. It is also evident that the many millions still perishing for lack of knowledge cannot be evangelized by the Protestant Christians of Europe and America alone. The great aim should therefore be, with the divine blessing, to rear a vigorous Christianity, able to propagate itself.

It is cause of satisfaction that a considerable number of Missionaries are alive to the importance of the question. There are Mission districts in which the people give for the support of the Gospel more liberally, in proportion to their means, than the bulk of Christians in England.* Many Missionaries, however, are yet only beginning to realize their duty in this respect. Their people do a little, but far less than they would, if the obligation were properly set before them. There are also a few Missionaries who, from one year's end to the other, never ask the native Christians to give a farthing for religious purposes : foreign funds must bear every expense. Good churches are built for the last-mentioned class of converts ; but they will let jackals lodge in them rather than take the trouble of stopping a hole. It is stated of a Mission district, where for twenty years the children of converts who attended school were clothed and fed, in a great measure, at the expense of the Society, that the parents were under the idea that the Missionary received large sums of money from Government to supply their wants, but that he and the catechists divided it among themselves, prospering on their poverty ! These are extreme cases, and the practice in the district referred to has been discontinued, at least to a considerable extent. Still, the tone of native Christians at the Punjab conference shows the spirit where every thing is done for the converts. In fact, a more cruel wrong can scarcely be inflicted than to render people helpless dependants on others. So far from exciting gratitude, none have less of the feeling. Instead of ever-growing demands to perpetuate and extend this state of things, what is wanted is to teach the people to help themselves.

The writer has made the circuit of India five times, during which he visited repeatedly large numbers of Mission stations. One circumstance struck him with great force : where the people hung on the Mission like a dead weight, making no effort for themselves, the preaching of the Gospel seemed to lose its power. The message appeared to be delivered Sabbath after Sabbath, with little visible result. Let the Missionary train his people to feel that it is "more blessed to give than to receive," and it may be the prelude to the securing of his great object.

\* In 1863 about 400 families in the district of the Rev. E. Sargent, Tinnevely, raised 1371 rupees, or 127*l*. 2*s*. When it is considered that a labourer in that part of India earns only about two shillings a week, the foregoing sum must be increased about sixfold to represent a proportionate amount in England—137*l*. 2*s*.  $\times 6 = 822$ . 12*s*. ; or upwards of 2*l*. for each family.

The Committee are glad to strengthen the appeal they have often made upon this subject by the testimony of one who is so well-informed upon Missionary subjects, and has had such large experience, as Mr. Murdoch.

The Madras Corresponding Committee give this general view of the South-India Mission during the past year.

Gradual progress of the Mission. The Secretary of the Corresponding Committee has been enabled during the year to visit the Travancore and Telugu and Upper Godavery Missions, and his mouth has been filled with thanksgiving for the manifest tokens of the Lord's being with us of a truth. The evident spread of the life-giving Gospel amongst Slaves, Araans, Chogans—amongst Kois, Mâlas, and others of higher castes—is a cause for most devout thankfulness. We would not underrate the severity of the encounter against the kingdom of darkness. We would not forget the determined enmity of the fallen nature of man against the truth of Christ. But it would be ingratitude to the blessed Spirit of Christ not to acknowledge what He has done by the hand of His weak servants.

Proofs that the Lord is with the Mission. We cannot, as we glance over the Mission field, point to many accessions during the year of large bodies of inquirers from the heathen, but we can point to a healthy process going on, even the widening and deepening of the work of grace in the hearts of individual believers. One Missionary in Tinnevely says, "The work of the Lord is gradually taking deeper root and is spreading. One by one, the sheep which are outside the fold are being gathered; one by one, the number of God's elect is increasing. This has been the feature which has characterized the accessions to Christianity of late. I do not expect that in future the progress of Christianity will be as rapid as heretofore." Another says, "This half year, like its predecessors, has not been marked by any thing remarkable; yet I trust that I am not mistaken in thinking that we are making progress. In fact, there can be no doubt of it. We are ever making progress when occupied in the Lord's work. What we do now, though not attended with immediate fruit, is preparatory to the future, and will bear fruit in good time. . . . No man labours for the Lord in vain. He that goeth forth weeping shall come again rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him. But we are not without fruit even now, though we have not reaped much. The Lord is with us blessing us, and we hope will give us prosperity among the heathen also in due time."

The great calamity which has made Masulipatam a desolation is now a matter of history. We can now record the mercy which spared the lives of our brethren there as one of the most striking of the year. Much sympathy on behalf of the sufferers has been called forth, and public and private losses will soon be made good, we expect, without very heavy expense to the Mission. Our brethren have laboured with great assiduity to make all needful preparations for continuing the struggle against darkness, and we bless God for the grace given to them whereby they have been kept from fainting under the heavy stroke, and have been enabled to address themselves with more ardour than ever to their great work. And blessed be God that they have every encouragement to go on, for rarely have they had more tokens of the favour of God being with them in any past year. May the judgments of the Lord, so evidently abroad among them, lead the inhabitants of the stricken city to learn righteousness!

Our educational work has not made any considerable progress throughout the year, certainly not as much as we expected when we began the year 1864. Much was expected from the increased liberality of Government in the matter of grants-in-aid, and much extension to our operations was looked for. But the year has passed away in deliberations on a revised set of rules, and we have only just received them. Perhaps they are, on the whole, as liberal as could have been expected. We trust that no effort shall be wanting on our part to avail ourselves to the utmost of their provisions, and, by means of them, to extend, as far as possible, the blessings of education amongst the masses.

We commence this year with an earnest supplication to the God of all grace that He will be pleased to give us the promised help of the Holy Spirit of His Son for the fulfilment of the great work to which He has called us. We all—Committee, Missionaries, Native and European Agents of every degree—need the quickening grace of that Blessed One for a separation of ourselves with wholeness of heart to the Redeemer's work. Quite sure are we, that all our arrangements and all our Missionary machinery will only be vain and profitless unless, by the Spirit of God, our hearts are weaned away from an evil world, and our efforts are sanctified to a simple love of Christ and the souls of men. May the Lord thus undertake for the feeble instruments to whom He has entrusted so great a work, and may the results be to the glory of His own Name!

MADRAS.

The division of Missionary labour in the city and neighbourhood of Madras comprises three departments; first, the Northern Division, under the Rev. J. Bilderbeck ; secondly, the Southern District, under the Rev. W. Gray and Rev. H. Dixon ; and, thirdly, the Mohammedan branch, under the Rev. H. Bartlett and Mr. Walker, Principal of the Harris School.

Mr. Bilderbeck thus describes his efforts to reach the heathen :—

Itinerancies have also been made to several villages in the country for preaching and disseminating the word of God. Ten such tours have been undertaken during the year—three by the reader, three by the catechist, two by the Rev. V. Sandhosham, and two by the Missionary—spending nearly a week on all such occasions out of doors, dwelling sometimes under trees, sometimes in native huts, and doing the work of an Evangelist early and late, talking to the people on the way while travelling, and talking to them again while resting. As the native Church in Black Town support a reader and schoolmaster at one of these places, this is the attracting point ; and, making it the centre of operations, numerous other villages, by which it is studded, are also statedly visited, as well as those which lie on the way between Madras and the place. The whole presents a wide and promising field, though the movement has commenced amongst a class wretchedly ignorant and poor. The Gospel light, however, has begun in a feeble measure to shine upon them, and there are indications also of its penetrating to surrounding villages of greater note. These humble efforts to make “manifest the savour of Christ’s knowledge in every place,” have not been altogether fruitless. It has pleased the Lord to vouchsafe some tokens of His favour on the work, as carried on in town and country. Hardly a month has passed without some accession to the Church from heathenism or Romanism. True, this has not been large ; but in Madras it is something to be thankful for. Out of forty-one souls received during the year, twenty-six were from heathenism and Romanism : nineteen of these were from the city, and seven from the country. The rest of the forty-one were children of Christian parents, received by baptism. The number might have been more, but for the standard of admission, as not every stone brought from the quarry will at once answer for building a fit temple to the Lord. If the chaff came in with the wheat, notwithstanding all this care, God’s good providence did not long delay in finding a wind to sift it out.

Mr. Bilderbeck gives the following account of an old disciple :—

Among those departed this life in the faith and hope of the Gospel, it is impossible not to notice one who “came to his grave in full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in season." This was good old Védhamutta, a catechist well known by all Christians in Madras. He was the friend of all Missions, though from choice connecting himself with the Church Mission Chapel native congregation. As a pupil of Swartz, he had known that eminent labourer, and well remembered his pious sayings and zealous deeds. With an enlightened knowledge of the Holy Scriptures, he possessed also much deep experience, and it did one good to hear him bear his own simple testimony for the truth in a manner at once unaffected and earnest. Although covered with age and infirmity, he was very active, so that, whether well or ill, he would always be going about making himself useful. He generally occupied himself by reading to servants in private houses, visiting the sick in hospitals, working outside among coachmen and horsekeepers while their employers were at church, and preaching in bazaars and streets. Few native catechists have proved so useful as this deservedly worthy man, and there is no Mission Church in Madras that has not received some in its connexion through his instrumentality. Having served his God and generation for many years, he fell asleep in Jesus on the 9th of November last. His last moments cannot be forgotten. He had borrowed a little money to rebuild his house, and which he promised to repay by small instalments. There was a balance still due. On being reminded of it, the old man tried to say something about the transaction, but the Missionary begged him not to give it a thought, but to think of the account he had with his God. Upon hearing this, the good old man started for a moment with surprise, and, mustering all his energy, exclaimed, "Oh, that account has been settled long ago : there is no account there (pointing upwards) against me now : it has all been paid for me by Jesus Christ. While Christ is for me, who is there that can condemn me? He died and rose again, and is even now at the right hand of the Father for me." Then, stretching forward both his hands, he added, "Don't you see He is taking me up in His arms before the throne of his Father." After this he strove to speak again, but could not, his voice having utterly failed him. He was said to be ninety-eight years of age; perhaps 100 would have been nearer the mark. Although so old, his sight and hearing and mental faculties remained nearly unimpaired to the last. It was only a few weeks before his death the Missionary saw him out preaching to a number of people opposite a bazaar, about a mile away from his own dwelling, and so early as about seven in the morning.

Hindustani Mission.

The Rev. Henry Bartlett, appointed to this Mission, has been studying the Hindustani language at Arcot. The Harris school has, for the last six years, been under the sole management of Mr. Walker. To him, and to his assistants, is the credit due of the present state of the school, as it appears from the following extracts of the report of the Examiners, December 22, 1864 :—

When some of us, who are present now, assembled one year ago in this room for the same purpose as we do now, there were in attendance 103 pupils, and there were 110 names on the school roll. There are now, we are sorry to say, only seventy-three in attendance, and there are only eighty-one names on the roll. The cause of this is not easily assignable. Some have doubtless found their way into institutions of a similar kind in the neighbourhood. But it is, I believe, to be found—in part at least—in circumstances which cannot cause sorrow to those who are the friends of the eternal welfare of the Mohammedan people. I will only say here that the head master, on a review of the past year's history of the school, and looking at a healthy influence which he has reason to hope is at work amongst the pupils, has never yet, on the expiration of a previous year, felt more cheered and encouraged to go on.

But whilst the number of pupils has decreased, it is gratifying to know that the standard of the school has never been so high as it is at present. In the report of the school for 1862, it is remarked that “the standard of attainment is not so high as could be wished, owing to the want of perseverance on the part of the boys, or rather, it should be said, the pressure of poverty compelling them, as soon as they have gained an elementary knowledge, to seek employment. This, it has been remarked by the heads of offices, is the reason why more Mohammedan youths are not employed under them. Their qualifications are inferior to those of the Hindus, who generally remain ten or twelve years at school, whilst they cannot be induced to remain much more than two.” Now the head master is able to state “that several boys are going up for the Government Test and Matriculation Examinations, and that he has a hope, almost a certain one, that the next will be a year marked with success in this respect.” The standard of the school, he also remarks, “has been raised from year to year, and is now as high as any school of its kind.”

In a school established by the benevolence of a Missionary Society, for the purpose not only of giving our Mohammedan fellow-subjects the opportunity of making themselves acquainted with Western learning and science, but more especially for the purpose of giving them an opportunity of making themselves acquainted with the Book which is the Christian's hope, and the religion which has made our country great, it would be improper to present a report which did not mention what progress, if any, is being made in this latter direction, and how far the Mohammedan youths are availing themselves of the opportunity presented to them. And here Mr. Walker is thankful to have good grounds for believing that there is a spirit of honest inquiry in the minds of some, and that a greater interest than usual has been taken in the subject of the Christian Scriptures. The carefulness of not a few of the papers written in reply to Archdeacon Dealtry's questions is, in itself, a proof of attentive study of the subject.

Mr. Walker states, in a letter at the close of the year :—

The standard of the school has been raised year by year, and is now as high as any school of the kind. Hopeful signs among Moham-medans.

The library is, I think, calculated to do much good, as I find the boys read the books to their friends at home; and too much importance cannot be attached to it, care being taken that the reading shall have a moral and religious tendency.

There has been evidence of a work of the Holy Spirit upon the hearts of two or three of the pupils, of which no mention can yet be made, except to engage the prayers of Christian friends that the Lord may be pleased to give to them, and all the pupils, a saving knowledge of His redeeming love.

Testimony of the Bishop of Calcutta to the Tinnevelly Mission.

The Bishop of Calcutta, in the course of his metropolitanical visitation, spent several days in Tinnevelly. He afterwards embodied his observations on the state of things in an article in the "Calcutta Review," which has since been printed in a separate form, and contains a lively and most encouraging description of the native church, which is rising up under the labours of the two Church Societies. The following extracts from this important document will indicate its value, every statement it contains deserves a careful study.

Indepen-
mony.

Our readers may be desirous to know what a traveller actually sees in Tinnevelly, and what is the aspect presented by daily life in a Christian village. Many things at once remind him of a flourishing and well-organized English parish. There is a church, which sometimes, as at Mengnanapuram, is a gothic building of considerable architectural pretensions; there is the Missionary's bungalow, a neat unpretending parsonage, standing in a pretty garden, and almost invariably provided with a capital swimming-bath; there are schools for boys and girls, generally with simple, but airy and comfortable accommodation for boarders; and there are the native cottages, often laid out in regular streets, with a large tree in the centre of the village, under which the headmen administer justice, for the Tinnevelly-Christians have not lost the national love of municipal organization. This system, perhaps the most striking feature of Indian social life, has afforded peculiar facilities for the consolidation of Christianity in the south. When a village becomes Christian it forms itself at once into a Christian municipality, in which Church and State are united together by bands which Arnold himself would hardly have riveted more tightly. The catechist is received as the counsellor and director of the headmen; and the Missionary, resident at the central station of the district, is recognised as the superintendent of all the communities scattered through it.

But the chief interest of a visit to Tinnevelly, or, at all events, of a Sunday in Tinnevelly, centres in one of the principal stations where the Missionary resides, and where the congregation is most numerous and most completely organized. We have said that a short service, consisting of a selection from the liturgy, followed by an exposition or catechetical lecture, is held in each church twice a day, the morning worship being chiefly attended by women, as most of the husbands are then climbing the palmyras, and the evening by men, whose wives are preparing the family dinner. But on Sunday all attend, and the sight is most impressive and encouraging. Take Mengnanapuram as an example, where is the finest church. On the floor are seated 1400 dusky natives, the catechists and schoolmasters in full suits of white, the poorer men only with waist-cloths, the women often gay but not gaudy colours, the schoolchildren massed together in two squares, all profoundly attentive to the service, kneeling reverentially during the prayers, joining heartily in the responses, and listening eagerly to the sermon, which is often broken up into a catechetical form. "Can you finish that text for me?" inquires the teacher, or "What did I say would be the second head of my sermon?" and an answer is given in full chorus from the part of the church to which he addresses his question. Moreover, the more intelligent of the congregation keep up their attention by writing notes of the preacher's words with their own styles on slips of palmyra leaf, and any catechist from an out-station who happens to be present often uses these notes as a foundation for his own sermon when he is next among his people. When to this we add that the singing is admirable, soft, melodious, reverential, and accompanied by an excellent harmonium, we shall convince our readers that a service at Mengnanapuram impresses a visitor, even though ignorant of Tamil, with a sense of freshness, reality, and earnest Christian life. . . .

The Missionaries, who certainly are not impulsive enthusiasts, painting every thing around them with rose-coloured tints, but inclined perhaps to take too low rather than too high an estimate of their disciples, fully believe, amidst many disappointments and anxieties, such as St. Paul encountered among his converts, that in each congregation God has raised up a seed to serve Him, a little flock of Christians, who show the genuineness of their Christianity by their eager interest in all means of improvement, their zeal in good works, the largeness of their alms-giving, the quiet consistency of their lives, the piety which sanctifies their homes, their conquest over caste prejudices and national faults, and their devout confidence in God's love. More than this it is not given to man to say ; but we have in these signs a sufficient foundation for the belief that Christianity has not only brought to the people of Tinnevelly the blessings of knowledge and civilization and outward morality, but that, in the divine book of remembrance will be recorded, the names of many among them who have "feared the Lord and thought upon His name." . . .

work.

Whatever be the cause of the success of Missionaries in this remote province, the fact cannot be gainsaid : their labour has received the seal of God's approbation, and they have their abundant and constant reward in the gradual ingathering of the harvest ; for in Tinnevelly, unlike the rest of India, the same men who sow the seed are permitted also to reap the crop. Their work, as we have seen, is spreading in various directions ; every year fresh bands of earnest converts are admitted into the ranks of Christ's army ; and wherever the holy church throughout the world acknowledges its Lord, its members may thank Him for the genuine Christian piety which His Spirit, through the agency of these devoted pastors, has implanted in the hearts of many thousands of simple peasants in Tinnevelly and Travancore.

ing work.

To this independent testimony a few of the statements of the more experienced Missionaries may be added, as illustrative of the power of the Gospel in Tinnevelly.

Stability of the Native Church in Tinnevelly.

The Rev. J. Thomas, of Mengnanapuram, thus describes the encouraging aspect of the Mission :—

After an absence of three years in England I resumed charge of these districts in February last. As the Mission had been conducted during that time upon the same plan which had been pursued for twenty-seven years, I had no difficulty to contend with, and found that every thing worked as smoothly as if I had never been absent. This is a great blessing, and I cannot be too thankful that my place was providentially supplied by one who entirely sympathized with my views, and carried them out in the most efficient manner. A very natural question suggests itself under the circumstances above detailed — “What perceptible difference, if any, was observable in the character and conduct of the Christian people, compared with three years before, when I left?” It appeared to me, immediately after my return, that there was more intelligence and a more manly bearing and self-reliance among them generally, and my subsequent experience quite confirms this view. The causes are, doubtless, various. Christianity has in itself the direct tendency to raise mankind, develop their mental faculties, and give them just views of their position, rights, and privileges as men, independently of the spiritual blessings which it imparts when received by living faith. But the temporal condition of the people has been improved also by the very high remuneration paid for labour, and the constant flow of immense wealth into the province for cotton via Tuticorin; a cause which has effected a perfect revolution, not only in the value of labour, but of every other commodity. I think, too, that the people show greater readiness to recognise the obligation of supporting their own teachers, and more willingness to contribute towards that object. The strongest proof that I have ever experienced of their liberality is the instant response which they recently made when the destitution and sufferings of the inhabitants of Masulipatam from the late terrible hurricane were laid before them. The people of one village alone immediately raised fifty rupees, and altogether I had the pleasure of forwarding to the Lord Bishop of the diocese the sum of 257 rupees from the native Christians alone. This fact speaks conclusively as to the value of the work which God has graciously wrought among these people. I believe it was simple Christian charity, and that it sprang from no other motive than a desire to show their sympathy with, and to relieve, their suffering fellow-creatures.

the native
Church.

Liberality
native
Church.

Stability of the native
Church.

The number of Christians under my care is 10,751. They are orderly for the most part, and I think the signs of stability in general are more visible than ever, and the instances of true piety more numerous. I do not for a moment doubt but that this people would retain their religion if the English raj, and with it all the Missionaries, were providentially withdrawn from the country. Their stability arises very much, I think, from their knowledge of God's holy word, and the very great extent to which the power of reading that word has been afforded by means of our village vernacular schools. It is not a mere ritual formality that our Christians have been trained in, but in a knowledge of, and supreme regard to, the Divine oracles, which they are taught to reverence as God's revelation, containing all that man need know, and more than he could know in any other way. And here it would be unjust not to acknowledge the invaluable aid which we have derived from the Bible Society in supplying the people liberally with the Scriptures in every form, adapted as well to our schools as to our reading population, and for distribution among the heathen, &c. The people have made that acknowledgment, not in word only, but by a donation this year of fifty rupees to the funds of that noble institution. I may mention, in proof of the stability to which I have referred, the efforts made by almost every congregation some time ago to raise a separate fund in each village for the support of their own teachers, when it was thought possible that the Church Missionary Society would be compelled to withdraw from the Mission some part of its annual aid. Of course the native Church is altogether inadequate to pay the present staff of agents: still it was felt, that if the withdrawal of aid were unavoidable, the people, by uniting together in localities where the congregations are contiguous to each other, would be able to maintain a catechist.

Bible.

Mr. Thomas also writes:—

It is a very natural inquiry how it is that so few additions are now made to the Mission from heathenism. I have endeavoured since my return, by every means, to ascertain the cause, as well by asking the opinions of my brethren, as by interrogating all the native agents on the subject; and, from all I have heard, the causes are, besides the general ones of caste feeling, love of heathen festivals, &c.—1st. The improved worldly condition of the natives generally, and their consequent satisfiedness with things as they are. 2nd. The better knowledge of their rights and privileges as subjects of the English Government, as exemplified in the condition of the Christian community more especially. 3rd. The many advantages offered by the rich landlords to all those who continue in heathenism. And lastly, The inveterate persecution of such as show the least determination to embrace the Gospel. There can be no doubt but the light of truth has had, in this province, a powerful effect upon all the inhabitants. And it is not from want of knowledge of the elements of revealed religion, even among the heathen, that they still love darkness rather than light, but from the wicked nature which is enmity against God, which delights in freedom from all restraints, that it may “fulfil the desires of the flesh and of the mind.”

Obstacles to the Gospel.

The Rev. W. Clark contrasts the present state of the converts with former years :—

The spiritual and moral state of the congregations is far superior to what it was a few years ago. They are less given to litigiousness, in fact, for the most part, free from it; more enlightened, and vastly more liberal. With all their faults, and they have many, they are undoubtedly advanced, and form a greatly improved foundation to build upon in bringing in future converts from heathenism. I hope that all will, ere long, be baptized, and that new converts will ever after, as a rule, be baptized within six months after they join us. This ought to be, and, as none join us now in expectation of worldly help, may be. With a previous conviction of the truth of the Gospel and six months to prepare, I see no reason why, in the absence of hindrances arising from immorality of character, they should not be baptized so soon. The rite must not, of course, be profaned, and, with proper care, will not be. How much more encouraging this will be than the old system of keeping on learners for ten, fifteen, or twenty years without baptism. However, such care was needful then.

The Rev. W. P. Schaffter bears this testimony to the liberality of the native Christians in his district :—

liberality.

Their liberality surpasses that of many in England. In the beginning of the year, the congregations within my charge promised to subscribe rupees 1,126-14-0, out of which sum rupees 1,042-5-0 have come to hand, leaving a balance of rupees, 84-9-0 to be collected. This does not include the subscriptions of the catechists and Mission agents, which yearly amount to rupees 275-10-8. Besides giving ready money for the cause of the Lord, several have made presents of cows to the Suviseshapuram church : now we have fourteen cows. Others have given sheep. These, in the course of a few years, will bring in a handsome income.

In Nallammalpuram the people have collected amongst themselves about 150 rupees, which they have laid out at compound interest. This fund, assisted occasionally by donations, is intended for the support of their own catechist. They expect that within a few years they will have raised a capital large enough, the interest of which will be sufficient for their catechist's salary. The news of such an arrangement has spread throughout my district, and will be imitated, I hope, by all. If such a fund could be raised in every village, we could hope that the expenditure of the Society on catechists' salary will be lessened.

Three large fields also, with palmyras on them, have been given to the girls' boarding school as an endowment. The worth of these at present may be about 500 rupees; but as there are a great number of young palmyras which have not yet come into full bearing, the income of this property is not so great, as it will be in a few years hence. On the whole, the interest felt by the Christians in the cause of the Lord is great, and not only do we see it in their freely giving of their riches for the different funds of this district, but also in their private Christian life and in their endeavours to see Christianity spreading far and wide. The newly-formed congregations in the west of my district are getting more and more settled.

Effects of the Revival of 1860.

