STATIONS, MISSIONARIES, AND OTHER LABOURERS, MAY 1866.

* By MISSIONARY, is to be understood one in Holy Orders; and by CATECHIST, one who engages in such religious care and instruction of the people as may be consistent with his character as a Layman. The letter (m) means Married.—Wives of Missionaries, &c., though not named, except when engaged in some specific employment, are always expected by the Society to lay themselves out to do good, in every practicable way, among Native Females; such as, cultivating familiar intercourse with them, educating children, and instructing Female Adults.

A STATION, is the place at which a Missionary or European Catechist is stationed, or at which Native Christians are located under Native pastoral superintendence in connexion with the Society.

The figures after the Names of the European Labourers sent from Europe show the date of their first leaving Europe.

The asterisk (*) denotes that the Missionary is on his way out. The mark (†) that he is on his way home.

CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY FOR AFRICA AND THE EAST.

I. THIS Institution shall be designated "The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East;" and shall be conducted by a Patron or Patrons, a Vice-Patron, a President, Vice-Presidents, a Committee, and such Officers as may be deemed necessary, all being Members of the Established Church.

II. The office of PATRON of the Society shall be reserved for such Members of the Royal Family as may honour it with their protection; and that of VICE-PATRON for His Grace the Primate of all England, if, being a Member of the Society, he shall accept the office. The PRESIDENT shall be such Temporal Peer or Commoner as may be appointed to that office; and VICE-PRESIDENTS shall consist of all Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, who, being Members of the Society, shall accept the office; and of such Temporal Peers and Commoners as, being also Members, shall be appointed thereto.

OF MEMBERS AND GOVERNORS.

III. Annual Subscribers of One Guinea and upward, and if Clergyman, Half-a-Guinea, with Collectors of Fifty-two Shillings and upward per annum, shall be Members of the Society during the continuance of such Subscriptions or Collections. Benefactors of Ten Guineas or upward, Clergymen making Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas, and Executors paying to the amount of Fifty Pounds, shall be Members for Life.

IV. Annual Subscribers of Five Guineas shall be Governors during the continuance of such Subscription; and Benefactors of Fifty Pounds and upward shall be Governors for Life.

V. Members and Governors of Associations who contribute the above sums shall be considered as Members and Governors of the Parent Society.

VI. The Committee shall have the power of appointing such persons as have rendered essential services to the Society, either Members for Life, or Governors for Life.

OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

VII. An Annual Meeting of the Members of the Society shall be held in London, on the First Tuesday in May; unless that day shall fall on the 7th of May, in which case the Annual Meeting shall be held, for that year, on Tuesday the 30th of April; when the Proceedings of the foregoing year shall be reported, the Accounts presented, and a Treasurer and Committee chosen.

VIII. A Special General Meeting of the Members of the Society, at which not less than Thirty shall constitute a Quorum, shall be called at any time, at the requisition of the General Committee; or by any Thirteen Members, on addressing a Letter to the Secretary, specifying the object of the Meeting. Ten days' notice shall be given in Three public Newspapers, of any such intended Meeting, and of the purpose for which it is called; which shall be deemed sufficient publicity.

IX. None of the Rules of the Society shall be repealed or altered, nor any new ones established, but at the Annual Meeting, or at a Special Meeting called for that purpose.

X. An Anniversary Sermon shall be preached at some Church in London, by a Clergyman appointed by the General Committee. An Annual Report of the Society shall be printed, for the use of its Members.

OF THE COMMITTEE.

XI. The Committee shall consist of Twenty-four Lay Members of the Established Church; and of all such Clergymen as are Members of the Society. Eighteen Members shall be annually appointed from the Old Committee, and Six from the General Body.

XII. The COMMITTEE shall elect, at their First Meeting in every year, either from among themselves, or from the other Members of the Society (being Members of the Established Church), a Committee of Patronage, a Committee of Funds, a Committee of Correspondence, and a Committee of Accounts. Each of the said Committees shall keep Minutes of its Proceedings, and shall report the same to the General Committee.

XIII. The office of the Committee of Patronage is, to procure patronage and support to the Society; and to nominate, to the General Committee, proper persons as Patrons and Vice-Presidents of the Society.

XIV. The office of the Committee of Funds is, to circulate information respecting the Society; to adopt proper means of augmenting the Subscriptions and Benefactions; to obtain Collections in Churches and Chapels; and to nominate, from time to time, to the General Committee, suitable persons to act as Agents for the Society in the principal Towns throughout the Empire.

XV. The office of the Committee of Correspondence is, to seek for proper Missionaries to superintend their instruction, and to correspond with them when sent out.

XVI. The office of the Committee of Accounts is, to see that the Subscriptions are duly received, regulate the accounts, and undertake the charge of fitting out and conveying the Missionaries to their places of destination.

XVII. The General Committee shall receive the Reports of the other Committees, shall appoint the places where Missions shall be attempted, shall direct the scale upon which they shall be conducted, and shall superintend the affairs of the Society in general.

XVIII. The General Committee shall meet on the Second Monday in every Month, and oftener if needful; the other Committees as often, and at such places, as shall be by them agreed on: their Meetings to be always opened with reading a Form of Prayer composed for that purpose, or one or more suitable Prayers selected from the Liturgy. Five Members shall be necessary to compose a General Committee; and Three, each of the others. In cases of equality of votes, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

XIX. The Patrons, Vice-Patron, and President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Secretaries, shall be considered, ex-officio, Members of all Committees.

XX. Governors, being Members of the Established Church, shall be entitled to attend and vote at all Meetings of the General Committee.

XXI. All payments on account of the Society shall be signed by Three of the General Committee, in Committee, and the Lay Secretary.

XXII. The Committee shall have power to appoint such Officers and Assistants as they shall deem necessary for the well-conducting of the affairs of the Society, subject to the approbation of the next Annual Meeting.

XXIII. Five Auditors shall be appointed by the Committee, annually, for the purpose of auditing the Accounts of the Society, of whom, Three shall be chosen from the General Body. Three shall be a Quorum.

XXIV. The Life Subscriptions, or a sufficient part thereof to be equal to the Subscriptions of the existing Members for Life, shall be placed in the Public Funds, in the names of Four of the General Committee; who, on their acceptance of the trust, shall sign a declaration of the nature of it, and that they will relinquish the same whenever called upon for that purpose by the General Committee.

OF MISSIONARIES.

XXV. In the appointment of Candidates for the Missionary Office, the following course shall be pursued: The Committee of Correspondence having found a person supposed to be suitable, shall determine by ballot to nominate him to the General Committee. Previous to the day of nomination, each Member of the General Committee shall receive notice of such nomination. On the day of nomination, a report shall be made, by some Member of the Committee of Correspondence, of his qualifications; and the General Committee shall then proceed to ballot for him, unless any Member shall declare that he wishes for further information; in which case the ballot shall be deferred till the next Meeting of the General Committee. In the ballot of either Committee, the agreement of at least Three-fourths of the Members present shall be necessary to his election.

XXVI. A Candidate thus chosen shall receive instruction in such parts of knowledge, and be prepared in such a manner for his future employment, as the Committee of Correspondence shall judge expedient.

XXVII. If, during such preparation, any Two Members of the General Committee should see cause to disapprove of his principles or conduct, they may submit the subject to a Special Meeting of the Committee; and, if deemed proper, the Committee may appoint another ballot, to determine whether he shall be continued as a Candidate; of which special notice shall be given to each Member.

XXVIII. Each Candidate shall consider himself as engaged to go to any part of the world, and at any time, which the Committee shall choose: respect, however, being had to his personal circumstances, or to any previous stipulation made by him with the Society. As soon as he quits England, he shall keep a regular Journal of his studies and proceedings; a copy of which he shall send, as often as opportunity shall serve, to the Secretaries.

XXIX. Each candidate, after due preparation, shall, if not admitted to Holy Orders, be appointed by the Committee to act as a Catechist. If admitted to Holy Orders, he shall be appointed a Missionary.*

XXX. The Missionaries who go out under the direction of this Society shall be allowed to visit home, permission having been previously obtained from the General Committee: and after having laboured in the cause of the Society, to the satisfaction of the Committee, at the Stations committed to their care, until age or infirmity prevent further exertion, suitable provision shall be made to render their remaining days comfortable. The General Committee shall have the power to assist also, in particular cases, the dependent Relatives of those Missionaries, who, by devoting themselves to the service of the Society, are prevented from contributing to their support.

XXXI. A friendly intercourse shall be maintained with other Protestant Societies engaged in the same benevolent design of propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

XXXII. That all questions relating to matters of Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, respecting which a difference shall arise between any Colonial Bishop and any Committee of the Society, shall be referred to the Archbishops and Bishops of the United Church of England and Ireland, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

XXXIII. That the object of the preceding Law being only to provide a mode of settling questions relating to Ecclesiastical Order and Discipline, as to which no provision has yet been made by the Society, it is not to be so construed, as, in any other respect, to alter the principles and practice of the Society, as they are contained in its Laws and Regulations, and explained in Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Report.

The proposed reference shall be made, through His Grace the Primate, by the Committee, accompanied by such explanations and statements as the Committee may deem advisable; and the Committee will be bound so to refer all questions, falling within the scope of the Rule so understood as aforesaid, which the Colonial Bishop shall require them to refer.

While all decisions of the Bench of Bishops on questions so referred will be considered by the Committee as binding on them and their agents or representatives, the Colonial Bishops or other Ecclesiastical Authorities, unless concurring in the reference, cannot properly be considered as so bound.

XXXIV. It is recommended to every Member of the Society to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs; under the full conviction, that, unless He "prevent us, in all our doings, with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope to meet with persons of a proper spirit and qualifications to be Missionaries, or expect their endeavours to be crowned with success.

* The following passage, from Appendix II. to the Thirty-ninth Annual Report illustrates the practice of the Society in reference to this Rule:—

"The Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth [ecclesiastically speaking] our Missionaries: these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same Colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church."

APPENDIX II. TO THE THIRTY-NINTH REPORT.

REFERRED TO IN THE NOTE TO LAW XXIX.

REMARKS ON THE CONSTITUTION AND PRACTICE OF THE
TO ITS ECCLESIASTICAL RELATIONS.

It is the object of the following Remarks to show, that the constitution and practice of the Church Missionary Society are in strict conformity with Ecclesiastical principles, as they are recognised in the constitution and practice of the Church of England.

Throughout the system of the Church of England there is a recognised co-operation of temporal and spiritual functions in MATTERS ECCLESIASTICAL; that is, the Laity and Clergy have not only their separate and distinct provinces, but, in many important respects, they unite their agency for the accomplishing of Ecclesiastical acts.

For instance, in supplying a vacant Church, a Lay-Patron selects and presents "his Clerk"—as the Clergyman is technically called—to the Bishop; who thereupon invests him with authority to minister in that Church. So, also, there are certain Lay-officers appointed to every Church—the Churchwardens or Sidesmen—whose duty it is, not only to guard, in conjunction with the Minister, the temporalities of the Church, but also to watch over the due performance of Divine Service, the morals of the parishioners, and the conduct of the Minister; and to report, from time to time, on each of these matters, to the Ecclesiastical Authorities. The duty of these officers is implied in the old appellation, "Sidesmen," or "Synodsmen"—men summoned to attend and give information at Synods and Visitations.

The distinction and co-operation of lay and spiritual functions in the Church of England might be further illustrated in the case of Ecclesiastical Courts, and various relations which arise out of the principle, that the Sovereign is the Supreme Ruler of the Church.

Keeping the foregoing distinction in view, the Church Missionary Society may be regarded as an Institution for discharging the temporal and lay offices necessary for the preaching of the Gospel among the Heathen. It is strictly a Lay Institution: it exercises, as a Society, no spiritual functions whatsoever.

Such being the constitution of the Society in theory—are its proceedings conducted in conformity with this theory, and with the Ecclesiastical principles of the Church of England?

In order to review these proceedings, they may be conveniently arranged under the FOUR following Heads:

I. THE COLLECTION OF THE HOME REVENUE, and THE DISBURSEMENT OF IT ABROAD.

These acts are altogether within the province of Laymen.

II. THE SELECTING AND EDUCATING CANDIDATES FOR MISSIONARY EMPLOYMENT.

In this department there is no necessary encroachments upon spiritual functions. The Colleges in our Universities are Lay-Corporations, and may, in many cases, be administered and presided over by Laymen.

Yet it may be urged, that in this department there is an approach to the peculiar province of Clergymen; because spiritual persons seem the more proper judges of a Candidate's fitness for Missionary employment: and it is generally admitted, that a Bishop may exercise a control over the education and training of Candidates to be advanced by himself to Holy Orders. Now, in both these particulars the Church Missionary Society has carefully guarded its proceedings. The examination of Missionary Candidates is referred to a Clerical Sub-Committee; and the General Committee consult and act upon the report of this Clerical trial and judgment. In respect of the other point, the education and training of Candidates for Holy Orders, the Church Missionary College at Islington has the sanction and approbation of the Bishop of London; who, in this country, admits to Holy Orders all the Society's Candidate: and his Lordship has repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the results of the system of instruction, as they have been manifested in his examinations for Holy Orders.

III. THE Third general head of the Society's proceedings is, THE SENDING FORTH, TO PARTICULAR STATIONS, THE MISSIONARIES THUS ORDAINED, OR OTHER CLERGYMEN WHO HAVE BEEN PREVIOUSLY ORDAINED.

Now, here an objection against the Society has been founded on the use of the term "sending forth:"—it sounds like an exercise of Ecclesiastical power. But, Ecclesiastically speaking, the Bishop of London "sends forth" every Missionary ordained by him. The Law of the land has sanctioned the Two Archbishops, and the Bishop of London, in ordaining persons to officiate abroad. The Secretary of the Church Missionary Society requests, by Letter, the Bishop of London to ordain, in conformity with the provisions of the Act of Parliament, such and such persons, whom the Society is willing to support in some Foreign Station. The Bishop, by the imposition of hands, gives them authority to preach the Gospel, with a view to their Foreign location.—In the case of persons already in Holy Orders, who may join the Society, they may be said to go forth by their own voluntary act; but their Letters of Orders, given by a Bishop of our Church, are their mission and commission, Ecclesiastically speaking.

Hence, to call the acts of the Church Missionary Society—in selecting the station, paying the passage-money, and agreeing to provide the Missionary's salary—to call these acts a SENDING FORTH of Preachers, in an Ecclesiastical sense, is to confound names with things, and to lose sight of all true Church principles.

IV. The Fourth general head under which the proceedings of the Church Missionary Society may be arranged, is, THE SUPERINTENDENCE OF MISSIONARIES IN THEIR LABOURS AMONG THE HEATHEN.

Here a distinction must be made between the case of those Foreign Stations which lie within the jurisdiction of a Colonial Bishop, and other stations, which are not so situated, and may therefore be termed Extra-diocesan.

In the first case, the Church Missionary Society has expressly determined, that all its ordained Missionaries shall be submitted for licence to the Bishop of the diocese in which they may be stationed; and that no Missionary shall exercise his spiritual functions in such diocese without a licence. The Society has further recognised the uncontrolled discretion of the Bishop to grant or withhold his licence, and the propriety of specifying in such licence a particular district as the field of labour; so that a Missionary cannot be removed from one district to another without the sanction of the Bishop.

These principles were stated in a Letter from the Society to the Bishop of Calcutta, signed by the Right Honourable the President—December 17, 1835—in a manner so satisfactory to the Bishop, that he embodied them in the four following Rules, expressed for the most part in the words of the Society's Letter: which were, at the Bishop's request, entered upon the minutes of the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, as the recognised Rules of their practice:—

"1. The Bishop expresses—by granting or withholding his licence, in which the sphere of the Missionary's labour is mentioned—his approbation, or otherwise, of that location.

"2. The Bishop superintends the Missionaries afterward, as the other Clergy, in the discharge of their Ecclesiastical duties.

"3. The Bishop receives from those—the Committee and Secretary—who still stand in the relation of Lay-Patrons to the Missionary, such communications respecting his Ecclesiastical duties as may enable the Bishop to discharge that paternal superintendence to the best advantage.—The Archdeacon of [Calcutta or Bombay acting under the Bishop's immediate directions when he happens to be absent.

"4. If the Bishop* or Archdeacon fills, at the request of the Society, the offices of Patron, President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, &c., he receives, further, all such confidential information, on all topics, as the Bishops officially neither could wish nor properly ask [to receive]."

The Bishop also wrote to the Parent Society in the following terms:—"You seem to me to lay down the principle most correctly..... This is to me perfectly satisfactory; as I shall instantly inform the Archbishop of Canterbury, to whom I report all the proceedings of the diocese."—9th June 1836.

It will be perceived, that the Missionaries, thus licensed, stand toward the Bishop in the relation rather of Stipendiary Curates, than of Beneficed Clergymen. For a Bishop in England cannot refuse a license or institution to a benefice, without assigning a reason which will bear investigation before a Court of Common Law; nor can he deprive a Clergyman of his benefice without a judicial process. But no law has provided any such check in the case of Missionaries: the Bishop has the power of withholding a licence, or of withdrawing it, at his sole discretion, without assigning any cause, as in the case of Stipendiary Curates in this country.

If it be asked, What are the checks and safeguards against the undue exercise of this discretionary power of the Bishop?—it may be replied, in the words of the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Parent Society, April 12, 1837:—

"We are not to take for granted, that discretionary power will be abused; but, on the contrary, to provide, by a cheerful and friendly spirit and conduct, against the likelihood of such an occurrence. If the event of arbitrary conduct should arise, or be supposed to arise, the remedies are—public opinion—an appeal to the Archbishop—and the Society's refusing to make other appointments and locations than those unreasonably objected to. Nothing is the least likely—and probability is the guide of life—to arise to impede or cramp the Committee; since they unquestionably and avowedly possess, The choice of men—The appointment of spheres of labour—The temporal power, including pecuniary support."

But though the Bishop's licence is at once the pledge and proof that the Society's Missionaries are under Episcopal superintendence and jurisdiction, and that the spiritual oversight rests altogether with the Bishop; yet the Society may seem, to some persons, to keep up a kind of spiritual jurisdiction and oversight, by requiring accounts from the Missionaries of all their proceedings, and by giving them directions, from time to time, which may bear upon their spiritual duties. But it must be remembered, that the Society stands toward its Missionaries in the relation of Trustees of the fund out of which their salaries are paid. In the case of a Beneficed Clergyman in this country, the Minister is the guardian and possessor of the temporalities of the benefice, because the benefice is an endowment; and the Patron has no further connexion with the Minister whom he has once presented to the Bishop. In our case, the office of Patron is, in a sense, perpetuated by the payment of the salary, and the possession of all the temporalities of the Mission.

This matter has been well explained by the Bishop of Calcutta, in a Letter to the Calcutta Corresponding Committee, May 26, 1837:—"The Missionary Committee," says his Lordship, "have a far greater latitude in India than any Lay-Patrons at home. Upon presenting his Clerk to the Bishop, the Patron at home is functus officio. The Clergyman is removed, on being once instituted and licensed, totally and for ever from the Patron, and is transferred to the superintendency of the Bishop. The Patron has nothing whatever more to do with him. But in India, the Committee is (1) the continued paymaster of the Missionary after he is duly licensed;—for institution and induction there are none. (2) They correspond with him. (3) They supply him with Catechists. (4) They report his chief proceedings home. (5) They propose removals and changes of Station to the Bishop. (6) They exercise, unavoidably, an influence which does not belong to the mere Lay-Patron; and are aiding, in a variety of ways, to the comfortable and honourable discharge of the Missionary's most exalted and most spiritual duties."

It remains to consider the case of those Stations which are Extra-diocesan; i.e. where there is no Colonial Bishop of the Church of England having jurisdiction over them.

In these cases, the Society has endeavoured to procure for such Stations the benefits of the Episcopal office from the nearest Bishop of the Church of England. Application was made by the Committee both to the late and to the present Bishop of Madras to extend, as far as circumstances would admit these benefits to the Mission of Travancore; which as an independent state, not forming part of the British Dominions, was not included in the diocese of Madras. A similar application was made on behalf of the New-Zealand Mission, to the Bishop of Australia; who at once acceded to the request, and kindly promised to visit New Zealand as soon as his other duties would permit; stating, in a Letter to the Society's representatives at Sydney, "It is highly satisfactory to me, that our friends at home are taking a view of these things which proves them to belong, not only to a MISSIONARY, but also to a CHURCH Society." (See Annual Report, 1838.)

Such is a General View of the Constitution and Proceedings of the Church Missionary Society.

It is not intended to assert, that errors are no sometimes committed in the application of these principles to matters of detail. It must be remembered that Missionary operations are, alas! new and anomalous in the system of the Church of England; and that it is not always easy to draw a definite line between the two provinces which belong respectively to the Bishop and the Committee. It has been observed by the Bishop of Calcutta—Letter, May 26, 1837: "The boundaries of the power of Committees, as they approach to those of the Bishop, can be ascertained, in many points, only by time and observation." Perplexities have consequently occurred; and, unhappily, misunderstandings have sometimes arisen between the Representatives of the Society abroad and Ecclesiastical Authorities. But these are the principles by which the Home Committee have endeavoured to guide the proceedings of the Society: and they confidently respond to a sentiment expressed by the Bishop of Calcutta—"The principles of our new relations are now fully recognized: the details will soon find their level."—Letter, 9th June 1836.

In reviewing the Ecclesiastical relations of the Church Missionary Society, there are two or three points which it seems very important to notice.

1. Missionary operations, as they are conducted by the Church Missionary Society, though apparently anomalous in the system of the Church of England, are yet in strict conformity with its constitution and principles: they are analogous to many other instances of voluntary exertion for the extension of true religion within the Church, in which Ecclesiastical authority and Lay co-operation unite for the accomplishment of the same end: so that these operations may be regarded as the acts of the Church of England, putting forth its energy for the Conversion of the Heathen World. For it has been shown, that the Bishops of the Church, under the authority of the law of the land, ordain and send forth our Missionaries—that these Missionaries are licensed and superintended abroad, in every case where it is practicable, by Colonial Bishops of the Church of England; as are the other Clergymen of the Church officiating in the same colony. The Services which the Missionaries perform are in strict conformity with the Ritual and Discipline of the Church. Even in the few cases in which Lutheran Clergymen are employed, this rule is observed; and all the congregations which are gathered into the fold of Christ are trained up as Members of the Church established in this land.

And here it may be observed, that nothing less than the sanction of a duly-assembled Convocation can more fully identify the acts of any Missionary Society, within the Church of England, with the Church.* Without such sanction, all associations of Churchmen must stand in the same position. Still further, not to notice the present abeyance of Convocations, it may be asserted, that even if the Church were to assemble in her provincial Convocations, and to decree and to regulate Missionary operations, such proceedings could not essentially add to, or alter, those important particulars which, under present circumstances, entitle the operations of the Church Missionary Society to be regarded as Missionary operations of the United Church of England and Ireland.

2. It must be ever borne in mind, that Missionary operations are, in their very nature, temporary and preparative;—that they are to be gradually but eventually superseded by a different order of things, when the Heathen Nations shall have become Christianized. In some cases, as in the West Indies, this change is further advanced than in others. Now, it must be expected, that in proportion as this change advances, difficulties and perplexities will arise in our Ecclesiastical relations, peculiar to this TRANSITION STATE—from Missionary operations, to that happy consummation when there shall be an endowed and established system of Christian Instruction, and a territorial division of Ministerial labour.

February, 1839.

This consummation the Church Missionary Society has ever kept in view, and devoutly desired; and, as far as possible, has prepared for its approach. In an interview with the Bishop of Barbadoes—April 1835—this point was expressly alluded to; and it was stated by the Committee to his Lordship, "that whenever a district should be brought into the state of an organized Christian community, it should assume entirely the Parochial form, and cease to be occupied as a Missionary Station.—The Bishop entirely acquiesced in this view; and only expressed his anxiety that it should not be so acted upon as prematurely to deprive a district of the Missionary's services."—(Extracts from Committee's Minutes.)

3. Lastly, it must be evident, from a review of the whole subject, that our Ecclesiastical relations depend, in many important respects, upon a mutual confidence and good understanding between the Committee and its representatives, and the Ecclesiastical Authorities both at home and abroad. This must be the case, to argue upon no higher grounds, while those relations are governed by Ecclesiastical laws and canons made without reference to Missionary operations, for an Established Church in a Christian country; and where so much is also necessarily left to the discretion of both parties. If we look to our Home operations, the Committee places confidence in the Bishop of London, that he will continue to ordain the Missionary Candidates introduced to his Lordship by the Society, according to the provisions of the Act; and the Lord Bishop of London relies upon the Committee's using every means to select, train, and duly qualify proper Candidates to be thus introduced to him.

So, also, in its Foreign operations, the Society places confidence in the Colonial Bishops—as it has been already shown, in a quotation from the Letter of Bishop Wilson—that they will not exercise an unreasonable or arbitrary discretion, in withholding or withdrawing licences from our Missionaries, or in refusing ordination to our Candidates. And the Bishops, by granting licences and ordination to the Missionaries of a voluntary Society, whose income is liable to fluctuations, and whose agents are constantly changing, manifestly place confidence in the Committees, that they will use every endeavour to keep up the Missions once established; and that they will not, on their part, act in an unreasonable or arbitrary manner, or withdraw the salary from a licensed Missionary, without reason sufficient to prove to the licensing Bishop the necessity of the proceedings.

It seems impossible to supersede this conventional understanding—as it may be termed—till Missions are supported by endowments, or till a code of Missionary canons be established by competent authority.

This mutual confidence and good understanding now exists, it may be thankfully asserted, between the Committee of the Society and the Ecclesiastical Authorities of every Colonial Diocese in which Missionaries are labouring. And may He, who is the God, not of confusion, but of peace, and "the great Shepherd and Bishop of Souls," unite together the hearts and hands of those who are labouring in this Holy Cause—"that all and every of these may, IN THEIR SEVERAL CALLINGS, serve truly and pain-fully, to the glory of His name!"

H. V.

At the Annual Meeting of the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, held in Exeter Hall, Strand, on Tuesday, May the 1st, 1866, being the Sixty-seventh Anniversary—

The Right Hon. the LORD BISHOP OF RIPON, Vice-President, in the unavoidable absence of the President, in the Chair.

PREBENDARY OF HEREFORD,

On the Motion of the LORD BISHOP OF CARLISLE, V.P., seconded by the Rev. W. PAKENHAM WALSH, M.A., of Sandford, Dublin, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the Report, of which an Abstract has now been read, be received, and printed under the direction of the Committee; that the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Very Rev. William Magee, D.D., for his Sermon before the Society last evening; to His Grace the Vice-Patron; to the Right Hon. the President and the Vice-Presidents; and to all those friends who, during the past year, have exerted themselves in its behalf; and that the following Gentlemen be appointed the Committee for the ensuing year, with power to fill up vacancies—[See List, p. iv.]

On the Motion of COLONEL SIR HERBERT B. EDWARDES, K.C.B., V.P., seconded by the Rev. W. SAUMAREZ SMITH, M.A., Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, and late Chaplain to the Bishop of Madras, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That the speedy triumph of Christianity in British India becomes every day more hopeful, if the proclamation of the Gospel be viewed in connexion with the momentous changes which are going forward in the political, social, and intellectual habits of the people.

On the Motion of the Rev. JOHN I. JONES, Missionary from Ceylon, seconded by the Rev. SAMUEL HASSELL, late Missionary in Bengal, it was

RESOLVED UNANIMOUSLY,

That this Meeting thankfully acknowledges the cordial and liberal response of the friends of the Society to the appeal for an increase of funds. It receives this success as a pledge that the increasing wants of the Society will be provided for by increased exertions on its behalf; and tracing all to the Author of every good gift, this Meeting calls upon the friends of the Society to unite in earnest prayer for the outpouring of the Spirit, and especially for the supply of faithful labourers in the Lord's vineyard abroad.

At a Second Meeting, held in Exeter Hall, on the Evening of the same Day—

The Ven. R. B. HONE, M.A., Archdeacon of Worcester, in the Chair.

Addresses were delivered by the Rev. H. Andrews, Missionary from Travancore, Lieut.-Col. W. J. Martin, late of the Punjab Mission, and the Ven. Archdeacon Hunter, M.A., late of Rupert's Land, Suggested Order of Proceedings at a Meeting preparatory to the Formation of an Association in aid of the Church Missionary Society.

1.—Mr. will move, and Mr. will second, a Resolution, "That be requested to take the Chair."
2.—The Chairman will briefly state the object for which the Meeting is assembled, and then call on the Rev. to offer up the usual Prayer to Almighty God, for a blessing on the proceedings of the day.

3.—After Prayer, the Chairman will make such further observations as he may deem necessary, and then call on Mr. to move the First Resolution.

FIRST RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That this Meeting fully recognises the duty incumbent on Christians to employ all suitable means for the propagation of the Gospel throughout the world; and hails, with thankfulness to the Great Head of the Church, the labours of the CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY in its various Stations in Heathen Lands, and among decayed Christian Churches.

SECOND RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That an Association be now formed, and entitled, "The Church Missionary Association;" and that the following be its Officers and Rules

PRESIDENT.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.

TREASURER.

COMMITTEE:

RULES.

I. Annual Members of this Association shall be all persons subscribing annually One Guinea or upward; or if Clergymen, Half a Guinea; and also such persons as shall collect in its behalf One shilling or upward per week.

II. Life Members shall be Benefactors of Ten Guineas or upward; or if Clergymen, such as shall contribute Congregational Collections to the amount of Twenty Guineas; and Executors paying bequests of Fifty Pounds.

III. Annual Governors shall be Subscribers of Five Guineas per annum.

IV. Life Governors shall be Benefactors of Fifty Pounds.

V. Members will be entitled to receive the Annual Reports of the Parent Society, and to vote at its General Meetings. Subscribers of Ten Shillings per annum will receive a copy of the Annual Sermon and Abstract of Report. Collectors of Sixpence and upward per week will receive a copy of each Monthly Number of the "Church Missionary Record"; and Collectors of Two Shillings and upward per week will receive a copy of the Annual Report, in addition to the "Record." Governors will be entitled to receive the Reports; and, if Members of the Established Church, to vote at Committee and General Meetings of both the Association and the Parent Society. Clergymen will have the same privilege as Governors. Contributors of 1d. a-week and upward will be entitled to receive the Parent Society's "Quarterly Paper."

VI. The objects of this Association shall be, to call forth the zeal of well-disposed persons, and particularly those of the Established Church, in support of the Church Missionary Society—to recommend proper persons who may offer themselves as Missionaries to the Parent Society—to disperse as widely as possible Missionary information—to promote the formation of Branch Associations—and to procure Collections and other Contributions.

VII. The whole of the funds so obtained, after deducting incidental expenses only, shall be remitted to the Church Missionary Society, in aid of its designs.

VIII. A General Meeting shall be held annually, on such day as shall be fixed by the Committee; when a Report of the Proceedings of the Association shall be read, and an account of its receipts and disbursements presented, duly audited.

THIRD RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That the success which, under the Divine Blessing, has attended the Church Missionary Society in its efforts to make known the Gospel of Christ among the Heathen, is a loud and providential call for increased exertions, for devout thanksgiving to Almighty God, and for continual prayer for a more abundant outpouring of the Holy Spirit, to render the means employed successful.

FOURTH RESOLUTION.—Moved by

Seconded by

That the new and enlarged openings for Missionary exertion, in different quarters, demand our best energies to make known the blessed Gospel of Christ to Heathen and Mohammedan Nations.

MATTHEW IV. 1.

“ THEN WAS JESUS LED UP OF THE SPIRIT INTO THE WILDERNESS TO BE TEMPTED OF THE DEVIL.”

IT is the awful privilege of the Church of Christ that she is called to a share in the work of her Lord. The ministry of reconciliation which He has committed to us is still His ministry on earth. The mission of ambassador for God to man, on which He entered in the days of His flesh, He is accomplishing still through His Church by the Spirit. As the Father dwelt in all the fulness of the Godhead in Him whom He sent into the world, so does Christ in all the fulness of His divine Sonship still dwell in His mystical body, the Church. The Word is still flesh—still tabernacles among men—still manifests through human form the glory of God—still speaks with human voice the message of God's love.

“Go ye into all the world;” “preach the Gospel to every creature;” here is the word that clothes the Church of Christ with His prophetic office. “Behold, I am with you always;” “He that heareth you heareth me;” here is the word that tells her that her voice of prophecy is still His voice. So when, as ambassadors for Christ, we beseech men, it is as though God did beseech them by us; when we pray them in Christ's stead to be reconciled to God, we are working together with Christ. It is in us, with us, by us, that Christ, for whom we work, is working for and with God.

This is an awful privilege! A privilege, because with the work of our Lord we inherit His reward. To him that overcometh will He give to sit with Him upon His throne, even as He overcame and hath sat down with His Father on His throne. But it is an awful privilege, for to share the work of Christ is to share His trial and His temptation. His work is a warfare. It is the invasion of the kingdom of Satan by the kingdom of God, and it provokes still all the deadly enmity of Satan that it provoked at the first. The servant is as his Master, the disciple as his Lord. We must drink of His cup and be baptized with His baptism. The measure of His sufferings must be filled up in His body, which is His Church. And just so far as our work is identical with His will the nature of our trial be identical. Whatever weapon was chosen as most likely to wound the Captain of our salvation at any particular moment of His life, or work, is just the weapon that will be used against His Church at any similar moment in her life or work; and ever the nobler work, the sorer the temptation. Ever the closer the disciple draws to His Lord, ever the nearer does the tempter draw to him. Ever the more the presence of the Lord fills His Church, the more does that presence attract the fierce and fiercer assaults of the enemy.

And if so, this Missionary work of ours must have its special dangers and temptations. It is so entirely work for Christ, it is so truly work in the doing of which the Church grows manifestly Christlike, in the doing of which His presence is specially promised, that in it she must expect especial assaults of the tempter, in it she must need a double portion of the spirit of her Lord.

It is of some of these dangers and temptations, and of the safeguards against them, I am about to speak.

Of the duty of Missionary work you have often heard from this place; of the encouragements and successes God has graciously given to this work you will hear to-morrow, as, I trust and believe, you will hear, year after year; for God is very good to us, He gives, as He is wont, far more than either we desire or deserve, and blesses our too-scanty sowing with a glorious reaping. But I will ask you to bear with me if I venture to speak here, and now, rather of temptation to be encountered, dangers avoided, and safeguards to be availed of. If God shall give me grace to speak wisely of these, I shall have helped the great cause we have at heart, for our warfare, we all feel, will prosper or will fail just in proportion as we who are engaged in it are contending lawfully. Work for Christ is successful just in the degree in which it is done in the spirit of Christ; and if we should learn together to-night from our Lord one word only, as to how He would have this great work done—one word of warning as to the dangers we are exposed to in the doing—one word of teaching as to the true safeguards against these dangers—not in vain shall we have gathered together this night in His name and in His presence; not in vain shall we have besought Him that He who sends us forth to do His work will give us wisdom to know His will, as well as “grace and power faithfully to fulfil the same.”

It is from the story of our Lord's own temptation that I propose we should endeavour to derive these lessons. I do so, not merely because that story records His great lesson to His Church in all times concerning all temptation; the scene in which Christ our brother, tempted in all things like unto us, speaks to all His tried and tempted brethren His great words of warning and of help; but because there is in that scene a special, perhaps a primary reference to the temptations and difficulties of Missionary work. It was as the founder of the kingdom of God on earth that our Lord seems in that temptation specially assailed. It is just as He has concluded His long preparation for His ministerial work; just as He is entering on His great office, immediately after that consecration to God in baptism that typifies the dedication and the self-sacrifice of all His ministry; just after the voice of God's messenger on earth and the voice of God Himself from heaven, had owned and proclaimed Him the Messiah, the sent of God, the only and well-beloved Son; it was then that, filled, as He must have been, with the sense of His great mission, He is led away to encounter temptations, every one of which are aimed at inducing Him to say or do something inconsistent with that mission, something opposed to the spirit of that kingdom He had come to set up. And when that temptation has passed away, and, filled with the Spirit that had sustained Him throughout it, He returns from the wilderness to the scene of His labours, His first word is of His ministerial office—"The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because He hath anointed me to preach the Gospel to the poor." It is as if Christ, who, in His temptation, says to all tried and tempted souls, "Learn of me," has a special word for those whom He hath anointed to preach the Gospel. It is as if He said, "Before you enter on your great office, come apart with me into the wilderness; see how the tempter sought to mislead me. As he tempted me, so will he tempt you. See how, in answering him, I have taught you the true nature of my kingdom, the true laws of your mission: study these, that you too may have wherewith to answer Him in your time of trial."

And surely there is a special suitableness in this scene to this very season and occasion in which we are assembled together. Now, when the servants of Christ are coming together from all the varied scenes of their labour, each from his portion of the vineyard, to gladden one another with fresh proofs that the Lord is indeed still with His Church, and that her mission is indeed divine; now, when we meet to renew the vows of our dedication, and hope to return, each one to his work of the ministry where God has cast it, with a fresh baptism of His Spirit, with a brighter, clearer vision of the open heaven and the glory of Him who stands at God's right hand, with a deeper echo in our hearts of that voice which speaks to us in every new triumph of the cross—"This is my beloved Son, hear ye Him;" now, in the day when the sons of God come to present themselves especially before Him, should we remember that the tempter and accuser will assuredly be present too; now more especially have we need to listen, not only to the voice which speaks from heaven words of approval and of encouragement, but to the voice that speaks from the wilderness words of loving warning and counsel. It is God's well-beloved Son who speaks, let us hear Him.

And you will see further, that, in choosing the subject of our Lord's temptation at such a time as this, it is not of temptation in its coarser or lower forms that I am about to speak; not, for instance, of temptation to weariness of our work, to forsake it after putting our hand to it, to doubt if it be our work or a work for God at all. There may be times when such temptations assail the Church; but such a time is not now: not at this moment, not by those who are here assembled, will this temptation be experienced. But there are other temptations, temptations which beset earnest, zealous, loving workers; temptations, not of the darkness and of the night, but of the day; temptations that come as our Lord's must have come, addressed to all that is best and brightest in our nature and our aims; temptations which come actually out of zeal and devotion, and which beset us, not in the measure of our unlikeness, but of our likeness to our Lord.

And, in the first place, all who are earnestly seeking and striving for the spread of Christ's kingdom on earth—all who say from their hearts and by their lives "Thy kingdom come"—are exposed, from the very earnestness of their desire, to one great temptation, the one which really underlies all the three temptations of our Lord, and to which He was exposed all His life long—the temptation to forget the great fundamental law of His kingdom; the temptation to promote or establish that kingdom by any means, not in accordance with that one ruling principle according to which alone it can truly develope itself.

What is that law? It is the law of conquest by self-sacrifice. "The Son of God is manifested that He may destroy the works of the devil." The kingdom of God, which He has set up, is, in the end, to prevail over and cast out the kingdom of the devil. But His victory is not to be that of mere force. It has pleased God, of His mysterious wisdom and His love, that the establishment of His kingdom shall not be effected by the sudden flashing forth of that awful glory of holiness and might that shall consume all things evil; but by the veiling of that brightness in the form of human weakness, by the eternal

Son emptying Himself of His glory, becoming of no reputation, taking upon Him the form of a servant, becoming subject to the lowest conditions of humanity, sin only excepted. By weakness, by suffering, by death, even the death of the cross, is Christ the Son of man, as man, to win the inheritance which shall be ruled by Christ the Son of God. "He hath appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself."

But if this law of conquest by sacrifice is the law of His kingdom to which He was in the first instance to be subject, then it was a law which must have made His life one long temptation. It was a law which every circumstance in His position and His ministry must have been a provocation to break; for this law forbids Him ever to use the power of His divinity in order to escape from those conditions of weakness and suffering in which His humiliation consisted. Never once might His power as Son of God be used by Him to do that, without effort or without suffering, which it was appointed He should do as Son of man by effort and with suffering. Never, for instance, might the word of the Son of God save the Man of Sorrows one moment of grief or of weariness; never might the shield of His divinity interpose between His soul and the darts of the enemy; never might the sign of the Son of man in the heavens be revealed to silence the opposition or win the adherence of His people; never might the hour of Christ the King be anticipated in order to accomplish more speedily or more easily the work of Christ the Priest or Christ the Prophet. To have done this in any one instance, to have poured out but one drop of the cup that was given Him to drink, would have been to have undone so far the work of the Incarnation; it would have been to have separated Himself so far from His brethren, to whom He came to be made in all things like; it would have been so far to have returned to that better country He had left, to have resumed the glory He had resigned, to have sought again the Father's presence without entirely accomplishing the Father's work. And yet this is what every hour, every moment of His life must have presented temptations to do. Not only in that hour of supreme trial, when the flesh shrunk from the bitterness of its coming agony, and the spirit, even in the willingness of its self-sacrifice, must still utter its cry of deprecation—"If it be possible, let this cup pass from me;" not only when he hung upon the cross, and the voice of the tempter spoke once more in the taunting cry, "If thou be the Son of God, come down from the cross, and we will believe thee;" not only then was this temptation present: all through His life it must have been the same. The power of His life was always His. He had power to lay it down or take it again, to save it or to lose it. The legions of angels were always at His beck; heaven always at His disposal for His work on earth. For His own needs, for His own sorrows, for the supernatural strength that He might have claimed, if only to do a mightier work for the convincing of His disciples, for the silencing of His enemies, for the salvation of His country over whose woes He wept, at every moment was the occasion and the temptation present to make Himself a King, to establish on earth the kingdom of God without the cross. And it was in this daily trial, in this daily resistance to and victory over it, that He, the Captain of our salvation, the chief among many brethren, Son of man as well as Son of God, was made "perfect through suffering."

That temptation is the deadliest and most insidious that can assail those who do the work of Christ; for it is addressed at once to the weakness of the flesh and the willingness of the spirit; to the flesh in that natural and lawful instinct of our nature by which it shrinks from pain, and desires a happy existence; to the spirit, the loving, zealous, devoted, spirit, inflamed with love to God and man, longing only for the coming and the triumph of the kingdom of righteousness and joy, in the desire to gain a speedy, a present triumph for that kingdom; to hasten in eager impatience the work of God that we may see it. In one word, His temptation, as it is ours when we are most like Him and specially when we are most engaged in His work, is that sorest of temptations to all earnest and ardent minds, the temptation to accomplish noble ends by unfitting means; by means not manifestly unlawful, but really so; means that are not in accordance with the great law of the kingdom. It is the temptation to gain a great right by a very little wrong; to do God's work, to do it zealously, lovingly, earnestly, but without sufficient care that we do it exactly in God's way; to give Him, as we believe, the sacrifice of ourselves, and yet, unconsciously perhaps, in our haste to sacrifice, not waiting to search and see that no leaven of selfwill have mingled in our sacrifice; to give Him all except some little portion of our will; to serve Him, and yet choose in some degree the manner of the service. In all such temptation self comes in; in all such temptation there is an avoidance of the cross, an easing, a saving of self in some form or other. But it is so subtly introduced; it comes so veiled and disguised in the form of zeal, and devotedness, and earnestness, and love for God and man; it comes with such visions of the greatness and the glory of the end, such artful concealments of the unfitness of the means, that it is no wonder if in the trial which it needed all His perfect wisdom to resist, our imperfect knowledge and feebler faith gives way, and the tempter whom He discovered and denounced, we welcome as an angel of light.

And now let us trace the manifestation of this great law through these three temptations of our Lord. Let us place ourselves in succession in each of the scenes of His temptation, and see in Him our example. First—There is the temptation of the wilderness. To the Son of man in His hunger and peril of the loss of life for lack of food, the tempter says, "If thou be the Son of God, command these stones that they be made bread." Here the temptation is manifest: it is a proposal to preserve the human life of Jesus by His divine power; that is, to preserve it by a violation of that law of His kingdom, which, as we have seen, forbade Him thus to save Himself. If He had done so, He would have been securing His humanity from suffering, by the power of His divinity; He would have been emancipating Himself from those conditions to which He had voluntarily submitted Himself. Had He done this He had refused the cross. And yet how very subtle was the temptation to do this. The act proposed was in itself a lawful one. He was more than once in His after life to work miracles of like kind for others, why not for Himself? It was no sensual indulgence either, only a supply of the merest necessities of life. Nay, more; the end was not only lawful, but in this case all important: that life, imperilled in the wilderness, was the life of the world: on it depended the accomplishment of God's greatest work: it was consecrated to the noblest of tasks. How if it perished, then, could that task be completed? As the life of Isaac, the seed to whom the promise was given, so this life of the true Isaac seems essential to the fulfilment of the promise of blessing to all the nations of the earth. Not even for the sake of avoiding trial, but to preserve himself for greater and sorer trial, even with a view to the endurance of the agony and the sacrifice of the Cross, let the Son of God provide for His human life the sustenance it needs. "Command these stones to be made bread!"

And now, mark how our Lord replies to this temptation; not merely, as He might have done by simply pleading duty, by the answer, "God hath said;" nor yet by any explanation why it would have been unlawful in this case to have done what He was asked: for our sakes He goes deeper; He goes, in His answer, to the root of the temptation itself, that He may arm us against all temptation of like nature. He has been tempted by the desire to preserve life. His answer is, that His so doing would not preserve life, but destroy it. "Man"—observe how He graciously identifies Himself with His people. "Man"—for I the Son of God am, and will here be only, man! "Man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." Man's life—so far even as it is mere animal life—is not supported by food alone: the life-sustaining word of the Creator must accompany it, or it will not nourish. Life in the meanest thing that lives is a divine mystery: it lives, and moves, and has its being in God: there is in it something more than eating and digestion and assimilation and growth; there is in it the creating and sustaining word of God. But the life of man, the spiritual, the immortal creature, in whose nostrils the breath of life was breathed by God, that life consists in the redeeming, regenerating and sanctifying word of His Heavenly Father! To know God as by His word He reveals Himself, to love Him, to serve Him, to dwell in Him, this is man's life eternal. To do His will, is meat and drink. To lose that word of revelation, to disobey that word of command, to want that word of blessing, is for man to die: to love it, to obey it, is to live. Therefore it is that for man it is possible to lose his life and yet to save it; to save it and yet to lose it. Therefore it is, that for us it never can be necessary, in order to preserve life, to disobey the very least word of God; for it is by that word we truly live. Not by food alone, whether food corporeal or food spiritual; not by the abundance of all that we possess for body or soul; not by the wealth that supplies the bodily sustenance; not even by the wealth of means that supplies the spiritual sustenance; but by the word of God, does man live!

In that one word of faith that lifts us, above the means of life—above life itself—to the Author and Giver of life, Christ frees His Church for ever from all the temptations and the terrors of sense. From the love of life and the fear of death; from the love of all that makes life sweet and death terrible; from all fear, all love, save the fear and love of God, Christ sets us free. In the spirit of this word, we fear to lose, we love to keep nothing save the love of God! It is not a necessary thing, it is not even a desirable thing, that we should enjoy this present life, or that we should preserve it, if life, or the joys of life, come in competition with the word of God.

This is the martyr spirit of the Church; the spirit that comes simply from the knowledge of what our true life consists in. It was in this spirit that the Church, in her earlier days, went forth, led of the Spirit into the wilderness of heathendom, to be tempted of the Devil. In this spirit it was that the first Christians went forth to their great Missionary work in days when every Christian was a Missionary, and every Missionary was in peril of being a martyr. In this spirit it was they endured their great fight of affliction, taking joyfully the spoiling of their goods and the shedding of their blood, thankful if thought worthy to suffer for His name. In this spirit it was that the first martyrs and confessors faced the sword of the executioner, and the rage of the wild beasts, or the hideous ingenuities of the torture. Through famine, through nakedness, through death in all its most terrible forms; from the noble army of martyrs and confessors came still the same answer—"Not life, but the word!" "Man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." It was in that martyr spirit the early Church conquered the world. It was beneath the banner of the cross her warriors went forth to victory. And it was not till her wilderness trial had ended, not till the enemy had changed his temptation and tried her, not with danger and suffering but with safety and ease, that her Missionary zeal abated, her love grew cold, and she left the heathen half won, and the uttermost parts of the earth unclaimed!

That martyr spirit should be in all our work for Christ now. It is in it largely still. It is to be seen at home, when the pastor, the home Missionary, gives up the sweets of ease and the pleasures of a peaceful home, and goes forth to spend laborious weary days in search of all the haunts of ignorance and vice and crime, giving sometimes life itself, giving always much that makes life pleasant, for the sake of the word of the Lord. It is to be seen wherever the Missionary goes forth, severing the ties of home and country, leaving the pleasures, the advantages, the noble and lawful ambitions even, of civilized and Christian life, to encounter the fatigues, the perils of his sojourn in the lands of the heathen; or, harder still perhaps to bear, the utter isolation, the sick weariness of heart that falls on him, who, day by day and year by year, dwells with inferior natures to whom he must for ever minister, from whom he can receive nothing, whose soul's life grows faint and sad as he finds himself thus alone in the wilderness! It is to be seen, though in far lower degree, whenever the Christian at home gives to the cause of Christ what really costs him aught; not the nicely-calculated superfluity that remains when every want is provided for, and every taste indulged; not the regulation subscription which remains the same, though the means of life become trebled or quadrupled, but the gift that requires for the making of it that something be subtracted from the enjoyments of life—the gift that is a sacrifice. In this, too, there is the acknowledgment, “Man doth not live by bread alone.” And this, therefore, is the Church’s special message to the world. In a soft and luxurious age—in an age in which the art of making the most of life, of living comfortably and pleasantly, seems elevated almost into a virtue—this is our message, “Man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things that he possesseth.” To ourselves, when tempted to covet inglorious ease and slothful comfort; to the youth who is hesitating between a course of lawful advancement and gain here, and of nobler self-sacrifice in his Master’s service; to the man of wealth, and to the man of pleasure, our message still is, “Man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.”

But there is a deeper lesson given us here, and against a still subtler temptation. There is a life of Churches, of Institutions, of Societies, as there is of individuals, and there is the temptation to preserve this life too by unlawful means. Religious institutions like ours have a secular, as it were a bodily, life. They live as it were by bread, by means, by money, and by all that machinery for obtaining money with which all who work our great societies are so familiar. Such means are useful, important, and lawful, just as the means of maintaining bodily life are lawful. But the use of them is attended with the danger of forgetting that the society or the institution does not live by these alone; that it has a nobler life than that which these sustain, even a spiritual life, a life which consists in the blessing, sustaining word of God. The life of a Society like our own is not crowded meetings, interesting or eloquent speeches, powerful patrons, zealous collectors, numerous subscriptions, an overflowing treasury. It lives by all these, but not by these alone: its life consists in the presence of Christ in the hearts of spiritual men: its life is its spirituality even while using these secular means to sustain its secular existence. Not the great meeting or the great speech, but the Spirit of the Lord that fills the meeting and the speaker; not the great patron, but the love of Christ in his heart that makes him willing to cast his honours at the feet of Christ; not the large gift, but the loving self-denial that accompanies it, and that makes the widow's mite the most precious gift in the treasury;—these are the things in which its life consists. Let us never forget this. Let us, who necessarily resort so much to the use of all these means, beware of the idolatry of means; beware of supposing that these are indispensable to the life of the Society, that they are to be preferred, in the very last degree, to the word of the Lord.

There is a temptation, we may call it, of the wilderness, when some zealous worker for our society, who finds himself in a strait for help, is tempted to say, "The life of the Society must not be weakened, the interest must be kept up. I must appeal to some lower motive, conciliate some local prejudice or influence, do or say, or avoid doing or saying, something, because of gain or loss to the society." This is to make an idol of the Society, to prefer the life of a cause, of an institution, of a party, to the word. Let us take care that we are not guilty of such idolatry. Honoured as we believe this Society has been of God, and loved and honoured as it should be by us for God's sake, yet, let us not forget that God can do without the Church Missionary Society if He choose, but that for one instant the Church Missionary Society cannot do without God. Let us remember that here, too, we need the martyr spirit; that here, too, we must be ready to sacrifice life for duty; here, too, remember we do "not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

And now let us follow our Lord to a very different scene and a very different trial; from the wilderness to the temple, from lowliness to prominence, from weakness to power, from fear to security. In the wilderness, the Son of man, as man, stands confronted by physical terrors and dangers by peril to life from circumstances beyond His control as man. On the summit of the temple the Son of man, still as man, stands safe from all physical danger, master of circumstances, secured by the promise of a supernatural defence. In the one case the temptation was to save life; here it was to risk

it. There it was, "Command these stones to be made bread," or thou canst not live. Here it was, "Cast thyself down," thou canst not die. And as in the wilderness, the region of the natural, the temptation was mainly to the flesh; here, in the region of the spiritual, in the centre and summit of the religious and ecclesiastical polity of His day, the temptation was altogether to the spirit. "Cast thyself down," for angels shall bear thee up. Surely this was not a temptation to the merely childish glory of a supernatural flight through the air just to try if God's promise of safety would be kept. This would scarcely be a temptation to any wise and sober man amongst us, and could not have been here the temptation chosen for Him. But if He had done this, and if the angel-ministers had borne Him safely to the ground before the multitudes of Jerusalem, what would this have been but the very sign of the Son of man in the heavens which their unbelief was always demanding? Had this sign been seen, the nation of the Jews must have owned Him as their Messiah, His kingdom must have been established at once in all Judea, a kingdom which the same supernatural power that would have preserved Him in His descent might have been expected to preserve against the Romans. Here was a temptation to the prophet and to the patriot, a temptation to Jesus the Son of David, who, even then, might have wept over the foreseen agonies of Jerusalem that would not accept Him in His humility, but would have accepted Him in His power and glory. Ah! here is the old temptation re-appearing—the kingdom without the cross—the king's part to be done without the pain of the priest and the weariness of the prophet.