The Rev. N. Honiss thus refers to the permanent benefit of the revival movement after four years have elapsed:—

It may be remembered that Ukkerankotie was the scene of some Revival of the wildest manifestations of the revival of 1860. While it blessings. must be acknowledged that many things which then took place should be attributed to a satanic rather than Divine origin, yet the catechist's report for the past four years plainly proves that a genuine revival must be dated from that period, and that the work, though marred by man, proceeded from God. Consistency of life has been conspicuous in its subjects ever since. Formerly there were many drunkards; now they are all sober men. Formerly they were for the most part irregular in attendance at the services; now we cannot complain of one. In former years fifty rupees subscription was considered a large sum, last year they subscribed and spent on their new church rupees 250, and on the church since it has been commenced they have laid out rupees 600.

First Mohammedan Convert in Tinnevelly.

Mr. Clark reports the baptism of a Mohammedan convert:—

You will be rejoiced to hear that a respectable Mohammedan, Success or Pathan, named Káthar Khán Sahib, has joined us, and has among come with his family to Nallur. He has long been an inquirer Moham- and has a good knowledge of Scripture. His wife is not disposed medans. to join him in his change of religion, but she is willing to be taught the Gospel, and has begun to learn to read. Her children will, of course, be baptized with their father. His nephew also, a boy of about fourteen years of age, wishes to become a Christian with him, and is learning in the boarding school; but as he is young, and knows but little of the Gospel, and as his father might oppose, I think it better that he should wait. This will prove well in the end. By haste, I might bring about an action, or, at all events, lead to his being taken away from us. This conversion is the first-fruits from Mohammedanism in Tinnevelly. The converts in Palamcottah, and subsequently Mr. Sargent, were the first to lead him to read the Scriptures.

The Rev. W. P. Schaffter gives the following account of a sincere convert in his district, lately deceased :—

Exemplary
native
Christianity.

This district has sustained a great loss in the death of the inspecting catechist Savarimuttu. For nearly forty years he laboured faithfully among his people; and there were but few men in Tinnevelly who have lived and died so respected by heathen and Christians as he was. Both rich and poor bear testimony to his sound judgment, his uprightness, and his kindness. A man in his position, and with his influence, could not but be exposed to the vicious remarks of the jealous and wicked; but I am thankful to say that none of those things they brought against him could bear an investigation. Although his end was peace, his bodily sufferings were great; but throughout all his sufferings he was enabled to bear testimony to the love of Christ.

New Mis-

I have commenced the plan of sending out Bible women among the heathen women, and I find it an excellent means of spreading the Gospel among the people; for not only the women, but also the men, listen attentively to the sayings of the Bible women. There is therefore no caste or class of people to whom the word of God is not made known, more or less, in the 168 villages and towns of the Panneivilei district. I have directed my attention to the heathen more than ever during the past year. While able to work, I have visited and preached to more heathen in 1864 than ever I did in any twelve months before. When I could not, on account of sickness, preach, I wrote letters to influential heathen, and in this way, with the help of the catechists copying letters, I have sent letters to more than a hundred Merasdars, and other headmen, in various towns and villages of the district. My object in sending letters written, instead of printed, was, that written letters would probably be read, whereas tracts would be thrown aside unread. Having lived so long in the district, I am well known among the people, and they would be certain to read a letter coming from myself in a friendly spirit.

As the Committee are urgent upon their Missionaries to cherish the principle of self-government in the native Church, it is right to notice the dangers which may occur. The following extract from the Rev. J. T. Tucker bears on this subject:—

We cannot expect all sunshine in our Missionary work. The last year has been one of trouble and disappointment. You will perhaps remember that I had formed a Committee of natives to assist in carrying on our work, especially in secular matters. Unknown at the time to myself, they passed the limit of authority I had given them, by taking upon themselves to punish native Christians who were not very regular attendants at the means of grace. They stretched the bow so far that it snapped. One of the baser sort took this opportunity of rousing up the minds of many nominal Christians to give up their Christianity, and return to heathenism; and not only so, but to try and get back four demon temples that had been given over to me twenty years ago, and destroyed, the land of which I had ever since the possession of. About 200 men, women, and children left us: only a few of them had been baptized, but their going away was a cause of much grief to my mind. Under such a trial, I found much comfort in the fact, that it brought out the sympathies of those who were really on the Lord's side, and has caused them to show forth a determination that, through God's grace, they will maintain their profession of faith under any circumstances. The backsliders have given us much trouble in trying to annoy us. I live, however, in the hope that, as they have been led astray by one or two wicked spirits, they may some day return to us again.

Mr. Clark, of the Nallur District, thus alludes to the beneficial labours of the North-Tinnevelly Itinerant Missionaries in his district:—

In the early part of the year we received a visit from Messrs. Fenn, Macdonald, and Simmons, who, in conjunction with myself and the catechists, itinerated about three parts of the district, visiting every village. It was a most useful visit to us all. Every one joined in the work with vigour. A large number of tracts and portions of the Scriptures were sold, and very many heathen preached to. The whole district for the time was thoroughly stirred up. I hope Mr. Macdonald will be able to renew his visit this year. At other times, too, the catechists have been very diligent in this most essential duty. I also have myself taken a more active part in it than usual; and my colleagues, Messrs. Gnanamuttoo and Samuel, have done the same as often as opportunity offered. The heathen are showing more vigour in respect to education than formerly.

books.

We have received much encouragement during the year in the sale of books and tracts. About 10,000 have been sold, realizing more than 200 rupees. This department is, in my opinion, an important adjunct of an itinerancy. This year we have room for the employment of three or four colporteurs, if only the funds were available. The Committee are aware that our book fund has not cost the Society a pice. We hope this year (indeed we have already commenced the plan with success) to sell all books at cost price. Next year, if in Tinnevelly, we may increase the price, and so make the fund almost, if not quite, self-supporting.

Education.

The annual examination of the Palamcotta Preparandi Institution took place at Christmas 1864, and the Chairman reports that "it embraced the usual variety of subjects, and it has given the same satisfaction as on former occasions." It is still under the able management of the Rev. E. Sargent. The Training Institution for schoolmasters is under the Rev. J. Spratt. These institutions called forth the warm commendation of the Bishop of Calcutta. The Rev. E. Sargent writes respecting them:—"By a happy unanimity of views, and a generous confidence of the brethren in one another, the several institutions at Palamcotta are quietly effecting their purpose, the brethren in the stations regarding our success as theirs, and we rejoicing in their triumphs as our own."

The Sarah Tucker Female Institution for training school-mistresses has been obliged to be suspended through the loss of Miss Richards, by her marriage.

The question is often raised, How are the higher Educational Institutions best supplied with pupils? The experience in Tinnevelly, where the system of instruction has been most successful, is decidedly in favour of boarding schools. The day schools supply comparatively very few pupils; and they are inadequately prepared for training; so that the Missionaries regard the Training Institutions as dependent upon the station boarding schools, and they fear that the supply has already been checked by a too rigid economy in respect to this branch of education. The Rev. J. Thomas thus treats of the subject:—

Without boarding schools the Preparandi Institution cannot be efficient. Mr. Sargent has often told me that very little can be made of young men who are admitted without previous training, compared with the youths from the boarding schools. In the instances of several young men now employed here, who passed through the Institution without previous training, the difference is not only very great, but also very painful, as they are by no means so efficient and satisfactory. The Committee will, I trust, keep always in view the paramount importance of having in every Mission a boarding school for intelligent, clever, well-favoured and respectable youths, and carefully prepare them for the work. There must be a nursery for the acorns and saplings, or in vain shall we look for sturdy oaks.

Best means of supply-
teachers.

There are, in my boys' boarding school, at present fifty-one pupils, divided into four classes. They are comparatively young, and none were eligible to be drafted this year into the Preparandi and Training Institutions at Palamcottah. The usual course of study has been pursued, with the addition of English. The pressure on all sides for imparting a knowledge of our language is so great, that I have deemed it advisable not to hold out any longer against the opinions of influential friends at home and here. A friend of mine, who is entitled to be heard upon this subject, made the following remark to me when in England:—"If you keep back your people from a knowledge of English, they will be found, some years hence, infinitely distanced by their fellow-countrymen in knowledge, status, and influence." This school has been in existence now for nineteen years, and 190 pupils altogether have been admitted since its commencement. Of these, as is usual, many broke down in one way or other, while there are at present twenty-two engaged as catechists and forty-three as schoolmasters, which, with ten in the Preparandi and Training Institution, and fifty-one at present in the school, leaves sixty-four to be accounted for. Several of them are dead, while the rest are engaged in trade and various other pursuits. I look upon the result as very satisfactory, and it is clear that we should now be feeling sorely the lack of suitable agents if this school had not been in existence to provide them. Whereas, not only are my own wants supplied, but I have been able this year to respond to the urgent calls for aid from Madras, Neilgherries, and Ceylon, for which several localities six men have been set apart—four catechists and two schoolmasters.

An objection is sometimes urged against the schools, as if the principle were not a sound one to educate boys with a definite object in view. Educate generally, say some of our friends, and then you will get the right sort of men from among the crowd. My experience is opposed to this theory. I think if a boy's mind is habitually directed to the service of God as the most honourable employment on earth—if the qualifications in motives and attainments for that work be clearly set before him—if the boys are carefully grounded in the truths of the Gospel—and if the Missionary prays with them and for them that God may graciously be pleased to vouchsafe His blessing—I cannot believe that the efforts so made will be in vain: they have not failed here. Of course the utmost care must be exercised in the selection of the pupils. It is only about one in ten of our vernacular-school boys that will answer the purpose of our boarding schools. I have a sort of instinctive feeling, when a number of boys stand before me, that this, and that, and the other boy won't do.

There is difficulty in getting the right sort of boy who is respectably connected, and who has higher prospects than any Mission employment offers; but we do often succeed, especially if there are two or three sons in the family. Boys of this kind are worth the trouble of polishing, but the sunburnt brick has always disappointed those who hoped to make it a precious stone. I would say to all educationalists, Take care, as a matter of first importance, that your raw material is good.

Proposal for the more complete organization of the Native Church in Tinnevelly, and the appointment of a Native Bishop.

The advancement of the native Church in Tinnevelly, through the grace of God so abundantly poured out upon the labours of His servants in this Mission, has raised the question whether the time is not come for placing the native Church upon a more independent and permanent system of government than it is possible for it to assume under Missionary Societies. This question is ably treated in the following letter of the Rev. J. Thomas, dated June 21, 1864:—

Ever since I left England, the question, "What can be done for the best interests of the native Church in Tinnevelly?" has occupied my thoughts continually. Perhaps you will feel disposed to say, "Do precisely as we have suggested in our printed minute on the subject." Admirable as those suggestions are, they cannot be acted upon without some modification, especially in the older Missions of the Society; at the same time, to carry out their spirit, and adopt them literally as far as possibly may be, is my earnest desire.

My thoughts have been much directed to the kind of superintendence which should be exercised over those agents who are paid by a native Church Fund. It appeared to me, that, so long as the European Missionary of the district superintended and paid both kinds of agents, it would be difficult to convey to the minds of our people generally a correct idea of the distinction between a native Church Fund, and a Missionary Fund. And supposing that all the congregations supported by native contributions were transferred to one European Missionary to superintend, in the character of Rural Dean, Archdeacon, or Commissary of the Bishop of Madras, in all probability many objections would be raised against such a measure, and it would only be preparing the way for the appointment of an European Bishop; a measure which, I think, would not be the most favourable for the development of the native Church.

The next question which presented itself was, "Is the time arrived for the appointment of a native Bishop, who should have authority alike over Edeiyenkudy in the South, and Pannivilei in the North of Tinnevelly?" This assumes that European clergymen, as well as natives, would be placed under his authority and superintendence, a measure which has universally been considered as a very formidable objection, if not an insuperable one, to such a scheme. The question mooted of a native Bishop.

It then occurred to me that it might be possible to have a native Bishop in Tinnevelly at once, who should have exclusive authority over all the native agents who might be transferred to him, supported by the native Church, while the European agents of foreign Societies, in the character of Missionaries, and as ministers of the English Church, might still continue, as long as they are required in the province, under the authority and superintendence of the Bishop of Madras.

I do not think it wise to anticipate or suggest objections to this scheme: all I would ask in mooted the question is a candid consideration of such objections before the scheme is discarded in limine as anomalous and impracticable.

My proposal is this, that a native Bishop should be appointed at once, to whom should be transferred the self-supporting congregations and spiritual agents. I should be prepared to hand over to him, at once, fifteen or twenty of my best congregations, and make the utmost endeavour every year to increase the number as contributions increased. Other districts might be willing and able to double this number, and there would be at once, not a mere nucleus of a native Church, but a goodly number of congregations to be superintended, which would form by no means an insignificant episcopate.

As far as I have mentioned the subject to our own Missionaries—and I did so at our Conference in April last, and to some of the Gospel-Propagation Society's brethren also—no hostile opinion has been expressed by any one, but all seemed prepared to look upon it as likely to solve the great difficulty connected with this question.

While the native Bishop would be entirely independent of the European clergy, they would be able to assist him, and strengthen his hands in a variety of ways, until the time arrived to withdraw altogether. The native Church would by this means be materially strengthened, and experience would be gained by the Bishop, native clergy, and catechists, in self-government and management of their own affairs. A great increase would, I am persuaded, soon appear in the number of ordained agents; not men who aspire to European views and habits, but men who would be veritable native pastors, in charge of one or two congregations, with moderate salaries, not necessarily very much above what the catechists receive now, but enough to keep them respectably in a relative position to their flocks. Our catechists now maintain themselves comfortably on Rs. 8. They are, to all intents and purposes, the native pastors, and mere ordination would not necessarily involve any very heavy additional expense; so that a moderate increase above Rs. 8 would be a very suitable provision, nor would this be hopelessly beyond the resources of the native Church, as is the case with regard to those who have been ordained already.

One very great advantage of trying this plan while the Missionaries are still carrying on their operations in the same field, would be, that we should avoid the sudden transition of the Church into native hands, and the possible breaking down of the Bishop and his clergy if left to themselves without any previous preparation and aid.

If this plan in the main should be considered feasible, the subordinate points can be dealt with afterwards.

We have had recently three very important and interesting meetings in these districts. The one at Mengnanapuram, which was held this day fortnight, was attended by 140 headmen of congregations, besides native clergy and catechists. I entered at length into the whole question, and the people responded heartily, and several of them spoke with great propriety, for the character of the meeting was that of a Committee, where every member was at liberty to say what he pleased, and not a formal public meeting. When every one who wished to give expression to his opinion had done so, I proposed for their adoption a series of resolutions to the effect, "That it is the duty of Christians to support their own teachers, and to take measures for extending the kingdom of Christ among the heathen; and the duty of headmen in particular to exert themselves, not only in giving, but in urging the people under their influence to support liberally the scheme now initiated." It was also agreed that from the 25th of this month fourteen congregations should be supplied with catechists, to be paid out of the native Church Fund.

I told them what my views and wishes were with regard to a Native Bishop, and the desirableness of having a distinct Native Tamil Church. They received the announcement with joyful approbation; and one of them, the more intelligent and influential, exclaimed that he hoped he might yet be permitted to see that blessed consummation. This Meeting was a most important one, and I felt thankful that I had come out from England this third time, if it were only to be present on the occasion. I have now briefly sketched out what I conscientiously believe to be the best method of dealing with the Church in Tinnevely, and I am prepared to exercise whatever influence I possess among the people, after nearly twenty-eight years' connexion with them, to promote, foster, and strengthen this measure.

Similar meetings to that held here were held at Satthankulam and Asirvadapuram, which I fully purposed attending; but in consequence of absolute prostration of strength, I was unable to do so, and my son and the native clergyman attended both places, and he speaks of the result as indeed not quite so enthusiastic as at Mengnanapuram, though I am disposed to think that the people of Asirvadapuram were not a whit behind those of this district.

The following Minute of a conference of Missionaries, held in Tinnevely in January 1865, will show that the statement of Mr. Thomas, respecting the supply of native pastors, is confirmed by the judgment of the rest of the Missionary body:—

It appeared to the brethren every way desirable that spiritual and devoted men should, as opportunity offers, be ordained as pastors to the congregations in which they are now respectively labouring as catechists, their pay at the present rate being supplied by the native Church Selfsustaining Fund, and subsidized by an equal amount on the part of the Church Missionary Society. Where men of character, piety, maturity of age, and judgment can be found, we think that their being thus set apart as ordained ministers of the congregations in which they are now acting as catechists would have a wide and beneficial influence for good.

A copy of the letter of Mr. Thomas having been submitted to the Bishop of Calcutta, his Lordship made in reply the following important remarks and suggestions upon the scheme, in a letter dated February 8, 1865:—

As it is getting near post time, I am hardly able to enter at length upon Mr. Thomas's important letter. But would not one way of meeting his views, and removing my objections, be to consecrate a native as coadjutor to the Bishop of Madras, with such work as the Diocesan Bishop assigns to him? And it might be agreed that he should receive a salary from the Church Missionary Society, or from the Church Missionary Society and the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel together, on condition that he ordinarily resides in Tinnevely, and takes the charge of such native congregations as are handed over to him. Then he might also be employed in travelling at intervals about other parts of the diocese, and confirming the Tamil congregations more frequently than can be done now. He should be consecrated by the Metropolitan and two of his suffragans, and not removable without the Metropolitan's consent. In this way the geographical difficulty would be obviated, my serious objection to separating Europeans and natives into different Churches would be removed; the general influence and supervision of the Bishop of Madras would be retained for Tinnevely; and the Native Bishop's position to the English Missionaries residing near him would be less ambiguous than on any other plan. Doubtless the question of discipline in connexion with such a Bishop must be carefully considered, as we learn to our cost from the mass of troublesome technicalities now before the Privy Council; and I have no doubt that an Act of Parliament would be necessary. It seems to me that power might be given to the Metropolitan, on the application of any Diocesan Bishop, with the sanction of the Crown, to consecrate such a coadjutor to the diocese of the Bishop making the application, Government not being charged with his salary. In this way I might myself hope some day to have both a Bengalee and Hindustanee coadjutor. It seems to me that some such plan as this would be at once most ecclesiastically correct and practically useful.

The Committee are taking steps to bring this important subject under the notice of the proper authorities, with a view to carry out the suggestions of the Bishop of Calcutta.

The Committee have not been enabled to increase the staff of Missionaries in Travancore during the year now under review. The Rev. Joseph Peet came over to England under medical direction; but he was not able to bear the separation from his spiritual children in the Mission, and so strongly desired to finish his course in the midst of them, that the Committee consented to his return to India—though his health was in a very precarious condition—out of respect for the true Missionary spirit which animated this veteran labourer.

The Rev. Henry Baker will enter in another year the Jubilee of his Missionary career. He is still able to render essential service to the cause, though relieved from the charge of a station, by superintending the publications of the Mission press and by counselling his brethren. His son, the Rev. Henry Baker, jun., has laboured for twenty-two years in the same Mission. He has furnished the Committee with a report of his labours for the last two years, during which time he has had under his charge three districts—Allepie, Pallam, and Mundakayam. The following extracts will describe the progress of his work:—

Allepie.—After two years the work accomplished at Allepie is as follows:—The congregations are in good order generally; the church 100 ft. long, 48 ft. wide, with chancel, porches and repaired tower, are complete, but not yet plastered. Two new slave congregations, averaging from forty to sixty each, have been formed, and a body of Chogans, fifteen families in number, received under instruction to the N.E. of the district, and upwards of forty heathen converts baptized. The girls' boarding school-house was repaired by a friend at home sending Mr. Johnson the means to do so; and the boys' boarding school is being repaired from the funds raised by the fees of the various schools. I had very great pleasure in the first week of last December to give over all charge to Mr. Johnson, while the girls' school passed also from Mrs. Baker's care to that of Mrs. Johnson. The few people constituting the various congregations have subscribed most liberally to the Mission.

Pallam had had the benefit of Mr. Andrews' incessant care and attention, but for nearly a year illness had prevented his going about the district. I have had the help of many most efficient catechists and readers who had been with me some years ago, when this was my own peculiar charge, while the Rev. K. Koshi, and the Rev. Kitha Jacho, with the Catunar Yohannan, gave me their assistance. I found numerous little slave congregations scattered over the district. While a large body of these people become Christian with the hope of being free from many evils heathen are suffering from, with some there is an evident longing for baptism as a putting on Christ, being verily members of his body; and I believe not a few enjoy all the spiritual privileges of this union. I met with many groups of the Christian Palavars: their motives, manner of life, &c., were freely discussed. Some we found it necessary to reject, as a change of wife, or some other unworthy reason, was discovered to be the motive for a change of religion and name.

Native Pastorate. Olesha—where Mr. Koshi is stationed—is, in my opinion, becoming the model of a native pastorate: they have, with some help, almost rebuilt their church; they have their various funds for which monthly subscriptions are paid, they have their prayer-meetings regularly conducted. With the exception of one man, who is oppressed by a Mohammedan neighbour, I have no cases of going to law on the part of these Olesha people, they are composed of Syrian and Chogan converts, and some of them with competent means. The slave congregations, too, are all active in raising funds. We have bought a piece of land lately on which a granite idol and other symbols of heathenism stood: these were formerly revered by the Chengalum people.

Missionary progress. I have, in two years, baptized nearly 450 converts from Chogans, Palavars, and Pariahs, in this Pallam district, with five Nairs, one of whom I hope to see a very useful agent of the Mission.

Mundakayam had suffered much during my absence in England from a want of resident teachers. Mr. Oxley's health had failed, and the native minister appointed to the charge could not live in the jungle, but visited each portion of the district occasionally. Some of the teachers in the villages also failed in their work, but yet the work of God was an abiding one. Services in the places of worship were kept up, and even prayer-meetings by the people themselves, in many cases. I found, on my return, that unworthy members had been walking disorderly, and brought, in one or two instances, disgrace on the congregations. The making, too, of a new government road, by the increase of wages and employment, with large contracts for timber entered into by some of the Mundakayam men, had tended much to a craving after wealth, and neglect of other duties. Though myself tied by my temporary relation to the other districts, I have spent two months in each of the last two years, and a few days each month in this district. I have obtained fresh agents in some cases, and, on the whole, the old congregations are prospering. A few Nairs have come under teaching, seventy Arrians baptized, with about the same number of slaves. I shall be delighted when I am relieved from my Pallam work, and able to work more freely in the hills and valleys of the ghauts. Some planters have opened coffee estates on the tableland beyond the Arrians: one of them employs a large number of Christian coolies, and has offered me part of the pay of a reader. A temporary place of worship has been erected, and 80 to 100 coolies worship in it. I have had some baptisms at this place also.

Independent aid.

Mrs. Baker's boarding school, which averages from forty-five to fifty children, are of all the various races in the districts. Syrian, Nair, Arrian and Chogan, united by Christianity, grow up together, and will, as so many of their predecessors have proved, become most able helps in our Mission. Many of my wife's old pupils have now little schools of their own, and about one hundred of them, educated by her, are really polished stones in our various churches.

Benefits of female education.

On reviewing the two years just closed I feel that I have had a vast amount of overseeing work, sometimes entirely of a secular nature. I have walked and journeyed from 100 to 150 miles every month, and never, I hope, neglected to speak a word in season, not, perhaps, preaching set addresses in the streets, nor yet holding fierce arguments with an opponent; but, rising from general principles, have always endeavoured to lead the way to speaking of the peace which passeth understanding. I have lived in churches, in boats, in Syrian and heathen houses; the Romish priest, the Brahmin landlord, all have helped me; and I have met throughout with the greatest kindness. Still, as I officiate no two Sundays to the same congregation, and am very seldom long at home anywhere, the doubt arises in my mind how far all this may be profitable to myself or others. Doubtless it arises from an advanced stage of these Missions; but to watch a flock increasing in their knowledge of the Gospel, to see one and another awakened to the sense of duties and hopes, to comfort, build up and strengthen, I feel these are every way the strengthening of the Church, and more to the profit of the minister's own soul. I cannot now know my people as I did, and this I regret very much.

I must also here refer to the steady increase of moral and religious feeling among the Syrians and Romanists round us: while the former are becoming more devoutly interested in their spiritual duties, the latter are decidedly depending less on observances, festivals, and ceremonies, much more ready to listen, and not a few are humble dependents on Christ's merits and grace. I know three large Nair schools, in which a reader every week explains and preaches aloud, so that outsiders, too, may hear the chapter read: there are from fifty to seventy boys and girls in each, and at present these schools are my principal method of dealing with these caste people, and no opposition follows.

TRICHUR AND KUNNANKULAM.

The Trichur and Kunnankulam districts for the last two years have been under the superintendence of the Rev. J. H.

Wilkinson. In the early part of the year 1864, a native minister, the Rev. O. Mamen, was appointed with Mr. Wilkinson, and stationed at Kunnankulam, being the first ordained native teacher in that district. "Through his instrumentality," writes Mr. Wilkinson, "I have commenced at Trichur, and he in his station, the periodical prayer-meetings which have been so long established in the south, and which have been so useful in fostering union and sympathy among the somewhat motley groups which form some of our congregations."

COCHIN.

Endowed
Native
Pastorate.