Had He done this, it is conceivable He would have converted His nation—but to what?—converted them to a kingdom and a king of their own making, not of God's appointment; a worldly, unspiritual, corrupt ecclesiastical polity, a kingdom of mere outward spiritual despotism, based on false tradition and mistaken interpretation and degrading superstition, sustained by display of power without holiness; a worldly Messiah reigning over an impenitent and unregenerated people. Christ will not do this. To this temptation to set up a false kingdom of God instead of the true one, a kingdom of corrupt ecclesiastical power instead of a kingdom of purity and truth, He answers by showing wherein consists the true power of His kingdom. "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." The promise of the Divine presence and support is not absolute: it is conditional. Not in all ways, not whithersoever He goes, will God be with the Son of man, but in His ways, in all ways appointed for Him; not in the way of self-will, but of obedience; not in the presumption that chooses its own way, but the humility that walks only in God's ways, will this promise fulfil itself. And this is the great condition of God's presence with His Church throughout all time: he will be with her in all her ways, but only in these so far as they are her appointed ways. Let her err from these ways; let her follow not the ways of His appointment, but of erring choice or presumptuous desire; let her cast herself down in her madness from the place where He has put her, and she shall not be preserved from shameful and grievous fall. Let the ark of the Lord be borne unlawfully into the fight, it shall become a prey to the Philistines.

The history of this temptation is written at large in the history of the visible Church. When she had emerged from her three centuries of wilderness trial, she found herself on the pinnacle of a nobler temple than that of Jerusalem. The centre of the world's spiritual life, the summit of ecclesiastical power and dominion in the great Roman empire, was hers. The very agony of her previous struggle for life, the very greatness of her victory, tended to exalt her to this high place. God had delivered her, had made her to triumph over all the might of heathendom; the idols had fallen before the ark of God in its captivity; and now, in the hour of her triumph, what might she not expect? How great her power; how glorious her dignity; how her robes, washed in the blood of martyrs, shone with dazzling brightness; what a crown of pure gold had her faithfulness won her; what supernatural powers were hers! God will be with her, and the gates of hell prevail against her never! As she said it, they were prevailing. She was already presuming on the promise, forgetful of the conditions; already listening to the tempter. "Cast thyself down," thou canst not go wrong. Infallible, imperishable, go thou on thy way; give the multitude the sign they ask, overawe all doubt, compel universal submission by display of supernatural power. "Cast thyself down!" Alas that she did so! that from the height of her victory over the hostile world, she stooped to ally herself with its errors, sunk lower and lower down as she corrupted her sacred deposit of truth with the errors of Judaism and superstitions of Paganism; grew more and more a corrupt and carnal ecclesiastical kingdom, whose ever-increasing pretences were maintained by ever-increasing claims to supernatural power. The false miracle, the pious fraud, the wilder and still wilder legend bore her up like evil angels, a power and a wonder; but still they carried her away from the pinnacle of the temple, and bore her still, slowly but surely, downwards to her fall.

And we too, brethren, reformed, purified, as we believe our Church to be, we need to remember the lesson of our Lord, and the warnings of history. The pinnacles of success, the heights of spiritual triumph, are giddy and slippery places. The head grows dizzy at such heights with the pride that precedes a fall. The tempter is there, ever ready to whisper the temptation to presumption, to rashness. In the individual, to carnality and carelessness of life, presuming on the divine promise. In the Church, to the carnality of priestly dominion, or to careless toleration of errors or heresies; to such carelessness and sloth, for instance, as fell upon the Church in the last century, when men were ever ready to defend her claims and rights, rarely to speak of her duties; when, on the summit of her prosperity, the Church could only see the worshippers around her, and had no vision, no thought of the heathen, her true inheritance. This was a danger; may be a danger still.

But in our own institution in our Missionary work, we are not free from this temptation and this danger. The wilderness hour of this great Society, her time of weakness and peril, is passed. The time when five men, in a room in London, looked out on the desolate wilderness of the world, and asked, What shall we do for the heathen; the time when the power of a Christian state was arrayed, not for, but against Missions, and for heathendom; the time when to advocate Missions was to incur, as its least punishment, the open contempt of the wise and prudent, and even the good;—all this has passed. Our Society has won her way to a high and honoured place; she stands on the very pinnacle of the edifice of Christian effort. Let us beware! The hour of prosperity is the hour of trial. When the seed becomes a great tree, the fowls of the air lodge in its branches. Remember, the promise is still that God will be with us only in our appointed ways. Still, the wider our field, the greater our success, the greater need of humility and caution; need, in our Missionary Churches abroad, of wisdom, and power, and a sound mind in dealing with all the difficult questions that arise in new and growing Churches; wisdom in avoiding all offence, save the offence of the cross; faithfulness that never shrinks from truth, strict rigid faithfulness in dealing with errors of heathendom as such; wisdom and gentleness in dealing with the natural prejudices and infirmities of weaker brethren. Ever as our churches grow will grow their difficulties from these sources. False doctrines, heresies, schisms, have yet to be encountered: the struggle of the earlier church is for existence; as it grows, its trial is to order its life aright.

More than this: we need to remember that neither individual, nor Church, nor Society can live merely on the strength of what it has been. Not by repeating the traditions of the past, but by doing as men of the past did; that is, by doing with our present as they did with theirs, bringing still new as well as old out of their store house. Not by persuading ourselves that we have—that any institution, school, party, sect, or church has—a monopoly of divine grace, or a promise of divine presence, save so far as it walks in the divine ways. Not in creeds, not in formularies, not in traditions, not in Bibles even, but in the hearts of those who believe the creeds and repeat the formularies and read the Bible, does Christ dwell. Remember that if He is present to bless, He is present amongst the golden candlesticks to trim or to remove the waning light! Let us not be high-minded, but fear. Let us pray to be delivered from self-glorification or party spirit ; delivered by a love of Christ and of His truth from the sin of tempting the Lord our God by spiritual pride and presumption.

And now let us follow Christ to His third and last temptation. The place of trial changes once more. From the pinnacle of the temple, the summit of ecclesiastical power and supremacy, to a great and high mountain, the Scripture symbol of world, power and dominion ; from the sight of the city of God and the house of prayer and the worshipping crowd, that all spoke of the supernatural office of the Church, to the vision that reveals the power and the glory of the world. The kingdoms of the world rise up before Him, great and glorious and terrible, in all the vastness of their extent and the pride of their civilization and learning and wealth and compact organization. All that great heathendom that girded, like some great mountain range, the Holy Land, and high overtopped and over-shadowed the highest pinnacle of the house of the Lord ;—all these in vision lie before Him ; all these may be His for the asking. “All these will I give Thee.” All these, and all their power and glory ; not merely to possess and enjoy : that were a poor temptation to the Heir of heaven and earth ; but to rule for God. The power, the noblest power that the earthly ruler possesses, the power of swaying men to their own good ; the glory, the truest glory of the monarch, that of moral conquest and of righteous rule ; this would have been His. The tempter’s offer was nothing less than this—the surrender to Christ of all the power he had possessed and all the glory he had usurped ; and that power, in its very essence is power to rule men. The glory he had usurped was the crown of empire over the beings God had made in His image. It was this government of the world, it was this empire—not merely material, but moral—over the kingdom of men, that the tempter offered the Son of man. It was, in short, the same temptation once more. The kingdom without the cross ; His inheritance without the price which he should pay for it ; the power of the king superceding the offering of the priest and the ministry of the prophet.

And all this is offered Him on one condition. "Fall down and worship me!" One act, not of adoration, but simply of homage; one single act of acknowledgment that the world is Satan's, and that he may give it to whom he will; one act of vassalage to Satan, as the prince of the world's empire; one act that seemed to imply no after servitude, no further rendering of homage or duty, and all should henceforth be His. The world to rule, to teach, to bless with all the blessings of His rule, if He will only do homage to the evil one for it! In that one word the evil one stands revealed, the usurper of this world, the rebel against God. The act he tempts to is one of open disloyalty to God. To take and hold from the evil one God's world, or any part of it, is to own him our God and Lord; to choose him as the author and giver of our good things, instead of the Lord our maker. It is to prefer possession on the devil's terms, to inheritance on God's terms. "Ask of me" is the promise of God to His Son, "and I will give thee the heathen for thine inheritance." "Ask of me," is the tempter's offer, "and I will give thee the heathen for thy present possession."

Brethren, I need not remind you how, ever from that hour, the tempter tries, by the same temptation, the souls of Christ's disciples; how, one by one, he takes us up to some mount of vision, from which we see some larger portion of the world's power or glory, some gain, some advancement, and offers it at his price, promises to give it, gives it for one act of homage to him. I need not remind you that it is possible for any one of us to have some portion of this world, if we will only pay the Devil's price for it. But I am speaking now of temptation to the Church in her ministerial and Missionary work; and in this light it seems to me as if this temptation to compromise with the Devil for the possession of God's world, is the great temptation of Christian churches and Christian nations in the latter days.

Ever since the era of the Reformation, when the Church was in a measure delivered from her second great temptation to spiritual despotism, the scene and manner of her trial seems to have taken the shape of our Lord's third trial.

The learning, the knowledge, the civilization of the world have become, since then, more and more decidedly and exclusively the possession of Christendom, and, with these, of course the dominion of the world. All the great empires of the world are, and have long been, Christian. The weak, the effete, the decaying, are Pagan. Christendom has been, is now more and more becoming, the exceeding great and high mountain of worldly power from which the Church of Christ surveys far beneath her the kingdoms of the heathen. The power over them, the glory of them, are in a large measure ours. Must we say at what price? Alas! no need to inform you: great need to remember with shame and sorrow, how, through all the history of the discoveries and the conquests of three centuries, Christendom has been purchasing the realms of heathendom at the price of homage to the evil one: how as, one by one, each new land was discovered, or each older kingdom of the heathen invited conquest, still the tempter made his offer—Worship me for this, forget justice, stifle pity, silence mercy in your dealings with the heathen, and I will give you their lands for a possession, and their wealth for a prey: some you shall spoil by fraud; others cast out by violence, and waste by your vices; and others you shall buy and sell like brutes that perish, turning their tears and their sweat into gold, buying your wealth with their lives, and forbidding them the knowledge that might make them free; building the edifice of your power and your wealth on their degradation, as some of the savages you despise rest the foundations of their houses upon living men, cruelly done to death, that they may dwell in ease and safety. Has it not been so! Does history know a sadder page than the story of how the nations of Christendom have won from the savage and the heathen the power and glory of the world!

But for the Church, for the Christian ministry, in these days happily free from the guilt of even tacit acquiescence in this sin, there is another and a far subtler form of this temptation. The kingdoms of the world are the objects of the lawful ambition of the Church of Christ. To conquer them for her Lord is her aim, and her success in that conquest is her true glory. But it must be for her Lord she conquers them; the cities she wins must be called by His name and not by hers: it is His kingdom, and His alone, she is to establish. That kingdom is the kingdom of the cross, the cross of Christ. Not the cross of Jesus, the great moral teacher, with its lesson of merely sublime self-devotion of man for men; but the cross of Jesus, the Christ, the Son of God as well as Son of man, with its revelation of the infinite love of God for man. Not the cross as some would have it, whereon hung a patient, loving, self-sacrificing man, whose death distresses us by its cruel injustice, and whose life perplexes us by its inconsistencies and its errors; but the cross on which was offered up the spotless victim provided from everlasting for the sins of men. Not the Cross as men would have it, with its inscription—"Behold the first and best of men, the model man, but nothing more than man;" not the cross with no mystery which to man's intellect shall seem foolishness, with no claim for supremacy which to man's prejudice shall be a stumbling-block; not the cross which we may stand around to pity and admire and perhaps gently criticise Him who hung there: but the cross, as the Bible reveals it, with its divine inscription, "Behold the Son of God, the King of kings, and Lord of lords;" the cross with all its accompanying mysteries of human guilt and divine forgiveness; its mysteries of atoning, and cleansing, and sanctifying blood; its double mystery of the death that is our life to God, the risen life that is our death to sin. This cross, still foolishness to the intellect, still the stumbling-block to the prejudice, still the hated, dreaded cross to the lusts of men; this cross, still the wisdom and power of God to the saved, this and this alone may His Church lift up; in this sign alone is she to conquer.

And what at this moment is the temptation to the Church? Surely it is to withdraw this cross from the eyes of men; to substitute some other form of it. The kingdoms of the world are vast, and their power mighty: the progress of the army of the cross is slow. Compare all that we have done with all that remains to do; the millions of unconverted heathen with the thousands converted; the few Missionaries with the myriads of false teachers ; and the tempter whispers, Are you not somewhat too strict and tenacious in your preaching of theological mysteries ? This cross, with all its abstruse, half metaphysical dogmas, with its overbearing demand for absolute submission, offends, perplexes. Must you preach it ? Is there not an easier way of winning the heathen ? They, with all their errors, hold with you the great tenets of natural religion common to all faiths, all, perhaps, that is essential to any faith. Preach to them of these only ; teach them to lay aside the superstitions and errors with which they have overlayed the great all-sufficing truth of one good God and Father of all ; tell them that all that is necessary is that they should love and serve Him ; trouble them not with proofs that the book you bring them is a revelation from God ; they need no book, only to look in their hearts and listen to their own spirits ; say nothing of the mysteries of your faith, leave out all dogmas, resolve religion into a sentiment, doctrine into an emotion ; meet the heathen thus half-way on the common ground of natural religion, and they will meet you. The new Christianity shall conquer the world for the new Christ, and all men own the fatherhood of God, and all men feel the brotherhood of men. Yes ! All these will I give thee, and the power over them, and the glory of winning them, if—if only thou wilt fall down and worship, only do homage to the father of all falsehood, by yielding the supremacy of truth ; only acknowledge that yours is not the true faith, but one of many, all partly true ; only bow yourselves to me as you enter those temples where men sacrifice to me, and these shall vanish away, and in their place shall rise a great world pantheon, where your Christ shall still have high place, but others take their place beside Him : only be disloyal to God and to God's truth, and you shall have the world now !

He is saying this to us now. He is saying this, not only at home, where our men of science and of learning, chiefs and lords as they deem themselves of the kingdom of nature, are proclaiming to us that our theological dogmas are excluding us from these kingdoms, are promising us their adhesion, if we will only eliminate all mysteries, all dogmas, all distinctive doctrines from our creeds ; if we will only give them facts without mysteries, doctrines without definitions, revelations without a Bible, Christ without the incarnation, God without the supernatural, they will become Christian, and we shall have the power and the glory of their discipleship, we may still have the kingdom only without the cross. Not only here and thus is the tempter saying this, but the same temptation encounters the Missionary abroad. As knowledge spreads, as the truths of science are more and more largely taught, as thought awakes, the great pagan systems which make false science an essential part of their faith, must give way. They are beginning already to do so. Signs are not wanting in more than one field of Missionary labour, that the heathen are beginning to cast away their idols, to shake off their old superstitions, even where they have not embraced Christianity. And in their free thought, in their rejection of their old faith, the tempter speaks to the Missionary his old temptation. Avail yourself of this spirit. The tone of the age, even in these distant lands, is against all dogma, all mystery. Yield yourself to it : leave out the cross, and you shall have the kingdom. More and more loudly, more and more clearly, at home and abroad, do we hear this voice of the tempter—"All these will I give you." The learning, the science, the civilization, the free thought of the world, all the power and glory of ruling and directing it all, "if you will worship me." And more and more clearly we hear his threat: "If you will not you shall lose all. The tide of human progress, the great wave of human thought, shall pass by you, and leave you with the past. Worship me, and conquer : defy me, and perish."

Brethren, we need not remind you that this temptation is, of all the three, the most fatal to our Missionary work. In the other two there might still be room for Missionary effort. To preserve the life of the Church, even by unworthy means, would imply still that we thought it worth preserving. To maintain the power of the Church by unlawful means, would imply that men believed in her power and her mission. But once yield to the temptation to compromise truth with error, once own that the Devil's lie may be God's truth, and what need is there of missionary effort. If all the world's beliefs are only one truth seen from various points of view—only different ways of worshipping our great Father—why should we trouble ourselves to change these views? Why send men round the globe to tell the Hindu that his Vedas are as truly God's voice as our Bible; or the Caffre that all our Bible has to tell him he knows already? Once believe this, and our Missionary enterprise is the merest waste of time, the most solemn and laborious trifling men ever engaged in.

Against this temptation Christ our Lord has armed his Church in His answer to His tempter: "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." To the spirit of ambitious disloyalty He opposes the spirit of obedient loyalty. Let others seek, if they will, the false glory of large conquests won by treaty with the enemy which our Lord and King will never ratify. Let others seek, if they will, the easy triumph, the painless victory that avoids the cross of the Prophet, which is unbelief of his message, by concealing the doctrine of the cross that provokes it. Be ours the glory of the warfare beneath the cross. Let His be the glory of the final victory; but never let us be tempted to win the very smallest portion of our Lord's inheritance by compact or compromise with him who has usurped it. No truce in our warfare; no armed neutrality; no alliance; but war, stern, uncompromising, open war, for the truth, for all the truth of God against all the lies of the enemy; and, most of all, against that greatest of all falsehoods, which proclaims his lie to be greater than God's truth, which bids us do homage to the false in order to advance the true.

Against this temptation our Missionary work is our protest and our protection. It is the Church's proclamation of loyalty to her Lord. It is her perpetual refusal to set up a kingdom in His name without His cross. It is our affirmation, year after year, that the ambition of the Church is, not to win the world by surrendering the faith, but to win souls by proclaiming the faith. The glory of the warfare is ours. The glory of the final victory shall be His. It is for Him to wear the crown when He takes His great power and reigns.

It is for us meanwhile to bear aloft the cross, even though we faint beneath its weight. Every missionary meeting we hold, every missionary sermon that we preach, every Missionary who goes forth to proclaim Christ crucified, is one more act of homage to the Lord our God, is one more refusal of our homage to the evil one.

Pray for the Church of Christ in this her last trial, that she may have grace to be faithful, grace to hold fast in all its integrity the treasure Christ has given her for the world, the faith committed to the saints. Pray that, undazzled by the glory of a conquest which is not to be her's but her Lord's ; unawed by the power of the world's kingdoms that are His inheritance, and must one day be His possession, unseduced by the voice of the tempter, she may make to all his offers still her Lord's answer—"Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve."

Pray, brethren, finally, for the Church of Christ, that against each of her three great temptations she may be ever armed by her Lord's example, and filled with her Lord's spirit.

Christ in the wilderness tells us the true life of the Church. Christ on the temple pinnacle tells us wherein is the true power of the Church. Christ on the mount of vision reveals the true glory of the Church. Her life is the word of the Lord ; pray that she may never prefer life to the word. Her power is in the promised presence of her Lord in all her ways ; pray that she may never claim the promise while she err from the appointed way. Her glory is in the loyal worship and service of the Lord her God ; pray that she may never seek to win present triumph by disloyal homage to His enemy and her's. Pray that she be delivered from the spirit of cowardly and unbelieving selfishness, by the spirit of brave, self-sacrificing faith ; from the spirit of presumption, by the spirit of godly fear ; from the spirit of false ambition, by the spirit of true loyalty. So, against the wiles of the tempter, may she "stand fast in the Lord, and, having done all, stand !" Stand in the name, and for the sake, and in the power and spirit of her Lord, strengthened with all His might, and though tried with His temptation, still living his life of faith—the faith that waits as well as works—the faith that lives by the word of God, that walks in the ways of God, that works for the glory of God ! This is the faith that overcometh the world, for it is not only faith in Christ, it was the faith of Christ, the faith in which He lived, walked, triumphed, and in which He bids us live and walk, promising that we shall triumph with Him at the last, when He shall come again to take to Himself His great power, and reign ; when the desolate places shall break forth and blossom as the garden of the Lord ; when the Lord and the Lamb shall be the temple of the redeemed ; when from the exceeding high mountain of His supreme dominion, the mount of the Lord lifted high above all the mountains of the earth, He shall see no kingdom, no power, no glory that is not His and ours with Him for ever and for ever !

REPORT,

&c. &c.

THE Committee have to record, with devout thankfulness to the Giver of all good, the cordial and liberal response of the friends of the Society to the appeal for increased funds. The Committee ventured, at the last Anniversary, to state, that unless their annual income should be increased by 10,000*l.* a year, they could not keep up their Missions upon the existing scale; and that a still further increase would be required, before they could extend or enlarge the Missions. During the year just closed the Associations throughout the United Kingdom have raised the sum of 113,712*l.*, which is more than 10,000*l.* above the last year. This amount is the largest ever received, if we except one of the years when the Special India Fund swelled the remittances. The benefactions are also 2000*l.* in advance of the preceding year. The legacies are below those of last year, which comprised one of exceptional amount. The total sum received from the United Kingdom is 146,208*l.*, which is 1743*l.* above last year, and more than 12,000*l.* above the average of the last five years.

The expenditure during the year just closed has amounted to 144,558*l.*, leaving a balance in hand of 1649*l.* It is clear, however, that the income must be sustained at this high amount, in order to cover the expenditure of the Missions on the present scale, and that a further annual addition will be required if the work is to be materially enlarged.

The Committee have been much encouraged by the fact, that this large increase of income has been due, not so much to a few extraordinary efforts, as to a general effort throughout the whole country. The remittances moreover have been, in innumerable cases, accompanied with such warm expressions of confidence in the Committee, of cordial devotion to the distinctive principles of the Society, and of zeal for the enlargement of its operations, that the Committee may fairly regard the addition to this year's income as a pledge that there will be such a further increase as will enable the Committee to extend its labours, both by branching out from our present centres, and by opening up new ground.

The Committee beg to offer their most hearty thanks, not only to their clerical supporters, but also to the large body of collectors, chiefly ladies, who raise more than half the income by weekly, monthly, or quarterly collections, by Missionary-boxes, and by various expedients which charitable ingenuity discovers and local circumstances suggest. The Committee venture to call attention to the fact, that in a well-worked Association the sum raised by the annual sermons and by annual subscriptions is easily doubled by these subsidiary contributions, which have this happy characteristic, that, flowing from multitudinous sources, and distributed throughout the whole year, they fill the treasury without laying any special pressure upon individuals.

Among the many special contributions which have been made during the past year, two must be specified as having a peculiar interest. The first has been a remittance from Jamaica a few months previous to the sad outbreak which has since afflicted that island. The sum of 80*l.* was sent to the Society through the "Jamaica Church-of-England Home and Foreign Missionary Society," which is thus noticed in the local Annual Report of that Society. "During the present year the Society has sent to the Church Missionary Society in London the sum of 80*l.* for the furtherance of the Missions supported by that venerable Society in Africa. In thus subscribing, it has become apparent to all that the people of this island are not altogether unmindful of past favours bestowed upon them, inasmuch as 70*l.* of the above grant was given by congregations whose churches and ministers were formerly supported by that Society, and at whose special request that sum was forwarded to the Society as an acknowledgment of their remembrance of it." When it is recollected that twenty-four years have elapsed since the Society withdrew its Mission from Jamaica, this grateful testimony to the Society's former labours is very interesting and encouraging.

Other special contributions which the Committee cannot but notice are those from two counties in England—Hertford and Derbyshire—in which zealous friends have made extra collections to secure the stipend of an additional Missionary, without interfering with the ordinary course of the Associations. The average cost of a Missionary being about 300*l.*, each of these counties have furnished nearly that amount, while the general county contributions have been not only sustained, but augmented.

The items of income and expenditure have been as follows :—

THE ISLINGTON INSTITUTION.

The following are extracts from the Principal's Annual Report:—

The principal trial of the year has arisen from the loss of several students. Two have been separated owing to the occurrence of circumstances, or the manifestation of character disqualifying the parties, in the opinion of the Visiting Committee, for Missionary employment in connexion with the Society. As many as five others have, after various periods of residence, been pronounced by the Medical Board unfit for the further prosecution of their studies and for subsequent labour in a tropical climate.

The entire number of students resident during the various periods of the year has been fifty-nine; the average for the whole year forty-eight. This number presents a larger average than at any previous period since the foundation of the College; the largest number in any former year being forty-seven. This circumstance does not arise from any increase of candidates: on the contrary, the entrances have been fewer than usual; but is owing to the longer period during which many of the students have remained in the Institution.

One gratifying circumstance, which deserves a passing notice, is the presence in this College of five African students—two from Lagos, and three from Sierra Leone. The latter have all been connected with the Grammar School at Freetown. No better proof of the efficiency of that admirable Institution, and of the excellent education it gives, need be desired than that afforded by the very creditable standard which all these students have attained. In consequence of their previous training, they have all been able to take their place in the more advanced classes of the College, and have acquitted themselves, in every respect, to the satisfaction of the Principal and his colleagues. Should the Committee consider it wise and desirable, on other grounds, to continue the plan of receiving African students into the Institution, there is nothing in the experience of the past two or three years to suggest a doubt, so far as the College itself is concerned, of the desirableness of the step. No one who has had the opportunity of fairly testing the moral, spiritual, and intellectual capabilities of such representatives of Africa as the students now in the Institution will be disposed to listen to the theories, alike unscriptural and unphilosophical, of many of the so-called anthropological school of our day.

MISSIONARIES' CHILDREN'S HOME.

The average number of children in "The Home" during the last year has been sixty-eight. The health of the children, their general behaviour and progress in their studies, have been very favourably reported upon by the Visitors of the Home.

CHANGES IN THE SECRETARYSHIP.

The Rev. Robert Long having been appointed to the incumbency of St. Simon's, Chelsea, resigned the Secretaryship of the Society in September 1865. The Committee recorded their grateful acknowledgment of the valuable services he had rendered to the Society, first as Association Secretary, and afterwards, upon the death of the Rev. J. Chapman (Dec. 27, 1862), by his prompt acceptance of the office of Secretary, and the efficient discharge of its duties. The vacancy thus occasioned was supplied by the generous offer of Major-General C. A. Browne, of the Madras army, to become Honorary Secretary. He had long been a member of the Madras Corresponding Committee, and often its Acting Secretary, and was personally acquainted with every station of the Society in South India. For a few months the Committee had the great advantage of General Browne's wisdom and experience, till it pleased God to take him to Himself by sudden death. The Committee put upon record the following expression of their feelings upon this event:—

The Committee record, with deep and affectionate regret, the removal by sudden death of Major-General C. A. Browne, who for five short months discharged the office of Honorary Lay Secretary. In early life (about the year 1826) this distinguished officer devoted himself to the Lord. At that eventful period of his life he was with his regiment in the neighbourhood of a Missionary station of the Society in Travancore, and his first earnest desires for the salvation of his own soul became thus identified with an active interest in the work of Missions. His natural endowments were of a high order;—a powerful intellect, sound judgment, great administrative power, and rare promptitude in the despatch of business. He attained great proficiency in the Persian, Hindustani, and Tamil languages, and his mind was well stored with general information. These gifts and attainments were united with a gentle and loving disposition and attractive social manners. Soon after the period alluded to he received a staff appointment at Madras, and rose eventually to the high and responsible post of Military Secretary to the Madras Government, which he held till he took the command of a division. Throughout this most successful professional career he uniformly witnessed a good confession as a faithful soldier and servant of Jesus Christ. Having renounced the pleasures of the world, he devoted his spare hours to works of piety and charity. In his morning rides it was his delight to distribute religious tracts among the natives. His evenings were devoted to Committees of Religious Societies and to Bible readings with Christian friends. His house afforded a home to a large circle of friends, especially young officers on their first arrival, and Missionaries visiting Madras. His early attachment to the work of this Society strengthened with his longer and wider experience of India's condition and wants. For nearly thirty years he was a member of the Society's Corresponding Committee at Madras, and from time to time he acted as its Secretary: the Missionaries who survive can bear witness to the aid and comfort they received from his correspondence, by the wisdom of his counsel, by his sympathy and love. Upon his retirement from service in India, he accepted the invitation of this Committee to become Honorary Lay Secretary, and he entered cordially upon the daily routine of business in the Secretariat of this Society. Very short was the period of his Secretaryship, but it was sufficiently long to prove to the Committee, and especially to his colleagues in the Secretariat, that the accomplished soldier and the practised statesman could easily merge into the more blessed character, as he esteemed it, of a "fellow-helper of the truth," in directing and cheering the labours of faithful evangelists. He was removed by a sudden stroke. But the Committee find comfort in the recollection that a distinguishing mark of his Christian character had been his constant sense of his Saviour's presence, whom he loved and honoured supremely. He seemed never to lose sight of Him wherever he was; whether in his public office, in the drawing-room, in the Committee-room, on ship-board, or while walking by the way: so that he needed no time or aid for preparing to meet his God. The Committee cannot complete this brief notice without pointing out the high testimony borne to the importance of the work of a Secretary of this Society by this eminent public servant of the Indian Government, when he devoted himself to the work of the office after his retirement from official employment in India.

Upon the death of General Browne the Committee appointed the Rev. J. Mee, M.A., to the office of Secretary, subject to the confirmation of the Anniversary Meeting. Mr. Mee was for several years an Association Secretary of the Society, and afterwards Secretary to the British and Foreign Bible Society. He has since spent three years in South Africa as Dean of Grahamstown.

JUBILEE YEAR OF THE BASLE EVANGELICAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The year 1865 being the Jubilee year of the Basle Evangelical Missionary Society, the Committee thought it a fitting occasion to express their lively sense of the advantages which the Church Missionary Society had received in the earlier years of its existence, by the supply of well-trained and able labourers which was furnished from year to year by the Basle Seminary to the Missions of this Society. The number has been eighty-eight, many of whom have been eminently blessed in their work. Some have entered into their rest: a large proportion have laid down their lives on the West Coast of Africa. In India the names of Schaffter, Weitbrecht, Isenberg, Krauss, Krückeberg, stand forward as faithful and devoted servants of God. Among living Missionaries, some, as Bishop Gobat and Archdeacon Kissling, have risen to high positions in the Church; whilst in literary labours the names of Drs. Pfander, Krapf, and Kœlle, and of Messrs. Schön, Schlenker, and Gollmer, will be handed down in Missionary annals, as great benefactors to the cause, by reducing unwritten languages to writing, by helping to give translations of the Word of God, and by treatises upon the truth of the Christian religion. Of late years the supply of Missionaries from England has so happily increased, and the demand for labourers in the many German Missions has been also enlarged, so that the transfer of the students from Basle to Islington has virtually ceased. But the Committee assured the Basle Society of their unabated interest in the progress of their Missions, and their prayer that the many benefits which were graciously vouchsafed to the Church Missionary Society, at their Jubilee in 1848, may be now granted to the Basle Society; especially a large increase of their resources, and a wide extension of the prayers and sympathies in their behalf throughout the Church of Christ.

ORDINATION OF MISSIONARIES.

Fifteen of the Society's Candidates have been admitted to holy orders during the year—four by the Bishop of London; one native by Bishop Crowther; two natives by the Bishop of Calcutta; five natives by the Bishop of Madras; and three natives by the Bishop of Colombo.

DEPARTURE OF MISSIONARIES TO THEIR STATIONS.

West-Africa Mission—The Rev. A. Menzies and Mrs. Menzies, on their return to the Mission, accompanied by Miss Caspari, embarked at Liverpool on the 24th of October 1865, for Sierra Leone, and arrived there early in November.

Yoruba Mission—Mr. J. H. Ashcroft embarked at Liverpool on the 24th of December 1865, for Lagos, and arrived there on the 21st of January. The Rev. C. F. Lieb and Mrs. Lieb embarked at Liverpool on the 24th of February, for Lagos, on their return to the Mission.

Western-India Mission—The Rev. J. Wilson left Southampton on the 27th of September 1865, on his return to the Mission, and arrived at Bombay in November 1865. The Rev. Lundy Edward William Foote and Mrs. Foote embarked at Southampton on the 12th of September 1865, for Bombay, and arrived there in January 1866. The Rev. Cæsar Sutton Cooke embarked at Southampton on the 12th of January, for Bombay. The Rev. C. F. Schwarz and Mrs. Schwarz, returning to the Mission, embarked at Southampton on the 12th of April, for Bombay.

North-India Mission—The Rev. James Long and Mrs. Long, on their return to the Mission, and the Rev. Augustus Frederick Rudolph Hoernle, embarked at Gravesend on the 10th of August 1865, for Calcutta, and arrived there on the 27th of November.

South-India Mission—The Rev. Edward Sell embarked at Gravesend on the 12th of September 1865, for Madras, and arrived there in December 1865. The Rev. D. Fenn left London on the 5th of April, on his return to the Mission, intending to visit Palestine on his route.

China Mission—The Rev. Charles Atkinson and Mrs. Atkinson embarked at Gravesend on the 15th of July last, for Shanghai, and arrived there on the 15th of December. The Rev. J. S. Burdon and Mrs. Burdon left London for China, on their return thither, via Marseilles, on the 5th of September last, and arrived at Hong Kong on the 25th of October.

North-West-America Mission—The Rev. J. P. Gardiner and Mrs. Gardiner, on their return to the Mission, and the Rev. W. Carpenter Bompas, late Curate of Alford, Lincolnshire, left London for Red River, via New York, on the 30th of June last, and arrived at New York on the 8th of August.

North-Pacific Mission—The Rev. Frank Barrow Gribbell and Mrs. Gribbell embarked at Southampton on the 18th of September, for Vancouver's Island, via New York.

DECEASE OF MISSIONARIES.

It has pleased God, during the year just closed, to take from the Society by death a larger number of Missionaries than in any former year : the number amounts to fourteen, whereas the average number of deaths for the last ten years has only been between three and four. It will be seen by the following list, that several of our veteran Missionaries have fallen, several in the prime of life, and several young men of high promise.

The Committee bow to the inscrutable will of God. Knowing that the cause of Missions is dearer to the Lord of the harvest than to any of His labourers ; they are assured that even these losses, as man may term them, shall turn out to the furtherance of the Gospel. In the mean time the directors and supporters of Missions are taught to look beyond human agency, to exercise a firmer faith in the ministration of the Holy Spirit, and to unite more earnestly in prayer that the Lord may Himself thrust forth fresh labourers, whom He has qualified by special evangelistic gifts and graces. The chief anxiety of the Committee at the last Anniversary was to secure funds for the support of the Missionaries : their present anxiety is rather for men to supply the vacancies, and to strengthen the Missions.

West-Africa Mission—The Rev. Edward Jones, M.A., of African descent, died suddenly at New Brompton, near Chatham, on the 14th of May 1865.

Yoruba Mission—The Rev. Gottlob Frederick Bühler died at Schorndorf, Germany, on the 14th of August 1865, after three weeks of suffering.

East-Africa Mission—The Rev. James Taylor died at Zanzibar on the 8th of March 1865, after a few hours' illness.

Mediterranean Mission—The Rev. Charles Gottlieb Pfander, D.D., died at Richmond, Surrey, on the 1st of December, after a painful illness, having laboured zealously thirty-five years ; first as a Missionary with the Bâsle Missionary Society in Persia, and for the last twenty-five years in connexion with this Society, first in India, and recently in Turkey.

Western-India Mission—The Rev. Edward Rogers died at Bombay on the 22nd of July 1865, having faithfully laboured in the Mission for eighteen years.

North-India Mission—Mrs. Davis, wife of the Rev. B. Davis, died at Allahabad on the 3rd of March 1865. The Rev. Frederick Wathen died at Dalhousie, in the Punjab, of fever on the 9th November 1865. The Rev. John Stevenson died at Peshawur, of fever, on the 23rd of December 1865.

South-India Mission—Mrs. Whitchurch, wife of the Rev. J. W. Whitchurch, died at Pannikullam on the 6th of April 1865. The Rev. Joseph Peet died at Mavelicare, of a protracted illness, on the 11th of August 1865, having been for thirty-three years a devoted and earnest labourer in the Travancore Mission. The Rev. Robert Turlington Noble, B.A., died at Masulipatam on the 17th of October last, after a short illness, having successfully laboured for upward of twenty-four years at Masulipatam. The Rev. Henry Bartlett died at Torquay on the 2nd of December.

New-Zealand Mission—The Rev. Watene Moeke, Native, died at Nukutaurua on the 9th of June 1865. The Rev. Carl Sylvius Volkner was murdered at Opotiki on the 2nd of March 1865 by New-Zealand fanatics. The Rev. John Morgan, of Otawhao, died in June 1865, after some months' illness: he had zealously laboured in the Mission for nearly thirty-three years. The Ven. Archdeacon George Adam Kissling died at Auckland on the 9th of November 1865, having for thirty years been a devoted labourer in connexion with the Society, first in West Africa, and subsequently in New Zealand. The Rev. James Hamlin died at Tepuna on the 15th of November, of paralytic attack, after having zealously laboured in the Mission for forty years.

North-West-America Mission—The Ven. Archdeacon William Cockran died at Portage la Prairie on the 1st of October last, having most zealously laboured in the Mission for a period of forty years.

RETURN HOME OF MISSIONARIES.

Yoruba Mission—Mrs. Hinderer arrived in London from Ibadan on the 15th of May 1865. The Rev. J. A. Lamb, the Rev. J. B. Wood, and Mr. E. Roper, left Lagos on the 8th of May, and arrived in London on the 12th of June 1865. The Rev. D. Hinderer left Lagos on the 10th of June, and arrived at Liverpool on the 15th of July.

Mediterranean Mission—The Rev. Dr. C. G. Pfander left Constantinople on the 8th of June, and arrived in London on the 29th of June last.

Western-India Mission—The Rev. R. Galbraith and Mrs. Galbraith left Bombay on the 8th of April, and arrived in London on the 13th of May 1865.

North-India Mission—The Rev. J. Cooper left Mooltan on the 9th of May, and arrived in London on the 21st of June 1865. The Rev. E. C. Stuart left Calcutta on the 9th of June, and arrived in London on the 17th of July 1865: Mr. Stuart left London on his return to Calcutta on the 11th of December, and reached there on the 14th of January last. The Rev. W. Keene and Mrs. Keene left Umritsur on the 25th of January, and arrived in London on the 3d of July 1865. The Rev. W. T. Storrs and Mrs. Storrs left Calcutta on the 5th of April 1865, and arrived in London on the 3rd of August. The Rev. Henry S. Patterson and Mrs. Patterson left Bunnoo in March, and arrived in London in April last.

South-India Mission—The T. Y. Darling left Madras on the 23rd of February 1865, and arrived in London on the 3rd of June. The Rev. T. Spratt left Tinnevely on the 26th of April 1865, and arrived in London on the 3rd of June. The Rev. J. Bilderbeck and Mrs. Bilderbeck left Madras on the 28th of February 1865, and arrived in London on the 1st July. The Rev. H. Bartlett left Madras in June, and arrived at Southampton on the 22nd of July 1865. The Rev. J. T. Tucker and Mrs. Tucker left Madras on the 9th of September, and arrived in London on the 23rd of December 1865. The Rev. W. Clark and Mrs. Clark left Madras on the 1st of February 1866, and arrived in London on the 13th of April. Mr. and Mrs. Walker left Madras on the 28th of February, and arrived in Dover on the 15th of April.

Ceylon Mission—The Rev. H. D. Buswell and Mrs. Buswell left Jaffna on the 1st of August 1865, and arrived in London on the 23rd of December.

North-West-America Mission—The Rev. W. Stagg and Mrs. Stagg left Fairford on the 19th of May 1865; and Archdeacon Hunter and Mrs. Hunter left Red River on the 30th of May 1865, and arrived in London on the 22nd of July. The Rev. J. Horden and Mrs. Horden left Moose Factory on the 29th of September 1865, and arrived in London on the 18th of November.

NUMBER OF LABOURERS.

Eight ordained European labourers, and one European female teacher, have been sent forth during the year. Fourteen European clergymen, and the wives of two clergymen, have been removed by death; and five clergymen and three laymen, and one female teacher, have, on account of health and other causes, ceased to be connected with the Society. The number of European labourers in full connexion with the Society is as follows:—

Abroad—

Ordained European Missionaries.....	161
Unordained European Labourers.....	19
European Female Teachers	8—188

Unordained European Labourers.....	2 — 31

Showing a decrease of eleven clergymen and three laymen.
The number of ordained Native and Country-born labourers is eighty-six, being an increase of seven.

and Moral Condition of Sierra Leone.*

THE social advancement of Sierra Leone is the triumph of a great philanthropic and religious enterprise. The colony was first projected about 1787 by Granville Sharpe, Wilberforce, H. Thornton, and other founders of the Church Missionary Society, as a settlement of free Africans on the very coast which had been long desolated and degraded by the slave-trade. When the settlement had acquired some growth, it was adopted as one of the colonies of Great Britain. Its population was fed by the continued accession of ignorant and naked slaves, torn from all parts of the coast, but liberated by the cruisers from the holds of condemned slavers. That a settlement formed of such materials should have risen into a flourishing colony, is a signal proof of the moral and intellectual capabilities of the African race, and of the blessing of God upon an enterprise undertaken in prayer and faith. It is also a proof of the success of modern Missions, for by an arrangement with H.M. Government in the year 1816, the Church Missionary Society undertook the spiritual charge of the liberated Africans upon their first arrival. Soon afterwards, the Wesleyan Missionary Society and other Missionary Associations contributed their aid to the moral and religious improvements of the colony.

Independent testimony to
of Missions.

Some writers, indeed, who have visited Sierra Leone have denied the success of the experiment in the social or religious elevation of the people. The statements of Missionaries are objected to by such parties, as being partial and exaggerated reports of their own achievements; though all who know the truth of the case bear testimony that Missionaries far oftener understate than exaggerate the results of their labours. It is therefore with great satisfaction that, on this occasion, the Committee are able to refer to the evidence elicited by a Parliamentary Select Committee, which sat during the session of 1865, to investigate the condition of the West-African Colonies. That Committee was eminently impartial in its composition, and examined witnesses notoriously hostile to the negro race and to Christian Missions, as well as those who were favourable. The Committee, at the close of its investigations, presented to the House the evidence they had received, and a few short recommendations. These documents have been printed in a Blue Book. This book may be unhesitatingly appealed to as establishing the main facts which this Society has from year to year reported, in proof of the social and religious progress of the liberated Africans and their descendants in Sierra Leone.

H.M. Government had sent out a special commissioner, Col. Ord, R.E., Governor of the colony of Bermuda, to visit and report upon the four colonies of the West Coast of Africa, which he had on a former occasion officially inspected. Col. Ord was examined before the Committee, and one passage which states the conclusion of his investigations must be given:—

So far as the suppression of the slave-trade and the encouragement of commerce are concerned, it may be said that the settlements satisfactorily attain the principal objects for which they are maintained; but it must be borne in mind that there are other objects, the attainment of which augments greatly the advantages which the maintenance of the settlement confers: these are, the abolition of human sacrifice, and other similar barbarous practices, the removal of that oppression and injustice which too often attend the administration of the native laws, and the introduction of such modifications into the laws and customs regarding domestic slaves, as shall at least lead to some improvement in their condition, if it does not altogether free them from bondage. There has been spread widely abroad an appreciation of the superiority of European civilization and of the advantages it brings with it, the results of which, if not yet apparent, there can be no doubt will be seen hereafter.

I. The Native Church within the Colony.

The fifth year since the Native Pastorate was established has passed over, and every thing wears an encouraging aspect. The payments towards the support of nine native pastors have been kept up, and very laudable efforts have been made for the repair and improvement of the churches, and for building them where they were wanted. The Pastoral-aid Fund, for supplying native pastors with scripture readers has been liberally supported. And beyond this supply of their own immediate wants, the congregations have this year exhibited a very enlarged liberality towards benevolent objects beyond their own country. A Church Missionary Association has long existed in Sierra Leone, producing about 100*l.* a year; but since the support of the native church has been thrown upon its own resources the contributions to foreign Missions have largely increased. It is arranged that the amount raised by the Association should be divided—half to be expended upon the heathen beyond the colony, and the other half in the general Missions of the Society. The native church of Sierra Leone cordially responds to the proposal that it should take part in the evangelization of the world, and the contributions of this year have risen from 264*l.* to 346*l.*

Great liberality of the native church.

Another object to which Sierra Leone has this year liberally contributed is that of the British and Foreign Bible Society. The present year is the Jubilee of the Sierra-Leone Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society, which had been established by the Rev. E. Bickersteth, during his visit to Africa: a special effort was therefore made to testify their value of the Society's work. A Jubilee thank-offering of 200%. was made to the Parent Society for its general purposes; 50%. was given to the Building Fund of the new house of the Society in London; every minister, catechist, and schoolmaster in the colony and Missions around was presented with a copy of the Scriptures, containing a printed Jubilee statement; and a gratuitous distribution of 1200 Bibles and Testaments was made among the poorest members of the congregations. The spirit in which these pious and benevolent exertions have been made, and the amount contributed, may assuredly be taken as signs of spiritual life in the native church.

II. Churches in the Colony still in charge of the Society.

The Missionaries of the Society still act as pastors of Pademba-Road and Kissey-Road churches in Freetown, and of Wilberforce, a rural district adjoining Freetown. The Society also supports the native pastor at the Bananas. Each Missionary has an ordained native curate, who is thus trained for the ministry, and prepared to succeed to the native pastorates as vacancies occur. These churches will, however, be ultimately transferred to the native pastorate when the native church funds are able to bear the charge.

The reports of the Missionary ministers of these parishes, and of the native curates, are satisfactory, as indicating the gradual progress of Christian attainments and the bringing in of the remaining heathen. The Rev. H. C. Binns, who has charge of the Pademba-Road church, gives the following amounts of contributions to charitable and religious objects from his congregation during the last five years: 1861, 105%.; 1862, 140%.; 1863, 179%.; 1864, 170%.; 1865, 300%.

Education.

The Committee have not yet been able to send out a Principal to conduct the higher departments of education in the Fourah-Bay Institution.

The Grammar School, under its native Principal, the Rev. James Quaker, continues to prosper in respect of numbers, averaging about 100 pupils, and in the very creditable attainments exhibited in the public examinations. The examination in the early part of 1865 was presided over by Colonel Ord during his visit of inspection, and in his evidence given before the Parliamentary Committee he states:—

There is a grammar school for the children of the better class of natives. It is supported by the payments of the parents, the Society giving some slight aid. The master is the Rev. Mr. Quaker, a native gentleman and a clergyman of the Church-of-England, of high character and considerable attainments. I know him personally, and I esteem him very highly. I consider that it is a good school and very well conducted.

Independent testimony of Col. Ord, R.E.

During the last year two of the students were transferred to the Society's College in Islington, to whom reference has already been made. Another pupil was recommended to the army schoolmasters' class in the Royal Military College at Chelsea, and passed on entrance a first-rate examination, and, after nine months, was appointed to a West-Indian regiment, with very high testimonials to his attainments and character. Four of the students were taken on board H. M. ship "Rattlesnake," by Commodore A. P. Eardley Wilmot, C.B., to be instructed in the art of navigation. Upon the expiration of the term of their service the Commodore wrote to the Secretary the following testimony respecting their conduct:—

African intelligence.

I have great pleasure in informing you that the conduct of the four African boys named in the margin, during the time they have been on board the "Rattlesnake," a period of nearly two years, has been highly satisfactory. Their progress in navigation and mathematics generally has been very great; while in seamanship, in knowledge of the steam-engine, and other useful works, they have done exceedingly well.

Mr. Quaker has formed a "Preparandi" class out of the senior pupils, to qualify them as schoolmasters or catechists. From this class five have gone out during the last year, three of them having volunteered to accompany Bishop Crowther to the Niger and countries adjacent, where they are keeping schools with much satisfaction to the bishop.

It will be seen from these facts how well Sierra Leone fulfils its mission of diffusing the blessings of Christian civilization through a wide circle.

The Female Institution.

During the last year the new building for the Female Institution has been completed and opened after a delay of several years in the building. It is a very complete, healthy, and commodious house. The cost of the building has been about 2500*l.*, the whole of which has been given anonymously by a gentleman in England as a tribute to the memory of a beloved daughter, who died at the age of twenty years in the faith and peace of the Gospel, and who had taken a special interest in Missions.

Miss Sass is ably assisted by Miss Adcock and Miss Caspari. The number of pupils has varied from forty-five to fifty.

Miss Sass writes, in her annual report:—

Missionary
joys and trials.

January 1865 found us struggling on still in the old house, wearied with long delays, discouraged by dilatory workpeople, overwhelmed with business, and sick in body and mind. January 1866 finds us in a very different case, thanks be to our gracious, allwise God. The old house will ever be endeared to the hearts of those who belong to the Female Institution, and who lived together happily so many years beneath its roof. We were right glad to leave it because its limited size greatly hindered our work: proper arrangements could not be made, plans for the improvement, civilization, or elevation of the children could not be carried out; there was no fit accommodation for any European assistant; and the fact that sixty human beings daily assembled in a house built for the accommodation of a small family is sufficient to convince every one that the change was very desirable; and now it seems almost impossible to believe that so many could have lived there so long with any degree of comfort. Nevertheless, comfort we had, and abundance of it at times, and blessings, mercies, lovingkindnesses, joys, and pleasures, in rich abundance. Many good and perfect gifts daily showered down upon us from the great Father of lights. This is a bright picture of goodness and mercy, but there were spent also in that old house many days, weeks, and months of sickness, weakness, pains, and weariness; there were many heart-rendings, many discouragements, trials and disappointments, and many a hard battle was often fought against Satan and his kingdom of sin and darkness in human hearts.

Retrospect of a Quarter of a Century.

Mrs. Beale is the widow of a zealous African Missionary, who, when her husband died at his post in 1856, remained to carry on the work, and has a girls' boarding school, and a mothers' Bible class of forty women. She thus takes a retrospect of a quarter of a century:—

of African Missions.

I wish some of those kind friends who support Mission work out of their abundance could take a glance with me at what Sierra Leone was twenty-five years ago, and what it is now. Then, only liberated Africans to teach, or their children just emerging from slavery: now, a native ministry, who have taken up the mantles of those whose crown of rejoicing they will be in the great day. I thank God that He has spared some of us to see the garden of the Lord's church in Africa springing up like the vegetation around us.

III. The Regions beyond the peninsula of Sierra Leone.

Bullom Mission.—The native minister, Mr. Boston, is assisted by a schoolmaster and a native catechist, Mr. Marke, who is stationed at the town Rogbany, at a short distance from Yongro. The Mission is visited by the Missionaries from Freetown from time to time. The language of the people is the Timneh, but there is a large population of Sierra-Leone people who understand English. Mr. Boston writes:—

We have every reason to be thankful for the increased number of worshippers with us. Exclusive of the natives, who form part of the congregation, but attend very irregularly, there are at present about 140 of the Sierra-Leone people who worship here on the Lord's-day. Our communicants number 34.

June 25: Lord's-day.—A good ingathering indeed we had to day, in the admission of eleven persons by baptism into the Christian church—five adults and five children, all the first-fruits of the Rogbany station.

The native catechist at Rogbany thus notices in his journal the natural proneness of man to idolatry:—

Came to a hamlet where the people worship the white ant, or bug-a-bug. We asked them, "Why do you worship such a foolish thing?" One replied, in Timneh, "We don't know whether this is a good or bad thing: we only think that it is not good for persons to be without an object to whom they should call in trouble or sickness. So one day, after we had eaten, we thought upon the bug-a-bug as a fit object of worship." "Well," I said to them, "it is persons of such character we are seeking out. We will tell you whom to worship." The people were amazed to hear in their own tongue the wonders of redeeming love.

The Quiah Territory.—The Rev. C. Knodler is the Missionary in charge of the Quiah Mission, which extends beyond the British territory into the Timneh country. His chief time has been devoted to itinerating among the people. The Rev. Mr. Schlenker, whose health prevents his return to Africa, has completed a Timneh Grammar and Dictionary, and is now engaged in translating the Holy Scriptures into that language. The specimens of his translations have been well received and understood by the people.

The Mendi Mission.—The Mendi language is spoken throughout a large district on the south-east of Sierra Leone. Mr. Menzies has been set apart for the study of this language and the commencement of a Mission. He is residing for the present at Waterloo, within the Colony, and takes occasional tours into the Mendi country.

The Sherbro Mission.—The Sherbro country lies upon the coast, about sixty miles south of Sierra Leone. Several rivers from the interior enter the sea at this point. The territory has been lately annexed to the Colony, and a large trade is springing up. A native catechist, Mr. Mason, has been for two or three years stationed at Bendeo. Four languages are spoken in the Sherbro, viz. the Timneh, Mendi, Sherbro, and Wei. The Committee greatly desire to place an European, or native Missionary of linguistic acquirements at so important a station.

Political complications between the Mission and the Governor of Lagos.

FOR the last five years the field of labour occupied by the Yoruba Mission has been grievously afflicted by civil wars, which occasioned the destruction of Ijaye, and prevented all intercourse between Abeokuta and Ibadan, and the outstations connected with each of these two centres. Many small towns were destroyed and the people sold as slaves. Kidnapping became general throughout the whole district. Human sacrifices were revived, and the war spirit, once awakened, gave a painful impulse to the savage passions of the heathen, and the counsels of the headstrong.

These calamities have disorganized, in a measure, the social condition of Abeokuta and other towns where a strong arm did not hold the reins of Government. Had the British colony of Lagos been able to maintain a neutral position its influence might have mitigated these evils, and might have greatly promoted the pacification of the country. Unhappily a misunderstanding soon arose between the Lieut.-Governor of Lagos and the chiefs of Abeokuta, and the road between the two places was blockaded on both sides. Threats of coercion to open new roads by British troops were thrown out, and the camp of Egba warriors, which had been invited by the Governor of Lagos to attack Ikoroju, was itself suddenly attacked by a British gun-boat and troops, and driven back to Abeokuta in confusion. Missionary trials.

These unhappy circumstances subjected the Missionaries and the Christian converts to the suspicion of being in league with the Governor for the overthrow of native towns, and in many ways exposed European Missionaries and merchants to severe losses and hardships. But it is a cause of unfeigned thankfulness to the Lord that no Missionary in any part of the country, was subjected to personal violence, nor any convert molested. Threats and occasional insults occurred, but no actual interruption to their public services or Missionary duties. The most satisfactory proof has thus been given of the stable position which Christianity has attained in these heathen countries; and there is abundant reason to believe that its power and stability will be eventually greatly increased by these trials, when they shall have passed away. Providential protection of Missionaries.

It is a standing injunction of the Society upon all its agents to abstain from interference with politics, unless occasions arise when self-preservation or the cause of truth and justice imperatively call for such interference. In the early part of last year Mr. Townsend felt that such an extreme occasion

interference with local

had arisen, and appealed to the Governor of Lagos to be allowed to mediate for a peace. These overtures were partially successful, but they were thwarted by annexed conditions, which excited afresh the jealousy and irritation of the Egba chiefs.

The Committee also felt it right to address communications to H.M. Government at home, which were candidly listened to, and the Committee were assured that the Governor-General, in his visit to Lagos upon his return to Africa, should examine into the matter.

In the early part of the present year (1866), the Committee received the happy intelligence that the Governor-General, upon his arrival at Lagos, made arrangements which have removed all just ground of complaint, and all restrictions upon trade, and have restored confidence and peace among all parties.

In these last auspicious arrangements Mr. Townsend was again invited by all parties to take part, and he met the Governor-General at Lagos and one of the representatives of the chiefs of Abeokuta. The Committee cannot but bear testimony that Mr. Townsend, throughout these trying and difficult complications, for the last few years has acted with wisdom, firmness, and Christian consistency, as well as in conformity with the principles laid down by the Committee for the regulation of their Missionaries in respect of local politics. They can give the same assurance respecting the behaviour of all their Missionaries, though other names have not been so prominently brought under public notice as Mr. Townsend's.

In a letter of Governor Blackall, written to the Society after his return to Sierra Leone from Lagos, His Excellency states, "I will not enter upon the general policy which has been pursued towards the Egbas, because the future will be more satisfactory to both parties; and I assure you I feel much the zealous and able assistance rendered by the Rev. Mr. Townsend in smoothing matters for me, and his readiness not to revert to past grievances."

One other instance may be given of the behaviour of the native minister placed alone in Otta, a considerable town, lying between Abeokuta and Lagos, and exposed alternately to the censure and threats of both parties. In a narrative of certain negotiations into which he was drawn, the native minister thus writes:—

You will have seen, from my reports for last year, that the Lieutenant-Governor of Lagos, after having obliged the Egbas to retreat from their encampment against Ikorodu, sent a threatening message to the King of Otta, by which they were so alarmed, that the people had to remove their wives and children from the town. In the midst of this emergency, the people, not knowing what to do, applied to me, as being the only one here who understands English, to head a deputation to be sent by them to Lagos, in order to negotiate with His Excellency for the peace and safety of this town. I have made it a maxim to carry out the instruction of the Society to refrain from interference with politics; but on an occasion like this, when the safety of the whole town was concerned, and when it was impossible that we and our work should be exempted from sharing in its fate, I thought it a duty devolving on me to agree to the wishes of the authorities, and to use my utmost endeavours to secure the welfare of this town. Accordingly, therefore, I headed that deputation, and from that time I have continued to act as a kind of mediator between the Lieutenant-Governor and the Otta people, so that there has been no misunderstanding between them since March 1865 to February of this year.

LAGOS.

During the last year Mr. Lamb has been absent in England on sick certificate. Mr. Nicholson has acted as Secretary, and Mr. Mann has supplied the Mission church. Owing to political agitations, and a great depression of trade, the town of Lagos has of late proved a discouraging field of Missionary labour. The congregation at Bread-Fruit chapel, under Mr. Nicholson, has, however, kept up its numbers, and exhibits a truly Christian and liberal spirit. The usual annual letters or reports have not yet been furnished. The native minister, Mr. Morgan, has the charge of a church and congregation in King Doemu's part of the town. He has some encouragement in individual cases, but there is as yet little appearance of any considerable increase of inquirers.

The Grammar School remains under the charge of the Rev. T. B. Macaulay, a native minister; but the premises are far too contracted and inconvenient for the purposes of a school. The building of a suitable room is a great desideratum; but as yet the general funds of the Society have been too low to warrant the outlay. A separate subscription for this object will be probably set on foot.

Badagry has been, during the last year, under the charge of the native catechist, Mr. Pearse, who reports several pleasing instances of individual inquirers and converts.

The Rev. James White, native minister, thus reviews the importance of Otta as a Missionary station, and his pastoral labours in the same during the year—

Otta is situated in the centre of various towns and villages, between Lagos and Abeokuta, whose dialects are so akin to one another, with very slight peculiarities, that it might be inferred, and that with safety, that they have all the same origin. These are Agege, Ogba, Idimu, Oko-metta, Ojetta, Ogundu, &c., in the southern direction on the way to Lagos; Agboyi, Iseri, Baragu, &c., bordering on the river Ogun in the eastern direction; Iyessi, Ilogbo, Ilobi, and Ilaro, in the northern direction; and Itale, Igbessa, Ado, and Okoeden, in the western direction. With the exception of Otta and Ilaro, all the other places are without a single Christian teacher. Otta seems to be, therefore, the central point at which the Gospel leaven should be worked, and from which it should diffuse itself around these benighted places.

The aspect of the work continues much the same as described in my last report. There has been a great improvement in our congregation. Christian marriages have begun to take place, a thing which I could not get them to do for years. Many a headstrong one has become sober. Nominal professors are exhibiting signs of genuine Christianity. One, who had been an inquirer for some eight years, during which time he had his idols in his possession, has not only given them up, but also left off his palm-wine drinking and other bad habits. The attendance on the means of grace on the part of the converts is regular and satisfactory, with but very few exceptions. Our visits among the people have been kept up, both by myself and by my assistants. Our prayer-meetings, too, have not been neglected. Our day and Sunday schools are steadily advancing.

ABEOKUTA.

During the past year the Rev. H. Townsend and the Rev. J. Maser have continued their labours at Abeokuta. The Rev. G. F. Bühler was compelled to return home through ill-health, and he died in Germany in the course of a few months. The Missionaries have the help of one native pastor in Abeokuta, and there is also one at the out-station of Oshielle.

of evil.

A hope was expressed in the last Report that the calamities through which Abeokuta had passed would be overruled to the establishment of the infant church, of which the results would appear as soon as peace was restored. It appears from Mr. Townsend's testimony that this hope has been already realized. In his annual letter at the close of the year he writes:—

The past year has been one, as regards our labours, barren of outward and visible results, but I believe one fruitful in establishing and strengthening the Lord's work. I cannot speak of accessions to the church. I have only baptized thirteen adults in the year, and but few inquirers have come forward, but the few under the trying season we have been passing through may really be regarded as more than the many in seasons of greater prosperity and peace. Circumstances that have occurred lately will probably show the reality of our progress. A member of our church, called Jonathan, died in the course of last week. His death was caused by a bite in the finger by a madman, a relative, whom he was endeavouring to secure, to prevent his doing mischief. It brought on lock-jaw and death. Mr. Maser did what he could for him medically, most kindly, as he has done in many cases of sickness here.

This man was of some rank and consideration in his district, and connected with the late chief Ogubonna. I was therefore almost sure the heathen would perform his funeral in their own way. However, we found that the heathen, with one consent, wished him to be buried as a Christian, and the Obonis laid aside their claim to interfere. One of the senior members of his family spoke thus, being himself a heathen, to some of the grown-up sons and daughters of the deceased—"Your father, whose becoming a Christian you disliked, bestowed upon you much benefit by it: for see how little money is required for his funeral. Had he died a heathen, you would have been impoverished to pay funeral expenses. Now there is no drum-beating, no gun-firing, and other things of the like nature: only a little is wanted to pay the Oboni fees." From 150 to 200 persons attended his remains to the grave. Jonathan told me, when I first visited him after his accident, how great the changes were that had taken place in the country in his experience in the township of Ikija. He said, "Formerly, when Abeokuta was not built, if a head of a compound died, three persons would be sacrificed. Now it is never done." I asked him if any thing of the kind was done at Ogubonna's funeral. He said, "No, he was a Christian." In visiting Jonathan I had an opportunity of speaking to the heathen visiting him, with peculiar acceptance, and of stating plainly our state by nature and the remedy by grace; the nature of idolatry, it being a system of the devil to keep them from God, and the salvation provided by the sacrifice of his Son.

We have had many instances of breaches of Christian law among our members, especially in connexion with the seventh commandment and polygamy. People in a Christian country do not know what they owe to Christian manners, customs, and laws, the growth of generations, and the habits that have been formed out of them. The more experience I have the more I am inclined to deal tenderly with the faults and sins of the members of the Christian church here in the midst of heathenism, not merely in the midst and separated by well-defined lines of demarcation, but individuals, as it were, individually trying to live a new life, whilst the atmosphere they breathe is of an opposite character. We read often that Missions are disappointing in their results, but it can only be so to those who do not understand the nature and strength of the power arrayed against us. For myself, I did not, in times past, estimate the opposition and obstacles to be so great as they really are, and at the same time I feel as strongly persuaded of the reality and success of the work as ever. There is a strong tendency on the part of Christian converts to group together; there are advantages seen and felt by themselves which impel them to it: we have not a model village, nor any thing like it, but Christians build houses as near to our stations as they can. I obtained land, and gave it away in building-lots, and obtained more and more, but we have more applications for lots than we have land. The Sierra-Leone traders gravitate towards Missionary stations, and white men do the same. This circumstance will tend to good in one respect: they are enabled to send their children to school better than they would otherwise do. There are now seventy-three children in our infant school, which could not be if their parents had been more scattered.

Importance of a
example.

I feel more and more that the present and ultimate success of our work depends greatly upon our example, and in truth the instruction we give by our acts is far more effective than our oral instruction. The heathen, whenever they defend us, always appeal to our acts, and the most effective mode of doing us an injury has been to attempt to undervalue our works by representing them as done for some sinister purpose. Our work and ways are utterly and entirely beyond the reach of the mere heathen to understand, that is, without going out of, and rising above, their usual conceptions. They did not understand, the thought did not enter their minds, that the people we redeemed from slavery were really free, but experience teaches them that they are. They do not understand our trying to save the lives of orphan infants, for they never do it; but we do it, and leave it to their experience to find out what we do, and why we do it. I am sure they will follow our example by and by.

gentle discipline over an infant
Church.

My own experience of the nature of church discipline is, that we go wrong when we try to inflict punishment. As a rule, I find that people do not need to be formally told they are not fit to partake of the Lord's Supper; they are better governed by the inward monitor: those conscious of having committed evil keep away, and this is far better than if I told them to keep away. I find, too, the benefit of using the elders of the church to investigate cases brought against a church member, or to settle disagreements. I save myself the labour and also the unpleasant position one is brought into by being a judge, but at the same time I hear for the most part all that is to be said on either side. Since commencing the system of having class-leaders, I have followed it completely: there are no difficulties and disadvantages connected with it, but the work must be thrown upon them. Many absent themselves from class on account of the payment of forty cowries, but for my part I do my best to enforce it. I tell them that those who cannot are those who will not, and they are not worthy of the church.

Mr. Maser has had charge of the other two stations of Igbein and Owu, as well as the Training Institution for native teachers, under the charge of the late Mr. Bühler. He reports at the close of the year:—

My work at Owu, besides the direction of affairs, was confined to a sermon on the Sunday morning. On the last day of the year I administered baptism to thirteen adults. Some belonged to Owu church, some were old, and others were children. They had committed the church catechism to memory, and it had been explained to them. Their patient coming to class and Sunday school to commit the catechism to memory I always take as a sign that they have a real desire for the word of God.

The church at Igbein, where I have kept the class of the communicants and the Sunday-morning service, and, alternately with Mr. Allen, the weekly service, seems to be a body which governs itself more than the other churches I have had charge of. They are under their own leaders, who settle their matters, and call them together for the public business of the church, such as repairing the roof, &c. They need a pastor, who has nothing else to do but to attend to them, who will also have to direct their efforts towards the East to carry the Gospel of Christ to the regions beyond.

At the Training Institution the plan of the late Mr. Bühler has been kept up by myself and my native assistants. Mr. Bühler had the Institution since 1858, and his labours have been very successful. During the six years his four predecessors had charge of the school it could not thrive on account of the frequent changes which took place through sickness and death; but through the six years he was permitted to labour it became fully established. At the close of 1865 there were twelve pupils in the Institution, who formed one class.

Mr. Bühler's native assistant, the Rev. Mr. Allen, in his journal thus touchingly alludes to the loss the Mission has sustained in the death of Mr. Bühler:—

This mail has brought the sad intelligence of the death of the Rev. G. F. Bühler. It is a heavy blow to us here, and a great loss sustained by the Society. His loss is felt by all in this country. He has done much for the promotion of the Redeemer's kingdom. He will ever be remembered in this country. He has supplied the whole Mission with well-trained schoolmasters. The colony of Lagos highly esteemed him as a useful man. Our hearts do ache, and we deeply lament his death. It is surprising to tell that the heathen chiefs here, who are acquainted with him, deplored his death. We, as Christians, will not be too grieved as those without hope. Our loss is his gain. He is called to receive his reward of that crown of glory which fadeth not away.

Upon the visit of the Bishop of Sierra Leone to Lagos in the early part of the year 1865 Mr. Allen was admitted to Deacons' orders. In his journal he thus draws the striking retrospect of his past life as a slave, as liberated in Sierra Leone, and now as an ordained minister of the Church of England—

Selling
into slavery a step to the ministry.

Feb. 9—This afternoon I started from Lagos by the river route, as I could not return by land. Reached home on the 13th instant, to the joy of friends who were looking out for my return. To God be all the praise for all mercies vouchsafed on me. I then took a retrospect view of former years; how I passed Lagos as a slave, not knowing where my destination would be, and what would become of me. But our heavenly Father was leading me by his providence. When at Lagos for some time in the slave baracoon, I was then shipped, together with several of my age, in a slave-ship: some months passed away in sailing here and there, in order to avoid the English man-of-war, during which time several of my companions died; only three of us survived. We afterwards fell into the hands of the man-of-war, and were taken to Sierra Leone, where I was placed in school, and taught to read and write, and all instruction suitable for a Christian.

In 1855 I landed again, not as a slave, but as a freed man, and a teacher to my land. In the commencement of this year I went to Lagos as a layman, and returned an ordained minister of the Lord. And hence, who makes me to differ? It is God, for He alone ordereth all things as it pleaseth Him. To Him, therefore, be all the praise for ever and ever!

African gratitude.

I am now indebted to the Church Missionary Society for undeserved favours bestowed on me. When I look on myself, how weak, how unworthy of the honours conferred on me, I can only pray that God may enable me to answer the expectations of the Society, and the good of my own land. May our heavenly Father bless and prosper all the intentions of the Society for the spread of the Redeemer's kingdom on earth! On the 9th of April, for the first time, I baptized four children. I reflected on a portion of the baptismal service which runs thus—"Grant that whosoever is here dedicated to thee by our office and ministry may also be endued with heavenly virtues, and everlastingly rewarded." Oh may I be favoured with the befitting gifts and graces of the Holy Spirit for the important work of the ministry!

The native minister, the Rev. W. Moore, takes this review of his pastoral labours:—

The past year was a most trying and distressing one to us in this village, in consequence of the unexpected and painful invasion which the Ibadans had made on the Egba farms in this part at the commencement of the year, when hundreds of the poor defenceless farmers were carried away as slaves, and some put to death. Affairs wore a very gloomy aspect. Farming, which was the glory of Oshiele, at once ceased. The many flourishing farmers' hamlets around here where I used to preach were made desolate of their inhabitants, therefore the usually crowded market of this town, in which we preached to the buyers and sellers, became vacant. Farming implements were laid aside, instruments of war were taken and carried day and night. Towards the end of the year, when affairs began to wear a better aspect in consequence of the peace, our old chief Akashi, the great defender of the town, and who had a very pleasing view of Christianity, died. He was indeed a true friend of the Christians. The town is now left without a chief or governor. What his successor will be to us Christians we could not now divine. However, it is our comfort to know that the hearts of kings and governors are in the hands of our heavenly Master. Now, with a heart full of praise and thanksgiving, I have to record, that notwithstanding the troubles concerning the war, my little flock has been safely kept by the great Head of the church, and is now in a satisfactory order. And I feel truly thankful to Him in that I was enabled, during the troublous time, to carry the message of salvation to the men on the walls as often as I could, to which they always listened with marked attention, and for which I am now much respected by them. Our numbers are, regular church attendants, 140; communicants, 54. Missionary trials.

Mr. Maser notices in his journal:—

Dec. 7, 1865—The agents give a cheerful report of their work at Oyo, and how the king has assisted them, and taken them under his protection. He has even presented A. Wilhelm with a horse. It is very satisfactory to feel that the normal circulation in the Missionary body can now freely take place as regards the interior. The members at Oyo have no doubt greatly suffered from the want of intercourse with their brethren here.

Spontaneous growth of the Mission.

In a former Report it was stated that a native of the Jebu country had learnt to read during a short stay in Abeokuta, and carried back the Word of God to a part of the country from which European Missionaries were strictly excluded. From time to time the same person has returned to Abeokuta and generally with some new converts. At his last visit in January 1866 he gave the happy intelligence that fifteen adults meet together every Sunday at Iperu to read and pray together. In the expressive language of the native pastor, the Rev. W. Allen, "The spark of the word has flown to Iperu, the Holy Spirit has accompanied it, and it bursts into a blaze."

IBADAN.

Patience
under

For nearly five years the Missionary Mr. Hinderer, and his wife, were kept in captivity at Ibadan, on account of the war between that place and Abeokuta. Mr. Roper was also brought as a captive, upon the taking of Ijaye, to Ibadan, during the first year of the war, and thus became a companion in labours with Mr. Hinderer. In the early part of 1865 the road from Ibadan to Lagos was opened. Mrs. Hinderer immediately removed to Lagos, and from thence returned to England. Mr. Hinderer and Mr. Roper waited until a Missionary should arrive to carry on the Mission. The Rev. J. Smith and Mrs. Smith reached Ibadan in April, and having been introduced by Mr. Hinderer to the chiefs and native Christians, Messrs. Hinderer and Roper returned to England for the restoration of their health.

At the end of eight months' residence, Mr. Smith is able to bear testimony that the Gospel of Christ was not bound during the captivity of its preachers, but was striking its roots and preparing for a season of fruit-bearing. The following are extracts from his annual letter:—

Progress

"In sending my first Report of our new sphere of labour, I would briefly notice in order the different stations connected with this field of the Mission. First. Ikudetì is the head-quarters, situated on the Jebu side of Ibadan, commanding a front view of the hill on which a good portion of the town is built. The Mission-house and station is built on the edge of one end of Ikudetì Hill: the Church is nearly on a level with the Mission-house, and just at a convenient distance from it. The stated congregation, young and old, numbers 105, of whom 85 are baptized and 38 communicants. Forty-four children attend our day-school—23 boys and 21 girls. It gives me pleasure to be able to state, notwithstanding the disadvantages under which the school has been labouring, for want of books and school material, during the war time, that the children have on the whole made satisfactory advance in their learning. Three youths from the first class have been sent this year to the Training Institution in Abeokuta, who, I trust, will afterwards prove efficient labourers in the Lord's vineyard. This reflects credit on their teacher, who is not a teacher in the day-school only, but also of the people. Out of school-hours he will often go to visit sick members, ever ready and willing to assist in any work or service of the station, and will cheerfully accompany me, whenever asked, to visit the compounds, and preach to the heathen. Since the death of good Mr. Johnson, he has acted as schoolmaster and Christian visitor.

Secondly. Oke-Ogunpa is situated on the north-west side, between the Ijaye and Abeokuta roads, on elevated and dry ground, with good water and a pleasant, unobstructed breeze. It is an eligible site, commanding a good view of the greater part of the town, and, so far as one can judge, offers most favourable advantages for a prosperous station. Since Mr. Roper left for England, this station has been mainly in charge of a native agent, who has kept on the stated duties there, and also paid frequent visits to the heathen. The congregation of this place is not yet very large, in all 28. Of these, 6 are baptized and 3 communicants. There are a few names on the day-school list, but the children are very irregular in their attendance.

Thirdly. Oke-Aremo, on the north-east. The most elevated of the three, and perhaps the most healthy. This is a branch church recently formed, and transplanted from Ikudetì, and in this new soil it appears to thrive well. The shed built there as a temporary church by the people themselves, is filled on a Sunday afternoon to overflowing, and sometimes many have to sit or stand outside, there being no place within. The regular stated congregation here numbers 93 souls, of whom 40 have been baptized and 26 are communicants.

Mr. Smith notices in his journal the following interesting occasion:—

Resumption of the Communion.

Aug. 30: Lord's-day—After a suspension of the holy communion for more than two years and a-half, the members of the three stations once more rejoiced in the blessed privilege, and came to the Lord's table to partake of his holy banquet. The usual church-service being concluded, the old members came up clean and neatly clad, and thirteen new members, well reported of by the brethren and those of our native agents who live and labour amongst them, were admitted for the first time. To prepare our hearts for this divine service all assembled in the church the previous evening to pray for a special blessing. After several select hymns and a portion of Scripture, short addresses and exhortations were given by four of the native agents and myself. What an inestimable privilege it is—known and felt only by those who experience it—to be thus permitted, in a heathen land of darkness and idolatry, to hold such Christian communion with those who have, through the power of God, been brought from heathen bondage to rejoice in the liberty and blessings of Christianity.

Privilege

Lord's Supper.

The work at our out-station in Ilesha is carried on by a native

At the place, where God in his providence suffered to be taken in a slave-ship to Sierra Leone, there to be prepared for his work, and then to return. With God's blessing on his labour, he has been instrumental in collecting a small congregation, who come together on Sunday to worship and receive Christian instruction. The number of those who regularly attend, and whose names are enrolled in the register, is seventeen. The heathen who attend vary in number. The king and chiefs of that town have written to me, and also to the Governor of Lagos, begging that a white man may be sent to live and labour amongst them.

NIGER MISSION.

Onitsha, 1857; Gbebe, 1857; Akassa, 1861; Idda, 1865.

Conducted by Native Teachers, under the superintendence of the Right Rev. Bishop Crowther.

Reproductive power of the
church.

THIS Mission is entirely in the hands of the native Africans. The Church Missionary Society, indeed, provides the means, and gives counsel and direction, but the local management of the Mission, and the execution of all details, are exclusively in the hands of the African Christians. The bishop, the clergy, the catechists, &c., are all Africans. Native Christianity is here placed in a position to vindicate itself from the aspersions to which it has been subjected. It is painful to observe how readily some Englishmen at home take up a reproach against native Christians of whatever race or line, and pronounce them to be feeble, and of no value. More particularly has the African Christian been subjected to this disparagement. The opportunity has been therefore given him of proving to the world that his Christian faith is a reality, by his energy in reproducing it amongst his countrymen. This he is doing, and, by God's blessing, will do. May a blessing so decided continue to rest upon the bishop and his fellow-labourers, that, making full proof of their ministry, they may show themselves to be workmen that need not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of the truth!

The Missionary stations on the Niger are at Akassa, upon the sea coast at the mouth of the river, at Onitsha, 150 miles from the sea, at Idda, 215 miles from the sea, at the Confluence of the Niger and Tshadda, Gbebe and Lokija, 260 miles from the sea.

The year 1865 has been one of much trial to the Mission. At the Confluence there has been the threatening of a civil war, by the powerful chief Massaha, against the king of Gbebe; and at Onitsha there has been much civil commotion and persecution of Christianity. Nevertheless the Lord has upheld his work, and a perceptible progress has been made both in the internal work of the Mission, and in the establishment of two new stations at Idda and Lokija. Bishop Crowther visited the Niger Mission for four months, from July to October 1865.

Akassa.

The population near Akassa does not afford much promise of Missionary success. Like other coast tribes, they have been under the evil influence of the slave-traders; added to which they are migratory in their habits, and cannot be induced to settle to any industrial employments. The station is, however, necessary as a basis for Missionary operations in the Niger. It has been hitherto under the charge of native catechists. A school of seventeen boys has been kept up, and in July 1865 the first baptisms took place of a native and his wife, who have been long under instruction. The Bishop writes (Oct. 28, 1865), "Not much can be said of this place as regards the success of our Mission work. The Mission-house is, however, accessible to any one who wishes for information or instruction, from Brass or Nun. The shipping have the advantage of Sunday-morning service; and our catechist has been making himself useful in visiting the sick on board, and reading to them religious books, which services have been thankfully acknowledged by the captains of British ships."

this station with exemplary patience and perseverance amidst much family affliction from the loss of his children, from the domestic persecution to which the converts are subjected, and sometimes from the complications arising out of the trade transactions between the natives and the British traders, and from the threatenings of civil war reaching Onitsha. Nevertheless he is not without encouragement, as the following extracts will shew:—

Progress.

Feb. 24—As the chapel is still under repair, I conducted my Bible-class in the old dwelling-house. Whilst we were singing a hymn I cast my eyes around, and saw forty-four natives joining in the praises of God, who, eight years ago, were dumb to utter God's praise, like bronze statues, mute; who, on those occasions, had withheld their wives and children from joining me within the walls of this building through fear: now the contrast is imaginably great. I cannot but watch the movements of our infant Mission. At seeing them bowing down to worship the one true God and Jesus Christ his only Son whom He had sent, I was filled with blessed anticipations.

The next extract from Mr. Taylor's journal will prove, that in the midst of this heathen nation God has already raised up Christian natives bold enough in their God to bear testimony, even before their heathen king, against the cruel rites of heathenism.

Christian
boldness
presence.

July 20—The funeral of Prince Odiri took place this evening in great pomp, but I am deeply sorry to state that four human sacrifices were to add to its solemnity. I interceded for the poor victims. The king was willing, but his relatives were against it. The king told me that he will sacrifice two, and two bullocks, instead of the other two. I asked him if he would allow me to redeem them, or to speak to the poor innocent victims. He frankly allowed me to speak, but not to redeem. Upon my return to the king's quarters I found Adam vehemently lecturing the king, and at the close of the address he pressed on him the following appropriate sentence—"I am now a baptized convert, and one of your subjects: the Gospel teaches me to obey you and all who are in authority; but it has been a long time since the Gospel has been preached in this country. I have been ridiculed by all my townsmen. I am glad to tell you this day, as my earthly king, that I am a scapegoat of Jesus Christ." The king was surprised to hear this from Adam's lips, and thanked him for his kind remarks and condolence. No sooner had Adam Anyebu finished his tacit rebuke to his sovereign, than Simon Jonas Mbanngo stepped forward, fell down on his knees, and gave the accustomed salutation, "Igwe," i.e. "the head." He reiterated Adam's remarks, and showed the king his folly in human sacrifice. I herewith subjoin his own words—"Your great-grandfather, in gone-by years, had killed many precious lives: has he gained any thing by them? Your father, King Odogu, had done so, and we his subjects did tremble at his proceedings, and wondered with awe to witness his inhumanity, dissipation, and bloodshed. What good followed? The Gospel, which we had never known or heard of, appeared in your days: prize it! prize it! prize it! You have to give an account to your Maker and Judge! Do not shed blood. Never mind about the mouth of your subjects: what can they do?"

October 25—Although I have met with much discouragement in the attempt to suppress the converts clandestinely or openly, yet the steadfastness of the converts themselves is very encouraging and praiseworthy. I herewith send you, by this favourable opportunity, my translations from the Acts to Philippians, the Church Catechism, &c. I hope (D.V.) to furnish the whole of the New Testament in Ibo next year. Many thanks to the Committee for printing the last three Gospels. Continue to pray for us in the midst of our Missionary trials.

Translation of the Scriptures.

The journals of Bishop Crowther furnish further information respecting Onitsha, and show how well able he is to act the part of a chief pastor over the native Christians.

Oct. 21—Arrived at Onitsha to-day in the "Thomas Bazley," and was thankful to find that things were all right again at this station: the restriction which was put on selling provisions to the Mission agents had been removed: the restriction did not apply to them only, but also to the establishment of the West-Africa Company; the fact is, neither the Mission agents, nor the converts, nor the servants of the Company, merited any blame or punishment at all: this matter arose from the rash, hasty, and violent proceedings of the Onitsha palm-oil traders. I have seen and spoken with the chiefs who were suspected to be at the bottom of the cruel and unreasonable law. I was very plain with them in pointing out their ingratitude in thus needlessly troubling the Mission agents and the converts; that if they did not appreciate our work among them, they had only to tell me, in order that I might curtail our operations at Onitsha, for I could not think it right for a moment to station Christian teachers among them to be starved at their pleasure. They not only acknowledged the wickedness of their action in this case, but unanimously confessed the great benefit they had received since our establishment among them, and begged me not to curtail our extension among them.

Influence of a native bishop.

Oct. 22: Lord's-day—At the afternoon service I held a confirmation, when 31 candidates were presented for that rite, namely, 26 native converts and 5 Sierra-Leone settlers. The registers show 97 baptisms and 8 marriages in this station; native communicants, 47, together with the Mission agents and settlers, total 64.

Things are decidedly improving at Onitsha: the Christian Sabbath is generally known about the country; the people are more becoming in their manner and habits; many are more decent and tidy even in their native cloths about their persons; many of our early schoolchildren can read the New Testament fluently in their mother tongue, and join in the responses of the church service with feeling of devotion. Some of the young persons speak English, and may be employed in ordinary matters as interpreters with safety. These are tangible improvements upon the state of the people when we first landed here in 1857, eight years ago, and met them very poor, filthy, and rude.

Arrangements have been made for the extension of the Onitsha Mission, by opening two out-stations at Odojari, and another about a mile distant from the first station: at each out-station a powerful chief has promised his protection. Messengers also have come to Mr. Taylor from interior towns, asking for Christian instructors.

IDDA.

During Bishop Crowther's visit in 1864 he selected and obtained from the king a site for a Mission-house; but he was unable to station a teacher there that season. The Rev. A. C. Comber returned with the bishop to the coast and to Lagos, where he was ordained priest in July 1865: Mr. Comber returned with the bishop to Idda, where a Mission-house was soon erected, and the Mission fairly commenced by Mr. Comber, assisted by Mr. Phillips a native catechist, and W. Carlin a native youth from the banks of the Tshadda, who had attached himself to the Bishop when he ascended that river in 1854, and had been subsequently trained at Lagos as a schoolmaster.

Gbebe.

Gbebe is a confluence, not only of waters, but of languages. Here are spoken the Igara, Igbira, Nupe, Kakanda, Hausa, and Yoruba. The Yorubas find their way to the Confluence by way of Lade or Rabba from Ilorin. People speaking Doma and Djuku, the language of Kororofa, on the left bank of the Tshadda, also visit the market at Gbebe. The bishop thus relates the origin and progress of this station—

This station has been kept up chiefly by Scripture readers since 1857, supported by my yearly visit and stay of a few weeks. Through their labour and exertions a small congregation was collected. A class of candidates was formed, and thirty-seven individuals have been baptized and the adults confirmed; there are twenty-five native communicants, and twenty candidates for baptism on the list. The Rev. T. C. John, of Lokoja, will have the superintendence of this place during my absence in performing ministerial functions.

It appears that there is some cause of anxiety for this station, Masaba, King of Nupe, having threatened to invade it. Our Mission agents have been advised by him to retire on Lokoja, as at Gbebe he could not protect them: this they have declined to do, unless events of such gravity occur as to make it plainly their duty so to do.

Lokoja.

The new station of Lokoja, a few miles from Gbebe, but on the opposite bank of the river, has been adopted during the last year, partly with a view to the possible destruction of Gbebe, and partly in consequence of the growing importance of Lokoja. Bishop Crowther thus describes the place:—

This place was the site of the model farm of 1841, which was abandoned twelve months after, in consequence of the disastrous state of that expedition. The late Dr. Baikie re-established this place in 1860, with many difficulties, and now it is becoming a settled village. A mixed congregation is being collected of liberated settlers from Sierra Leone and Lagos, and of the natives of the neighbourhood, who are rallying round under the protection of British influence. A variety of languages is spoken, but the Hausa will be the leading medium of vernacular education, for which ample preparations have been made by extensive translations into that language. A small day school is commenced, with eleven children, and the Sunday school is also encouraged. Lokoja is under the government of Masaba, King of Nupe, who sanctioned and protected the late Dr. Baikie in the re-establishment of this place. Communication is constantly kept up with the Lagos Government.

A new Station.

The River Bonny.

The first overtures to Bishop Crowther for a Christian teacher to be placed in the Bonny River, where a considerable trade in oil draws a large number of British ships, came from a native chief, who was some years ago baptized during a visit to England—King Pepple. He engaged, together with his chiefs, to bear half the expense of the Mission, and to contribute at once 75%. The bishop was not, however, at first satisfied with the sincerity of the parties, and therefore has proceeded with much caution. Hitherto the expense has been borne by the Special Diocesan Fund of Bishop Crowther. At the close of the year he writes:—

Aid from the heathens.

Last year was a time of trial, and attempts to feel our way as to whether the desire expressed by the king and chiefs to have Christianity introduced among them was real or visionary, an upstart idea, which would evaporate when they had actually witnessed the operations and requirements of Christianity, and the consequence of its permanent establishment among them, in the subversion of their old system; but as, on the contrary, I perceive a growing interest in the permanency of the establishment, which they expect will rescue their children from the depths of superstition and degradation which they have inherited from their forefathers, and from which they find it so difficult to disentangle themselves, I feel persuaded that our efforts must be redoubled, and our agents here be more efficient. The tone of many Europeans in this river, interested in the welfare of the people, is very much in favour of increased and efficient efforts: their feelings are in favour of our Missionary attempts among the people, who are very intelligent.

The attendance at the English morning service on Sundays has been very encouraging. The service was once held on board H.M.S. "Landrail," Captain Maitland, and on board the mail steamship "Mandigo," Captain Lawrie, but chiefly on board the hulk "Celma," kindly permitted by Captain Babington, of the Company of African Merchants, to be used for service every Lord's-day, on all which occasions I have had good congregations and attentive hearing, and some have expressed gratitude for the opportunity.

Every Sunday afternoon I landed from the "Celma," to keep the afternoon service on shore. After reading the prayers I catechized the children on the Lord's Prayer and the ten commandments, which naturally branched into various subjects on Christian truths, from which both they and the adults present derive great benefit. We must begin our operations amongst such a people with very simple rudiments of Christianity, and thus hide the Gospel leaven amongst the vast lump of untutored heathen minds. Taking all these into consideration, I am constrained to apply for the location of a competent and experienced native minister at Bonny, to perform all the functions of the ministry, both among the native population and Europeans in the river.

Turkish Mission.CONSTANTINOPLE.First occupied, 1819 ; relinquished, 1821 ; re-occupied, 1858.European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Sigismund Wilhelm Koelle, Ph. D. (m), to West Africa, 1847 ; to Palestine, 1856 ; to Constantinople, 1862.
Rev. Robert Weakley (m), 1860.

THE unprovoked attack of the Turkish Government upon the Missionaries, and its own subjects who had embraced Christianity, which was reported last year, has spread dismay amongst all who attended the ministrations of the Missionaries, and has put a stop for a time to the interchange of friendly visits between the Missionaries and inquiring Moslems, so that the chief employment of the two Missionaries at Constantinople has been the study of the language, the translation of Dr. Pfander's works, and the preparation of books suited to the Moslems. But a still more serious calamity, humanly speaking, to the Turkish Mission, has been the loss of Dr. Pfander, who was called to his eternal rest after forty years of Missionary labour, during the whole of which period he had been engaged in the study of the Mohammedan controversy, in which he had become pre-eminent among his brethren, and the instrument honoured of God to the bringing many of the followers of the false Prophet to bow down before the true Prophet of the Church of God.

valuable Missionary.

The Rev. Mr. Koelle takes the following review of the events of the year:—

The hand of God has fallen heavily upon this city. A fearful conflagration consumed thousands of houses in Stamboul proper, and the angel of destruction smote tens of thousands with the scourge of cholera from among the Moslems, Christians, and Jews. Both the Missionary families were likewise more or less touched by this scourge, though God graciously spared the lives of all their members.

Not long after this we lost the valuable help of Mr. Ghazarus, who, for three years, had been the Society's able lay Missionary here. On the death of the late civil representative of the Protestants in Turkey, the Government appointed Mr. Ghazarus as his successor, and undertook of their own accord to pay the greater part of his salary, on the professed ground of the poverty of the Protestant community in this country. We fain hope that he has sufficient Christian character to yield neither to bribery nor to fear in fulfilling the duties of his new position, whereby he may prove exceedingly useful to the cause of evangelical Christianity throughout this vast empire.

Towards the close of last summer we found the previous hostile movement sufficiently calmed down to admit of our re-opening a Sunday service in Turkish, which has been regularly kept up ever since. This latter step has shown us that the effects of the violent measures of the Turkish Government against our work a year ago are not yet wholly past away. The number of attendants, both from the Christians and the Moslems, has been very small, and has not yet attained to what it was before. However, the beginning is once more made, and we have already had as many as six Osmanlis at a time among them, on several occasions even a military officer in his uniform. Our Turkish books are not now inquired for by Mohammedans as they were formerly.

Greece.

(Commenced in 1830, while Greece was a part of the Turkish Empire.)

The Rev. Mr. Hildner continues to maintain his large girls' school with more than 200 scholars, and to impart to all the classes sound scriptural truth. He also holds an English service for the numerous British and American seamen in the port. Mr. Hildner may be regarded in the position of a retired Missionary, to which he is sufficiently entitled by his age and length of service.

Asia Minor.

SMYRNA.

(Commenced in 1831.)

European Mission Establishment :

Rev. J. T. Wolters (m), to Persia, 1832 ; to Syra, 1837 ; to Smyrna, 1842.

Rev. T. F. Wolters, 1860.

The two Missionaries Wolters, father and son, have occupied this station during the last year. During the autumn the town was visited with cholera. The victims of the disease were very numerous : thousands, fear-stricken, fled away ; the streets were left half deserted; but our Missionaries and their families were mercifully spared.

Mr. Wolters, sen., in his annual letter, remarks that he has now completed twenty-four years of Mission work in Smyrna, and adds:—

Twenty-four years! a long time. Well may I ask myself, and well may you ask, my dear Christian friends, “Where is the fruit of thy toil and labour during so many years? Where is the flock of native Christians who have been gathered in? Where are the souls converted from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to the service of the living God?” If I am called upon to point out numbers, I cannot find them. This grieves and humbles me to the very dust. And yet I have prayed and laboured these many years, and I might point to individuals who, I have every reason to believe, have received spiritual benefit from the Society’s Mission at Smyrna. I have preached the blessed Gospel in the congregations, and I have spoken the word in season and out of season to individuals. I have printed books and tracts not a few, and many of these books, and especially the Book of God, the Holy Scriptures, have been circulated among the people. Is this nothing? I ask myself. Yes, it is something; it is much. It is seed sown in faith and hope, divine seed, in which there is a germ of life: all cannot be lost. Sooner or later it will spring up and grow, and finally bear fruit to the glory of the Redeemer.

Patient
rance
under hope

Our work among the Turks has not been very encouraging during the past year. No sincere inquirers have become known to us. We have had only a few visitors at the Mission-rooms and the book-shops, and but a very small number of books and tracts have been circulated amongst them. Two or three copies of the Mizan-ul-Haqq have been sold, and I was lately told the book has made a considerable stir at Adramyt, (Adramyttium, Acts xxvii. 2), where it had been taken by a native Christian. Our native helper, Ismael Effendi, has also had but little intercourse with the Turks. The effect of the precautions in 1864 is still visible. Evidently the Turks are afraid to go near the Missionaries, knowing that they may have to suffer for it if they do.

In order to counteract, under the blessing of God, in some degree the workings of infidelity among the Greeks, I have had translated into Modern Greek, and published at Athens last year, one of the monthly volumes of the Religious Tract Society (at the expense of this Society), called the “Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation.” The examination of this translation (executed by one of the Greek literati at Athens, formerly resident here at Smyrna), and reading the proof sheets, has occupied a part of my time during the past year, and especially during the cholera, and I am thankful that the book (of 261 pages) is now ready for the book-binder.

Christian
literature in Modern Greek.

The Greek service in our Mission chapel at Smyrna has been regularly continued during the year, conducted alternately by me and my son. The congregation has not been very numerous, consisting chiefly, as in former years, of English, Dutch, and a few native Protestants. Frequently, however, some other natives have been standing at the open door, and listening to the reading of the word of God, and the preaching of the Gospel. We are not without encouragement for the continuation of this service.

Cassaba, eleven hours east of Smyrna, is an out-station occupied by M. Montesanto a native catechist. It was the halting-place nearest Smyrna, both at the commencement and at the close of the itinerant tour. Mr. Weakley writes of it in his journal :—

Hope for Asia
Minor.

Cassaba, June 4 : Lord's-day—How glad we were of the day of rest. In the morning brother Wolters held service in Greek with the family. The remainder of the day was spent in conversation with Protestants, whose account of the state and prospects of the Cassaba out-station was very encouraging. The work in this place, like that which we have been endeavouring to commence in other towns of the interior, may, with constant attention, be developed very much, and, when supported by efficient services in Smyrna, whither residents of all parts of the country are constantly going, will form a scheme of Missionary operations which, under the guidance and blessing of the Holy Spirit, will do much to spread abroad in the vast plains and mountains of Asia Minor the light and power of the Gospel of salvation.

Itinerant Mission in Asia Minor.

Missions
in Asia
Minor.

Smyrna has been sustained as a station of the Society during the long period which Mr. Wolters reviews, rather in faith under the conviction that the Lord had providentially led us there, than from encouragement in visible results. But it seems as if, at length, the importance of our position at Smyrna has burst upon our view, under a new and most encouraging light, namely, as a basis for an itinerant Mission in Asia Minor. The younger members of our Turkish Mission, Mr. Weakley, of Constantinople, and Mr. Wolters jun., have for three successive years taken Missionary tours through countries whose localities are all familiar in the Gospel History. The tour during the year now under review proved very encouraging and hopeful. Mr. Weakley, one of the itinerators, thus describes the prospects :—

The natural function of our Smyrna station seems to be itinerancy. It is the emporium of all, or nearly all, the vast tract of country that stretches away eastward as far as the Halys, or Kizil Ermak. It is, to use the expressive simile of the natives, the pulley of Asia Minor. Thither, about August in each year, all the merchants and traders of the towns resort to sell or barter their various produce, and at other seasons the flux and reflux of travellers never entirely ceases. I really think that this is at present the only active work which can be carried on in Turkey without the interference of the Government. Though the news of last year's persecution has been widely spread everywhere in these parts, it has produced no effects antagonistic to our work; indeed, on several occasions we saw, on the contrary, that the minds of many had become familiarized by it to the idea of a Mohammedan renouncing his creed for Christianity. The idea also occurred to us more than once, that the poverty and discontent of the people, on account of the oppressive taxation, had, in some degree, softened their behaviour towards Christians, and rendered them more accessible. The friendship and sympathy of the Greeks were, and would be again, a cover and help to the work; and as the sale and circulation of the word of God has the largest guarantee of freedom, there is hardly a point in which the Turkish Government could openly interfere with this Missionary plan. The whole scheme, too, having its centre and rendezvous in Smyrna, would bring a new influence to bear upon what has hitherto been a hard, and apparently sterile field, and might, under the divine blessing, awaken some interest there.

The tour in 1865 extended from April 21 to June 5, and among the chief places visited were Kulah, Kara Hissar, Koniah, and the ancient Iconium, the farthest points reached; Colosse, Laodicea, Philadelphia, and Sardis. A very few extracts from the journal of Mr. Weakley will show the nature of the work, and the principles on which the Missionaries acted.

Kulah is a town containing 2000 houses, 400 being Greek, the rest Mussulman. The inhabitants are chiefly factors and merchants: all speak Turkish. Mr. Weakley writes:—

In Kulah we were very kindly received into the house of one of the most wealthy Greek residents, and treated with great respect. As soon as our object became known—which it did the next day—we found very many persons among the Christians who were not only willing but most anxious to converse with us on the subject of religion. In the schools we found enlightened teachers and good attendance. The thirst for scriptural instruction is general in the community, and appears to have been awakened by the reading of the Græco-Turkish Bible by a few serious men among them. There is also an earnest desire with some to benefit their Mussulman neighbours, with whom they are generally on friendly terms. “We shall be glad to learn how to speak with them,” they said to us.

scriptural instruction.

We are informed that the Turks know perfectly well what happened in Constantinople last year, but that the most prominent piece of news they received was to the effect that several thousand Turks in the capital were ready to embrace Christianity, and that very many had done so; a rumour which, in various proportions as to extent, was rife in the capital itself at that time. The Mussulmans at Kulah had manifested no signs of displeasure at the news, nor made any disturbance. An expression of surprise, and the remark, "If these things are done where the Sultan sits and reigns, what can we say?" was all.

Kara Hissar is a large and busy town, containing between 5000 and 6000 houses, of which 400 are Christian. There are from 30 to 40 mosques, and many dervishes and convents. An Armenian gentleman took the Missionaries into his house, from the khan at which they had taken up their abode. Mr. Weakley's journal contains the following notice:—

In the evening several persons came to see us, and much inquiry was made about the Stamboul business of last year. All had heard that there had been a wonderful movement among the Turks in favour of Christianity, and that the Government had interfered to put a stop to it.

Long after sunset we were sitting and conversing with our host, when a messenger with a lantern came to invite us to a house where several persons were assembled who wished to converse with us. We went, and found five or six persons waiting for us, one of whom opened the conversation by saying that, some years ago, a few copies of the word of God were brought to Kara Hissar: these books have been read with deep attention by many of their community (Armenian), who found that some of the tenets, which formerly they held in their ignorance, were wrong, and did not scruple to express their convictions. They were then persecuted by the richer and more powerful Armenians on account of their new opinions, and were stigmatized with the epithet of Protestants. The thing then slumbered for a while, in consequence of the opposition met with. Last year, however, hearing of the progress of Christian work in Constantinople, and the rumours of many Turks embracing, and many more being ready to embrace, Christianity, they thought it a favourable time to express their convictions openly, and to petition the Governor to obtain for them the permission to constitute themselves a Protestant community, and the privileges which belong to such a community. Their old enemies then obtained the help of the Turks, who made common cause with them in persecuting the petitioners, and put eight of them in prison for forty-five days for the crime of separating, or wishing to separate themselves from the church. In consequence of this treatment, and seeing the power of the local government and that of the chief men of the Armenian community arrayed against them, all had remained quiet, not knowing what to do. Nearly 200 heads of houses would have separated from the Armenian church at that time, but of these by far the greater number, alarmed and depressed, had given way to despair, while the rest still held to the hope of seeing a teacher of their own to minister the word of life to them. He said, in conclusion, "Your coming among us has rekindled the hope we have long cherished. Can you not help us? Tell us what we must do that we may become a recognised community, and so enjoy protection in the avowal and exercise of our conscientious convictions."

We told them that we sympathized very heartily in the troubles they suffered on account of their wishing to follow the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ; but for the present there did not seem to be any other alternative but patience; for, in the first place, they had no teacher and no assembly for worship, and were thus without any visible claim to be recognised as a separate community; and that, secondly, if it were not absolutely necessary for them to have some slight evidence of unity and the beginning of organization, the present was not a fit time to make an application for enrolment in the Protestant community, since the affairs of its Chancery was in a very unsettled state; indeed, we could not, in regard to their own welfare, advise them to separate formally from the Armenian church until they could be assured of protection elsewhere. Besides all this, we thought that it would be well for them to habituate themselves to the expectation of a persecution which they would certainly, in one shape or another, have to suffer for the sake of Christ, if they boldly professed to be his, and strove to follow his example. Our advice was, then, that they should patiently wait until the Lord opened a door for them; that during this time of waiting they should meet often to read the word of God, and pray together for guidance, strength, and perseverance to endure all hardness for the sake of Him who loved them and gave Himself for them; that they should not allow themselves to doubt that those who sincerely sought the Lord would ever be forsaken by Him. They had already seen something of persecution; they had also been allowed to feel their own weakness; they must, therefore, not forget the lesson they had learnt, and be ready always to make more account of the Lord's help and presence than of the disposition of those with whom they had to do. They must know Him in whom they had believed. We would, however, consult about their case on our return to Smyrna; and as some of them would be coming there, in the way of business, in the autumn, we should be glad to see them there. Thus we conversed with them for some time, and, after praying together, we bade them farewell, and left, among many tokens of respect.

From Sparta (in Pisidia), on their way home, Mr. Weakley writes:—

A Greek gentleman, to whom we had a letter of introduction, took us to his house: we found him to be the chief of the local tures.

Greek community, and a wealthy, active man. He treated us with great respect, and showed a great deal of sympathy with us in our work as Missionaries among the Turks, and expressed himself as being very glad indeed that something was being done for them. He told us, moreover, that one or two copies of the Mizan-ul-Haqq had been brought to Sparta by Greeks who had read the book, and handed it about among their friends, but not as yet among the Turks, for fear of disturbance. Still they were glad to know something of the controversy, and were much interested in the spread of Christianity among the Turks, to help which good work they would do what they could, and would like us to visit Sparta now and then. During the whole of our stay in this house the conversation was mainly on questions of scriptural doctrine and practice. Our host told us that he had brought Scriptures occasionally from Smyrna, which were sold to the people; and that now, with the exception of certain appointed days on which the lessons were read in Greek, the Scriptures were read in the church in Turkish, so that all might understand. Several persons came to bid us welcome, and it was late ere we laid down for the night.

A respectable Greek tradesman, who said he had a great deal of intercourse with Turks, expressed a wish to buy the whole of our remaining stock of Scriptures, as he thinks he can dispose of them all in Sparta. He told us, what we have heard elsewhere, that if there were an established assurance of liberty many Turks would freely inquire, and some would at once renounce Islam. He came in the next morning and purchased all our Turkish and Arabic Scriptures, and the few copies of Modern Greek which remained. May the Lord bless this seed!

JERUSALEM.

The Rev. F. A. Klein and Dr. Sandreczki are the Missionaries at this station.

Mr. Klein has charge of an Arabic congregation, and preaches with great effect in that language. During the season for moving about he takes Missionary tours. He has also devoted much time to the completion of an Arabic translation of the late Dr. Pfander's famous work, the Mizan-ul-Haqq.

Dr. Sandreczki finds full employment for his knowledge of many languages, by his constant intercourse with inquirers of many nations who reside in Jerusalem, or visit it for a season. He writes in his annual letter:—

The retrospect of the year now past fills my heart with deep gratitude. Never did I find so many opportunities of speaking of the mercies promised to poor repenting sinners as last year. Besides the inquirers to whom I preach the gospel in Greek and Turkish, and whose number, always small, varies with the seasons; besides the children of the Bishop's school, among whom I have often been rejoiced to notice an increasing attention and interest; and besides the weekly Bible class for the younger portion of our mixed congregation here, in which I bear a share with the other Missionaries; I have preached the gospel to a large number of sick people at the Deaconess's hospital, for months, every day. The majority of my hearers here were Moslems. (During the year 1865 no less than 194 Moslems passed through the hospital.) Their attention was most encouraging; and these opportunities have taught me many ways of approaching hearts nurtured up in the errors and conceitedness of Islam. It is but a few days since a Moslem lad, between seventeen and twenty years of age, declared, in the presence of others, both to Pastor Valentiner and myself, that he was convinced of the truth of Christianity, and desired to become a Christian.

In respect of literary pursuits I have confined myself to a careful revision of the Arabic translation of the New Testament, which is being printed by the American Bible Society.

NAZARETH.

The Rev. J. Zeller has resided at this station during the year. He is assisted by the European catechist, Mr. J. Huber. It has been a year of severe and unprecedented trials to the Mission. Mr. Zeller writes:—

The opposition on the part of the Turkish Government has been the source of many troubles. Kourshid Pasha, the Governor-General of Syria, told me, and showed me by his behaviour, how he hated Protestant Missionaries for their attempt to convert Moslems. The Pasha of Acca and other subordinates followed with zeal this example. The outcry against Protestants has been triumphantly re-echoed by the Latins, by the Greeks, and by the fanatical Moslems. This resulted in the attack made in May by the Latin community, with their priest, a Franciscan monk, at their head, on our Mission school, and the seizure of a part of our ground.