The congregation of native Protestant Christians at Cochin is under the native pastor, the Rev. G. Curian. It consists chiefly of those who were attracted from various Missions by the employment offered in the large commercial establishments of the place. It comprises 465 persons, of whom 124 are communicants. A few years since, a zealous friend of Missions, the Rev. T. Whitehouse, now Principal of the Lawrence Asylum, Octacamund, was stationed as British Chaplain at Cochin, and he appealed to the Society for a native pastor for the congregation, and one was sent. At the same time Mr. Whitehouse commenced a subscription as an endowment for the support of this native pastor. The sum already collected is nearly sufficient to supply the requisite stipend. Till this is accomplished the interest is added to the principal. In a late report of the fund, Mr. Whitehouse expresses "his earnest hope that similar attempts will be made in other places where there are European residents, to relieve the great Missionary Societies. We cannot (he adds) in a more appropriate way show our sympathy with our poorer native brethren, nor confer on them a greater boon, than that of securing to them (so far as men can do it) 'the Gospel of Christ without charge' throughout all future generations. Endowments need not, and, where there is life in a Christian community, will not, paralyze religious effort, but rather set those who enjoy them free to support effectually their own schools, poor funds, and other charities, and (what is essential to healthy action) to do something to send 'the Gospel to the regions beyond them.'"

The Rev. W. Collins succeeded Mr. Whitehouse at Cochin, and takes the same lively interest in this native pastorate. During the last year a school has been established at an out-station celebrated in the ecclesiastical annals of the Syrian Church, Diamper, about twelve miles from Cochin, where the first synod was held by the Roman-Catholic Bishop of Goa to bring the Syrian Christians under the Roman yoke.

Tiruwella, the head-quarters of a Missionary district, which was formerly superintended by an European Missionary, has for the last two years been under the native pastor, the Rev. Jacob Chandy, who takes the charge of ten other congregations. The report of his district, presented to the Madras Corresponding Committee in June 1864, gives the following discriminating summary of the results:—

Of the ten congregations thus enumerated, six are composed of Pulayen slaves, and the remainder of converts from Syrians and Chogans. The whole number scattered throughout ten villages amounts to 1000 souls, of whom 728 are baptized. The communicants number 229. Notwithstanding the objections of the heathen, the enmity of the Romanists, and the indifference of the Syrians, there has been an increase in the number of professing Christians. The increase has been from the Chogans and slaves. Persecutions they have had from their caste-fellows, and their patience under them has shown that they had counted the cost. Genuine fruits of true religion are frequently seen. Many a fault also is occasionally discovered and rebuked in love. Good advice is appreciated, and the general conduct is improving. Prayer-meetings, with contributions for religious purposes, are held monthly in some places, and as often as they can be conveniently in other places. On some no impression seems to be made. They occasionally attend the Church on Sundays, but their conduct gives no satisfaction to their teachers.

Character
Christians

Beneficial influence of the Mission upon the spiritual condition of the Syrian and Roman native Christians.

The Rev. Jacob Chandy, of Thallawaddi, reports "that some Roman-Catholic families read the Tamil version of the New Testament;" and "that a Syrian family, long connected with the Tiruwella station, had gone back to the Syrian Church, alleging that their parish Church, at least, was being reformed."

Indirect
Missionary
influence.

Education.The Cambridge Nicholson Institution.

The Cambridge Nicholson Institution was transferred, in July 1864, to the care of the Rev. J. M. Speechley. There were, at the close of the year, twenty-two students of the average age of twenty-one years, but a few more advanced in age, who have been in the service of the Society as schoolmasters for ten to sixteen years. The instruction is given in the vernacular, which necessitates much oral teaching. Mr. Speechley has introduced the study of Sanskrit. It is, of course, a very difficult task to mould such an institution into the form most adapted to the wants of the Mission; but the need is great of a supply of spiritual agents, well instructed in the holy Scriptures; and the Lord will bless and guide the attempt to train up the agents for his own work.

At the annual examination of the Cottayam College, and distribution of prizes, in August 1864, several Missionaries, who had taken part in the examination, expressed their satisfaction with the progress of the pupils. The Principal, the Rev. R. Collins, made the following statement:—

education.

Our books at present show fifty-eight boarders, and forty-four day scholars: of these, forty-eight are Syrians, fifty one are Protestants, and three are heathen. I may also mention, as a matter of interest to some of you, that of these boys five are sons of our native clergy, and ten are the sons of catechists and readers. As I have observed, our numbers have necessarily decreased: we have, however, this cheering fact to fall back upon, that 240 rupees are yearly received in fees, while eight of the boarders pay their full expenses. Thus I trust there is some evidence that education, such as that here afforded, is being increasingly appreciated through the country. Besides the ordinary classes, there are now three young men, catanars, one priest, and two deacons, studying in the College, actuated by the laudable desire of improving their theological knowledge, and becoming, in some measure, acquainted with the English language and collateral subjects. One of these young men is a boarder, introduced to the College by our much-lamented friend Mr. Hawksworth, another pays his own expenses; and the third resides at Cottayam.

Female Education.

Mrs. Hawksworth, widow of our late valuable Missionary, thus reviews her labours in female education at the several posts occupied by her husband.

December 29, 1864.—If spared to see the 6th of the ensuing month, January, it will complete the twenty-fifth anniversary of my connexion with the Society, during the whole of which time, after our arrival in India—with the exception of seven months sick leave and three years spent in England—it has been my privilege to have had charge of schools containing from 85 to 35 girls. The number of girls that have been educated during this period must amount to some hundreds. Of these, some have fallen asleep; others have gone amongst their Syrian friends and are lost to us for a time, though I would fain hope they will yet be found amongst Christ's jewels when He makes them up. Many others are now giving evidence, by their lives, that the instruction they have received has not been in vain. At Allepie, with its out-stations, and at Cottayam, the beneficial effects of girls being educated is being sensibly felt. I speak now only of those who have been under my own care. Other ladies can doubtless give the same testimony.

MASULIPATAM.

The annual report of the station of Masulipatam must record in the first place an awful calamity with which it pleased God, for wise and good, but inscrutable reasons, to afflict the Mission. In the night of the first of November a violent cyclone began to blow; then the rain fell in torrents; suddenly a wave from the sea swept over the coast line, which is at the distance of two miles from the town, rising six feet above the level of the plain, and, breaking with fury upon the houses, burst open the doors and windows, and in a few minutes spreading destruction and death on every side throughout a population of 60,000 or 70,000. Four-fifths of the town were laid in ruins, and it is said from 20,000 to 30,000 persons perished in the town and its neighbourhood, though no European life was lost. When daylight returned the tremendous extent of the destruction became manifest. Nearly all the food had perished, and the wells were filled with sea-water.

The first thought of persons in authority was that the place must be abandoned, at least as a Government station and for the troops, and the question arose whether the Mission should be removed. But as the inhabitants generally determined to remain on the same spot, the Missionaries felt that their duty was to remain also, and they began, with great firmness and alacrity, to repair the Missionary buildings.

Thus was a large and flourishing Mission reduced in a few hours to a state of extreme affliction and destitution. The inquiry will arise in many breasts, What was the behaviour of our Missionary brethren and their converts under such a trial of their faith and patience? The reports which have been received sufficiently testify that they were enabled to "stay" themselves upon a faithful God, and that He bore them in His everlasting arms through that night of dreadful waves and storms.

In Mr. Noble's household, while all were engaged in keeping out the wind and rain, a cry was heard, "The sea-water is come in." As the house-basement is nearly four feet high, this at first seemed incredible, but soon it was beyond doubt. Mr. Noble attempted to reach the front verandah through the hall; but scarcely had he opened the inner door into the hall, when, in the pitchy darkness, a sea struck him, rising about three feet. It was a moment of imminent danger; but he was enabled to rush back, and, as he says, "The Lord saved my life." They now hastened into the inner room, mounting on cots and drawers, and, bidding a final farewell to each other, betook themselves to prayer, expecting to be either drowned or buried in the ruins of the house. In this state of suspense, calling on Him who was their only hope, they waited. In about an hour and a half the wind changed to the E.S.E. and S.; and although the waves still dashed against the walls, and the wind and rain continued violent, the waters began to abate. Thus in Mr. Noble's house there was no loss of life. But it was not so with others of their friends and fellow-labourers. Ratnam and Bushanam, the two young Brahmin converts, whose admission to holy orders by the Bishop of Madras was mentioned in the last Report, had tried to escape in the dark, and, in the effort, some of the little party had been swept away. Bushanam had lost his wife and child, and sad were the wailings of the bereaved husband and father. As the light increased, and they were enabled to look about, nothing could exceed the wreck and desolation: stables, cow-houses, godowns, all flat; the eastern end of the house broken down, the great doors wide open, the hall full of prickly-pear bushes, broken tables and chairs; sea-water, mud, and books being strewed over the floor. On a closer examination it was found that the eastern foundations of the house were sapped, and that if the flood had continued much longer the hall must have fallen. But now anxiety was drawn to another point: the house of Malayya, the school-teacher, was flat, and no one knew what had become of him. His body, and that of his wife, were subsequently found. He was, by universal testimony, a true Christian: he was, besides, a very valuable teacher, and had been married only four months. What is earthly has perished; what is spiritual survives.

Behaviour
of Missionaries
under an

But sad as these events were, the loss of life at Mr. Sharkey's was far greater. The girls' boarding school was a deeply-interesting department of labour, which had borne much fruit during the fifteen years of its existence, and promised more. On this interesting school the deluge broke with destructive power: no less than thirty-three of the poor girls were suddenly swept away. Mr. Sharkey thus describes what happened:—

God has showed us great troubles and adversities, and yet turned and refreshed us. He has brought us from the deep of the earth again. The first of November can never be forgotten. At ten o'clock P.M. there was a terrific hurricane. We made all our preparations by way of guarding our doors and windows. We had scarcely done this, when a cry of "The sea, the sea," was heard. It came from some of our servants, who had previously taken refuge in our kitchen, and who, with great difficulty, contrived to reach the room in which fifteen girls and ourselves had taken refuge. A minute after we had admitted them the sea rushed into the house, and I had just time to put the children on our large cot, and take my position at the only door which we all had to guard. But the bolts gave way. Door after door was carried off, and we were completely at the mercy of the winds and waves. Our children behaved nobly, and we were enabled to pray together with great calmness, and commit ourselves to Him who once said, "Peace, be still." The water rapidly increased in depth. I was waist deep in it, when the rising water suddenly stopped, and receded as fast as it came. We then removed the children to another room, and wished for the day. The rain was pouring into the room in torrents, and the wind was still violent. The night was dark, and we had no light after three A.M. During the night we had often thought of the children in the bungalow adjoining our house. We were not able to render them any assistance; and though the bungalow was a strong building, we had many fears. The next morning told us what had occurred. My heart breaks to write it. No less than thirty-three children were either drowned in or swept away by the flood! The building stood, but every door in it was carried off, and the wave knocked down every thing before it. The hospital, in which there were several children, and which adjoined the bungalow, came down. Every article of furniture was washed away, and only twenty-five of our dear children were spared to tell us of the dying shrieks of their fellows, and their own miraculous escape. My valuable library, all my Telugu manuscripts, and materials for new works, collected during the last twenty years, and a large quantity of our furniture, have either disappeared or are irreparably damaged. Our girls' school-room is down: our house is scarcely habitable, and we are now staying in two small rooms in the Commissary's office. Exclusive of our girls, we have lost nineteen members of our congregations. No two persons seem to have suffered alike: each has his own tale of woe to tell.

I am now sitting alone at a corner of my former house, with the ruins of our property scattered all around, and the compound filled with dead and drying trees, prickly-pear bushes, mud, and rubbish of every kind. With reference to my own loss, I feel comparatively little, although I am almost a beggar; but the thought of our dead children is too much for us. Still God has done all things well, and in wrath remembered mercy. He has not dealt with us after our sins. Our prayer is, that the visitation we have just had may be abundantly blessed to us; that it may humble us to the dust; make us more devoted to His cause; teach us not to make nests for ourselves, and live in needless luxury and ease; fill us with a deep sense of our vileness, and a precious sense of His love to us; and keep us ever ready for His coming. It is remarkable that some of our heathen servants, in that dark and terrible night, prayed to Jesus for help. I am not able to tell you a fraction of all our troubles. Pray for us.

The following letter from the Rev. J. Sharp contains particulars of his personal escape on the eventful night:—

When you receive this you must give humble thanks to our Heavenly Father, through Jesus Christ, that I am alive to write it. Between eleven and twelve we found water rushing into the house, and rising most rapidly. Every thing began to float. The house floor is raised a yard or more above the compound, yet the water inside was above our knees, and we knew not how much higher it might get, for it was from the sea, two miles off. We managed to climb the staircase, which goes from the verandah to the house-top. We crawled along the top into one of the elevations of the roof, and just managed to get inside among the rafters. The wind and rain beat upon us, and we had little on but night-clothes. We had to keep one another warm by constant rubbing, and felt at times overpoweringly sleepy. A light, which we left below, shone through the chinks of the ceiling, and was a great comfort to us, as it showed that the water had not risen high enough to extinguish it. We prayed often, and little expected to see the dawn, for the walls shook with the wind and waves, and, I thought, would certainly fall. But we were heard, and preserved till the dawn came—an unspeakable relief. The staircase was all but gone, but we were able to descend it when the storm abated. The desolation around is indescribable: all our out-houses flat, our furniture carried away for hundreds of yards, trees down, many houses fallen, and hundreds of corpses. We have had great difficulty to get food. One day I got, very thankfully, some horse-grain. Every thing around is ruined, but we are alive. Let us be thankful.

Behaviour
of Missionaries under an awful

This sad account may be concluded with the simple and touching words of a Brahmin convert, who lost his mother and sister. The sister was an established Christian, and about to be married to one of the schoolmasters. The brother writes:—

She was a true believer in the Lord Jesus Christ, and she is now resting from all the troubles and cares of this present evil world. I feel grieved only through my weakness, because I wished, though not the wish of God, to enjoy her company a little longer, as is natural. But it is far better for her to depart and to be with Christ, as saith St. Paul.

In the midst of such a calamity at the close of the year it was not to be expected that the reports and annual letters could be prepared and forwarded as in former years.

ELLORE.

The Rev. F. W. N. Alexander has under his charge at Ellore a small flock of native Christians, seventy-four in number, but for the most part they are poor and dull of intellect. During the last year, however, he has been cheered by the accession of a convert of a more promising class, namely, a timber merchant, who is well off, with his wife and children. “The father has a simple mind and a fervent faith. Two of the sons are very talented: one has gone to the central training school, and has taken at once a high place. Two nephews were at the same time baptized. In the villages, also, Mr. Alexander has been encouraged in a movement similar to that which has taken place at Raghapur, in the Bezwarra district, and from the same class of people, who are cultivators, and till their own land with one or two yoke of bullocks. “Among this class,” writes Mr. Alexander, “there is great facility for the spread of the Gospel.” Mr. Alexander regrets that he has no catechists on whom he can depend to place out in the villages where there are inquirers, or that another Missionary is not appointed to the station, so that he might devote himself wholly to preaching the Gospel among the heathen throughout a district in which he is well known, and everywhere listened to by the people. Here, as in so many other places, the operations of the Mission are checked by the deficiency of agency, both native and European.

The Rev. T. Y. Darling and the Rev. W. Ellington have laboured at Bezware. There are nearly 200 native Christians in the town and neighbouring villages, and the Mission wears an encouraging aspect, though no striking events have been recorded.

The Rev. W. Gray, the Secretary of the Society's Corresponding Committee at Madras, writes, on his return from visiting the Telugu Missions of the Society:—

In eight villages, at different distances from Bezware, people of the Mala caste have been coming over to Mr. Darling for instruction, by twos or threes; and the interesting part of it is, that there does not seem to be any motive whatever of a secular kind—so far as Mr. Darling can see—in their minds, beyond that of a desire, perhaps, to know more, or, generally, to raise themselves in the scale of society. A considerable body of these same people have come over to the Missionaries of the American Lutheran Mission, in the Palnaud (near Guntoor); and the Missionaries of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel and of the London Missionary Society, in Cuddapah, have likewise inquirers amongst them. Those of them I have seen seem to me decidedly of a superior class to the Pariahs of the south. It will be interesting to watch the movement; and certainly, so far as Raghapur is concerned, it seems to be of God.

Mr. Darling also states:—

gress.

Scripture readers, being converts from amongst themselves, reside in each village, and they are superintended by myself. I visit them once a month. A marked change has taken place in the social habits of the people, and the improvement is acknowledged by the heathen. Female schools have lately been introduced, and from them girls have been drafted to the boarding school at Bezware.

KOI MISSION.

The Rev. W. J. Edmonds has not yet recovered his health sufficiently to enable him to return to India to superintend this Mission. The Rev. C. Tanner is therefore in temporary charge of it. The Rev. W. Gray, Secretary to the Madras Corresponding Committee, visited the Mission in July 1864, and has furnished the Committee with a clear, and, on the whole, encouraging account, in which he states that the work consists of two parts : first, the cantonment of the Godavery Navigation Department, at Dumagudiem ; secondly, the Kois. The cantonment, or encampment, comprises 2000 people, drawn from many different homes, and engaged in the construction of the works. Out of these a native-Christian congregation has been gathered, to which, in the absence of a Missionary, Razu ministers. “ All that I saw of him,” writes Mr. Gray, “ impresses me with the idea of his being a man of much humbleness of mind, while possessing great influence on all about him. He has regular services on Sunday, and once during the week ; and there is a Sunday school held in the church. I was greatly gratified with seeing this school on one of the Sundays of my stay there. There were forty learners, and the teachers were Captain Haig, Mr. Rhynd, a young European on the works, Razu, who had a woman’s class, and two others.”

ent aid.

The following extracts from Mr. Gray’s report relate to the Kois :—

The Kois lie very sparsely scattered over a large area, and it would, I believe, be impossible to do any thing more than conjecture the actual number of them. I was told in Dumagudem that they are to be found from twenty or twenty-five miles inland on both sides of the river, all along downwards from about forty miles above Siroircha to about twenty-five miles above Rajahmundry ; that is, in fact, that they are to be found all through the civil Godavery district of the Central Provinces on the left bank, and through an equal strip of territory on the right (or Nizam’s) bank of the river. They lie within an area of perhaps 120 by 40 miles.

ginal tribe.

Already, I am glad to say, four villages have been in a manner taken possession of, by the establishment of schools in them. In one of them I found twenty-seven Koi boys, and I confess I was astonished at the progress the boys had made during the nine months of the establishment of the school. In a second I found the schoolmaster teaching his boys under a shady tamarind-tree, the school-room (which the Kois are helping to build) being not yet completed. There were thirteen pupils, the two first in the class being actually men who had imbibed a strong desire for learning, and, with this view, had been let off from their work by their relatives. They were all learning to read. They repeated the Lord’s Prayer and the ten commandments in Telugu, and wrote words very nicely in the sand.

Our work should be, I think, to search out this neglected people little by little, village by village ; to do this jungle work as much as possible by natives accustomed to the climate ; and to make the Kois gradually, as God will permit, their own teachers. I think that this Mission presents a large and most interesting field to the Society ; but only in so far as it is regarded as a Mission in quest of that scattered people ; and so far we have every encouragement to go on. Providential circumstances have marked the history of the Mission, so far as it has gone. It has enjoyed the frequent prayers of the pious men who have commended it so strongly to the Society's notice. A pioneer (Razu) has been raised up for the way, the very man we should have chosen for it, if we had ourselves the choosing of him. Let us hope in God that we shall be able to go on, working and praying, until another aboriginal tribe shall have been raised up in Central India to show forth the praises of Jehovah.

THE following statement occurs in the annual review of the Mission by the Southern Conference of Missionaries :—

The number of communicants, though larger at some stations and smaller at others, than last year, remains on the whole about the same, and their conduct as a body is satisfactory, and there is reason to hope that they are gradually making progress in spiritual life. Similar hopes may reasonably be entertained respecting the whole body of our native Christians, both communicants and non-communicants; and one very cheering indication of their advance in Christian character, and in a right apprehension of their duties and responsibilities, is to be found in their increased liberality. The free contributions received from our native Christians for religious and charitable purposes during the past year have been larger than in any previous year, amounting in all to the sum of 283*l*. Native liberality.

COLOMBO.

During the year 1864 the two branches of the Mission in the Tamil and Singalese languages have been conducted by Mr. Rowlands and Mr. Clowes respectively. They have divided the English services in the Mission Church, Galle, in which there are also Singhalese and Tamil services held every Sunday.

Of the Singhalese branch Mr. Clowes reports that there have been no special encouragements during the past year, and that the native congregation has been somewhat unsettled through the misconduct of a native teacher. The schools have been kept up as in former years. Mr. Clowes speaks with much satisfaction of the liberality of the English congregation at the Mission Church.

During the last two years the European congregation at Christ Church has undergone considerable change, arising from an almost simultaneous removal of many of the older residents of Colombo, including some of the original and constant attendants at the Mission church. Nevertheless, the amount raised for the Mission in connexion with the chapel exceeds 400*l*., which is at least a proof that persons on the spot appreciate the work of the Society. Independent help.

The Rev. W. E. Rowlands has charge of the Tamil branch of the Colombo Mission. He thus describes a new opening for addressing the people:—

We preach regularly every week in six of the most important coffee stores, which furnish us altogether with a Hindu and Mohammedan audience of about 175 men and 1350 women, to scarcely any of whom should we be able to make known the Gospel if this opportunity were not afforded us. Very shortly, too, we shall (D.V.) be able to take up three more large stores, which will increase the number of hearers by at least 90 men and 600 women. As the men are paid by the day, the manager, in almost every case, kindly gives us a quarter of an hour for speaking to them all together upon their return from dinner ; but as the women do piece-work, we generally go round the verandahs of the store and speak to them while they are picking the coffee. Many of the Mohammedan women are most unsparing in their abuse, but “a soft answer generally turneth away their wrath.”

Writing at a later date Mr. Rowlands notices :—

of native

Preaching in the streets and in coffee stores has formed a very important item in the work of the catechists and myself during the whole year ; and I am more than ever convinced that the value and importance of these two means for making known the Gospel in Colombo cannot be overrated. The catechists, too, in most cases, evidently realize this, and I have been very thankful to see with what patience, tact, ability, and zeal they have performed this part of their duties. Early in the year it seemed as though the street preaching were creating a sensation among the Hindus, for I was told upon good authority that the chief priest of Siva's temple had manifested considerable alarm at so frequent and open a proclamation of Christian truth, and, contrary to the rules of Hinduism, had begun to hold special preachings himself.

I believe that our work amongst the heathen during the past year has not been without its effects. They have not, it is true, been manifested by numerous accessions to Christianity from the ranks of heathenism, nor even by the awakening of a very decided spirit of inquiry, but rather, both among Hindus and Mohammedans, by what, if I remember rightly, Mr. Boyd (in his pamphlet on Missions, published some time ago) describes as “a suspicion that possibly Christianity may be true and their own religion false.” If we are right in coming to this conclusion, we may certainly say that we have advanced a great step, and may “thank God and take courage.” The tide of heathenism and of Mohammedanism in Colombo is a very strong one, and if only we who are the messengers of Christ have been enabled in any degree to stem it, we have abundant cause to acknowledge that the hand of the Lord has been with us, and to rejoice in the remembrance that He who is with us is more than they all that be against us.

COTTA DISTRICT.

The Cotta district is divided between the Rev. E. Higgins and the native Missionary, the Rev. C. Jayesinha. In that part which is more especially under Mr. Higgins' own care he is assisted by another native minister, the Rev. J. A. De Livera. Mr. Higgins has pursued the course described in the last Annual Report of reducing the number of nominal members of the Church by a registration of those only who have cast off all Buddhist rites, of which the Missionary Conference expresses its approval in these terms :—

In the Cotta and Talangama districts, a large reduction has been made in the number of members attached to the congregations; but as those who have been struck off the lists of registered members were merely nominal adherents, of whose sincerity no certainty could be felt, the reduction will, we trust, prove a source of strength instead of weakness, and the native Christians who remain, having thus been freed from the deadening influence of false professors, will become bright lights in the midst of the heathen darkness which surrounds them.

Mr. Higgins has been ably and zealously assisted by the two native ministers, who relieve him of a great part of the original "Cotta" district. He states that there are at present thirty congregations in different villages, to which are attached in all upwards of 1000 adult nominal adherents, who call themselves Christians, occasionally attend the services held in the churches, and who wish to be regarded as suitable recipients of Christian rites. Of this number, however, only 342 are registered members, and 219 are communicants.

Education.