Also other acts of violence continued to be committed against us and the Protestants, till the end of the year. Seraphin Bontaji, catechist in Shefamer, was beaten and wounded in his house by the Catholics, whilst other Protestants suffered in their property.

We have passed through the valley of the shadow of death; we have been as dying, and behold, we live; as chastened and not killed. We have seen how far Satan is allowed to go in his assaults, and we are ready to continue the fight, confiding in the mercy of our Saviour. Indeed, we have much reason for gratitude towards our Lord, for the opposition of Satan has not weakened us, and death has not been allowed to touch us.

In spite of all difficulties, our work was carried on through the course of the year. In the fine Latin church here the senses of the Arabs are gratified by splendid ceremonies and fine music, and in the Greek church the service conducted by the bishop becomes every year more gorgeous. If you come to our Protestant service, you are struck with different things; first, with the poor appearance of the locality, and then, still more, with the aspect of the congregation, with their ready responses, their hearty singing, and their attention and delight during the exposition of the word of God. And if you could feel at times, as we feel, that the Holy Spirit is present in the midst of us, evidently moving the hearts and imparting eternal light and life to the souls of Arabs—if you could feel and see this, then you would certainly not say that we had not enough success.

Our Sunday-morning service begins in summer at eight, in winter at nine. After the service most of the people come to my house, when I enter more fully into those parts of my sermon which may require further explanation, answer questions upon religious subjects, and admonish those who have shown inconsistency in their conduct. In the afternoon service I generally expound the epistle for the day. Till the ravages of cholera appeared in the neighbourhood, and frightened the people here, Michael Kavar conducted a Sunday school in which he taught the catechism and certain passages of Scripture to such members of our community as were ignorant of reading. Twice in the week we have Bible classes, in which we read the epistles; and on the other evenings, except Saturday, Mr. Vartan conducts a night school for a number of youths, in which he teaches, with the help of Michael Kavar and some members of the congregation, reading, writing, arithmetic, and gives lectures on anatomy and chemistry. The necessity of convincing our converts of their responsibility for the souls of others, and of rousing a Missionary spirit in them, has never been forgotten. The Committee has this year especially urged me to introduce the principle of self-support, but the present distress among the natives, and the opposition we encounter on all sides, are serious obstacles to soon obtaining a more independent action and freer position of our native church. However, the same has elected six elders, who come together to discuss the wants of the congregation, and will, I hope, assist me in promoting this object.

I would also most earnestly request the Committee and our friends in England to assist us with funds for building the proposed church in Nazareth. The firmán is obtained, and the site is purchased, but during the past year the opposition of the Government, cholera, and the want of funds, made it impossible to begin the building.

Our schools suffered during the summer on account of the cholera, for many parents were afraid to send their children. In winter, however, both the boys' and girls' schools in Nazareth were in a flourishing condition.

THE past year has been one of trial through the frequent changes of Missionaries, and the defection from the Society's work of two of its native ministers.

BOMBAY.

The native congregation has been deprived of the zealous and efficient ministrations of the Rev. James Wilson, by his visit to Europe. The Rev. Appaji Bappaji was transferred to Bombay, but owing to the difficulties which often arise upon a change of pastors, many of the converts were dispersed and joined other churches.

Mr. Appaji makes the following remark in his journal :—

Convinced, but not converted.

During my short stay in Bombay I have found that there is a large body of educated natives who are fully convinced of the truth of Christianity, and, in truth, are private (secret) Christians. Many of them read the Bible daily and pray just as Christians would. This certainly is most encouraging, to see the result of the faithful servants of God gone before us, who sowed the seed in tears, and departed from their sphere of labour of love without seeing any fruit of their work. When Dr. Livingstone came here he was invited by a native gentleman of note to spend the evening with him. The Doctor was surprised to see the children of his host singing a hymn and repeating their Christian prayer before going to bed, just as baptized children would do. Another gentleman hopes that his son, who is in a Christian college, with Christian students, will not remain a heathen, although he himself is unbaptized, and wishes to lead a reformed or private Christian life. A third has requested me to have a weekly meeting at his house for prayer and reading the word of God. He assembles all his children when I go there, and they all listen with great reverence and attention. He is very willing to hand over all his children to a Christian patron, to be brought up as Christians.

The Rev. J. S. Deimler is wholly devoted to the work among the Moslems, chiefly in the Hindustani language. He spends five months in Bombay and seven in Junir. He writes, respecting Bombay :—

Preaching in Hindustani was carried on in several places in the streets and bazaars of Bombay every week-day, at morning and evening, as regularly as possible, by myself and my catechist, Wazir Ali. He being well conversant with Mahrathi spoke sometimes in that language. We had often quiet and willing hearers:

at times a hooting was raised on our leaving. We found more quiet and attentive hearers in the morning than in the evening, though the assembly was never very large. I observe that Mussulmans often willingly and quietly hear an European padre preach, but are roused to anger and resentment when one from amongst themselves espouses the cause of the Christian religion, and invites them to accept it. In the discharge of our duties, and in our intercourse with the Mussulmans generally, nothing of a remarkable character has occurred, so that the perusal of a minute diary of our labour would be a wearisome task.

Before I left for Junir I had the privilege of baptizing a Jewish Rabbi, of Spanish descent, from Jerusalem, who was already well informed of the truth as it is in Christ, and had a great desire to receive the rite of baptism. He is now engaged as a colporteur in the Persian Gulf.

Education.

The Robert-Money School, being deprived of its Principal, the Rev. R. Galbraith, has been conducted by the Rev. T. Carss, Mr. Galbraith's assistant. A few are preparing for the matriculation examination of the University; but the Institution professes only to give a good commercial education, based upon Christian truth and principles through the teaching of the Bible in all classes. The class of natives educated here go forth chiefly into the bustling working world, entering various offices of business, but carrying with them, in very many cases, a secret belief in the truth of Christianity, and a favourable regard for its teachers. Such a leaven must work for good in due time.

The number of scholars in December was 380; of which 181 were Roman Catholics, 164 Hindus, with a few Mussulmans, Jews, and Protestants. The number of Roman Catholics is to be reduced. Mr. Carrs states, in his annual report:—

I believe the school is doing a most important work as an educational institution, and that its spiritual results are as satisfactory as, under the circumstances, can be expected. A most cheering feature of this year's work has been the numerous visits I have received from respectable natives. Several of the first class of native society have paid me visits, and have taken an interest in my work. When I wanted funds at Christmas to give the boys some prizes, several of them assisted me, thus showing that their interest was not confined to words. They have shown themselves very friendly to Christianity, but I cannot say they have displayed any thing like a desire to embrace it: still we must hope and pray, and thank God for the influence we acquire, by their visits to us, over the lower orders.

aid to
schools.

The Vernacular Schools.—There are seven boys' schools under Mr. Appaji, which had formerly the benefit of Mr. Wilson's superintendence. The six Mahrathi girls' schools, under Miss White, contain 149 pupils, and give much satisfaction. She continues to induce many of the parents to visit her for Christian instruction, and she exercises great influence over them. Mrs. Carss and Mrs. Weatherhead have also female schools. In female education Bombay is in advance of the other Presidencies,* especially in respect of the natives themselves taking up the cause.

NASIK.

This station has been under the charge of Mr. Price, with the Rev. J. S. Bunter as the native pastor for a portion of the time. The various institutions at Sharanpur have been sustained. In September 1865 the Bishop of Bombay visited Nasik, from whence he wrote:—

Independent testimony.

Last week I spent a day at Sharanpur with much satisfaction. On the morning of the 14th there were 66 native candidates confirmed, and in the evening, at holy communion, 125 persons communicated, of whom I believe only five or six were Europeans. There seemed to me to be a healthy tone about the place, greatly promoted, we doubt not, by the way in which the young men, Carapit and Mahadoo, discharge their parts. Dr. Livingstone was with us, and took great interest in the young people, especially, of course, the Africans, from among whom he will, I hope, obtain some volunteers for service to the cause of Christian truth and civilization in Africa.

Mr. Price, in his annual report, states:—

Growth of the native church.

I thankfully acknowledge a decided improvement in the Christian life of many of our people. It is seen in various ways. There is a more cheerful and regular attendance on the public services; there has been little or no quarrelling, and no manifestation of caste feeling. All, with the exception of the inmates of the Poor Asylum, who are real objects of charity, have supported themselves by honest industry, some having found employment in the Industrial Institution, and others elsewhere.

There is perhaps no better sign of spiritual life in a congregation than the development of a Missionary spirit, and this has not been wanting. Our people are not wealthy, and they have had their difficulties with the rest of us, owing to the dearness of the necessities of life; but they have given out of their poverty, and I believe cheerfully, to help us in the Lord's work. Our monthly Missionary Meeting is the most popular of all. It is always well attended; and one native Missionary agent has been supported by the collections made on these occasions.

Mr. Price has always desired to unite itinerating with his "station" duties. Upon his preparing to go on this work, and to leave the native minister, Mr. Bunter, in charge, Mr. Bunter seceded from the Society's connexion, and removed from the place. Such disappointments are among the Missionary's severest trials and drawbacks. The catechist, Ruttonji, was removed to Sharanpur, which set Mr. Price at liberty for his Missionary tour.

Education.

The Secretary of the Corresponding Committee writes :—

The Christian village of Sharanpur is doing its utmost to send out the light and truth of the Gospel. The chief feature is the schools. Mr. Carapit, the trained master, is very devoted to his work, and is endeavouring to raise up a class who shall go forth as masters into the villages and towns around. The system he has introduced must be regarded, I think, as quite a success, and will, in time, bring forth much fruit, more especially through his training class. In this class there are 8 Hindus and 3 Africans; their ages vary between 15 and 17. All are Christians.

In a communication, June 30, 1865, Mr. Price gives an interesting account of the employment of one of his well-trained native schoolmasters :—

The Teachers' Training Class has begun to bear fruit. Two pupils have left to enter upon situations. One of them, Lucas, having been for some months under training, has succeeded in establishing a school in a neighbouring town, which is attended by between 20 and 30 children of heathen parents. The people have received him most kindly, having provided him with a capital schoolroom and a comfortable house for himself and family to live in. The children pay monthly fees, and the people undertake all necessary school expenses. Lucas has also commenced a night school for adults, which is pretty well attended. The opening of this school in a heathen town under a Christian teacher must be regarded as a cheering sign of progress. The importance of the point gained may be judged of from the fact, that, less than two years ago, we had no Christian teacher at all, and were compelled to employ a heathen Puntaji even for our Christian school. A new door has thus been opened for disseminating the Gospel. May the Lord enable us to turn the opportunity to profit!

New door

Christian influence.

The annual report of Mr. Price gives interesting particulars respecting another of his educational Institutions :—

The African Asylum deserves a word of notice. There has not only been a considerable increase in the number of children—fifty-five—during the year, but the results the Institution has begun to produce are significant of its importance in connexion with Missionary operations in East Africa. Last year we sent out three youths to labour under Mr. Rebmann at Mombas, and good accounts of them have reached us from time to time. At the close of this year (1865) nine of the elder youths responded to Dr. Livingstone's call, and volunteered to accompany him in his exploratory tour in East Africa. Most of these had completed, or nearly so, their term of apprenticeship in the Industrial Institution. They are intelligent young men, and have borne a good character with us, and I trust they will prove themselves valuable assistants to Dr. Livingstone in his pioneering labours. At present, sixteen lads are apprenticed to Mr. Goray in the Industrial Institution: two are in training as teachers, with a view to East Africa, and the rest are at school. I scarcely anticipated such results when, five years ago, I consented to take charge of it from the Government. It seems, in a way not thought of by us, it has pleased God to give the Church Missionary Society a chief share in the work of carrying the Gospel to East as well as West Africa, thus adding fresh significance to the designation which was given to the Society by the faithful men who founded it.

I am happy to add that the Government of India has made me a liberal grant for building purposes, to enable me to provide additional school and house accommodation, which the large addition to our members has rendered necessary. The only stipulation is, that I am to provide suitable accommodation for 150 inmates of the African Asylum.

A Missionary in full work.

In addition to station duties, some idea of which may be gathered from what I have written above, including pastoral work at Sharanpur, superintendence of schools and Industrial Institution, weekly and monthly meetings, two, and often three, sermons on the Lord's-day (viz. two vernacular and one English), I have visited as frequently as possible the out-stations of Paterdi, Wudneir, Wadala, Gungapur, and Muckmulabad. In the three former there are a few Christian families connected with our church. At Paterdi there has been generally a Christian teacher, supported by the native Missionary Association. At Wadala and Gungapur the Scripture-readers, Gungaram and Lutmon, are stationed, and pursuing their work quietly and perseveringly in the villages allotted to them; whilst at Muckmulabad Lucas has a flourishing school of about thirty boys, which possesses the distinction of being the first school for heathen boys conducted by a native-Christian master in these parts. All these villages, the visitation of which forms part of my regular duties, are within five or six miles from Sharanpur.

The experiment was made in this large native town of placing in it a native clergyman, the Rev. Appaji Bappaji, and the catechist, Sorabji, to work a Mission without the presence of Europeans. They had many callers, who were glad to talk over Christian truth, but those whom they regarded as inquirers gradually withdrew, and, after two years and a half, they could not number a single promising inquirer. The exigencies of other stations therefore induced the Corresponding Committee first to remove Mr. Bappaji, and subsequently Mr. Sorabji, the one to Bombay and the other to Nasik.

MALLIGAUM.

This station was deprived by death, in July 1865, of its zealous Missionary, the Rev. E. Rogers, who had discharged his duties with singular devotedness and untiring perseverance for eighteen years. The Committee have been able to send out a young Missionary in his place, but during the year under review the Rev. C. C. Mengé has alone sustained the Mission. There are in all 55 native converts: 6 were baptized during last year, 4 being adults. During the cold season both the Missionaries and two experienced catechists have preached to the heathen in the city, and throughout large country districts. No special events are recorded.

The Secretary of the Corresponding Committee writes:—

The itinerating work is the most promising connected with this station. All the converts have been thus gathered out of the villages. They are of tried Christian character. Bitter persecution has followed them all in turn. When I was there a family near Dhoolia was under severe persecution. Part of their house had been pulled down, and some of the household property stolen. The Collector had ordered an investigation.

There is a large Mahrathi school, numbering about ninety boys. The catechist, Shunker Nana, lives in the compound, and teaches the Scriptures every day when in the station. There are also two Scripture-readers, so that this school is well provided.

AURUNGABAD AND BOOLDANA.

When a spirit of inquiry first appeared in the villages in the neighbourhood of Aurungabad, the Rev. A. Davidson was appointed to that district. As the inquirers were of the poorest class of agriculturists, it appeared necessary to Mr. Davidson to supply them with the means of supporting themselves, by letting them ground for cultivation, and providing for them a small capital for seedcorn and oxen. Mr. Davidson did not apply the funds of the Society to this scheme of temporal support, but made great personal sacrifices in behalf of it, and was assisted by local friends. Mr. Davidson took up his residence at Booldana for the sake of ground suitable for cultivation, and within British territory. The scheme has proved, in the opinion of the Committee, a failure. The secular cares and anxieties of such a scheme are too sure to overwhelm its Missionary character. It has therefore been brought to a close.

For the supply of this district a native minister was sent to Budnapore, a village twenty-eight miles east of Aurungabad, at which there are fifty Christians; but he, alas! broke off his connexion with the Society. The Rev. James Wilson has been since appointed to this district.

JUNIR.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Schwartz in Europe, on sick certificate, the Rev. J. G. Deimler has been the only Missionary resident at this station. His labours are chiefly directed to the Mussulmans. In his annual letter he writes:—

My present stay at this place exceeds the usual time, owing to the Corresponding Committee's decision that I should remain in charge of the Mission till Mr. Schwarz's arrival from home.

Novel mode of pro-

In street preaching we could only command Hindu hearers. Mussulmans would scarcely come at all to hear us. I saw clearly that the novelty of preaching to the Mussulmans having passed away they had no inclination to hear the Gospel. I was therefore prayerfully meditating how to compel them to hear the Gospel, and felt that something extraordinary must be done to show that we have to bring a message from God to them; that we are in real earnest, and come with power to them before leaving them, perhaps never again to labour among them. Strengthening with my catechist my hands in God by prayer, I had recourse to proclaiming for some weeks through the length and breadth of Junir, in Hindoostanee and Mahrathi, select passages of Scriptures freely rendered. First, while walking we loudly proclaimed, "Glory to God in the highest, on earth peace, goodwill towards men: the kingdom, the power, and the glory be unto the Lord for ever, Amen." On other occasions we halted each time whilst proclaiming, and used a bell to give warning of our approach. Our message was, "Glory to God, &c., as before, and John iii. 6, "For God so loved the world," &c. This last verse was repeated by each of us, to which we added, once repeated, "O brethren, repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." After this we occasionally prayed to God in a subdued voice. The messages after were, "The Lord Jesus Christ commanded his disciples, Go ye into all the world," &c.; "When the Lord Jesus Christ shall come in his glory," &c.; "The day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night," &c. To which we added, once repeated, "O brethren, repent ye and believe in the Lord Jesus, then ye shall be saved." Another message was, "As I live, saith the Lord, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turn from his way and live. Turn ye, turn ye, from your evil ways, for why will ye die?"

The effect produced by thus proclaiming the Gospel was various. I myself did not expect much: I did it because I considered it my duty. Some were astonished on account of this new mode of preaching: none, they said, had ever done so before; others were indifferent, and accustomed themselves to it, going after their business as usual at the time of the proclamation; some, more thoughtful, asked what it meant, and said that it was good thus to instruct and warn the people; a few only ridiculed and laughed, asking whether we wanted money. A few times a hooting was raised, and a couple of stones thrown at us at the paper manufactory, the lowest class of Mohammedans in Junir. On the whole, we were well received by the people. One object gained was, that some would ask for the meaning, and thus gave us a good opportunity to speak more freely to a group of hearers about the way of salvation.

In these our perambulations we also met with Thakurs and Mahars, whom we are now in the habit of visiting: the latter live in the outskirts of the town, and the former inhabit small hamlets at the foot of neighbouring hills: the Thakurs are an interesting people: they belong to the aborigines of India; they have no idols and no particular worship; they live in huts, and are simple-minded. The "country Thakurs," those in the Dekkan, are cultivators of the soil, and are very industrious; whereas the "foreign Thakurs," those in the Khonkan, are very wild, strolling about with their bows and arrows for game. Between these two no intercourse exists. We had very interesting congregations in two of the hamlets of these Thakurs. On one occasion were assembled as many as twenty-four men, attentively listening to the message of the Gospel. In the villages around Junir we generally meet in the morning a number of men who are willing to hear. Some Mahars, having heard that many of their caste around Aurungabad had become Christians, said that they also wished to become such, but as yet none have come for instruction. As far as my observation goes, I believe that the Thakurs and Mahars would offer a promising field for Missionary labour if the benign influences of the Gospel were assiduously brought to bear upon them, especially the former, as having no connexion with the religious system of the Hindus, and being independent of them.

The Mahrathi school is attended by about fifty-five boys and is in flourishing condition; the Hindustani school, in spite of all my endeavours to raise and to improve it, has fallen off to a fluctuating number of about fifteen to thirty boys, and will eventually, I fear, have to be given up altogether.

SINDH MISSION.

The Rev. A. Burn having been absent in England, the Sindh Mission has been under the care of the Rev. J. Sheldon, assisted by two young Missionaries, the Rev. J. Bardsley and the Rev. C. Isenberg. Mr. H. Croley, a trained schoolmaster, has charge of the Kurrachi school.

KURRACHI.

Erection of a new Mission Church.

The following extract from the "Sindian" newspaper gives an interesting account of the opening of a new Mission church, and of the general aspect of the Mission—

Independent testimony.

This building has been erected by means of private subscriptions and a liberal grant from Government. It is situated in close proximity to the Civil Hospital, on the verge of the native town, and cannot but afford a striking testimony to the native population of the strong hold that the Christian Mission has exercised over the inhabitants in its neighbourhood. It was arranged that the church should be opened for evening service on Friday last, and we were pleased to observe that it was crowded with an assembly of Christians anxious to testify by their presence their approbation of the Missionary's labour, as well as to invoke a blessing on the beginning of a new era in the history of Missionary efforts in Sindh. In the course of his sermon, Mr. Sheldon stated that the church was built for the natives; that it was the Mission church of Kurrachi, and dedicated to Christ, whose name it should ever after bear. He then stated that the sum subscribed by private individuals for the erection of the church was Rs. 17,000, but that was insufficient, for Rs. 1500 were still wanted to complete the interior arrangements, and Rs. 3000 to build the tower. He alluded to the great interest the native Christians took in the progress of the work, all of whom had contributed according to their means, and one had even promised an additional Rs. 150. It can be no secret to most of our local readers that the Mission is indebted to Lieutenant Phelps, R.E., for the successful completion so far, of this beautiful little church. He has spent his time and talents most liberally in watching over its erection. In conclusion, we may state that the style of the church is early English, the roof is of beautifully carved wood: the building is constructed to contain about 250 people, and is about 90 feet in length by 20 in breadth including the chancel.

The Rev. James Sheldon, in his annual letter, gives the following review of the work at this station :—

Were I just entering upon my Missionary course, I should most likely record the events of the past year in language full of encouragement and hope. Past experience has, however, taught me to moderate too hopeful expectations. I have always looked for encouraging results in the Kurrachi Mission, and though hitherto we have not had many admissions into the Christian church, yet the evidence of the successful progress of the Mission is unquestionable. The numbers both of our communicants and attendants upon public worship have increased. Education based upon Christian principles, as our reports will show, has given tangible results. The native agents have been efficient. One of this number, Merwanjee, has entered upon a college course at Bishop's College, Calcutta, with the view of qualifying himself for the educational staff of the Mission. The monitors in both our schools show great willingness, to learn and to teach Christianity : some of them attend weekly Bible classes. There is no difficulty in assembling good audiences of our educated young men to listen to lectures, though it is well known the subject of religion will be brought before them. The native Christians are gradually gaining a position among, and exercising no little influence over, the native population. The building of a new church for their use has given them a status in native society which they never had before, besides opening another means of preaching the Gospel to those of the respectable inhabitants who are ashamed to stand with the crowd on the highways. Our efforts to educate the females and establish native girls' schools have not been crowned with much success, but the attempt has not been given up, and we have little doubt another year's labour will give more encouraging results. Only one convert has been baptized, but he is an intelligent moonshee, well acquainted with the Sindhi language, who has embraced Christianity after careful thought and preparation. His Mohammedan wife and child have joined him, and are being taught the simple truths of the Christian religion, with a view to baptism. Another convert from Mohammedanism will be baptized next Sunday : his son, a youth of fifteen, is also a candidate. An old man, a Roman Catholic, has joined us. He has given full proof of the sincerity of his convictions, and is respected by all in the Mission. The simple and earnest spirit of our native Christians has often filled my heart with overflowing gratitude. Their wish for instruction, their love of prayer and praise, and their willingness to give to any good object according to their means, are certainly indications of a right spirit.

In addition to our regular staff in Sindh, we have an irregular auxiliary in John Peter, the blind preacher. This man has come to the province with an impression that he is called to preach the Gospel in all the chief towns of Sindh. He refused direct help from the Society, and depends for his living upon the casual assistance of Christian friends and local Missions. He has a most wonderful knowledge both of the Bible and Korán, and is both an effective preacher and an able controversialist, and, though irregular in his movements, is a good man, and has great influence with the people.

Education.

The school, containing 138 scholars, was examined at Christmas 1865 by the Rev. Samuel Stead, chaplain, who reports:—

Independent testimony.

At your request I examined the first and second classes of the Kurrachi Mission school during the Christmas week of 1865. I have much pleasure in telling you that the results of that examination were very satisfactory, and impressed me most favourably with the good working and discipline of the school. The boys' knowledge of the leading events of Gospel history, of the outlines of early English history, and of the chief rules of grammar, was accurate.

HYDRABAD.

As the new Missionaries resident at this station have been engaged in the study of the language, their only report relates to the Anglo-Vernacular school, of which the examination at Christmas 1865 was conducted by the Rev. Basil Anderson, chaplain of Kotree, who reports favourably of the results. His general view of the importance of the school is thus stated:—

Independent testimony.

I believe it to be impossible to overrate the importance of the work going on in that school, whether the general influence or the relation between the native and European, or the glorious cause which it is intended more particularly to advance, be considered. I believe that if the Rev. Mr. Burn could see the results of his labours in Hyderabad, he would be both surprised and gratified, as there is undoubtedly a genuine spirit of inquiry steadily extending itself among the people. Caste prejudice is breaking down under the favourable aspect in which Christianity and its professors are seen by that part of the rising generation who come for education to the Mission schools.

The belief in the "gods many" is steadily breaking down, and a Deism borrowed from Christianity taking its place, with, at the same time, a tendency to inquire into the truth of the Christian system. I have myself had the pleasure of meeting some of Mr. Burn's old pupils, for the purpose of considering particular difficulties under which they laboured, and I am bound to say that a great deal of earnest thought had been given to the subject by some of those young men, as the difficulties brought forward did not lie on the surface, and could only be reached by a mind that had been a good deal exercised upon the subject. It is also a fact, that taunts and persecutions have resulted in particular instances, when pupils now in the school have become suspected by their bazaar companions. Of the last circumstance I have been made aware from perfectly independent sources.

Hydrabad represents the mind of Sindh, and its people will, when educated, have influence wherever they go.

The Rev. J. Bardsley was at Hydrabad during the early part of the year: upon his removal to Kurrachi he was succeeded by the Rev. C. Isenberg, who vigorously pursued the study of the Sindhi language, and has introduced it into the school as the mother language of the pupils.

CALCUTTA.

Division of labour among the Missionaries.

THE distribution of labour among the Missionaries employed in Calcutta illustrates the altered character and great variety of Mission work in that Presidency town. Mr. Stuart is the Secretary of the Corresponding Committee, and frequently visits the stations throughout all North India. Mr. Barton also takes part in the Secretaryship. Mr. Bomwetsch is wholly employed in visiting among the better classes of native society, and in holding conferences with inquirers from among the educated natives. His work is of a nature which he naturally shrinks from making public. Mr. Long has taken up the peculiar department of seeking to influence the masses of the people by investigating the character of the current literature in the vernacular newspapers and other publications, which issue from no fewer, in his estimation, than eighty native printing presses in Calcutta; by preparing tracts to counteract prevailing errors; by attending various public meetings, or more select parties, where questions of religion and social progress are discussed. By such means, and by his previous sufferings in the cause of the oppressed ryots, Mr. Long enjoys a large share of the confidence of native society, while his consistent Missionary character secures to him the exercise of a truly Christian influence. Mr. Long also takes charge of the Thakurpukur district, south of Calcutta. Mr. Barton is Principal of the new Cathedral Mission College. Messrs. Welland and Dyson assist in imparting instruction to the students of Calcutta University, in the higher departments of English literature; Mr. Welland uniting with college work direct Missionary labours, and Mr. Dyson having charge of a superior school for native-Christian children. Mr. Barton has also English services in a church on Sundays. Mr. Vaughan has the pastoral charge of the Christian congregation at Mirzapore, comprising 400 souls, and, at the same time, devotes much time and labour to bazaar preaching and domiciliary visits to respectable heathen. Mr. Greaves is engaged in the general work of the Mission, and has also rendered valuable help by taking part in the course of lectures addressed to the intelligent classes.

At the out-station of Agurpara the Rev. T. Sandys and the native minister, the Rev. F. J. De Rozario, carry on the long-established schools in that place, and prosecute Missionary labours throughout the surrounding villages.

Mr. Long thus describes the system of itinerancy upon which he acts, and which he has found to "work well :"—

I have invitations from natives of influence to stay a week or ten days at their houses; this gives me the opportunity of making such a house a centre for visiting the natives in the locality, and coming into more friendly and direct contact with them than could be effected by a hurried or passing call. I have received invitations for this object from Dacca, Murshedabad, Hoogly, &c. The months of September and October, when malaria prevails so much in the Thakurpuker district, afford a good opportunity for distant itinerancy.

Mr. Vaughan makes the following remarks upon his department of work in Calcutta :—

Many tokens of the divine favour have rested upon the Christian congregation. Eleven new converts have been added during the year.

The Mirzapore congregation is far from being all I could wish it to be. Indeed, many a time is my heart saddened by the worldliness and inconsistency of our people. Yet, viewing the congregation as a whole, I have no doubt whatever that there are more solid tokens of good visible than has marked it at any past period. There is hardly a vestige of the previous state of dependence remaining. Our people would scorn now to receive the help which once they claimed as a right. Together with the development of a manly and independent spirit, there are many signs of increasing respectability of deportment. Their moral standard is advancing, and, in a portion of the congregation, evidences of growing spirituality are not wanting. The feature which is most patent, and in all respects most remarkable, is the liberality of the members. I am myself surprised, and so are many more, at the readiness of our people to contribute out of their little for the Lord's cause. Besides the monthly subscriptions toward the "Native Pastorate Fund," contributions are made for the preaching of the Gospel in the villages and towns traversed by two railways converging on the Mission station. During the past year

church.

twenty-seven preaching excursions have been made by the catechists, and the whole expense has been borne by the congregation. Another species of Christian liberality has this year manifested itself: the principle of thank-offerings has been recognised and acted upon. Here one has given a sum in gratitude for his own recovery to health, or for that of his wife or child; there another has given the first-fruits of an augmented salary to the Lord. All these are pleasing tokens, and afford sufficient ground of hope that at some conceivable period this congregation will present the spectacle of an independent self-supporting church, ministered to by a devoted native pastor.

Mr. Vaughan, in his annual letter, thus describes the effect of English education upon the native mind:—

reaching

Apart from the Brahmin association, I am strongly convinced that there is much ground to hope for the educated native gentry. For eighteen months back have I been visiting them several times a week at their own homes. I have found them, as a rule, wonderfully ignorant of the history and doctrines of Christianity. How could they be otherwise. The greater part of them have been educated either in Government or Hindu colleges, in neither of which have they heard one word of the Gospel; and though they many a time pass the Missionary when he proclaims the saving message in the thoroughfares, they would on no account stand amongst the common herd to listen. It is therefore not surprising that, though intelligent enough on other matters, they would be in the dark as to the leading features of the truth. But my experience has shown that they are approachable and teachable too. I have been received almost universally with kindness, most interesting conversations have been held on the all-important topic, and I have ever returned home feeling that a sphere of no ordinary interest and moment presents itself in this direction. I wish from my heart that every Missionary in this city could and would devote a portion of his time to the visitation of the native gentry. They would be repaid by the present pleasure and comfort of the work, and the church might ere long reap a cheering harvest.

Mr. Sandys and Mr. Rozario, besides the duties at Agurpara, have a large district on the east side of the salt-water lake, and further south, throughout which the message of salvation is carried by four Scripture-readers, and by occasional visits of the Missionaries. These very experienced labourers notice the effect of education upon the people, even in retired villages and agricultural districts.

Men are met with who have been educated in the Government and Missionary Institutions, who are no longer bigoted defenders of idolatry, but state that they believe Christianity to be true. At the same time they make no public profession of their belief, and let the idolatrous ceremonies be performed as usual by their families. Many possess the Bible, or some part of it. One respectable native brought out the Bible, Paley's Evidences, and the "Comparison of Hinduism and Christianity," which books he had purchased and read. At another village a man brought out a copy of Doddridge's Rise and Progress, in English and Bengali, and asked if he could have a copy for himself, as he had only borrowed it. These are simply specimens of the state of many of the educated natives.

Every year since the mutiny has witnessed the growth and rapid development of a new power in India which must exercise a predominant influence over its future destinies. We allude to the classes educated in European science and literature, many of whom take their degrees at the Calcutta University, and are eligible for the learned professions, or for public service by competition. The rapid growth of this class may be judged of by the increasing number of entrance candidates, who were 224 in 1857, and rose to 1500 in 1865. Others, receiving a lower degree of education, find profitable employment in merchants' houses, railways, engineering operations, and various lines of business, by which they are brought into connexion with European society and its influences. The same causes are in operation in each of the three Presidencies, but Calcutta at present takes the lead. Among these educated classes there is some infusion of Christian influence from the noble efforts of Dr. Duff and his coadjutors, who have long maintained the highest standard of western education, and whose pupils have shared in the honours conferred by the University. The Church Missionary Society has hitherto exercised a like influence upon the lower degrees of English education through its Anglo-Vernacular schools.

cated
Calcutta.

The friends of the Society in India felt that it was most important that the Church Missionary Society should endeavour still further to diffuse Christian influence, and to take part in the education of the higher and more influential classes, by opening a college in Calcutta, in which students may be prepared for matriculation in the University, and afterwards instructed in the subjects necessary for a degree.

The endowment of a Cathedral Mission, instituted by Bishop Daniel Wilson, and made over to the management of the Church Missionary Society in his later years, was thought to be peculiarly applicable to this object. Hence the College, though entirely under the direction of the Society, bears the name of the Cathedral Mission College. The scheme was regarded at first as an experiment whether heathen young men would submit in any numbers to a course combining religious instruction with high literary teaching. The commencement of the College was announced at the last Anniversary: we have now to announce its first annual commemoration, at which the Viceroy and bishop attended, and distributed the prizes before a large assemblage of official persons and of native gentlemen. The total number of students admitted during the year was 193, and the scheme was regarded as having had a successful inauguration.

The Missionary's aim in secular instruction.

The principle on which the college has been founded is ever kept before the eyes of the pupils. "It was not founded to offer a good secular education to those whose circumstances prevent their obtaining it elsewhere, nor to win over a few young men to a particular creed, but to offer to the aspiring classes, in all sincerity, an education worthy of men who must, ere long, pass away for ever from this world, and enter on that eternal existence, as a preparation for which this life has its sole value."

BURDWAN.

During the last year, the Rev. A. P. Neele, and the Rev. A. Stern have had charge of the station. Mr. Stern has taken the pastoral ministrations to the native flock. Mr. Neele superintends the Anglo-Vernacular school, and gives one service on the Sunday to the English residents, who are unprovided with a chaplain.

Slow progress of the Mission.

Missionary disappointments.

Notwithstanding the long period of fifty years in which a witness for the truth has been maintained in Burdwan, and the instruction bestowed upon the converts and their children, through a well-conducted educational agency of infants' schools, vernacular and Anglo-vernacular schools, the congregation of about 250 souls is still in a weakly condition, and instead of exercising an aggressive influence upon surrounding heathenism, it has rather a deadening influence, and greatly depresses the Missionary in charge of it. Such cases as these constitute the severest trials and discouragements of Missions, and should excite the anxious inquiry, whether any thing has been wanting in the management of the Mission which can account for the disappointment.

Mr. Neele, in his annual letter, thus describes his work, and his views respecting the future progress of Missions:—

The English school has occupied rather more of my time than before. This has arisen from my altered views of the prospects of Missionary work in India. More and more is the belief forced upon me of the necessity for a long process of preparation, ere, humanly speaking, the people can be induced to give up their idolatry and to receive the Gospel; and this preparation must be carried on by creating such juvenile impressions of the truth, and by counteracting the fearful efforts that are made in a contrary direction. There is now in this town a school recently established in connexion with the Brahminist movement, in which I am told Bible instruction is given, with a view to point out what are considered errors of Christianity. Our Missionary school is flourishing, as regards temporal prosperity: it maintained a position on a par with other schools at the late University entrance Examination: one of the successful candidates obtained a Government scholarship, and he was, I am pleased to say, a native Christian, son of one of our catechists. A voluntary evening Bible class has also been held once a week, and has obtained a fair attendance from others besides my own pupils. To this I have recently added a Sunday-evening Bible class, conducted in the vernacular: it is at present only an experiment. I am desirous and prayerful that it should succeed, as one can in their native language speak to the heart of the people; but the class necessarily loses a great attraction in the eyes of the youths who are straining every energy to learn English. Lectures to educated natives have been delivered on the Evidences of Christianity, and have met with good audiences: the English language has been used with them, but I purpose next week to make a similar attempt in Bengali: the announcement has been received with pleasure by many of the natives. The school and out-station at Mymaree, sixteen miles hence on the East-India Railway, have been carried on as usual, being visited by me once a week. I have resumed the habit of calling at the houses of the better class of natives, and am generally well received. Upon the Sundays I have conducted an English service, which is attended by the residents as well as by several native Christians.

My sister, who has made excellent progress in the language, has undertaken a Sunday Bible class for women and another for children, besides which she has taken charge of a school in the town for Hindu girls: one of our native-Christian women has been appointed mistress, and my sister also attends it most days.

I have recently returned from a preaching tour in the district. We met very rarely with opposition: our great obstacle is indifference. I was encouraged, however, by meeting with occasional instances of persons apparently sincerely anxious in religion.

The Rev. A. Stern writes :—

feelings of the heathen towards Missions.

In the course of one of my preaching tours I went, in a certain village, to a house occupied by the most respectable Baboo in this place. He not only listened to me with interest, but tried much to persuade me to make a longer stay. This was the more remarkable, as the catechist Thomas told me that, some years ago, the late Mr. Weitbrecht and Mr. Geidt were driven away with much infamy from this very house. This, I think, gives a fair illustration of the change which is going on in the native mind. The same illustration may be derived from my reception at the next place where I pitched my tent, a village, or rather town, of about 10,000 inhabitants. My tent was being carried further on, but the principal Baboo persuaded me to stay a few days at his place. He supplied us with milk and other things. He allowed the English schoolhouse to be used for a lecture, which he and other intelligent men of the place, including the teachers and the doctor, attended. I spoke in Bengali on the perversity of Hinduism, as well as on the insufficiency of Brahminism. The latter I had still more opportunity of pointing out in my tent, where I was frequently visited by students of the Calcutta Colleges, who are at home for their vacations.

KISHNAGURH.

In this district no change has taken place in the Missionary labourers. Mr. Blumhardt has charge of the Sudder station, where there is a "Training" Establishment under Mr. Gmelin, who has also charge of a circle of schools. Mr. Lincké is at Bollobpore, Mr. Schurr at Kabastanga, and the native pastor, Mr. Seal, at Ruttenpore.

It was stated in the last Report that measures had been adopted to make the native Christians more self-reliant, and to check the evils which a too lavish supply of temporal relief had engendered in former years. But all attempts to improve the social position of the impoverished ryots, of whom the greater part of the converts consist, have been checked by the failure of the harvests, and the consequent danger of famine. At the close of the year the Missionaries were obliged to appeal to the public for a "relief" fund. Many of the schools had been broken up, and hundreds of labourers were without employment: many were dying for want of a sufficiency of wholesome food, being compelled to eat roots, berries, the rind of trees, grass, &c.

Under such circumstances, no general account of the Mission has been furnished.

One part of the new system was to take up several new places, such as Pubna, Coormarcolly, Nattore, and Bograh, all populous towns, and to place native catechists at these out-stations, two at each, with their families, to commend the Gospel by their preaching, and the life and godly conversation of their families. The Missionaries were to visit these out-stations periodically. The Rev. F. Schurr thus describes the success of these plans, in a letter, Oct. 20, 1865:—

It is pleasing to observe that the preachers (though only one knows some English) associate with educated men, and are respected by them. Many come to their houses for the same purpose. I accompanied the preachers also to the bazaar, and observed how crowds were listening: they listened to my addresses with great attention, and scarcely any counter remark was made by them. The preachers also told me that the people have given up disputing, and silently listen to the word. In these out-stations the wives of the preachers are also visited by native females, or they are invited to their houses, to show them some needlework, and speak about the Christian religion.

Efficiency
teachers.

Of Pubna I have indirectly heard from Hindus that the preachers go out with their message twice a day, and are listened to and respected. I have heard the same about the other places too, more or less; so I have this confidence in the Lord, that this work of faith and love will not fall to the ground. It was begun with confidence in the Lord, and He will uphold it.

Do ask the Committee and Mission friends not to look for many conversions yet: it is still the time of preparation, and a great work has been done and is being done: the masses are being enlightened and stirred up, which is the first essential for conversion. In due time the nations will flow to Zion. As the Government has English schools in all these stations, we confine ourselves entirely to preaching the Gospel.

Great work
tion.

Since October a few good women have begun to collect little sums for the Lord's cause among the Christians. Many are willing to give, and some have given a little, but the present distress disables them from giving liberally. However, if they give now, their hearts may be led to give more when they have the means.

I constantly tell the people to rely upon their own exertions, and not to expect any help from others; and a great improvement has taken place, and I do hope that in a few years they will be able to do something for themselves. Now they contribute a few rupees a month for the destitute and for the widows.

BHAGULPORE.

For the early part of the year 1865 the Mission at Bhagulpore was without a resident Missionary. In May, the Rev. E. Dröese returned to his old charge of the station after three years' absence. He found it in many respects greatly fallen off. The larger part of the native Christians had belonged to a regiment of hill rangers. This regiment had been disbanded, and the Christian soldiers had been dispersed through other districts in search of employment. An Orphanage also, for want of efficient superintendence, had fallen into disorder. The congregation only numbered 155 souls, of whom 101 were children. Mr. Dröese thus found much work upon his hands before he could attempt to itinerate, which, before he left Europe, it was his hope that his remaining years in India might be devoted to. He found himself also without efficient schoolmasters, and he pleads earnestly for a second Missionary, that he may be released from station work, and free to proclaim the Gospel throughout the district, for which work his experience and familiarity with the language peculiarly qualify him. He is able at the close of the year to report a much better state of order in the Mission, and an improvement in the schools.

THE SANTHAL MISSION.

The report of the Santhal Mission has not yet arrived. The Rev. E. L. Puxley, with the assistance of a Lutheran clergyman, has been very zealously itinerating throughout the district, preaching in the Santhali language, and has met with much success. The school also prospers, which was designed as a training institution to supply indigenous teachers to the village schools. The village schools scattered over the Damin-i-kop are between thirty and forty. The Government pays half the expense. The Government school inspector has reported very favourably of these schools; and, in the conclusion of his report, remarks—"The philanthropic and self-denying labours of Mr. Puxley have won the respect and confidence of this plastic people."

II. North-west Provinces.

The North-west Provinces comprise ten principal Districts, viz. Agra (commenced 1813); Meerut (1815); Benares (1817); Gorruckpore (1823); Juanpore (1831); Kotgurh (1847); Jubbulpore (1854); Lucknow (1858); Allahabad (1859); Azimgurh (1861); Fyzabad (1862).

ALLAHABAD.

The Rev. Brocklesby Davis is the Missionary at this station. The native-Christian congregation is under the charge of the native pastor, Rev. D. Mohun. Mr. Davis occasionally preaches to the congregation, and otherwise gives the native pastor support and encouragement.

There is constant preaching in the bazaars and in places of public resort. During the year there have been several inquirers, but only two adults have been baptized. There is an Anglo-vernacular school containing eighty-five boys, where there are several candidates for the entrance Examination of the Calcutta University ; a vernacular school for boys of the same number ; and a female school containing twenty-seven Mohammedan girls under a native-Christian mistress.

Missionary operations have, throughout the year, been carried on with much devotedness and perseverance, but no special circumstances of interest have been reported.

JUBBULPORE.

The Rev. E. Champion and the Rev. J. Stuart have laboured at the Jubbulpore station during the last year. Mr. Stuart's attention was given to the acquisition of the language, until he had passed his examination in it. From the printed annual report of the Mission it appears that the several duties of the Mission have been regularly discharged in ministering to a small native flock ; in preaching during the hot season in Jubbulpore, and during the cold season in the neighbourhood ; and in the schools, comprising a large Anglo-vernacular school of 210 boys, which prepares young men for the Calcutta University entrance Examination. No marked success has attended these labours beyond the baptism of a Mohammedan gentleman of good position, with his mother and sister, relatives of the two Mohammedan gentlemen whose baptism was reported last year. It is stated by the Missionaries:—

Conversion
of Moham-
gentlemen.

These three dear brethren have completed their first Christian year. It will be needful only to say, that in the great trial of affliction to which they have been subjected—the loss of wives and children departed from them, perhaps for ever—the ingenious and accumulated expressions of scorn, hatred, and ill-will, which it is impossible fully and briefly to describe,—in this great trial of affliction the unspeakable grace of God has abounded to keep them humble, patient, and true.

BENARES.

The Native Church.

The Rev. Messrs. Smith and Leupolt devote their time to general Mission work. Messrs. Fuchs and Hooper take part in educational work, as well as in direct Missionary work. Messrs. Hubbard, Treusch, and Weber are wholly occupied with educational employments.

The congregation of Sigra is in charge of the Rev. D. Solomon, the native pastor, Mr. Leupolt aiding him in preaching and carrying on the work. The native pastor reports:—

tions of a
pastor.

The number of Christians under my charge is 844. On the Lord's-day they attend divine service in the church twice, of which I perform one service every other Lord's-day. We have daily morning prayers, which are attended chiefly by widows. Every Thursday evening we have a prayer-meeting in the Christian village, at which usually some forty or fifty persons are present. Two evenings I devote to visiting the people, but I also go occasionally in the morning or afternoon, especially when visiting the sick. Friday evening I have a prayer-meeting in the pensioners' line, which is well attended, and every other Lord's-day I preach in the Hindustani chapel. Four times in the week I endeavour to preach the Gospel to my countrymen in the city, who are yet without Christ, and I also devote three hours in the week to the first class of the normal girls' school. The congregation has, upon the whole, gone on well. In the cold season the teachers of the various schools and the senior pupils of the normal boys' school joined me in visiting the villages round Benares, and we had plenty of opportunity to preach the word to the people. Of an increase of spiritual life among the people I can hardly speak, but the work is the Lord's, and I know that He who has begun in and among us the good work will also complete it in mercy.

Education.

The Training Institutions for males and females are under the general superintendence of Mr. Leupolt, who thus writes:—

The number of pupils at present attending the normal schools is 41. Of these, 19 are under Mr. Treusch, 7 under Mr. Weber in the preparatory class, and 15 girls are in the female department. Four years' experience convinces us that we shall never be able to make our Institution really efficient unless we extend our course of studies over four years. The boys in general, on entering the Institution, are deficient in every branch of study. To make up for this deficiency they have to work above their strength, and the consequence has been that we have lost some of our best boys from illness. A four years' course will remedy this evil.

When I was in the south, at the beginning of this year, I found that Mr. Spratt, of Palametta, had come to the same conclusion to which we all have come, that, to meet the requirements of the day, English ought to be taught in our Institutions as a language, and those lads who have studied English previous to entering our school ought to be helped on. But I would not commence teaching English to boys who have not already some knowledge of the same, nor even continue it with young men of inferior abilities.

Jay Narain's Institution.

The Rev. H. D. Hubbard is the only European Missionary now engaged in this Institution. He reports:—

The number of pupils on the books is 445, being greater than at any previous time. In January the Principal returned from England, and resumed his charge of the Institution. By the removal of the Rev. J. Erhardt to Lucknow in June, the College has been deprived of the valuable assistance which, for between four and five years, he has, in spite of much occasional weakness of health, so unremittingly given to it. There are at present six matriculated students of the Calcutta University pursuing their studies in the College, five of whom receive scholarships from Government. These, together with five other pupils preparing for matriculation in December next, have formed a class in Holy Scripture, and have read with me in our daily course during the year, the following books of the Old and New Testaments—Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, Daniel, the Acts of the Apostles, and nearly the whole of the prophet Jeremiah. I have no reason to complain of any lack of attention on the part of the students, though their interest in these subjects has doubtless been quickened by the half-yearly examinations for scholarships lately established in the College for proficiency in scriptural knowledge.

High secular education combined with Scripture.

Mr. Hooper reports:—

As to the Sanskrit department, I must confess that I find it uphill work, and that not only in bringing the truths of Christianity to bear upon them, to which they are naturally more opposed than English students generally are, but also in bringing them to a rational and useful method of learning Sanskrit itself. They can repeat hundreds of the memorial verses of the native grammarians, who describe the niceties of grammatical rules, irregularities, &c., and this they delight in, because it brings them praise in the city; but they can rarely tell the preposition which enters into the composition of a verb, much less show how it modifies the original meaning of the verb. I am, however, trying to remedy this, and in due time shall, I hope, partially at least, succeed.

The head master of the school department, Baboo Timothy Luther, reports generally of the satisfactory state of the school, adding, "I take the vernacular college classes in the Holy Scriptures, and my labours in these classes are not without encouragement. The word of God is, I am sure, doing good to the souls of these scholars."

Among the vernacular schools Mrs. Smith's city girls' schools are very interesting. The number of children is about 186. They leave at an early age. No fewer than twelve baptisms have taken place from these schools. The bishop of Calcutta visited the schools, and recorded this testimony:—

The bishop afterwards accompanied the Missionaries to Mrs. Smith's girls' school in the city, where about 150 children of all ages were assembled. He examined the more-advanced classes in reading and Scripture history, and was much pleased with all he saw. There can be no doubt that this Institution must do much good in the city of Benares, from almost all parts of which children come to be taught reading, writing, arithmetic, and needlework.

Preaching to the heathen.

Systematic
perseverance of a veteran
nary.

Through God's mercy I have been permitted to continue in his vineyard another year. In the cold season I itinerated among the villages to the east and north of Benares to nearly half-way to Ghazepore and Azimgurh. After that I visited Jaunpore, and proceeded thence thirty or forty miles further into Oude. On my return I itinerated among the villages between Phulpore and this, visiting Bará Gáon, &c. I have gone to the work in the city seven and eight times a week, besides my Lord's-day service. My class there of catechists and readers have been going on with me in the Epistle to the Romans, which we are about completing. Three young educated Brahmins are professedly candidates for baptism. We have lost our oldest catechist during the past year.

Triloke died in May. He was the son of a respectable native officer, to whom Government gave an estate as a reward for his good services. Triloke was baptized by Mr. Bowley in, I think, 1828. He was a man of natural talent, and, I doubt not, a Christian on conviction, and, in his time, a good and efficient catechist. He was particularly at home in exposing popular Hinduism, and setting forth the leading facts of Christianity.

Mr. Fuchs reports:—

The Christians in the Blind Asylum have been regularly visited on Lord's-day or during the week, either by myself or one of our readers, when always a number of other people joined the little congregation. I have, as heretofore, continued preaching in the city, and visited occasionally those few houses which I have found access to. I wish many were open to me, for though at those visits much time may be said to be lost by talking on indifferent subjects and worldly affairs, yet is the Missionary thereby coming nearer to them; and when the conversation can be turned to the subject of religion he can speak more fully and explicitly than at the preaching-place, and by the sound of the Gospel being heard in a house, curiosity among all the inmates of it is excited, which may lead to inquiry, and open the way to their hearts. At the house of a Sikh Sirdar I usually met a larger or smaller number of visitors, respectable and intelligent men, who were generally very fond of disputing, not for the sake of arriving at the truth; still I was glad of the opportunities of explaining to a class of men, whom I nowhere else could have met with, the way of salvation.

In the cold season I first spent some weeks at Gharwa, whither we had sent our orphan girls for a change of air. Returning thence, I went to another part in the district on the Calcutta road, turning to the right and left side, and found in most places the people gathering around us in large numbers to hear our preaching. A Bairagi joined us at Alinagar, with the intention of remaining with us, and to become a Christian; but at Sakuldiha, our next halting-place, he was frightened away by the sub-inspector of police at that place, who, in my presence, was exceedingly polite and obliging, but, being a bigoted Hindu, he, without any noise, counteracted my preaching as much as lay in his power. Very different was the conduct of a teacher in a school a few miles off, and of the sub-inspector of police at Chandowli. The former was for a number of years teacher in the London Mission School, Mirzapore, who, hearing of our arrival, came immediately, full of joy, as if some old dear friends had visited him. The other was formerly a student of Jay Narain's, who, as long as we stopped there, spent every moment he could possibly spare at our tent. It seemed as if it had been to both these men a real refreshment to be once more with Christians, and I felt in their presence something of Christian brotherhood, being convinced by their whole appearance that the aid to Missions.

Christian instruction they received and their former intercourse with Missionaries, has to that extent been blessed to them, that they are Christians but in name. Instances of this kind are very encouraging, and give ground to hope that from such men like these a host of evangelists will in due time grow forth, through whom the knowledge of Jesus Christ will spread all over the land.

Mr. Hooper reports :—

During the cold season I gave a good deal of my time to preaching and open-air work generally, but, since then, have not once, as far as I remember, done that work, for my day is occupied at Jay Narain's, and my evenings have been, without exception, occupied by inquirers and some other native visitors.

Sad indifference of the heathen.

In December and the first half of January I preached daily in different parts of the city ; and here, though I was never alone, yet I was far less encouraged. The obstinate hardness of nearly all, the scornful opposition of some, and the as scornful silence of others; the universal treatment of the Gospel as a "great bore," and the cool rejection of the most pressing invitations to respond to the tender love and mercy of God ;—all these things made preaching in the city a very sad, though still an interesting work. There is an interest in, and an attachment to, this work which seems to grow in the mind, notwithstanding all discouragements; and it is, I suppose, because one feels oneself to be the ambassador of the King of kings.

Mr. Hooper notices in his journal the case of a Mohammedan inquirer, on which he grounds an important remark :—

Blind attachment to a creed.

A Mohammedan visited me. He is rather often in Benares, and always attends Sigra church when he is. He knows, as he says himself, much more of the Gospel than of his own religion, and this very fact Satan uses in his case, as in many others, against becoming a Christian, by spreading out as it were before their eyes an indefinite idea of the possible excellence of the unknown religion of their fathers, and filling their minds with a feeling that they ought to doubt, rather than with any positive doubt. To such, if they are Mohammedans, my advice always is, "Then become acquainted with your fathers' religion as fast and as thoroughly as possible, for there is nothing like knowledge to dispel indefinite doubt. With Hindus I am in a greater difficulty, because their fathers' religion is almost any thing a person may choose to call by that name, and because a real acquaintance with their religious books would take much more than their lifetime. The Korán and traditions, however, are portable, manageable, comprehensible. But I fear the Saidpore inquirer has not sufficient earnestness.

and more coming to two conclusions; first, that all we can hope to accomplish is thoroughly to influence a few who may themselves be the leaven to leaven the whole mass; and secondly, that for this influencing, education is at present—i.e. under the present circumstances of India—the more promising method. The influence mentioned in the first ought to be thorough, or it is worth nothing; and this leads me to state another conviction, which has been also growing upon me, though whether it will find favour or not I do not know. It is, that for this thorough influencing, reading is necessary for Missionaries. Much more necessary, no doubt, for some than for others: some have wonderful memories, and, having once read a thing, never forget it. Some, on the contrary, feel that their minds find the want of reading, as soon and as forcibly as their bodies find the want of food, if they leave it off for any length of time. This is just my case, and besides this, I am constantly finding more and more my need of knowledge of things never known—new knowledge. This, then, I feel very strongly to be my main duty, from henceforth to throw all my strength into influencing the few with whom God gives me an influence by circumstances, and into preparing and enabling myself for thus influencing them. Two explanations, perhaps, are necessary; first, that I shall never cease, as opportunity occurs, spreading the word of God in a more desultory way also, whether to individuals whom I meet casually, and may never see again, or to crowds in the streets. But I cannot consider either of them my chief duty, and therefore cannot take the advice—lately received—though I have considered it seriously and prayerfully, and thank my adviser heartily, viz. to preach in the city every day at dawn, for that would seriously hinder my main business. Secondly, that I do not mean to neglect or overlook—though I have not mentioned it above—prayer and meditation as the chief means of “preparing and enabling myself to influence others.” I do not know that I have more to say, but finally request the Committee and all my dear friends to continue to assist me with their frequent and earnest prayers, that in the coming year, should I be spared to live and labour through it, there may be more fruit of the Spirit in me, and in others through me.

The Out-station of Gharwa.

The congregation at Gharwa consists of seventeen native Christians: two readers, a catechist, and a colporteur of the Bible Society, have resided and laboured among them. As agriculturists the Christians support themselves in comfort. They have friendly relations with the heathen around them, but there is no evidence that their light so shines as to exercise any attractive influence upon their countrymen.

Chunar.

The Rev. Mr. Fuchs visits this out-station, as a rule, once a month. In consequence of several families of pensioners having come to Chunar, the congregation is increased to eighty, with thirty-two communicants. But since the removal of the native pastor, Solomon, to Benares, there has only been a catechist stationed among them. There are also three schools containing 196 children, one being Anglo-vernacular, of which the catechist is the head master, and the only Christian master. He therefore has only time to examine the pupils occasionally in the Bible lessons taught by heathen masters. This is a state of things which should not be allowed to continue.

Juanpore and Zufferabad.

There is a church at Juanpore and a small company of European residents, but only one native Christian besides two schoolmasters and their wives. The Rev. W. Hooper visited Juanpore seven times in the course of the year, extending his stay on one occasion to the length of a fortnight, never less than a week, preaching to the heathen at every opportunity. During the cold season, also, Mr. Smith preached much at Juanpore and Zufferabad, but without apparent results. There are two Anglo-vernacular schools and a vernacular school in the city.

AZIMGURH.

The work at Azimgurh is altogether educational. A large Anglo-vernacular school fully occupies the single Missionary at this station, the Rev. A. Lockwood. During the early part of the year the failure of his wife's health obliged him to take four months' leave of absence. He thus alludes to the effect of his absence upon the school, when sending his annual letter at the close of the year:—

teachers.

I am most thankful to be able to report, with reference to my native helpers, that, during my absence from the station, they did not labour with eye-service; nay, our absence seemed to stimulate them to increased diligence. In Mrs. Lockwood's girls' school the numbers, which at the beginning of the year were nearly thirty, had by the close of the year increased to more than fifty. This is cause for much thankfulness. The girls do not stay on an average more than a few months each, which is to be regretted. Still to get girls under Christian instruction at all is a great point gained. In time, it is to be hoped that both the girls themselves and their parents will appreciate what, in India, has been hitherto so much despised—female education, and that they will thus be disposed to send them to school for longer periods than they now seem willing to do. Mr. Leupolt, who not long ago visited the school, spoke in high praise of the efficient state in which he found it.

The boys' school has gone on steadily increasing. I may remark here that the Bible has been taught by Christian teachers only, of whom we have now five, and only two others, a Mohammedan and a Hindu. During my absence they have been accustomed regularly to meet together to pray for God's blessing on their work, a practice which they still continue.

It is with feelings of deepest thankfulness that I have to report that God has been pleased to enable one of our students openly to confess Christ by offering himself for baptism. Sayud Hasn Ali came to Azimgurh in the early part of August last, from Sultanpore, in Oude, avowedly with the intention of learning English. He took up his residence with the Persian writing-master, a bigoted Mohammedan, and applied himself to his new study with great diligence. His bitterness against the Bible was for some time extreme. He openly stated his objections to Christianity to his teachers, and had these been Mohammedans and Hindus instead of Christians, he might have been confirmed in his unbelief, but God graciously guided him into the clear light of the Gospel.

Interesting
conversion.

GORRUCKPORE.

The native-Christian flock at Gorruckpore, and at the agricultural settlement of Basharatpore, numbers 322. The Rev. H. Stern has been the only Missionary at the station. Very few additions have been made during the last year. One interesting case of the baptism of a Rajpoot Sepoy, with his wife and son, had taken place. There are six schools with 436 scholars. It is clear that a single Missionary cannot do more than keep up the regular duties of so extensive a Mission. A native pastor should be provided for the congregation at Basharatpore, and a second European Missionary, in order that a due superintendence may be exercised, and that Missionary tours may be made in the district. The last year having been one of scarcity throughout this part of India, the native Christians have suffered severely from the high prices of the necessaries of life, and have not been able to make contributions to a Native-Pastorate Fund.

In addition to other trials, Mr. Stern mentions the aggression of a Romanist priest in the following terms:—

We have had to feel the baneful influence of Popery. The priest from the Roman-Catholic establishment at Bettiah and Jenri, during one of his pastoral visits to some Roman-Catholic residents, has endeavoured to influence a number of our native-Christian families, for the purpose of inducing them to quit this for Bettiah. He succeeded in drawing away two families from Basharapore, who left like thieves under cover of the night, and escaped to Bettiah, where they were gladly received and assisted with money.

FYZABAD.

reports.

For three years the Rev. W. Ball has laboured as a Missionary at this station, singly, without the help of a brother Missionary or native teacher. It was a new station when he entered upon the work; and the population being Moham-medan, no converts have as yet been made. It is right that the shades as well as the lights of Missionary work should be set before the church at home, that the prayers and sympathy of God's people may be drawn forth on behalf of those who toil all night and take nothing. The review, therefore, of Mr. Ball of his three years' labours is given entire in his own words:—

Patient
without

From the opening of this Mission, at the end of 1862, till my departure from broken health, in January 1866, the only work of a Missionary character which has been carried on was the open-air preaching of the Gospel to Hindus and Mohammedans in the bazaars of Fyzabad, and the many villages in the district around.

A few remarks on the nature and result of this preaching may be interesting: first, then as to the nature or character of this Gospel proclamation. It has ever been a simple, earnest, authoritative message, purporting to be from God to sinners, telling them how they had wandered out of the way, and how Jesus, the only true Saviour, had come and died, and that there was a free pardon and reconciliation pronounced in his name to all who believe on Him. The preacher, or herald, commences by reading aloud some impressive chapter, as, for instance, the 53rd of Isaiah, or the 2nd of Acts. As he reads, a crowd or congregation collects—they may be 20 or they may be 1500; the average about 40 or 50. Should the majority be Hindus the Missionary talks to them of the nature of God and his hatred of sin, and then speaks of the true incarnation of the Deity, who, in spotless holiness, came among men, and in his body presented a true propitiation for the sins of the whole world. Should Mohammedans be listening in large numbers, they are told of Him of whom all their revered prophets have spoken for ages past, of Him who is the grand subject of all the four books which they profess to reverence as the word of the Almighty—Moses, the Psalms, the Prophets, and the Gospel. They are assured of certain and immediate pardon through his blood, in contrast to the poor hope held out to them that God “may or may not” grant the intercession of their prophet Mohammed. Such is the oft-repeated proclamation. But now for, 2ndly, the result. Alas! it is not what the church at home longs for. It is not what one experiences who preaches to the ignorant at home. There is no response in the cold, proud heart; no tear when divine agency is ever so eloquently described; no asking, "What shall we do." No, there is but one universal token that the message is indeed from God; that the preaching of the cross is an offence: for invariably it happens, that however quietly the deluded congregation may listen to general remarks about God or sin, once the dying Saviour is mentioned there is a murmur, a kind of gnashing of their teeth; and frequently the whole crowd turn suddenly away at the mention of the one truth worthy of all acceptance, and the poor Missionary is left, like his master, alone with a helpless woman or one or two boys. Again he reads the sacred word, again he tells his awful message, and perhaps the second congregation, like the first, rush away at the name of Jesus, and sadly the preacher returns to his home or his tent.

LUCKNOW.

The Missionary body at Lucknow has undergone some changes during the last year. The Rev. T. Storrs was removed to Calcutta, from whence he afterwards proceeded to Umritsur. And later in the year the Rev. F. Reuther removed to Fyzabad. The Rev. J. Erhardt was transferred from Benares to Lucknow, to take charge of the Anglo-vernacular school and of the native congregation.

General character of the work.

The native-Christian church in Lucknow is small and fluctuating. This year fewer are reported in the list of members here than last year, and there has not been a single baptism. The Anglo-vernacular school is greatly improved in numbers and efficiency. Some progress has also been made in female education by Mrs. Reuther. The most striking characteristic of the work in Lucknow consists in the discussions which are held by the Missionaries on Christian truths, both in the street preaching and in domiciliary visits. The Moslems of Lucknow appear to have greater activity and independence of mind than is generally found in that race. "They have carried on street preaching, but apparently not so much from opposition to us, as to show that they also can be zealous in upholding their own religion. It is rather encouraging than otherwise to see that they are not indifferent in matters of religion, and their proceedings seem to stir up a greater spirit of inquiry among the natives." Mr. Mengé also mentions, that upon seeing in the newspapers a challenge by a new convert at Jubbulpore to discuss the truths of Christianity with any Moslem who would communicate with him, he stirred up the most learned man in Lucknow to write to the convert at Jubbulpore. This was replied to by a letter so able and powerful that it was lithographed by the Missionaries, and dispersed in the city. The whole time of Messrs. Mengé and Reuther is devoted to preaching or itinerating, and in one of his latest letters Mr. Mengé, after recounting his visits to several Pundits of high reputation, as well as to several wealthy Moslems in the course of a Missionary tour of eight weeks, concludes with this emphatic declaration:— “Never before had I such a strong conviction that the time may be near when thousands will at once be prepared by God to embrace the holy religion of Jesus.”

AGRA.

The Agra Mission comprises two Christian congregations, one at St. John's church, in the city, the other at Secundra. Both are under European pastors. The Rev. Mr. Schneider has ministered to the city congregation, numbering 150 adults; but his declining health, after twenty-eight years' labour, compelled him to reside in the hills for the hot weather. Upon his return in the autumn he resumed his former pastoral charge; but he has since been obliged to relinquish Agra altogether, and to reside at a hill-station. Mr. Shackell has taken up Mr. Schneider's work, in addition to his extensive itinerations and his zealous preaching in the streets. At the close of the year he happily obtained the assistance of a native pastor, the Rev. Joseph Jacob. Mr. Dæuble has charge of the Secundra Orphan Institution and the congregation at Secundra church, numbering 360 orphans and 100 adults.

The Christian village and Orphan Institution at Secundra are rising in importance through the efficient superintendence of the Missionary. A printing-press has been established by the people themselves, which is nearly self-supporting. Book-binding is also a branch of industry.

Remarkable conversion.

Fourteen adults have been baptized in connexion with these congregations, of whom four were adult orphans. The baptisms at Secundra on Christmas-day 1865 were of more than usual interest, one being a Brahmin, who had reached a high degree of sanctity by his austere life and fasting; a man of good intellect, with much knowledge of Hinduism and Sanskrit, and who, it is to be hoped, will become an evangelist to his countrymen; another was a native of Lucknow; and a third a Mussulman, who had long been an inquirer, and who died a few days after his baptism.

St. John's College, Agra.

St. John's College, Agra, has been under the superintendence of the Rev. C. E. Vines. Three years ago the admission of a boy of low caste into this college led to so large a secession of the pupils as to threaten its existence. At the annual examination at the close of the year the Bishop of Calcutta in the chair, the Principal was able to report:—

It is now three years since our Right Reverend chairman last presided in this hall. We were then passing through a crisis, which threatened our existence; but, as such times of trial generally prove, so, I believe, it proved with us—a purifying process. We lost many pupils whose intellects were more easily trained, because their fathers and their ancestors had been instructed. But we got rid, at the same time, of much which clogged our progress as a Christian institute. The College took from that time a new start; and the late Principal, Mr. Barton, has never had cause to regret the part he then took. We have now on the roll of the College 327 names. We have not many, perhaps, of the richest, but we have many of the best-born of this city and its neighbourhood: instead of despising their low-caste brethren, they are learning to recognise the fact, that however advantageous high birth may be, and however much to be valued as a talent which God gives to some, yet industry and perseverance are and should be (under God's blessing) sure passports to success in life both to high and low.

of discour-
caste.

During the last three years, four students of this College have passed the first Examination in Arts, and twelve have passed the entrance Examination of the Calcutta University. One has just obtained the degree of B.A.

The Bishop of Calcutta, in a concluding address, warmly congratulated the Principal and supporters of the College upon its successful progress.

Preaching to the Heathen.

Each of the Missionaries takes part in the work of preaching to the heathen. Mr. Schneider writes:—

In our bazaar preaching we have often to do with young men who attend for their instruction the three different Colleges, i.e. Government, Victoria, and Mission College, and other schools in Agra. Their remarks, expressions, and attacks are sometimes very striking. They are more or less acquainted with our holy Scriptures. The more extensive and deeper their knowledge of the Bible is, the more they are inclined to listen to our preaching, and the more reasonable their argumentations are. It has not seldom occurred that students from St. John's College have come forward as defenders of our Scriptures, and have argued in favour of Christianity with their countrymen in our presence. Their modesty and impartiality in arguing make discussions on religious subjects quite a pleasure. It is evident that a sound instruction in religious truths, and a thorough education according to Christian principles, enlightens and enlarges the minds, and fits them for religious inquiries and discussions. How different is the conduct of these youths who receive only secular instruction, or get only a superficial and prejudiced knowledge of our religious books! They are the most violent, sneering, and unprincipled opposers to our preaching: they not only show their enmity to Christianity, but proudly speak against Government, and are ready either to ridicule the religion of their forefathers, or try to defend the most absurd customs and superstitions of idolatry.

During my stay in the hills I made the acquaintance of an intelligent hill-man and his family. He had been baptized by the late Mr. Lamb, and came from the interior of the hills, three marches from Landour, to have his child baptized. He lives among his heathen countrymen, teaching and preaching the Gospel, and supporting himself and family by cultivating a small piece of ground.

Out-stations.

Muttra, Allygurh, and Hatrass have all been regularly visited by Mr. Shackell, who devotes much of his labour to the extension of the work in these important towns and the neighbouring villages.

At Allygurh an European catechist, Mr. Steller, resides, who has succeeded in gathering a Lord's-day congregation for his Hindustani service, averaging twenty-two in number. He also distributes the holy Scriptures extensively, by sale through colporteurs.

From Hatrass the intelligence is of a painful nature. Mr. Shackell writes:—

Missionary dis-appointments.

It is with great grief that we have to record the relapse into Mohammedanism of a convert who taught the school there last year. He first resigned his post, and, a month or two afterwards, apostatized. This was with the view of being joined by his wife, who refused to live with him while a Christian. He was one of whom we had hoped better things, having always been particularly pleased with his conduct. But he still acknowledges the truth of Christianity, and it may be that the Lord will call him back to his fold. Other disappointments we have had here as to professed inquirers; but one young man, a Mohammedan, who was brought to see me during the hot weather by the catechist, was baptized in Agra, and has, since then, given satisfaction by his conduct.

MEERUT.

The Rev. C. T. Hoernle, with his son, Mr. J. Hoernle, and Mr. Wright, have laboured at this extensive Mission for the last year. At the close of the year Mr. Wright was transferred to Agra, and the Rev. Rudolph Hoernle, another son of Mr. Hoernle, arrived to assist his father in his work.

The statistics of the Mission show the number of Christians at Meerut and its out-stations to amount to 737, the communicants to 310. The number of schools is 10, attended by an aggregate of 346 scholars, of whom nearly 100 are girls. During the last year 17 adults and 38 children have been baptized.

The printed report of the present year gives this general view of the work in the city and out-stations:—

Sudder and out-stations.

1. We have no stirring event to record in connexion with our Sudder congregation. The Sabbath and week-day services in Hindustani have been continued without interruption throughout the year, in St. Paul's Chapel and the prayer-room in the Mission house, and have been well attended, considering that most of the members of this church are scattered over the city and cantonment. But as attendance on the means of grace is closely connected with the progress of spiritual life in a Christian community, it undoubtedly indicates spiritual death on the part of those who never, or very seldom, attend. And such there are, more especially among the native drummers and pensioners, who form a considerable proportion of this congregation. Oh for a greater measure of the Holy Spirit upon these much-neglecting and often-neglected Christians, whose example, standing, as they do between the European residents and the non-Christian natives, has an immediate influence for good or bad upon the latter.

2. Our out-stations have, for the last few years, been steadily increasing in number as well as in importance. There are now eight, their distance from the mother church varying from two to 130 miles. As they are the most important, so they are at the same time the most laborious department of our work, causing an uninterrupted flow of care and anxiety, of hope mixed with fear, arising partly from the difficulty of superintendence, the weakness of some of our converts, and the inexperience and want of Christian devotedness on the part of our native assistants. "Gladly to spend and to be spent" for the Lord, and for the souls of those entrusted to their care, is a Missionary principle, which as yet they little understand.

Six of these out-stations have congregations of professing Christians, more or less numerous; two are only preaching-posts, lights, as it were, in the heathen darkness, where that name is preached in which alone we have salvation; watch-towers to guide the poor erring idolaters to Jesus Christ their Saviour. The catechist's work here is purely evangelistic, consisting of preaching the Gospel, and sowing the good seed of God's word in a certain circle of villages appointed to them. Once a month the catechists assemble at head-quarters to give an account of their labours, to have their accounts settled, to receive advice, as well as for united prayer and friendly communication with the Missionary and among themselves. These meetings have often been very useful, and greatly blessed.

Again, three of these communities are purely rural, the men tilling plots of land for their subsistence. In one they are mostly servants in private and Government employ. Others support themselves as day-labourers or tradesmen. The peasants have decidedly to contend with greater difficulties, and to do harder work than the servants, who live in comparative comfort, though their wages are only four or five rupees a month; whereas the land-cultivator, after paying his heavy ground-rent to the Zemindar, and his water-rates to Government, has seldom more than two or three rupees left for the support of himself and family. Still we consider his position more congenial to the development of Christian virtues than that of the servant, who is so frequently exposed to temptation and bad example. The results will, in course of time, show which occupation is best suited for the growth and stability of native Christians of the foregoing description.

Weakness
church.

Viewing them from this latter stand-point, we are thankful to report, that in each of our congregations at the Sudder and out-stations there are families in whom a work of grace is evident. Their conduct is steady, and furnishes an example for their neighbours. Others are as yet babes in faith and knowledge, requiring a stronger hand to guide them. With a few more the spirit of discontent plainly shows that, at the time of their professed conversion, they had impure motives (often deeply concealed) mixed up with their desire to become Christians. Again, some are led astray by the temptations of the enemy of their souls, a deceitful world, and the flesh, which is weak, though the spirit may be ready. Altogether, this part of our work is peculiarly one of faith, mixed with much care and disappointment, and of hope mingled with fear. We commend it to the help of God and the sympathy of our Christian friends.

In a letter, September 22, 1865, Mr. Hœrnle gives an interesting account of a convert who lately died in the faith of Christ:—

Interesting
version.

I commenced this letter on my return from the funeral of a recently-converted, but earnest and steady native brother. His name was Yaqub, a Mohammedan previously to his conversion. When I first got acquainted with him in last April, I liked his simplicity and earnestness. He told me that he had become acquainted with the Christian truth some time ago; that he liked it and believed in Christ as his Redeemer, and considered his religion as the only true way to obtain the forgiveness of his sins and the salvation of his soul. Having been in the habit of spreading the Gospel privately at home, he had a tolerable knowledge of the truth, had committed the Creed, the Decalogue, and Lord's Prayer to memory, and expressed an earnest desire for baptism and admission into the fold of Christ's holy church. After some time of probation his wishes were fulfilled. He may have unconsciously felt that his time of grace was drawing to a close. Hence his solicitation to enter into the kingdom of God, ere the gate should be closed before him. He had just risen from a bed of sickness, which, though long and painful, was spiritually blessed to him. It seemed to have been the time when the light from above broke upon his mind, and the Holy Ghost told him, "My son, give me thine heart." It was well he did so without waiting longer, for soon afterwards the fever returned with increased virulence, and carried him off sooner than either he or I expected. He was, however, now prepared for the greatest of all changes. He spoke much of Christ, prayed with the Scripture-reader, admonished the people round about him while the serenity of his countenance testified to the grace of his mind. He fell asleep in the sure hope of salvation through Christ. He might have been useful in propagating the truth among his benighted countrymen had his life being spared. But the Lord, who knows and does every thing best, took him unto himself: Praised be his name. May the promised time soon come when they shall no longer come to Christ one by one, but nation by nation!

KOTGHUR.

The Rev. W. Rebsch has laboured alone at this station during the last year. His chief encouragement has been derived from the success of a system of schools, established in villages within a few miles of the station, by school teachers of his own training. All the school teachers, and the children who are old enough, attend morning service at Kotghur, and are afterwards instructed in the Bible. In nine villages there are boys' schools containing 172 children, and in four villages there are girls' schools containing in all 27 girls. Mr. Rebsch was about to receive 10 new schools into the list. During the winter of 1864-65 he had eleven youths from the snow regions of Kanawar, who were lodged and boarded at Kotghur, and, within that period, learned to read the Bible, which they took with them on their return to their homes.

UMRITSUR.

The Revs. R. Clark, J. M. Brown, and W. G. Mallett have laboured at Umritsur during the year 1865, together with the Rev. D. Singh native pastor. In November the Mission sustained a severe loss in the death of the young but most promising Missionary, the Rev. E. Wathen, B.A., who had charge of the Anglo-vernacular school. The Rev. Townsend Storrs was transferred from Calcutta to supply Mr. Wathen's place.

Mr. Clark has charge of the work in the city; Mr. Brown has charge of the out-station Narrowal, and devotes himself to the work of itineration; Mr. Mallett has been engaged in the study of the language.

The Bishop of Calcutta visited the Mission in April 1865, and has kindly furnished the following interesting and important notes of his visitation:—

Testimony of the Bishop of Calcutta.

The details of my second visitation of Umritsur (lasting from the morning of Wednesday, April 6th, to Monday, April 10th,) have been entered in the station record-book. Here I merely note down some general remarks and observations. Since I was here in 1860, the work has been greatly strengthened and its organization improved. This I am happy to observe in several other Missions in the North-west Provinces and Punjab. Four schools were visited.

A very pleasant and interesting, and, as I trust, not unprofitable part of the visitation, was a conference which I held with the clergy of the station and others on Missionary subjects, at Mr. Clark's house. Those present were the Revs. J. B. D'Aguilar, R. Clark, F. Wathen, J. M. Brown, G. W. Mallett, David Singh, A. O. Hardy, Dr. Elmslie (medical Missionary), James Kadshu (catechist), Mr. Rodgers (of the Christian Vernacular Education Society), and myself. I was consulted by the Missionaries on three subjects, and it may be well that I should record my opinion upon each. (1.) It would, I think, be a retrograde step, and opposed to the experience gained in other parts of India, to assemble the Christians of Umritsur together in houses built expressly for them in the compounds of the Missions. If their numbers increase, the residents in the civil lines might reasonably object, on sanitary grounds, to such a measure. But, apart from this, it is now generally allowed that this mode of teaching converts is an artificial hot-house culture; that it keeps them in an unnatural condition as children in leading-strings, fosters certain characteristic faults of the Hindu race, and hinders a healthy, spontaneous, rational development of Christianity. To place a native pastor or Missionary (when it is possible with safety to the health of a European) near them in the city, or on its walls, is a different measure, and one of which I candidly approve, as strictly analogous to our parochial system in England.

Calcutta on
villages.

(2.) I am entirely favourable to the affiliation of the Mission school to the Calcutta University, and its development into a college for undergraduates. It would, I think, be a great pity to remove some of the very promising boys whom I saw there from the good influence which has been exerted over them. And the affiliation is expedient, in order to assert the position which ought to be occupied in the Punjab by the chief seat of Missionary education in connexion with the Church of England. As a fellow of the University, I shall be very glad to sign the necessary official recommendation to the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate. The signature of two fellows is required.

(3.) With regard to itineration, I think that a district of manageable dimensions should be occupied by the itinerating party, and the same villages visited over and over again at seasonable intervals. And I decidedly incline to the view advocated at our Conference by some of my Missionary brethren, that a European Missionary should actually reside in such a district, so as to be the friend and adviser of the heathen, to exhibit to them, in his family and himself, the beauty of the Christian life, and to be a visible centre of all that is good. It would doubtless be very desirable that the place selected for his residence should be within easy reach of Umritsur, so that he may be helped in times of sickness or other difficulty, and that he may be occasionally assisted and strengthened by intercourse with his brethren of the clergy and other friends in the station. Of course, in thus recording what I said on these subjects, I wish it only to be taken for what it is worth, as a statement of my private opinion, the results of some experience and observation, but open to correction from the greater experience and wider observation of those constantly engaged in Missionary work.

ration.

The confirmation on Sunday, April 9th (the Sunday next before Easter), was very interesting. Forty-three were confirmed. The Rev. Robert Clark read prayers and David Singh the preface to the confirmation service. I greatly rejoice in the erection of the church, and I would suggest to the Missionaries that the vestry is unusually large and in an unusual place. If, as appeared on the occasion of this service, they want room in the church, would it not be well to extend it to the east of the present building (knocking down the partition wall between the church and vestry), and to build a new vestry, of moderate size, at the side of the church?

Independent testimony.

I have felt much encouragement from this visit to Umritsur, and I earnestly commend the work which is going on here to God's blessing in Jesus Christ our Lord.

The Native Church.

The native church is gradually increasing at Umritsur. It numbers 170. Fourteen adults have been baptized during the year 1865. The communicants are 57. The contributions of natives to various religious and benevolent objects amounted to 42%. "The large native church is filled twice every Sunday, not only with Christians, but it is usually crowded with other natives as well, some of whom are attracted by curiosity, and others, it is believed, take an intelligent part in the service."

Education.

The Anglo-vernacular school under the able management of Mr. Wathen and two Christian native masters has prospered. The number of scholars is 178. It is affiliated with the Calcutta University, and three students successfully passed the entrance Examinations at Christmas 1865. There are four female schools, with 150 girls receiving daily instruction from Christian teachers. There are orphanages for boys and for girls.

Out-station of Narrowal.

Mr. Brown has forwarded graphic accounts of his Missionary tours which have appeared in the periodicals of the Society. At the out station at Narrowal the headman Paulus conducts the services on Sundays, and expounds the Scriptures in his own house to all who like to attend. His two sons are Scripture-readers, and a Christian colporteur, paid by the Bible Society, is occupied in selling books throughout the itinerating district. Two Anglo-vernacular schools are supported, containing 200 scholars.

KANGRA.

The Rev. J. N. Merk has continued to occupy Kangra: he reports:—

Two Hindustani Lord's-day services in the church and one week-day service have been carried on as in former years.

Although we have for another year been called upon to work in faith without seeing any numerical success of our labours, still we have not been without encouragement. I have not been permitted to baptize one single adult during the past year, but I have heard of several men who were baptized in other stations having first been directed to the Saviour at Kangra. One case I may refer to is that of a Syud whom we met one evening in the bazaar at Kangra, sitting near a shop where I and my catechist stopped to preach. I entered into conversation with him. He was then a haughty, conceited, and rather insolent Sufi, and was, in his conversation and manners, disrespectful. It seems that afterwards he was ashamed of his behaviour; and when, a year after, he came to this place again, he called on me, and seemed a greatly changed man. I gave him a Bible and some of Dr. Pfander's controversial works. A short time since I learned that this man and his numerous family have been baptized by a Missionary in the neighbourhood of his house. This is a case which shows particularly the importance of bazaar-preaching. I remember distinctly the painful feelings with which I left this conceited, insolent Sufi, of whom I could not entertain any hope; and now he is said to be a truly converted, spiritually-minded disciple of Christ, engaged in making Him known whom he despised only a few years ago.

We have 250 children under instruction, of whom 40 are girls.

During the course of the past year I have travelled over the greater part of the district, preaching in its principal places and many scattered bazaars. Several inquirers last year presented themselves for instruction. I had reason to doubt their sincerity, and put it to the test by making their stay in the compound and their instruction dependent on their earning their livelihood by some work suited to each man's capacity. This arrangement they found distasteful, and left again.

MULTAN.

In Multan it is still a day of small things. Several Missionaries have been appointed to the station who have afterwards been compelled to remove, so that the Rev. G. Yeates has been for the greater part of the time the solitary Missionary, without European or native companions.

DERAJAT.

The Rev. R. Bruce and the Rev. H. S. Patterson have laboured in this district during the last year; Mr. Bruce having charge of the station of Dera Ishmael Khan, and Mr. Patterson of that of Bunnoo.

A report has been printed, reviewing the three first years of the Mission, in which a retrospect is taken of its commencement by the Rev. T. V. French. The principle upon which it was established is thus explained:—

The preaching of the unsearchable riches of Christ in any

 tongue was Mr. French's highest enjoyment; yet he fully realized that the heathen, and still more the Mohammedans, must first be won by love and acts of kindness to give a patient hearing to the Gospel. Accordingly, he assiduously applied all the advantages with which a long experience of native habits, a very extensive knowledge of Eastern languages and literature, and of the history of Missions in all ages of the church, as well as a most highly-cultivated mind endowed him, to win natives of all ranks to his own person, and, through himself, to Jesus.

A school, poor-house, and distribution of medicines in itinerating tours, were among the first means adopted; and the greatest affability was shown in receiving and visiting natives.

Such plans are peculiarly needed for a population like that of the Derajât. The Afghans will not flock with the same idle curiosity as the people of Hindustan around the Missionary who visits their villages: they are too independent and self-opinionated to do so. But what is worse than that, they, being bigoted Mohammedans, know that he has come to preach Jesus the Son of God, and they abhor his message. Yet the God of Missions, who needeth not the help of any man, removed one whom his grace had so singularly fitted for the work. No doubt He has a higher work ready for him, namely, to diffuse his Master's spirit through the church at home, the head and fountain of all Mission work.

The hopes of the Mission have been chiefly directed to the Povindah tribes, who come down to the neighbourhood of Dera Ishmael Khan from Khorasan, to the number of 40,000, for the six cooler months of the year. "The influence of these tribes extends through all central Asia; and the hope that, through them, the Gospel might, in God's appointed time, be carried into the regions beyond, influenced to a great extent the founders of the Derajât Mission." But the utmost bigotry and hatred for Christianity has been found among the richer tribes of the Povindahs. When Mr. Bruce entered their encampments as a visitor, and made an attempt to introduce the subject of religion, he was turned out with contempt. Turning from the richer merchants to the poorer shepherds—from the princely Meankhails to the despised Nasars—the contrast was great. The Nasars are the poorest, the most numerous and warlike tribe of the Povindahs: they number about 12,000. In this tribe Mr. Bruce has been received with hospitality, and his message has been listened to with respect.

ing converts.

A few days ago we had the joy of admitting three converts into the church of Christ by baptism. One was a Mohammedan, Sumadu, who came from Cashmere; another was a Hindu woman; and the third, who is by far the greatest acquisition to the Christian church, was a young man of great promise, named Nawab Jan. He is a Mogul, and a young man of good family. Up to the time of his being convinced of the errors of Mohammedanism, he continued to be a most devout follower of the false prophet, observing the five hours at which prayers are appointed to be daily performed. For some time he had been employed as my tutor in Urdu and Persian, and had thus come in contact with Christian literature.

The total number of native Christians in the Mission is 20, 13 being adults. In our schools there are now altogether 810 pupils, whilst at the beginning of the year there were only 110. Our book colporteur is successfully disseminating a Christian literature. During the past month he has sold 150 books. Thus it is hoped that, by the various agencies at work—the preaching to the heathen, the schools, and the bringing into the homes of the native population a vernacular Christian literature—a leaven of Christianity is quietly fermenting this district, in which it is the honour of Col. Reynel Taylor and of Sir H. Edwards to have been the first to help forward the planting of the standard of the cross.

At the close of 1864 the British residents at Bunnoo generously subscribed half the cost of a bungalow, in order that they might secure the residence of a Missionary for at least a part of each year.

Mr. Patterson, upon his arrival in February 1865, took up his residence there. "The place is called the garden of the Derajât. It is well watered everywhere by the rich streams of the Koorum, rejoicing in ever-waving crops, in lofty trees, the denseness of its population, and the glory of the surrounding hills. It has a population of 87,000, within a radius of ten miles." The town of Bunnoo is, however, small, not containing above 3000 inhabitants, with a cantonment and church. A great market is held every Friday, to which crowds of the hill people resort, which affords the best opportunity of preaching in Pushtoo to be found in the Derajât. The inhabitants are, however, of the worst moral character in the whole Punjab. An English school was opened at Bunnoo by Mr. Patterson with great success, which soon numbered 100 scholars. "Besides the school," Mr. Patterson writes, "my time has been occupied in the reception of native visitors and inquirers, in dispensing medicine to the sick, and visiting the villages, preaching, and attention to the book-shop. I have often ten men at a time, for half the day, in religious conversation."

PESHAWUR.

Peshawur has suffered during the last year, as in the previous, severe losses through the death of Missionaries, or the failure of their health. In the early part of the year four European Missionaries were residing at the station—Messrs. Wade, Hughes, Stevenson, and Handcock. Mr. Handcock's health failed in February, and he removed first to Cashmere, and ultimately to Dera Ishmael Khan. At the close of the year Mr. Stevenson was removed by death. Both Mr. Wade and Mr. Hughes were laid aside for several months by illness. Yet this border station requires, more than any other, men of experience, and the acquisition of at least three languages. To us the providence of God seems dark, but yet the faith and patience of the Missionaries have been graciously sustained, and they and the Committee have the confident hope that the Lord will overrule even such Missionary trials to the furtherance of the Gospel.

Visit of the Bishop of Calcutta.

In October the Bishop of Calcutta visited Peshawur, and greatly encouraged the Missionaries by his counsel and deep interest in Missions. In the church book of the station the bishop made the following remarks upon the Mission work:—

Independent testimony.

Oct. 30—Examined the city school: Mr. Beckett, Inspector of schools for the circuit, Mr. Millett, the master of the Government school, and Mr. Hardy, took part in the examination, which was attended by several Katzis and other men of consequence from the city. The school has nearly doubled in number since I saw it in 1860, and has made a considerable advance in some branches of learning, especially mathematics. I spoke a few words to the collected scholars, which Mr. Scarlett, the city magistrate, translated into Urdu. On Tuesday, October 31st, I held a native confirmation in St. John's. Eleven native Christians were confirmed. Mr. Stevenson read the Litany, and Mr. Hughes the preface. The service was in Urdu, and a hymn was sung. The service was attended by other native Christians and a few Europeans. I was very glad to see that so many of the residents in the station seem to take a lively interest in the Mission, and are doubtless ready to help the clergy in all good works.

Mr. Handcock writes in his annual letter:—

Shortly after my return from the Missionary tour the religious fanaticism of the Affghan character showed itself in the murder of the gallant English officer, Major Adams. This dark and unprovoked deed of blood took place as Major Adams was leaving one of the city gates on horseback to go to his residence. The Mohammedan who was guilty of this foul act was immediately shot down by the police, but he died rejoicing that he had fulfilled the order of the Korán by slaying an "infidel," and some of his last words were, "I am happy; I am going to heaven." At the same time Mr. Wade and I were the only Europeans living in the city inhabited by these fanatical Afghans. But God wonderfully preserved us, though so great was the fear of some of the natives respecting our lives, that they repeatedly warned us to be on our guard. My own tutor, who was an Afghan, fearing that something might happen, refused even to accompany me when walking through the city. Since then, Mr. Wade has had a providential escape from the knife of one of these Mohammedan fanatics, who was lying in wait for him.

Providential protection of Missionaries.

The Rev T. P. Hughes, in his annual letter at the end of the year, writes:—

We have been troubled on every side, but, thank God, we are not in despair, for there has been a silver lining to the dark cloud. During the past year there have been eight baptisms of converts from the Mohammedan faith, and the attendance at our various schools has increased from 325 to 650.

Mrs. Hughes and I have visited several of the leading families in the city, and in every case we have been well received. We have a girls' school in the centre of the city, in which there are thirty Mohammedan girls. As no gentleman is allowed to enter the school, I have, of course, never seen it; but Mrs. Hughes says the girls are very attentive, and willing to learn. They daily read the Scriptures, and most of them can repeat the Lord's Prayer, and, in addition to reading and writing, they are taught sewing and knitting.

The other day the wife of a rich banker in the city sent to the school to ask Mrs. Hughes to visit her regularly; and on the same day three other women, of a very respectable class, came veiled to the school, in order to induce the "Mem Sahib" to visit their homes. This incident, of itself, is not much; but the fact of native ladies voluntarily seeking a visit from a Christian Missionary's wife, in a bigoted Mohammedan city like Peshawur, is exceedingly encouraging, and leads one to believe that the strong feelings of bigotry and suspicion, so peculiar to the people on this side the Indus, is becoming gradually softened by the leaven of Christian influence which must have been exercised by the residence of Missionaries, and the scriptural and liberal education imparted in our schools.

One year's experience, however, has showed me how much real happiness there is, even in the trials and disappointments, as well as in the joys and successes of Mission work. The simple fact that one is obeying a direct command of our Lord's has its reward.

CASHMERE.

The Rev. W. Handcock and Dr. Elmslie reached the valley of Cashmere in April 1865, and left it in September, in consequence of the strict orders of the Maharajah that no Europeans shall remain in the valley during the winter.

Hostility
of a native Government to Missions.

Mr. Handcock had no sooner arrived at Sirinagur than four Government officers were set over him as spies, to report all visitors, and to warn all traders against supplying provisions. When he attempted to preach in public he was silenced by the Maharajah. After enduring this persecution for a fortnight, he went up the valley, where he had opportunities daily of preaching to the people. At Islamabad three young men became inquirers, and joined the Missionary. But upon the return of the Missionary party to Sirinagur two of the young men were arrested, though released after a few days' imprisonment. Others who applied for instruction were intimidated by the threats of the officials.

The Committee cannot but express their surprise and regret that the religious toleration which has been exacted from Turkey by the diplomacy of the British Government, and the liberty which has been conceded to Christian Missionaries to pursue their work in a quiet manner, should be thus denied in Cashmere by a petty Indian prince, tributary to the British Government. It is to be hoped that such an anomaly will not be allowed to continue after being fairly brought to light. One case of severe persecution in Mr. Handcock's former visit to Cashmere in 1864 the Committee thought it right to represent to the Indian authorities. They have the satisfaction of reporting that Mr. Handcock met with the same persecuted convert at Islamabad, who determined to attach himself to the Missionary at all risks, and was allowed to accompany Mr. Handcock on his return to the Punjab. He went with the Missionary to Dera Ishmael Khan, where he was baptized, and appears to be a very sincere and useful Christian.

Testimony of the Bishop of Calcutta.

The Bishop of Calcutta visited Cashmere in May 1865, and recorded in the visitors' book the following remarks upon the Mission:—

Advantage
of Medical Mission.

During my present stay in Cashmere I have twice been present at Dr. Elmslie's reception of patients, and bear willing testimony to the great interest and practical usefulness, as well as to the wise and Christian character of his proceedings. He presents Christianity to the people in its most obviously beneficial aspect; and for this union of care for men's souls with the healing of their bodies the Gospel narrative furnishes us with the very highest justification and precedent. It is but little that we can at present do to make known to the people of this country the blessings of Christ's salvation; but I quite believe that Dr. Elmslie is knocking at the one door which may, through God's help, be opened for the truth to enter in. I heard two Hindustani sermons from his catechist, addressed to the sufferers from various maladies, who were gathered in the verandah, one on the Lord's Prayer, and the other on the parable of the sower. Both were excellent, simple, unpretending, suited to the hearers; placing before them plain Christian truth, and without any offensive remarks on their own religion, or the very slightest political allusion. The fact that there are not (and, under present circumstances, apparently cannot be) any properly-educated doctors in Cashmere, makes Dr. Elmslie's presence here an act of Christian benevolence, quite apart from its Missionary character, and I cannot but hope that this, joined to the quiet efforts of the chaplain to keep alive in English travellers a feeling of Christian faith and responsibility, will at least remove from the minds of the people any prejudice against the Gospel which may, I fear, have been excited by the too frequent misconduct of Englishmen visiting the valley. On all accounts I heartily commend Dr. Elmslie's efforts to the sympathy of all thoughtful persons, and I feel sure that he will be guided by prudence as well as zeal, and will not forget what is due to the wishes of the Government of the country, while, at the same time, he must, of course, maintain the directly Christian character of this work.

MADRAS AND SOUTH-INDIA MISSION.(European Missionaries first arrived in 1814)

Rev. John Bilderbeck (m), East Indian, in England.

Rev. John Gritton (m), 1856.

Rev. David Fenn, M.A. 1852.

Rev. Reginald Chambers Macdonald B.A. 1859.

Rev. Edward Sell, 1865.

THE South-India Mission has, during the last year, suffered a grievous reduction in the strength of the European agency. Three Missionaries have been removed by death; a female teacher has, by marriage, become disconnected with the Society; an educational Missionary has completed his ten years' engagement; four experienced Missionaries have been compelled to return to Europe for the recovery of health. To supply the loss of these, nine valuable agents, all experienced in the work, and familiar with the vernacular, the Society has only been able to send out one Missionary, who has yet the language to learn. Native agency in some instances supplies the lack of European agency; but the present deficiency is beyond compensation from that source; and the Committee can only spread their case before the Lord, whose work is at issue, and whose prerogative it is to send forth labourers into His vineyard.

Statistics.

The statistical returns for the South-India Missions exhibit this year encouraging results. The total number of baptized and unbaptized has very considerably increased. The number on December 31, 1864, was 44,042, in December 1865 the number had risen to 47,247, showing an increase of 3205. The increase had arisen chiefly in Tinnevely. The accession must not, however, be regarded as that of 3000 adults, as a proportion consists of the children of converts.

The number of schools and of children under education is less satisfactory. An increase has taken place upon the whole, but it has been owing to a large increase in the more elementary schools, in which boys and girls are taught together: in more advanced schools there is a falling off.

Returns have been made for the last two years of the number of native Christians “able to read.” This return shows a very decided advance for the last year. In Tinnevely the number of readers has risen from 6556 to 7944.

The returns of the sums raised by native Christians in South India for religious and benevolent purposes also show a very gratifying increase. In 1864 they amounted to 1779% : in 1865 to 2010%. This, according to the judgment of persons acquainted with the circumstances of the case, is a proof of a very liberal spirit in the native church.

MADRAS.

Division of Labour.

The division of labour in Madras has been three-fold. First, the Northern Division, under the Rev. J. Bilderbeck, with the assistance of a native clergyman. Upon Mr. Bilderbeck's departure for Europe the Rev. J. Gritton took his office. Secondly, the Southern Division, under the Rev. W. Gray and Rev. H. Dixon. Mr. Dixon removing to the Training Institution at Palamcotta, the Rev. Reginald Macdonald, of the North Tinnevely Itinerating Mission, during the suspension of the Itinerating Mission, took charge of this division of Madras, with the assistance of Mr. Gray and the native minister, the Rev. W. T. Sathianadhan. The Society has, during the last year, purchased Missionary premises at Chindadrappettah, where they have accommodation for a girls' boarding-school and chapel, and for the head-quarters of Missionary operations. The third division is the Hindustani Mission, of which the Harris School is the centre. This was under the Rev. H. Bartlett and Mr. Walker, till Mr. Bartlett was obliged to return home in feeble health, and has since died. Mr. Walker is also about to relinquish the school. The Committee have only been able to meet this exigency by sending out the Rev. E. Sell.

Reports of the Missionaries.

The Rev. J. Gritton reports a considerable diminution in the number of converts, owing to greater strictness in the exercise of discipline, and the exclusion from the register of those who do not attend the services of the Mission, whether through sinful neglect, or from having joined other denominations. He notices, however, two points of encouragement: there were twenty inquirers under regular instruction, six of whom were caste young men. The native Christians contribute to support a native catechist and schoolmaster, who carry on a Mission in a few villages near Madras, where an infant congregation has been collected, which is occasionally visited by the Missionary. The cost to the native Tamil Church is about 24*l*. per annum.

The Rev. R. Macdonald reports of the Southern Division of the Mission, that he found the need of sifting the names on the list, and of striking off many who were living in the total neglect of divine ordinances. The schools were also found to be in an unsatisfactory state; and he has exerted himself, with great success, to introduce order and an improvement among the teachers.

The experience of Messrs. Gritton and Macdonald show the advantage of an occasional change of the Missionary of a district, as a new comer can often discover faults and deficiencies which have grown up unobserved under a Missionary of long standing.

Mr. Macdonald finds much difference between itinerating in the rural district of North Tinnevely and in the city of Madras. He states:—

opponents. Here in Madras our opponents have met us, Bible in hand, with written objections. I call them opponents, because their object is evidently not arguing, but to stop the preaching. To carry on street-preaching in Madras we need catechists well trained in dialectics; men of good powers of mind as well as of speech; men who can argue calmly, and are not easily provoked; men who have in them the mind of the Lord Jesus Christ, who can be reviled, and not revile again.

II. Tinnevely.

The Mission is divided into 15 districts, viz. 1, 2. Palameotta and Alvarneri; 3, 4, 5, 6. Mengnanapuram, Asirvadapuram, Satthankullam, Pragasapuram; 7. Kadachapuram; 8. Suviseshapuram; 9. Dohnavur; 10. Panneivilei; 11. Pannikulam; 12. Nallur; 13. Surandei; 14. North Tinnevely Itinerancy; 15. Sivagasi.

General remarks.

In giving an annual report of the Tinnevelly and Travancore Missions it is not necessary to follow the plan pursued in other Missions, where each station is referred to, and the work of each Missionary is mentioned: such particular notices are called for in the early stages of a Mission, to assure friends at home that labour is bestowed upon a district, and to exhibit the spirit of the men who labour, even though little or no fruit can be shown, and to enlist the sympathy and prayers of the church at home on their behalf. But where, as in Tinnevelly, a few Missionaries are working a Mission comprising 30,000 converts, and are superintending a large native agency, the same particularity of details of labour is neither practicable, nor is it called for. The proof is sufficiently patent that the Missionaries in such a field of labour have, through God's grace, accomplished a great work, and that every faculty of mind and body must be fully taxed to sustain it. All, therefore, that is necessary in the reports of such Missions is to give general statements which may present a faithful representation of the nature and reality of the work, and of the prospects of its permanency and extension. Such statements the Committee trust that they are now able to lay before their friends and supporters.

The Bishop of Madras, after a visitation of Tinnevelly and Travancore, wrote in the following terms to the Secretary:—

I have now nearly gone over all the Tinnevelly Mission stations, and can assure all those who are interested in South India that there are many tokens of God's blessing on our Christian work, and that the true church of Christ is growing larger and stronger, and the dominion of Satan and prejudices of heathenism growing weaker. At each station I have asked the assembled catechists what was the present state of things in their districts. They have told me of relapses in one or two cases on a large scale, but in all stations they have testified that the members of the church have, on the whole, improved in their attendance on the means of grace and other fruits of piety, and especially in liberality, and that the heathen around are better acquainted with the religion of Christ, and, instead of opposing, insulting, and persecuting, now listen to the message delivered by the catechist, and acknowledge that it is good. In some of the stations, also, there have been considerable accessions from the heathen.

Independent testimony to progress of Missions.

The multitude of catechists in Tinnevelly, and comparative paucity of clergymen, strikes me now as a great anomaly; and I am disposed to think that a much larger number ought to be ordained. There are many pious and tried men among them, who, by God's grace, would be faithful pastors, and hold on to the end, though the neighbourhood of an European might be requisite to assist them in difficulties, and urge them on when growing lax.

Another testimony to the reality of the work in Tinnevely has been given by an old Missionary from North India, the Rev. J. B. Leupolt, who visited the Missions in South India, for the first time, last year, and who writes:—

benefit of
tianity.

In reviewing this journey, and considering all we have seen, I can cheerfully and conscientiously reply to the question, "Has any thing been done by the Missionaries in India, and is there any thing doing?" by answering "YES. A great work has been done and is doing. The number of Christians connected with the Missions which we visited exceeds 120,000. Christianity has elevated them above their fellow-countrymen of the same class of people: they are more intelligent, and better off in their worldly circumstances. The greatest contrast, however, is found among the female population. The Christian women, owing partly to the numerous boarding-schools of the south, are far above their countrywomen in every respect, and have obtained the position woman should hold. It does one's heart good to see the effects which Christianity has produced in them."

Reports of the Missionaries.

The following general and interesting remarks are taken from the annual letter of the senior Missionary, the Rev. J. Thomas, who has laboured for thirty years in Tinnevely:—

gress.

The affairs of the several districts under my care have nothing of an unusual character to report upon. There has been progress in every department, but it is analogous to the natural growth of things, gradual and healthful. The number of people in connexion with the Christian church amounts to 10,827, which shows an increase of nearly 100 upon the total of last year. There have not been large accessions from heathenism, as in former times when thousands were added to the number of those under Christian instruction.

It is a very obvious fact that all our congregations are becoming more and more settled, resembling Christian congregations at home; and it is impossible not to feel that the time has arrived for organizing the native church upon a self-supporting and self-governing basis. It would be impossible to manage these three combined districts, which were formerly superintended by three and four European Missionaries, if the help of native clergymen was not available. Two excellent men are associated with me as assistants, and very much of the work which I did personally in years past, is now performed by them. They meet the catechists weekly for consultation, instruction, and prayer, and they examine their journals and the skeletons of sermons prepared by them. They instruct candidates for baptism and the Lord's Supper, and administer the sacraments at discretion among the outlying congregations. The whole of the pastoral work, also, such as visiting the sick and people generally from house to house, devolves upon them and the catechists. I feel the most perfect confidence in them, and they perform their duties with a cheerfulness and alacrity which give me the greatest satisfaction. These, however, do not belong to the class of native pastors whom we hope to see ordained and placed in charge of individual congregations, but are assistant Missionaries, acting in the capacity of curates to the Missionaries, and are the paid agents, not of the native church, but of the Home Society. Their employment effects an immense saving to the funds of the Society, as the services of several European Missionaries are thus dispensed with.

ministers.

Under the designation of catechists are included all spiritual agents who are unordained, as distinguished from schoolmasters. They are persons respecting whom we entertain the confidence that they have experienced the saving benefits of the Gospel, a qualification indispensable in those who preach and teach that Gospel to others. It is from among these that we have every reasonable hope of seeing a goodly number in due time ordained to the ministry. But as our plans are not as yet matured with regard to native pastors, I have not felt it my duty to propose more than one candidate for the coming ordination, though there are many others who might be brought forward, and will, I trust, be ordained in due time. They have conducted themselves, on the whole, satisfactorily.

The Rev. W. P. Schaffter, in his annual letter, thus reports the state of his district, Suviseshapuram:—

During this half-year we lost a worthy catechist, of whom I wrote in my last report as being dangerously ill of consumption. The good old man was unable to do any thing for the last twelve months of his career: bodily weakness prevented him from moving about much. It was indeed delightful to see the sympathy shown by the Christians towards him. Daily his house was crowded by people from various congregations, over which, in former years, he had supervision, who came to inquire after him. All of them returned home bearing testimony that old Gnanamuttoo, catechist, was fast ripening for heaven. I saw him about a week before his death: he was calm and happy in mind: he spoke of his approaching dissolution as of a joyful event.

of a faith-

I am happy to say that I am able to bear the same testimony to the catechists' and schoolmasters' faithfulness and zeal in the work as I did in my last report. They have done well during this half year. Many of them have used their own judgment in taking measures for the welfare of their flocks. It is very hard for the Missionary to have to think for his catechists, and suggest every thing to them regarding the course they had better pursue, and that which they ought to have left undone. I have therefore loosened the reins, so that they feel their heads free; and whenever they came to any critical and important point in the course of their duty, I left it to their own judgment to decide for the best, keeping only an eye on them to prevent any mistake. I have found that, with greater responsibilities and more freedom, greater energy and display of sound judgment was shown. The evangelistic portion of the catechists' work was carried on with greater zeal than ever during this half year.