The Missionary Conference took this general review of the chief branches of education:—

In our English educational establishment, the Cotta Institution, under the Rev. R. B. Tonge, there have been many trials and difficulties experienced, arising chiefly from the necessary changes in the system of management which have been introduced, but there is every reason to hope that a foundation has been laid for future progress, and that the Institution will, by God's help, continue to be the means of imparting much spiritual blessing to the young men educated in it. Our vernacular schools have been carried on as usual, and have, on the whole, given satisfaction. With our present teachers it is almost impossible to effect much improvement in the system of education, but we trust that when we are supplied with trained men from the new Institution at Baddagama, a great improvement may be looked for in our boys' schools. Meanwhile, we are thankful to know, that although the secular instruction is at present at rather a low ebb, the religious instruction, as far as it goes, is clear and sound; and we may therefore trust that, by the blessing of God, the seed of His word will bring forth fruit to his glory.

II. Baddagama.

Baddagama, commenced, 1819; Bentotte, 1861.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. George Parsons (m) 1849.

Mr. Stephen Coles (m) 1860.

BADDAGAMA.

This district, comprising a portion of the sea-coast north of Galle is under the charge of the Rev. George Parsons, who is also principal of the Preparandi Institution. The number of registered members of the congregations is 272, and of the communicants 120. A few adults have been admitted during the year into the church by baptism. The pastoral work is carried on by five native catechists. Messrs. Parsons and Coles occasionally visit the neighbourhood and address the heathen.

In November 1864 the station was visited by the Bishop of Colombo, who confirmed twenty-four members of the church. "All these," writes Mr. Parsons, "I believe are in the habit of daily prayer, all are well versed in the Scriptures and in the 'Evidences of Christianity,' and they clearly understood the nature of the service in which they engaged."

The out-stations are Bentotte, at the distance of twenty-eight miles from Baddagama upon the sea-coast; Balapity Modara at sixteen miles distant; and Dodanduwa; at each of which a small congregation and school exist. Mr. Parsons writes:—

progress.

One general remark I may make respecting my whole district, and I have noticed the same in the Wesleyan Mission. Our Christian people are arousing themselves, and begin to feel that they are partners with us in the struggle between Christianity and Buddhism. The effect of this is to arrest the attention of the heathen more than all our preaching. Such evidences of sincerity on the part of the Christians surprise them as a new feature in Christianity; and this I think an indication of progress. I have a growing conviction that brighter days will ere long dawn on this lovely country; and that we must be prepared for much previous opposition between light and darkness.

At a later date than that on which the foregoing remarks were made, Mr. Parsons describes circumstances which strikingly illustrate the anticipated conflict between Buddhism and Christianity. He writes under the date February 12, 1865:—

and the Buddhists. A conversation held between my preparandi and the priests of the neighbourhood resulted in a challenge to the priests to come to a formal discussion. This challenge was accepted, and the 21st of November was fixed for the discussion. On that day we met: the Christians numbered about 100 and the Buddhists 500, with priests at their head. The day was spent in discussing preliminaries and arranging for a future day. Finally, the 8th of February was fixed for the controversy to commence. Good preparations were made by them, and our people thought it right to be well prepared also. I invited the Rev. D. De Silva, of the Wesleyan Mission, an able controversialist, well versed in Pali, and skilled in bringing forth from their own Pali books weighty arguments against Buddhism. Mr. De Silva most kindly undertook to come down, bringing with him such Pali books as he thought necessary.

Public
versy with Buddhists.

The controversy commenced on the 8th and lasted till the 13th. We met every day except Sunday from one o'clock till about six. Our side numbered about 150 Christians, including some of our Wesleyan neighbours, who gladly joined us. On their side were over fifty priests and more than 1000 Buddhists. In this vast assembly were the fathers and brothers of many of our Christian people. Among their priests they had the great controversialists, one of whom had been brought from Colombo. Our expectations were therefore fully realized, and the controversy at once became a general struggle between Christianity and Buddhism, in which the whole of the Singhalese race must feel interested, and not confined merely to the Baddagama district. It was arranged that five papers should be read by each party, each paper containing a number of questions or charges against the religion of its opponent. We allowed them to bring forward the first paper. This contained charges of inconsistency in the statements of the Bible with reference to the attributes of Jehovah. This was answered, and a similar attack made by us on Buddhism. They answered this in a very unsatisfactory way, and the battle was from that time in our favour. In their second charge they brought forward a large number of quotations from the Bible, endeavouring to prove that its statements are inconsistent and unworthy of credit. These were all answered, and the answers worked up by Mr. De Silva in a noble defence of the truth, the effect of which was withering to the Buddhist side. Our defence was read out on Saturday evening, and when we met on Monday they instantly proposed to carry on the controversy on a new plan, their aim being, without a doubt, to stop the controversy. The whole day was spent in resisting their endeavour, and in attesting the copies of our defence. The headman of the district, fearing a breach of the peace from the excited state in which the Buddhists had been since the reading of our second defence, had officially informed the Government. On Monday evening, therefore, our public controversy was abruptly ended by the appearance of two Government officials, who required of us to cease forthwith from publicly meeting together. Arrangements are therefore made for continuing the controversy by correspondence. I have great reason to be thankful to God for the whole. Much prayer has been offered up by our Christian people, and many plain indications of God's presence were seen and acknowledged. Our people have stood firm to a man, and are greatly encouraged. They took a deep interest in the whole. In some cases I feared they would overtax their strength.

Education.

The Preparandi Institute.

The Preparandi Institute for training native catechists and pastors has six students, who give much satisfaction. But a cause of anxiety is the future supply of suitable candidates. The Missionary Conference reports of this Institution:—

The conduct and diligence of the students give much satisfaction; and a still more hopeful indication of the benefits which the Institution is likely to confer upon the Mission is to be found in the behaviour of its first class of students, who were appointed catechists last year. All of these young men have shown earnestness and diligence in their work, and have given great satisfaction to the Missionaries under whom they were appointed to labour.

The Institution for Training Schoolmasters.

The Training Institution for Schoolmasters is under the charge of Mr. S. Coles, and contains sixteen students. It was opened February 1864, and gives much promise of success, but no students have yet gone forth from it.

III. Kandy.

Kandy commenced, 1818; Itinerating Mission in Kandian Districts, 1853; Tamil Cooly Mission, 1855.

European Mission Establishment :

Rev. William Oakley (m), 1835.

Rev. John Pickford (m), to South India, 1852; to Ceylon, 1863.

Rev. John Ireland Jones, B.A., (m), 1857: at home.

Rev. John Allcock, 1864.

KANDY.

The Mission in the town of Kandy is under the Rev. W. Oakley; the itineration of the Kandian district has been under the Rev. J. I. Jones; and the Tamil Cooly Mission under the Rev. J. Pickford.

Mr. Oakley reports of the native congregation in Kandy, and at two out-stations, Katukelle, and Gatambe, that there have been no events of particular interest. The communicants are fifty-nine. Ten schools are kept up at a cost of 199%, of which 132% has been met by local funds.

ITINERATING BRANCH OF THE KANDIAN DISTRICT.

Mr. Jones thus reports the state of the itinerancy in the Kandian districts:—

During the year the work has been carried on in the districts of Seven Korles, Four Korles, Upper Hewahette, Yatinuwara and Harispattua; and in all 12,000 persons have heard the tidings of salvation from myself and the catechists.

The superintendence of the whole itineration having devolved upon me, I found Kurnegalle inconvenient as a residence, as it is situated in one corner of my district. The congregation, too, in the town, had assumed a settled aspect, demanding more time and attention than an itinerating Missionary could devote to them. It was therefore determined that the suggestion made some time since should be carried out, and the town handed over to the Bishop, who undertook to place a clergyman there. This has been done, and I hope for the future to make Kandy my head-quarters, as it affords more facility than any other place in which my work is being carried on. The clergyman placed at Kurnegalle, Mr. Ellis, is well known to, and much respected by, our Missionaries.

The commencement of a remarkable movement at Talam-pitiya was described in the last Report. The movement still exhibits the same important features of self-extension and self-support. Mr. Jones thus reports upon it, Nov. 26, 1864:—

I am thankful to be able to report the admission to the Church by baptism of fourteen adults from Talampitiya and Hewadiwela; making, with those baptized last Christmas, twenty-seven in all. Inquiry seems to be spreading in the villages. Talampitiya, though called a village, is really a district as large as an extensive English country parish, and including no less than fourteen smaller villages. Our converts are gathered out of about ten of these, so that they are scattered over a large area; and as most, if not all of them seem zealous in making known the truth to others, we may hope that, under God, the leaven will soon work throughout the whole of Talampitiya. The Christians confidently hope for and expect this.

Missionary progress.

A most important movement, suggested by Hunapola, has commenced among the converts. Each, according to his ability, is setting apart a portion of his land, making it over to the Society, towards the maintenance of a teacher among themselves. The land already promised is worth at least 50%, and I have no doubt others will, in time, give sufficient for the support of a native pastor. May God hasten the day, if it be His will, when we shall see a holy devoted man ordained to take charge of these people, who, by their liberality, bear witness both to what the Holy Ghost has wrought in them, and to their desire to have spiritual manifestations provided for them. In addition to their gift of land, the Christians are subscribing for the purpose of building a small church in their village. Almost all are giving 10s. each; and those who are too poor to give money will give their quota in work. One man has given a valuable piece of land as a site for the church and little bungalow, which is to be erected close by, as a residence for the catechist or pastor, and for me when I am in the village.

Native
Missionary
zeal.

Another circumstance I regard as even more important and encouraging. Two of the men baptized in December 1863, Abraham and Paul, asked me to sanction their going out together to preach in the villages around. I replied I should be most thankful if they would do so, and that I doubted not God would give them souls for their hire. I said further, that though I could not give them any salary, I would willingly give them a small sum to meet expenses in travelling. All such help was declined. They said they needed nothing. They only wished to go with my permission, devoting to the work of preaching the Gospel to others the time they could spare from the cultivation of their fields.

THE TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

The Rev. J. Pickford, transferred from the Tinnevelly Mission, has had charge of the Tamil Cooly Mission. At the close of 1864 the native Christians numbered about 1000, scattered among the various estates: 114 were communicants, and eighty-seven candidates for the Lord's Supper. Sixteen adults were baptized in the course of the year. Fourteen catechists are employed in the Cooly Mission, who are wholly supported by the proprietors of the estates. The average number of those who hear the Gospel during each month is about 16,000. Mr. Pickford, in his annual letter at the close of the year, reports an encouraging circumstance:—

religious books to the heathen.

There has been a very hopeful movement made in the latter half of this year, in the sale of the vernacular Scriptures and useful educational books. In my visits to the Kandy bazaar I noticed the ability and readiness of the people to purchase books. With the permission of the superintendent of the police, I stationed a Colporteur in the most crowded street, with a table well covered with books, Tamil and Singhalese Scriptures, tracts, and elementary school-books. In the course of six months the sales realized an amount of 32l. 19s. 10d.

IV. Jaffna District.

Nellore commenced, 1818; Chundicully, 1842; Copay, 1847.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Charles Chapman M'Arthur (m), 1858.

Rev. Henry Dixon Buswell (m), 1862.

In April 1864 Mr. Pargiter was compelled, by the failure of his health, to return to England. Upon his departure Mr. McArthur took the superintendence of Chundicully, as well as Nellore.

Mr. McArthur reports:—

Since the departure of Mr. Pargiter, in April last, my time has been about equally divided between Nellore and Chundicully. From the statistics you will see a gradual increase in every department of the work. Forty have been baptized during the year, which is a considerable increase on former years, and a great cause for gratitude to God on the part of all who have in any way helped to bring about such a result.

Our Sunday services have been increasingly interesting during the year, and the congregations have been more zealous and more regular. The catechists and readers have laboured most zealously in Bible classes, in visitation from house to house, in bungalow and moonlight meetings, and in day and Sunday schools. Mrs. McArthur's prayer-meeting with the women has been well attended, as well as the monthly Missionary meeting and the monthly meeting preparatory to the communion. Prayer-meetings are conducted by an aged Christian of the name of Philip, who has been very useful in bringing the Christians together for mutual edification from week to week. In April last we had our annual sale of ingathering for the Native Pastorate Fund, at which we raised about 6*l.* or 7*l.*

Perhaps the most interesting and important branch of our work is that carried on by the Bible women: we have now three Native Bible women engaged in the Nellore district, one of them at Kaycolla, one at Tiruelvelly, and one at Kondaville. The importance of their work cannot be over-estimated. It was a kind of agency long wanted. In a country like this it is perfectly impossible for our catechists to see or instruct the females; in fact, we forbid them to enter into any compound, unless the husband or male friends are at home; but the Bible women have free access to every house, and they are welcomed by males and females. Hitherto, when we had converts from among the males, the wife was sure to be a drag upon her husband, drawing him back to heathenism; but now this difficulty is removed by the labours of the Bible women, who see the females, and give them instruction. It was the same if we had converts in our boys' schools: we had no Christian girls to whom to marry them; and the consequence has been that they have either married Romanists or heathen, and in this way they have been lost to the Mission. Now, thank God, through the establishment of girls' schools in all our villages, and Bible women to teach the grown up females, we shall no longer have these two difficulties to contend with. At Nellore alone Mrs. McArthur has nearly 300 girls in the schools under her charge, and these girls, when they grow up, must do good. In the female boarding school there are fifty girls at present: of these there are sixteen communicants and only eight heathen. This school is a great comfort to us. One of the Bible women is supported by the Nellore congregation, and one by a native teacher in the English school for his own village, and the third by local funds. One effect of this new agency is this, that it has drawn out the liberality of our people more than any thing else. The journals of these women are read every month at the monthly Missionary meeting, and by this means the interest of the supporters is sustained.

Independent help. Mrs. McArthur records many instances of assistance rendered to the Mission by independent Christian friends. At Chundicully the District Judge, Mr. Pole, has given very valuable help in the Sunday school. Mr. McArthur also notices in his journal:—

Last Friday, when we were going to Nellore to the Missionary Society meeting, we met a gentleman engaged with his Coolies, but we thought nothing about it. In an hour or two after our return he sent us an order for 600 rupees (60*l*.) And the same day a lady called and offered to support a girls' school at her own expense. I mention these things to show you, that even in Jaffna we are not altogether without friends. We praised the Lord who had dealt so bountifully with us.

COPAY.

The Rev. H. D. Buswell is assisted by the native minister, the Rev. J. P. Hensman, ordained in September 1863. The pastoral charge of the congregation at Copay, and of the villages of the district, chiefly rests with the native pastor, by which arrangement Mr. Buswell is able to devote himself more entirely to Missionary work beyond the district and to the superintendence of the Institution for Training Native Agents. Of the congregation at Copay Mr. Buswell writes hopefully. Soon after his arrival in the Mission he introduced Bible classes among the heathen as well as among the Christians: these are generally conducted by the native minister on account of his superior command of language. Mr. Buswell, therefore, has forwarded Mr. Hensman's report of this part of the work, confirming its statements and pointing out the great promise it already contains of future usefulness.

The work among the heathen in the several villages is effected by visits, meetings, and classes. We visit them from house to house during the day, and hold meetings in the evenings, proclaiming to them the glad tidings of salvation. Though, here and there, we meet with opposition, yet upon the whole we are well received. The people are generally indifferent to their future welfare, their minds being burdened with the cares of this world. However, the heathenish superstitions and idolatrous habits are gradually given up, and the knowledge of the Gospel takes possession of their hearts. We held, during the year, in addition to our several services in the station church and bungalow, an aggregate of 150 such village meetings, and preached to about 6000 people. The meetings were mostly interesting, and the audience attentive. There are in this district six Bible classes which have been made up of those adults who showed some inclination to receive instruction during our visits and meetings. We have made these Bible classes the most prominent centres of our work, being the most encouraging and fruitful. We had to commence this year with twenty-four only, which has now increased to forty-five, though a few who originally joined these classes have left them: these are taught in the truths of the Gospel systematically, and thus these truths are brought to bear upon their consciences, and, through God's blessing, some of them have not only given up entirely the worship of idols, rubbing of ashes, attending festivals and such like heathenish practices, but look to the Cross as their only means of being saved. One man, who has been given up to gambling, drunkenness, and the like, and who, once an inveterate enemy to the Gospel by open opposition in preventing his neighbours and others from attending a Bible meeting held by the Missionaries some months ago, is now, as we believe, made a new creature, and sits at the feet of Jesus, willing to be taught, like Mary. Though his friends and his own household greatly oppose and ridicule him, yet he is strong in Christ. I have publicly avowed him on the returns together with others. He, being not satisfied of his own salvation only, is anxious for his wife, children, and his old mother. He pleads with them continually that they may also follow the same Jesus whom he has found out for the benefit of his soul. Of the number of persons that received instruction in these classes, nine have made an open profession of their faith during the year, and fourteen others are ready to do so shortly. It is our earnest and constant prayer that the others also may be made to feel their depravity, and thereby led to see the preciousness of Jesus as their Mediator.

Ministry.

Independent help.

Mr. Buswell has the superintendence of the Patchelapalle district, in which a promising work had been commenced among the labourers in the plantations, and where two young catechists had been located. But Mr. Buswell fears that the district requires more supervision than he is able to give, as it appears that the work has hitherto been fostered and watched over by a zealous Christian planter, R. W. Davidson, Esq., lately removed by death. "His pecuniary aid was considerable, but his Christian influence was greater."

Education.

Mr. Buswell thus reports upon the Institution :—

I trust, with God's blessing upon our labours in the Training Institution, that our great deficiency in competent teachers will be soon remedied. Some of the youths now under instruction give great promise of usefulness. There are two classes: the first contains seven students, the second ten. It is now nearly eighteen months since the Institution was opened, and although some of the boys have made rapid progress in their studies, it will be hardly advisable to give them Mission employment until they have had two years' further training. The conduct of the students on the whole has given satisfaction, and we are thankful to believe that a healthy tone of piety exists among them. I took the first-class youths with me on a recent tour to the adjacent islands, and although they had nothing to do but read and sell portions of Scripture, I had some very favourable opportunities for judging of their qualifications for work.

MAURITIUS, MADAGASCAR, AND EAST-AFRICA MISSIONS.

It was announced in the last Report that Mauritius would be regarded as the basis of the Missions in Madagascar and in East Africa, and that the Rev. P. S. Royston would act as Secretary for these three Missions while residing as an island clergyman in the Mauritius. Mr. Royston has from time to time furnished valuable information to the Committee, and has encouraged, by his experience, the younger Missionary labourers.

Mauritius Mission.

(Commenced in 1856.)

Division of the Mission: 1. Tamil-speaking Coolies; 2. Bengali or Hindustani-speaking Coolies.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Stephen Hobbs (m), to South India, 1839; to Mauritius, 1856.

Rev. Paul Ansorgé (m), to Bengal, 1845; to Mauritius, 1857.

Rev. Peter Sorenson Royston, M.A. (m), to South India, 1855; to Mauritius, 1864, Secretary of the Mission.

MAURITIUS.

The annual report of the Mauritius Church Missionary Association observes:—

The importance of the Mauritius Mission is evident from the fact that the total number of Indians in the island at the end of the year amounted to 230,791, forming nearly three-quarters of the whole resident population; and also that of these the number of labourers who have not fulfilled their term of engagements is below 30,000. This fact, with others, tends to show that the Indian element is becoming fixed and localized in Mauritius. And thus, while our permanent social state (whether better or worse) is becoming more and more dependent on the condition of the Indians, the facilities for their improvement are also happily increased, through the medium of the Creole patois, which they so easily acquire. And so also, both for the local clergy and Christian residents in general, the opportunities and obligations of increased individual effort become proportionately augmented.

The past year has been a period of more than usual interest in connexion with the work of the Church Missionary Society in this diocese. Not only have the efforts of previous years among the Indian population of Mauritius become more consolidated and promising, but new operations in Madagascar and East Africa have been commenced with this island for their basis. The Committee feel that the annual review of the work is one which, with much cause for humiliation, also calls upon the friends of Christian Missions to thank God and take courage.

It is a cause of gratitude to Him, whose is the silver and the gold, that there has been an increase in its financial receipts from 91*l.* 5*s.* 1*d.* to 116*l.* 3*s.* 8½*d.*, irrespective of the Educational Grants-in-Aid. But, as it was observed in the last report, the Society is indebted to the Christian liberality of its local friends to a far greater extent than its contribution list would indicate.

The Mission Church of St. Paul, Plaine Verte, intended for Bengali and Hindustani converts, has been completed at a cost of 3496*l.* 14*s.* 4*d.*, without help from the Society, and was solemnly dedicated to the worship of Almighty God on the 27th August.

The Rev. P. S. Royston gives the following interesting account of the consecration :—

influence of Mauritius
Mission.

It was very interesting to notice the different nations represented in that assembly—English, French, Creole, Eurasian, African, Bengali, Madrassee, Malagasy, and Chinese! I suppose such a mixed population could hardly be met with elsewhere. And it is one which exhibits the diffusive tendency of Missionary operations in this small but important island. The way in which divine service was conducted was consistent with the occasion—the opening of “a house of prayer for all nations.” The commencing Consecration Service was in English; the Morning Prayer, Psalms, &c., in Bengali; the Venite, Jubilate, and Hymns, in Hindustani; one Lesson in Tamil, the other in Bengali; the sermon, part in English, part in French, with a Bengali translation of the greater part; while the elements of the Holy Communion were administered in all the languages according to the vernacular of the recipients, who were fifty-seven in number. And the excellent practical address of the Bishop, from Isaiah lvi. 7, was further calculated to impress upon the mind the joyfulness of such a service.

Bengali Branch.

The Rev. P. Ansorgé, who superintends the Bengali Mission, was compelled, by the failure of his health, to visit Europe with his wife. During his absence the care of the Asylum was made over, by the authorities, to the Rev. D. Franklyn, a Missionary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel; and the exemplary and long-tried native catechist, Charles Kooshallee, was admitted to deacons' orders, and has kept up the ministrations of the native congregation with much zeal and efficiency. The congregation at St. Paul's Church varies from seventy-five to eighty-five; but on Christmas-day it amounted to 159 persons in addition to forty-two orphans. During the past year there have been forty-eight baptisms in this branch of the Mission. There are six native teachers, of whom four are supported by the local association.

The Tamil Branch.

The Tamil branch of the Mission continues under the care of the Rev. S. Hobbs, who states that the number of Tamil Indians on the sugar estates is becoming gradually less than that of the Calcutta and Bombay immigrants; but that many more of that nation leave their employers to engage in work on their own account. On this subject he writes:—

If the field of labour offered by the camps on the sugar-estates has become somewhat narrower, that offered by the shops on the road-side has certainly become more extensive in proportion, and in many respects more encouraging. The greater number of them are kept by Tamil people. Some few of these have been employed on estates, but most of them have immigrated at their own expense, chiefly from Tranquebar. As a class, therefore, they are more or less educated, and stand in a comparatively respectable position. In some instances I find them disinclined to converse, or determined to turn the conversation into a perverse disputation; but these are very decidedly the exceptions to the rule.

In his annual letter Mr. Hobbs thus refers to his lengthened service in the Mission field, and to the progress of the Mission now under his charge.

The return of the season for preparing my annual letter awakens this time unusually solemn reflections, reminding me that I have been permitted during the past year to complete the twenty-fifth of my Missionary life. Eight of these have been passed in this island, whither I came with great uncertainty whether I should be able to remain many months, or even weeks. By the Lord's mercy my shattered health was soon restored, and to this day my strength has continued, without intermission, equal to the duties committed to me. My best days are, doubtless, gone by, but an increase of experience perhaps compensates for a decrease of physical energy and vigour. The total number of baptisms on my register is eighty, making the average ten per annum, and ten is the number baptized during the year now ended. Seven of them were adults and three children. Of course my register contains only those baptized by myself. The average would be considerably augmented by the addition of those of my catechumens, who have been admitted by other Missionaries at different times. In my own neighbourhood the desired success is still withheld. My catechist, Gnanamuttu, and I, often visit the cottages scattered all around, separately or together, and rarely fail to find little parties gladly disposed to listen to us as long as we think proper to continue our discourse ; but we cannot prevail upon them to attend the public service, nor to declare themselves in favour of the Christian religion.

Of schools I have no better account to give than formerly. Every new attempt fails, and the old improve but very slowly, if at all. The superintendent of Government schools is establishing vernacular schools for the Indians, and succeeding well. All the good teachers go to him, as the salaries are high. He is a true friend to the Missionary cause, and encourages our visits to those schools to watch their progress. This renders our efforts in that department less urgent.

Rev. Thomas Campbell, 1863.

Rev. Herbert Maundrell, 1863.

It was stated in the last Report that Messrs. Campbell and Maundrell arrived in the Mauritius while the Bishop was absent on a visit to England, and that they were applying themselves diligently to the study of the language, and to Mission work among the many Malagasy who are found in that island. After the Bishop's return to the Mauritius he wrote:—

Their residence here has been well employed, in preparation for their work. They are well reported of on all sides, and I am much pleased at the manner in which they have made opportunities for Malagasy Missionary work here. The Malagasy are delighted with their intelligible conversation, and one of the best of the native Christians is very anxious to go with them.

After acquiring a competent knowledge of the language, and being admitted to priests' orders, Messrs. Campbell and Maundrell, sailed for Vohemare, a north-eastern district of Madagascar, on the 3rd of July. Owing to stress of weather they were driven past their destination as far as the Comoro Islands, and were only able to reach Vohemare by returning to Mauritius via the Seychelles. After many hindrances, which were, however, turned to good account, they finally landed at their destination on the 9th of November, and have since forwarded hopeful accounts of their reception and progress.

The Rev. H. Maundrell, in a letter dated Vohemare, Nov. 15th, announced the safe arrival of himself and the Rev. T. Campbell at their destination in Madagascar. He writes:—

Mr. Campbell gave the Governor our two letters of introduction from Mr. Lemein, the Malagasy Consul at Mauritius, and his Lordship the Bishop of Mauritius. Mr. Campbell and I had translated his lordship's into Malagasy. With the help, therefore, of Charles le Bon, all things were made plain to the Governor. He appeared very glad to see us; so also did his wife, who was sitting at his side from first to last. He said that he had heard from Tamatave, and from the capital, our coming, and had awaited our arrival month after month. He and his wife, with two or three more, are the only baptized Christians here. Oh, what a mercy to have them! In alluding to the work of the Missionaries in Madagascar, the Governor said that, as the sun dispels the darkness, and sheds light and comfort upon the earth, so the light of Christianity was beginning to shine amidst the darkness of his own country. He alluded also to the times of persecution, and showed us a Bible which he had buried beneath the sand in those times, and repeated the passage of Scripture that gave him and his fellow Christians comfort when forsaken by all his friends— viz. Matt. xii. 49, 50, 'Behold my mother and my brethren! For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother.' On the following Sunday we had scarcely finished breakfast, when the Governor's private Secretary (a Christian) came on board with a message from him to this effect—"The Governor says the Lord's-day has now come, and he wishes you two white men to come and join with him in singing and prayer." We at once accompanied the messenger to the Governor's house. He was reading the Bible when we arrived, and his wife seated at his side. After a little general conversation, he alluded to the meetings for prayer, &c., which he used to enjoy in Mr. Freeman's time, and expressed a wish that all of us should now join in like manner in singing the praises of the Lord.

Rev. John Rebmann (m), 1846.

Rev. James Taylor, 1864.

Death of a promising
Missionary

Mr. James Taylor's destination to East Africa, and his departure for the Mauritius, were mentioned in the last Report. After visiting the East-Africa Mission, and spending a short time at the station, he set off, as it had been arranged, to return to the Mauritius to receive priests' orders, and to meet a lady to whom he was engaged in marriage. But, in the mysterious providence of God, this promising young Missionary was, by accounts just received, cut down by a sun stroke a few hours before his arrival at Zanzibar. He was most kindly received into the house of Colonel Playfair, the British Consul, where he had the best medical treatment; but he sank into the arms of death. Mr. Rebmann is again, therefore, left as a solitary labourer at this long-isolated Missionary station. His position is, however, in one respect, changed; a Missionary station having been established in his neighbourhood by a section of the Methodist body in England, and his station having been visited by Bishop Tozer, of the Central-Africa Mission. Mr. Rebmann thus refers to these circumstances in a letter dated Mombas, September 1st, 1864.

We are now entering on a new epoch in the Missionary history of East Africa. For eighteen years the Church Missionary Society had been left alone to occupy its vast regions from Abyssinia down to Mozambique, until, two years ago, Dr. Krapf, who, at Christmas 1843, with his devoted and heroic wife, had been the first, as they sailed along the northern and more inhospitable Somali coast, to lift up their hearts and hands in the prayer that Christmas-day might soon dawn upon its benighted inhabitants, was now again the first who introduced other labourers. And others, again, are just now advancing, or rather have already arrived in the long-neglected field. Our period of solitude has passed away, and East Africa is being visited, not only by the common Missionary, but by a Missionary Bishop. Strange things indeed do we now see, and we are fast being drawn into the mighty stream of intercourse which, ocean like, is now running round the world. The signs of the times for East Africa are multiplying, and call upon us to "run a race." You started first; you are still in the front, and you also have already obtained the first-fruits, in immortal souls, as a prize. The mountain that had stood before us, seeming insurmountable has indeed become a plain. Moslem exclusiveness could not stand against the spring tide of European discovery; and heathen cattle-pride has been humbled to the dust by the Masai, whom the Lord has ordained at present for judgment and correction; a nation, like the Chaldeans of old, bitter and hasty, terrible and dreadful. Our danger, during this darkest period of the East-African Mission, lay in discouragement: we cried, with the prophet of old, "O Lord, how long?" Like him, my position for a time became that occupied in a lonely watch-tower. You directed me (in a letter by the late Secretary, Mr. Chapman) to "watch and see what the Lord will say," waiting till the indignation be overpast. "Take heart," he said, "dear brother; strive to see through the dark cloud, and see if there be not a beam of sunshine ready to break through. At all events, the Sun of Righteousness is behind the gloom." And so it was, He dawned upon the souls of our Wanika, and shed light also on the path we were to go, and the course we were to steer. We were alone in passing through this dark valley; but now, as we enter on a clear and open plain, we find ourselves joined by companions; we are cheered and encouraged, but new dangers will beset our path.

patience
under-
trials.

Let us, then, run the race that is set before us; let our emulation be in the patient continuance of our work, and in building on the foundation that is laid with the abiding materials of gold, silver, and precious stones. Especially would I ask the Committee to keep to the course in which the providence of God has placed us, no longer casting side looks to some other part of the coast as possibly more eligible for head-quarters, from which the Gospel light might be brought to shine more effectually and more extensively on inland heathen nations. It is true the most frequented, and, for the present it may be said, the most important high road into the interior is that opposite to the island of Zanzibar; but, my dear Sir, the position occupied by us must not be undervalued. Mombas, with a harbour which, by English seamen, has been called a splendid one, is not only a port next in importance to that of Zanzibar, but, situated as it is within the coast line of the continent, affords greater facilities for direct intercourse with the heathen and having, till now, less of commerce in our quarters, we have also less of thorns choking the good seed. Moreover, being opposite to the Victoria N'yanza, and with its two noble arms from the sea pointing to the most interesting, most remarkable, and, through three snow-crowned kings of mountains, now the most distinguished portion of Africa—with caravan routes, not insignificant, leading to the yet mysterious territory of the source of the Nile—Mombas, poor and degraded though it be at present, may still have an important and even glorious destiny.

My long-expected fellow-labourer (Mr. Taylor) came at last quite suddenly upon us. It was only on the 5th of July that we had received the first certain notice of his coming, in a note from Colonel Playfair.

native
Christi-

Our little band of Christians every now and then affords some pleasing evidences of earnestness in their profession. They are not backward to let me know of any thing that may be wrong among them. I have also pleasing instances of their readiness to apply the word of God to particular cases, and of their understanding what another is reading, notwithstanding the imperfect translation. Of some I have also had personal opportunities of knowing that they are in the habit of private prayer. For their further growth in knowledge and in grace it will be necessary that further portions of the Holy Scriptures, in a good and really intelligible translation, be made available for them. And it is to this work I wish to give myself, as soon as I shall be able to deliver the charge of at least the outside duties of the station into the hands of my younger brethren. A number larger than those already baptized may be admitted to the holy rite, as soon as we shall think proper.

In the report of the Bombay Mission mention was made of the return to East Africa of a company of liberated Africans from the East Coast, who had been instructed in Bombay, and trained in useful arts. Mr. Taylor, in a letter dated February 20, 1865, thus refers to their arrival:—

slaves returning as Evangelists.

One of the principal events of the year has been the return to this land of six Africans, originally slaves, but liberated and trained at Bombay. They are two married couples, and two girls for two of the Christian young men. It is a sad fact that we have only one female convert here, and she is the wife of Mr. Rebmann's housekeeper at Mombas. These Africans who have come have done so with a simple desire to benefit their countrymen. The late lamented Mr. Isenberg had the choosing of them, and he wished to send only those in whose hearts he thought the work of grace had at least commenced. With God's blessing they will be a great advantage to the station. One is a smith, the other a carpenter, and a mason is shortly to follow. Mr. Rebmann is greatly rejoiced to receive them. He feels that this is of itself an ample reward for all his labours. The Mohammedans of Mombas are astonished. They have before said that the poor Wanika converts were becoming better men (i.e. superior) than themselves. Now they meet Africans who speak English and Hindostani, in addition to their own language.

THE China Mission has been deprived of the benefit of its zealous friend, advocate, and spiritual ruler, Bishop Smith, who has been compelled by the state of his health to resign the bishopric and to return home. The Committee gratefully record their sense of the many benefits which their Missionaries have enjoyed through the Bishop's sympathy and superintendence.

The Committee have been enabled to send out two additional Missionaries in the course of the year ; but they regret to add that two Missionaries have retired from the field, the Rev. T. Stringer having accepted a Government chaplaincy, and Mr. John Fryer having closed his connexion. Three of the Missionaries are also at home on account of their health, so that the Mission is greatly crippled for want of European labourers.

HONG KONG.

The Missionary operations of the Society in Hong Kong were carried on during 1864, by the Rev. Thomas Stringer, assisted by the native deacon, the Rev. Lo-sam-yuen. Upon the departure of Bishop Smith from China Mr. Stringer removed to St. Paul's College, to superintend that institution. In his annual letter he writes :—

During the year twenty-three young converts have been admitted to baptism, all of whom, with one exception, are pupils in one or other of our Missionary schools. But notwithstanding the accession of so many neophytes, the number of baptized members of our native congregation is less than last year, owing to the fact that many are every year leaving Hong Kong for other parts of China.

Throughout the year we have held a Sunday-evening service in Chinese in our chapel. At this service the Rev. Lo-sam-yuen always preaches. The attendance, not counting the college students, averages from fifteen to twenty. On Wednesday evening a prayer-meeting or lecture takes place in the large dining-room.

Efficiency
of Native
Preacher.

We have continued regular preaching in the streets, and visited the larger villages at stated periods, but our most encouraging work is decidedly in the city. My dear native brother is a great comfort to me. He preaches well, and appears to be very acceptable to his countrymen.

FUH-CHAU.

The Committee have been enabled to strengthen the Mission at Fuh-chau by the addition of another Missionary from home, the Rev. A. W. Cribb, who arrived early in November 1864. Mr. Wolfe sustained the Mission alone till Mr. Cribb's arrival. In the early part of the year a violent outbreak of popular fury arose from circumstances connected with the operations of another Missionary Society, which, however, was promptly repressed by the city authorities, and eventually tended rather to the advantage of the Missionary cause. For a time, however, the emeute had a threatening appearance. Mr. Wolfe was at the time at Hong Kong for the recovery of his health. The only European upon the Society's Mission property was the Missionary of another Society, to whom one of the houses had been lent. The rioters destroyed several chapels and schools belonging to different Missions, and the chapel of this Society in South Street. They destroyed, also, the Mission library, and all the furniture in the house occupied by Mr. Martin. The Mandarins, however, made full compensation for all damages done, and Mr. Wolfe was thereby enabled to build up the chapel, schools, and helpers' houses in a more substantial manner than before. Mr. Wolfe thus describes the advantage which has accrued to the Mission cause:—

The late riots have done good. They have brought Christianity more under the notice and observation of the rulers and people. They have increased the zeal and boldness of our Christians, and have drawn forth some literary men as our defenders. A book has been written and circulated, defending the Missionaries, and ridiculing the pretensions of the literary class. The author has not put his name to it, so nobody knows who the author is. It was left in one of the chapels. None of our Christians has written it. It bears the marks of one not very much acquainted with our doctrines; but, as far as it goes, it is a very good defence. We may call it, therefore, an "Apology for Christianity by a heathen." It is evidently the production of a scholar, and one who is well acquainted with the literature of China. He shows that the learning of the literati of China is a farce and an imposition; that it consists merely in putting characters together, making them harmonize so as to produce euphonious sounds to the ear, but which convey nothing but nonsense to the understanding; while the Missionaries' books and tracts, which they circulate, though they do not always preserve that euphony of the characters, convey food to the understanding and life to the soul. (He does not mean "life" in the Christian sense, but intellectual life.) These remarks are made in answer to an objection which he says literary men bring against the literary productions of the Missionaries. He then attacks the ancestral worship of tablets, and shows, by long quotations from their classics, the recent introduction of the tablet, and that Confucius, whom the literati worship, and whom they put forward as their great example in tablet worship, never knew any thing about it, for it was introduced after his time; and so he goes on. Of course it could not be expected from a heathen to treat of all the mysteries of our religion; in fact, the writer does not appear to know much about them. He confesses he had all his information from tracts distributed by the "English" (as he calls the Missionaries all through his book) at the door of the Examination Hall in the city, as he came out one day after his examination. This shows that Christianity is gaining ground, and making itself felt in this place, and nobody can doubt it but those who wish to shut their eyes to the truth. This is the second book which has been written by the heathen about Christianity. The other came out some months ago, and was an attack on Christianity, and was distributed in large numbers in South Street, and a copy left at each of our converts' houses. It was full of gross misrepresentations: nobody who knew any thing at all about our doctrines could credit a word of it, so it made no great impression on the people: it was too gross to be believed.

Heathen
testimony
to Christianity.

Later in the year Mr. Wolfe has reported several interesting cases of adult baptisms:—

Sept. 17th—I am sure the Committee will be glad to hear of an addition to the number of disciples here, however small; so that I wish to inform you, that on Sunday, the 4th inst., I admitted into the visible church of Christ, by baptism, two very interesting young Chinamen. My good and faithful catechist, Kin Taik ("Seeker of souls"), was the means of their conversion. On the occasion of the baptism the doors of the chapel were left open, and the heathen, who wished to witness the ceremony, were allowed to do so. I am thankful to say not one of them abused the privilege, and every one was as quiet as possible. The address was delivered by the catechist, Kin Taik, from Colossians ii. 12. He showed the nature of baptism, and the duty of all those who have put on Christ. It was a very excellent discourse, and showed that the preacher himself experienced that spiritual life of which the apostle speaks—that he had risen with Christ to a life of righteousness from a life of spiritual death. The two young men are respectable scholars, according to the scholarship of the country; and though they are not entitled to be ranked among the literary class, they are tolerably well acquainted with the Chinese classic characters. One of them speaks the court dialect as fluently as his native patois. This circumstance may be of use to the Mission in some future time, as there are in the city upwards of 12,000 persons of the same class with himself, and using the same dialect, who never yet had the Gospel preached to them. At present the young man is foreman in a commercial establishment in the city; but I fear that already the storm is rising, and that he will be compelled to resign his situation, as he will not work on the Sabbath, nor any longer be a party to the deceit and fraud inseparably connected with a Chinese mercantile house.

Promising converts. Jan. 11th, 1865—I have again to report the baptism of two adults, one of whom is a very clever man. He was formerly one of our most bitter opponents, and used to come to our chapel for the sole purpose of abusing the catechist and interrupting our service. Since his conversion he has grown rapidly in knowledge and in grace; and now he may be frequently seen in the streets surrounded by a crowd of people abusing him, and blaspheming that holy name by which he is called.

The infant church at Fuh-chau is not, however, without the trials inseparable from the Lord's work, in the occasional backsliding of hopeful converts, and the necessity of exercising strict discipline. Mr. Wolfe reports, however, further progress at the close of the year:—

Missionary progress. We have at length opened an out-station in the district city of Leing Kong, about forty miles from Fuh-chau. We have placed a catechist in charge of it, and intend ourselves, if possible, to visit it at least once a month. This young man has been in the preparandi class about a year. He has made satisfactory progress, and I have every reason to believe that he is being influenced by the Spirit of God. He takes charge of this new station with our prayers and our blessing. About eighteen months ago I visited this city, and spent a week there, and was enabled to see every place of importance in the city. It has a large population—I should say between 200,000 and 300,000—and the streets appear very busy. I am happy to say our chapel is in one of the most crowded streets. On the occasion of my visit I was very kindly received by the people generally, but especially by a native gentleman, who invited me to stay in his house, and treated me the whole time with the greatest kindness and civility. He took me about and introduced me to his friends in the city. A great deal of this arose, no doubt, from his curiosity to show me to his friends, but it was indulged without the slightest rudeness on his part, or unpleasantness on mine. I did not, however, accept his kind invitation to lodge in his house, but took up my quarters in a temple hard by, where I felt more at liberty to receive all who came to me, and distribute my books at discretion. The priests of this temple offered to let me have rooms in their monastery for preaching and teaching.

NINGPO.

The Missionary staff, which at the commencement of 1864 consisted only of the two brothers, the Rev. G. and A. Moule, was strengthened in May by the arrival of the Rev. J. D. Valentine. The year has been, on the whole, of a more cheering character than the previous one, though the infant Church, consisting of about 150 souls, has lost eight of its members by the ravages of the cholera. Sixteen adults have been admitted to baptism in Ningpo, and its out-stations. "Some of the young men preparing for evangelistic work," write the Missionaries, "who, in the early part of 1863, gave us such deep cause of sorrow, have been working well and steadily, on the whole, during 1864." "The catechists have done their work cheerfully and faithfully during the year, according to their ability, and they have a right to the credit of having stimulated us (Missionaries), and their fellow-Christians to two or three distinct extensions of the sphere of regular labour." "One sign of life, though it be but infant life at present, is the renting and furnishing a house for Divine service on the shores of the Eastern lakes, at the expense of the Ningpo and Tsông-g-yiao churches. A native is Secretary and Treasurer, and a native Committee consult together, referring matters of difficulty to the Missionary for advice."

Native
Missionary
zeal.

The native congregation, as in former years, has required the exercise of discipline, especially on account of violations of the Lord's-day. The catechist Bao, however, to whom allusion was made in the last Report, has renewed his attendance upon the means of grace, and has been received again into connexion with the Mission.

Sanatorium.

been erected in the hills near Ningpo. The Missionaries thus allude to the benefit which they have derived, and to the interesting Missionary results connected with it. "The little health station in the western hills, which the Society was kind enough to sanction, has, we believe, contributed not a little to preserve our health thus far. For the Sunday duty one of us went up to Ningpo, and we also had regularly morning and evening prayers, with sermons on Sundays in the shrine of a little convent which our Buddhist landlord willingly lent us for that purpose, and in which he was generally present, an attentive and respectful listener, and (outwardly) worshipper with us. One ought perhaps to have taken complete relaxation whilst there, but it was hard to do so when persons were willing to come Sunday after Sunday, and not seldom on the week days, several miles over the hills to listen and inquire." "As a result of our stay in the hills, and, we would fain trust, as a thanksgiving for the mercies of the past summer, we have stationed a man to act as evangelist and colporteur in his native valley, and in the hill districts lying round our Sanatorium. He speaks with hope and joy of the readiness of the people to hear the Gospel."

San-poh District.

Mr. G. Moule reports of the out-stations at San-poh :—

schools.

In San-poh I have had some encouragement in the willingness of a few of our neighbours there to pay (at least in the same sense that National-School children at home pay) for schooling. I was strongly urged by our leading Christians there, a year ago, to re-open the school at the Kwun-hæ-we station. My answer was, that it would be difficult for me to spare a suitable master ; but that if the persons interested should show a real appreciation of the boon by paying a small fee, and if, at the same time, the Christian community would make a contribution from the subscribed fund, I would do my best to meet their wishes. Fifteen boys (the maximum named by me) were at once entered at 100 cash per quarter, and the Church fund undertook to pay 4500 cash, more or less, (the rental of a piece of land bought by them two years ago as Church property,) a year, towards the expenses of the school. The boys during harvest season (from May till November, the harvest including wheat and barley, rice and cotton) have been very irregular in attendance, as the price of labour has been very high, and their earnings could be ill spared by the parents ; but I have received more than two-thirds of the price promised, and the Church has duly paid its subsidy.

The out-station of Tsong-gyiao has been under the charge of Mr. A. Moule, who has visited it frequently, and has carried on itineration throughout the populous neighbourhood. There is a resident catechist, and a few native Christians in Tsong-gyiao. The Rev. G. Moule writes :—

The number baptized at the Tsong-gyiao station by no means measures the amount of care bestowed upon that large town, and the populous district which is (attempted to be) worked in connexion with it. My brother, whose especial charge the Tsong-gyiao station is, has visited and itinerated in it very frequently, especially during the latter months of the year, and he has been assisted by two of the most efficient native helpers we can command at present.

The Rev. A. Moule writes :—

I have been making an attempt to follow, at a very great distance, the plan adopted in the Tinnevely Itinerancy. The districts round Tsong-gyiao are very thickly populated, and I am hoping to visit each place once every two months, if possible. I am, however, at present imperfectly acquainted with the number of places, and I am but feeling my way, having no good map. The district I am hoping to work extends some ten miles on each side of Tsong-gyiao, except on the S.E. side, where flows the river within one mile of our chapel, and in the N.W. direction, where the plain is bounded by the Saen-poh hills, distant some four miles from Tsong-gyiao : Z-ky'i, a Hyin city, is the Western limit. This city, before the Taeping invasion, was a beautiful, rich, and proud city, with some 30,000 inhabitants. It is now slowly rising from dust and ruin, and may contain half that number. There are besides, in this district, five towns of from 8000 to 10,000 each, four of from 2000 to 4000 each, seven of from 1000 to 1800 each, besides a large number of places varying in population from 600 to 60 each. I visited in all, during the months of March, May, October, November, and December, seventy-one places, large and small. One of these I visited five times, four of them four times, six of them three times, twenty-one on two occasions, and the remaining thirty-eight but once. I trust, with God's help, to go through them all in order this year. These seventy-one contain, on a rough calculation (made from native accounts, but on the low average of three to a family), some 100,000 people. But a large number of towns and villages remain to be visited.

Missionary
painstaking.

HANG-CHOW.

Hang-chow is the capital of a province, and was visited by the Bishop of Victoria. It has been adopted as a station of the Society, under circumstances thus described by the Rev. G. Moule:—

Native
Missionary
zeal.

The most important extension of our work, to which, as I have said, I have been led, under God, chiefly by the representations of the catechists, is the attempt to recommence Missionary operations in Hang-chow. Until last September I considered our existing engagements to be as great as we could hope to discharge until such time as our strength should be increased and our responsibility lightened by the return of our senior brethren. Consequently, when John Dzang and James Miao—after a trip in Tze's valley, which decided me in commencing the experimental employment of Tze as a reader—finished their report by urging upon my consideration the importance of a Mission to Hang-chow, both on account of its preponderating influence as the provincial city, and on account of the very heavy afflictions it had passed through; I told them at first that it was a simple impossibility, whether I looked to my own strength or the condition of the native staff. Upon further reflection, however, I felt that Dzang himself, from his natural tact, and his knowledge of Chinese society, might perhaps be more useful in Hang-chow than in his native village, which I had already concluded to be unsuitable as a centre of operations; and that if he really had grace to devote himself to the distant and trying enterprise, I should hardly be carrying out your wishes if I refused to permit him, or to take steps to further his object. Accordingly, I told him, that as soon as I had got through the necessary visitation of San-poh and of another home district, I would endeavour to go up with him and reconnoitre, and, if possible, secure a lodgement for him in the city.

In November Mr. G. Moule and his catechist proceeded to Hang-chow, visiting in their way the "Fu" city of Shaosing, in which Messrs. Burdon and Fleming laboured in 1861, till driven out by the approach of the rebels. The Mission house was still preserved unharmed, and Mr. Moule was invited to remain here, but he pressed forward to the provincial capital. Upon their arrival at Hang-chow they were enabled to procure a house at once, through the introductions they had brought with them from native friends in Ningpo. They also engaged a book-shop in a suitable position, and within a few days commenced the operations of a Mission. Mr. Moule writes:—

Hang-chow, in its present condition, is a saddening spectacle indeed: from twelve to fifteen miles in circuit, its walls now enclose a vast proportion of utterly ruined houses. The natives talk of the desolation as having swallowed up from four-fifths to nine-tenths of the material city, and nearly, if not quite as large a proportion of the population; famine, the sword, and hardship of every conceivable kind, having conspired to destroy the wretched people. Hang-chow always attracted a very large population from other parts of China, especially from Ningpo and Shaosing, who earned a livelihood or accumulated wealth as artisans and merchants of every grade. The severest sufferings have naturally fallen upon the indigenous citizens. Many families of these are believed to have become extinct. Others are so grievously reduced that they are glad to sell or pawn valuable house property (in case they have been fortunate enough to find it standing) for comparatively trifling sums, under the pressure of urgent necessity.

National calamity a preparation for Christianity.

I may mention, as a proof of the altered footing on which we stand now, as compared with our position five years ago, that neither in these two instances nor in other places which we inquired about in this city, nor recently in Z-ky'i, has the slightest objection been made to the object with which we rented the premises, nor to the connexion with foreigners.

The Rev. A. Moule thus refers to his brother's extension of the Mission to Hang-chow :—

My brother's breaking ground again in Hang-chow will, I am sure, call forth the prayers of the Home Committee. He feels very deeply the feebleness of the effort, as far as human power is concerned, for he himself is not strong, and the only native catechist who can be spared to accompany him has but indifferent health. But we felt that, in a certain sense, the effort must be made now or not at all. God grant that we may at least hold the ground till reinforcements from home enable us to occupy that vast city in force.