Congregations.—The statistical account for the last six months will prove that some onward progress has been made. The number of baptized has increased by 176 souls, as well as that of the communicants by 74 souls, and the total of people under instruction is 4798—104 souls more than at the end of the last half year. As regards the spiritual state of the congregations I can speak with some degree of assurance. Their attendance on the means of grace is very regular. Every month the Lord's Supper has been administered to 400 souls. The number of candidates for baptism increases daily. The liberality of the Christians is very great, as will be seen by the returns of their subscriptions for the year ending December 31, 1865. Taking all these things into consideration, I take courage and rejoice, for I feel that the Lord is blessing our labours.

The largest accessions of converts during the past year have been in the Surandei district, under the charge of the Rev. Nigil Honiss, who writes:—

The encouraging features in this district that I would mention are briefly these. Our members have increased in the past year from 1644 to 2376: our communicants are 379. To provide room for these new comers four new churches have been erected, chiefly at the expense of the converts. I am aware that numbers alone can never adequately represent the progress of a Mission, and I fear that, could we see below the surface, there would appear much to chasten our joy at so large an increase. Yet members are not added to our list indiscriminately, else we might include some hundred more. They are required, in every case where they have a heathen temple, to hand over the same to me with its contents, and to bear the greater part of the expense in building a suitable place for Christian worship. When this is done, and they show a disposition to learn, without having any apparent motive, such as a lawsuit in hand, we unhesitatingly enrol them among our members.

It is noticeable that, as in this district, where there has been the largest accession of converts, there also appears to have been most of persecution.

Some of the older Christians have been lately much troubled by Zemindars residing in the neighbourhood. For the first year I was decidedly adverse to having any thing to do with the worldly affairs of our people. In a report lately published by a veteran Missionary, it is stated that, for seventeen years, he had not himself, nor allowed any of his people, to resort to law, and that he became a man of war in advanced life. I am sorry to have to confess that "I have been a man of war from my youth," not a volunteer, but a pressed man. We endeavour to teach our people that sufferance must be the badge of all our tribe, and in minor matters many of them have learned to take it patiently, and to suffer as Christians. But when they are violently robbed of their hard-earned crops, and see them taken away in the open day, when it is deliberately stated that the Christians are to be hunted down, it seems right and scriptural to appeal to Cæsar. In one such instance our people have lately obtained redress.

Persecu-
verts.

From what has been said above, it will appear that the temple work is going forward, though in troublous times; and while this is true, we may hope, of the spiritual temple, it is unmistakeably so of literal churches. We have now six in progress—four in four new villages, and two good burnt-brick Gothic buildings amongst old-established Christians, in addition to which one church has been completed during the past six months.

The late North-Tinnevelly Itinerating District.

The North-Tinnevelly Itinerating District, which was first mapped out and traversed by Messrs. Ragland and Fenn, has been gradually passing into the system of the other Missionary districts of South Tinnevelly. The first step was the placing of a "station" Missionary at Sivagasi, to take pastoral charge of the pastorate congregations which might be formed. Afterwards, two native ministers were associated with the station Mission, and the district was divided into three parts for their separate superintendence. A staff of catechists is attached to each district. As this organization of the district has proceeded, the itinerant Missionaries have partially withdrawn, and transferred their itinerancy to districts in the south. Last year the Rev. David Fenn visited England, and Mr. Macdonald suspended his itinerant labours, and removed to Madras. The future course of the itinerant Missionaries has been the subject of careful deliberation of the Parent Committee, in conference with Mr. D. Fenn. It has been ultimately determined, that upon Mr. Fenn's arrival in India his itinerant labours, in association with Mr. Macdonald, or some other brother, shall be transferred to the villages in the neighbourhood of Madras. The native church in Madras is, it is devoutly hoped, now strong enough to prove a basis for an itinerant Mission, by supplying catechists and readers.

The North-Tinnevelly Itinerating District now, therefore, bears the name of the Sivagasi district, comprising about 1400 square miles and 1400 villages and towns. The population is 270,000.

The Rev. R. Meadows, who has a general superintendence over the whole of the Sivagasi district, thus describes its state, June 30, 1865:—

Of the congregations in this portion of the district I must say with sorrow, that, generally speaking, they are in a very cold state. Of new congregations I wish to say nothing: it is not reasonable to expect to see a high degree of Christian consistency or of heavenly-mindedness in them. But with reference to the older congregations, I have very little of an encouraging character to relate. That of Tamma Naikkanpatti is as vigorous and as orderly as one would generally find, and several people in it are doubtless children of God. Doubtless, too, in almost every other congregation there is a chosen few, and in Rajapaliam, which received such revival blessings, the number of such is larger than in other congregations. Yet almost every congregation causes me sadness when I contemplate it as a whole. It seems that my work will have to be to urge the catechists more than ever to seek the conversion of their people, and myself to believe more in the power of God to raise the spiritually dead.

In reference to the catechists and readers, excepting two or three, who are wanting in activity, in openness, or whose piety is doubtful, I can report with much thankfulness of the rest. One, who knows English, is working very hard among heathen and Christians, and, like his less favoured brethren, is walking humbly and consistently. One is a very earnest preacher, and seems to me, more than is usual in catechists, to yearn after the souls of his people. The catechists have all a large number of heathen villages assigned to them, which they visit more or less every half-year. The number of villages assigned to them varies from 30 to 120. The villages around the bungalow are the special charge of myself and the agents living near our house. I have not visited them as regularly as the catechists have theirs, partly, though not wholly, through my having to visit the district, and being so frequently from home. There are some large tracts of country which neither myself nor the catechists can possibly reach, which makes me lament, with sincere regret, the removal of the itinerancy from Tinnevelly.

Peaceful Death of an aged Native Catechist.

The Rev. J. D. Thomas, in his journal, describes the sudden death of a faithful native catechist, who was seized with cholera while assisting him in the morning service, and died before night:—

When, at 7 P.M., I left the house, there was a considerable change for the better, and every hope of his recovery. Before I went away we had prayers together, and I spoke to Thevasagayam about his feelings, and tried to ascertain the state of his mind. He seemed to have "perfect peace," and was trusting in his Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ. "I am now called," said he, "to make use of those weapons, which I have been learning and teaching others to use for the last twenty-five years. I know there is a crown of glory laid up for me by the Lord the righteous Judge. I am going to receive it now: I have finished my course; I have fought the fight; Jesus has washed away my sin." It was very encouraging to hear this faithful servant of God thus express his confidence in Christ. May we all have the same like faith! Here is an answer to those who scorn and sneer at Missions. Here is an instance of the power of the Gospel unto salvation to them that believe, whether Jew or Gentile, bond or free, Englishman or Hindu, and doubtless there are thousands more, whom we know not, but who, nevertheless, shall be found among the Lord's people, in that day when He shall appear with ten thousands of his saints.

peace in death.

Fidelity of Missionary Reports.

The Missionaries, it will be seen in the foregoing reports, do not omit to mention the discouragements they receive, and the cases in which converts backslide or inquirers apostatize. The spirit by which they are animated is well expressed by the Rev. Ashton Dibb, who closes one of his journals with this remark:—

I fear the above extracts will not satisfy those who are more anxious to hear good news than to ascertain real facts, but I dare not do otherwise than state things honestly. The work, I believe, goes on and prospers. The ordinary work that goes on well, and does not come into a journal because it is so "ordinary," is considerable; and we have need to guard against two extremes in writing our report and journals. We must not speak wickedly for God, or talk deceitfully for Him (Job xiii.), by representing His work as more flourishing, or His blessing larger, than it is; and, on the other hand, we must not "offend against the generation of God's children" by depreciating the work of grace in them, or by being extreme to mark what is amiss in them. Each error receives to itself that "recompence" which, however grievous, is nevertheless "meet," and therefore I can only say that I labour and strive to avoid them both.

Fidelity of Missionary reports.

Mr. Dibb, in another communication, guards the friends of Missions against entertaining too sanguine views of the readiness of the heathen to receive the message of Missionaries:—

Moderate
expectations of
the Gospel.

I confess that the state of the heathen, their fearful ignorance, and their neglect of truth—admitted, allowed truth—is cause to me of “great heaviness and continual sorrow of heart.” I abhor that rhetoric of others, and I abhor still more deeply that Scripture neglect of my own, which once induced me to believe that the heathen were “crying for help,” and were only waiting for the preacher and his message, in order to believe them. Experience has quite disabused me of this idea. I find that good Dr. Watts was wrong when he wrote—

“How glad the heathen would have been,
That worshipped idols, wood and stone,
If they the Book of God had seen,
Or Jesus and his Gospel known!”

Cowper was far more correct when he wrote—

“The truth we love, a sightless world blaspheme,
’Tis childish dotage, a delirious dream.
The danger they discern not, they deny,
Laugh at their only remedy—and die.”

But then (sainted minstrel!) he showed well how such a case should be dealt with. All that can be done, is

“To speak of HIM our Author, Guardian, Friend, Whose love knew no beginning, knows no end,
In language warm as all that love inspires;”

and when we see a world of sinners around us, to “Fly to save some, and feel a pang for all.” Here one feels that Cowper hit the mark exactly. The Christian who realizes the miserable condition of the world around him, feels, and must “feel, a pang for all,” and labours seldom with greater hope than this—“that by all means,” he may “save some.”

In the same cautious terms the Rev. R. Sargent writes:—

but not destroyed.

Through another year, at this solemn time of the world’s history, we have been brought on our way, with mercies attending us at every step, for which our warmest acknowledgments are due. God has given us to rejoice not only in continued health and strength, but has also cheered us with manifold blessings in our work, and with evident tokens of his presence among us. Not but that we have had our times of anxiety also, as now and then some promising inquirer presents himself, and, after a while, withdraws, unable to stem the current of worldly influence that is brought to bear upon him. Has the Gospel lost its power, we are sometimes tempted to ask on such occasions, forgetful that God acts in sovereign grace, and that his people are made willing in the day of his power. But in God’s sanctuary here such doubts are put to silence. Here the sight, Sunday after Sunday, of the multitude of devout and intelligent worshippers from all classes of the Hindu community around us, many of whom had to contend with the strongest prejudices, the bitterest opposition, and the severest family separations, at once testifies that the Gospel is now, as in earliest times, the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. The stream of good news for lost sinners, which pours forth from the Gospel fountain, has crossed the path of many a Hindu in these parts. Some have turned from it with disdain, more with indifference. Some have felt their deep need, trusting its efficacy, and have partaken of the blessedness which it imparts; while some are still looking on, undetermined, with more or less apparent desire after it, but with a stronger chord within still binding them to the world.

Self-support in the Native Church.

The attention of all the Missionaries is earnestly directed to the problem of transferring the churches, which have been gathered out of the heathen by Missionary labour, and which are still dependent upon the Mission, to a system of self-support and independence. The foundation of the system must be laid in the willingness of the people to recognise the duty of supporting their teachers, and to contribute liberally to this object. The following extracts will show that much advance has already been made in this direction, while yet the great principle is kept in view, which should be written in letters of gold—"IT IS THE INNER LIFE OF GOD IN THE SOUL THAT MUST LIE AT THE FOUNDATION OF ALL OUR HOPES AND EXPECTATIONS OF A SELF-SUPPORTING CHURCH IN INDIA."

Mr. Sargent thus writes in his annual report for 1865:—

The efforts which our people are making towards the support of their own teachers continue to be carried on successfully and cheerfully. One great secret in the success we meet with is, that every man does something. The various plans adopted to collect their contributions are the following:—1st, We have twelve collectors, all natives, who are supplied with collecting cards, and who bring their collections to me quartely or monthly. 2ndly, We have half-yearly general meetings, when the contributions, made chiefly by the women in their own houses, in small pots, are brought together; and 3rdly, We have annual meetings in four circles of villages, at which each man presents his subscriptions, and the accounts of the previous year are read, and speeches are made by two or three speakers. A general report is yearly printed and circulated among the people. The amount contributed this year is 964 rupees, which sum, added to their contributions for other religious and charitable purposes raised within the year, forms a total of 1668 rupees. No one who knows the Hindu character will fail to observe, that where money is thus liberally supplied, it must be that the people feel no small amount of interest in the religion which they thus profess and support. But all these measures, however encouraging, we would rejoice over only as a means and not as an end. The salvation of souls is what we have to aim at, and towards which all our appliances must be directed. If we are satisfied with any thing short of that consummation we are unfaithful to the great trust committed to us by Christ, and to the great errand upon which, under God, Christian friends at home have sent us to this country. It is the inner life of God in the soul that must lie at the foundation of all our hopes and expectations of a self-supporting church in India.

In a subsequent communication he gives the following further explanation of his plan :

A district
providing the whole support of its spiritual agents

Let me explain that the money raised in this district for the purpose under review is what is collected in advance for the coming year. Thus the sum mentioned in my report was for the support of native agents during the year 1865. In January of each year I place in the Society's account with the Corresponding Committee the whole sum contributed for this purpose. In January 1865 I thus placed to their credit 870 rupees ; and the manner in which it was to be appropriated was as follows :—

All the spiritual agents in the Palamcotta district, viz. :—

	Rupees.
1 Catechist at 10½ rs.	126
2 Assistant Catechists at 8 rs.	192
3 Readers at 7 rs.	252
5 Schoolmasters	300
Total Rupees	870

Thus you see that all our spiritual agents are bonâ fide supported by the native church, and it has been so for the last three years ; and, as far as I can judge, the people seem disposed to regard this as their accepted duty, and to make increasing efforts this way every year.

The important effect which even these incipient measures of self-support have upon the heathen is thus described by Mr. Sargent :—

self-supporting
church
upon the heathen.

It used frequently to be said by the heathen to the native converts, " Well, your religion will last only as long as the white people continue among us. You have no standing-ground of your own. As long as you are nursed and fed by Europeans you will be Christians, but as soon as they leave you will come back to us." Now they acknowledge that their expectations this way seem likely to be disappointed. Since Christian congregations support their own teachers, the heathen begin to feel that Christianity in Tinnevely is no longer an exotic, but has become indigenous ; that it is too firmly planted and too widely spread to expect its easy removal with the withdrawal of Europeans.

Mr. Schaffter also describes the method he has adopted for taining the same object, in his half-yearly report, June 1865:—

This half year has been one of much anxiety to me in many respects. The Self-sustentation Fund has been established in all those congregations which were prepared to meet the expenses connected with them. The people, on the whole, have taken up the matter with zeal, not only by increasing their own subscriptions to that Fund, but by making such arrangements amongst themselves as would secure a steady income for their Sungam. Finding that it would be impossible for each village separately to meet all expenses connected with the salary of their catechist, and other incidental expenses, I have succeeded in making two or three congregations to unite their different funds together for that purpose, such congregations not being further than a quarter or half a mile apart from one another. Thus one catechist has the charge of two or three small congregations, over which, after he has been ordained, he can have the pastoral care. The cash of these various funds, of which I keep a duplicate account, is in my hands: the managing of the funds is under a Committee nominated by the different congregations, who have united together, and consisting of the head men and one or two of the influential members of a congregation. These Committees meet once every month, and their resolutions and minutes are laid before me at the monthly meeting of the catechists for my sanction. Thus I have thirty-five congregations, which have been formed into nine different Associations, each having their own funds and Committee, and paying not only for the salary of their catechists, but also for the repair of their churches, schools, catechists' houses, &c., and leaving a balance for the Bible Society, Tract Society, Poor Fund, and other benevolent objects. The establishing and carrying out of this plan have been a source of great anxiety to me. But when I look at the state of the various funds, and notice the spirit with which the congregations have taken up this matter, I feel greatly encouraged. Still this is but a beginning; into the Lord's hands we commit it for the future.

Establish-
sustentation funds.

At an interval of another six months, at the close of the year, Mr. Schaffter writes:—

The trial that I made of making nine parishes pay for all the expenses connected with their pastor and church has succeeded well; and, with the exception of one parish, which at the close of the year had a balance of eight annas surplus expended, the other eight parishes have balances in hand. This year I intend, God willing, forming another parish, by joining other four congregations.

The Rev. William Clark, upon leaving India for a time, has furnished the Committee with a most valuable review of his ten years' labours in the Nullur District: and he concludes his paper with the following wise remarks upon the organization of the native Church, and with a caution against too sanguine anticipations of the time when Missions can be safely withdrawn even from Tinnevelly.

Self-support only partial as yet.

The appointment of pastors in charge of single congregations, with perhaps a few adjacent villages attached to it, may be regarded as an important step in advance, and as tending to give stability to the native Church; but I would not recommend the appointment of them till the people are prepared to support them. The Society should be careful how it undertakes the burden of the native Church. It has enough on its hands to support the Mission. It may be a question how far it should supplement the efforts of the people to provide for their pastors in the manner it has proposed. Perhaps that, in the circumstances of the people, may be the best way. It will be a stepping-stone to ultimate perfect independence. In the mean time there is no need for urgency. Catechists supply our present wants, and are, on the whole, well suited to the position of the people. They are, moreover, an improving class. When their congregations have so far increased in numbers as to be able to support pastors, then a sufficient number of catechists might be ordained pastors at once, without difficulty and with real advantage. I see no reason why this should not be done now, where this support can be provided.

Missionary action still needed for Tinnevelly.

It seems to me most important that we should bear in mind that, while much has been done to evangelize Tinnevelly, it is still, as a whole, essentially heathen. Protestants are not more than four per cent. of the population. Our work is, and must be for a long time, essentially Missionary. There are some parts, it is true, where Christians are very numerous. But there are others where they are hardly to be found. The upper classes have scarcely been touched. Even now our congregations are, in most instances, only small gatherings among a mass of surrounding heathen. We must not lay aside the evangelist, though, as opportunity offers, we may do well to press on the organization of a pastorate.

In conclusion, I see much in the past to humiliate, and much in what has been done to inspire with confidence as to the future, and I confidently anticipate the time when, throughout this district, the truth, as it is in Jesus, will be received with joy, and the true and living God alone be adored. May that blessed time come speedily.

Education.

The important educational Institutions of this Mission, the Preparandi Institution for training up native catechists and pastors, and the Institution for training schoolmasters, have been kept up in their efficiency during the last year. The latter Institution has been placed under the charge of the Rev. H. Dixon, upon Mr. Spratt's leaving India for a visit to England. The Committee have not yet been able to send out a superintendent for the Sarah Tucker Female Institution, but one has been engaged, and will shortly sail. Mr. Schaffter thus describes the improved character of the trained schoolmasters:—

Mr. Spratt's Institution at Palamcottah is invaluable to the cause of education. We get from there a set of trained men, who know how to handle the children; and since their influence has been felt amongst us the improvement in the school is great.

Value of Training Institution.

Mr. Sargent also reports of a schoolmaster under his superintendence:—

Our schoolmaster in the town of Tinnevely is not classed among the spiritual agents, but bond fide he is such. I regard him as a truly converted man, who does his school-work well, and also gives the rest of his time to the congregation in his neighbourhood. Beyond the town of Tinnevely there is a movement going on which promises much good, and towards which his character and example have been influential; but it is enlarging so much beyond the care which he can bestow upon it, that I am obliged to find an additional agent to work there. The movement is not confined to one class of natives, but embraces several castes, and not all from one village, but distributed in some five or six villages, three or four families in one village, and six or seven in another. This has been going on for some months past. Our school in the town of Tinnevely is also so largely increased, that I feel we shall have to ask for additional help there also.

III. Travancore and Cochin.

The Mission comprises nine districts: 1. Allepie, 1816; 2. Cottayam, 1817; 3. Cochin, 1817; 4. Mavelicara, 1839; 5. Trichur, 1842; 6. Pallam, 1845; 7. Tiruwella, 1849; 8. Kunnankullam, 1854; 9. Mundakayam, 1855.

Death of the Rev. Joseph Peet.

Death of a veteran
Missionary.

One event must be specially noticed in the history of the Travancore Mission during the last year, namely, the resting from his labours of one of the most energetic and faithful Missionaries with whom it has been the privilege of the Society to be connected. The Rev. Joseph Peet commenced a Mission in Mavelicara, the very focus of bigotry and opposition, without a Protestant convert in the district. After thirty years' unremitting toil and painful conflict he had the honour of standing at the head of a noble band of native Christians, numbering more than 2500, the seals to his ministry, assembling in eleven substantial churches built by his exertions, and in numerous prayer-houses. Eight native ministers had been more or less under his training, and several of them were his spiritual children. He had been sent to England for medical treatment, but as soon as there appeared no hope of recovery he pleaded with the Committee to be allowed to return to India, and die in the midst of his people. The plea was granted. He spent the last few weeks of his life in earnest exhortations to his flock and to his native brethren to contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints; and then, when his last hour arrived, he looked away from all the great things which God had enabled him to achieve, having settled all worldly concerns, his last intelligent words were—

“ Just as I am, without one plea,
But that Thy blood was shed for me,
And that Thou bid'st me come to Thee,
O Lamb of God I come !”

And there were posthumous honours reserved for Joseph Peet. God had given him among his latest converts a Brahmin family, father, mother, and sons, all of remarkable attainments and promise. He had trained this Brahmin convert in the hope that he might one day become a preacher of the Gospel. A few months after Mr. Peet's death the Bishop of Madras held a visitation in Travancore, and this Brahmin, passing a satisfactory examination, was admitted to holy orders. The Bishop has written:—“ In Travancore the ordination of a Brahmin stands out among the interesting events of my visit. It seems likely to exercise a wide influence for good. He is said to know Sanskrit well, and to be held in great respect by heathen acquaintances as well as Christians.” After his ordination he was appointed to Mr. Peet's church to assist Mr. Maddox, the new Missionary, who thus describes the first Sunday in Mavelicara:—“ The Brahmin read prayers, and I preached my first sermon in this place. I trust that this Mission may be enriched by the Holy Spirit as it has been so abundantly during the labours of that devoted, faithful soldier and servant of Christ, and the much-respected and beloved pastor of this flock, the Rev. J. Peet. I feel like Elisha when Elijah left him. Oh that I could be sure of catching the fallen mantle! then would I, weak as I am, rejoice in this holy work and labour of love. God grant it! There are many who pray for it; I am sure Mr. Peet did; and I believe very many of the people here do most earnestly seek it of God."

Reports of the Missionaries.

Owing to several changes which have taken place in the Travancore Mission during the last year, there has been a delay in the transmission of the reports from several of the districts.

The Rev. Alexander Johnson gives the following account of the Allepie congregation:—

January 2, 1866.—The Allepie congregation is on the whole improving, their attendance at divine service has been good, and some of the people are improving in character I trust. Two adults have been received by baptism from heathenism, and one from the Church of Rome. This year an effort to raise a Native Pastorate Fund has been commenced. A public meeting was held at Allepie last May, at which delegates from about twenty different congregations were present to discuss the matter. It was agreed that the several churches should raise a Native Pastorate Fund by the members of each different church subscribing a certain sum every month. The Allepie people give—some 1 rupee; some, $\frac{3}{4}$ of a rupee; others, $\frac{1}{2}$, $\frac{1}{4}$, or less, according to their ability. Although part of the people have neglected to fulfil their promise, others bring their mite every month. So that the sum of Rs. 32.12.0 has been subscribed to this fund during the first half-year of its existence. Besides this, the people have, out of their poverty, given the sum of Rs. 127.2.0 for various church purposes. These facts show that the people value in some degree the Gospel which has been freely preached to them, and are ready to help according to their power in the great work which we have at heart.

Efforts for self-support among
Christians.

This year I have had the pleasure to lay the foundation of a new slave congregation in this district, by baptizing thirty-four belonging to this despised class, at a place called Nedawadie. They had been under Christian instruction about two years, during which period their diligent attendance at the prayer-house, and their earnestness in seeking to know truth, gave hope that they would continue to serve the Lord. On Trinity Sunday I baptized them—there were nineteen adults and fifteen children.

During the year I have done a good deal of home visitation, both among our own people, to encourage and stir them up, and also among the heathen and others, to bring the Gospel before them. My visits have been well received, and I have had opportunities to set Christ before many families. Once a month I have gone to each of my out-stations and examined the schools and spoken the word as occasion served.

Converts
bringing in their countrymen.

One of the native ministers, the Rev. K. Jaco, has under his charge the churches of Ericarte, Kollatta, and Velloothoorithee, which are the subordinate stations of the Pallam district, together with two lately-formed prayer-houses adjoining Ericarte. "Of these two bodies of inquirers," Mr. Jaco informs us, "the one is a village of Syrian Christians, and the other a poor and oppressed set of slaves. The former village, Meenudum, about twenty miles west from Mundakayam, was induced to join us from their intercourse with our Christians of Mundakayam; and the latter also have been won over by their fellow-slave converts of Velloothoorithee."

KANNANKULUM

The native minister, the Rev. J. Oomen Mamen, has been in charge of this station. The congregation numbers 137, of whom 54 are communicants. During the last year there were eleven converts from heathenism. The work is chiefly among the Chojans. The Syrians are very bigoted; the Brahmins, and even the slaves, have as yet resisted the Gospel.

In the course of Mr. Mamen's Missionary tours, he had on two occasions the opportunity of holding public discussions on Christianity: in one case at the Brahmin college at Trichur, and another at the very entrance of the famous temple of Guroowaur, before an audience of one hundred Brahmins and Nairs.

COCHIN.

The Rev. J. Curian continues to minister to the native congregation at Cochin, which receives accessions, from time to time, both from the heathen and from the Romanists. Mr. Curian reports his interviews with educated Hindus in high position who have embraced Vedantism. He also alludes to one of another class, who believe that in all religions there is truth, and "study the Bible more attentively than many native Christians," yet remain heathen after renouncing all outward ceremonies of heathenism. Of the Syrians generally Mr. Curian writes:—

effects of the preaching of the Gospel.

The people hereabout seem to awake out of the lethargy and supineness of their dormant church. The Syrian Metran, in his late visitation of those parts, wrote to me, "How is it (he said) your preaching has not penetrated these places? you are said to have worked wonders in the south. All is gloomy and dark here." There is surely a perceptible difference between the southern and northern Syrian churches; the one are comparatively more enlightened and less superstitious than the other. We have had very lately another application from three head men of a neighbouring church, of which it would be premature here to add more. These feeble inquiries here and there after truth are aroused more or less through the agencies of our schools, of which we have three in these parts, and by the efforts of the Bible Society's colporteur, who visits all these places in his annual circuit.

Education.

Cottayam College.

The Cottayam College has averaged sixty-five students, generally paying their own expenses, except a few foundation scholars. The education is up to the standard prescribed by the Madras University. The Rev. R. Collins is the Principal, and is assisted by an English trained master and five native teachers. Though the students are under no pledge to enter the service of the Society, yet a considerable proportion of those who remain long enough to pass through the first class, become teachers either in the Society's schools or other similar employment.

An examination took place, August 1865, of which the Principal, the Rev. R. Collins, writes:—

I forward reports, from Mr. Speechley and Mr. Maddox, of our last examination. The College, I trust, is in a satisfactory state. Our numbers are again increasing, owing to the increase in our funds, and also an increase in the receipt of fees. Our standard, as we are affiliated to the University, is, so far, regulated by the requirements for matriculation. One of my pupils matriculated last year; and I trust the Society will make every effort to encourage such a plan of study in the College, as shall not leave it behind any of the affiliated Institutions in the Presidency. I also think that the fact of a young man's holding a certificate of having passed any of the University Examinations should be in some way acknowledged by the Church Missionary Society, so long as he remains in connection with the Society.

The fact at present is unquestionable, that the great majority of those who have left the College during the past six or eight years are well disposed towards the work in which we are engaged, have almost without exception engaged themselves in kindred pursuits when they could not find a position in our own Mission field, and are, in my humble opinion, the very style of men we most need. I may mention that with these young men I am enabled to keep up a constant intercourse, often hearing from them, and occasionally seeing them. The College magazine is also another bond of union, and I hope may long continue to be so. May God shower down increasingly his blessings on the College.

The Cambridge Nicholson Institution is under the charge of the Rev. J. M. Speechley, B.A., who reports favourably of the progress of the students.

The Parent Committee lately had under review the present arrangements and prospects of the 'Telugu Mission. It appeared to be very important to sustain the three centres of the Mission—viz., Masulipatam, Ellore, and Bezwara, and that the important school at Masulipatam should be supported in its efficiency by two Europeans at least; and that the Missionaries of the three centres should be encouraged to itinerate in their neighbourhoods as far as practicable. Such also appeared to be the promising state of the district as to require the additional agency of one or two itinerant Missionaries, who should labour throughout the whole Telugu district, upon the principle of the itinerants in Tinnevely.

MASULIPATAM.

Death of a distinguished
Missionary

The Telugu Mission, and, indeed, the whole of the South-India Mission, has suffered a great loss in the death of the Rev. R. T. Noble, on the 17th of October 1865. He arrived in India in the year 1841, with the Rev. H. Fox. He entered immediately upon the work assigned him of opening a superior school, with a special view to the upper classes of society. For such an Institution he had superior qualifications: and for twenty-four years his whole time, thoughts, and energy, were devoted to the work. Though repeatedly invited and pressed by medical attendants to visit England, he resolutely remained at his post. But though engaged in keeping up a high standard of secular education, Mr. Noble possessed pre-eminently the heart and spirit of a Missionary. He was eminently distinguished by deep spirituality of mind. He seemed to live in an atmosphere of holiness, and in continual communion with his Lord. Few persons were ever associated with him, even for a few days, without receiving deeper impressions of the powers of the world to come.

The school, which he established and superintended to the last hour of his life, was a great success. The Madras Corresponding Committee record this testimony to his labours:—

The importance of Mr. Noble's services as an Educationist may be estimated by many testimonies. In the last Report of Public Instruction in this Presidency, the Inspector, Major Macdonald, says—"The importance of the moral influence which Mr. Noble's school has always exercised, and continues to exercise, in Masulipatam, can hardly be exaggerated." In the Proceedings of Government on the Report alluded to, we find the Governor in Council saying—"Of the private schools of the higher class (in the Madras Presidency), the Church Mission school in Masulipatam stands first, as it has done for some years past." In the Madras Times of October 21st, 1859, we find Sir Charles Trevelyan's impression with regard to the school thus put on record—"On Wednesday, the Governor visited Mr. Noble's school, and examined some of the classes: he then spoke to the boys, and pointed out to them the advantages they derived from being under a man of such character and attainments as Mr. Noble, whose influence on the education of the rising generation he began to feel as soon as he landed at Cocanada." And the Government officials of high standing, who were acquainted with the Northern Circars, have continually borne testimony to the character for truthfulness and courtesy, and a high tone of morality, which very generally distinguished the subordinate officials of Government who had received their education in the school, though they had not embraced Christianity.

superior Mission
schools.

Mr. Noble had the happiness of receiving several of his pupils into the church of Christ. Two of them, one a Brahmin, and another a Sudra of standing, were admitted to Holy Orders about two years ago.

The Madras Corresponding Committee add:—

It is no exaggeration to say that Mr. Noble's removal is one of the heaviest blows our South-India Mission has sustained for many a long day. It is our consolation to remember that the work is the Lord's; that to Him belong the appointment and the equipment for their work of his faithful servants. The "government is upon his shoulders." He can and He will in his own good time, and after his own way, raise up and send forth agents, whom He sees to be needed for the setting up of his own kingdom of righteousness and peace in the world.

The Rev. John Sharp, who has for four years assisted Mr. Noble, has undertaken the charge of the school, assisted by the Rev. A. H. Arden. Mr. Sharkey continues to superintend the Mission in Masulipatam and its immediate neighbourhood. He reports that the condition of the native Christians, since the Cyclone, has been improved. Houses were built for them by a public subscription, which form a settlement, with the advantage of wide and airy streets, and small vegetable gardens. There is a prayer-meeting every Wednesday evening in the church, besides two services on Sundays. The people live together in harmony, and contribute liberally to their various funds for religious and benevolent objects.

Large
to the
Church.

Mr. Sharkey has met with great encouragement in a village named Prattipad, near Kalles Lake, and about twelve miles from Ellore. For many years he had been solicited to open a school there, and to station a catechist. At length he sent a pious and zealous schoolmaster, and occasionally visited the village. Many of the inhabitants placed themselves under the instruction of the schoolmaster; and, at the commencement of the present year, Mr. Sharkey had the happiness of baptizing forty-three men and women, and forty-two of their children. A similar spirit of inquiry seems springing up in other villages of the district.

ELLORE.

The Rev. F. N. Alexander and Mr. Francis Goodall, an European trained schoolmaster, occupy the station of Ellore. There are a few Christians in the town, but the chief success among the heathen has been in the surrounding villages.

Education.

In the Anglo-Vernacular school there are 120 boys: the standard of education is that of the matriculation of the Madras University. The school is efficiently conducted; "but," writes Mr. Alexander, "as yet I see no signs of real conversion to God, and without this fruit we can never remain satisfied." A girls' school, with twenty pupils, is under the care of Mrs. Alexander. "Nowhere," adds Mr. A., "do we find more hopeful Christians than amongst our girls: and, apart from the solemn obligation England is under to forward female education in India, the well-being of the Missions themselves demands the means of training up well-instructed and pious wives for the many young men who are now joining us. The Corresponding Committee do what they can to help us, but it is the feeling of all the brethren in this Mission that much more might be done in our parts, if we had the means, in the way of educating the women of India."

Out-stations.

The spirit of inquiry in the out-stations is encouraging. In Woituru, a large village near Ellore, there are fifteen inquirers and a vernacular school with twenty-five children. In another direction, at Peddapadu, a small school and a few inquirers. Mr. A. reports:—

On the 14th of January 1866, I had the great pleasure of gathering fruit, I hope, to eternal life, from seed which I have been long sowing. For three years I have been teaching the Gospel to some inquirers in a town called Polasanipilli, situated about eighteen miles from Ellore. After much careful consideration I chose seven persons, six adults and one child, out of some twenty inquirers, to name the name of Christ upon them. It was a time of great joy. Fellow-Christians and inquirers came from several villages, to lend us the aid of their prayers and show their love. Major Faulkner came from Ellore, and was present to represent the interest of European Christians in the welfare of the Native Church. In this case it was the boys first, and the elders last in coming to God; for, long before this time two boys from the school had been baptized; and of the last seven, three had been educated in the school, and other boys are longing to be Christians, and are only prevented by their friends: and this out of a little school, never numbering more than twelve pupils. It shows how useful these village schools may be. I have inquirers in two other villages near Polasanipilli, and I have a good hope that in time to come it will be a centre of Missionary influence to the surrounding country.

BEZWARA.

The Rev. W. Ellington gives the following report of the work at Bezvara:—

The work among the Malas in the villages has extended during the past year, and there seems to be every prospect of its continuing to do so. It is true that some who promised well at the beginning of the year have gone back, but others again have stood firm. We have a small congregation at Pinapaka, twelve miles from Bezvara; but the largest is about twenty miles further on, at Rajahpuram. There are at least nine villages now in which there are some residing who have either already joined us, or are desirous of doing so. A considerable number of those who assemble on Sundays at Rajahpuram come over from five neighbouring villages. After each service an account is taken of the attendance, and the number of men, women, and children at present on the list is 130. Some of these have not yet been baptized, but they have, during the past year, been coming a distance of six miles to attend the Sunday services.

For a long time past we have been endeavouring to initiate a self-supporting movement among these people, and every Sunday they are expected to bring a contribution, in some form or other, according to their ability.

We have three middle-aged men who officiate as readers. As they began to learn to read late in life they are not much of book-men; but they, notwithstanding, do good service: they watch over the Christians, they encourage the inquirers, and it is chiefly through their influence that new converts are made.

THE KOI MISSION.

The Mission to the Kois at Dumagudiem is under the charge of the Rev. C. Tanner. The Rev. F. W. N. Alexander, however, occasionally visits it. In the month of March he attended, for the third year, the great festival at Bradrachellum, on the Upper Godavery. He was furnished by the British and Foreign Bible Society with a large stock of Telugu Scriptures, a bandy for their carriage, and the services of a colporteur. His opportunities of preaching are thus described in his journal:—

Opportunities for preaching the Gospel.

As in former years, the engineers put up for our use a fine large shed, open in front, and surmounted by several large boards, covered with striking passages from the Telugu Bible. There was a little platform, about two feet high; and, standing on this, we addressed the people, who crowded round on every side, generally four or five rows deep, but often much more, even to the opposite side of the street. The situation chosen has every year been the same, near the place where the people go down to the river. It is fine and open, always filled with a concourse, and away from the noise of tom-toming. It is now looked upon as our place, and the tom-tom men, musicians, &c., leave us pretty free of their presence, or, if they do begin, a word is enough to get rid of them. These are great advantages, and having always a succession of speakers to address the people, and having rest and shade when the discourse is concluded, it is possible with much greater liberty and length to preach the Gospel. I do not know any other plan so good for preaching at heathen festivals. We made an estimate that there were about 6000 persons present, and of these 4000 are known to have come from the works. In former days there were more than the entire number when there were no workpeople to swell the ranks. So from this we must conclude that the numbers attending the festival are much on the decrease, and this is the testimony of all competent judges. The same has been said to me of all the other festivals I attend in the Telugu country: and it would go to show that these idolatrous gatherings have not the same attractions for the people as in former days.

Mr. Alexander spent a few days at Dumagudiem with Mr. Tanner, and was rejoiced to find that all who had been received into the Church had remained faithful to the truth, though they had been subject to much temptation. Several more Koi villages had asked for schools, and several had been established, as far as the very limited supply of schoolmasters would allow. No Koi had yet come forward for baptism. The converts, who form a little Christian church, under the catechist Razu, are Hindus connected with the irrigation works.

Mr. Alexander afterwards continued his Missionary tour up the course of the Godavery to Wurrangal, the ancient capital of the Talingani kingdom. The journey, and his return to Ellore, occupied about two months. In many places there was evidence of former days of great national prosperity, extensive forts, and numerous tombs, bespeaking a higher state of civilization than in modern times. Through the greater part of this country no Missionary had before travelled, and in some places the people exhibited an earnest desire to know the truth, though not at Wurrangal itself, where he was treated with little respect; but at a large town, within a mile of the ancient capital, and where there was a small British cantonment, Mr. Alexander writes:—

In the morning I had two excellent opportunities for preaching. A large number gathered round me, and all listened attentively and well; but how little hold will it take on the heart! How soon will it be forgotten! After the preaching was done, as I thought, I went to see a small bazaar school. It is held in a small confined room, with no means of ventilation but the door. Directly I got inside, the whole place was filled with elders, and the door was quite blocked up with people. The place was stifling, and yet for an hour I had a most interesting conversation, till I got quite exhausted, and unable to proceed. After this, a long walk in the sun, at 11 A.M., with a furious hot wind blowing, nearly knocked me up. Still it is a glorious thing to get such fine opportunities of making Christ known.

The spirit of the Missionaries.

In the evening I went over to the cantonment, which is about one mile from the town, and had a very nice interview with the residents. They seemed very glad to have an interview with a Minister. It is seldom or never that one goes there. I felt much for them.

Upon his return journey, Mr. Alexander notices in his journal:—

Gurtilru.—On my way, preached and sold Portions of Scripture at Perikeed and Kondápuram. In the former, after patient waiting and explanation, I sold three or four to shepherds and toddy-drawers. The latter village is a very fine and large one, many rich Comaties and Reddi lords, also some very well-to-do braziers. Here we had a surprising sale of Bible Portions and Tracts. In a few minutes we sold all we had with us at the time, some 50 or 60 copies, and we could easily have sold double the number. Preached in the village here: not much success: numbers came for medicine.

CEYLON MISSION.

(Commenced 1817.)

Division of Mission.—I. Colombo. II. Baddagama. III. Kandy.
IV. Jaffna.

General View of the Missions in the three Southern Divisions of Ceylon.

THE Conference of Missionaries of the South-Ceylon Missions put on record the following general review of the work, at their Annual Meeting, September 1865:—

Benefit of Buddhist controversy.

I. The work among the Heathen.—As might reasonably be expected, some degree of opposition has here and there been encountered in the prosecution of this branch of the work. There are, however, indications of steady progress. The controversy with the Buddhists held at Baddagama early in the year, whilst it has tended to rouse many to a vigorous attempt to defend their own creed, and to assail Christianity, is seen to have had the salutary effect of shaking the confidence of many of the people in their priests, and of creating a desire to read the sacred Scriptures, which many Buddhists, and even some priests are doing. In Colombo and Kandy there has been a considerable increase in the sale of books and tracts, and the antipathy to receive them, formerly so marked, has greatly diminished.

Schools.—There are, in connexion with the South-Ceylon Mission, 83 Vernacular and mixed Schools: 47 for boys and 36 for girls. The total number of names on the lists is 1562 boys and 1109 girls. A sound instruction in the fundamental truths of Christianity is the main object of these schools; they are, therefore, a valuable agency in a Missionary point of view. And the hope is still entertained, that when a more efficient class of teachers has been obtained from the Baddagama Training Institution, the value of the schools will be more apparent.

The Christian congregations and Pastoral work of the Mission is that portion of the field which calls forth most anxiety. Here it is that permanent results are sought—that the difficulty of inculcating a spirit of self-reliance is met—and here that any adverse movement is most sensibly felt. It is with thankfulness to God, therefore, that, on reviewing the past year, we find that, notwithstanding determined opposition on the part of the heathen, and their most strenuous endeavours to counteract the work of Missions, steady progress has been made. The Christians have been more alive to their duty, and have willingly come forward to bear their share of the burden. The number of registered members has increased; eighty-four adults have been baptized; and the duty of self-support has not been neglected, a larger amount than hitherto of free contributions by natives having this year been raised, amounting to 350*l.* 18*s.* 7½*d.* The report from Kandy is especially cheering, for, notwithstanding many temptations, the steadfast and consistent profession of Christianity by the members of the congregations attached to the Kandy Station affords satisfactory proof of the real progress of Missionary work among them. On the other hand, the difficulties connected with the nominal profession of Christianity in the districts of Cotta and Talangama are not altogether removed. Systematic efforts are being made with the view of bringing about a more satisfactory state; the duty of the Christians to assist in the work is kept constantly before them; and the catechists are urged forward to aggressive work on the heathen around. The Tamil congregations are in a flourishing condition—that in Kandy increasing so fast, as to warrant every exertion being put forth, carrying out the original intention of building a large and substantial church. The Colombo Tamil congregation also has considerably increased; and two new congregations have been commenced, with prospects of permanency.

Throughout the South-Ceylon Mission there are 1488 registered members of congregations, and an average attendance on public worship of 1571 registered and non-registered members: of these 504 are communicants.

The past year has been one of trial and anxiety: several members of the European Missionary staff have been from time to time laid aside by illness, and one of them, Mr. Buswell, has been compelled to return to England. The rest it has pleased God to raise up and restore to their work. In other respects there is abundant cause for thankfulness to God for the success He has given.

The general view of the Southern division of the Mission already recorded will enable the Committee to confine the report of each station to those special circumstances which mark the progress of Missions.

COLOMBO.

During the year Mr. Rowlands and Mr. Clowes have divided the English services at the Mission church. Mr. Rowlands takes the Tamil Mission, and Mr. Clowes the Singalese.

Mr. Clowes reports that the English congregations in Galle Face have rather improved during the last year. The collections keep up to the high amount of the former year, notwithstanding the loss of one or two large annual subscriptions from old subscribers who have left the country. The amount has been made up by smaller subscribers, which shows that the public confidence in the Society has not declined.

Mr. Rowlands reports of the Tamil branch of the Colombo Mission :—

The year has been marked by an absence of molestation and hostile interference in this branch of our work. But while this has been a comfort to ourselves in the discharge of our duty, more direct opposition would, perhaps, have given us more ground for believing that a real work was going on. Preaching in coffee-stores has been systematically maintained. Nine large stores have been regularly visited week by week, and Hindus and Moham-medans, both men and women, addressed; the former when assembled for the roll-call, the latter generally while at their work in the verandahs. Besides these nine stores, which have had the visits of the catechists during the whole year, three others have been visited either for a shorter time, or only occasionally.

COTTA DISTRICT.

The Cotta District is divided into two, one portion being called the Cotta District, and the other the Talangama District.

The former was under the superintendence of the Rev. E. Higgins during the first three months of 1865, and upon his removal to the Kandian Itinerant District it was placed under the general superintendence of Mr. Clowes, who continues to reside at Colombo, and discharge the Missionary duties of that station. It was thought desirable that the native agents should be thrown upon their own resources, at least for a time, by the removal of the European Missionary from the midst of them. Mr. Clowes has endeavoured to organize the native agency, so as to call out their energies and their mutual co-operation in the work. He writes:—

My plan of working is to devote every Saturday to meeting the catechists at Cotta, to receive their reports, and to discuss any question that may arise, and to give one day in the week to visiting in the district; besides this, taking a service once every other Sunday without interfering with the English services in Colombo. On these occasions I have administered the Holy Communion to the different congregations which I have visited. When visiting the district in the week, I leave Colombo early in the morning, to avoid the heat, and reach the catechist's house of whatever district may be in turn about eight or nine o'clock, according to distance. I then have a quiet time with the catechist, which I much value as a means of gaining their confidence, as well as an opportunity for building them up in their own faith.

By this time the schools have assembled in the verandah or in Native front of the house, and the respective classes of the several schools Church are examined at the same time, which gives me an opportunity of trained to closely comparing their merits, and, at the same time, may act as self-govern- a stimulant to the teachers, as well as to the children. These are ment. succeeded by the different candidates, whether for registration, baptism, &c.; and after dismissing these, and resting awhile, we adjourn to the church meeting, which was established by Mr. Higgins as an inducement to the congregation to take some interest in the expenditure of the money collected at their services, at which we have prayer, a chapter and exposition, after which the minutes of the meeting of the last month are read, and any question to be considered is brought forward and discussed. The meeting is concluded with prayer.

The Rev. C. Jayesinhe has charge of the Talangama District, and thus describes the importance of putting forth additional efforts for evangelizing Ceylon at the present critical period of its history:—

This is just the time to sow the seed of the Gospel in Ceylon. Urgency of the present opportunity. The country is much changed from what it was ten years ago. The apathy and carelessness of natives with regard to religion are fast passing away. They will soon be either Christians or heathen, and not both. The rising generation, both males as well as females, thirst after knowledge. No heathen influence has been able to stop the spread of education, which is daily increasing. The Buddhist priests, feeling that Christianity is gaining ground, are now taking active steps to try to prevent its spread. Megittuwattu, the great opponent of Christianity, is going about as a roaring lion, and wherever Christianity is taught he is sure to be there to influence the minds of the people against it. Native printing presses are established both in Colombo and Galle, and are now issuing all kinds of heathen publications. At such a crisis nothing is more needful than able and devoted men to meet with a bold face all the sophistry of heathenism, stop the mouths of gainsayers, build up the new converts, and enlarge the borders of the Church through the means of their words and writings. I have never felt, as I do now, the great need of a good number of efficient native Missionaries and pastors. I should be most happy to see a number of such men occupying the Mission-field as early as possible with our European brethren; but until I am permitted to see the Holy Spirit working more effectually in the hearts of our people, I am sorry to say I cannot venture to recommend any for immediate ordination.

COTTA INSTITUTION.

The Rev. R. B. Tonge is the Principal of the Cotta Institution. The Annual Report of the Conference states :—

The number of students in the Cotta Institution during the year has been above 100, of whom one-fourth are boarders. Their conduct has been very satisfactory.

Mr. Tonge reports, June 9, 1865 :—

If I were asked what is the chief characteristic of the history of this Institution for the past twelve months, I should answer, Quiet progress. Our work is one which is naturally gradual and unobtrusive in its operations. An important feature in the Institution is, that it is to a great extent self supporting. The working expenses for the year ending September 30th, 1864, excluding the Principal's salary, were defrayed by the receipts from the fees of the boarders and day students.

Christian

listic.

It must not be lost sight of in what respect such an Institution as this is to be regarded as a branch of Missionary work. Do any think that because we are chiefly engaged in communicating secular knowledge, we cannot lay claim to the name of Missionaries? It is true that our time is not occupied like that of many of our brethren in nothing but teaching or preaching the Gospel to the heathen. Still it must be taken into account that all our secular teaching is founded upon Christian principles, and that our avowed object in offering a liberal English education to the natives is to make that education subservient to bringing them to the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. I therefore feel, that however feeble and unworthy my own labours are, I am permitted to take part as a Missionary in endeavouring to evangelize the heathen of this land. Whilst, then, I look up to Him, who still seeks and saves even by the humblest instrumentality, for grace and guidance, I would commend my students and teachers, and myself, to the sympathy of Christian friends.

II. Baddagama.

Baddagama commenced, 1819 ; Bentotte, 1861.

European Mission Establishment :

Mr. Stephen Coles (m) 1860.

BADDAGAMA.

During the year 1865 the Rev. George Parsons zealously and efficiently superintended the Mission in this district as well as the Preparandi Institution for native catechists, containing eleven students. Mr. Coles has had charge of the Institution for training schoolmasters, containing fourteen pupils.*

Mr. Parsons reports :—

During the year several preaching tours have been undertaken and public preachings held at various places, the attendance varying from a few persons to a hundred. Sometimes the people listen to a discourse with marked attention ; at others, led on by some evil-disposed persons, they mock and blaspheme the name of Jehovah. On two occasions violent assaults have been committed : on one occasion an unoffending Preparandus, returning from a preaching visit, was struck in the face, simply because he had been a Buddhist priest and now had become a Christian. I prosecuted the party, and obtained a conviction. On the other occasion an unsuspecting catechist, returning from a preaching-place, and praying silently as he went along, was struck in the back by a person who escaped in the dark. Such circumstances are indications of the temper and feelings of the people respecting Christianity : to me they forebode stormy times and a bright and happy future.

The catechists at Bentotte and Balipity Modera are vigorously at work in their respective districts. At Dodanduwa our work progresses favourably. I baptized on the 24th December seven adult converts, besides several of their children. They all brought in their horoscopes, and delivered them up publicly, in attestation of their renouncing heathenism. The congregation now numbers thirty-six members, and the school, which commenced with two or three children about a year ago, has now about sixty children. A neat and substantial schoolroom, to be used also as a place of worship, has been built by native subscriptions and native effort. The value of our school, though decidedly Christian, is so far recognised by the heathen, that although they have already a girls' school, a temple school, and a private school, in the town, we have been requested to establish another Mission school; and a heathen headman, on the occasion of my last visit to Dodanduwa, made over his own new house for two years on a notarial deed for the above purpose. I am now, therefore, making arrangements for extended operations.

III. Kandy.

KANDY.

The Mission in the town of Kandy is under the charge of the Rev. W. Oakley. The itineration in the Kandian Provinces under the Rev. E. Higgins, and the Tamil Cooly Mission under the Rev. J. Pickford.

Mr. Oakley states in his annual report:—

For some years past I have been obliged to commence each annual report with expressions of regret that scarcely any improvement was visible, either in the congregation or schools. This year I am happy to be able to record some visible improvement in almost every part of the work at this station. Those whom we have educated as catechists and schoolmasters can obtain a much higher salary in connexion with merchants' houses, or government, or on coffee estates. I think it is a proof of a faithful attachment to the Mission that they remain with us.

ITINERATING MISSION IN THE KANDIAN PROVINCES.

Mr. Higgins mentions as the most striking circumstances in his annual review, the progress of conversions in two villages, mentioned in former Reports as exhibiting an encouraging example of the spirit of self-extension and self-support in the native church :—

The new converts in Talampitya and Hewadiwella, who now number about forty, form at present the bright spot in the itinerating branch of our Mission, and afford us our chief hope and encouragement in prosecuting the work. With one or two exceptions, all the converts already baptized and received into the church have continued to walk consistently with their profession, and the great majority give evidence, by their lives and conduct, that they are really sincere. There may be tares among the wheat, but no one can know the converts well without feeling convinced that the latter preponderates; and there are some few among them who possess deep and enlightened Christian views and feelings, which, considering how recently they have been brought out of heathenism, seem truly astonishing. Before the departure of Mr. Jones for England, in February last, some of them had promised to give portions of their lands for the purpose of forming a Native Pastorate Endowment Fund for the district, and seven of them have lately made over land to the Church Missionary Society to the value of 38*l*. I have also been able, during the last three months, to induce them to begin a regular system of weekly contributions towards the present support of the catechists stationed among them. Three of their number were chosen at a general meeting of the converts as collectors.

Self-extension
church.

One great proof of the consistency of the Christians' lives I obtained from the heathen amongst whom they dwell. On several occasions, when preaching to parties of the heathen, I spoke of our Christian people, and asked if they were not different men and women, and better men and women from what they were formerly, and whether they had not given up the bad practices which others indulged in. In every case the heathen admitted that such was the fact; that the Christians were different people and better people now than their heathen neighbours. This was not only a cheering testimony to the conduct of the Christians, but it gave one something wherewith to make a home appeal to the consciences of those who admitted this difference to exist, which I trust will not be in vain.

Native
Christians
a light to their countrymen.

Mr. Higgins thus refers to the work at Hangurankettia, another Christian settlement :—

The church at Hangurankettia was built and fitted up for service at the sole expense of a native-Christian gentleman, the owner of a large coffee property in the neighbourhood, and the congregation consists chiefly of native superintendents, overseers, and others (native Christians from the low country), employed on his estates. The church was not quite completed when I left the itinerating work to take charge of the Cotta Station two years and a half ago, but was opened by Mr. Oakley about two months afterwards.

progress.

To-day was, therefore, the first time that I had an opportunity of holding service in it. Remembering the state of the district eight or nine years ago, when I first began to visit it, when the native Christians living in the neighbourhood were utterly uncared for, and without the means of grace, and when nothing was done towards preaching the Gospel to the surrounding heathen,—remembering the state of things which then existed, and comparing it with the state of things now, when the regular means of grace are provided for the native Christians, a school established, and the Gospel preached among the surrounding heathen, and, looking upon the congregation of attentive people assembled in the church to listen to the Word, I felt that I could thank God that something had been done in the great work of establishing His cause and kingdom in the district.

TAMIL COOLY MISSION.

This Mission has been under the sole charge of the Rev. John Pickford. The coffee plantations on which the Tamil Coolies are employed, who form the field of labour, is thus described by Mr. Pickford:—

Taking Kandy as a centre, our points of labour extend eastward 130 miles, westward 40, north 40, and southward 50 miles. The number of Coolies is perpetually changing from the arrival and return of parties. They are estimated this year to amount to 250,000. The number of native converts is 1017.

In the annual report at the close of 1865 Mr. Pickford writes:—

It has pleased God to incline the proprietors of estates and the planters to contribute liberally to the support of the Mission. The following table will show the Committee how God is inviting us forward so far as the funds are concerned. In the year ending April 30, 1864, the income of the Mission was 378*l.*, and the average number of agents ten. In the year ending April 30, 1865, the income was 500*l.*, and the average number of agents fourteen.

Of the present year only nine months have expired, but the income already received is 545*l.*, and before the close of the year it will probably reach or exceed 650*l.*, and the average number of agents is sixteen. The Committee will recognise the gracious hand of God in giving an increased agency with an increasing income. The enlargement of the Mission agency has been a subject of much prayerful anxiety. In this matter especially I have felt that not one step should be taken without laying the whole case before God. We cannot expect any awakening power to accompany the labours of men who are not themselves taught by the Spirit of God. Such men may talk fluently, and travel far and wide, but if the spirit of love to Christ, and an earnest yearning for the conversion of souls, is not in them, they will be but as sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal. A true catechist, no less than a true Missionary, must be called of God. Feeling this, I have often held back when I might apparently have gone forward. One class of helpers in my work may justly be regarded with special interest, as we seem to have struck a vein of ore which may be profitably worked to the glory of God. There are God-fearing men here and there in the various coffee districts — men who heartily desire to do a little work for Christ among the Tamil Coolies,—and they feel they can best do it through the instrumentality of a native agent, if we can give them one. One young planter gives 26% a year for this purpose. Another, the son of a clergyman, gives one-tenth of his income, about 20%. Another gives most liberally, and meets from forty to fifty coolies on Wednesday evening and Sunday evening for prayer and the reading of God's Word. Another supports a catechist and encourages the coolies to come to his bungalow on Sunday evening, when this catechist meets a room full of them. Another joins with the Canganies of the estate to support a schoolmaster, and also, through the medium of this schoolmaster, instructs a class of young men and boys on Sunday afternoon. In looking at some of the cases which come under my notice, I often think how mysteriously and graciously God carries on the work of building up the spiritual temple. The fruits of a faithful ministry at home, the impressions received at family worship, or the influence of a mother's prayer, lie dormant for a time; but in the hard solitary labour of the young planter's life the fruit sometimes appears in spiritual conflicts, in growth in grace, and in labours for Christ. To become acquainted with such is a great privilege, and I see, in such cases, the great importance of this work, and the gracious dealings of our God. I briefly mention these facts to show that, in this direction also, we are invited to lengthen our cords and strengthen our stakes.

There is among the native Christians an increasing willingness to do all that is in their power for the support and propagation of the Gospel among themselves. The Christians in Kallibokka contribute a part of the salary of the catechist in that valley. They have contributed 10% for the purchase of a handsome Communion Service, which is now on its way to Kandy. But perhaps the most encouraging proof of the influence of the Mission among the Coolies will be seen by reference to the subjoined list of native contributors to the proposed Tamil church in the Kandy bazaar. More than 113% has been contributed voluntarily by the Canganies and Coolies, and a few other Tamils, during the part year, towards the erection of the proposed new church.

Mr. Pickford thus reports the sale of the Holy Scriptures and other books:—

Sale of Holy Scriptures and educational books. The inability to procure such books as are now in demand brought this part of our work almost to a stand in October. But we recommenced operations on the arrival of a supply of English Scriptures and educational books. The Tamil Scriptures have sold well: Bibles at 5s. 6d. each, and Testaments at 1s. 6d. More Bibles and Testaments would be sold if the price were not so high. Every Tamil Cooly who can read ought to have a fair opportunity of procuring a Bible. But if he buys such a Bible as he can carry about with him on his way to and from India he must give 5s. 6d. for it—one-third of a month's earnings. It is the same as if a poor English labourer had to give 2l. for his copy of God's Word.

Mr. Pickford gives several instances of the happy connexion of the Missionary labours in Ceylon with those in South India.

Spiritual connexion between Ceylon
velly.

In Matelle district a spirit of earnest inquiry arose on A—— estate. I visited it in January, and great was my joy to find nine men, all from North Tinnevelly, anxiously seeking the way of life. Two of them said they had been under instruction in their own village for a short time, but necessity had obliged them to come over to Ceylon before they could be baptized. These men had joined their relations on this estate. The conversations of the catechist "had laid hold of them," they said, and "we wish now to finish that which we once begun, and our friends wish to go with us." It is impossible for me to describe the joy and thankfulness which filled my heart when I saw our work in Ceylon linked with the labours of our brethren in Tinnevelly. In the month of April I again visited this district, and it was my happiness and privilege to administer the ordinance of baptism to seven of these nine inquirers.

Another illustration of the action and reaction of a gracious influence between the older Mission in South India and the Cooly Mission in Ceylon is thus stated by Mr. Pickford in his report, April 30, 1865:—

church.

In the report of last year it was mentioned that one of our Tamil Christians, who had been brought under the influence of the Gospel through the instrumentality of the Cooly Mission, had contributed the large sum of 100l. for the building of a church in his own village near Trichinopoly. The sequel deserves notice. The Committee of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel being made acquainted with this man's donation sanctioned a grant of 100l. towards the same object, and thus a handsome church is being built. But a further result followed. The people in an adjoining village, seeing what had been done by one who a few years before was a heathen, resolved to possess a place of worship as permanent and beautiful as their neighbours'. They therefore raised among themselves 100l., and having obtained the same help from the Parent Society, they also will rejoice in a suitable and substantial church in which they can meet to worship the true God. These two churches will be, throughout the district of Trichinopoly, silent witnesses of Ceylon. Men will observe that temporal and spiritual good may be obtained in this island.

IV. Jaffna District.

Nellore commenced, 1818; Chundicully, 1842; Copay, 1847.

European Mission Establishment:

Rev. Charles Chapman M'Arthur (m), 1858.

Rev. Henry Dixon Buswell (m), 1862: at home.

JAFFNA.

The Rev. C. C. M'Arthur and the Rev. H. D. Buswell laboured together in this district at the commencement of the year. But on the 1st of August Mr. Buswell was sent home on sick certificate. On the 9th of August the Bishop of Colombo arrived to hold a visitation of the northern district of his diocese, when three native catechists were presented for Deacons' orders. The Bishop's notes of his visitation, published in the island, convey so detailed and encouraging an account of the Mission, that they may take the place of the usual Missionary reports.

Independent testimony to Missionary success.

Wednesday, August 9th—The day was occupied in the examination of the candidates for ordination, one Priest and three Deacons. Mr. Hensman, whom I admitted to Deacons' orders on my last visit to Jaffna, has laboured very faithfully, and is now to be presented for the higher office in the ministry, as the departure of Mr. Buswell from illness has left the Mission in a crippled state, with only one English Missionary.

Thursday August 10th—Our examination was continued this morning. At eleven I confirmed Mr. MacArthur's Tamil candidates at Chundicully. I visited the Wesleyan Mission and schools afterwards, asking a few questions in each of the classes. They seemed to be very well taught, and I was surprised at the subjects in which they were being prepared. The school, I am told, is affiliated to Madras. In the afternoon I was present at the examination of the Chundicully (Church Missionary) boys' school, which was most satisfactory. I was pleased to see the masters of the school we had seen in the morning present and taking their part in questioning the boys.

Friday, August 11th—This morning I held a confirmation at Nellore, where I am staying. The congregation was a large one, almost entirely native; and the candidates were of various ages, many baptized as adults on their conversion from heathenism. One poor Pariah woman especially struck me. She came hesitatingly forward, as if doubtful that she would be received, and knelt with her head so low that I could barely reach it with my hands. May she learn that in Christ all are one, and, retaining humility, "have boldness," and draw near in full assurance by the "New and Living Way!" In the afternoon I presided at the examination of the Nellore girls' school. This is an institution of great promise. The first class of girls who were examined to-day are all on the point of leaving, and in a short time will be the Christian wives of the young men trained in the schools of the Mission. The great difficulty hitherto has been to carry on the education of both sexes. Amongst the Singhalese the problem is still far from being solved. In the evening several of the neighbouring Missionaries and their wives came. I gave them some account of our doings in the other parts of the island. I had great pleasure in meeting Dr. Spaulding, the venerable head of the Jaffna American Mission. He made some interesting remarks on what I had said on the subject of Missions, and his great experience gives weight to any words of his.

Saturday, August 12th—I went to Copay in the morning for a confirmation, and into the town of Jaffna for the same purpose in the afternoon. The latter was for the English congregation. The little church was quite full, and it was refreshing to return to my native tongue after a week of Tamil.

Increase
of native
ministry.

the work.

Monday, August 14th—Sunday was a day not to be easily forgotten. In the morning service at Nellore I ordained Mr. Hensman Priest, and three Deacons. All these are native pastors, the first of this Mission admitted to this high and sacred trust. Mr. MacArthur read the morning prayer in Tamil. The sermon and ordination service were in English, to the end of the prayer for the church militant, and the rest again in Tamil. The congregation was very large, and at least two hundred natives remained to the holy communion. It was a most solemn and striking scene, and I do not think the most prejudiced could witness it and doubt the reality of the work that is being done here. I spoke to those newly ordained afterwards, and I fully hope and believe they may be relied on. Such a step must be taken some time, if the Mission is a reality, and they will have the oversight of the English Missionary to aid them at least in the beginning of their ministry. The Church Missionary Society may be congratulated in having brought its good work in Jaffna to this state of progress, though I do not wish them to withdraw their control from it for some time yet, until it is seen that the infant church of the Tamils is self-supporting, both as to its funds and its ministry. May the Divine blessing rest on these first-fruits of their Jaffna Mission! In the evening I preached at Chundicully for the funds of the Mission, taking for my text (Eph. iii. 9.) the words—"To make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery." So ended a day of much anxious thought and prayer, but of most happy presages.

This morning Mr. MacArthur and I set off for the estates. We arrived at Karandhi soon after nine o'clock, where Mr. Blundell kindly received us at his bungalow. After we had breakfasted and rested, the people were collected, and we had service.

Mr. MacArthur baptized a child, and, after one of our newly-made deacons had read the Litany, I confirmed fourteen candidates. At the conclusion of the service I addressed the assembled people, of whom many were heathen. They were very attentive, and I trust that few of those we saw to-day will continue to refuse the Gospel. The work has prospered, I think, not only from the diligence of the Missionaries, but the willing aid and support given to their labour by the managers of the estates. They talk of building a small church, and one of the native pastors is to be stationed here. If I am allowed to visit them again, I confidently hope to find Christianity firmly established in this neighbourhood.

On Thursday I went to visit my friends at Oodoo-ville—Dr. and Mrs. Spaulding. We found them expecting us, and I accompanied Dr. Spaulding into his school, where I asked the girls a few questions, and, as before, was much pleased. We left our friends after a short but most pleasant visit. They are a beautiful sight in themselves, an aged couple, spending their last days in Christian work. To-day we drove to Manipay, another of the American stations, where Mr. and Mrs. Hastings received us. I inspected the printing press and repository—the ‘armoury’ out of which this little army has been supplied for its warfare with heathenism.

Saturday, August 19th—This day I held a visitation in St. John’s Church, Chundicully. It was chiefly for the sake of the church-wardens, as, now there are native pastors, these officers will be required for the churches, and also for the collection and care of the funds, matters which it is always desirable to take from the clergy themselves. Mr. MacArthur read prayers, and when Mr. Gomes had called over the names, I delivered a charge, not a written one, but a brief review of the state of things in the Mission from my notes. I was glad to see no fewer than eight clergy and some sixteen wardens.

I have now concluded my visitation work at Jaffna, and only wait the steamer’s departure to return to Colombo. It is very gratifying to find the Mission in so healthy a state, in spite of some severe trials. Two of its Missionaries—Mr. Pargiter and Mr. Buswell, the former the most experienced in the work, the latter just beginning his work with the freshness of youth—both, since my last visit, called away to England on account of failing health. And yet no ground has been lost—no work given up. And now, with the addition of the native pastors I have ordained, my friend Mr. MacArthur will be able, I trust, to carry on his work without sacrificing himself by the multiplicity of the calls upon him. He has my earnest prayers for his continued health, and the prospering of his work.

COPAY.

Previously to Mr. Buswell being compelled to leave Ceylon through the failure of his health he presented a report of his work, from which the following are extracts :—

Missionary reports sometimes too gloomy.
May 1865—I must commence my account of what is being done in this part of the Mission field by saying that it is much easier to engage in the work than to write about it. Previous to my leaving England some zealous friends of the cause painted the Missionary work of Ceylon in such dark colours that my enthusiasm was considerably cooled before we doubled the Cape, and the expectations I was thus led to entertain were of the gloomiest kind. The success, therefore, which the Lord has been pleased to grant to our feeble endeavours during the past two years, though apparently very, very small, is more than commensurate with our anticipations; thanks to the zeal and devotion of those engaged in the work before us. During the two years we have admitted to the outward church, by baptism, 22 adults and 11 children. Truly the “quantity” is small, but we humbly believe the “quality is good.” Although this is the day of small things, we take it as an earnest of what the Lord is willing to do, and pray that the needful faith, zeal, and discretion may be apportioned to us.

AFRICA MISSIONS.

Mauritius Mission.

(Commenced in 1856.)

Division of the Mission : 1. Tamil-speaking Coolies ; 2. Bengali or Hindustani-speaking Coolies.

European Mission Establishment :

Rev. Stephen Hobbs (m), to South India, 1839 ; to Mauritius, 1856.

Rev. Paul Ansorgé (m), to Bengal, 1845 ; to Mauritius, 1857.

Rev. Peter Sorenson Royston, M.A. (m), to South India, 1855 ; to Mauritius, 1864, Secretary of the Mission.

Government aid to Missionary operations.

FROM the first commencement of the Society's Mission in Mauritius the local Government have manifested a very favourable disposition towards it. The appointment of one of the Missionaries—Mr. Ansorgé—to the charge of the Government Orphanage, without detaching him from the Mission, or placing any restrictions upon his Missionary labours, was a proof of this friendly feeling, and has enabled the authorities the better to appreciate the spirit of the Missionaries and the importance of their work. At the same time the large number of heathen flocking to the island, many of them from the wildest parts of India, and the frequency of murders perpetrated by this class, demanded the attention of Government. The result has been the setting apart of 1000*l.* a year of the revenue of the island for the aid of Missions of the various denominations. About one-third of this sum has been allotted to the Society's Missionaries. The Parent Committee have, however, thought it a better course to devote the whole of the Government aid to the supply of native agency, especially of native pastors, the Society continuing to pay the whole salaries of their European Missionaries. The Government has also wisely organized a system of vernacular schools for the Indians, with Indian masters, and have engaged to give grants-in-aid equal to one-half of the whole expense, to every school which the Missionaries maintain for Indian children. It is hoped that these advantages will enable the Society greatly to extend its operations in the island, without any considerable increase of expenditure.

to Missions.

The health of the Rev. P. S. Royston has so greatly improved that he is able to return to his old post of labour at Madras, and will probably remove thither in the early part of the present year.

THE TAMIL BRANCH.

The Rev. S. Hobbs has the superintendence of the Tamil branch of the Mauritius Mission. He is stationed at Crève Cœur, where he has a regular Sunday service in Tamil. He is assisted by one catechist, though his work would enable him to employ many more under his superintendence. It is hoped that the aid of Government will now enable him to procure this important means of increasing his own efficiency. Mr. Hobbs itinerates through the different districts of the island. Everywhere he finds a few converts, but they are so migratory that they cannot be regularly visited or entered upon a registry. There have been ten adult baptisms in the year. Mr. Hobbs records an interesting instance of the value set upon God's word by a native inquirer:—

Another truly hopeful case is that of a man who had applied to Mr. Matthews for baptism, and whom I went to see, in company with Mr. Matthews, at his employer's house. He produced a Testament, which proved to be Maylayalim, and I found he did not understand Tamil. We looked out for him the Lord's Prayer in the 6th chapter of Matthew, and gave him a little instruction in Creole. A few days ago he obtained his new-year's holiday, and repaired to Mr. Matthews' house to repeat his application for baptism. Mr. Matthews questioned him upon the Gospels, and found him well acquainted with the whole history of our blessed Lord's life and actions. It then came out that the book he had used was a borrowed one, and that the owner had lately demanded it back, as he was leaving for India. Unwilling to lose it, the poor man had offered any price for it, and a bargain was settled at last which shows the high value he set upon it. He agreed to pay six dollars (twenty-four shillings), almost a month's wages, for the New Testament, but not being able to raise the amount at the moment, he lost it after all. I have promised to lose no time in endeavouring to procure him a copy of the precious volume from Madras, as we have none of that language here.

BENGALI BRANCH OF THE MISSION.

Liberated Africans.

The Bengali branch of the Mission is under the superintendence of the Rev. P. Ansorgé, assisted by the native minister, the Rev. Charles Kushali and two catechists. In the early part of 1865 he was absent in Europe for the recovery of his health. In a letter dated November 20 he announced his safe arrival in the Mauritius, and the resumption of his old sphere of labour. This embraces the Government Institution at the Powder Mills, where he has more than 240 orphans to teach and train. Whence these orphans come will appear from the following extract from his letter:—"A few days ago a man-of-war brought again a number of rescued slaves, of both sexes, old and young, to Mauritius, 200 in number: nineteen of these, girls and boys, of the age of seven to nine years, were sent to me to be admitted to the Asylum. All the Africans who arrived here some years ago crowded round them, and began to speak to them in the African tongue. Mrs. Ansorgé and myself have now a great advantage: as the Africans who arrived here first can speak a little English, both of us could speak to the newly-arrived liberated little Africans, as we used the elder ones as interpreters."

Mr. Ansorgé found that twenty-five boys were just about to leave the Asylum, some as teachers, others to be apprenticed to the trade they had learned. "I have great hope that many of them will exercise a good influence on their countrymen, with whom they will now come in contact. May our Lord preserve them from falling, as, in leaving their home, they will be exposed to many temptations. Among the twenty-five boys were eight who had not been baptized. Of their own accord they came to ask for baptism, and I had the joy of baptizing them some weeks ago. Three of them were Africans, the others Indians."

Another branch of his work is the church at Port Louis, a church built by subscription at a cost of more than 3000*l.*, and of which the bishop says he does "not know a better, more solid, convenient, and well adapted for worship anywhere." This church is well used. There are four services every Sunday—a Bengali, Hindustani, Telugu, and French service, the latter being conducted by the bishop, or one of the French-speaking clergy. The Bengali and Nagri services are those which are assigned to Mr. Ansorgé, and in these he is assisted by the native deacon, the Rev. Charles Kushali. On the first Sunday after Mr. Ansorgé's return there were present at the Bengali service about 100 persons; and at the Nagri, forty Christians.

After the services, the congregation crowded around Mrs. Ansorgé and myself to welcome us. All showed their affection for their old Missionary. I was not now a stranger, as I was on my arrival here eight years ago, to begin Missionary work, when only a few Christians, who had been gathered before my arrival by C. Kushali, then catechist, assembled for Christian worship at the emigration depot.

Mr. Ansorgé's hands have been strengthened in the Mission work by the catechist Madha Ram, from Agra. He has, as his immediate sphere of work, a large village of independent Indians, close to his house on one side; and on the other side a number of Indian shops, and several large plantations close by. There is also a Madras catechist, who accompanies the Missionary in his visits to the camps; so that while Mr. Ansorgé speaks to the people from Calcutta, the catechist addresses the Tamil-speaking people. Thus Missionary work in the Mauritius requires the employment of many tongues, inasmuch as there are found people from all different parts of India in the camps.

Madagascar Mission.

(Commenced 1863.)

Rev. Thomas Campbell, 1863.

Rev. Herbert Maundrell, 1863.

It was stated in the last Report that Messrs. Campbell and Maundrell had commenced a Mission at Vohemare, on the N.-E. coast at Madagascar, and that their first entrance upon the work had been full of hope, from the fact that the Governor of the District was a native Christian.

Disappointment, however, soon followed, when it was discovered that the district of Vohemare was very thinly peopled, was shut out from other parts of the island, and that the communication with the capital, and with Mauritius was most uncertain and tedious. Difficulties also arose in their relations with the authorities. Under these circumstances it was determined by the Missionaries, under the advice of the Bishop of Mauritius, to explore the coast north and south of Vohemare. The Bishop thus reports the result:—

Oct. 6.—The present position of affairs in our Church Missions in Madagascar is as follows:—The Church Missionary Society's Missionaries at Vohemare had decided on separating for a time, that they might fully explore the coast, the Rev. H. Maundrell taking the shorter line to the north, which would enable him to remain at Vohemare, i.e. at Amboanio, the garrison town, and at Hiarana, the seaport, about ten miles apart, while Mr. Campbell was away on a long journey to the south. Our last intelligence was from Mr. Campbell, who had come down to Angoutez, and remained there four Sundays, teaching and preaching the Word, and had found a native whom he hoped to establish as catechist on his return. From thence he proceeded by roads of which the difficulty will be readily imagined by those who have a good map of Madagascar, and follow the line of the track round the head of the Bay of Antongil, where the mountains run down to the sea. The bearers declared that the bad parts of the road from Tamatave to the capital were a mere trifle compared with these. To our surprise from what we had heard of the country, we found that Mr. Campbell had reached Maransetra, and had been there three weeks when he wrote a letter giving a short account of his proceedings and plans. Invaluable information on the real state of the country, the numbers and character of the population, and the openings amongst the Betsimasarakas and the Sakalaves, may be expected from Mr. Campbell's journal, and from Mr. Maundrell's account of the country to the north. With the exception of a comparatively short distance between Maransetra, the most southern point reached by Mr. Campbell, and the country reached by the Rev. John Holding, the whole coast from Antomboka on the northern extremity to Andevorante will have been explored by clergymen of the Church of England; while we have full accounts, during the last eighteen months, from travellers and traders, of the state of things as far down as Manoro. An inland town on the mountains, about forty or fifty miles west of Tamatave, has been reached by the Rev. J. Holding, and authentic accounts given of another, much larger, more distant, and in direct communication with the capital.

The result of these explorations has shown that the locality of Vohemare was not in any respect a suitable basis for a Mission, and that it was necessary to select a new station. The south-east coast has therefore been selected beyond the district of Tamatave, occupied by the Missionaries of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.

The following extracts from the journals of the Missionaries will be read with much interest.

Mr. Maundrell writes:—

Lord's-day : July 23, 1865—I have had two full services to-day. That of the morning was attended by about twenty persons, and this afternoon by more than thirty. This is somewhat new for Amboanio. Some, of course, came out of curiosity, but there are a few who are beginning to come regularly, and I would gladly hope that the teaching of God's word is beginning to work upon the minds of the people. At the morning service, John Ratsiza was so moved by seeing the new comers, that he asked me to allow him to preach, which I did, and he gave us an earnest and powerful sermon on the parable of the sower. I had purposed to preach after he had finished, but felt that I could add nothing to the influence that this discourse had upon the hearers, so I reserved my subject for the afternoon.

preacher.

Mr. Maundrell thus expresses his feelings after preaching at Antomboka, the furthest point of his journey northward:—

Lord's-day : Sept. 17—This has been a happy day. How wonderful are the ways of God! Four years ago no Missionary dared to stand in Madagascar. Now there are many at the capital; two at Tamatave; Mr. Campbell is at Amboanio; and I have preached the Gospel to-day at the extreme north point of the island—a spot very seldom visited by any European whatever.

Wednesday, Sept. 20—This morning I was greatly interested by an old Hova scribe, who was taught by Messrs. Johns, Freeman, and Griffiths. He is not a Christian, but remembers, and is able to repeat, the Commandments, and has a fair knowledge of the plan of salvation, as well as of the character and duty of a true believer; thus encouragement is suggested for working on diligently and faithfully in instructing the people, in spite of all opposition. Truth cannot be erased from the heart when it has found a lodgment there. This poor old man, though now afraid to confess Christianity, may be saved by means of the instruction which he received so many years ago, but which, up to this time, has lain hid and stifled by the love of the world.

Lord's-day : Sept. 24—The Hova scribe has been with me most of this day. He repeated to me in English the doxology, "Glory, honour, praise, and power, &c.," all but the last line, which he had forgotten. This was taught to him by Mr. Griffiths, to be sung at the close of their meetings. He knows no English besides this one verse.

My opinion, after visiting Antomboka, is, that there are many persons there who would readily learn, if they were not prevented by the Governor; that Antomboka, from its isolated position, from there being not more than 1500 persons in the whole province, and from there being very little communication between it and the coast of Madagascar, affords no centre of Missionary operations.

East-Africa Mission.

(Commenced 1844)

European Mission Establishment :

Rev. John Rebmann (m), 1846.

The last Report announced the arrival in East Africa of a promising young Missionary, the Rev. J. Taylor. He entered upon his work with the freshness of youth: a division of work was arranged, and the arrival of the converted liberated Africans from Bombay seemed to promise a rapid development of the work at which Mr. Rebmann has so long toiled in solitude. But the Lord has ordered it otherwise. Mr. Taylor was stricken to death in the early part of the year. Mr. Rebmann had thus additional labour forced upon him, and has not furnished a formal report. The Committee are sending another young Missionary to East Africa, and they trust that, at another anniversary, they may have a fuller and more cheering report to present.

Miss Elizabeth Smith, joined in the Mission.

DURING the year 1865 the senior Missionary, the Rev. T. McClatchie, and the Rev. T. Stringer, were appointed Government Chaplains, and withdrew from the Mission. The Committee have only been able to send out in their place one new Missionary, the Rev. C. Atkinson, to Peking.

HONG KONG.

At the commencement of 1865 the Rev. Thomas Stringer and the Rev. C. F. Warren were the Missionaries at Hong Kong. Mr. Warren, being a new Missionary, his first two years were to have been devoted to the study of the language. But in March, Mr. Stringer removed to the Government Chaplaincy at Canton. Mr. Warren then took up his residence at St. Paul's College, and undertook its superintendence at the request of Bishop Smith. The absence of a Bishop, and, for a time also, of the Colonial Chaplain, upon a visit to England, have thrown a large amount of English ministerial duty upon Mr. Warren. When Mr. Burdon, of the Peking Mission, was returning to China, he was requested by the Parent Committee to consult with Mr. Warren on the state of the Mission. Being himself an experienced Missionary, he saw at once the very disadvantageous position which Mr. Warren occupied with reference to the acquisition of the language: he therefore determined to remain a few months at Hong Kong, with a view of assisting Mr. Warren in his multifarious duties, and enabling him to devote himself more vigorously to the study of the language. Mr. Burdon also rendered great assistance by directing the native pastor, the Rev. Lo-sam-yuen, into a more efficient discharge of an aggressive Mission.

The Committee confidently hope that, during the present year, both Mr. Warren and the native pastor will be enabled to make full proof of their Missionary ministry.

FUH-CHAU.

The Rev. Messrs. Wolfe and Cribb have laboured at this station throughout the past year. Being Mr. Cribb's first year, his chief attention has been directed to the language.

There is a small native church, consisting of twenty-two baptized adults and thirteen baptized children. There are nineteen communicants. Six adults have been baptized during the last year. A chapel stands in that part of the city called Nang-ka, which is open for daily preaching throughout the year. At the close of the preaching a friendly discussion is invited upon the subject of Christianity. During the latter part of the year a new church, built in the heart of the city by the liberal contributions of the British residents, has been opened, at which the church service is conducted in the vernacular twice every Sunday. Many of the better classes of the Chinese attend, out of curiosity, to witness the mode of Christian worship, so that, with the native Christians, there is a tolerable congregation each Sunday.

support of independent friends.

There is a large school in Nang-ka, containing about twenty-five pupils, chiefly of the lower classes; but two promising youths have been baptized from this school. There is also a girls' boarding-school, which at present only contains four girls, two of whom are Christians. There are five catechists employed at this station, who have been all raised from among the converts. Three of them are at out-stations, and are often visited by the Missionaries. All the catechists appear once a quarter for examination upon some subject previously arranged, by which means their training is still carried on. There are also a few promising youths in training as teachers.

In May Mr. Wolfe thus wrote of his work:—

prospects for China.

With regard to the present general prospects of Christianity here I am very hopeful. Though there are great difficulties, there has most evidently been progress, and that in no slight degree. Our object as Missionaries is now fully understood by the local Government and by the mass of the people. Christianity has been more fully brought under the notice of all classes, and the literary class at length is compelled to bring it within the scope of their observation. But concurrently with this more extensive knowledge of the nature of Christianity, and the object of its teaching, there has arisen, I am sorry to say, a deeper hatred for the name of Christ, and a more settled determination to stay the progress of His doctrines. This hatred and opposition show themselves in a variety of ways, especially in a regular systematic mode of persecution carried on against all who even attempt to embrace Christianity. The Christians, wherever they go, if they are known to be Christians, are despised and abused, and their "name cast out as evil." This has taken place recently, and it is a very great hindrance, as far as human eye can see, to our work among the Chinese of this city. Some inquirers have left us in consequence; but others, I am glad to say, still remain, notwithstanding the hatred and persecution which they have to endure, even from their own friends. One of our inquirers, because he would not give up coming to us, has been turned out on the streets, with his wife and three children, by his own brother, and was compelled to take refuge in one of our Christian's houses. He has been for three or four months a constant attendant at church, and at most of our meetings, &c. He was once a great devotee to idolatry. A few weeks ago he got employment in a large shop as inspector of goods. He entered into an agreement with the proprietor that he should not be compelled to work on the Sabbath, and that, in consideration of this, he should give up one-seventh of his wages. As he is a useful man to the proprietor, he had not very much difficulty in arranging it in this manner; but I fear the system of persecution which I mentioned to you above is brought to bear upon him, and I tremble for him.

Mr. Wolfe thus describes the auspicious opening of a new church in the heart of the city:—

Oct. 8, 1865: Lord's-day—We opened our new church, and on the occasion admitted ten by baptism into the visible church of Christ. We invited all our friends of the foreign community, and some of them attended. Nearly all the Missionaries and native Christians of the other Missions were also present, and a great many of well-disposed heathen.

I administered baptism to four adults and six children. It was an interesting and cheering spectacle. Around the font stood Mr. Lo Lîng, with his wife and two sons, ready to confess their faith in Christ, together with five children of native Christians, and the son of one who is still a heathen. Mr. Lo Lîng has had to endure a great deal for Christ's sake, but he has remained faithful. He has had many persecutions, and has had to undergo severe trials to his faith. His only daughter, who had been betrothed to a heathen, became a believer in Jesus, and continually prayed, and showed evidence, if not of real conversion, at least of deep interest in the truth. Her father was most anxious to have the engagement broken off, and the girl herself was equally desirous for a dissolution of the contract; but her reputed husband would not listen to it, and determined at once to marry her, and so prevent her becoming a Christian. The Chinese and foreigners present all seemed deeply interested, and many of our countrymen, who never probably saw a Chinese Christian in their lives before, believed, for the first time, in the reality of Missionary work. At the close of the sermon I laid before them a statement of the expense of the building. We found ourselves 500 dollars in debt. I stated this fact, but did not ask for money; but to day I have had letters of congratulation on the success of the building, and assurances that the debt shall be cleared off in a day or two. The entire cost of the building was 5000 dollars, including the ground purchase, which was 1500 dollars.

classes.

During service the Missionaries observed very many of the literary class in the body of the church, going through the service as orderly, and with as much apparent reverence, as the Christians. It is the impression of all that our new church will attract the literary class to hear the Gospel, and have a general good effect on the people of Fuh-chau. After morning service I opened the doors to the crowd assembled outside, and preached to them for some considerable time. They behaved themselves remarkably well, and listened attentively, considering their great curiosity to see the interior of our "great English hall of worship." The day passed off without the slightest annoyance of any kind, whereas a few years ago such a thing could not have taken place without exciting the whole city to fury, which would have resulted most probably in the entire destruction of all the foreign houses in the city. What a change has come over the people! We look for greater changes—changes brought about, not by political treaties or military force, but by the moral force of Christian truth, which is destined to subdue all nations to Christ. Christianity is already penetrating the minds of the people, and the interest which was taken by the heathen in the opening of our church yesterday is a testimony to this fact which cannot be gainsaid.

Missionary Tours.

In the month of March Mr. Wolfe, in company with a friend, an European merchant, made a Missionary journey to a city called Po Siang, 350 miles from Fuh-chau. He remarks:—

The people in the northern part of the province are physically much superior to those in the neighbourhood of Fuh-chau, and the country presents a much higher state of civilization and prosperity. In the northern cities and towns we did not see a single instance of a female carrying burdens, or engaged in manual labour. This is quite common in and about Fuh-chau. Public works, such as watermills, bridges, &c., are frequent and superior.

We started from Fuh-chau on Monday, March 2nd, taking with us four coolies and the Bible Society's colporteur, and a number of books and tracts for distribution. As our stock of Testaments was necessarily small, I had planned to distribute, if possible, one copy in every town and village through which we passed, so that there might be in every place a fountain from which the waters of life might be drawn. I am sorry to say I was unable to carry out this plan in every instance, for the number of villages we found to be ten times more than the number of Testaments we had brought. Of tracts we had a better supply, and therefore could afford to be more liberal. The people appeared very civil, and were highly pleased to find that we could speak a little of their language.

Out-stations.

At the close of 1864 an experienced catechist was placed at a large town, Lieng-kong, about forty miles N.E. from Fuh-chau. A small preaching-house was procured, where the catechist daily obtains audiences, and sells and distributes books and tracts. This out-station has afforded so much encouragement, that the Missionaries were induced to open, at the close of last year, two more out-stations, one at Lo-nquong, about forty miles N. W. from Lieng-kong, and the other at Ku-chang, about 100 miles further in the same direction, in the midst of a mountainous region. These are all influential centres for Missionary operations.

NINGPO.

The Rev. G. E. Moule having removed to Hang-chow, he only occasionally visits Ningpo. The Rev. A. Moule and the Rev. J. D. Valentine have carried on the Mission of Ningpo and its neighbourhood. Mr. G. E. Moule thus reviews the operations of the year at Ningpo:—

You will rejoice with us at the increase in the number of baptisms, which, counting only adults, is more than double that of either of the two previous years. Of this large number (the Lord make it ^{Progress.} speedily a thousand-fold more!) San-poh has contributed the largest share, namely, sixteen adults. I do not, indeed, consider a mere roll of baptisms at the present stage of our work by any means an adequate criterion of the amount of labour bestowed, or of God's blessing upon the work. Of all our districts, probably not one has received more labour than the populous plain round Tsong-gyiao, where my brother, with native assistants, has carried out a methodical system of visitation, extending to about sixty towns and villages, which will hereafter prove, as I believe, to have been of the very highest utility, though of "results," in the shape of baptisms, there is next to nothing to report. Knowledge of Christianity, of the persons of its preachers, of the points of difference from Popery, has been largely increased in the district, and will, I trust, in God's good time, bear fruit.

Perhaps the most interesting convert of the year is a shopkeeper in Dzianglifong, of peculiarly amiable character, and, withal, conversion. Interesting earnest and intelligent, though upwards of sixty years old. He is fond of reading, and is a great help to Tse by conducting Sunday services at Tsong-tseng in his absence, and by the support which his thoroughly-respectable character affords him in his comparatively single-handed position. The old man showed his earnestness with regard to the Sunday and divine service during one of the great floods which swept his valley, and carried away some of the wooden suspension bridges which span the hill stream, by spending a considerable sum (for one in his circumstances) in order to get a steep and unfrequented path put into repair, so as to enable him to walk down (the three miles) to Tsong-tseng, to church.

The re-commencement of the Z-ky'i station, in connexion with Tsong-gyiao, which I have alluded to from time to time during the year, has been attended by no small difficulty, but is, I trust, not without promise of usefulness, and has already yielded one very hopeful Christian convert.

Advantage
of medical Missions.

At the close of October a proposal was made to us by Dr. M'Carter an old and well-known member of the American Presbyterian Mission, to commence a gratuitous dispensary at our rooms, if we would guarantee a small stock of medicines for the purpose. The dispensary has been at work now some seven or eight weeks. My brother usually accompanies the doctor in his weekly visits, and addresses the patients: he has reported to me from time to time the progress of the business. The rooms are altogether too small for the numbers that apply for medicine, which have risen from about 50 to 150 on the last visit of which I have heard. Mandarins, secretaries, and other employés have come among the crowd, and both the increase of attendants on the Sunday and daily preaching, and the expressed willingness of one person to let us larger premises, show pretty clearly that prejudice has been in some degree softened. I have recommended no change of premises for the present, on account of the limit put to all our operations by the last estimates.

The Rev. A. E. Moule reports:—

Self-reliance
of native
Christians.

With respect to our out-stations, no large churches are being gathered together; but little bands are gathering round a yearly increasing number of centres. The electric wires are being laid in all directions: we wait but the shock from heaven. Mr. Green, an American Missionary, lately observed that there were manifest marks of permanency in the state of the native churches. He mentioned the order and decorum with which their native presbyters conduct their presbytery meetings. In illustration of this idea of permanency, I mentioned the case of our Hwun-hoe-we church in Scen-poh. When consulting about a plan which they have since adopted, namely, the renting of a room for a chapel in one of the large towns near the sea from the Native Church Fund, they hesitated as to promising too much, wishing, as they said, to have a reserve fund to fall back upon, should foreign aid be withdrawn.

In my last annual letter I reported from seventy to eighty towns and villages as regularly visited during 1864. I have nearly doubled this number, in the same district, during 1865, from 130 to 140 places having received from three to four, or more, visits each, by myself or the catechists, during 1865. I cannot but think that, in my former estimates of the population, I have fallen considerably below a correct reckoning. From all I can gather, our estimate of five to a family is pretty nearly the average here; and if so, these 130 places contain probably more than 200,000 souls. I was not a little grieved to be unable to complete my autumn circuit, but the greater part of the places I was compelled to omit the catechist has since visited. The great Sœn-poh district is now under my superintendence; and in December I visited forty-seven places, great and small, containing about 150,000 souls: the towns and villages in Sœn-poh are densely populated. One place alone contains some 45,000 souls, all of the surname of Sing.

In November last my wife began a Bible class for Chinese women. She has now twelve regular attendants: the expenses are met from private funds.

HANG-CHOW.

The importance of Hang-chow as a Mission station was thus described by an American Missionary who has laboured for some years in the far interior, in the report of a Missionary conference at Ningpo. "Mr. Knowlton turned aside to visit Hang-chow, and expressed himself as being greatly struck with the vast importance of Hang-chow, the provincial capital, as a Missionary station. The work carried on there will, if tolerated, and if judiciously and faithfully conducted, give a tone and a sanction to similar work throughout the province." He spoke also very hopefully of what he had seen in Hang-chow—the absence of rudeness or annoyance of any kind offered to my brother and his family; on the contrary, the willing and effective interference on our behalf by the Mandarins in the two cases of insult offered to our native assistants. He imagines that a precedent is now established, sanctioning the residence of Missionaries in any part of the empire. May it be so; but Chinese magistrates are most capricious in their dealings.

Hitherto we have enjoyed perfect freedom from annoyance, and have had more than our usual health. The presence of my wife and children, although it occasions, of course, no small anxiety in a place where medical advice is out of reach, yet more than compensates for this anxiety, not only by the beneficial effect on our health and spirits, but also, as I believe, of the moral effect on our heathen neighbours, of our implicit confidence in them, and desire for their welfare. We occasionally walk with the children through the ruined, but not untraversed, streets, and whilst much kindly notice is taken of the children, we have never met with the least intentional rudeness; and one interesting acquaintance has resulted from the extreme interest taken in the children by a scholar who met us in one of our walks. He and his brother have since exchanged visits with us, and one of them has sat down at our table, and also been present at a Sunday-afternoon Litany, kneeling with us during the prayer. I have reported in a former letter, if I am not mistaken, the violence offered to John Dzang during the summer, on one occasion, by some Buddhist Hookang, at the great convent of Tien-chuh; on another by some graduates who had come up in August for the Ku-jin examinations. On both these occasions I wrote to our Consul, Mr. Fittock, and, as the result of his representations, a Hookang was put in the canque, and a proclamation, under the seal of the district magistrates who have jurisdiction within this city, was sent to us for suspension in our chapel, reciting our grievances and the punishment of the offenders in one instance, and warning all persons that no molestation of ourselves, or disturbances in our chapels, would pass unpunished, if proper information were laid before the magistrate.

During the two months we have spent here we have had much to encourage us in the baptism of one convert, in the regular attendance on Sunday services of three or four respectable men who profess and wish to be baptized, and the more occasional attendance of many more—women as well as men—averaging at least twenty each Sunday morning, who are so far interested as to join reverently in all our acts of worship, so far as posture is concerned, and to listen most attentively to my addresses; and, lastly, in the intercourse we have had with persons more or less instructed at Shanghae in Christian doctrine, and having some seriousness respecting its application to themselves, but who have not yet taken the step of seeking baptism. One of these, formerly a wealthy man, named Tai, after a visit to Dzang during the summer, made his appearance again about ten days ago, and astonished me by his evident ability, his accurate knowledge of Romanism, which he had studied with a view to baptism for five years, but the errors of which he had seen clearly since making the acquaintance of the London Missionaries at Shanghae during the troubles, and the amount of general scientific information he had acquired from the books (Herschel's Astronomy amongst the number) translated and published by that Mission. He spent last Sunday here, and on another day he sat down with the graduate I have mentioned above at our dinner-table. Besides the conversations and preaching we are enabled to carry on daily, both in our special preaching-room and in this house, visits have been paid by John Dzang, accompanied by Tse, who came up for the purpose, to several places in the country west of the city, in which some seeds of the truth had been scattered by Dzang's younger brother, James, who works as an itinerant cooper, and has of his own accord carried tracts with him, and spoken to his employer and fellow-craftsmen of the one God and the way of salvation. They found the desolation in the country through which they travelled greater, if possible, than that in the city, many cultivated lands having become mere wild and thick covert.

SHANGHAE.

There has been no resident Missionary of the Society at Shanghae during the last few years ; but there remain a few converts, the fruit of former Missionary labours, under the charge of the Rev. Dzaw Tsang-lae, a native pastor. An American Missionary, the Rev. E. H. Thomson, kindly assists the native pastor by his countenance and advice, and reports that there are seventeen communicants of the church, and four persons preparing for baptism ; and that these church members will bear comparison with any of the native converts attached to the other Missions. An American lady also, Miss Fay, who was formerly attached to the Shanghae Church Mission School, has returned, after an absence in Europe, and finding the school placed upon a new footing by the local trustees, she has applied herself to the instruction of two elementary schools, the one of sixteen orphan boys, the other of sixteen girls, and is striving to gain access to the native females. Her knowledge of the language enables her occasionally to worship with the native church, and she bears testimony to the faithful preaching of the native pastor.

PEKIN.

Mr. McClatchie, with the assent of the Committee, under the peculiar circumstances of his family, has relinquished the Mission, and undertaken the Government chaplaincy at Hankow. Mr. Burdon has been in Europe.

Mr. Collins, during the latter part of the year, has been alone. He thus writes :—

We are gladly beginning to feel our way to more extended communication with the multitudes around us. I have not yet opened a regular dispensary, but I am never without patients, and have been successful in permanently relieving several opium smokers from that degrading and enslaving habit. In the spring of last year, the health of our children suffering from the annual opening of drains in the city, we took refuge in a temple on the western hills. We were not then aware that the temples are all thronged with visitors in the fourth month : a door for work was thus unexpectedly opened. Many high families came to the temple we were in, and all the ladies visited my wife. About 300, of various ranks, came, most of whom heard something of the Gospel, or took tracts away with them. This year we are hoping to take advantage of the same opening, having again taken up our quarters in the temple, and our vocabulary and powers of speaking being enlarged, we hope to convey more plainly to their minds the knowledge of the way of salvation.

visitors.

Christian women, who have the will and the ability to acquire the language, have a great sphere of usefulness in China, and especially in Pekin: their presence is much desired in the houses of the middle and upper classes, where a foreign visitor of the other sex would not be tolerated. Mrs. Collins has begun to make such visits in the neighbourhood of the girls' school, and has been well received in each instance, and the next visit has been evidently expected: she has sometimes met as many as twenty females in one house, including the old grandmother, sons' wives, and their daughters. This agency is most important, because in our chapels and at our roadside conversations our hearers are nearly all men; thus the more impregnable portion of the population is beyond the reach of the preacher.

In the spring I made continual efforts for a month to obtain a position for a chapel in the outside city, which foreigners call the Chinese city, to distinguish it from the Tartar city: these efforts were ineffectual, the people being unwilling to permit a foreigner to rent. I was therefore compelled to seek a fresh location in the Tartar city, and succeeded beyond my expectation, for my teacher obtained an old tea-shop in an important thoroughfare, at a very moderate rent—about 12*l.* a year. This was the first attempt to open a chapel in a large street, and the opening was looked forward to with interest by the other Missionaries. When first opened there was but small excitement, though the chapel was filled to overflowing. It can contain 250 people. The audiences kept up pretty well through the summer; and in winter, though the doors are closed on account of the cold, we can always assemble a goodly number, who listen attentively both to the catechist and myself.

In our Mission we have been permitted to receive three persons by baptism: two of them are father and son, from a distant city.

NEW-ZEALAND MISSION.

European Missionaries first arrived in New South Wales, 1810; proceeded to New Zealand, 1814: Mission confined to the Northern Island.

DIVISION OF THE MISSION.

- I. Northern District, comprising the Diocese of New Zealand.
- II. Eastern District, comprising the Diocese of Waiapu.
- III. Western District, comprising the Diocese of Wellington.

Deaths and removals of Missionaries.

It has pleased God, during the last year, to afflict the New-Zealand Mission by the death of four valuable Missionaries. In March Mr. Volkner was murdered; in June, Mr. Morgan died, after thirty-three years labour; in November, Archdeacon Kissling, after the same period of labour in connexion with this Society, and six years in connexion with the Basle Missionary Society in Africa; in November, Mr. Hamlin entered into his rest after a Missionary career of forty years. Two Missionaries have also withdrawn—the Rev. J. A. Wilson, and Mr. Booth. Archdeacon Kissling occupied a prominent position, having been stationed at Auckland, and having trained for holy orders all the native clergymen already ordained. His abilities as a scholar, his sound judgment, and his peace-loving spirit, will be long remembered in the Mission as precious gifts vouchsafed to the infant church of New Zealand. One native minister has also been removed by death.

Death of Missionaries.

Political state of New Zealand and the Hauhau fanaticism.

In the last Annual Report it was stated that the war between the natives and the Queen's troops had greatly abated, but that a new fanatical superstition had stirred up the native mind, and had hurried some of the tribes into the most cruel and savage excesses, which had culminated in the murder of the Society's Missionary, the Rev. C. S. Volkner, of Opotiki. That murder was perpetrated on the 2nd of March 1865: though announced, therefore, in the last Report, it belongs to the series of events of the year 1865 now under review. The hopes of an early termination of the war between the Queen's troops and the natives were realized. A despatch from the Home Government, authorizing the Governor to act in certain emergencies independently of his ministers, and casting the expense of the Queen's troops upon the colonial revenue, led to a speedy proclamation of peace and amnesty, and to the

Origin of Pai Mai-rere fanaticism.

But unhappily the fanatical excitement gained strength as the war abated: it did, in fact, spring from the war spirit, and was a prolongation of the national struggle for an independent Maori king, intensified by a superstitious notion of miraculous powers and a new revelation from heaven. The origin of the excitement has been traced to a native of the Taranaki tribe named Horopapera, who, in the latter part of 1862, began to invent a new religion to supersede the preaching of the Missionaries. When hostilities recommenced, in May 1863, this man joined the insurgents, and laid the plan of an ambuscade, into which Captain Lloyd of the 57th Regiment fell, on the 5th April 1864, and was, with several of his men, killed by the natives. The place of the ambuscade was called Hau Hau. Upon the success of this enterprise, Horopapera became a leader in the war, and having preserved the head of Captain Lloyd in the mode adopted by the New Zealanders in their old savage state, he carried it with him as a symbol of the new religion, and his followers assumed the name of Hauhaus. The next attempt of the Hauhaus was an expedition down the river Wanganui, to murder and exterminate the Europeans in the settlement of Wanganui: they were then 200 strong; but they were met by a body of friendly natives, who encountered them in a severe fight, and killed the greater number of the Hauhaus and dispersed the rest. It was in this encounter that our Missionary, Mr. Booth, then at Pipiriki on the Wanganui river, was in imminent danger of being murdered by the Hauhaus. This disaster, and the events in the campaign in Waikato and at Tauranga, cast the proceedings of the Hauhaus into obscurity, except that the new superstition spread rapidly, under the name of "Pai Mairere," and the Maori king became an adherent. Early in 1865 a large party of Hauhaus from Taranaki determined to invade the East Coast, passing through the centre of the island by way of Taupo, to rekindle the war, and to put to death some of the Missionaries. The place on the East Coast to which they directed their march was Opotiki. The place has long appeared on our list as one of the stations of the Society; but it had been one of the least satisfactory: it had been often left for years without a resident Missionary. The Romanist Missionaries had a chapel in the place, and divided the inhabitants. The Romanist Missionary has been removed by his bishop to Australia, and the cause of his removal was attributed to the Protestant Missionary's representations. There was much mutual distrust and ill feeling in the tribe.

Mr. Volkner was absent when the Hauhaus arrived at Opotiki, and the whole population had, for two days, been under the spell of delusion and excitement. Upon Mr. Volkner's arrival by sea, accompanied by Mr. Grace, both Missionaries were seized and made prisoners by direction of the Hauhaus; and the next day, after a mock trial of Mr. Volkner for betraying the native cause, he was executed, and horrible barbarities were afterwards perpetrated upon his remains.

This simple review of the facts of the case will convince every candid mind that it is most unjust to cast a stigma upon the Christianity of the whole Maori race in consequence of the sudden outbreak of a murderous fanaticism in a season of war and general excitement. Those who are well read in history will be able to cite many analogous cases; while the fact of the defeat of the Hauhaus by their own countrymen on the Wanganui shortly before the expedition to the East Coast, and the subsequent fact that a comparatively small colonial force, with the help of a native contingency, have expelled the Hauhaus from the East Coast, and have seized and carried to Auckland from thirty to forty of the natives implicated in this and other murders, is a sufficient proof that there is a sound part of the Maori Christians who have been won by the Gospel to a life and conduct consistent with their profession.

We cannot close this painful history without recording the unshaken faith and Christian heroism with which Mr. Volkner endured his martyrdom. So surprised, so suddenly overtaken by death in such a form, and from a quarter so wholly unexpected, he quailed not. Very affecting are the details of the eventful day on which he suffered, as related by his companion in tribulation, the Rev. T. S. Grace. When the last attempt had been made, but in vain, to obtain release by a money-ransom, they had prayer with their fellow-captives, and read together Psalm x., "Why standest thou afar off, O Lord? why hidest thou thyself in times of trouble?" About one o'clock "we had prayer and reading for the last time, the portion read being Psalm xiv., the words of which so exactly described the rampant ungodliness of the natives—"The Lord looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to see if there were any that did understand, and seek God. They are all gone aside, they are altogether become filthy: there is none that doeth good, no, not one." "My poor dear friend," observes Mr. Grace, "offered up a most earnest prayer. During the morning I could not help noticing the calmness of his manner, and the beautiful smile that was on his face." He was now led forth alone, none of his fellow-prisoners, not even Mr. Grace, being permitted to accompany him. They took his coat and waistcoat from him, and led him beneath a willow-tree. If doubt had previously rested on his mind as to their intentions, there could be none now. He asked for his Prayer-book, which was in his coat-pocket: they brought it. He knelt down and prayed. He then shook hands with his murderer. Forgiven of God, he had learned to forgive even those who rendered him evil for good. He then said, "I am ready." That was the triumph of Christianity. They who had become his enemies might take his life, but they could not take from him his hope, his peace, his CROWN.