Hang-chow is some 100 miles distant from Ningpo, and we have sometimes felt reluctant to move forward and inward so far when districts lying within sight from our house-top are so seldom—so imperfectly evangelized.

General prospects of the Mission.

Mr. G. Moule takes the following general view of the prospects of the Ningpo Mission :—

With regard to the general aspect of things in connexion with our work, it is no doubt, on the whole, promising. The rebel bands have evacuated this province, and that in which Shanghai is situated; and for the present the highways are open, and the cities and country districts equally accessible; although, no doubt, Chinese politics are not such as to inspire one with any serious hope of the permanency of the state of things. I have alluded to the readiness with which houses are let to us, wherever we have sought to rent them. During the year we have tested this readiness in the country districts of San-poh and the Lakes, and in the cities of Z-k'yi and Hang-chow. I do not imagine the Mandarins to be favourable to us, at least to our permanent settlement in the interior. But, notwithstanding drawbacks, there is reason, I believe, to be thankful and hopeful. Though our number of native Christians has not greatly increased, the diffusion of Christian truth has been widened considerably. It is everywhere listened to with, if I am not mistaken, less ridicule—less apathy—more seriousness than before. During the year scholars have come to us and our helpers with thoughtful and serious inquiries. One in particular, nephew of John Dzang, after entrusting a few general inquiries to his relative to bring to me, came up himself with an older scholar, equally well disposed to hold conversation with me. He had read the New Testament carefully, and he brought with him a manuscript book of texts and inquiries, which embraced very many really important and difficult questions, in theology and kindred subjects. He keeps a school, and has by no means decided to seek baptism; but he is deeply impressed with the divine character of Christianity, and, after spending a Sunday with us, begged a Prayer-book of me, that he might continue at home the practice of devotion he had learned to value. The older scholar was so much struck by what he saw and heard, that, on his return to his school, he spoke so warmly of Christianity and Christians, that the parents of the scholars took fright and withdrew their children. These are both men of respectable character and position. It is the belief that the “leaven” is spreading in the mass, which cases like these indicate, rather than the number or character of the baptized (though this also is cheering to one who remembers the average English communicants in an English parish), that leads me to hope. God in mercy confirm the hope, and save and regenerate this much-suffering nation. You will learn from other quarters that the work of selling the Scriptures has been hopefully commenced near Shanghai, and in others of the river provinces. I cannot, of course, undertake to give time to Bible-hawking, but I share the general opinion of the Missionaries at Ningpo, that the sale of the Bible ought now to take the place of gratuitous distribution.

SHANGHAE.

Shanghai was long a station of the Society, and the fruit of the labours of the Missionaries remains in a small native flock, ministered to by a native pastor. Mr. McClatchie, in his journey to Peking, spent a month at Shanghai, and thus reported upon the place:—

I preached two Sundays ago at our Mission church in the city to a congregation of about thirty persons. The faces were all new to me.

Yesterday week I attended Chinese service at Bishop Boone's church in the city, and I had the great satisfaction and enjoyment of receiving the holy communion, for the first time, from a Chinese clergyman. Wong Seen-Sang, at whose admission to priests' orders I lately assisted, is now rector of the church in the city. After service I went into the vestry, and the remnant of my blind class, when they heard I was there, came in to speak to me. The greater portion of the members of that class are now in eternity: some died from sickness, and a few were shot by the rebels during the siege. Those who remain are, so far as man can judge, walking in the fear of the Lord.

Mr. McClatchie discusses the question how far Shanghai offers a suitable position for Missionary operations. It appears, however, to have undergone, in many respects, alterations by no means favourable to the prosecution of Missionary work. The expense of living is greatly increased; so that to keep up an efficient Mission would cost the Society a very large sum. "The population has become migratory, not only in the foreign settlement, but also, to a great extent, in the city itself. A man takes a shop at an enormous rent, hoping, by selling his goods at a very high price, to be able to meet his rent and heavy taxes, levied by the Chinese authorities. He fails, and is instantly succeeded by another, who will not believe, until he tries, that the failure was not caused by want of good management. Thus the Chinese houses are constantly receiving new tenants." These, together with the influx of undesirable foreigners, render Shanghai unsuitable as the head-quarters of the Society's Mission work in China.

PEKIN.

At the commencement of the year 1864 Peking appeared to be occupied by a strong band of Missionaries, namely Messrs. McClatchie, Burdon, Collins, and Fryer. But it soon became necessary for Mr. Burdon to return to England for the recovery of his health. Mr. Fryer, also, was separated from the Mission before the close of the year. Mr. McClatchie and Mr. Collins have not yet mastered the Mandarin dialect, so as to be able to engage in discussions or to translate. Active Missionary operations are therefore virtually suspended till Mr. Burdon's return, which the Committee trust will not be long delayed.

tous war with the Natives.

The history of the New-Zealand Mission is dark and melancholy in the main, and relieved only by few and partial rays of comfort. During the year conflicts between the insurgent natives and the Queen's troops took place at Tauranga. This had long been a Missionary station, at which Archdeacon Brown resided. It is now turned into a military encampment, and the head-quarters of the British army. Two severe battles were fought, in one of which the natives prevailed; in the second they were worsted, and the greater part of those who had fought afterwards laid down their arms, and submitted to the Queen's authority. The Governor, Sir G. Grey, in accepting their submission, paid this tribute of respect to the way in which they had behaved—"It is right in some manner to mark our sense of the honourable manner in which you have conducted hostilities, neither robbing nor murdering, but respecting the wounded." A promise was therefore given that not more than one-fourth of their land should be confiscated, and that they should be supplied with seed for re-sowing their farms. Other testimonies might be given of still higher merit in individuals. When the Colonel of a regiment lay dangerously wounded within a hostile pa, a native chief left the pa to fetch the dying officer some water. While thus engaged, he was mortally wounded, and the Colonel and the chief died on the following day. Archdeacon Brown had the melancholy duty of attending the wounded and dying of both parties, and two large graves were dug in the Mission cemetery, in one of which the British soldiers in the other the Maoris, lie interred.

It was the expectation of the friends of the New Zealanders that all enmity would now cease, and peace be restored. But that expectation has been disappointed—large bodies of the insurgent natives in other parts of the island have refused to submit, and the latest accounts bring the sad news of renewed hostilities on the West Coast. It must be remembered that the natives of New Zealand were never one people, but consist of many different tribes, independent and often at war with each other. These tribes differ materially in their Christian and moral character, and in their attachment to the British Government. A few tribes have remained friendly, and fought on the side of the Queen. A few have shown themselves hostile and vindictive. But with the majority Christianity has prevailed to prevent their taking up arms, even when a strong feeling of wrong, and sympathy with their countrymen in arms, has kept them in a state of excitement very adverse to their religious progress.

In the history of the Church of Christ it has often occurred in times of excitement that strong delusions have partially affected the public mind.* So it has been in New Zealand. A new superstition, under a fanatical leader, has suddenly spread itself over a portion of the natives, and driven them into the wildest excesses of cruelty and immorality. Since this Report was presented to the Annual Meeting, while passing through the press, the terrible news has arrived that these fanatics have penetrated to the East Coast, that several of the Mission stations have been infected by the infatuation; that the Missionary Volkner has been murdered by them in cold blood at Opotiki; and that the Bishop of Waiapu has been compelled to remove from Turanga, in consequence of threats to take away his life also. The fuller recital of these events will belong to a future Report: at present the Committee can only say that they are "perplexed, but not in despair." The present Report will bear ample testimony to the fact that the power of Christianity has hitherto restrained the natives from savage temptations, and has, in many tribes, bound them in loyalty to the British crown. The outbreak of fanaticism has, for a time, infatuated those who are under its influence. But the power of Satan is limited in extent and duration; and the Committee trust that, through the mercy of God, the infatuation which has seized upon the minds of the New Zealanders may be speedily dispelled, and that His blessed Gospel may be

stition.

* The bloody fanatics who arose at the time of the Reformation, under the name of Anabaptists may be cited as an example. "There stands upon record a most shocking instance in the dreadful commotions that were excited at Munster in the year 1533 by certain Dutch Anabaptists that chose that city as the scene of their horrid operations, and committed in it such deeds as would surpass all credibility, were they not attested in a manner that excludes every degree of doubt and uncertainty."—(Mosheim, Cent. xvi. ch. 3. § 7.)

again vindicated as “the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.”

The Committee now proceed to the review of the several districts into which the Mission is divided.

District North of Auckland.

There have been no disturbances in the district north of Auckland, which was on a former occasion the scene of the great rebellion under Heke; but Mr. Burrows gives the following sad account of the unsettling effect of the war upon the minds of those who do not actually join the insurgents.

In a letter dated May 31, 1864, he writes:—

izing influence of the war.

The natives of this part of the island, although peaceably disposed at present, have partaken largely of that worldly spirit which has fallen upon the native Church generally—carelessness in the outward ordinances, covetousness, pride, and self-sufficiency. The war, although it has happily not reached them, has tended to unsettle them; the results of which are seen in their idleness and carelessness about their persons and property, as well as in spiritual things. Drunkenness, although not, I hope, on the increase, is still very prevalent, which vice is fostered and encouraged by our own countrymen for the sake of filthy lucre. The increase of the white population is giving great facilities for obtaining spirituous liquors by the natives who, although it is unlawful to sell it to them, can easily purchase whatever they wish.

We can only hope, and pray, and wait for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit to revive our work among us. God is still taking away from us by death some of our most consistent converts. Is He not removing them from the evil to come?

In the extreme north of the island, at Kaitia, the Missionaries, Messrs. Matthews and Puckey, write, in their annual report for 1864:—

During the whole period that some of the southern tribes have been at war, our people have enjoyed unbroken peace, and we believe that, so far as we know them, they are determined to shape their future course according to that of past years. During the last few months we have been made fully aware that by way of the West Coast the king party has had frequent communication with our friends at Whangape, and, through them, with our people near the settlement. The king party have used much persuasion to induce loyal tribes to despise the government of Sir G. Grey; and whilst we deplore the desolation of the Waikato Churches, we cannot but thank God that we have to the North and South of Waikato many thousand Christian natives, who have not, and, we trust, will not “bow the knee to the god of war.”

Restrain-
of Christianity in times of public com-

We are happy to say that the Rev. P. Patiki's endowment, and that of the Rev. M. Taupaki, are completed. The former deacon is with a portion of the “Rarawa” people, at the heads of Hokianga, and he visits Whangape in turn. The latter resides at Paihia, and affords the venerable Archdeacon Williams much comfort and very needful assistance. The native chiefs, however, who have striven to complete his endowment, are anxious to have his services amongst them. We hope that they will not be impatient, but wait until the Archdeacon shall have a new helper. Two other teachers from our district, Edward Timoko and Leonard Simeon, are preparing in Auckland, under Sir W. Martin, for deacons' orders.

With regard to temporal things the “Rarawa” may be said to be well off. They have done a large business in kauri gum digging, and have procured good carts and horses and harness, and have broken in their horses to draught and plough. We think that our natives, with regard to their numbers, are holding their own, if not on the increase. It will, however, require much watching and fostering care, and, withal, the Divine protection, to preserve them as a Church and people.

AUCKLAND.

Archdeacon Kissling has continued, in very enfeebled health, to superintend the preparation of six to eight students for holy orders. The Rev. T. Chapman is the acting tutor. Sir W. Martin has continued his invaluable assistance in giving

the students lectures in the Greek Testament and in theology. The Missionaries from other stations have frequently assembled at Auckland for mutual advice and encouragement. Very few natives now resort to Auckland, and all Missionary operations in the neighbourhood have become impracticable.

The Rev. T. Lanfear has maintained his position in the THAMES DISTRICT, amidst great difficulties and discouragements, and the additional trial of the ill-health of his family.

THE WAIKATO DISTRICT.

Severe trials of the Mission.

The Waikato district has been occupied by several military posts and settlements along the course of the river. These are intermingled with native villages, some of which are loyal to the Government, others comprise the wives and families, and the old people, of parties where the fighting men have joined the war. The river Waikato was formerly occupied by three Missionary districts, viz. Archdeacon Maunsell's, from the coast for twenty to thirty miles inland; Mr. Morgan's, at Ota-whao, higher up; and Mr. Ashwell's, at Taupiri, still higher. Mr. Morgan's district has been altogether abandoned. Archdeacon Maunsell has resided at his station the greater part of the year, and Mr. Ashwell has visited his each month while residing in Auckland.

Things here promise peace, and the rebels are coming one by one. Sir George is very unpopular, solely because he will not confiscate as the people please. Religion has received a severe shock, but so have all the Maori old notions and habits. God is, no doubt, preparing the way for a new state of things in this land. Schools in Waikato seem out of the question, so excited and so unsettled are the people. I thank God my people here are very quiet, and sternly put down every kind of drunkenness amongst themselves. Few European communities could be found so orderly. They have gained immeasurably by their peaceable conduct during the war."

The Maori is now undergoing a great shaking. The old days, when nearly all in the settlement attended service, are passing away, and our numbers in the congregations are beginning to assume the same proportions to the non-attendants as in European communities. Those who have been engaged in fighting do not seem to have been either humbled or improved by their losses. On the contrary, they seem, more than the rest, disinclined to Christianity, and are largely adopting a new superstition, in which they eject Christ, acknowledge a supreme God, and make the angel Gabriel play an important part. They call themselves "Pai Marire" (kindly good), and believe that by their new faith they can master the English language, and prevail over the white man in battle. This is not the first time that absurd superstitions have shown themselves since the introduction of the Gospel. They have at different times appeared, made a noise for a while, and then died away. I am very thankful to report that my people are quite free from them and from popery; and that they seem as regular as ever in their attendance on the means of grace. Last Sunday I visited the escaped prisoners, 200 in number: they are at Mahurangi, twenty-four miles by land north of Auckland. About sixty of them attended my evening service, and afterwards vigorously attacked both the Bishop and me because of our having visited and preached to the soldiers, and because of an expression of mine to them after their defeat, which they interpreted into a taunt. We parted, however, good friends. They are very quiet, give no trouble to the surrounding settlers, and talk of going back, in the course of a few weeks, to Waikato. They have one or two very worthy men amongst them, who regularly conduct divine service.

Eastern District.

Six stations have been occupied in this district in the following chronological order—1. Tauranga, 1835; 2. Maketu, 1835; 3. Rotorua, 1825; 4. Tauranga, 1840; 5. East Cape, 1842; 6. Wairoa, 1844.

The Bishop of Waiapu takes this general view of the state of the district during the year 1864, before the outbreak of fanaticism:—

In this diocese we have been encompassed with difficulties, but our work goes on. The enemy comes in like a flood, but the Spirit of God lifts up a standard against him. I may refer you to our third Synod, which was held on the 2nd of March, for signs of vitality. True, we had no natives present from the dis-

of native
Pastors.

turbed parts of the country, but there was much to be thankful for. There was an evidence that there are numbers who regard religion as a reality, and that the desire increases for clergymen to reside among them. At Waiapu we have three excellent men, the Revs. Rota Waitoa, R. Kawhia, and Mohi Turei. They are living in a disturbed district, but they hold their ground, and their influence acts powerfully, and many of those who had been among the disaffected have come over to the quiet party. At Tokomaru we have the Rev. Matiaha Pahewa, a good and useful man. At Wairoa the Rev. Tamihana Huata has now the sole charge of an important district, and is faithful to his trust. A sixth, the Rev. Hare Pawhaa, we find of great service at Turanga. He, together with Mohi Turei, were admitted to deacons' orders on the 25th September. On Sunday last, the 18th December, another of our teachers, Watene Mocke, was ordained deacon. He will reside at Table Cape, taking a part of Mr. Hamlin's district. We have one other native deacon, Rev. Ihaia Te Ahu, living at Maketu.

Native
liberality.

The collections for the Endowment Fund are still going on. During this year of trouble and excitement the sum of 491*l.* has been given for this object from seven different districts, which is sufficient indication of a right feeling among the natives. While, therefore, the enemy is doing his utmost to hinder the Gospel, and to draw away the people after lying vanities, God is manifesting His power in the behalf of His people, and He gives us the assurance that He is directing all things towards the accomplishment of His purposes, the final result of which will be the establishment of His kingdom.

Archdeacon Brown, in his annual letter, describes the demoralizing effects of war, and the fearful delusions which have seized the minds of the people:—

of hopes.

In this annual letter I need not repeat the sickening details connected with the two battles which have been fought in this neighbourhood—the Gate Pa and Te Ranga. The sad war which has caused the wheels of our Missionary chariot to drive heavily, has considerably added to my work, as I have had to attend the sick, and wounded, and dying of both races, besides holding three services (and frequently four) on each successive Sabbath. When peace was made in August last I fondly looked forward to the restoration of our scattered flocks, but war had done its fearful work, not only in sadly diminishing the numbers of the natives, but in thoroughly demoralizing those who survived the battles. In this fearful state of mind they were of course an easy prey to Satan, and many were led to embrace the new fanaticism that has sprung up at Taranaki. On Sunday last I was convinced that the natives were under the influence of some superstitious dread, and on the following morning information was brought that the Tauranga natives had departed during the night to join (as is supposed) the Pai Marire party. The secrecy of their movements leads to the suspicion that there is some widely-organized system at work ; and if the natives are indeed resting upon the assurance of the false prophet that he will drive all the Europeans into the sea within a few weeks, it is impossible to say to what mad course a spirit of fanaticism may urge them on.

OPOTIKI.

The Missionary station of Opotiki will henceforth fill a dark page in the history of the New-Zealand Mission. It illustrates the dreadful contagion of a war spirit, the misery which it inflicts, and the dreadful crimes to which it may lead. The year 1864 opened with the completion of a new church at Opotiki, which the natives had erected at a cost of 600*l.*, receiving a grant from the Government of 100*l.*, and private contributions to the same amount, but the congregation contributed 400*l.*, among themselves, though only 500 in number. The day of its opening, January 30, was one of much encouragement and hope to the Missionary ; but within a few weeks emissaries from the belligerent natives arrived with the news that the British troops had taken possession of Tauranga. The Opotiki natives were fired with indignation, the cry for war was raised, the hideous war-dance followed, their Missionary was disregarded, and the fighting-men proceeded to the scene of war. On their way they were met by a party of natives friendly to the Government, assisted by the Queen's troops : a battle ensued, and the Opotiki natives were defeated. Their chief was killed in cold blood by the natives of a place through which they passed in their retreat. Two steamers pursued the retreating party for fifteen miles along the coast, and killed several of them. On their reaching Opotiki they found all the European traders had fled, and the coast blockaded to prevent any supplies reaching them. Their Missionary, the Rev. C. S. Volkner, alone remained, who thus describes the behaviour of his people upon their return, in the last communication received from him at the close of 1864. He was murdered March 2, 1865.

The natives did not show a sign of ill-feeling towards me, on the contrary, the chief expressed himself thankful that I had stayed with those who remained behind, and all were pleased that I had remained with them. In speaking of their defeat they said they were defeated because of their evil ways, and not regarding God more. He confounded them and let them be defeated because of their hardness of heart, and it was only of God's mercy

that so many had come back alive. It was a wonder to them that any had escaped. In this defeat they lost twenty-two men, and all they had with them, namely, seventeen canoes and boats, many guns, ammunition, all their clothes, Prayer-books, and Testaments. On their return they were anxious to replace their books before they did any thing else. Their winter stock of food was greatly reduced by the constant marching through of the Waiapu natives. When the cold and wet winter weather came on their misery began: the only clothes they had to meet it were what some Christian ladies in England had kindly sent to Mrs. Volkner for the school, which I distributed amongst them. They were very thankful for these, which, however, were not nearly enough. Thus weakened by the hardships of war, not half clothed, and almost without food, a fever broke out amongst them and soon raged like a plague. The distress and scenes of horror which I witnessed surpass all description. There was hardly a house in which several were not lying sick of the fever. My little supply of European food was soon exhausted. The import of all English trade being strictly prohibited, I could get no new supply. The only thing I had to give them was a little sugar and water, which seemed to comfort the patients. Thus eighty died in two months in a population of 500.

gion.

I shall now allude to a few instances which may illustrate how Christianity has shown its fruits in the Maories of my district during this disturbance. Whilst these natives were at Otamarakau some military and civil officers from Maketu passed without observing a picquet that lay concealed. It was a strong detachment, with their guns loaded. They knew them to be officers, but as they were not then come to fight, the chief forbade his people to fire. When the officers passed them again on their way home, the chief stepped out and told them what danger they had been in, and kindly warned them not to come that way again. Whilst at Maketu they got possession of some of the commissariat cattle. The teachers considered them to be stolen property, and advised the people to drive them back. They did so, although they were so short of food at the time that for several days they had only four potatoes each as a day's allowance. During the fever I saw brotherly love exhibited, and found the people trusting in God, and being comforted by believing in Christ, in whom they put all their hope for time and eternity. Although there is much in the conduct of these people during the past year which we deplore, there is also much cause for thankfulness, and proof that our labour has not been in vain in the Lord.

Such is the testimony of Mr. Volkner to his people before the arrival of the fanatics from a distance. During a temporary absence of Mr. Volkner, the chief priest of the fanatics, with a large party of his followers, arrived at Opotiki. The people of Opotiki became infatuated with the new superstition.

Mr. Volkner returned in the heat of their frenzy, was at once seized by the fanatics, and the next morning he was murdered by the command of the priest of the fanatics, his own people being present, and, alas ! consenting to his death.

Western District.

The district was first occupied by Archdeacon Hadfield in 1839. It now comprises five stations : 1. Wanganui, 1840 ; 2. Otaki, 1842 ; 3. Heretaunga, 1844 ; 4. Papawai (Palliser Bay), 1856 ; 5. Pipiriki, on the Wanganui river, 1856.

 Rev. Richard Taylor, M.A. (m), 1836.
 Rev. Samuel Williams (m), born in New Zealand.
 Rev. William Ronaldson (m), 1855.
 Rev. Basil Kirke Taylor, B.A. (m), 1860.
 Mr. James Booth (m), 1852, Schoolmaster.

Archdeacon Hadfield thus describes the state of his district:—

Certainly the last six months have struck me as the darkest and most discouraging period that I have experienced for many years. The young people are thrown off their balance, children are left to run riot, and the people generally seem to think that no efforts on their part to live peaceably with the English, or rather the Government, can be of any avail, and seem to have become reckless. But against this, in my district at least, I can say that fully nine-tenths of the communicants go on steadily and well ; that we have had our new church built, on which they have expended 500*l*. This is at Manawatu. We have, moreover, throughout the whole year, been in a state of peace : no overt acts of any kind (unless it were the erection of a king's flag-staff) have been committed. In fact, I have been deeply impressed with the powerful effect produced by religion on these people in restraining them from acts of hostility, while their immediate relatives, in other parts of the country, were suffering from what they consider the injustice of the Government.

The Rev. R. Taylor, and his son, the Rev. B. K. Taylor, are at Wanganui, and have been exposed to continual apprehension. Mr. Taylor takes this review of their position at the close of the year:—

I feel daily more and more persuaded that the Lord will not cast off this people, but has still good laid up in store for them. The remarkable way in which all the efforts of our Government seems to have been frustrated, and a large European force has been kept literally doing nothing, is perfectly inexplicable, unless we attribute it to the over-ruling hand of God. The natives, however, must not, and cannot, be regarded as blameless in causing this war, any more than our countrymen: both are to blame, and both are being punished; we in the loss of so many valuable lives, and in a debt which will never be paid; they in the loss both of many lives and also of a portion of their lands. Amongst the natives the loss has been chiefly of those who gave up their faith and engaged in war: this has been especially the case in this district. At the battle of Moutoa fully fifty of the followers of the new delusion were killed. I have just returned from a visit up the river. Every pa, for sixty miles, is fortified, and constant watch and guard kept. I was received with great respect, hoisting a flag as a token of welcome. The services were well attended, and many promises made of repairing their churches without delay: this was especially the case at Koriniti and Ranana. I was much pleased to meet a chief named Matiu, who, when I last met him, belonged to the hostile natives: he then told me he had given up his faith because the Missionaries supported the Government. I replied that the Missionary was like a man sitting between two fires, so that he could not turn either way without being burned. They complained we favoured the Government; our own countrymen made a similar complaint that we favoured them. He then laughed, and said what I told him was true. This time he reminded me of our conversation, and said he had seen his error, and had taken the oath of allegiance to the Queen, and presented himself to me as a candidate for the communion. I do trust there will be a revival when these dark clouds roll by. The hostile natives, however, would not permit us to visit them. Mr. Booth was my companion.

In another letter Mr. Taylor writes:—

Our congregations now may be said to be sifted ones, and those who do come seem to be most attentive. Still I am afraid to say much. The tempest that is raging agitates even the still waters: its baneful influence is everywhere felt. Even amongst our own natives there is a strange mixture of attachment to our Government, and admiration of the prowess of their own hostile countrymen. It is true they have been driven out of Waikato, but still they do not feel they are conquered, and are apparently as unwilling to make peace now as when they first began the war. Indeed, I do not think there is any hope of permanent peace until we have learned to be just to the natives.

Mr. Booth has resided for many years at Pipiriki, a native settlement about sixty miles up the river Wanganui. He was exposed to imminent danger of his life, and was robbed of all his property by a band of the fanatical natives, who were proceeding down the river under the command of one of the so-called angels of the new religion, to massacre the Europeans at Wanganui. Mr. Booth entered Pipiriki unconscious that it was in possession of the fanatics. His own people appeared to be for a time paralyzed: they urged him to fly. The fanatic, Mateni, came to him with the determination of murdering him, but was mercifully restrained. Mr. Booth eventually escaped with the loss of every thing. A few days afterwards the friendly natives combined against the fanatics, who were more than 100 in number, and resisted their passage down the river on their murderous expedition. A battle ensued on the 14th of May, at Moutoa, and the fanatics were defeated, but they fought so obstinately that the greater part of them perished. The friendly natives have since determined to build a new church as a memorial and thank-offering for their victory.

escape.

While this Report was passing through the press, intelligence arrived of the heroic conduct of a native Christian, which, by the date, would belong to the Report of next year. But in the present state of anxiety respecting the New-Zealand Mission, the time may be anticipated, to present our friends with the latest intelligence.

The Rev. R. Taylor writes from Wanganui (New Zealand), March 8th, 1865:—

Many events have taken place in our remote spot during the last month, of which I must endeavour to give you an outline. The military force here has been greatly increased: we have now fully four thousand men under General Cameron, who has advanced about thirty-six miles along the coast to the north of Wanganui; but he has left all the pas in his rear, the defenders of which, finding no attempt has been made upon them, have been constantly prowling along our outskirts to plunder or cut off any of the settlers they might meet with. Our friendly natives, in number about 400, have been stationed up the river to defend the approach by it to the town. They have again been attacked. My poor friend John Williams was in command on our side: he likewise occupied the most advanced post. A small party of four laid in ambush to cut him off, but they were captured themselves, and, after being well treated, were allowed to return the following morning. John Williams said the first shot should be fired by the enemy. Another party of ten were captured the next night in the vicinity of the post: they likewise were allowed to return: and then, instead of this kind action being reciprocated, an attack was made, and several of the enemy were killed. John then advanced his post still nearer, and got between the natives and their pa: he there received a shot in his breast whilst bravely leading on his men: this was on the 23rd of February. He was brought down to Putiki. I was called up about three A.M., and I took him over to the Colonial Hospital, where he died on the following morning, and on the 27th he was buried: nearly all the authorities, military as well as civil, followed him to the grave, and the British ensign formed his pall. Col. Logan, the officer in command, took a grand flag, which was to be presented to the natives by the ladies of Wanganui, and laid it on his coffin: it was then borne before it in procession to the church. At the grave a party of the militia fired three volleys. John Williams was indeed a Christian warrior; though he fought in defence of the European community, he did not forget his dependence on God. When he went up the river he wrote down to me, stating that he had established prayer-meetings in every place to supplicate the Divine blessing on their arms, and he wished us to do the same. He also wrote to Abraham, my head teacher, and to the women, to pray for their husbands and relatives; and all attend daily, morning and evening, with the greatest regularity. In the removal of John Williams the native community has experienced a great loss: he has always been the friend of the European and the directing mind of the Maori, and I fear there is no one capable of supplying his place. One proof of the esteem he was held in by the Europeans was given at his funeral, by some of the settlers relieving the bearers of his coffin and carrying it up the steep ascent to the cemetery on their shoulders. When John was shot he made Hakaraia acquainted with all his plans and intentions, and by carrying them out the enemy was repulsed and the pa taken.

THIS Mission has been deprived of the labours of the zealous and able Bishop, who for sixteen years has identified himself with the principles and work of this Society, and has trained up the rising native Church with the wisdom and tenderness of a true father in God.

I. RED-RIVER DISTRICT.

Archdeacon Hunter, the Secretary of the Mission, has charge of St. Andrew's, on the Red River, with the out-station of Mapleton. The charge is chiefly composed of settlers and those of Indian descent, with a few Crees, who understand their own language better than English. The Archdeacon ministers, therefore, occasionally in Cree; but the regular services are in English. At the close of the year he writes:—

The important work of this district is going on as usual, and I bless and praise God for the amount of success vouchsafed to my labours, which have been continued here for nine years. The district was never, I am thankful to say, in better working order. To God and His grace be all the praise. With a good staff of experienced schoolmasters, the work of education is prospering satisfactorily among the young. The congregations and the communicants, both here and at Mapleton, are very large; and the people listen with apparent pleasure and profit to the preaching of the Gospel.

agency.

There are many native boys who could be trained up and prepared for schoolmasters, catechists, and, ultimately, native Missionaries. We want a Training Institution for the natives, and a good and able man from home to superintend it. If such an Institution be established and well conducted, I am sure we could supply all the stations with native ministers from the country. We have young men of talent and ability: all they want is care and good discipline for a few years.

LA PRAIRIE.

The venerable and devoted Missionary, Archdeacon Cockran, takes this review of his Missionary experience, and of the success with which God has honoured his labours:—

Veteran in the Mission field.

It will be forty years on the 4th of June next, since I left the London Docks for Gravesend, to come to this country. After I had spent twenty years in the service of my Lord and master, I found that I was perfectly emaciated, and felt my zeal so far cooled that I thought I could never form a resolution to again face the difficulties of Rupert's Land. However, after twelve months perfect seclusion from the world spent in prayer, reading, and meditation, my strength and spirits so perfectly recovered, that I felt the same disinterested benevolence towards my fellow-men, and zeal for the glory of God, that I experienced in my early days, so that I returned to the old field of labour, and began afresh to buffet with the difficulties of the times. I finished St. Andrew's church, parsonage and orphan home; went to the Indian Settlement, built an excellent church, and left 125 Indian families settled in houses to fill it. In 1855 I visited La Prairie, and built a church for 48 families. Having failed to induce any to take up the cause of La Prairie, I came here in 1857. Since then I have built two other churches, which have regular congregations attending divine service. After forty years' active warfare against barbarism and heathenism, I have the pleasure of witnessing 100 miles brought under the benign influence of Christianity and civilization, in a country more unfortunately circumstanced than any in the world, in the midst of a barbarous territory, separated by 600 miles from all civilized men. This work of benevolence has been fostered by the Church Missionary Society, and persevered in by their Missionaries till a great number at every post throughout this country are obedient to the faith of the Gospel.

WESTBOURNE.

At this station the Rev. Henry George has been labouring. A neighbouring Salteaux tribe were the object of his Missionary anxiety, and a few converts were the fruit of his labours. But a sad occurrence led to their removal. When the fugitive Sioux Indians fled from Minnesota in the United States, and were treated with hospitality by the settlers at the Red River and at Westbourne, the jealousy of the unconverted Salteaux was aroused, and they made an unexpected attack upon the Sioux, and destroyed numbers of their women and children: then, becoming alarmed lest the Sioux should revenge themselves, the Salteaux decamped to a distant part of the country. Such are the Missionary trials in a savage community.

Trials of a Mission.

Westbourne is chiefly settled by the mixed race, or half-breeds. It is likely to become an important station on the new line of electric communication with British Columbia. It suffers morally from the close proximity to the border of the United States, yet the Missionary meets with some encouragement. In his annual letter Mr. George writes:—

Our close proximity to the United States has of late years proved detrimental to the interests of Missions. The increase of freethinking Americans professing Universalism, and actively disseminating their erroneous views, has upset that confidence formerly reposed in us: the simple trust in the solemn verities of the Christian faith has given place to doubt and unbelief. I feel that this can only be met by constantly fixing the attention of my people on the atonement, and preaching to them of that "saving faith" which alone gives assurance and hope to the wavering mind. Our commercial intercourse with the neighbouring Republic is likewise of little advantage in a moral point of view. Extortion and the unjust weight are not the least evils. Happily, however, our Mission stations form a nucleus in which the religious element struggles for the ascendancy, and the fruits of the Gospel of Jesus Christ do show themselves to the praise and glory of God. In my own immediate sphere there are encouragements, especially the general interest taken in the Word of God, whether coming from the pulpit or read amongst the people. I am abundantly encouraged in my daily school and Sabbath gatherings. Divine service during the past year has, for the most part, been performed in Indian. The frequent visits of the wandering Indian, and the resident Indian wives of half-breeds, have given favourable opportunities of making known the Gospel in the native language.

The INDIAN SETTLEMENT continues under the charge of the Rev. A. Cowley, from whose annual letter the following are extracts:—

Excitement, arising from expectation of great changes in the country, and also from competition in the fur trade, tends to demoralize the people, and militates against the spread and consolidation of Christ's kingdom. Generally our people continue worthy of the appellation "Good church-goers." At the mother church the Sunday congregation is always large, and if the people are not as devout in prayer as one could desire, certainly they are very attentive listeners to the Word and its expositions. At Mapleton the half-breed element is more prevalent: the congregation is considerable. The three day schools go on much as usual, and are, no doubt, a great blessing to the people. There seems to be a move among many of the heathen Indians around us in favour of civilization, if not of Christianity. Generally a disposition to embrace Christianity appears first by a drawing towards the white man's ways. In this way Indians repeatedly are brought into the Church of Christ. It has lately been my privilege thus to receive seven individuals from the ranks of heathenism into the fold of Christ's Church. May this move on their part be the dawn of a brighter day among the Salteaux race. I hail it as such, and am glad. In connection with the Salteaux Indians, we have to deplore the loss by death of our good old chief Pigwys. He died full of years, highly respected and honoured by, I think, all classes, not only in the Indian Settlement, but in the colony also. I believe he was fully with us, and rejoiced to see good done to any of his people.

The Rev. R. Phair has been placed at LANSDOWNE, with White Dog under his charge as an out-station. His first year has been necessarily devoted to the study of the language, in which he has been thrown upon his own resources, as the interpreter with whom he was provided left him, and another could not be procured before the end of the year. In one of his visits to White Dog station he baptized thirteen Indians who had been prepared by the catechist.

II. MANITOBA DISTRICT.

The Rev. W. Stagg resides at FAIRFORD. In his annual letter he describes the chief duties of a Missionary in that land, and gives a general review of his out-stations:—

I never felt that there was greater cause for humiliation and gratitude in reviewing a year than the past one. Regarding Fairford, I must write cheerfully. During the early part of the year, some adults, who had been long halting between two opinions, decided for God and were baptized. One of these was a son of old Mary Anderson and the late chief Kakepis. Our Sunday school, which is large and most interesting, affords precious opportunities to Mrs. Stagg and Miss Thompson of teaching the truth to the children and young persons.

Mission, if well attended to. This is no mere theory, for we are at this time feeding the men working at our new church with flour ground in the windmill built by me on the Mission farm, and we shall have enough to serve until near next harvest. You will not, however, forget the liability to early frosts so far north. Last year was a favourable one with us, for which we feel the more that prices are so very high in the river. Measures for self-support.

Our native teachers are men of faith and prayer. After nearly twelve years' experience, I can say this. They have lived with me in my own house; I have travelled with them for weeks at a time; together we have enjoyed our blessings and endured hardness. I have, of course, seen failings, but I have had abundant cause to thank God for His grace manifested in them. You will see, I hope, I have cause to write cheerfully. Efficiency of native Teachers.

I have visited Manitoba as often as other duties would allow. Mr. Macdonald, in charge of the Company's station there, is always ready to assist us, and Mrs. Macdonald teaches some of the young people.

The work at Touchwood Hills I hope prospers. My catechist, George Bruce, was there in July last, in company with his brother-in-law, the Rev. T. Cook. Neither of them had seen the Mission before, and they were a good deal cheered to see the neat Christian village, and the good done by the catechist, Charles Pratt. George informed me that his sister, Mrs. Cook, said, after they left the station, "Charles is not a Missionary of words, but of deeds." The chapel was progressing nicely. I was informed that one of the Christian Indians had gone of his own accord and cleared the land where the building was to be commenced. The entire sum contributed in cash locally for its erection was 62*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*

Lake Caldwell goes on steadily at Fort Pelly. He wrote me a little before Christmas, requesting a visit from a clergyman, as there were some infants and adults waiting for baptism. I wrote immediately to Mr. Settee to make a Missionary tour to Fort Pelly and Touchwood Hills for the purpose of administering the Sacraments and preaching the Word of God. He is now, I hope, making that tour, and will probably be down at Fairford after his return. Mr. Settee's own station is at Swan Lake. He has several Indians settled round him, to whom he preaches. I have written to him, with the approval of the Corresponding Committee, to say he will have to spend a good deal of this year itinerating through the district, if he be strong enough for the work.

In a letter of a later date Mr. Stagg bears this testimony to the character of a native teacher.

Luke Caldwell has also visited us with good news from Fort Pelly. One circumstance did so gladden me that I shed tears of joy. Last Christmas-day, after ending service, the employés of the Hudson's-Bay Company, nearly all native Christians, handed to Exemplary Catechist.

Like the sum of 7*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*, contributed among themselves as “a slight token of their appreciation of his worth, and the valuable service he confers upon them.” Surely this is all that the supporters of the Mission cause can ask for. Here is a young man baptized in 1851; employed afterwards as a day-labourer in the Mission, as he had to support his widowed mother, and also his younger brother and sister; then engaged to assist me at Fairford in the capacity of catechist. In 1864 he was sent back to his birth place—Fort Pelly; and in his first year’s labours he has so won the respect of Scotch Presbyterians and native Christians, that they all willingly listen to him as he unfolds week by week, in Cree, the Gospel of our blessed Saviour, and give such substantial proof of their regard by their contributions towards his support.

One extract from the journal of the native minister of this district, the Rev. J. Settee, will show that some of the native teachers are animated by the true Missionary spirit.

January 23, 1865—The snow was very deep. Pratt and I sat up long at nights conversing about our work, and about our poor land, and prayed; yes, we trust we both prayed, for we see, as clear as the day, the spiritual destitution of our country. We see our countrymen melting away from the face of the earth, and they will perish eternally. Something more must be done for them. We must see them oftener. Though very tired each day, our rest was broken with thoughts about the poor Indian.

Native
Missionary
zeal.

III. CUMBERLAND DISTRICT.

This district has been hitherto under charge of an English Missionary, but in consequence of the reduction of the number of Missionaries, it has been placed under a native minister, the Rev. J. A. Mackay, whose annual report is as follows:—

The work at this station is more of a parochial than of a Missionary character, so far that we seldom come in contact with professed heathenism; but there is much darkness and much superstition. Notwithstanding all that has been done, we must regard the work as only begun. We could have no difficulty in pointing out many among our flock who adorn the doctrines which they profess: many, no doubt, from this flock have been translated to a brighter home above; but there are also many who are but babes in the knowledge of the Gospel. The total number of communicants at the present time on the list is 127.

Native
ministra-

A portion of my time this winter is also spent in translational labours. I have completed a portion of Oxenden’s “Pathway of Safety,” and hope to have the whole volume finished by the spring. When completed, it will, I hope, be a valuable acquisition to the poor Indian. Something in the way of simple and easy reading seems much wanted. The Indians, from their wandering habits, seem peculiarly in need of reading for their spiritual edification, as it is seldom that they can remain for any length of time under the sound of the Gospel. At this station, although one of the most favoured in Rupert's Land in this respect, yet there are few who stay within reach of the means of grace more than half the year.

Mr. Mackay makes these important remarks upon the prospect of self-support in the Mission.

It is my continual endeavour to develope the resources of the station as much as possible, as I feel sure that by this means the expense, after a few years, might be very much lessened. As a native of the country I feel that it is time that our oldest Missions at least should become less expensive to the Society. At this place I see no readier means for attaining this object than that already mentioned. With this object in view I am endeavouring to enlarge the farm, and also to increase the stock of cattle. For the latter kind of farming the locality is eminently favourable. From the people it will be a long time before we can hope to receive much assistance. Even the young and healthy are often barely able to obtain for themselves the necessaries of life.

Measures
support.

THE ENGLISH RIVER.

As the Rev. T. T. Smith has been removed for a time to the Red River, Mr. Mackay has been requested to visit it occasionally.

Nepowewin.

The Rev. Henry Budd, with his son, the Rev. Henry Budd, jun., had charge of this station in the early part of the year. In July Mr. Budd wrote as follows respecting his labours:—

The number baptized would have far exceeded the number we have in the register, if to swell the number was our only motive; but to save souls being the main object in view, we choose rather to make them wait until they have been thoroughly instructed in the Christian religion, and they have shown evident tokens of their sincerity and steadfastness. The number now on the baptismal register is ninety-eight, and we have some more families candidates for that sacred rite, which, please God, will soon be admitted into the Church of Christ.

caution in admitting

Four visits have been contemplated to Carlton House and the neighbouring posts, Fort Thompson and Isbister's settlement, during the year, though three only have been realized. In each of these visits I have been more and more convinced of the necessity for a school being established at Carlton, and more so now that there are parties of emigrants seen on their way from the Red River to settle along the banks of this river, and other parties from foreign lands are expected to flock in to the Kisiskatchewan: this will increase the population all along this mighty river, and Fort Carlton may be among the first thus taken up and settled in.

At the close of the year Mr. Budd's communication was of a sad and affecting kind: he recorded the successive deaths, within a few weeks, of his son, his wife, and a promising daughter aged fourteen. The end of the son was full of peace and hope. The father thus expresses his feelings:—

faith under bereave-
ments.

I do not for one moment doubt a Father's love: in all that has, in all that ever shall befall me or mine, I own a Father's hand and a Father's love. My fond affection for those who have gone before me would fain have retained them in the world, that they might be a comfort to me in my declining years; but God has taken them out of my hands, to bring them into His own presence. I give way in thankful, adoring, weeping silence, and say, "Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in thy sight."

V. MACKENZIE-RIVER DISTRICT.

The Rev. W. W. Kirkby, from his far-distant station at Fort Simpson on the Mackenzie River, writes at the date June 11, 1864:—

True Mis-

The good cause, I trust, is making some progress around me, but by no means in the proportion I desire. Still it is encouraging to see any improvement, however small. There are upwards of fifty adults who now belong to my little Mission, and during the whole winter there was not a Sunday on which some were not present for divine service. The lowest number was six, the greatest thirty-five. But besides this, whenever any come to the Fort, whether it be Sunday or week-day, whether they belong to us or not, they are earnestly sought after and pressed to attend. More and more do I feel that both the apathy of heathenism and the errors of Rome require a bold, incessant siege to overcome. They must be assaulted continually by the word of truth, combated in daily conversation, and no opportunity lost of proclaiming the glad tidings of salvation through a crucified Redeemer. And truly do I love the work, and find, in the performance of it, a delight which nothing else could give. My only grief is that I am not better qualified for it. With a young man of greater ability to acquire a thorough knowledge of the language I might become more efficient, but alone I feel that I am sadly beneath the requirements of the station. The Romanists are still most active in their opposition, and frequently give me a great deal of annoyance and pain.

Mr. M'Donald's own account of his work at the Youcon is contained in the following extracts from a letter dated June 25, 1864 :—

Indians have been assembled at the Fort in smaller or larger numbers since the end of last month, and I have been conducting divine worship with them, and instructing them in but a feeble measure, as my health has not permitted me to labour strenuously. Besides holding divine service with them on the Sunday, I have held evening prayers twice or thrice a week. I have taught them the Decalogue, the Apostles' Creed, and the General Confession, and some new hymns. I am also teaching them the syllabic character. It is pleasing to see them all joining heartily in singing the praises of God, listening to His Word with attention, and endeavouring to learn what they are taught. They certainly know little, as yet, of the divine power of the Gospel. May God grant that there may be an awakening among them; may He raise up His great power and come among them, and turn them effectually from darkness to light, and translate them from the kingdom of Satan to that of His dear Son! Many of them give encouragement of their being, ere long, made the children of God in Christ Jesus. They evidently desire to do the will of God: they have a fear of doing wrong, and a strong regard for the observance of the Lord's-day. A few of them bend the knee in private prayer before God morning and evening, and say grace before and after meals. The old men and the chiefs in general afford least encouragement. However, they generally do not fail to attend prayers, and it is to be hoped that they will increase in the knowledge of God, and accept with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save their souls.

Mission
efficiency
of a native
ist.

The Committee will be glad to hear that the Esquimaux visited by the "Gens du Large" and the "Gens du Rat," appear, by the accounts I receive, to be prepared to receive religious instruction. Indeed, they know a little of the Decalogue, at least of the substance of it; and Peter, one of the "Gens du Large" Indians, on his visit with the others to the Esquimaux last summer, for the purposes of trade, undertook to speak to them of the Gospel. He says that they all listened reverently. They immediately, when told by him that he would speak to them of God, took their caps off their heads, and paid great attention to what was said to them. They were delighted on hearing the hymns. I had hoped to have been able to visit them ere long, but with my uncertain state of health at present I cannot speak so hopefully. I should rejoice to be able to do so.

Prospect of the Esquimaux.

Later in the year Mr. Kirkby is able to write of fresh encouragements; but the news from Youcon is afflicting :—

Besides the Indians at this particular spot, I am thankful to say that the truth is beginning to be felt among others. The good seed which was sown among the Indians of Bear Lake is beginning to spring up, and last August I received a most pressing invitation to visit them early next spring.

In my last year's journal I mentioned the interesting state of mind of the Indians belonging to Fort Resolution, Great Slave Lake: I rejoice to say it still continues. About six weeks ago I received a letter from them urging me to go up in the spring and instruct them. Cadieu, who was interpreter here, is now there, and, in the face of much cruel opposition from priests and others, continues to testify of the truths of Christ's blessed Gospel, and of the errors of Romanism, to all. And the consequence is, more than a third of the Indians there have left the priests altogether, united themselves to Cadieu, and are waiting for me to go up to instruct them in "the way of salvation" more fully.

I continue to receive good accounts of the work at the Youcon, but I fear Mr. Macdonald is very ill, and may be obliged to leave. A Roman-Catholic priest at Fort Good Hope declares that the moment Macdonald leaves the field he will enter into it. Oh that we had some one here to carry on that promising sphere of labour. A less expensive, or more interesting Mission, we have not in the whole country. The expenses are only 150*l.* a year, and there are at least 1000 families under instruction at the three places—Youcon, La Pierre's House, and Peel's River. There is not a more anxious, submissive, and teachable set of Indians in the country.

While the Report was passing through the press, a clergyman, the Rev. W. C. Bompas, offered to connect himself with the Society as a Missionary. The need of this distant station was suggested to him. He immediately closed with the proposal, and, within three weeks of his first offer to the Society, was on his way to North-west America.

VI. YORK FACTORY DISTRICT.

The Rev. W. Mason resides at York Factory. At the close of the year he wrote:—

I trust the good work is prospering here, though I have not striking instances of sudden conversion, or awakening revival to relate. My people are taciturn, but nevertheless their actions show that a wonderful change has been accomplished amongst them, and the contrast is very striking when the Pagan Indians come down from the interior, and begin to conjure and gamble from morning to night. Our Christian Indians are seen going down to the house of God, and in their tents the voice of praise and prayer is heard, and the blessed book is read. I have gone at all times to their tents, and I have nearly always found the book open in some one's hand. I once asked John Wastasekoot which part of the Bible he liked best. After starting with the Gospels, he went on naming book after book, until he had included nearly the whole—all profitable—all given by inspiration. I have been able to send a few cases of the Cree Bible up into the country this last summer. In one instance a truly pleasing act of self-denial took place. Mr. Spenser, of English River, was very desirous of taking up some copies of the Cree Bible with him for his Indians in that district, but his boats were full, and he could hold no more, and even his men objected taking another piece. But his zeal was not to be frustrated: he took out his only keg of sugar and replaced it with a case of Bibles. The desire for the "priceless treasure" is very strong in the interior, but the means of getting up the boon is difficult, freight-boats being so scarce, and the few that do come down cannot take up the supplies for each post. But we try to do the best we can to scatter broadcast the seeds of eternal life. How true it is "the entrance of Thy Word giveth life!"

The Salteaux of Lac la Pluie district have commenced teaching each other the syllabic character, a tribe the most stubborn of all in Rupert's Land. Yes, I heard some of them read from the Bible and Gospel History, which I had passed through the press while in England, for Mr. Horden. This I never expected to see or hear. The Lord forgive my unbelieving thoughts and mistrusts of His glorious promises respecting the heathen, however degraded, and dark, and wedded to their old superstitious customs.

VII. JAMES-BAY DISTRICT.

The Rev. J. Horden, writing from MOOSE FORT at the close of the year, thus describes his employments:—

In May we had the extreme pleasure of opening our new church. It had been so long in hand that I had almost begun to despair of seeing it opened before visiting England, for there is always much to be done here, and so few hands comparatively to do it. This is the gratuitous work of the Hon. Hudson's-Bay Company, and I cannot feel too grateful to them for it.