The following letter from the Rev. T. S. Grace, the companion of Mr. Volkner, and who very nearly shared his fate, expresses the views of those best informed upon the subject. It is dated May 5, 1865:—

ruled for good.

You will be glad to hear that the Pai Marere superstition has received a check at Turanga. I had a conversation with two natives from there this morning, from which it appears evident, that though the Turanga people were willing, for political purposes, to join the fanatics, yet they found the murder more than they could defend or excuse. I believe the tide of this dreadful superstition has now turned, and that it will recede, or at least take a less objectionable form.

When at Opotiki, during the worst days of my stay there, I was strangely impressed with the feeling that dear Volkner's blood had not been shed in vain. Had this outrage not been perpetrated, there cannot be a reasonable doubt but that Turanga would have followed Opotiki, and that the Taranaki party would have marched triumphant round the East Cape, and carried all before them, in which case the northern part of the island would have followed. But this dreadful murder has made it self-evident, even to the natives themselves, that the Pai Marere superstition is the work of the devil.

proaches of enemies of Missions.

If the enemies of Missions at home are like those we have here, they will, no doubt, make the most of this murder to show the failure of our work. If the natives are such a bloodthirsty race of cannibals as they are now said to be, what must have been the amount of the restraining influence of the Gospel for the last fifty years, so as to enable hundreds, yea, thousands of settlers to live in perfect safety in their midst, though entirely at their mercy? The causes which have led to the present state of things, for which we Missionaries suffer both from natives and Europeans, are entirely political, and have been caused by the war. From the natives we are suffering because of the supposed assistance we have given to Government, which they believe intends to take their island from them.

The great changes which have taken place in New Zealand, both in the dispersion of the tribes and in the diminution of their numbers, and the removal of several of the Missionaries to Auckland, prevent any detailed report of the work of the Mission during the last year. The Missionaries have been directed to meet in a general conference, and to draw up a statement of the actual position of the native church, and to advise the Parent Committee as to the future operations of the Society in New Zealand under its altered circumstances. On the present occasion, therefore, the Committee will only give a few extracts confirmatory of the statement, that, amidst much fanaticism and apostacy, there is a large amount of genuine Christianity in the New-Zealand Church.

North of Auckland, and in Auckland itself, there have been no disturbances, though there were many indications of a national sympathy with the tribes engaged in hostilities. The senior Missionary, the Ven. Archdeacon Henry Williams, continues at Paihia, unable, from the infirmities of age, after forty-four years of unremitting labour, to travel, but superintending the work with the assistance of a native minister. The Rev. Joseph Matthews and Mr. Puckey exercise their pastoral superintendence over the extreme north. Mr. Burrows discharges the important and responsible office of Secretary of the Mission. Messrs. Chapman, Ashwell, and Grace, reside in Auckland. Mr. Grace visits the district of Hauraki.

Mr. Ashwell thus describes his labours in the desolated districts of the Waikato:—

For the last year and a half I have been enabled to visit my station regularly once a month, and spend two or three Sabbaths in

A remnant faithful. each month in my district. I have also attended to Archdeacon Maunsell's district for the last three months. I am sorry that our poor, infatuated people are still lukewarm and indifferent. There are, however, a few in the district who still continue faithful to the Governor; and on Easter Sunday last I administered the Lord's Supper to twenty communicants at Taupiri. The average attendance at the station on the Sunday numbers from sixty to eighty; and my faithful native deacon, Seth Tarawhiti, continues his constant labour month after month; nor has he once left the station during the war. A more consistent or worthy Christian I do not know. For twenty years we have laboured together in joy and sorrow, and the little good that remains among the Waikato tribes, under God, is owing to Seth. I am thankful to say, that although lukewarmness prevails, yet drunkenness and immorality have not yet gained the ascendancy in the villages near the Mission settlement. This is not the case with those fifteen or twenty miles distant."

Archdeacon Maunsell is no longer a Missionary of the Society, having accepted the charge of a church in Auckland. The newspapers spread such reports of the universal apostacy of the natives that he determined to visit his old district, the Waikato, where a large body of fugitives had been allowed to return, who were reported to have thus renounced Christianity and the Missionaries. He travelled over a district forty miles by sixty in extent. The following extracts from letters dated November 1865 will give the result of his investigation:—

The state of religious feeling has been, of course, my chief object of inquiry. On the Waipa they are nominal Christians, having been kept together by the influence of Barton, the Wesleyan deacon. I cannot discover that amongst the Maoris of our block any Pai Marireism is practised, the utmost that we have to complain of being the prevalence of drunkenness, and a kind of paralysis of energy from the shocks that they have received, and the changes through which they are now passing.

False reports of native apostacy.

I proceeded to Tamahere, where I heard Christianity had been renounced, and where a Missionary, it was thought, would scarcely be safe. With a view to ascertain their state of feeling, I determined to spend the night amongst them. To my great surprise and pleasure, I found that they bore no ill-will or dislike to either the Gospel or the preacher. One of their first requests to me was, to appoint one of them as monitor to conduct service for them, and to teach their children; and several presented themselves who had never taken any part in those fanatic services. With a considerable deal of curiosity I rang my bell in the evening for service. All that were present attended, and listened attentively while I expounded the 80th Psalm, comparing it with Isaiah v. 1, 5, and Matt. iii. 10, urging that their sufferings must be traced to their fruitlessness; that God had other chastisements in store; and that the duty of each was submission and prayer. They listened patiently, and when I had done, one of them, a stranger to me, started up and said, "It is indeed a pleasure to have our good old form of worship." They attended in even better numbers this morning, and the difference in the responses was interesting. In the evening they only timidly and faintly responded in our General Confession, which I read on purpose, not only as admirably suited to their state, but also in order to test them. In the morning service they seemed to gain confidence, and repeated it with nearly as much energy as they did in former days.

Having heard so much in Auckland of universal apostacy, I felt deeply interested in this visit. One of their chiefs, in conversation with me, thus contrasted Christianity with this new superstition—"Christianity," said he, "is like a ship with a bow and stern, moving in a given direction. This new religion is like a square box, and you cannot tell in what line it is about to move."

At Patakanere they still profess Christianity, and have a worthy man—Hori, an old scholar of Mr. Ashwell's—residing amongst them as teacher. Heta, the Maori deacon, also visits them regularly. From thence I paddled down to my old station, Kohanga. I was glad to find my old pupil, Joshua, the Maori deacon, zealous in his work, and giving satisfaction to the people. It is now nearly a year since I left Kohanga, but I was glad to see the little church in the same state as when I left them. They had subscribed in cash and food 26*l.* 10*s.* for Joshua's support, and collected, while I was there, at the offertory, 2*l.* 13*s.* This state of things is mainly due to the influence of their chief Waata, of whom you may remember to have heard when the war was raging in our neighbourhood. He and his people have been dealt with in a most liberal and honourable manner by the Government, and are by far the most prosperous people now in the Waikato. I was glad also to hear from the settlers high testimonials to their integrity and industry. I administered the Lord's Supper there and at the Heads, the number of communicants being about twenty in each place. Those at the Heads had come twelve miles to partake of it.

pastors.

From these facts you will see that the Gospel still has a footing in Waikato, and that we have ground to hope that God will yet cause this heavy affliction to work out some good for the remnant that are left. It cannot be denied that they needed the chastisement, and that as they began the war in a most unprovoked and treacherous manner, they deserved it. Oh that God would pour out His blessed Spirit upon them now, and cause humility and prayer to spring from their humiliation.

Eastern District.

Six stations have been occupied in this district in the following chronological order—1. Tauranga, 1835 ; 2. Maketu, 1835 ; 3. Rotorua, 1825 ; 4. Turanga, 1840 ; 5. East Cape, 1842 ; 6. Wairoa, 1844.

The Bishop of Waiapu gives the following review of the events of the past year:—

In taking a retrospect of the past year, I am led to notice, that at this date twelve months ago we were living in peace and quietness, without any cause for apprehension. The annual Synod at Waiapu took place, and the meeting which followed was encouraging and satisfactory, there being present a full representation of all the eastern portion of the diocese. On our return to Turanga there was still the promise of peace.

On the 1st of March there came a warning of the gathering storm. A native letter from Opotiki informed me that the Hauhaus were there, and were intending to come forward to Turanga ; and on the 6th came the dreadful news of Mr. Volkner's murder. Still the feeling manifested by the Turanga natives was good : all declared their determination to give every opposition to the fanatics. On the 11th we had the news of the approach of the Hauhaus, and the following day they were at a village in our immediate neighbourhood. It now became apparent that there were many who sympathized with them ; and while there was for a time a seeming opposition, the fanatics were gaining ground every day, until danger was imminent, and it became necessary to break up the station at Waerengaahika, and remove the families to a place of safety. During the whole of this trying period the mercies of God were very great towards us. He directed that timely notice should be given us of the danger that was approaching, and He withheld the hand of violence until we had time to withdraw, while a number of concurrent circumstances, the help of kind friends, and the substantial assistance of the Government, enabled us to remove with much less serious loss than would otherwise have been the case. From this time the progress of the Hauhaus was rapid and overwhelming. The people were hurried along by a wild madness, and seemed to be wholly lost to all sense of that which is right. Still there were many who boldly opposed these abominations, but, being the minority, they could do no more than check the onward progress of the deluded multitude.

mingled
ments.

At length the chiefs, Mokena Kohere and Henare Potae, who were staunch supporters of the Government, determined to oppose the progress of Patara and the Hauhaus, and having obtained the co-operation of 150 of the Colonial Defence Force, they kept up a successful warfare, until they either captured or drove away all the remnants of the Hauhaus from that locality. Those who fled made their way to Turanga, and received promise of support from the Turanga natives, so that it became necessary to follow them up to that quarter. The Defence Force and the Government natives from Waiapu then proceeded to Turanga, and Mr. Maclean being the officer appointed to act on the behalf of the Government, sent reasonable proposals to the fanatics; but they set him at defiance, and having determined to fight, made their stand at a fortified place adjoining the Missionary station. They at once plundered all the property that remained, and fired the whole of the buildings, except one house, their object being, as it was alleged, that the troops might not have the benefit of shelter from the houses. The results which followed were disastrous to the hostile natives. They were determined to fight, being confident in the truth of their miraculous powers, and they have drawn down upon themselves a heavy chastisement. What will be the end of these commotions we cannot say.

Fanaticism
resisted by
fidelity.

In every part of the diocese of Waiapu the native church is in a disorganized state, from Tauranga in the north-west to the southern extremity in Hawkes' Bay. There is, thank God, a body of faithful men, perhaps, in every locality; but even they are suffering from the demoralizing influence of wars and rumours of wars. They hold fast to the Christian profession, but they require much careful attention lest they should fall into a state of apathy. The bulk of the people, including many of whom we had hoped well, have been drawn into the vortex. The course they have followed is of a very aggravated character. They have denied the Lord who bought them, and have declared that they wish not to have Him to reign over them. It will not, therefore, be sufficient, now that they find their confidence has failed them, and has turned out to be a refuge of lies, that they merely express a wish to return again to their former profession. We must witness some of the fruits of a genuine repentance before we can rejoice in it as a reality.

Faithful men in disturbed

During the season of disquiet, which began on the 1st of March, our central schools were altogether at a standstill. A part of the natives kept together, but many of the scholars returned home to their friends. The remnant continued with the Archdeacon till the month of June, when arrangements were made for their reception at Paihia, in the Bay of Islands, where the men and boys are under the charge of the Rev. E. B. Clarke, and the girls under the care of my daughters, while the natives of the district, including those near Waimate, receive as much of our attention as we are able to give.

That our work will be revived we are well assured, though the number of those who openly cleave to the truth may be much diminished. In the re-establishment of our position we have to begin anew in almost every particular; but whether we shall proceed to reconstruct among the ashes of our old station, or fix upon some other site, and how far we may be able to resuscitate our schools, we cannot tell. There are a variety of circumstances which may tend to regulate our future proceedings, and we wait until God shall direct us what to do. He is accomplishing his great designs, not only here, but all over the world; and although for a time the events which are passing are dark and gloomy, the wisdom of all that has transpired will be apparent, and then the glorious results which will follow will abundantly outweigh the short trials of the present time.

The Bishop's son, the Archdeacon E. Williams, remained at the station after all the students had removed, and until all attempts at peaceful means had failed. On the eve, however, of the attack upon the pa at Turanga he thought it right to leave, and to join the bishop in the north. As soon as he heard that the Hauhaus had been driven from that part to the Wairoa, he returned to the station, from which he wrote, Feb. 2, 1866:—

There seems now to be no prospect of any further fighting in this neighbourhood, and much cause we have for thankfulness that the wave of war has so soon passed over. There has, of course, been great destruction of property; but the loss would have been incomparably greater if we had all been obliged to leave Waerenga-hika in April. The settlers have nearly all returned to their homes and to their usual occupations. What we can do towards resuming our work in all its branches it is impossible to say just yet. It will probably be necessary to modify our plans a great deal to suit the altered circumstances of the district.

Archdeacon Brown has remained at Tauranga throughout all the dreadful trials which have fallen upon that station. It has been the head-quarters of a large body of troops. The Archdeacon writes:—

My journal looks more like that of an army chaplain than of a Missionary to the heathen, and yet it would be ungrateful to say "I have laboured in vain." In direct Mission work I have baptized a few children, administered the Lord's Supper to a few natives ("few amongst the faithless found"), preached each Sabbath-day to the few I could collect together, and, as opportunities presented themselves, conversed with the few on the things which belong to their peace. The result we must leave. As a body, the natives are seeking after another god, and they seem to be judicially punished by a strong delusion to believe a lie. Native teachers who remained steadfast throughout the war have been carried away by the prevalent fanaticism. Many who have nominally forsaken Hauhauism still refuse to return to Him from whom they have so grievously wandered, and are living without even a form of religion; and others have been called away by death whilst still clinging to their horrid superstition. Thus the thick cloud which hung over us at the beginning of the year still remains, causing us anxiety, but not despair; for the Sun of Righteousness is still shining beyond that cloud, and hoping, waiting, praying, we yet believe that Sun will again shine on us with healing in His wings.

The Rev. S. M. Spencer occupied the station of Rotorua, on the line between Tauranga and the East Cape. His station was deserted by the natives able to bear arms, and his life was threatened by the murderers of Volkner. Having placed his family in security, he returned to the neighbourhood of his former residence to minister, to the few who were scattered here and there in groups, unable to join the fighting parties: he writes, at the close of the year, “‘Hitherto’ :—‘Day by day’ :—‘not boasting of to-morrow’ :—represent my state of mind during the last year, and at its close I can say some indications of hopefulness for the future have been observable among the remnant.”

Western District.

The district was first occupied by Archdeacon Hadfield in 1839. It now comprises five stations: 1. Wanganui, 1840; 2. Otaki, 1842; 3. Heretaunga, 1844; 4. Papawai (Palliser Bay), 1856; 5. Pipiriki, on the Wanganui river, 1856.

Rev. Samuel Williams (m), born in New Zealand.
Rev. William Ronaldson (m) 1855.
Rev. Basil Kirke Taylor, M.A. (m), 1860.

The reports from the Western District are of a similar character to those already given. The native mind is everywhere excited; many cast aside the Christian religion as identified with their national humiliation; many are sullen and reserved, if they do not take up the “king” cause; but a few are faithful, and shine the brighter in consequence of surrounding darkness.

The Rev. R. Taylor notices—

That when a native contingent was formed from among the Christians of Wanganui to carry on the war on the East Coast,

the remaining members of the congregation formed a daily prayer-meeting for those who had gone to the war that they might be spared to return in safety to their families. The old native teacher of this station was very earnest in his prayers on these occasions for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the native church.

Archdeacon Hadfield writes from Otaki, on the South-west Coast, Nov. 10th, 1865 :—

I certainly observe more interest in religious duties than was apparent a short time since. Last week at Manamatu there were several communicants present who had of late been absent, and their grief for recent lukewarmness was mentioned to me with much apparent sincerity and humility. There is likewise a conviction among the more thoughtful persons that the fanaticism now rampant in various parts of the island is attributable to the coldness and indifference of many really sincere men, which has given occasion to unbelievers to represent Christianity as any thing but a reality.

The Native Pastors of the Native Church.

Amidst these distressing accounts of the infatuation and wickedness of a portion of the Maories, it is somewhat re-assuring to know that all the native ordained teachers, thirteen in number, have stood faithful at their posts, and that the sounder portion adhere to them as their pastors and guides.

Mr. Burrows thus describes their influence under the altered political circumstances of New Zealand :—

of native
Pastors.

As a general rule, and as far as it relates to us Missionaries, it may be said that the people (natives) turn a deaf ear to the voice of instruction. The native pastor has become much more acceptable to all classes of the natives than we are. The cause is obvious : we are included in the suspicion and jealousy which exists in the native mind, in reference to the motives and intentions of the white man ; and we are sometimes told by them, that as we were the pioneers of the colonists, we are chargeable with the evils that have come upon them. Whilst, however, it is humbling to witness such feelings, it is gratifying to see that the native minister's influence is extending among his countrymen. Would that we had a few more faithful and earnest men to send forth, but it is to be feared that those young men who did run well and promise fair have partaken of the general apathy.

Testimony to former Labourers in this Mission.

At the close of the year 1865, the Bishop of Rupert's Land called together the clergy of his diocese within reach of the Red River, to review the past, and to concert plans for the future. On this occasion the following just tribute was paid to the labours of their predecessors :—

We, the Bishop of Rupert's Land and the Clergy of the Red-River Settlement, submit the following statement of the present position of the church of this diocese, and the measures necessary for its stability and growth :—

“1. We give praise and thanks to Almighty God for his signal and undeserved goodness to this land ; in giving it such favour with Societies and many Christian people in England, that for upwards of forty years they have, at much cost, maintained and extended in this country the religion of Christ ; in leading the late Bishop of this diocese, the Ven. Archdeacons Cockran and Hunter, and many other servants of God, no longer with us, to come to this isolated part of the world, and labour here for many years in the most self-denying spirit ; and in evidently accompanying the preaching of the word with the power of the Spirit of God. The knowledge of the Lord has been kept up among the Christian families that have settled in this land ; and many hundreds of Faithful labourers.

"2. We feel it a bounden and delightful duty to acknowledge the eternal gratitude which the people of this land owe, under God, to the Church Missionary Society pre-eminently; also to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, to the Colonial and Continental Church Society, to the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, to the British and Foreign Bible Society, and to other Societies and friends in England, for the provision of the means of grace. At the present moment all the clergymen, catechists, and schoolmasters, labouring in this country, in connexion with our Church, are paid by funds from England. The only endowment is that of the bishopric. Its income, about 700*l.* a-year, is derived partly from the interest of a fund left to the church by a gentleman of the Hudson's Bay Company, and partly from a grant of 300*l.* a-year attached to the See by that Honourable Company.

"3. We would record the loving affection with which we regard the late Bishop of Rupert's Land, and our sense of the devotion with which, regardless of personal labour, annoyances, and expense, he laboured for the diocese that was committed to his care. It is enough to say, that such was the interest he aroused at home, and such the favour that his efforts obtained there, that whereas, when he came out in 1849, there were only five clergymen maintained in this land, there were, when he resigned the bishopric in 1864, no fewer than twenty-two, besides many catechists and schoolmasters. Of these twenty-two clergymen, eight were natives of the country. One, alas! of these, giving much promise of future usefulness, has been since taken to his rest.

veteran
Missionary "4. We wish further to express our admiration of the character and single-mindedness of that venerable father of the churches of this settlement, Archdeacon Cockran, who lately died at his post of duty, after a devoted ministry in the land of forty years. He saw the beginning and the first-fruits of the Gospel in this hitherto heathen land, and he could not tear himself away from his spiritual children. Several of the churches of this settlement owe their origin to his labours. He might have said to their congregations, in the words of St. Paul, "Though ye have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many fathers; for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the Gospel."

I. RED-RIVER DISTRICT.

Archdeacon Hunter left the Mission in May 1865, and the Rev. J. P. Gardiner took his place at ST. ANDREW'S. Upon the death of Archdeacon Cockran, the charge of LA PRAIRIE was transferred to Mr. George, who will for the present hold it in connexion with WESTBOURNE. Mr. Phair retains the charge of LANSDOWNE and White Dog.

THE INDIAN SETTLEMENT remains under the charge of Mr. Cowley. The Red River has, during the last year, been greatly afflicted by prevailing sickness, and by a plague of grasshoppers, by which a gloom was cast over the whole country. In addition to these severe trials, Mr. Cowley has to lament another great evil in the opening of a spirit store near the Indian Settlement. He protested against a licence being granted by the magistrates, on the ground of the danger to the incipient civilization of the Indians by bringing such temptations to their very doors. But his righteous remonstrances were in vain.

A few have been added to the Indian Settlement during the year, twelve adults having been baptized, and forty-six infants. The services are held in the settlement church in English, Salteaux and Cree. The work at the out-stations has been kept up by the catechists, with the occasional visit of the Missionary.

II. MANITOBA DISTRICT.

The Rev. William Stagg, who was in charge of this district, has been compelled to come to England on account of his health. He left his station, FAIRFORD, in May 1865, under the charge of the native minister, the Rev. James Settee, with injunctions that he should itinerate amongst the out-stations, which are under the care of native catechists, visiting Fort Pelly, Touchwood Hills, Q'Appelle and Swan Lake. The spirit in which Mr. Settee acts may be seen in the last extract of his journal for the early part of 1865, after visiting these out-stations:—

In reviewing my trip to the out-stations, I would acknowledge my gratefulness for what I saw, and for the prospects of what may yet result from the faithful services of my native brethren. At every point I touched there was a desire among all classes for Christian knowledge; and many a one said, "Come and teach us;" "Come and save us." I must confess I was often touched in my heart to hear them plead for help. Brother Pratt can also bear the same testimony. May God incline our hearts, dear Christian brethren, that we go quickly to help them, and impart the word of life!

True Missionary spirit of a Native Teacher.

III. CUMBERLAND DISTRICT.

The head quarters of the Cumberland District Mission are at DEVON, formerly Cumberland station; where there is a substantial church (Christ's Church), Mission-house, and schools, with a Christian village. The Company's house, called Cumberland House, is some distance from Devon. The out-stations are Nepowewin on the west, situated upon the Saskatchewan, and Moose Lake to the east.

During the early part of 1865, both DEVON and the whole district of ENGLISH RIVER were under the charge of the native minister, the Rev. J. A. Mackay.

Mr. Mackay writes, on June 30, 1865 :—

During the six months under review, I have made three Missionary journeys—one to Cumberland House, one to Stanley, visiting again Cumberland House on my way, and one to Moose Lake. At Cumberland House I met with the same encouragement as on former visits. I administered the Lord's Supper to twenty-eight communicants, and was fully occupied during the week of my stay in imparting to both young and old the knowledge of the Gospel. At Stanley I had still more pleasure in my work. I baptized ten children, one of whom was a child of heathen parents, and administered the Lord's Supper to fifty-four communicants morning and evening during my stay : I opened the Scriptures, so far as God gave me grace, to an attentive audience. A heathen woman, with her grown-up daughter and three sons, came to me for baptism : although I could not receive them at once, they will all, before long, be admitted into the visible church of Christ. At Moose Lake the work continues to present features of discouragement, and I fear very little can be done there without a settled teacher.

giving baptism.

Mr. Mackay makes the following wise and important remarks upon the social condition of the converted Red Indians :—

We cannot shut our eyes to the fact, that when a congregation has been gathered together from among the scattered tribes of the red man the work is only begun. The Gospel finds the Indian a savage as well as a heathen. But when that Gospel has been received it must exercise a civilizing influence : the Indian cannot remain the depraved being that he was. He must rise, and it is in his endeavours to adopt the habits of civilized life that he requires constant guidance and assistance. He loses, in a great measure, his native independence, when he had no thought and no cares beyond procuring the bare necessities of life ; while at the same time he has not acquired sufficient self-reliance and industry to qualify him for the duties of civilized life. He becomes discouraged at the hardship of his lot, and, without encouragement, would give up in despair, and fall back to his old habits. Then there are the evil influences to which he is exposed. There is the example of white men who have not the fear of God before their eyes. This is the state of the Devon Mission at the present time : the people, for the most part, are unable to live as they did formerly, and they require constant help and guidance to enable them to become independent and civilized, and still greater watchfulness to preserve them from the vices of civilization.

Heathen

The out-station of Nepowewin has been under the charge of the aged native minister, the Rev. Henry Budd, whose severe domestic calamities in the death of his wife, a daughter, and his son, who was also an ordained minister, were mentioned in the last Report. Mr Budd does not wrap himself up in his grief, but strives to make up for the loss of his son's ministerial assistance by increased activity in pastoral ministrations and Missionary tours. In a letter, written June 1865, he says :

Since writing in January, I have gone on, through much bodily and mental weakness, endeavouring to further the interests of the Mission under my special care ; but I have felt much the want of such valuable assistance as my deceased son used to render to me. We have had some baptisms in the course of the winter, one family of Indians coming in after another. Those who have been baptized have gone on well, and given general satisfaction. I trust they are growing in the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. Our Mission chapel is in the course of erection, and is far on towards completion ; so that, if all keeps well, we hope to have it opened next summer. We have had no help from any quarter towards this chapel, but just some help from the yearly grant of the Mission, and from the Mission gifts from our Christian friends in England.

From Nepowewin Mr. Budd visits occasionally Carlton House, an important post which should be itself the centre of a new district. Mr. Budd writes of these visits:—

There is an evident sign that the Lord condescends to bless our weak and humble efforts for the spiritual welfare of the people. After my visit in January, chief-trader Prudeis, the gentleman in charge of Carlton, in his communication to me, writes—"I am happy to state that an evident change has taken place in the minds of some of the men of the Fort, specially those of European origin, since your last visit to us. One or two of them particularly were so touched by your last sermon, that they have resolved to turn over a new leaf, and, by the grace of God, they have become quite other men. They have, since your departure, kept up regular prayers, morning and evening, on Sundays, as well as on the weekdays ; and they have considerable influence on the rest of the men. They desire to send their respects and kind regards, and wish you may be able to come and see them again soon."

The Red
Indian teacher a blessing to Europeans.

This is the information of the trader at Carlton, and, coming as it does from a disinterested person, was the more valuable. I saw these people again the last month, and I was so cheered to witness the change which had taken place. I spent a week with them, and endeavoured, to the best of my power, to exhort them to follow the Lord with full purpose of heart, and keep up their prayers steadily, and ask daily for the grace of God to enable them to go on in their Christian course. It did my heart good to hear them converse freely on the state of their minds, while they related to me what the Lord had done for their souls.

Let it be marked—the Red Indian convert the instrument of spiritual blessings to Europeans.

IV. THE ENGLISH-RIVER DISTRICT.

The Mission station in the English River district is named STANLEY. When Mr. Smith took charge of Devon, Mr. Mackay removed to Stanley. He writes, August 14, 1865:—

Having visited this station twice during the last year of my stay at Devon, and now having spent upwards of a month here since my arrival, I have become tolerably well acquainted with the Mission now under my charge. I feel it, therefore, my duty and privilege to bear testimony to the reality of the work at this station. My congregation is not very large. The number of purely Indian communicants is only seventy; but the love of the truth manifested by many of these people is truly encouraging.

The Christian Indians of this Mission, with a few exceptions, do not remain at the station all the year. They remain a considerable time in spring and autumn, and they visit the station at Christmas and Easter.

My work here will be of a two-fold character—among the Crees and Chippewyans. With the Cree I am perfectly familiar, but I am ignorant of the Chippewyan. To the acquisition of this language I intend to devote my attention without delay.

Romanists

I am beset by the emissaries of the Church of Rome. A bishop, three priests, and four lay brothers have passed this place since my arrival, to reinforce the Romish Missionaries already in the English-River and Athabasca districts, whilst in these two large districts I am the only Protestant Missionary. Many of the heathen are ready to receive instruction; and, as they are not able to distinguish between a spurious Christianity and the Christianity of the Gospel, numbers embrace the Romish faith.

The Rev. W. C. Bompas, on his journey to the far-distant Mackenzie-River district, passed a few days at Stanley, from whence he wrote:—

The Society's Mission station at Rapid River [Stanley] greatly pleased me. Mr. Mackay, who has recently assumed the charge of it, is much liked by the Indians, and, from his familiarity with the Cree language, is likely to prove very useful. The church requires only the addition of some internal fittings to make it convenient as well as handsome. The house is very good, and its foundations have been renewed by Mr. Mackay. The Indians at the station, by their good conduct and attention to religious duties, do credit to their instructors. They retain a most lively and grateful remembrance of the labours of Mr. and Mrs. Mackay. A new schoolmaster had just arrived at the station from Red River, who seemed to me a very promising assistant in the Mission work.

V. MACKENZIE-RIVER DISTRICT.

The head-quarters of the Mission are at Fort Simpson. This post stands on an island at the junction of the Liard, or River of the Mountains, with the Mackenzie, in latitude $61^{\circ} 51' 25''$ north, and longitude $121^{\circ} 51' 55''$ west. The Liard is a large tributary formed by the union of small streams, which have their resources in the recesses of the Rocky Mountains. By Deas's River, the westernmost of these affluents, Fort Pelly, in the Youcon district, may be reached, from whence, by native traders, communication may be had with the island of Sitka and the coast of British Columbia. From Fort Simpson, as a centre, the following points are visited, and instruction given to the Indians which assemble there—Fort Norman, at Great Bear Lake; Fort Good Hope, further north than Fort Norman, and on the Mackenzie; and to the south, Fort Resolution, on the Slave River, just before it enters the great Slave Lake. Other points there are which might be visited with advantage, but there is only one Missionary, the Rev. W. W. Kirkby, in this district.

Mr. Kirkby's last annual letter is dated June 21, 1865. He gives an encouraging account of his success with the Indians connected with Fort Simpson and who remain for any time under instruction. He also gives a very interesting account of his journey to Great Bear Lake, from which the following extracts are taken. The journey occupied fourteen days. Easter Sunday was spent in the wilderness.

April 16: Easter Sunday—Our camp is in a very indifferent place, but we could find no better. We had service both morning and evening, and I dare say, of all the worshippers of a risen Saviour to-day, none have kept Easter in more humble circumstances than we; a hole in the snow our temple, the sky our canopy, a cold north wind, with sleet, blowing in our faces, and a congregation of three persons. And yet, in the evening, I can truthfully say that I enjoyed the service much, and dwelt with delight upon the manifestation of Christ to his disciples. Missionary trials.

April 20—After a hard day's walking we reached the edge of Bear Lake about five o'clock this afternoon, and I could at once have fallen upon my knees in adoring gratitude to God for all his mercies vouchsafed to me along the way. In two hours we reached the Fort, if two or three log-houses and as many stores can be thus denominated. It was only built last summer, and is at the place where John Hope commenced his little Mission. It is also on the spot where poor Sir John Franklin once wintered. Vestiges of him still remain, and the post upon which his dial rested is as fresh as ever. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, the four or five servants, and the ten or twelve Indians present, gave me a hearty welcome, and in a little while the fatigues of the journey were wholly forgotten. The largest of the houses, a room about fifteen feet square, was placed at my disposal, and in that I am now domiciled.

Here Mr. Kirkby spent several weeks in the careful instruction of all the Indians within reach. He thus describes his work:—

June 7—About mid-day we prepared to start, the ice being as it was in winter. And now my work at Bear Lake is with my God. I have sought faithfully to make known the truth as it is in Jesus, and must now leave it. The Indians, upon the whole, have behaved well, and I leave them with much regret. The Romanist ones from Good Hope gave a little trouble at first, but they quickly yielded, and, before I left, none attended service more regularly than they, or expressed more delight in the words spoken. Had we but some one here to remain permanently, the whole of the Indians round might very easily be won to the truth, and, I trust, to Jesus. But we have none, and before I can come again the priests will be sure to be here, trying to pervert all they can. Thank God, however, a great deal of Gospel seed has been sown among them, and that by me. The priests will therefore not be able to prejudice them so much against either as they would have done had they been first in the fields.

A subsequent letter of Mr. Kirkby (Nov. 28) gives an account of a similar excursion to Slave Lake and Fort Resolution, where he encountered the same opposition from the Romanist Missionaries. In the latter part of the year the scarlet fever broke out among the Indians at Fort Simpson, and no less than thirty-four of the Christian Indians were carried off by its ravages.

The Youcon.

The Missionary station called the Youcon has been regarded as an out-station dependent on Fort Simpson on the Mackenzie River, but it is 1500 miles distant, separated by the rocky mountains, on the verge of the Russian empire, near Behring's Straits. To reach Youcon it is necessary to descend the Mackenzie nearly to the Arctic Sea, then to ascend the Peel River to Fort Peel. From thence to cross a mountainous region to the plains beyond, where La Pierre's House is reached on the Rat River. This river leads into the Porcupine River a large affluent of the Youcon, which is here three miles wide. Near the confluence the Fort Youcon stands, at which the native minister, the Rev. R. McDonald has been stationed.

The tribes comprehended in this Mission have been called the Kutchin, but this term simply signifies "nation." The name of the people is Tukuthe: they are an athletic race, above the average stature, of fair complexion, fine sparkling eyes: they are enterprising traders, and of quick intelligence. They have shown a very remarkable readiness to receive Christian truth, and to conform their lives to its principles.

It was stated in the last Report that Mr. McDonald's health had failed, and that he was obliged to withdraw: he did not leave his district, but wintered at Peel River, and so far recovered his health as to contemplate returning to the Youcon. His last communication is dated January 1865. It was also announced that a clergyman, the Rev. W. C. Bompas, had left England to join Mr. McDonald in this most promising field of labour. There is every hope that Mr. Bompas would reach Fort Mackenzie in the autumn of 1865, and proceed to Youcon early in the present year. The following extracts are from the letter of Mr. McDonald:—

Jan. 1865—On a review of the work during the last seven months throughout my vast Mission-field of labour, I am happy to state that Christianity is making a steady though slow progress. Considering the rareness of the opportunities which I have of communicating religious instruction to the numerous tribes of Indians among whom I labour, and, in general, the shortness of time I can spend with any one tribe, their advancement in the knowledge of divine truth cannot be expected to be very great. I have not yet, however, baptized any adults, having deemed it advisable to require of them that they should previously learn by rote the Decalogue, the Apostles' Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and other prayers and hymns; and at the same time be duly instructed in the first principles of religion. I may baptize some adults before long.

Large Indians to make known the Gospel of Christ to the Esquimaux, and the delight with which the Esquimaux received the message of salvation, testifying their desire to become acquainted with God, and to do his commandments. It is delightful to see the Kutchin thus endeavouring to teach the Esquimaux, and to lead them to the knowledge of divine truth. They know but little themselves of the word of God; but that little they prize highly, and it is to them a pleasure to speak to others of the loving-kindness of God as manifested through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus. My heart often rejoices in the contemplation of the mercy and grace of God bestowed by our good and gracious God on the Kutchin, and in anticipation of the period when, I trust, they all may be brought to the knowledge and love of the truth as it is in Jesus, and be made to rejoice with confidence in the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ. May God hasten it, and may the kingdoms of this world soon become the kingdom of our Lord and of his Christ.

It affords me pleasure to state that I have made considerable progress in the acquiring of the Kutchin tongue; and I hope that, in two years hence, if I continue to make the same progress, I shall be able to preach in it without the aid of an interpreter. I have not done much in translating since I last wrote. The Indians have not as yet learnt all the translations I have made, and I do not feel concerned to translate to any extent until I am more acquainted with the tongue. I have merely translated portions of the hymns, "Rest for the weary," and "I'm going home." The Indians are very fond of them both. I shall enclose a hymn or two, and a prayer, and also a copy of the Syllabic system which I have adopted for the Kutchin tongue.

VI. YORK FACTORY DISTRICT.

This district is under the charge of the Rev. William Mason, who resides at York Factory, and visits the two principal out-stations, Churchill to the north, and Severn to the south. Mr. Mason reports:—

Our Christian Indians continue to hold fast their profession, and, I trust, are making progress in the divine life, setting an example, in many respects, which even Europeans would do well to imitate. Never, since my residence here, have I seen the house of God better attended. They love its services, and derive comfort and encouragement from his blessed word, which they daily read. No relapses to heathenism, less of the crying sin of the country—drunkenness. The conjuror's drum is never heard amongst them, and the sound is strange to our ears when strange heathen from the interior visit the Fort during summer. The number of communicants continues the same as last year; and I am thankful that I have not been called upon to exercise any painful act of discipline in excluding any from the holy sacrament.

Churchill.

Mr. Mason visited Churchill in April 1865, where he spent three or four days in attempting to impart Christian knowledge to the Esquimaux through an interpreter. He writes:—

An inviting Mission field.

After frequent conversations, both with Mr. Griffin and Mr. Simpson, I am more than ever impressed with the importance of Churchill as a Missionary station. During the summer months Esquimaux camp near the Fort, and remain there the whole time. Upwards of seventy had already visited the Fort this year before my arrival, and during the winter they pay occasional visits. It presents the most favourable and inviting opening for Missionary labours in the whole country. To my knowledge such favourable opportunities of communicating divine knowledge to perishing souls, both to Esquimaux, Chipewyans, and Europeans, do not exist at any Fort throughout Rupert's Land.

My next long journey of 200 miles (D.V.) will be to Severn, and, if possible, to Trout Lake, and then again to Churchill. Native agency can be employed here during my absence. I am glad to inform you that there is a steady and growing demand for the Cree Bible: it has been a blessing to many, and, I trust, will be to thousands more. Our only difficulty is the want of means to freight the same inland to various quarters from whence the loud call is made for God's blessed word. Oh that something had been done in this line for willing Esquimaux! Comparatively nothing has been done at present.

VII. JAMES'-BAY DISTRICT.

The head quarters of the Mission of James'-Bay District is MOOSE FORT, at which the Rev. J. S. Horden has laboured most zealously for fourteen years. He is now on his way to England for a season. He is able to give the same encouraging report of the Christian consistency of the Indians under his instructions as in former years. The out-station of Albany on the north-west is under the charge of the country-born minister, the Rev. T. Vincent, who will occupy Moose Fort during Mr. Horden's absence. An out-station to the north-east is Rupert's House, which was visited by Mr. Horden in the early part of 1865. Of this visit he writes:—

Day after day, and twice or thrice every day, our church, or rather an apology for one, was well filled by attentive worshippers, listening to the word of Jesus, and joining intelligently in the services. Sights such as these form the balm of Gilead for the anxious heart of the Missionary traveller.

While at Rupert's House some of the Indians suffered severely from a very distressing cold, so that I was frequently called upon to administer medicine, until my stock had entirely run out. Among the sufferers was a widower, named John Thompson. Before brought acquainted with Christ, he was indeed a slave of Exemplary Satan; but since his conversion he has been an ornament to the native Christian religion. Never absent from the house of prayer, he convert. drank in with avidity Gospel truth; he hungered and thirsted after righteousness, and he was filled. When in great pain he still said, "I do not forget God. I know that all he does is for my good, and I have none other than good thoughts respecting Him: lying here, I look up to Him, and He gives me comfort." I never saw any books thumbed as his were: turn where you would the sides of the leaves were worn out, or nearly so, by fair usage. “Oh, how I love thy law! day and night is my study in it.” Such appear to have been literally the feelings of the poor red man, John Thompson. I have, since my return home, heard that he has been called up higher, even to sit in the kingdom with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob.

NORTH-PACIFIC MISSION.

(Commenced 1856.)

European Mission Establishment :

Mr. William Duncan, 1856.

Rev. Robert Reed Arthur Doolan, B.A., 1864.

Rev. Frank Barrow Gribbell (m), 1865.

MESSRS. Duncan and Doolan have laboured in this Mission during the last year. Mr. Gribbell joined them at its close.

The stations occupied by the Society on the shores of this territory are Metlahkatlah, about fifteen miles from Fort Simpson, and at the Naas River, further north. The first of these was commenced by Mr. Duncan in 1856. Since then a great work has been accomplished, although amidst difficulties of no ordinary character. No less than 600 natives reside in the Christian settlement. On the Lord's-day the whole population assemble for Christian worship in the school-chapel, a large circular building, capable of holding nearly 700. Very many have been baptized, while the civilized action of Christianity may be seen in the comfortable wooden houses, and gardens attached to them, where the people dwell. The baptized, with some exceptions, hold on their way, and witness a good confession before their heathen countrymen.

Like all other Missions, however, that at Metlahkatlah must have its discouragements and disappointments. The natural mind of man is against the Gospel, and the enemy avails himself of this to obstruct its progress.

METLAHKATLAH.

In the early part of the year Mr. Duncan was tried by the defection of a few persons of the Christian community, and afterwards by still more grievous calamities, through the illicit introduction of ardent spirits among the surrounding Indians. In a letter to the Colonial Secretary, A. W. Birch, Esq., dated October 19, 1865, Mr. Duncan thus describes his troubles:—

For the last few months clouds of trouble have been setting in thickly around us, and I am fully expecting the coming winter will be one of unprecedented horrors. The Indian camps about us are deluged with fire-water, and, of course, every kind of madness is rife. Evil of ardent spirits,

It is just because our village makes a stand against the universal tide of disorder that we are being threatened on every side.

In July last I apprised His Excellency the Governor that we had in the spring seized a quantity of liquor, which a party of Kitahmaht Indians brought here for sale.

In revenge for the loss of their liquor (I am sorry to inform you) these Indians, in the summer, stole a little boy belonging to this place, while he was away with his parents at a fishery on the Skeena river. And, horrible to write, the poor little fellow was literally worried to death, being torn to pieces by the mouths of a set of cannibals at a great feast.

This atrocious deed would have met with summary vengeance from the relatives of the boy had it happened a few years ago. In this case, however, though highly exasperated, they would not allow themselves to do any thing till they had seen me. In order to prevent blood being shed at random, I ordered them to wait till the arrival of a ship of war, when I promised to refer the matter to the captain, and hoped they would have justice done them in a civilized way. Savagery of heathenism,

To this they unanimously submitted, and though several opportunities were afforded them subsequently of revenging their injury, not a blow was struck.

The latest communication of Mr. Duncan is, however, of a more encouraging character. It is dated Jan. 27, 1866:—

You will rejoice to know that the Lord is still with us, and manifestly blessing his own work in our midst. The heathenism of the surrounding tribes is gradually melting away, and among the heathen themselves there is a general shaking—a palpable dissatisfaction with their state, and an incipient desire to realize a better hope.

A little time ago several of the Christian Indians from here

in their country-

made a special visit to Fort Simpson, for the purpose of arousing their slumbering brethren there, and the report that reached us of the result was very satisfactory. The heathen there put away their own absorbing and heathenish work, and attended the meetings the Christians held, and listened with great reverence and attention.

Our week-day evening prayer-meeting for the village is very encouraging. My house is crowded. Our Sunday services are well attended. The few who, last summer, had fallen away from us have returned with many tears, and produced a great and good effect in the place by their public and very humble and tearful confession of their folly.

Our trade department is very flourishing. Industry is on the increase. New houses are going on. All the Indians are becoming better, and for all that God has done, and is doing for us, we desire to praise and magnify his holy name.

NAAS-RIVER STATION.

This station was first visited by Mr. Duncan in 1860, and was first occupied by Mr. Doolan in July 1864. The difficulties inseparable for every new Mission were here greatly aggravated by the introduction of ardent spirits among the Indians, and by many other special obstacles. The want of the language was also a sore hindrance to the establishment of the Mission, but after eighteen months Mr. Doolan is able to write with some hopefulness. His visits to Metlahkatlah have always refreshed and sustained his spirit and strengthened his faith.

Mr. Doolan writes, Sept. 26, 1865:—

A few Indians have shown by their conduct during the last six months that a great change has been brought into their hearts. They have resisted the temptations of drink, keeping entirely aloof from the many whisky feasts which have been held; they have respected the Sabbath, and have endured some amount of persecution because they have, so to speak, thrown in their lot with us. There certainly are not many when the number of Indians in these lower towns is taken into consideration; but I pray and hope, from the conduct of many whom I have narrowly watched, that ere long our numbers may be increased. Satan will not readily relinquish his prey, and the desire for drink is too strong for them to resist. I am in great hopes that, before the expiration of the coming winter, I may be able, God blessing me, to address them myself.

A knowledge of music is nearly indispensable, as the Indians have, under Mr. Duncan's instruction, made great advances in singing. He has partly translated and set to music the Te Deum, and I wish the dear friends at home who interest themselves in our Mission could hear them singing it and other hymns.

I am much pleased with Robert Dundas, who has been associated with me in the work. I hope, when a little older and more experienced, he may become a catechist. In my treatment of him I constantly keep this hope in view, and strive to make him feel that his position as a teacher has raised him above his fellow Indians. The great danger I have to guard against is pride.

Mr. Duncan has perhaps informed you that, a few months back, he received a very interesting letter from Mr. Kirkby, Missionary on the other side of the Rocky Mountains. The time may not be far distant when the chain of Missions, now broken, may be united, as the tribes at the head of the Naas river cannot be very far distant from those visited by Mr. Kirkby.

CONCLUSION.

THE Committee have now discharged their annual task of laying before this, the Anniversary Meeting, the most marked features in the history of the Mission during the last year. They trust that, in some measure, they have conveyed an impression which is strongly fixed upon their own minds, that while some blessed results in actual conversions have been granted to the labours of Protestant Missions, there is manifestly a providential preparation for a wider extension of the Redeemer's kingdom, which calls for a corresponding extension of the efforts of the Church at home.

In Africa the great problem has been solved of the capability of the native church to support and extend itself; but there is a corresponding call upon the mother church to supply the higher departments of education with which Christian Europe is enriched; and to give to the efforts of an infant church that wisdom and direction which the ripened Christianity and experience of England are able to afford.

In Turkey, and in some parts of India, Protestant Missions have been brought face to face with Islam. The religion of the false prophet showed itself mighty of old to overthrow many branches of the Western Church, and to trample under foot the very metropolis of Eastern Christianity. And now the struggle has commenced between Islam and Protestant Christianity. The Sublime Porte has thought the occasion worthy of its political action. This struggle invites the ablest of our Protestant controversialists to enter the lists.

India presents the spectacle of nations, till now spell-bound in the institutions of 3000 years, suddenly thrown into a state of fermentation, moral and religious, and thousands of her most promising young men are coming forward, as did young men upon the Saviour's first advent, to ask and to answer "discreetly,"—which our Lord pronounced as a proof that they were not far from the kingdom of heaven.

China is opened and prepared for Christian Missions in a wider and more promising degree than any other country yet presented as a field for Missions. Shall not England rise to take full advantage of so great an opportunity?

The Church Missionary Society pleads this day for volunteers for these great and blessed enterprises. Confidently relying on the continued liberality of its supporters, it is prepared to put forth fresh efforts. A native auxiliary agency is rapidly increasing; but we need for the work representatives of the mother church, thoroughly furnished out of its rich stores of Christian theology, able to dispense them to churches still in their infancy. We need those who can stand before men as our divine Master did before the philosophical and sceptical Pilate, and bear witness to the truth. We need men to take the place of our Pfanders, Peets, and Nobles—men who have received the last words of Christ before his ascension as a personal call, and have replied, "Here am I, Lord: send me."

The Committee would address this appeal, not only to young men themselves, but also to parents, to mothers to sisters: for with them is lodged a mighty power to withhold or to prompt forward those who are anxiously resolving the searching question, Why should not I go? Surely there never was a time in our country when, from all ranks and from all parts, so many young men are urged forth by parents and guardians through competitive examinations and mercantile connexions into foreign lands. Shall Christian parents, brothers, and sisters, when the Lord's work is the employment, form the only exception?

But with all, and above all, the Committee plead for the prayers of their friends and supporters, that God will send forth labourers qualified by the gifts and graces of His Holy Spirit for the work. Let us remember for our encouragement that one of the richest promises of answer to prayer is given in immediate connexion with the full establishment of Christ's kingdom—"It shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear. The wolf and the lamb shall feed together, and the lion shall eat straw like the bullock: and dust shall be the serpent's meat. They shall not hurt or destroy in all my holy mountain, saith the Lord."—ISAIAH lxv. 24, 25.

PROPER FORM OF A BENEFACTION TO THE SOCIETY BY WILL.

No. I.—Form of Bequest of a Common Legacy.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East the sum of Pounds *free of Legacy duty for the general purposes of the said Society to be paid within calendar months next after my death, exclusively out of such part of my Personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may be bequeathed for charitable purposes and in priority to all other payments thereout but to be subject to abate proportionably with other Legacies in case my general Personal Estate shall be insufficient for payment of them all in full. And I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society [or each of the said Societies] shall be an effectual discharge for the said Legacy [or Legacies respectively].

No. II.—Form of Bequest of the Residue, or a Share of the Residue.

And in order to give full effect to the bequest hereinafter contained for charitable purposes I direct that my Debts, the expenses of my funeral and of the probate and execution of this my Will and the Legacies bequeathed by this my Will or any Codicil thereto† shall be paid out of such part of my personal Estate as by the Laws in force at my death may not be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the primary Fund; and in case only of the same being insufficient for payment thereof then out of such part of my personal Estate as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes as the ultimate Fund; and subject as aforesaid, I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of The Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, for the general purposes of the said Society, such part of my residuary personal Estate as by the Laws in force may be bequeathed for charitable purposes (or if a share only of the residue be intended to be given, then, instead of the words in Italics, say, “such sum of money as shall be equal to one-fourth or one-half, (according to the intention) of my whole residuary personal Estate to be paid exclusively out of such part thereof as may be bequeathed for charitable purposes or such less sum as the said last mentioned part of my personal Estate will extend to pay”). And I declare that the Receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Society shall be an effectual discharge for the said residue [or sum of money, as the case may be]. And as to the remainder if any of my general residuary personal Estate I bequeath the same, &c.‡

* If so intended.

‡ If it be intended also to charge the Debts and Legacies on real Estate, then add “and in the next place out of my Freehold and Copyhold Estates.”

§ The latter Clause to be filled up according to the Testator's wishes; but it must not be for any charitable purpose.

WHETHER PAID DIRECT TO THE PARENT SOCIETY OR THROUGH ASSOCIATIONS.

* * The following List does not contain Benefactions under 10l., nor Anonymous Benefactions, of whatever amount.

The Committee would be glad to receive information respecting any names in this list of "Benefactions of former Years" which should be expunged or altered, from death or other causes.

* * This mark * denotes that the Sermon was preached at St. Ann's, Blackfriars; this †, that it was preached at St. Bride's, Fleet Street; the Twenty-third was preached at Christ Church, Newgate Street; the Thirty-first at St. Sepulchre's; the Thirty-second at St. Clement Danes; and the Thirty-third at St. Andrew's, Holborn.

The Collections at the Sixteenth and subsequent Anniversaries include the sums contributed at the Annual Meetings.

NOTICE TO TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES OF ASSOCIATIONS.

THE Committee of the Church Missionary Society request the Treasurers or Secretaries of Associations to transmit the proceeds of their respective Associations, together with the Contribution Lists and Accounts, as soon after the close of their Financial Year as possible. The Lists and Accounts should be written legibly, to avoid mistakes in printing, and made up in the manner in which the same are printed in the Parent Society's Report. The Local Officers being appointed by the Associations, their names, as well as the date at which the Accounts of the Association are closed, should be specified. Where the Account or the List is a printed one, two copies should be forwarded.

The Committee would also point out, for wider adoption, the convenience of a practice already very generally observed by Associations, of making remittances on account whenever any considerable proportion of the year's receipts is in the hands of the Local Treasurer. This practice, they have reason to believe, would be acceptable to many of their Contributors, and would tend to equalize in a greater degree the income and expenditure in the earlier months of the Society's Financial Year.

The Society's General Accounts are closed on the 31st of March, and all Moneys and Lists belonging to the year must be received at the Society's House by that date, in order that the Lists may be inserted in their proper place in the Report.

The appending of the Lists and Accounts of the Associations to the Annual Report is a general acknowledgment to the Local Contributors that their Contributions have been received by the Parent Society; and the Committee are desirous of preventing the dissatisfaction which they are aware is occasioned by the omission of the Lists in the Report in consequence of the Money or the List having been received too late for insertion.

Where an Association has Branches connected with it, the Accounts of the Branches should be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association some time before the period for forwarding the Accounts of the Association to London. When this is not done within a reasonable time, such Branches should be considered as self-excluded, and the Accounts forwarded without them.

To prevent mistakes, it is requested that Branch Associations will in every case, where practicable, forward their Money and Lists through the Association with which they are connected, and not direct to the Parent Society.

The Committee return their cordial thanks to the Treasurers of Associations, and to those friends who kindly fill the office of Secretary—an office which, they are well aware, draws largely on the time and attention of those who occupy it, but on the efficient discharge of the duties of which, the prosperity of an Association chiefly depends.

N.B. Benefactors of Ten Pounds and upward, whose Names have appeared in former Lists of the Associations, will find them in the List of "Benefactions of former Years."