The Indians from Kenoogoomisse and Flying Post came here to Moose at the usual time in the month of June, but their stay here is so short, and they are so much occupied while here, that we must not expect too much from them. I however feel thankful for what I am privileged to see. Three of them I baptized, two of whom took back to their distant home young women from Moose as wives. The consequence will be that those posts will gradually be drawn more closely towards Moose, which I trust will prove of great advantage.

My journey to Rupert's House was, I think, blessed by God. I was fully expected. I had promised to go there, and many came down from very far in the interior of the country for the purpose of seeing me. I remained there a considerable time the whole of which was very fully occupied in imparting instruction. I had a large body from Mistasinne, and another from Nitchekwun, and I scarcely know which were the more earnest in their desire for spiritual knowledge.

Prospect of native agency. The Mission is bearing its fruits, and under its shadow the young are growing up, and from among them some I trust to see the bearers of glad tidings to their less-favoured brethren. But as it was, scarcely any left me without being able to read in their own language of the wonderful works of God. Oh what a happiness for them, that, go where they may, roaming through the woods, or over the extensive plains of the country, they carry with them the Word of life, from which they can draw consolation and support in every trial which may come upon them.

The Esquimaux. The Esquimaux I have been quite unable to visit. But I now send home a small book to be printed for the Esquimaux in the syllabic character, and which I mostly prepared during my last visit to Whale River. Severe trials have lately fallen upon the infant Esquimaux church, and which have only now come to my knowledge. Four only had been admitted by baptism into covenant with Christ, and of those, one was the Esquimaux interpreter from the coast of Labrador, where he had received instruction from the Moravian Missionaries. He has gone to his long home, and the only baptized woman has also gone. We may ask, Why is it so? But "the will of the Lord be done." What the Lord does we know not now, but we shall know hereafter.

All things considered, the Mission has made progress during the past year, although I have had much anxiety as to particular parts of it. I have learned much of its weak points. I have discovered that the moral stamina of the Indian is not so strong as I had considered it; that, assailed by strong temptations, and forgetting the source whence his strength is obtained, Satan gains an advantage over him.

The Rev. T. Vincent, native minister, is stationed at Albany, and has furnished satisfactory journals of his employments, and of the long journeys he has taken in the interior.

NORTH-PACIFIC MISSION.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Robert Reed Arthur Doolan, B.A., 1864.

Mr. William Duncan, 1856.

THE report of this Mission may be commenced by the testimony of independent witnesses to the importance and reality of the Christian influence exercised by the Missionaries over the Indians. The station was visited in August 1864 by a party of experienced and scientific explorers from Vancouver's Island, of which Mr. McKenzie was the leader. A report of their visit was afterwards published in a local newspaper, of which the following are extracts:—

On reaching Metlahkahtla, about seventeen miles from Fort Simpson, the party were astonished to witness all the external and internal evidences of civilization. There are about 600 natives residing in the settlement, and they live in comfortable wooden houses, built in modern style, and with glass windows. The interior of each dwelling is divided into separate apartments, and what little furniture they contain is kept in good order and clean. There is a garden attached to each house, which the owner cultivates, and in them all Mr. McKenzie saw excellent growing crops of potatoes and turnips. The people, both male and female, are all comfortably clad, the result of their own industry and provident habits. The village contains a church, part of which is used as a school during the week. Mr. McKenzie attended divine service on Sunday, and was amazed at the sight of the large congregation of native converts assembled. Their deportment and solemnity during the service he declares could not be excelled by any Christian congregation which he had ever previously united with in worship. Mr. Duncan read the Church Service, and afterwards preached in the Indian language. It was evident to Mr. McKenzie and his companions that the natives took a deep and intelligent interest in the services from beginning to end. The apathy and listlessness which is observable in the countenance of an untutored Indian has entirely departed from the Metlahkahtlas. Most of their faces are remarkable for an animated appearance and intelligent expression. Mr. Duncan teaches school during the week, and instructs the natives how to use the appliances of modern civilization in cultivating their gardens, building their houses, and sawing timber, as well as many other useful arts. He also superintends the village store, acts as magistrate, settles all disputes that may arise, and, in fact, has his hands full in performing the arduous labours which devolve upon him, and which have resulted in such complete success as scarcely to be believed, unless as Mr. McKenzie states, it has been witnessed. The contrast between the Fort-Simpson Indians, among whom Mr. McKenzie resided last winter, and the inhabitants of Metlahkahtla, is like that between darkness and light: at Fort Simpson all are in gross ignorance, barbarism, degradation, filth, and evil; whilst at Metlahkahtla, civilization, progress, enlightenment, and Christianity are everywhere observable.

A few extracts from the journals of the Missionaries will now be added. Mr. Duncan thus describes a visit to Fort Simpson in February 1864, to try to persuade the rest of the Indians to remove to the Christian settlement of Metlahkahtla:—

I have just returned from a visit to Fort Simpson. I went to proclaim the Gospel once more to the poor unfeeling heathen there. I started on Thursday, preached twice on Friday, and returned to-day.

Native
Missionary
zeal.

There is evidently a shaking of the dry bones there; but this I could see plainly, that the Indians are by no means ripe as a whole to remove to us yet. Some talk of coming soon, and spoke well. I laid the Gospel again distinctly before them, and they seemed much affected. The most pleasing circumstance of all, and which I was not prepared to expect, was, that Paul Leegair and Clat (the one in times past a formidable enemy and opposer, and the other one among the first to hear and greet the Gospel) sat by me, one on either side. After I had finished my address on each occasion they got up and spoke, and spoke well. Leegair completely shamed and confounded an old man, who, in replying to my address, had said that I had come too late to do him and other old people good; that had I come when the first white traders came, the Tsimsheans had long since been good. But they had been allowed to grow up in sin; they had seen nothing among the first whites who came amongst them to unsettle them in their old habits, but these had rather added to them fresh sins, and now their sins were deep laid, they (he and the other old people) could not change.

Remark-
versions.

Leegair interrupted him and said, "I am a chief, a Tsimshean chief. You know I have been bad, very bad, as bad as any one here. I have grown up and grown old in sin, but God has changed my heart, and He can change yours. Think not to excuse yourselves in your sins by saying you are too old and too bad to mend. Nothing is impossible with God. Come to God; try His way; He can save you." He then exhorted all to taste God's way, to give their hearts to Him, to leave all their sins; and then endeavoured to show them what they had to expect if they did so—not temporal good, not health, long life, or ease, or wealth, but God's favour here and happiness with God after death.

Clat also spoke at great length. He said, from his youth he hated heathenism, and could never be prevailed upon, not even by threats, to join them in its follies. But he did not know of any better way; but by the time he became a man God sent His Word to the Tsimshians. He soon saw that he and his people were in the dark, and that God's Word was a light, a great light shining in the darkness. He kept his eye fixed upon it, and started off towards it; he persevered till he grasped it; and now he found it to be good and sweet, a great light to his heart. He said many more things I cannot now recall.

What a glorious change was this since my first going round the camp to preach the Gospel in fear and trembling. Now I had two important men gathered out and on my side, speaking more distinctly than I could these glorious and saving truths, and trying to enforce them.

Late in April last I made a visit to the Nishkat Indians of the Naas River. I was anxious to go for two reasons first, because the Romish priests had lately been there trying to disaffect the minds of the Indians towards me; and the second reason was, I felt desirous to communicate the good news that Mr. Doolan was coming to help us, and that now he should be in a position to take up the Naas Mission in earnest. Going to the regions beyond.

I met crowds of Indians, all glad to see me. I spent two nights and a whole day with them, busy all the time conversing, visiting their sick, and preaching, and the response I met with was truly encouraging. The universal cry was, Come, come and help us.

I put the matter before Mr. Doolan. He saw at once, and embraced the call as from God. I think it will be better for him to go at once and deal with the heathen mind in its darkness and strongholds of iniquity. He will have his sympathies awakened, and his energy aroused, and he will feel more need for constant intercourse with God in prayer, than if he remained here, where there is scarcely a vestige of heathenism left.

Robert Dundas, a young Tsimshian, accompanies him, who, we hope, will prove of much service in assisting him with the language, and helping in school.

Other young men with me are framing well to become very useful in the Mission work around when the doors open for them.

Our plan is, as soon as possible to have an Indian schoolmaster placed at the head of each of the two great rivers near us—the Naas river, which is a little north, and the Skeener river, which is a little to the south.

I am happy to tell you that a trading party, with Lugaic at its head, started up the Skeener river a few days ago, carrying with them a Christian Indian, David Hall, who is to be stationed about 200 miles up the river, to trade with the interior Indians. He will make his light shine, I have no doubt; and I must, as soon as possible, have a schoolmaster alongside of him, and the two might, with God's blessing, do great good.

During the latter part of the year the Christian settlement was exposed to severe trials. Mr. Duncan was appointed a trials.

magistrate, and was required by the authorities to arrest a smuggling vessel, from which the Indians on the coast were obtaining intoxicating drink, contrary to the law of the colony. He sent five of his Indians to arrest the smuggler, one of whom was shot, and three others wounded, without capturing the smuggler. A sloop of war was immediately despatched to the assistance of Mr. Duncan, but he was involved in much trouble and secular affairs. Among his Christian people, also, the old Indian notions of revenge and compensation were for a time revived, but happily suppressed. Another severe trial was the misconduct of one in whom Mr. Duncan reposed implicit confidence. These trials, however, have, by the last accounts, been overruled for good in manifesting the deep Christian feeling and integrity of the great body of converted Indians.

The Rev. R. R. A. Doolan commenced the new station at Naas in July 1864. He has encountered the usual difficulties in a first Mission, among savage tribes, and where polygamy prevails; but he has had some encouraging instances of individuals who have earnestly applied their minds to embrace the Christian truth.

CONCLUSION.

THE foregoing annual review of the Missions of the Society points especially to the advanced progress and attainments of the native agents of the Missions. If the Committee have not dwelt so fully as on former occasions upon the work of the European Missionaries, they are as far as possible from intending any comparison between the two classes of workmen. They regard native agencies as the fruit of the toil, and labour, and faith of European Missionaries. The success and attainments of native agents is a part of the glory of the European Missionary. "Ye," said the Apostle of his converts, "are our crown of rejoicing." The Committee desire to rejoice with their Missionaries over this most encouraging aspect of their work, and to cheer them amidst their many disappointments and trials.

If a Missionary abroad surveys the vast expanse of heathenism by which he is surrounded, and thinks, "I am expected to evangelize this vast district," he will sink into despair. If we at home think the same, we shall despair also, when we reflect upon the uncertainty of European life, of health, or of efficiency in foreign lands. But if the Missionary abroad and the Church at home fix their attention upon a more immediate object, namely, to establish here and there in heathendom centres of Christian light and of native agency; if they remember that, in several instances, the Lord has so blessed these efforts that they have resulted in native Churches which have become self-extending, and, like beacons set upon a hill, diffusing light to the surrounding districts, then the aspect of modern Protestant Missions becomes full of encouragement.

True, our present efforts are utterly insignificant, compared with the vast extent of work to be done—not a three-hundredth part! Yet are our past successes harbingers of final success. Our Missions are assuming a nearer approach to the Missions of the apostolic age, when the preachers passed from country to country, kindling the lamp of life, ordaining elders in every city, and then going to the regions beyond.

Here, then, is the object for which we appeal to you this day, to sustain for a time these centres of native agencies, to multiply their number, not to suffer even a glimmering taper to be extinguished for want of pecuniary help, for it may be, in God's providence, a taper which shall light up a beacon.

Surely, with such an attainable and hopeful prospect in view, the friends of Missions will rise to fresh exertions for the extension of the Redeemer's kingdom over the whole earth.

APPENDIX I.

(See p. 62.)

TO THE RIGHT HON. THE EARL RUSSELL, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The Memorial of the Right Hon.
the President and the Committee of the Church Missionary Society.

YOUR Memorialists beg respectfully but earnestly to appeal to your Lordship against certain acts which have lately taken place at Constantinople, under the sanction of the Turkish Government, which they conceive to be at variance with the "diplomatic engagements"—to adopt a term employed in official documents in 1856—into which the Porte has entered with Great Britain.

Your Memorialists have maintained Missionaries in Constantinople for the last four years. They are men on whose experience and prudence the fullest reliance may be placed.
They have never attempted to preach in streets or bazaars, but only in private and hired rooms, to such persons as have come to them expressly seeking Christian instruction.

In such rooms, or at their own houses, they have distributed by gift, or more generally by sale, the Holy Scriptures and books in defence of the Christian faith, and pointing out the errors of Islam in a respectful and conciliatory tone. Three or four Mohammedans have embraced the Christian faith and received Christian baptism.

In the midst of these unobtrusive and legitimate labours to recommend the Christian religion to others, the hired rooms of the Missionaries were suddenly invaded by the police, without previous notice or warning, and closed;* all the Christian books were taken away, and not only their few converts, but other persons who had merely visited their rooms, were seized, imprisoned, and are threatened

restored to the Missionaries.

with deportation from their homes and employments to distant places.

Your Memorialists regard these arbitrary and violent proceedings as a direct violation of the very letter, as well as of the spirit of the Hatti-Sheriff granted February 1856, at the urgent demand of England and France, and as a condition of their
key from the grasp of Russia. The article in the Hatti-Sheriff which has been violated is in these words:—

"As all religions are freely professed in my dominions, none of my subjects shall be hindered in the exercise of the religion he professes, nor shall be molested in the exercise of it."

It appears from the Sessional Papers presented to Parliament in 1856, entitled "Eastern Papers, Part xviii., respecting Christian privileges in Turkey," that the terms of this article were the subject of much correspondence; that they were in substance drawn up by the British Ambassador at the Porte, Lord Stratford de Redcliffe, and sanctioned by Lord Clarendon, in the name of Her Majesty's Government.

It appears also from the same papers that the edict of toleration was not merely an article in the Hatti-Sheriff of 1856, but was the subject of an official engagement with the British Government. In proof of this statement, your Memorialists refer to a note of Lord Stratford de Redcliffe, January 25, 1855, (p. 56) [sanctioned by Lord Clarendon February 13, 1856, (p. 59)] which insists upon toleration and liberty of conscience in these emphatic terms:—

"England and France, as every one knows, are making gigantic efforts, and submitting to enormous sacrifices, in support of the Sultan's empire.
Though many glorious successes have marked the progress of their arms, they have still a wide field of exertion before them, and Providence alone can determine the final issue.

"Such are the circumstances under which the undersigned is instructed by his Government to press this subject most earnestly on the attention of the Ottoman Porte. He is ordered to observe that the great European powers can never consent to perpetuate, by the triumphs of their fleets and armies, the enforcement in Turkey of a law which is not only a standing insult to them, but a source of cruel persecution to their fellow-Christians. They are entitled to demand, and the British Government distinctly demands, that the Mohammedan who turns Christian shall be as free from every kind of punishment on that account as the Christian who embraces the Mohammedan faith. It stands to reason that, in all such cases, the human conscience being left free, the temporal arm must abstain from interfering to coerce its spiritual convictions."

To the same effect is a despatch of Lord Stratford de Redcliffe to Lord Clarendon, February 12, 1856 (p. 66), in which the following statement occurs:—"Your Lordship will perceive that the Porte acknowledges and confirms its former declaration respecting renegades, and extends it expressly to all, including Mussulmans, though not mentioned by name. It is an official note, signed by the Secretary of State, and given expressly with the Sultan's sanction. Taken in connexion with the article recommended by the three representatives, adopted by the Porte, and inserted in the Sultan's firman invested with a Hatti-Sheriff, it may be viewed as covering the whole of your Lordship's requisition. . . .

"The law of the Korán is not abolished, it is true, respecting renegades, and the Sultan's Ministers affirm that such a stretch of authority would exceed even His Majesty's legal power. But however that may be, the practical application of it is renounced by means of a public document, and Her Majesty's Government would at any time be justified in complaining of a breach of engagement, if the Porte were to authorise or to permit any exception to its own official declaration."

And once more your Memorialists refer to a despatch of Lord Clarendon to Lord Stratford de Redcliffe, dated Foreign Office, March 5, 1856 (p. 81), in which these words occur:—

"I have to state to your Excellency that Her Majesty's Government are satisfied with the reply which the Porte has thus made to the representations of Her Majesty's Government on this subject, and they consider that the declarations contained in Fuad Pasha's note may be effectually appealed to hereafter if any renewal should take place of molestation of converts from Islam to Christianity."

It must be borne in mind that Christian Missionaries were at this time labouring in Constantinople and other parts of the Turkish dominions, and that some Turks had been already converted to Christianity. It is clear, therefore, that the terms and spirit of these documents guarantee to the Mohammedan convert the exercise of all legitimate means of informing his conscience by resort to Christian Missionaries, and that it guarantees to those Missionaries the reasonable and peaceable exercise of their office. It would have been a mere mockery to guarantee to the inquirer immunity after he had actually embraced the Christian faith, whilst the "temporal arm" might interfere to prevent all reasonable means of his becoming acquainted with the claims of the Christian religion.

Your Memorialists therefore take their stand upon the concessions and stipulations between the Turkish Government and the British Government in 1856, in behalf of religious toleration in Turkey, and they contend that their Missionaries have in no respect violated on their part the spirit of that agreement, and they claim that they should not be brought under any such restrictions as are inconsistent with the concessions of 1856.

They claim also on behalf of the Turkish converts and inquirers, that they shall have the full liberty of conscience and exemption from all molestation, to which the Porte pledged itself to the British Government in the "Diplomatic Agreement" entered into in 1856.

Your Memorialists cannot close this statement without referring to certain excuses which are now made by the Turkish Government for their injurious conduct — excuses which were anticipated and repudiated in the correspondence of 1856.

The first excuse of the Turkish Government is, that the converts have been imprisoned for their personal safety. The same excuse was made in 1856, and was repudiated by Lord Stratford de Redcliffe in a despatch October 16, 1855, (p. 27) in these words:—

"The confinement of accused individuals, their removal to a distance for trial, and their temporary exile, were treated as means employed of necessity by the Government to evade the violence or to deceive the bigotry of an exasperated populace." But Lord Stratford premises, "This is an excuse which it is dangerous to accept." And when, a short time afterwards, he drew up the article of toleration in the Hatti-Sheriff, he manifestly shut the door against such "a dangerous excuse" for the time to come.

Yet on the present occasion Her Majesty's Ambassador has informed the Missionaries that the native converts were placed in confinement for their own protection, and as a measure of precaution against popular excitement, and that as they were Turkish subjects he could not interfere. Your Memorialists have much reliable evidence to the effect that the plea of a popular disturbance in the present case had no sufficient foundation; but they regard the excuse, under any circumstances, as one "which it is dangerous to accept."

A second excuse has been made by the Turkish Government, viz. that they cannot allow the Mussulman religion to be insulted. Thus in 1856 the Turkish Government justified the putting a renegade to death, on the ground that he was guilty of blasphemy against Mohammed. But Lord Clarendon, in his despatch September 17, 1855 (p. 24) wrote:—

"Her Majesty's Government are aware that it may be said by the Turkish Government, that in these cases (namely, the putting of apostates to death) the victims suffered death, not for change of religion, but for blasphemy: but such an excuse would be a mere evasion, because a departure from Mohammedanism and the profession of Christianity must be accompanied by circumstances which a Turk would easily represent as constituting blasphemy."

And Lord Stratford de Redcliffe addressed the Porte in these words (p. 56):—

"The Porte will doubtless bear in mind that society may be secured against sedition working under religious forms, and that religion itself may be secured from reproach by special enactments, applied with judgment and moderation to cases of open turbulence and undisguised blasphemy."

But on the present occasion the following loose and arbitrary dicta of the Turkish Government have been communicated by the Ambassador to the Missionaries:—

"The Turkish Government will not allow any attempt, public or private, to assail the Mussulman religion."

"Government will not allow the Missionaries or their agents to speak publicly against Mohammedanism."

"The Turkish Government thinks you insult the Mussulman religion when you endeavour to prove to the Mussulman public that it is false."

"It will not allow the sale or distribution, public or private, of any controversial books."

Your Memorialists understand that Dr. Pfander's controversial works have been represented as insulting to Mohammedanism. Sir Edmund

Hornby, the Consular Judge at Constantinople, has already obtained from Dr. Pfander a full account of these works, which is to be transmitted to your Lordship. Your Memorialists will only therefore observe, that these works were first published in India fifteen years ago. Nearly 60,000 copies of them have been printed, and large numbers have been circulated in India, mainly through the exertions and at the expense of civil and military officers of the Indian Government, on the ground that they are written in a candid and conciliatory tone, and are specimens of fair and able controversy. No charge has ever been made against them of insulting the Mohammedan religion. Their character is thus described by an experienced Missionary in India, without any reference to the present case. The Rev. J. G. Deimler, a Missionary among the Mohammedans of Bombay and its vicinity, writes in one of his last letters:—"Dr. Pfander's works are everywhere well received, as being solid and profound, exhibiting the truth as it is in Jesus against the falsehoods of Islam, in a mild and persuasive rather than in a denouncing tone, and showing a thorough acquaintance with the Moslem literature and habits of thought."

No. I.—Form of Bequest of a Common Legacy.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East the sum of _____ Pounds free of Legacy duty* for the general purposes of the said Society to be paid within _____ calendar months next after my death, exclusively out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may be bequeathed for charitable purposes and in priority to all other payments thereof but to be subject to abate proportionably with other Legacies in case my general Personal Estate shall be insufficient for payment of them all in full. And I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society [or each of the said Societies] shall be an effectual discharge for the said Legacy [or Legacies respectively].

No. II.—Form of Bequest of the Residue, or a Share of the Residue.

And in order to give full effect to the bequest hereinafter contained for charitable purposes I direct that my Debts, the expenses of my funeral and of the probate and execution of this my Will and the Legacies bequeathed by this my Will or any Codicil thereto† shall be paid out of such part of my personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may not be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the primary Fund; and in case only of the same being insufficient for payment thereof then out of such part of my personal Estate as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the ultimate Fund; and subject as aforesaid, I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, for the general purposes of the said Society, such part of my residuary personal Estate as by the Laws in force may be bequeathed for charitable purposes [or if a share only of the residue be intended to be given, then, instead of the words in Italics, say, “such sum of money as shall be equal to one-fourth or one-half, (according to the intention) of my whole residuary personal Estate to be paid exclusively out of such part thereof as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes or such less sum as the said last mentioned part of my personal Estate will extend to pay”]. And I declare that the Receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be an effectual discharge for the said residue [or sum of money, as the case may be]. And as to the remainder if any of my general residuary personal Estate I bequeath the same, &c. §

† In case there be other charitable Legacies, insert here, “other than and except charitable Legacies.”

‡ If it be intended also to charge the Debts and Legacies on real Estate, then add “and in the next place out of my Freehold and Copyhold Estates.”

§ The latter Clause to be filled up according to the Testator's wishes; but it must not be for any charitable purpose

* * This mark * denotes that the Sermon was preached at St. Ann's, Blackfriars; this †, that it was preached at St. Bride's, Fleet Street; the Twenty-third was preached at Christ Church, Newgate Street; the Thirty-first at St. Sepulchre's; the Thirty-second at St. Clement Danes; and the Thirty-third at St. Andrew's, Holborn.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

THE Committee of the Church Missionary Society request the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations to transmit the proceeds of their respective Associations, together with the Contribution Lists and Accounts, as soon after the close of their Financial Year as possible. The Lists and Accounts should be written legibly, to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report. The Local Officers being appointed by the Associations, their names, as well as the date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, should be specified. Where the Account or the List is a printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

The Committee would also point out, for wider adoption, the convenience of a practice already very generally observed by Associations, of making remittances on account whenever any considerable proportion of the year's receipts is in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This practice, they have reason to believe, would be acceptable to many of their Contributors, and would tend to equalize in a greater degree the income and expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial Year.

The Society's General Accounts are closed on the 31st of March, and all Moneys and Lists belonging to the year must be received at the Society's House by that date, in order that the Lists may be inserted in their proper place in the Report.

The appending of the Lists and Accounts of the Associations to the Annual Report is a general acknowledgment to the Local Contributors that their Contributions have been received by the Parent Society; and the Committee are desirous of preventing the dissatisfaction which they are aware is occasioned by the omission of the Lists in the Report in consequence of the Money or the List having been received too late for insertion.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, the Accounts of the Branches should be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the period for forwarding the Accounts of the Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches should be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

To prevent mistakes, it is requested that Branch Associations will in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society.

The Committee return their cordial thanks to the Treasurers of Associations, and to those friends who kindly fill the office of Secretary—an office which, they are well aware, draws largely on the time and attention of those who occupy it, but on the efficient discharge of the duties of which, the prosperity of an Association chiefly depends.

N.B. Benefactors of Ten Pounds and upward, whose Names have appeared in former Lists of the Associations, will find them in the List of "Benefactions of former Years."
